Holland Would Help to Bring About Peace.

Boers May Be Ready to Accept the Terms of Britain.

Blockhouse Garrisons on the Alert for a Brush With Dewet-Canadian Scouts Get Honorable Mention.

London, Jan. 29.-The Government of Holland has offered, in the most friendly terms, to help in bringing about peace in South Africa. In a communication to the British Government the Dutch Government suggests that it might be permitted to act as a sort of diplomatic agent for the Boer delegates. But the government expressly disowns any attempt of intervention, and does not mention any unexcelled. Pupils welcome to return for assistance. Lessons unlimited. Experienced, capable teachers. Cos-tumes copied for modistes. 233½ Dun-das street, London.

The British Government infers that unless the Dutch authorities were convinced that the Boer delegates now in Europe were willing to accept the cardinal points of the British peace terms so frequently announced in parliament. Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary, replied in friendly terms to the Netherlands' proposal, but he instituted inquiries in order to ascertain the extent of the powers delegated to Mr. Kruger and the other Boer representatives in Europe to act in behalf of the burghers in the field. WHO IS THE MOVER? The announcement of Mr. Balfour aused a sensation in the lobbies of parliament. Lord Rosebery is generally credited with having brought about this movement on the part of the Dutch Government. It is recalled that Dr. Kuyper, the Dutch premier, in an interview published about Christmas time, was represented to have urged the impossibility of Hollond's intervening in South Africa unless she had reason to think that both parties wished it. Consequently it is regarded as certain that the present move was inspired by the Boer dele-

A Shrewsbury telegram says that Col. Baldock, commanding the Shrop-shire Yeomanry, has been notified from South Africa that the Maxim galloping gun belonging to the 11th Shrop-shire Company, Imperial Yeomanry, was lost during a recent attack on Lord Methuen's column, through the stampeding of the mules. The gun was presented to the 1st Shropshire Suad-

Firman's camp, was Lieut.John Stanley Hudson, 36th Company (West Kent), Imperial Yeomanry. He spent about eight years in British Columbia, and in the Klondike district, and enlisted as a trooper in England in Jan-

Another Delay in the Negotiations for Miss Stone's Release-Success of Dumont's Air Ship. London, Jan. 29.-Gerald W. Balfour, president of the Board of Trade, in the House of Commons, rather contemptuously dismissed an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament, proposed by Hon. Seton Karr (Con.), regarding the old-time question of the food supply in war time, saying that the subject was threadbare, and that so long as the United Kingdom retained the command of the seas it was quite sufficient to depend upon the ordinary operations of supply and demand. A system of national graneries would necessitate an outlay of £30,000,000 ($150,000,000). He added that war risks ought not to entail a rise of more than 10 per cent in the price of cereals. The government saw no reason to appoint committee of inquiry on the subject.

young man, charged with stuffing ballots at the last municipal election, pleaded guilty to the charge in police court this morning, and was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison, besides being treated to a severe lecture from Police Magistrate Love, in which a warning to future offenders was given in no uncertain terms.

Ransom Norton, the South London

The private prosecutor, Mayor Beck was in court, as were also his legal representatives, Messrs. Moore Judd. "Crown Attorney Magee arose and said before he moved the sentence of the court he wished to briefly recapitulate the circumstances of the case as he knew them. The prisoner was pollclerk at the same polling sub-division at which his father was the deputy returning officer.
At the foot of each of the twelve pages of the poll-book the prisoner added a name, and either himself, or with the collusion of others, inserted ballots to correspond in the box. Fortunately the voters' list kept by the prisoner's father showed the correct number of voters, and on subsequent investigation, the discrepancy was discovered. The extra ballots were initialed, but evidently not by the deputy returning officer. Mr. Magee then moved the sen-On the magistrate's inquiry of what

He said that the prisoner, little more than a boy, was a mere tool in the hands of others, and was not at the bottom of the rascality. The stupidity of the act showed that he was a mere tool, that he was told by somebody "Here are a certain number of ballots; you must account for them by supplying names." # The "Fin de Siecle" Hair Tonic

