The educational page has something new on educational subjects, and the benefit of the kindergarten is emphasized.

WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

In respect to the general situation of the war, events in France are hanging fire until the weather becomes more favorable for heavy fighting and infantry manoeuvres. Preparations by the artillery have become active again on the battlefield in Picardy. In the Russian theatre of the war the fighting is heavy, but no gains that impress the imagination have been made. Nevertheless the wear and tear of that campaign will hasten the Prussian downfall. In the Balkans the allies are progressing in a difficult country and the first advances will be at a slow and cautious pace. The Rumanians are on the offensive in all but a small section of the front in Transylvania. Over the whole war a stricter censorship is being maintained, suggestive of reversal striving to get ready for another move in the great campaign.

On the Rumanian front, the Dobruja claims chief interest, with the allied offensive proceeding. Bucharest reported yesterday that the Russo-Rumanian offensive in that province was progressing in the centre and on the left wings. Progress is being made, and the capture of some prisoners. In Transylvania violent actions are progressing, with the Rumanians, except in the Fogaras region, on the offensive everywhere. In the Fogaras district they are faced by superior forces of Teutons and they had to withdraw their lines a little before the attack of Fogaras numbers. It is probable that, having concentrated big forces about Fogaras, the enemy is endeavoring to invade Rumania. This is the main reason for the vigorous offensives, assumed at this time, on the rest of the front by the Rumanians. They may be designed for alleviating the pressure in the southwest until the allies can transfer superior strength to the threatened point.

In the pursuit of their Balkan campaign the Serbians, French and Rumanians have driven the Bulgarians back to their second line of defence, the Masail-Kemal-Gradesnitsa front, and they are proceeding to attack it with foot and artillery. If they succeed in abandoning this line they will probably deliver Monastir into their hands again. It cannot be counted on that the new engagement that is coming on will settle the Bulgarian case immediately, but that it will settle it in due course is what the allies intend. On their extreme right flank the British army has thrust out its tentacles a mile further and it has occupied Neverson Village. The Bulgarians were forced to withdraw from that place by British artillery fire alone. British infantry then occupied it without suffering any losses.

On the Russian front, between Brody and the Dniester, the fighting still proceeds. The Russians won further advantages on both sides of the Zlota Lupa River, in the region of Brzezany, and they repulsed Turko-German troops attempting counter-attacks. In the region about Brody the Germans are making determined counter-attacks in order to delay the Russian advance, probably to gain time for reinforcements to arrive. The fighting is extremely violent and the Russian attacks are formidable.

On the British front in France, south of the Ancre, heavy shelling prevailed in preparation for further offensive efforts. On the rest of the line, north of the Ancre, artillery bombardments were also heavy in many sections. German working parties on the Somme battlefield were spotted by observers and dispersed by long range artillery fire. In the previous night the British pushed forward to the northeast of Eaucourt L'Abbaye. They also discharged gas east of Loos and east of Arras, and their patrols entered German trenches in the Loos sector and at two places south of Arras. The significance of this activity, which has extended for some time in the Arras and Loos regions, has not yet become apparent. It is probably in anticipation of a German withdrawal from the sector between Arras and the Ancre. As the British and French push forward more and more south of the Ancre and the Somme the German lines on the 22-mile stretch south of Arras will become more and more dangerously exposed and the abandonment of this sector by the enemy as the advance goes on will become inevitable.

On the Somme front the French have advanced slightly east of Bouchevaines. A heavy artillery action was continued on both sides of the river. In the Verdun and Woerwe sectors something unusual is evidently afoot, for the Germans violently shelled the Cote du Poivre and the Lauffe Wood. The French, in turn, observing a certain amount of activity, effectively bombarded with their heavy artillery roads and railway stations in the Woerwe. The Germans may be removing troops from this part of the front for service in the Balkans or on the Somme.

