FEARFUL EXPLOSION BLOTS OUT FONTANET WITH AWFUL RESULTS

Probably 50 People Are Dead, More Than 600 Injured and Town is Practically Annihilated ---Shock Was Felt 200 Miles.

40,000 KEGS OF POWDER EXPLODED

FONTANET, Ind., Oct. 15.—Fontanet was practically destroyed to-day by the explosion of the plant of the Dupont Powder Co. The dead number from 25 to 50. More than 600 persons were injured, and every building in the town was wholly or partially leveled to the ground. Where stood a thriving and busy town of 1000 people this morning, to-night there is ruin and scattered wreckage. The dead and more seriously injured have been taken away. Five hundred inhabitants, all more or less injured, remain to gather their scattered household goods, and sleep under tents and on cots, guarded by soldiers of the state. SEVEN MILLS BLEW UP. Without warning, the powder mills, seven in number, blew up at 9.15 this morning. They employed 200 men, and of these 75 were at work when the first explosion occurred in the press mill. In quick succession, the glazing mill, the two coining mills and the powder magazine blew up, followed by the cap mill. In the magazine, situated several hundred yards from the mills, were stored 40,000 kegs of powder. When it blew up, the concussion was felt nearly 200 miles away. Farmhouses two miles away and schoolhouses equally distant were torn to pieces and their occupants injured. A passenger train on the Big Four Railroad, four miles away, had every coach window broken, and several passengers were injured by flying glass. THREE DISTINCT EXPLOSIONS. The mills went up with three distinct explosions, followed 90 minutes later by a fourth, even more serious than the others, when the magazine went up. Immediately following the explosions the wreckage caught fire, and the inhabitants of the town, who rushed to the rescue of the mill employees, were powerless to aid those in the ruins. They worked frantically, in constant danger from possible succeeding explosions, unmindful of their ruined homes. Eighteen bodies, burned and mangled, were carted to a protected spot to await identification, while the badly injured, numbering upward of 50, were put on a special train and were taken to Terre Haute.

Business Blocks Totally Destroyed.

The mills were located one mile south of the town. With the explosion the employees ran for safety, but most of them were killed or wounded by the quick following explosions in the other mills. When the heat from the burning mills exploded the giant powder magazine, practically destroying the town by the concussion, many of those engaged in rescue work were badly injured and several killed. General Superintendent A. B. Monahan of the plant was killed while sitting in his office, and his wife and sister-in-law were killed in their home, some distance away. That the death list is not far greater is due to the fact that the people of the town had left their homes at the first explosion, and were not in them when the explosion of the 40,000 kegs of powder in the magazine came. Among the buildings totally destroyed in the town were the Methodist church, the Christian church, the depot, all business blocks, including a large block just completed, a large warehouse and home, and the wreckage caught fire. Engineer Chas. Wells was badly burned, and received a fracture of the right leg. School Buildings Destroyed. Three school buildings were destroyed, two at Fontanet, and one at Coalbluff, two miles away. All were filled with school children, and every one of them was more or less injured by the collapse of the buildings. A four-room schoolhouse was torn to pieces and not one of the two hundred children escaped unhurt. None were fatally hurt. The school building at Coalbluff was turned over and collapsed. The teacher and 90 pupils were more or less injured. The force of the explosion destroyed all telephone communication with outside towns, and was with great difficulty that aid was summoned. Hurried Aid to Injured. Terre Haute and Brazil sent physicians and nurses with supplies in carriages and automobiles across the country while special trains were made up and run over the Big Four Railroad for the care of the injured. The Governor Hanly at Indianapolis ordered the Terre Haute Company of the Indiana National Guard here to patrol the ruined district and protect life and property. The governor arrived this evening about the time the soldiers reached here. They pitched their seven hundred tents and cots for the use of the homeless.

INFANT'S DEATH LAID AT DOOR OF 'DOCTOR'

Coroner Cotton Will Consult With Attorney Drayton as to Prosecution of Woodhouse.

The death of Evelyn Gertrude Greig, the five-days-old child who died at the General Hospital Sept. 28, was last night laid at the door of T. Mortimer Woodhouse, electro-therapeutist, by the coroner's jury enquiring into the death. This morning Coroner J. Milton Cotton will consult with Crown Attorney Drayton as to the criminal prosecution of Woodhouse. The following is the jury's verdict: "That the infant child, Greig, came to her death at Toronto General Hospital on Sept. 28 by premature birth, caused by the unskillful treatment of the mother by T. Mortimer Woodhouse." This verdict was rendered after hearing the testimony of Woodhouse, who admitted a breach of the Medical Act, in that he treated patients for disease for hire. He claimed to be a doctor under the laws of the State of Oklahoma, where he admitted he had never been, but had secured the degree from the Thomason Medical College, Allentown, Pa. Woodhouse conducts an electrical treatment institute on College-street. His treatment is of the hearsay variety, as he said that he takes the patient's word for the disease, its nature, its improvement or the reverse, and its cure. Under County Crown Attorney Drayton's questioning he showed that his knowledge of electricity was scarcely elementary, and Coroner Cotton's examination gave his medical knowledge the same standing. He professed to treat chronic nervous and skin diseases, but admitted that he had treated almost any other disease. Patients had been recommended to him by city physicians. His treatment in this case he called the "Scheffer" system, which consists in passing a strong galvanic current thru the patient's chest, and the amperage was indicated as five milliamperes. He admitted that he did not know the voltage which passed thru the patient's body. Dr. Johnson testified that the voltage was the important and dangerous factor in a case of this sort, and that a heavy voltage would cause a muscular contraction which was apt to produce dangerous results. Dr. Johnson also said that a physician's first duty in a case of this sort would be to determine definitely the real condition of the patient before giving any treatment whatsoever.