A beautiful head of hair is a precious gift, and one upon which too much care and attention cannot be expended. Nature has been most generous to many women, but there are those who, having been denied this crown of beauty, are anxiously seeking the means to remedy this defect. The hair is entirely dependent upon the nerve supply, and the perfect circulation of the scalp; therefore, whatever in the nature of a wash stimulates the nutritive quality of the hair roots, aids it in keeping in a healthy condition. Oriental Rum and Quinine Hair Tonic brings back beauty to the hair, gives it new life, makes it soft, silky and luxuriant. It is not a dye, but feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair, cleans the scalp, removes and cures dandruff. This tonic is a dainty and refreshing dressing, and never fails to thicken and improve the growth of the hair. 50 cents a bottle.

Demise of H. S. Howland, One of Toronto's John L. Sullivan and Carrie Nation to Play in "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

> Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 29.-Carrie Nation and John L. Sullivan are to be twin stars in a forthcoming production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," if an enterprising firm of local managers have their way. At any rate it is common gossip that they are negotiating for the services of the two ex-warriors. It is said that Carrie is to appear as little Eva and John L. as Uncle Tom. As to Carrie's part in the performance, it was said that she was first asked to play Topsy, but declined, on the ground that it was too coarse and vulgar for one of her refined susceptibilities. Critics sustained her in this

She will undoubtedly bring out all the finer spirituelle shades of little Eva's character. It is furthermore said that she has long cherished an ambition to elevate the stage. The production will, of course, be equipped in superb style with live bloodhounds

THE LAW CAN BE ENFORCED,

Says Rev. C. T. Scott, Speaking on Thousands of men and women have Prohibition Question. found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the safest and most reliable preparation

Various Phases of the Subject Discussed at Length at Meeting

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U., over which Mrs. Thornley presided, was held yesterday afternoon in Sonierset Hall. The day being Crusade Day a number of new, active and honorary members were added to the roll. The attendance was good. Mr. J. H. Bowman moved that a monster meeting be held in the interests of the prohibition cause to offset the efforts put forth by opponents of the measure. The motion was unanimously

During the educational hour the subject of prohibition was taken up, when different phases of the movement were dwelt upon, and emphasized by the various speakers.

THE REV. J. G. BISHOP, of the First Methodist Church, was the first speaker. He began by reading a portion of the sixth chapter of Ephesians. Throughout the campaign against intemperance one thing among others that impressed him most was the fact that the forces arrayed against pro-hibition were spiritual. "We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities and powers of the air." We see so much of the human, we hear the human voice and feel the grip of the human hand, that we sometimes feel that we are struggling with the human, but we are not. Behind all the forces is the great unseen host marshaled by the prince of the power of the air. These forces are organized under one giant intellect. Satan lies in wait to deceive. In the great struggle with the liquor traffic, in as much as our real foes are spiritual, our resources must also be spiritual, spirit must wrestle with spirit.

"We have been trying to do," con-tinued the speaker, "what the friends tried to do with the man possessed of many devils. They bound him with fetters, but he broke the chains; he was beyond their control. We try to regulate and restrain and fetter the liquor traffic, and we become disheart-ened. We conquer it today but it bobs up serenely tomorrow. I go back to the time when they brought the young man possessed of the devil to Christ, and he cast it out. They asked the Saviour why they were not able to do it, and he told them that it was be-It, and he told them that it was because of their unbelief. I believe that if we put the emphasis where it ought to be, namely, on prayer, our end and aim will be easily attained." The weapons of warfare, the speaker went on to say, are not carnal; they are spiritual. The enemies of the cause of prohibition will hold in contempt those who kneel in prayer. Amid the those who kneel in prayer. Amid the activities of our Christian life today are many who are in danger of losing sight of the power of prayer. In con-clusion, Mr. Bishop emphasized the necessity of carrying on the campaign in a prayerful spirit.