In their fighting among the Alps the Italians continue their worrying tactics. The latest exploit had its scene set in the Dolomites and it consisted in the capture of a strong trench line with shelters on the slopes of Cima di Costabella. This success will probably, as intended by the Italians, provoke strong counter-attacks. This is the only point where the Austrians throw force into the fighting. That is because Slav troops are employed and because Austria has long fomented racial hatred between her Slav and Italian subjects. Austrian political policy towards the subject races under the Hapsburgs has been to divide and rule over, with the South Germans and the Hungarians as the dominant peoples. The Hungarians are worse oppressors than the South Germans and people who have been cherishing the notion that Hungary may break away from the unholy alliance are surely laboring under a delusion. This war was only made possible by a secret understanding between Berlin and Budapest. If Austria-Hungary breaks up as a result of the war Hungary will almost certainly join the German Empire.

In the Caucasus the Russians are continuing their attacks upon the Turks in the coastal region west of Trebizond and further progress was reported yesterday towards the Karshat-Duzasi River. This stream flows into the Black Sea near Trezovi, about 50 miles west of Trebizond.

BROTHER CLAIMS HE IS INNOCENT

found the piece of spade which undoubtedly was used by the murderer. It was used as a salt scoop and always lay in the salt barrel, well inside the driving shed. If the murderer was not lying in wait for Montgomery inside the shed he had to creep the whole length of the building behind Montgomery to get the weapon. Clutched tightly in Montgomery's hand was a heavy piece of iron chain connecting two big rings. Constable St. Charles does not think Montgomery used the chain to defend himself. He thinks he grasped it in his death struggles.

Struck From Behind. From the lay-out of the shed, it seems the murdered man was struck down from behind, ten feet from the door, while carrying a bag of wind-falls to a bin at the back. There were no evidences of a struggle, only a little blood on the floor. The spade was struck. Some on the apple bag and tongue of a wagon nearby was the only sign that a murder had been committed. Something the police cannot understand is a small piece of wood found ten feet to the left of where the body lay, clotted and with some of Montgomery's hair clinging to it. Walter took his eccentric habit of carrying all his money in a school bag hung around his neck on a piece of harness strap around out of some difficulties he had with his brother Joe 5 years ago. When the brothers' father died Walter got all the property but he gave Joe a deed to 100 acres. Walter took his mother and sister to live with him. Joe had his brother, the murdered man, taken into custody on the ground that she had not been ill-treated. Since then Walter would never trust his money out of his hands.

He went back to the farm and has had nothing to do with Joe since. On one occasion Joe wanted to help him with the harvest, but Walter warned him off the place. Joe declared he was not on the premises since, until he led the search party Thursday morning.

Would Not Talk. Joseph Montgomery, the dead man's brother, refused to give Coroner Harper and Constable St. Charles much satisfaction when they questioned him concerning his whereabouts on Tuesday when it is believed, Walter was killed. "Where were you on Tuesday afternoon, Joe?" asked the constable. "None of your business," was the reply.

Referring to two new abrasions on Joe's hand the coroner said: "You've been fighting, Joe—when was it?" "Prove it," was the curt reply. "That time was a piece of Walter's forehead which might have been received by the fall or from a blow. Today Constable St. Charles met him on the road and asked him to identify milk Walter's six cows. "I'd rather not have anything to do with them," he said, "I see I am suspected."

St. Charles met McEullen a little while later and asked him to look after them. "Why, Joe took them off my hands yesterday," he said. "He claimed the right to milk them." The World, Joe Montgomery would "I tell you I'm innocent," he repeated. One theory is that some of the forgers worked in the mine near here had something to do with it. It is said three were discharged Monday and have not been seen since.

There is little doubt that the murder was committed Tuesday afternoon. Tuesday morning's milk was delivered, but the cows were not milked in the evening.

Was a "Square" Man. Walter Montgomery is well-spoken of by all his neighbors. They say he was eccentric, but square in his dealing. His farm was paid off and since his father's death, his savings have accumulated and gone into the leather sack around his neck, all with the exception of $500 he gave his mother when he got the farm. Cattle buyers in the neighborhood declare they have paid him some thousands of dollars in business dealings in a comparatively short time and he received about $700 in cash for a piece of land sold to Hall Brothers not very long ago. Besides all this money he must have carried, there was the proceeds of his farm, and the ground crops. He was a wealthy man with not a cent in the bank and everybody for 20 miles round knew right where to find him. The deed and ground papers were in a tin box in the frame shack Montgomery had built to replace his brick house which was burned. This box was pried open with a knife and all the contents extracted. It is probable this part of the theft was committed Tuesday night, the young man in the village declares he