MINISTER OF EDUCATION AT SAULT STE. MARIE

Contemplated Construction of a Technical School - Policy of Government Outlined Clearly.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Hon. Dr. Pyne, minister of education, formally opened the new high school in the Soo to-day, and in the course of his remarks made a few statements relative to the government's policy respecting New Ontario schools, that were very interesting. The minister touched upon the contemplated construction of a technical school in the Soo, and while not saying that the government would extend more support than had already been promised, hinted in language that could not be mistaken that the government would probably extend the grant already made. The minister clearly outlined the policy of the Whitney administration on the school question, touching upon the matter of minimum salaries and saying that the government had but followed the example set by the churches in fixing minimum salaries for ministers. He considered the education of the child of equal importance to the religious training of adults, and stated that a heavy appropriation for schools, particularly technical schools, should be made by the Dominion government, which was striving to build up a strong tariff wall, and at the same time was not placing the means of following it out in its proper sense in the hands of the rising generation.

HON. A. B. AYLESWORTH MUST RETIRE FROM THE MINISTRY

Specialists Declare That Impairment of Hearing is Permanent—May Pave the Way for Sir William Mulock's Return.

Friends of the Hon. A. B. Aylesworth will regret to see in the news of his growing hardness of hearing, the first intimation of his early enforced retirement from public life. For years Mr. Aylesworth has suffered from aural ailments, being wholly deaf in one ear. Physicians say his trouble is chronic catarrh of the middle ear, and that his hearing is almost gone, and that little hope can be held out for lasting improvement. His physical disabilities preclude his long retention of office as minister of justice, and almost immediately must put an end to his public career. He has open to him, however, a large opportunity in his profession of law as a consulting counsellor. One who is associated with him in many legal matters said to The World yesterday: "I expect to see Mr. Aylesworth resign from the government in a very few months and return to private practice of his profession. There is much for him to do which has been left undone by reason of his elevation to the cabinet." Should Mr. Aylesworth retire, who will take his place? Good political authority suggests the Hon. Mr. Lemieux as minister of justice, though he may be some prominent Liberal lawyer in Ontario not yet identified with active politics who could be called in by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. North York would again be thrown open. Is it possible that Sir William Mulock will step down from the bench and become minister of justice and North York's representative? With public ownership proclaimed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it would seem that Sir William's time has come again.

GRAY DROPPED BEATTIE NAMED

London Conservatives Hold Convention Behind Closed Doors ---Liberals May Not Fight.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—The Conservative convention to-night nominated Major Thomas Beattie, ex-M.P., for member of parliament to succeed Hon. Chas. Hyman. The convention was held behind closed doors, no one but duly accredited delegates being admitted. There were the usual complimentary nominations, including Mayor J. G. Judd, Dr. J. D. Wilson, J. H. Chapman, Ald. Matthews, T. F. Kingmill, R. A. Carruthers, and Dr. Beecher, but the only candidates balloted for were Major Beattie, A. T. McMahon, a prominent wholesale merchant, and president of the Conservative Association, and Wm. Grey, who opposed Mr. Hyman at the by-election in 1905. Although a wing of the party insisted that Grey was entitled to the nomination, he was easily distanced, and finally dropped, the last ballot standing Beattie 34, McMahon 67. The situation here is most peculiar. So far as can be learned the Liberals do not intend to put a candidate in the field to-day was registration day, but no scrutineers appeared, either for the Liberals or in behalf of the labor candidate. Only 214 voters registered. The labor candidate, John D. Jacobs, is a veteran of '85, a native of London, and a British soldier. He is a very intelligent man, and a firm believer in public ownership. He will not be endorsed by the Liberals, but he will receive many votes from both parties. The party managers on both sides have endeavored to agree on a compromise candidate in order to shut out the labor candidate. Indeed, the Liberals are ready to do anything, it is said, in return for the Conservatives not pushing the London election cases. There is little interest manifested, and there will be a tight vote, with chances in favor of the Conservative candidate.

ALLEGED MAIL ROBBER CAPTURED WITH GOODS

Man Accused of Postoffice Burglary at North Sydney Arrested at Summerside, P.E.I.

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—With $2955 out of $3000, two watches and a diamond ring in his possession, John S. Macdonald was arrested at Summerside, Prince Edward Island, this afternoon, charged with having committed the robbery of a postoffice bag containing $3500 and four registered letters, was by Postmaster Wheeler, Charlottetown, assisted by Detective Bradley of the same place. The prisoner was visiting his parents, who live near Summerside, and was totally unaware that the officers were after him. He took his arrest coolly and showed not the slightest resistance. A constable Musgrave of North Sydney postoffice left here this morning and arrived at Charlottetown at 9 o'clock to-night. Macdonald was taken to the city by the afternoon train and conveyed to the police station, where he will remain until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, when he will be taken to North Sydney. The preliminary hearing will commence on Thursday. The maximum penalty for mail robbery is life imprisonment.

BABY IN SEWER TILE IS NOW IN KINDLY HANDS

Two Months Old Infant, Deserted by Its Mother, Found at Stratford. STRATFORD, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—An unknown baby, aged two months, was found in a sewer tile in front of Robert Burr's residence on Shakespeare-street, about 6 o'clock this morning. The child, a girl, was wrapped in a black shawl, with no evidence to show who its inhuman mother is. It is being cared for at the hospital.