MR. McDERMID. swering the question "Does Probibito make a proper discrimination between effective prohibition and annihilation. Prohibition in the sense of annihilation is a failure, but to say prohibition in the more reasonable ac-ceptation of the term is a failure would be to condemn the laws of Mount Sinai as failures. Mr. McDermid went on to show that conditions under prohibition were much more to be desired than under license law. Taking for example the State of Maine, he stated the opinions of 140 representative citizens, including politicians, sheriffs, state legislators, journalists, farmers, clergymen, and so on, had been obtained, and of this number 132 stated that open saloons were unknown; pauperism was on the decrease; 75 per cent of the governors of Maine during her half century stated that crime had steadily de-

In Kansas, where a total of 175,000 votes were cast, prohibition carried by the comparatively small majority of The law and 8,000. Yet prohibition had accomplished great good in that state. Many At a meeting of the grain section who were at first opposed to the idea of the Toronto Board of Trade on are now in favor of prohibitory law. Tuesday, it was decided to revive the Drunkenness has been greatly diminished or entirely eradicated. In the State of Iowa, 83 out of 99 persons whose views had been ascertained, report prohibition successful. In over half the counties the jails stood empty half the time. In conclusion, Mr. McDermid stated as his firm con-Fred Tiner, a full blood Shawnee viction that prohibition could be enforced as well as any other law. REV. C. T. SCOTT, dealt with the contention, which has been put forth by the secular and religious press of the province, in regard to the overwhelming majority of votes necessary for the enforcement of a prohibitory liquor law. Mr. Scott maintained that this contention was not true. People, he said, fail to draw a distinction between annihilanot true. tion and effective prohibition; between the enactment and the enforcement of law. The speaker went on to show that laws might be enforced though public sentiment were opposed to enforcement. He mentioned the law of imprisonment for debt which had at one time been rigidly enforced in spite of the fact that public sentiment was decidedly against it. In the early history of Canada the law regarding the solemnizing of marriage by Episco-palian clergymen only was strictly enforced, though the majority of the people were opposed to it. Objectionable laws remained in force long after public sentiment had turned against

Rule by the majority was the usual gineer with Winchesters and compelled order; but, continued Mr. Scott, there him to uncouple the express, mail and are times when minorities ought to rule. For instance, it would be the height of folly for the United States to extend autonomy to the inhabitants of the Philippines. They are not in position to be under a constitutional form of government. In this case the minority and not the majority must rule. When we assume that majorities ought at all times to rule, we are assuming that people are equally intelligent and equally interested in the welfare of the people. The majority ought not to rule, if they are ruling for temporary advantage. We have the newspapers telling us of a great delegation of liquor men going to the government at Toronto. Representatives of tributary occupations, such as the bottle and cork industry, were present to swell the delegation A hotelkeeper once stated that he kept the license law as well as anyone else engaged in his business, but that there was not a hotel or saloonkeeper in the whole province who really observed the law. Here, then, said Mr. Scott, is a whole gang of law breakers going to the government asking for protection,

There isn't the poorest preacher on times more for his country than he who sells beer.

The speaker criticized the stand taken by the New York Outlook in a recent issue on the enforcement of law. Gur customs duties law is one which is practically enforced, though if put to popular vote it would be overwhelmingly voted down. Men would claim the right to buy in the cheapest and sell in the dearest market without being molested. The sentiment is just as strong in regard to the manufacture as to the sale of intoxicating liquors, yet the law in regard to the manufacture is strictly observed. It is in the interest of the Government and of the distiller that it should be. So the in-dustry is confined to a few men. "Sentiment," said the speaker, "has practically nothing to do with the violation or enforcement of law. Great majorities pronounce for honesty in elections, yet political frauds are personated every time almost that an election occurs

The law is violated, and only winked The law and its enforcement are two different things. The policeman and the magistrate do not, in performing their duties, take into consideration the sentiment of the people; nor does the judge on the bench advise the jurors to take into consideration the probable effect of public sentiment. As a test of public sentiment a referendum would be false. The first plebiscite was the best indication of the opinion of the country in regard to the liquor traffic. The second was mislead-ing, and a third appeal, the speaker contended, would be simply playing into the hands of the liquor element. In conclusion, he stated that prohibitionists should protest against those newspapers which are throwing bad ethics before the people, and some of our religious periodicals were as guilty in this respect as the secular press.

Favors an Open Saloon Because, He Says, It Won't Stay Shut-The Real Danger.