Billy Spence Tells How Wife Was Saved Last night Billy Spence, the Irish evangelist who is conducting a series of revival meetings in Cooke's Presbyterian Church, addressed a large crowd. His story, delivered in his own inimitable manner, with his rugged eloquence and quaint accent, made a strong impression and was productive of much good. The conversion of his gentle, loving wife, whose kindly counsel was the means of saving her husband from his life of sin, was the subject of the speaker's remarks. "The very best must get saved as well as the very worst," said Billy. "All must be born again. My good wife had to be saved as well as her wicked husband. "When I was saved I wanted to save my wife. I liked and prayed with her, but I finally prayed far more than talked. And God answered my prayers. The very best must get saved as well as the very worst." Our youngest child sickened and died. Our first I could not understand why God had afflicted us thus, but later I understood. I prayed on. Later our other child died. To you mothers and fathers, who have suffered what I have suffered, I say that God has taken your little ones in order that you may be brought to them. But still my wife was not saved. Several years later I suffered a broken leg in an accident and the patience with which I bore my suffering and the kindness of my friends were the final means of my wife's conversion. All things had worked together for good."

SATURDAY MORNING, OCT. 7.

Thanksgiving, 1916

In celebrating our third Thanksgiving we should regard the event as a real eucharist and try to understand to what a large degree we have all been compelled to enter into this wider and general life of the world by our association with events by which all mankind is profoundly affected. It is true that there are still some among us who do not understand their relation to the war, and are unable to believe that they have any direct relation with it, and least of all have they had understanding sufficient to enable them to realize that this relation, properly fulfilled, is the one thing for which they are entitled to render supreme thanksgiving. There is no age in recorded history in which humanity and every individual unit of mankind had such a definite opportunity of identifying himself with the armies of truth and justice and repudiating allegiance with the forces of falsity, darkness and wrong. For over twenty-six months the daily message to humanity has been, "Choose ye this day which God ye shall serve." Those who have chosen right may well rejoice with great rejoicing for all things go well with them.

On our first Thanksgiving we were grateful that with great heroism and self-sacrifice our own deathless first seven divisions had with our allies succeeded in stopping the enemy. On the second Thanksgiving, a year ago, we had nearer and closer cause for gratitude and pride in knowing that our own Canadian battalions had taken their place on the fiery day of battle and held it against incredible odds. The enemy made no real headway against the dash and unyielding valor of our boys. Now, on our third Thanksgiving, after stopping and holding the enemy, the great army that Lord Kitchener called into being and held indispensable to the safety of his beloved country—Kitchener's men have gone out against the hosts of the enemy and scattered them like chaff before the whirlwind. We may rejoice that those who have put forth their strength and taken part in the effort to overthrow the tyrant have been so fully rewarded, and we may hope that those who still remain untouched in their hearts in this great time of trial may yet understand the duties and obligations of life as well as its privileges and opportunities. There is none so thankless as Thanksgiving Day as those who have labored not and are barren of sacrifice.

We may be thankful for the realization of our ideals and the perpetuation of the great traditions of our race. It is a splendid and memorable thing to see the youth and chivalry of our vast empire uniting with one consent to establish the cause of righteousness and honor as we have had it handed down by our fathers from the old time before us. We pray, perhaps, that the Beauty of the Lord be upon us, and that He establish the work of our hands. But it is these young men, upon whom the blessing of eternal beauty falls, deathless evermore, and the works of whose hands are established for all time. Whether they return to us now, or are separated from us for a while, we must always give thanks that they have been touched with the immortal beauty of those who faltered not when the last call came.

It seems almost a reproach upon us that we should dwell too fondly upon the material blessings that have been vouchsafed us. In these days the man who realizes his trusteeship in all his possessions and opportunities may find more satisfaction than he will in mere self-gratification or the lust of ownership. It is in the use of our material gifts that we may find the truest joy, as it is in the worthy exercise of our health and strength, our reason and intelligence, that we shall find accumulating re-

GETTING MORE FRIENDLY

A New Papal State

Switzerland, serenely above the war, but able to view it closely, is the clearing house for what is going on behind the scenes, and from Zurich comes the report that a separate treaty of peace between Austria and Italy is under discussion. Such a treaty, of course, will scarcely be concluded except as a prelude to a general peace. One point of difference said to have been amicably settled is the fate of Trentino, a small Austrian province Italian in sympathy, and the cause of constant bickering between the two nations.