FIELDING GIVEN A TREMENDOUS OVAATION

Thousands Turn Out to Cheer Minister of Finance, French Trade Treaty Favorable He Declares.

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—The demonstration which took place here this evening in honor of the return of Hon. W. S. Fielding took the form of a torchlight procession followed by a large public meeting at the Empire Theatre. Despite the magnificent suggestion of The Halifax Herald, that the demonstration should be non-partisan, the meeting was conducted wholly by the Liberal party. The theatre was beautifully decorated for the occasion with bunting, banners and electrical displays. Upon the doors being thrown open, crowds which had been impatiently waiting without surging in and soon filled the spacious hall to its uttermost capacity. A conservative estimate would place the number of persons present at about 7000. The meeting was preceded by music, furnished by the band of the Royal Garrison Regiment. Received an Ovation. The entry of Messrs. Laurier, Fielding, Burden and Pugliese was greeted with tremendous applause, the band at the same time rendering "The Maple Leaf Forever." Premier Murray, who presided, opened the meeting in a very happy speech, in which he praised the work and statesmanship of the Hon. Mr. Fielding, and called upon Mr. A. G. Morrison, president of the Liberal Association of Halifax County, who read an address of welcome. Cheers upon cheers greeted Mr. Fielding as he rose to reply to the address with which he had been presented. Hon. Mr. Fielding. In opening Mr. Fielding reminded his audience that he had just completed a quarter of a century of public life, and that he was no longer one of the boys. Referring to the treaty which had been made with France, Mr. Fielding said: "There are sound diplomatic reasons why I should not disclose the terms of the treaty, but I am at liberty to give the circumstances under which the treaty was negotiated, and the principles which governed us in the negotiations. At the last session of the Canadian Parliament important steps were taken in the establishment of a three-column tariff. First is the British preferential tariff; the second, the intermediate tariff; and, the third, the general tariff. The British preference is destined to be extended to the mother country and such portions of the empire as are on equal terms. The general tariff applies to countries with which we have no negotiations, and the intermediate tariff is intended to apply to countries which we can negotiate and which desire to trade with us. "We were aware that we would find ourselves embarrassed by a number of treaties commonly called favored-nation treaties. Paterson, Lady Pellatt, Lady Tilley of New Brunswick, Mrs. George Parkin of Goring-on-Thames, Mrs. George Parkin of Goring-on-Thames, Mrs. Robert Inglis; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. D. Morning Small-Talk

By Margaret Allison. Co-operation of the simplest kind may be of advantage in economical marketing. Canned goods, for example, are bought in case lots at a considerable saving over buying by the single can.

Canned goods will not, however, keep indefinitely, and a fresh-looking label is no absolute sign of freshness. In selecting them, do not accept any with two solid holes in the cap—they have been reheated. Do not take rusty cans, and be suspicious of "swelled" or "swollen" heads. Canned articles that can be washed, like beans, peas, and the like should be rinsed off before using.

Meat, it goes without saying, should be fresh and absolutely odorless and odorless, and grow musty if kept in any large supply. Flour, for example, will heat and be spoiled, and in cold weather is affected by freezing. Under all conditions, cereals should be kept in a warm, dry place, and well covered. Prepared cereals may be bought in quantities, but these, as well as unprepared articles, are subject to weevils.

Even the inedible crusts appear as "browned crumbs" for sprinkling over ham, bacon and made dishes, while larger bits of bread are "crumbs" for use in macaroni or gratin.

She has a keen eye upon the condition of the vegetables in stock. She picks them over occasionally to see that no decayed ones remain among them to infect the others. "Cheese which has become dry is grated and bottled for further use in macaroni or gratin.

And so the story goes continued to the "they lived happily ever after" conclusion, but it is impossible to do justice to those who live in flats. They must follow the French method of buying just enough for the day, yet the same economy in left-overs is to be adopted as it is among the French, who are noted the world over for their frugality and their ability to make both ends meet.

In one corner of my pantry is an emergency case—not for sudden illness, but for sudden company, least expected, but none the less welcome, whom I want to treat so well that they will come again. In it are several cans of a jar or two of jam, a can of condensed milk, a little piquant sauce and other odds and ends that come in handy on holidays and Sundays, when the stores are closed.

NECK, BREAST AND HANDS COVERED WITH ECZEMA. Miss Katherine M. Bartlett of 73 McGill College-avenue, Montreal, has been cured of an obstinate case of dry eczema of four years' standing by Zam-Buk when all other remedies had failed to give her relief. She says: "Four years ago my face broke out in rough red blotches which burned, smarted and itched terribly. When the disease was at its worst my face, neck, breast and hands would swell terribly. I can hardly find words to express my gratitude for the wonderful cure made by Zam-Buk. It has the appearance—the light, power, even texture; the golden crust; the thin, crumbly slices into which it cuts. It completes the dainty effect of a dainty table. ### ONCE BITTEN, TWICE SHY.

Just now the people of this city and province are writhing under the grip of a coal combine. The local dealers say that they are not to blame, that the coal barons of Pennsylvania have them by the throat. It might be well to know once for all, officially and definitely, just what the truth is, and many think that the Ontario Government should appoint a royal commission to probe the coal situation at once.

There is no doubt but that the anthracite fields of the United States, upon which our province is dependent for fuel, are controlled by a few coal barons who corner this necessary of life. Just now we are helpless, for Ontario has no coal.

But there is light ahead. The great cataract of Niagara is able to furnish the "white coal," electric power in abundance. When a cheap and easy method of conversion is found, as it certainly will be, Ontario will have a greater treasure trove than Pennsylvania has in its coal deposits. Is this all-important provincial asset to be exploited, manipulated and controlled by electric power barons, or is it to win for the people freedom from a cruel and ruthless monopoly?

