In certain sectors of the battlefield they opened a vigorous offensive at dawn, after they had captured a trench on a front of 1000 yards, and had repulsed determined attacks on their new lines southwest of Thiepval. Proceeding forward in this region in the midst of violent fighting, they took a portion of the immensely strong Leipzig redoubt, which the Germans had exerted all their in-genuity in fortifying for twenty months. East of La Boiselle they also carried a maze of German trenches on a front of nearly 2000 yards to a depth of 500 yards. In the direction of Ovillers their advance has forged into the village after piercing 500 yards of the German front, and north of Fricourt they have driven the Germans from two woods and have captured three lines of trenches. The latest offensive undertaken by the Russians is the offensive of Gen. Evert against a hundred-mile front between Vilna on the Problem. DOUBLE OFFENSIVE by hostile bombers. Lieut. On the whole the Germans and Austrians are now suffering gave the signal to returned to our trenches from a combination of the most formidable attacks yet experienced in this war, and the natural question is, what will the German staff do about it? In the meantime the Germans are still hammering at Verdun and they took some trenches from the French by the Thiaumont work. Paucity of ideas seems still to be the great drawback of the German high command. The way they have persisted before Verdun seems to prove that their sole preparations for this year's campaign were directed to the undertaking of an offensive against France by way of Verdun and that failure here has thrown their plans in such great confusion that they have no other notions than to keep on repeating the same idle tactics.

Contalmaison, situated on the borders of the British line od advance, was stormed and lost to a counter-attack. East of that point the Germans hurried up the Prussian Guards in an endeavor to stem the forward march of the British army, but these famed guards were crushed by an over-whelming fire and sent speedily off about their business after leaving 700 prisoners, survivors of various leading regiments, in British hands. The casualties inflicted on the enemy in the fighting were severe. British artillery caught a large number of Teutons in the open and blasted them article y caught a large humber of Teutons in the open and blasted them out of existence. A new use was found for his aeroplane by a British his machine gun on a German battalion, decimating it by a raking fire. Long range guns completed its destruction, and its colonel was captured. Bezentin le Petit, when filled to overflowing with German troops, was shelled and practically demolished. Thus, on the whole, the British army did a satisfactory day's work. With the Germans confronting it in large force and throwing against it the best troops in their service that army broke down all opposition and forged ahead. The German stamina was tested to the utmost and it was found wanting. It is not surprising that the Germans hate and fear the British Empire greater than they hate and fear the French or Russians. out of existence. On the eastern front the Russians appear to have started the Germans and Austrians on a rapid descent from their previous high mark. General Brusiloff is enlarging the bulge that extends towards Kovel and Vladimir-Volynski by striking the enemy so hard in front of Czartorysk that he has been compelled to retreat hastily to a line beyond the branch railway which connects with the Sarny-Kovel line, yieldin gto the Russians the railway station at Manevitchi, and two villages. Cossacks are riding on ahead of the Russians, charging batteries here and sabring battalions there and terrifying the Teutons everywhere. If Brusiloff keeps on with this sharp and direct sabre thrust he will soon have turned both flanks of the Austro-German groups of armies between the Pripet marshes and the Volhynian frontier. Then will come the time for one vigorous general shove to send them reeling and scattering backward to the countries whence they came. Under each heavy blow the enemy is becoming visibly weaker.

On the Russian northern front, Kuropatkin's artillery has begun to roar and the fighting with Von Hindenburg's troops is beginning to warm up. At Baranovichi the Russian hammer blows are threatening to turn Gunner West, Who Did the Shooting, Was Former Toronto Man. ' Special to The Toronto World.

Accident.

Special to The Toronto World. KINGSTON, Ont., July 7.—That Gun-ner Russell Elliott, Peterboro, a member of the 74th Battery, came to his death by being accidentally shot by Sentry Joseph West in the discharge of his duties, was the verdict rendered tonight by a jury sitting before Coroner Dr. D. E. Mundell, Gunner West, who did the shooting, is 19 years old, and his home is in Toronto. He enlisted here three weeks ago, and officers say that he has proved himself a fine soldier. The evidence showed that Elliott came to the barracks late last night with two other members of his battery, and that his two comrades produced their late passes on being challenged, but that Elliott refused to come up to the sentry with his. Following out military orders, he then fired on Elliott. The evidence showed that the bullet

The evidence showed that the builet was not fired deliberately at Elliott, as it was found by medical men that the builet broke into two pieces before hit-ting Elliott, one piece going into his fore-arm and the other into his side. This showed conclusively that West did not deliberately shoot at Elliott. West attended the inquest under mili-tary escort, but did not tell his story of the shooting. T. J. Rigney was present on his behalf. All thru the trying ordeal he bore up well, but almost fainted whene the coroner-asked the jury if they had agreed upon a veredict. Gunner Elliott was 26 years old, and was preparing to take the rank of sad-dler-sergeant. Two brothers of the dead soldier are in khaki, Lance-Corp. Lewis H. Elliott and Pte. E. Gordon Elliott of the 93rd Battalion, now encamped at Bar-riefield camp here.
