GAYNOR AND GREENE

Those who used to say that Gaynor and Greene had too much money to get inside a penitentiary will now have to admit that the arm of the law has proved not only long but effective. Four years is not a heavy sentence in comparison with the embezzlement charged, but coupled with an enormous fine, the time already spent in custody and the heavy expenses of their long fight for freedom, the punishment is by no means inconsiderable.

THE CAUSE OF IT

Professor N. S. Shaler, the famous Harvard geologist, and zoologist who died a few days ago, climbed Mount Vesuvius twenty-five years ago, during an eruption, and observed at the risk of his life the activity of the volcano. In his subsequent writings he did much to disprove the theory, once commonly held, that eruptions like those of Vesuvius are due to leaks in the bed of the ocean through which sea water enters a subterranean fire pit.

BETTER FARMING

The state of Massachusetts has always been noted for the intelligence and progressiveness of its people. It has given to the union great men in all walks of life, and in all matters relating to social welfare its reformers have been men of mark. At the present time the legislature is asked to consider and deal with the report of a special commission recommending important changes in the educational system, whereby industrial and vocational training may be emphasized more than under the present system.

INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE

Discussing the bearing of statements made before the Royal Commission upon industrial insurance, the Toronto News says that this form of life insurance, which is supposed to appeal particularly to small wage-earners, "seems to confer small benefit upon that class."

REMARKABLE H RESY TRIAL

Unless for some reason there should be a postponement, the most interesting and remarkable heresy trial of modern times will begin today in Batavia, New York state. The accused is the Rev. Dr. Algonson Sidney Crapsey, rector of St. Andrew's church in Rochester, and he is to be tried by an ecclesiastical court.

line by the Armstrong investigation, and it may be the duty of the powers that be in both countries to effect some radical change in regard to the prosecution of this class of business.

GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS

In connection with government control of railways, it is interesting to note that the management of railways in Italy, which since 1885 has been entrusted to private enterprises, is about to be resumed by the state. An Italian writer, explaining the reasons for this course, says: "A complex train of circumstances and a strong current of public opinion have led to this decision on the part of the government."

"GET IN AND DIG"

The proposition to organize a "100,000 Club" in Victoria (B.C.), to advertise the city, attract new industries and otherwise contribute to its development, is heartily endorsed by leading citizens, whose views are expressed from day to day in the Colonist. Among those quoted is Mr. C. H. Lugin, formerly of this city.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Dowie's troubles are increasing. John L. Sullivan has offered the prophet $2,000 a week to join him in vaudeville. The Toronto Board of Trade now has 826 members, and expects to increase the number to 1,000 before the end of the month.

THE MONEY MARKET

The Wall Street Journal thus explains the recent tension in the money market: "The tension in the money market was caused entirely by the requirements of interior banks for currency during the planting season and to increase their reserves pending the call of the comptroller of the currency for a statement of the condition of national banks. The net loss to the interior reported to the Wall Street Journal by the New York banks for the two weeks ending April 5, was $11,415,700. The loss in cash shown by the bank statement for the same two weeks was $11,331,900.

Family Enthusiasm

Little Tommy was very quiet during the first courses, and everyone forgot he was there. As the desert was being served, however, the host told a funny story. When he had finished, and the laughter had died away, his little son exclaimed, delightedly, "Now, papa, tell the other one."

Good Mackerel Catches

Gloucester, Mass., April 13.—There was joy among the fleet and exultation in the Gloucester fishing fleet tonight over the news that one schooner of the mackerel fleet had arrived at New York and two others at Port Monroe, laden with fish. The Claudia, which has arrived at New York two weeks ahead of last year's early arrival record, had on board 100 tons of mackerel, while the Constellation and the Mary E. carry 80 and 40 barrels. The fish are reported to be of medium size, which is considered a good indication.

"Who goes—?" cried an Imperialist sentry. The specter passed through the courtyard and up the stairs to the Emperor's apartment. The Emperor, it might have been imagined, had been lying in bed, but he was sitting up in bed, his eyes were wide open, and he was looking at the Emperor with a pale, deathly smile.

The Kensington had a pleasant voyage of ten days. Everybody was in good spirits and all were well, including the 200 children. Apple's History Traced Far Back

Among the fruits of the rose family are apples, pears, peaches, plums, cherries and quinces, as well as strawberries, raspberries and blackberries. The apple is a fruit of long descent. Among the ruins of the Swiss Lake dwellers are found remains of small seed apples which show the seed vaults and the grains of flesh. The crab apple is not a native of Britain and was introduced by the Romans. Yet often as the apple is taken to the palace of the State Council and into a large room, it is not mentioned in the records of the thirteen century. Then one may read of the pear and the plum, but the apple is nowhere mentioned.