This is the one vital question of the hour. To Mr. Whitney's government is committed the faithful opportunity that will make or mar their record and political reputation. Are the citizens of Ontario merely to have a change of masters or are they to be a free people sharing in the common wealth? With the premier of the province and his cabinet rests the responsibility of supplying the answer.

NATIONALIZATION OF IRISH RAILWAYS.

During the sittings of the viceregal commission appointed to investigate and report upon the position of the railways of Ireland, an interesting fact emerged which came to most people as a rather surprising piece of news. It was that an act of parliament was passed in 1844, and still stands on the statute book, providing that after twenty-one years from its date the state could, on giving three months' notice, acquire any railway upon payment of a sum equal to the twenty-five years' purchase of the annual divisible profits, but if the dividends were less than 10 per cent, then the price should be fixed by arbitration. In the event of the state deciding to exercise its power, the latter course would have to be followed, as the average return on the common stock of the British railways is slightly over 3 per cent.

Interesting information regarding the early history of Irish railways, and the various proposals made for their nationalization was given by Mr. William Field, the Nationalist member of parliament for the St. Patrick's division of Dublin City. The first line was opened in 1838, and in 1838 a commission, presided over by Henry Drummond, a well-known public man of that time, reported in favor of the construction of all future lines by the state. Resolutions adopting this report were adopted by parliament in the following year. In 1846 Lord George Bentinck, leader of the protectionist opposition to Sir Robert Peel, proposed that £14,000,000 should be devoted to the purchase of Irish railways, and in 1867 another commission, taking for granted the policy of nationalization, recommended a reduction of rates by 42 per cent., and estimated that a profit would result to the state after eleven years. Again, in 1888, still another commission on Irish public works recommended the centralization of all the railroads under one company, subject to a controlling au-

HOW "HIGH FINANCE" FLEECES THE PUBLIC IN TWO WAYS

Some of the people of Canada are to-day reaping the fruits of ill-advised investments in the watered stocks of railways, of tractions, of electric propositions located in the United States, in South America, in our own country.

Let us try and outline, to begin with, how these schemes are worked: From the days of the first Vanderbilt down to Mr. Harriman of our own time, from the days of those who first exploited street railways and other franchise propositions down to our own time, from the days when the first corner was effected in coal, oil, sugar, steel, cotton; all the other "combinations," down to the present, the object of the "high financiers," as they have been called, has been to do two things, namely: First of all, in some way, "to sew up" the public, to fasten upon the public a monopoly in connection with some natural product, in connection with some form of transportation, telegraphs or telephones, in connection with some public franchise, and then, having so tied the public up, to float upon that same public, and to induce that same public to take immense amounts of watered stocks, representing nothing but paper, in connection with the monopolies and the franchises which these exploiters had secured. Let us repeat again—their object was to make the public pay a high price for something or service, and to make the public buy a lot of worthless securities, representing so much paper, issued on the fact of the public being a good customer.

Now let us come to another point: The big railroad exploiters of the United States—Harriman, Gould, Vanderbilt, Fish, Ryan, Belmont, Hill and all of their class—some years ago made a new departure into the very highest kind of finance, i. e., they reorganized all the transportation propositions that they had in their hands on the basis of doubling and trebling the securities, whether bonds or stock; and when they wished to make these flotations and work them out on the public it was necessary that, for the time, they should get control of actual money in great blocks; and so they were clever enough to look about where this ready money was, and they saw that it was in the insurance companies, the great insurance companies of New York, some of which had actually five hundred millions of trust funds in cash or the equivalent of cash, the property of policyholders. So these enterprising gentlemen, at considerable expense, got themselves elected to the boards of these insurance companies, and in that way managed to get control of the trust funds and to use them for the purpose of their flotations. They were able to put out their bonds and to load the public with their common stock, the latter in every case pure water. All the available insurance money that was centered in New York was used by these New York magnates for the great railroad propositions that centre in that city. But there were other men—smaller men—who had propositions of a similar kind, and especially what are called traction or trolley or electric propositions in Canada, in the Western States, especially around the cities that border on Lake Erie and Lake Michigan, and these gentlemen, too, looked about for insurance companies. They spied out Canada, and dropped in here with their traction propositions and the bonus stock which accompanied, and they succeeded, in one way or another, in inducing Canadian capitalists and banks and insurance companies to help them to float out their bonds, and then to float out their "bonus" stock. This bonus stock was absolutely all water, they induced a great many Canadians to buy it; and the men who are in charge of our insurance companies, some of them in Montreal, some of them in Toronto, gave up all ideas of the regular and ordinary form of safe investment of trust funds of the policyholders, and they went into the "high finance" of floating these propositions. We have even heard these insurance men before the insurance commission and in their annual conventions justify this kind of high financing in regard to the trust funds of policyholders. They are flooding the country to-day with cartoons to this effect. The tractions of South America, the electric light propositions of Mexico were financed in the same way. Some time ago, when Canadians had to go to London to float some ordinary municipal debentures that were as good as the wheat, had no water in them, they were told they could not get the money, that Canada was a "financier" for every country of South America, for the West Indies, and that if they could finance these things, surely they could finance their own propositions without going to London. They were even asked when the "Patagonians" were coming along!