Trentino, or a least a portion of it, we are told, to be set apart as a papal state. The Pope in this small territory would be the temporal sovereign. The state would, of course, be neutralized, and its independence guaranteed by the great powers as was the independence of Belgium.

The restoration of temporal power to the Pope would be acclaimed by the Roman Catholic world. The Pope's claim to temporal power does not mean, as many imagine, that he claims to be the civil ruler of all countries. Catholic of Protestant under the sun, but only that he is the (as Pope) civil sovereign of the City of Rome and certain surrounding territory. That sovereignty the Pope exercised almost without interruption from a time antedating the Norman Conquest of England until the year 1870. The Pope's contention is that he is not the subject of the King of Italy, but his prisoner.

But whatever may have been the original merits of the case, the Italian king has by this time gained a claim of right by inheritance and the consent of the governed, upon which, after all, royal titles must depend. Many Catholics, who are but languidly interested in the long standing quarrel between the Vatican and the Quirinal, believe nevertheless that the head of their church should be in possession of what we might call an international "Federal District." They contend that it is not seemly for the head of a universal church to be the citizen of any nation or the subject of any king. Hence the proposal to erect Trentino into a papal state would be welcomed. The Pope might spend a great deal of his time in Rome, but as civil ruler of Trentino he would be entitled to send ambassadors to and receive ambassadors from every nation.

The proposal for a new papal state, if it ever does come within the realm of practical international politics, may meet with strong opposition from many British Protestants. They will agree with some Catholics in believing that Trentino will prove to be an Avignon from which the Pope will sooner or later return to Rome. The majority of Catholics, however, and probably some Protestants, will see in the proposal a permanent solution of a problem which has long vexed Italy, and has more than once been used as a lever by Germany to coerce the Italian Government.

BIG SOX SHOWER FOR SPORTSMEN'S BATTALION
Men Receive Gifts From Their Mothers, Sisters and Sweethearts.
A most successful "sox" shower was given the 180th Sportsmen's Battalion in Oddfellows' Hall, College street, yesterday, when early in the afternoon, between eleven and twelve hundred pairs of "sox" had been gathered with a probability of doubling that number before night.

The women who brought the gifts to their husbands, brothers and sweethearts, the "showers" was under the auspices of the ladies' auxiliary of the battalion. Mrs. Richard Greer, Mrs. Arthur VanKoughnet, Miss Kathleen O'Brien, Mrs. O'Donoghue and Mrs. Richard were among those who thanked the guests and received their parcels.

APPEALS DISMISSED AT OSGOODE HALL

Toronto Railway Company Fails to Have Decision Reversed.

MOST OF A BAD JOB

Sum House Owner Must Pay Architect for Services is Reduced.

In the appellate division at Osgoode Hall yesterday the appeal of the Toronto Street Railway Company from the judgment of the county court, which awarded one Rothwell $75 as compensation for being struck by a street car while driving a bicycle, was dismissed. The jury finding that he had a space of 180 feet in which to bring his car to a standstill, the right otherwise.

The appellate division yesterday reduced by $413 the amount which Douglas Stewart must pay Richard Bull, architect, the remuneration for his services in constructing Stewart's $20,000 house in Collingwood. It was found by the lower court that the house had been rendered unsightly by defective workmanship, which the architect had passed in order to make the most of a bad job.

Philip Goldstein, a farmer living near Severn Bridge, has entered action against Minnie Mitchell, for the return of presents, or in default for $1000 damages. Goldstein alleges that in 1914 he and the defendant agreed to their husbands, brothers and sweethearts, the "showers" was under the auspices of the ladies' auxiliary of the battalion. Mrs. Richard Greer, Mrs. Arthur VanKoughnet, Miss Kathleen O'Brien, Mrs. O'Donoghue and Mrs. Richard were among those who thanked the guests and received their parcels.

Political Intelligence

The loud talk about the cabinet reorganization at Ottawa has faded away to a whisper. The three ministers who were spoken of as likely to retire are busy with their jobs. Hon. Frank Cochrane recovered his health as quickly as the span in the Quebec bridge fell, and at almost the same moment, he is planning a visit of inspection to the principal military points in Canada.