New York, Jan. 29 .- "I am with Mr. and I want to say now that if there was 50,000 majority in favor of dry Sundays I am certain as I stand here that the saloons would not be closed and should not be."

This was the statement of the Rev. Dr. Rainsford in St. George's Church on Sunday, made in his most emphatic Continuing, he said:

"There is but one man in ten who bets, but every paper prints the odds on the horses. You cannot put down gambling. If you permit a man to bet $10,000 on a horse at Morris Park, you can't stop the newsboy from betting ten cents at policy. We should try to save men and not semi-hysterical women. I will not be led by the nose by those who go out to deplete manhood by such methods as I have described. "The chief danger of the rest day is not from the poor or even the drunken man, or the poor man who crawls out of his tenement to seek some recreation or social relaxation in a nearby saloon, it is from a deliberate desecration of the day by people who have got plenty of leisure. The reason is that they are engaged in the souldestroying chase after social distinc-

"I have said that the saloon should be open on certain hours on Sundays for the workingmen. I have never said anything that could be construed as an approval of the saloon. After all had partaken to their entire satisfaction of the ovsters and other delicacies prepared by the good ladies of the community, a choice programme was gone through with. the absence of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Snell, the chair was ably filled by Mr. Samuel Oaks, who, after a few welldirected words, opened the entertainment by calling upon the Cavan Orchestra for a selection, which was well received. In connection with the musical part of the programme, special mention might be made of the excellent service rendered by the Christina trio, consisting of Miss Hetly and the Pulling brothers, who, as on former occasions, captivated the audience, and proved themselves singers of genuine merit. Mr. Walter Steer was present, also, in his old-time form, and won the appreciation of all present with a number of beautiful selections, as did also Miss Alice Trott in a couple of beautiful selections, in the rendering of which she proved herself a singer of high ability. Last but not lease in the musical line came Master Jimmie and Miss Susie Steer, aged 6 and 11 years, respectively, who might be appropriately termed child prodigies in the mu-sical art, and whose equal it would be very difficult to find among children of corresponding age. Short speeches were delivered by Messrs. Hardy, Lockwood and Graves, after which the meeting was brought to a close by all rising and singing "God Save the King." The accompanists of the evening were Mrs. Steer and Miss Jessie Howe.

A Well-Known Dairyman Run Into By a Train.

I was run into by a train and had both my legs, ankle and shoulder broken, and was laid up in the general hospital for five months. The fractures healed, but my limbs were so sore and stiff that I could scarcely use them to stand or walk upon. I left the hospital, went home and tried a number of liniments; none did me any good. I was then recommended to try Kelpion; and from the first application of Kelpion the pain and stiffness ceased, and by the free use of it, well rubbed in, was enabled in a few days to return to my business and suffered comparatively no pain. I still use it when necessary, and would not be without it in my house. I am constantly recommending it to persons on my route for every ailment I hear of, and can truly say that so far I have never heard of 'Kelpion' failing to accomplish a relief or cure in any one instance. Continuation of the Debate on the Budget.

The Government's Policy Attacked and Defended-Report of Niagara Park Commission.

Toronto, Jan. 29.-The debate on the budget was continued in the legislature yesterday, and in harmony with the general expedition of work during the session, good progress was made. Speeches were made by six members, and, notwithstanding the threadbare condition of many of the subjects discussed, the addresses gave evidence of considerable original research. Dr. Barr concluded his speech begun on Thursday, after which the debate was continued in succession by Mr. Hislop, Mr. Beatty (Leeds), Mr. Pettypiece, Mr. Duff and Mr. Russell. Mr. Lucas moved the adjournment of the de-

Hon. Mr. Harcourt has given notice of a bill to amend the university act by authorizing the building of a woman's residence on the university grounds, towards which the lady students and their friends have already raised a considerable sum. The amendment provides for a certain measure of aid by the university trustees, if such is needed, for the building. It is understood that a cottage, with accommodation for twenty lady students, will be built this summer.

THE DEBATE.