The same question that is up in the United States is the same question that is up here, namely, the tying up of municipalities and the public in one way or another, and the loading on this same public of a lot of worthless paper or watered securities. The people of both countries are finding out the truth. There are public men and papers in the United States and in Canada who are telling the public the facts of all this "high finance," as it is called. These men are denounced as wreckers, and President Roosevelt is said to be bringing on a crisis in his country because he has pointed out these frauds, and, once for all, has tried to put a stop to them for the future. The great cry that these men of high finance now raise is that the innocent investor is being wrecked! If the stocks which were sold for high prices are proved to be worthless, if the men who used the trust funds that belong to policyholders, the savings of the people that has been accumulated in banks, to float out these propositions, surely they are the parties that ought to be reprimanded, not those who have hoisted many a warning signal. "Paper" securities are frauds, and always will be frauds, and those who have charge of trust funds of any kind do a wrong thing when they league themselves up with "high financiers" to float them out on the public. Perhaps a block of the bonus stock was the temptation.

The one clear, bright outlook comes from the State of New York. Under the splendid law regarding railways, street cars and all public franchises, passed last winter under the leadership of Governor Hughes, and now being unflinchingly administered, no such high financing is any longer possible. We must have the same law here.

"HE SPEAKS LIKE A PROFESSOR"

Successing O'Connell and preceding Parnell, it is not strange that Isaac Butt should be obscured to the point of neglect. Yet it was Butt who coined the happy phrase of "home rule," and who mapped out the large plans, since heppily carried out, for the pacification of Ireland. Parnell showed slight consideration for the feelings of Butt when he felt that the hour had come for his retirement. Butt was able, courteous, a good constitutional lawyer, respecting and highly respected by the British parliament. Parnell dismissed him with the curt criticism: "He speaks like a professor."

It is not strange that when Parnell got to the place where he could deal with big combinations, he naturally turned to men who, on the hustings and in the house, did not recall a professor delivering a lecture. It is still a mooted point how far his understanding had progressed with Lord Randolph Churchill, but they would have been a combination to make any government miserable and to make any country attentive. Parnell, too, was much attracted by Chamberlain, and in the early eighties was confident of winning him to home rule. So difficult it is to forecast a horoscope.

These three men were born for opposition, they by no means disqualified for government. They went after a thing like they wanted it. They had ideas, and they fought for them. They often disturbed the serene contentment of parliament, for they believed that parliament should not be content, but should be anxious to better the condition of the people.

TWO-CENTS-A-MILE PAYS.

From an analysis of the annual report of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, made in the last issue of The Railroad Gazette, it is evident that the beneficial effects of the introduction of the two-cent-a-mile rate are even more marked than at first appeared. "The very first entry of the report, earnings from passenger department, $26,758,929, has," says The Gazette, "its pith of meaning. For the last seven months of the year, covered by the report, the reduction applied to the whole mileage (2006), and to the major part of it during the earlier five months. The official forecast, based on the passenger business of the previous year, estimated the probable loss at $700,000, but instead of the passenger earnings increased by no less than $1,506,930, or from $25,252,124 to $26,758,929. This happened, too, notwithstanding that there was less than four miles of addition to the track length, and that the previous use of mileage books at the two-cent rate had been exceptionally large.

Commenting on this, The Gazette observes that "even allowing for normal increase of regular passenger business, and somewhat for development of excursion traffic, the results of the reduced rate as applied to a system with dense passenger travel is extremely vivid and striking. It seems singular that President Mellon has not emphasized this matter in his report until one remembers that there are some reversed interests as regards the two-cent rate in his own board of directors." It is evident enough now that the two-cent-a-mile rate has come to stay in the United States, and that even if the supreme federal court should ultimately hold the state legislation to be unconstitutional it will have established itself too firmly to be dislodged. Railroads that find the reduced rate pays them will have no inducement to revert to the old schedules, and an unpopular difference in rates cannot be permanently maintained by competitive companies, however unwilling to concede it they may be.

Nationalization of Telegraphs.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Morning Post says: "In order that the empire may become a unit for telegraphic purposes, advantages whereof are infinitely greater than the advantage of state-owned cables, an imperial guild of state-owned cables is a vital object of imperial statehood." The Morning Post is glad, therefore, to note that the opposition party in Canada has placed the nationalization of telegraph lines upon their program.

Political Intelligence

The result in Saskatchewan is not without encouragement. The Scott government has been reactionary, as compared, for example, with the Rutherford government in Alberta, and Mr. Haultain must have many elements of strength. True, the educational clauses of the autonomy bill are beyond amendment, but, with the example of Manitoba, it is fair to assume that the school question will still remain an issue in the west.

The Maritime Provinces are beginning to look for guidance to Ontario. Heretofore they have been a happy hunting ground for exploiters and corporations, and the vast forest reserves of New Brunswick and the great coal deposits of Nova Scotia have yielded small returns to the people. Now, in Nova Scotia, comes a demand for the province to operate the coal mines and New Brunswick is taking notice of our new pulpwood policy. The King's County Record (Conn.) says:

The agitation in favor of the export duty on pulpwood and pulp has had its effect in the Province of Ontario. The first government, Ontario, has decided that in future all pulpwood sold in that province will be subjected to the proposition that their product must be manufactured in that paper in Ontario. This means that the supplies of raw material for United States paper mills will be largely cut off, and therefore, that Canadian factories employing Canadian labor will produce much of the manufactured article consumed by Americans. When the Province of Ontario takes such a proper and commendable stand, New Brunswick should make it a point to get into line and build up the paper industry which can be so successfully conducted within her borders. During the past few weeks several large American concerns have bought properties in this province with the view of supplying pulp to United States paper mills. Why these factories should not be built in Canada is hard to establish. One wants employment for the young men who are growing up in the country, and we should provide it instead of allowing them to go to the United States and the west, in order to make their livings. Premier Whitney has done a good thing in Ontario, and the premier of New Brunswick could not do better than follow in his footsteps.