Hon. Robert Rogers is scarcely ready under fire. If the Liberals proved that he was in the same class as his colleagues in the Roblin government, they will at once throw suspicion upon his administration as minister of public works at Ottawa. If Mr. Rogers reaches the cabinet together with General Hughes and Mr. Cochrane, who is to retire?

The Toronto Telegram shies away from this subject, but starts the alarm that Sir Lomer Gouin is to be the next Liberal leader. This belief probably justifies the Telegram in supporting the Borden government, whether General Hughes stays in or goes out.

Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of customs, found the Vancouver people up in arms on the subject of high freight rates. They want a Canadian customs office in New York so that goods from eastern Canada can be shipped to British Columbia thru the United States in bond, via the Panama Canal. It looked for a time as if the big crowd would go after the minister of customs, but Sir George Foster poured oil on the troubled waters. He intimated that the Pacific coast people had made out a good case, and it now looks as if the happy compromise will be reached by putting into commission a government-owned fleet of vessels between Halifax and Vancouver.

MAY REFUSE REQUESTS FOR EXPORT WAREHOUSES

Licence Board Thinks There Are Enough for Legitimate Business.

The Ontario Licence Board has frowned upon the numerous applications for export warehouses west of Lake Superior. It is expected that these applications will be refused. Vice-Chairman Dingman pointed out that even now there are three such warehouses in Port Arthur and Toronto, five at Kenora and one in Dryden. The board thinks therefore that there are quite enough for any legitimate business and that the increase in the number of such warehouses would tend to illicit business.

PEOPLE AT HOME SEE WHAT WAR IS

Striking Feature of Film Showing Battle of the Somme.

DRAMATIC INCIDENTS

Nothing More Stirring Than Sight of Infantry Making Attack.

One of the most striking features of the Somme battle has been the condition of public life in which it has been waged and the official film, "The Battle of the Somme," the greatest motion picture ever produced, will do more than any number of lectures and speeches to show the worker at home what is really going on.

He sees at once the vast preparations, the wonderful organization of the army, the months of waiting, the launching of the attack, and as he sits at home there comes a glimpse not merely of the horrors of war, but of its glories, of unselfish British soldiers, sharing their cigarettes with their prisoners, of the wounded patiently waiting their turn at the dressing stations, of men staggering back to the British lines with wounded companions on their backs.

And all the time one feels that these men, cheery under the most trying conditions, are members of a victorious army.

The films are full of dramatic incidents—the explosion of a monster mine which envelops the countryside in debris and smokes the devastating effect of the Royal Marine Artillery's 15-inch howitzers, the burying of the dead in the pathetic picture of the "Manchester's" pet dog, killed with his master in the storming of the Dantzig alley.

But there is nothing more stirring than the sight of the infantry rushing over the parapet to the attack, some of them falling even before they have cleared their own wire.

However great the danger, the photographer is on the scene and it would be a graceful compliment on the part of the authorities if the names of these and those who shared their risk in producing the pictures could be made public in flashing the screen.

Criminal Assizes to Open Monday, But Will Adjourn

The criminal assizes will open on Monday, but there will be an immediate adjournment owing to the fact that Monday is a holiday. The presiding judge will deliver the address to the grand jury on Tuesday. Sir William Mulock, who was to have been the presiding judge, will not be present. On the civil list are 23 cases, and among the criminal cases are charges of manslaughter against John M. Henderson, Benjamin Tipping, Cecil and Alfred Maguire, Wm. Caines, Bruce Moyer, Buffalo, Wm. Robertson and James Murray. The charges all arise out of motor car accidents.

GREY BATTALION FIRST TO LEAVE

Lt.-Col. McFarland's Unit Starts Big Move From Borden.

Q. O. R. NEW COMMAND

Major Mitchell Has Been Raised to Rank of Lieut.-Colonel.

By a Staff Reporter. Camp Borden, Oct. 6.—This afternoon the 147th Grey County Battalion, Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland, commander, left camp to continue its training at a point further east. The 147th is conceded to be one of the best trained units among the thirty that were in camp. Its commander, Col. McFarland, was chief musketry officer for the Toronto Military District before his appointment by Ottawa to organize an overseas unit in Grey County.