But The Glace Bay (N. S.) Gazette (Lib.), referring to another branch of the government's policy, is inclined to be sarcastic, thus: Premier Whitney, explaining the changes made by which the provincial university is given support out of the succession dues, assured his audience in convocation hall yesterday that "there has never been one murmur of disapproval from the men who provided the money." Of course not. The men are all dead.

THE OLD WAY AND THE NEW

James L. Hughes Addresses Progressive Club on Training of Boys.

The Progressive Club had a most successful gathering last night at the King Edward. After a splendid repast, Jas. L. Hughes, who is a member of the club, gave a fine address on "The Old Way of Training, and the New," which met with a most enthusiastic reception from the large audience.

Dr. Withrow voiced the sentiments of the meeting when he said that the new way is the right way, and when set in motion will revolutionize our educational system.

Mr. Hughes' three leading statements were that a boy loves to do things; that he loves to do things as he wants to, and that he loves to do things in association with others. With these principles as a foundation, he proceeded to show how true moral courage and self-control over his physical, intellectual and spiritual powers may be developed by the removal of barriers that deprive him of his originality and self-respect.

"This club has entered upon the season's work with splendid prospects. A much larger place will be required to accommodate its members and adherents when the season has set in. John A. Ewan gives an address next Thursday on 'The Viaduct Needed For Toronto.'

WILSON ESTATE ACCOUNTS WILL NOT BE RE-OPENED

Chief Justice Satisfied With Work of Toronto General Trusts Company.

The accounts of the Wilson estate will not be reopened.

In the divisional court yesterday Chief Justice Meredith rejected the application of the executors of Lady Wilson to have the accounts passed before Judge Winchester in 1905 reopened. His honor reserved judgment as to whether the retaining of insurance due to the estate was fraud on the part of the Toronto General Trust Company.

"It will not do," said Chief Justice Meredith, "for Lady Wilson to say 'I did not understand the nature of this document.'"

Sir William referred to a letter giving the Trusts Corporation authority to transact several items of business, among others the purchase of mining stock.

"As it is possible to conceive," asked Sir William, "that if she read this document, and as an intelligent woman she would read it before signing, that she did not see that item, and if it had been contrary to her wish would she not at once have challenged it?"

Sir William dealt with the authority of Mr. Denison to act for Lady Wilson. With his assent that sum was regarded as an investment authorized by Lady Wilson.

In the evidence it was adduced that Lady Wilson was not only satisfied with the way the estate had been managed, but was grateful for it.

"If somebody had not appeared on the scene," remarked Sir William, "this unfortunate litigation which has proved so costly and which has been accompanied by so much bitterness on the part of those engaged in it, would never have arisen."

"As to the Scramble mining stock, the appeal utterly fails."

There was no evidence to support the charge that there was overcharge of interest, Sir William declared.

No doubt the company had no right to appropriate the rebates on insurance. Whether the appropriate sum of $32 amounted to fraud would have to be considered.

Mr. Hodgins apparently understood the situation.

Chief Justice Meredith: "After, as I say, having had the opportunity to interrupt me in the middle of a statement, you based a remark on what you apparently thought I was going to say."

Mr. Hodgins: "Apparently not," Chief Justice Meredith: "Mr. Hodgins you have no right to make such a remark, and I will not permit you to do so. In the first place, you showed discourtesy in interrupting me before I had finished."

Mr. Hodgins: "I think your lordship is not the only one who has a right to complain of discourtesy."

Chief Justice Meredith: "After, as I say, having had the opportunity to interrupt me in the middle of a statement, you based a remark on what you apparently thought I was going to say."

Berlin Building Boom Labor Scarce Commodity

New Factories Being Established—But Greater Need is More Workers.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Berlin is at present experiencing a factory boom unprecedented in the history of the town.

Associated Indiana concerns are about to begin building operations on three big branch factories, and indications are that a fourth Hooster State firm will follow their lead.

A new furniture factory is to be operated by Zuelzold Bros. is now in course of erection. The Kimmel Electric Company's plant now nearing completion will be the largest of its kind in Canada.

Work will begin very shortly on the new rubber company, in which Jacob Kaufman is the leading figure, and this concern will be among the big concerns of the country.

The Star has just completed a new factory for the manufacture of shirts, which they previously only jobbed. The Merchants Rubber Company is just completing new factory buildings, giving twice the capacity of their present plant.

But with all this factory growth, getting to be a serious question, is the lack of labor.

There is not the necessary corresponding increase in population, and this is getting to be a serious question. It is one firm—the Hagen Shirt & Collar Co.—has found it necessary to start a branch factory in Preston, being unable to get a sufficient number of hands here to enable them to turn out enough goods to fill their orders.

There are those who are beginning to deplore Berlin's aggressive factory policy, maintaining that the deepest need is more workers, not more factories.

Posted Bills on Weigh Scales. In the afternoon court yesterday P. W. Star, proprietor of the Star Theatre, appeared to answer a charge of posting bills on the city weigh scales.

Mr. Star said that he had nothing to do with the posting of the bills, and that the Toronto Bill Posting Company had the contract.

The case goes on again next Monday, when Magistrate Kingsford will fix the responsibility.

James MacLean was fined $5 and costs for riding his bicycle on the devil strip on West Queen-street.

YANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 15.—The following resolution which passed at a meeting of the Asiatic Exclusion League last evening:

"Be it resolved that to enable the people of Vancouver to express their attitude in a constitutional manner as to the advisability of excluding orientals from the province of British Columbia, Mr. R. G. Macpherson is hereby requested to resign his seat in the house of commons, and Hon. A. G. Tait, Hon. W. J. Bowser, and Messrs. A. H. B. MacGowan, I. Garden and J. E. McGuire be asked to resign their seats in the legislature of British Columbia."

The meeting also resolved that only municipal candidates in sympathy with the league be supported for the coming election.

"The Call of the Wild" There is not another place on the continent of America to compare with the "Highlands of Ontario" for deer and hunting. This part of Canada still forms a portion of that unspoiled remnant of the world's pristine wilderness—not yet the abode of man and his mighty civilization.

DR. GOGGIN'S EDIT NEW SET OF SCHOOL READERS

Will Have the Assistance of Committee of Teachers and Other Educationists.

Hon. Dr. Pyne, minister of education, has decided to prepare a new set of public school readers for the schools of the province.

The work will be entrusted to Dr. D. J. Goggin, who will be authorized to consult from time to time with a committee of teachers, whose knowledge of public schools, and whose literary attainments will ensure the preparation of a highly desirable series.

In addition to this committee, the members of the advisory council and other educationists will be consulted and their views on the books during the course of preparation, so that expert advice and opinion will be taken advantage of.

The consultative committee, who will assist Dr. Goggin in his labors, will include Mr. W. A. H. St. Thomas, inspector of Elgin; Prof. Alexander, University of Toronto; G. E. Broderick, Lindsey, principal of the public school, N. W. Campbell, Durham, inspector for South Grey; T. A. Craig, Kempenville, inspector for Leeds; Inspector Hughes, Toronto; Principal Ward, Toronto; Mr. Waugh, Whitby, inspector for Ontario County; Principal Young, Guelph, principal of the public school.

Dr. Goggin, the managing editor, has had long experience, both as teacher, administrator and as a maker of text books. In Ontario he taught in both rural and urban public schools, and in model and high schools. As an head of the normal training in Manitoba he had much to do with training and developing the system in that province.

Later on as superintendent of education for the territories he organized the school system there, while in Manitoba he devoted special attention to text books, and has a practical knowledge of binding and the mechanical processes of bookmaking.

At the last meeting of the Ontario Educational Association the following resolution was passed: "That the Ontario Readers, after twenty years of service, should now give place to a set of readers that would meet the needs of the province of to-day; that would be more in accord with educational principles in reduction of matter, arrangement and adaptation to the needs of the various grades; that would be models of excellence in illustration, type, paper and binding; and that a separate reader be supplied for the work of each grade."

It is officially announced that the present business which was under consideration during last week's sessions of the advisory council of education was the authorized list of text books for the public schools of the province, and further, that instructions in this relation be given to the inspectors as regards other grades.

WAS YORK LOAN SOLVENT BEFORE THE COLLAPSE? William Douglas, K. C., Says It Was Insolvent Long Before the Crash Came.

Before Referee Kappeler yesterday morning, William Douglas, K. C., acting for the general body of shareholders of the York Loan Company, stated that it was his intention to prove that the company was insolvent long before the final collapse.

He stated that the company was insolvent long before the final collapse, and that the shareholders were entitled to be repaid.

RAILWAY RESPONSIBLE FOR WRECK AT TRENTON

Had Not Used Proper Precautions in Keeping Switch Lights in Good Condition.

TRENTON, Oct. 15.—The inquest held by Coroner Dr. Earley to fix the responsibility for the death of the young jockey, William Reinhardt, resulting from the accident on the Grand Trunk line, before daylight on Thursday, was resumed last night, and the town hall was taxed to its utmost capacity, considerable interest being evinced on all sides in the proceedings.

The evidence of the train crew and others was taken and the jury brought in the following verdict: "We, the jury, empowered to enquire into the cause of the death of William Reinhardt, find that he came to his death by being in a collision at the eastern switch of the Grand Trunk Railway at Trenton on Oct. 10, about 5 o'clock p. m., while in the discharge of his duties."

"The said collision was caused by the engineer, D. J. Keay, and fireman T. Wilson, mistaking the eastern switch for the western one, the light on the western switch being out."

"And we find that the said Grand Trunk Railway is to blame for the collision by not using proper precaution in keeping the switch lights in good condition, and should have a permanent switch at such dangerous points."

Sixteen People Killed in British Railway Wreck

Passenger Train Left the Rails at Curve Near Shrewsbury—Wreck of Rescue Retarded in Midst of Pouring Rain and Darkness.

SHREWSBURY, Eng., Oct. 15.—A train made up of passenger coaches, bound from Scotland and the North of England to Bristol, left the rails as it was entering the station here at an early hour this morning. Sixteen persons, including ten passengers, were killed, and many others were injured.

of ten miles an hour at that point. The cause of the accident is believed to have been the cause of the accident. The engine, and all the cars with the exception of the last one, left the rails, and the officials from the railroad station reached the spot, the cars were a tangled mass of wreckage, beneath which were the bodies of the dead and the injured. Fortunately the wreck did not catch fire, and the doctors and salvage crews, who soon reached the scene, did not have this added danger to fight in the darkness and pouring rain, which, however, retarded the work of rescue, and several hours elapsed before the last body was taken out.

Lieut.-Col. John I. Davidson Brigade Commandant, Quits

Promotion of Colonel Sir Henry M. Pellatt Over His Head Causes Surprise in Military Circles.

Col. John I. Davidson, for several years in command of the 4th Highlanders, has resigned from the militia owing to the promotion of Lieut.-Col. Sir Henry M. Pellatt, his junior, to the command of the garrison.

de-camp to the governor-general of Canada. He commands one of the present volunteer corps in the empire, and has done much to promote esprit de corps in the regiment. On the other hand Colonel Davidson has been connected with the militia since 1882. He raised the 4th Highlanders in 1881, a regiment which wears the Davidson tartan, and is allied with the Gordon Highlanders. He commanded the regiment for six years, and at the expiration of his command left the corps in the highest state of discipline and order. Lieut.-Col. Davidson has since commanded the 2nd Infantry Brigade to the satisfaction of everyone not only under his command, but all those inspecting officers who have had the opportunity of seeing the brigade in the field or on parade.

The parade, which will always be remembered owing to the fact that the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company from Boston led the procession, was commanded by a lieutenant-colonel while a senior officer in command of one of the brigades. At the time the matter caused a good deal of comment in the clubs and at headquarters. Colonel Sir Henry Pellatt's promotion to the rank of lieutenant-colonel dates from March 30, 1901, and Lieut.-Col. John I. Davidson from March 15, 1892, which makes the latter 17 years the senior.

Great Surprise. Sir Henry Pellatt's promotion, therefore, comes as a great surprise to everyone—and especially to those officers senior to him in the seniority list. According to the King's regulations an officer wearing a uniform is not permitted to make any statements to the press on military matters or comment on the action of the authorities at headquarters. The only course an officer can take is to resign—and this to the regret of all in the Western Ontario command, Colonel Davidson has done, altho he still remains honorary lieutenant-colonel of the regiment he organized.

In the British service it has often happened that the officer commanding a regiment is junior in rank in the army to his second in command, or even one of the majors; but in these cases the senior officer is nearly always promoted to the staff duties. In the Imperial army list to-day you may find a captain in a certain regiment being a brevet major and a brevet lieutenant-colonel or even a full colonel with the local rank of brigadier-general—but in that case the officer has probably not served with his regiment for years—having been employed in the field all the time, and when the time comes for him to return to his corps for regimental duty he has been given some special post.

The production of "Soldiers of Fortune" at the Royal Alexandra Theatre this week is the talk of the town. It equals that given at the Savoy Theatre, New York, and is a credit to the management. When one takes into consideration that the scenery is built in Toronto, it goes far to show what the management of this theatre is doing for the play-going public. Two matinees are given a week, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. At the matinee to-morrow a souvenir satin program will be presented to each lady. Next week N. C. Goodwin's and Maxine Elliott's popular play, "The Cowboy and the Lady," will be presented with special scenery and costumes. In the theatre program there is a slip asking the public to vote for the plays they would like to see, so far "The Christian" has the largest number of votes. The public are requested to express their wishes and the play will be produced.

Has Given Good Service. Lieut.-Col. Sir Percy Girouard, who is a Canadian and passed thru the Royal Military College at Kingston into the Royal Engineers, was promoted for distinguished service in Egypt to the rank of major, and in South Africa was a local lieutenant-colonel when holding the post of director of railways. Under his command were several captains and majors senior to him in his corps, indeed, when Sir Percy Girouard went to South Africa he had the sovereign command of a citizen soldier, and he is honorary aide-

No event of the season will interest theatre-goers more than the appearance of William Collier at the Princess Theatre on Monday in his new play, "Caught in the Rain." It was in this play that Mr. Collier scored such a brilliant success during its seven months' run in New York. Tickets will be placed on sale at the theatre to-morrow morning, and the advance demand is remarkably heavy. It will be advisable to secure seats early.

BEER MAKES BLOOD

MALT has certain food elements which the body can transform into healthy blood quickly and with the least digestive effort. Beer, by some counted an intoxicant, is not so—it is a blood-maker, with barely enough alcohol in it to help the stomach do its work far better. Beer with meals is good for 997 people out of every thousand—and is especially good for women. Ask your own doctor about it—beer is probably good for you.

CONSTIPATION

For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time had to take a quantity of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have any relief. I tried many of the great cathartics, and today I am a well man. I can use this in behalf of suffering humanity. B. F. Fisher, Roselle, Ill.

gives large room and scope for the methods we shall introduce. Thus far no attempt has been made in Canada to guarantee titles to real estate by a responsible company, and the system in operation with us is based on successes of many years' standing all over the United States. The expensive method at present in use here of transferring such titles, involving a repetition of expense and delay with every transfer, is felt to be unsatisfactory. Our method abolishes the necessity for this annoying repetition. We investigate a title thoroughly once, and there is then no need for doing it again in connection with subsequent transfers. Our policy is a guarantee against loss or expense through any defect or encumbrance; once issued, it makes the property thereafter transferable practically as readily as any chattel, and at the minimum of expense.

In connection with Title Insurance, we shall do a Wealthy American Relieved of a Thousand Dollars.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—A wealthy American during the lunch-hour yesterday of the dressmaking establishments on the Rue De La Paix, got into conversation with two pretty young women, whom he thought were dressmakers. He promised to send them some picture post-cards from Milan, and drew out his pocket-book and placed a card on it for them to write their addresses. Germany Said to Have Made Approaches for Removal of Trade Restrictions.

OTTAWA, Oct. 15.—Following the treaty of reciprocity which has recently been agreed upon between Canada and the French Republic, Canadian ministers will next summer negotiate a preferential trade arrangement with Germany and with Italy. Italy has been for some-time desirous of improving its trade relations with Canada, and it is now said that German, too, has made approaches for a removal of the restrictions on trade that now exist between the two countries. The Germans are willing to reconsider their policy of retaliation against Canada if they are prepared to give them what they regard as a square deal.