The 147th left in high spirits and looked very fit. Colonel S. O. Mewburn, assistant adjutant general; Lieut.-Col. W. R. Lang of the G. S. O. staff; Major G. G. Wilson, D. of S. and T., and Major Healey of headquarters, were at the station to witness the 147th's departure. The battalion went on two special C. P. R. trains.

First in a Month. It was the first unit to leave camp for about a month. Only a few civilians took part in the farewell so that the troops entrained and departed with no more commotion than if they had been going on regular week-end leave.

The 147th is nearly a thousand strong. It was organized last spring, and has been in training here ever since the camp opened three months ago.

Promoted to Lieut.-Col. Major W. G. Mitchell, commander of the 166th Queen's Own Rifles Battalion, has been promoted to rank of lieutenant-colonel. Other promotions announced in the 166th Battalion are: Capt. E. C. Conroy to become major; Captains J. P. Crawford and L. C. Reynolds to be majors; Lieut. W. Maclean-Howard to be captain. Lieut. William MacIntyre has been appointed battalion machine gun officer.

Infantry School Moved to Toronto. The school of instruction being conducted here for the qualifying of infantry officers will close on Monday, Oct. 16. The course will continue afterwards in Toronto. The other instructional courses, such as musketry, bombing and bayonet fighting, are to continue here until the last battalion leave camp.

There are only 65 soldiers in the camp hospital. This is a decrease of 60, as compared with less than one week ago.

Eighty-one members of various units are named today as discharged on account of medical unfitness for overseas service.

Appointments to A.M.C. The appointment of the following Army Medical Corps officers to the Base Hospital, Toronto, with promotion, is announced: Lieut. W. B. Thistle, to be major; Lieut. O. A. McNicol, Goldwin Howland and Gordon Bates, all to be captains.

The following non-commissioned officers and men have been awarded certificates. To be sergeants: Sergt. D. F. Clemons, A. L. Lewis, 116th; Corp. W. J. Moon, Pte. S. B. Medley, 120th; Corp. H. L. Magee, W. K. Jones, Ptes. Scott, G. H. Harper, W. Esson, H. G. Parlett, 122nd; Pte. A. W. E. van Someren, 125th; Sergt. F. G. Wilkinson, J. E. Hellam, 127th; C.S.M.'s, F. S. Anderson, H. W. Cooke, 129th; Corp. T. E. Battams, Sergt. J. A. Ferguson, 162nd; C.S.M. L. G. Gardiner, Sergt. M. Patterson, 163rd; Corp. J. McBratney, C. R. Long, 180th; Corp. J. S. Woolley, 181st; C.Q.M.S., T. Shaw, 216th; C.S.M., G. Hill, Sergt. O. H. Robins, 176th, and Sergt. J. D. Cooke, 120th. To be corporals: Pte. G. N. Eccleston, 122nd; Sergt. T. L. Leith, 176th; Sergt. J. Borthwick, 216th, and Sergt. B. N. Duck, 216th.

WINNIPEG EDITORS AGAIN IN COURT

Newspaper Men Testify at Resumption of Contempt Case.

NEW OPINION GIVEN

Beck Examination Exceeds Commission's Scope, Says Judge Haggart.

Winnipeg, Oct. 6.—The contempt proceedings were renewed this morning at 11.30 before Justice Haggart in habeas corpus action, to remove from custody the four Winnipeg newspaper men sentenced to jail by Justice Galt for alleged contempt of court, who committed in commenting on the Agricultural College investigation Commission.

Wilson, the crown counsel, who contends that the proceedings are irregular, did not appear. It was arranged that the evidence should apply to all four parties, and to remove Deputy-Sheriff Fymler was called as the first witness to tell of serving subpoenas and to produce the formal documents of committal and release. Col. Lindsay, who is the governor of the provincial jail, produced the warrants of committal showing that the parties had been delivered into his custody on orders signed by Judge Galt as commissioner.

Mr. Andrews, counsel for defendants, read what he called "an admission as to certain facts" signed by Judge Galt, and produced to remove the necessity for calling the judge as a witness. This contained a copy of the commission appointing Judge Galt to hold the enquiry, and counsel said his power to summon witnesses was confined to the purposes of the commission. Andrews read the "admission" of Judge Galt that his authority to issue the warrants of committal was based on his commission to hold the enquiry and that Edward Beck was summoned to be examined with respect to a newspaper article.

Beyond Legal Powers. "To be examined," commented Justice Haggart, "on a matter neither within the scope of the act or of the commission." A similar admission was presented to each of the other applicants. "I'm not trying the question as to whether the article is libellous or not," said his lordship, referring to the report in The Telegram, which caused the committal, "it is the practical validity of the committal we are trying."

Andrews read the record of proceedings when the applicants were sentenced. It was admitted, he said, that Edward Beck was only to be questioned on the newspaper articles. Contempt of court was criminal, and the sum of the evidence against Beck was that his name appeared as editor. Because of the newspaper articles, he was not himself he was sent to jail. The newspaper men had no notice of the proceedings and no opportunity to defend themselves or produce evidence.

BRAVE OPERATORS HAD CLOSE CALLS

Their Daring and Sacrifice Alone Has Made Film Possible.

BATTLE OF THE SOMME

After Thrilling Escape, Men Were Unable to Guide Motor Car.

In constant danger of instant death by the fire of enemy guns, the motion picture machine operators who were responsible for the production of the world's greatest film, "The Battle of the Somme," in assuming the same risks as that of the British soldiers in their offensive of July 1, have been the heroes of a name which will never be forgotten.

In a letter to The London Times, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle declared that "the names and portraits of the brave operators who risked their lives to secure this valuable national possession should be flashed upon the screen."

The two operators who were J. B. McDowell, managing director of the British and Colonial Kinematograph Co., and G. H. Mallin, an operator in the service of the Gaumont Co., performed their duties under the supervision of Capt. J. C. Fauntleroy, mill director of the Kinematograph Co. in the western front, and Dr. E. Distin-Maddolek, acting on behalf of the war office.

When it was suggested that the names and pictures of the operators be flashed on the screen, it was felt that this would be invidious as the operators, including the directors, had run equally great risks.

Had Narrow Escape. Mallin had a narrow escape when two bullets passed through his service as he was taking down his camera, which had been fixed in a trench. He then made his way to a village into which German shells were being dropped. Finding his car there, he drove away, but both he and his chauffeur were so afflicted by the shells that the car fell into a ditch. The films pictures often from such exposed positions that he had to be pulled away. While he was taking several of the pictures, shrapnel burst overhead and bullets struck the ground in front of the camera. Both operators used an ordinary lens.

MARKHAM COUNTY FAIR RECORDS SMASHED AT MARKHAM

Seventeen Thousand People Pass Thru Gates—Exhibits Finest in History.

All records in point of attendance at any purely Ontario County fair were shattered yesterday, when more than 17,000 people—men, women and children—passed thru the gates at Markham Fair and saw one of the best exhibits of live stock, dairy produce and general farm interests ever held in rural Ontario.

At 2 o'clock 14,000 tickets had been sold, another thousand more were soon disposed of and recourse was had to a thousand uncollected left over from last year before the demand was satisfied. In addition to all this it is estimated that more than a thousand complimentary tickets were handed out. No such spontaneous outpouring of rural Ontario has ever been known.

Ideal weather conditions prevailed and the big gathering number of enormous number of motor cars on the grounds, and the thrift and prosperity everywhere apparent gave no indication of the strenuous period thru which the country is passing.

Directors Jubilant. The directors were jubilant for they saw in big receipts the enormous number of the heavy debt incurred in the building of the splendid new agricultural hall, costing in its neighborhood of $100,000.

The speeding in the ring was of course the big feature of the afternoon and the fact that all speed records on the Markham ring were broken by four seconds in the class of horses competing. In the free-for-all James Albert, a bay gelding, by Captain Branson, owner by George Phillips of Toronto, driven by Charles Farrell, a Toronto boy, who has developed into a great driver and showed splendid judgment in his driving, lying in behind Mansfield to the three-quarter pole, when he took the lead and won handsly, breaking the track record by four seconds. The time for the mile, on a half-mile track, was 1:14 1/2.

The complete list of entries and winners in the free-for-all, trot or pace and green race is as follows: Free-for-all—C. Farrell, Toronto, James Albert, 1 1 1 Prince Rupert, C. Linburg, Sudbury, 2 2 2 T. McQuarrie, Orangeville, 2 3 4 George LaCombe, J. McDowell, Toronto, 4 4 3 Time 2:35 1/2, 2:38 1/2, 2:41 1/2.

In the 2:22 class trot or pace for a purse of $150, the results were: Very Direct, N. McQuarrie, Orangeville, 2 2 1 1 Helen Patchett, John Fox, Uxeter, 1 1 2 3 4 Decatur, Rose, Newmarket, 3 3 2 2 2 Effie Wright, W. In Canadian draught brood mares, the winners were: Robert Cox, in the order named, and in Canadian draught spring fillies, J. Cowie, J. Comfortwaite and E. Cox.

There was the keenest kind of competition in the class for cart horses, Andrew Russell taking first, and the draught team, William Fugh of Clearmont.

In the agricultural class, T. H. Haasard beat out ex-Warden Jimmie Cameron by a close margin. Centre of Attraction. The new hall, with its splendid farm exhibits, was a great centre of attraction, and the cattle and sheep pens interested the average farmer and dairyman.

There was a notable gathering of the commercial and agricultural interests of the country and city, the most notable on the grounds being T. C. Irvine, Chas. Calder, M.L.A., Geo. S. Henry, M.L.A., William Smith, M.P., Ontario, W. F. Maclean, M.P., Sheriff McCormick, Fred Humphrey, John Kenzie, Dr. Geo. F. Kelly, Ald. Risk, C. I. Wallace, A. J. Traffic, Eckardt, E. SEVEN YEARS' TORTURE

Nothing Helped Him Until He Took "Fruit-a-tives."

ALBERT VARNER. Buckingham, Que., May 3rd, 1915. For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, bitter stuff would come up into my mouth after eating, while at times I had nausea and vomiting, and had chronic Constipation. I went to several doctors and wrote to a specialist in Boston, but without benefit. I tried many remedies, but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives" and I made no more. I am grateful to "Fruit-a-tives," and to everyone who has miserable health with Constipation and Indigestion and Bad Stomach. I say take "Fruit-a-tives," and you will get well.

London, Oct. 5.—A letter appears in The Times today from Lady Drummond pointing out the desirability of Canadian wounded soldiers from the wounded of other branches of the forces. Lady Drummond brings her own two years' experience here as proof of the unwisdom of such procedure, moreover asserting it to be directly opposed to the desires of the Canadian wounded soldiers themselves.

The Russian Government, it is understood, is prepared to subsidize the colonists, paying their passage, and providing some capital for the purchase of live stock, farm tools, etc.

PRICES OF WHEAT SUFFER DECLINES

Peace Rumors and More Favorable Argentine Reports Cause Uneasiness.

VESSEL RATES FALL

Cheaper Freight Charges to South America Influence Chicago Market.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Peace rumors and bearish advices regarding Argentine crop outlook resulted today in a series of downward swings in the value of wheat. The market closed heavy, 2 1/2- to 5-8c net lower, with December at $1.57 5-8 and 1 1/2- and May at $1.57 1-8. Corn finished 3-4c to 1-3-4c off and oats down 1-5c to 1-4c. Provisions scored gains ranging all the way from a shade to 8c.

Suggestions of a likelihood of showery in Argentina made the wheat bulls uneasy from the start, as heretofore no sign has been reported of the break up of the drought which has been forcing Europeans of late to enlarge buying in the United States. Quotations at Buenos Ayres tended to favor the bears, and so, too, did a decline in vessel rates from South America, with consequent increased shipments. Selling here, however, did not attain unusual proportions until the final half of the session, when gossip as to a new attempt at negotiations for peace added to the pressure on the market, and resulted in the summary closing out of numerous holdings.

Incredulity as to the truth of the peace rumors prevented wheat from breaking much beyond ordinary limits, except in the case of the July option, in which trading as yet is relatively light. For a brief interval July was down just six cents a bushel. Export buying on the setback appeared active, but it was said the British Government and its allies would not hereafter give out any information regarding purchases of breadstuffs. Early firmness was based chiefly on the relative cheapness of oats as compared with corn.

Diminished receipts of hogs tended to lift provisions. The most active demand came from shorts.