The budget debate was resumed by Dr. Barr (Dufferin), who said the Ontario Labor Bureau had cost last year $2.685 83, and had accomplished practically nothing, having made no attempt to solve any of the difficulties between capital and labor. He said the government had not passed one measure for the benefit of the working classes. They had spent last year $4,-825 on immigration, chiefly to keep a man at Liverpool. The results were practically nothing. He declared that on the night of March 1, 1898, the Conservative party in the province had a majority, but by manipulation of the ballot boxes in enough of the constituencies to change the votes, the government succeeded in a few days in changing the result. He reproached the minister of agriculture for his Dakota ranch investment, and censured the government for its sponsorship of the Mabee pamphlet. He predicted a rousing victory for the Conservative party in the approaching election.

Mr. Hislop (East Huron) defended the premier's course. In the past Conservative leaders never traveled at their own expense; township treasurers, he knew, were always liberally paid for their expenses when they went to England, as they frequency did. The premier had done a great public service while abroad. His speeches and his letters in the London Times and other fournals would bear fruit in increased emigration to this province and in aiding to consolidate the empire. Mr. Hislop read statistics of public expenditure at great length, and challenged the opposition to find an item which could be cut down withprove the prosperity of the farmer, and cited the triumph of Ontario at the Pan-American exposition as being in a measure due to the government's progressive policy.

Mr. Beatty (Leeds) attacked the government for its attitude in connection with the timber resources of the pro-

Resuming after recess, Mr. Petty-piece (East Lambton) defended the government from the charges of extravagance. The public funds had been expended economically, he held, and where there had been increased expenditure they had been in the interests of the people. There was nothing wrong with the finances of Ontario. The members of the opposition were only making their ante-election speeches and after the debate on the budget was over they would not hear a word about the extravagance of the government. The country was well satisfied with the way things were being conducted, and had no desire for a change, as would be proved at the forthcoming elections.

Mr. Ræssell (East Hastings) followis a contradiction of terms. There ed at some length, and Mr. Lucas (Center Grey) moved the adjournment fare. We have made little progress of the debate.

THE NIAGARA PARK. The report of the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls park commissioners was given to the house. The commissioners report on the changes asked for by the Ontario Power Company, and state the terms of their agreement with the company. The company is to spend $250,000 by July 1, 1902; $1,500,000 by July 1, 1903, and have 50,000 horse-power for use on July 1, 1904, with an outflow of 100,000 horse-power and 20,000 electric horse-power for supply. The company has already expended $1,750,-000 for all purposes. The commissioners give details of the improvements and of the big season's business.

The number of Americans who came in via that route last year was 18,000, and, therefore, Smith's estimate is 36,000. Mrs. G. W. Miller, 30 N. First street, Minneapolis, Minn., writes: There is no greater strain on the nerves of a woman than the never-ending cares of a household. When things go wrong, dinner is burned and children cry, it is not so easy to look pleasant, but when sickness in the family adds to the burden it becomes very heavy. have found Peruna my very best friend under these difficulties. When my children were sick it cured them and when I became over-taxed and weary Peruna restored me, and if anyone in my household caught cold a few doses of Peruna administered at once prevented unpleasant results. If every wife and mother would have a bottle of Peruna in her medicine chest, life's burdens would be much easier to carry."-Mrs. G. W. Miller. The club woman and the housewife join in praising Peruna. The reason for this is because both these classes are alike subject to catarrh and catarrhal diseases.

Catarrh is everywhere. No class of people are exempt from its insidious ravages. It enters the palace and hovel with equal facility. It attacks men and women with like ferocity and frequency. Strong men and fair women are among its victims. Thus it is we find Peruna, the catarrh remedy, everywhere. The upper classes use it; the lower classes cannot do without it, and the middle classes praise it.

At this time of the year, when winter is here with its chill blasts and biting frosts, everyone should be as alert as possible to escape what seems to be almost inevitable in this climate, catarrh. The number of people who have catarrh of some form or other every win-

Now is the time to get Peruna. Now is the time to get Peruna, and it should be taken as soon as the slightest symptom of catching cold manifests itself. Many people do not seem to understand that a cold is acute catarrh; that catching cold is simply catching catarrh. An old cold is chronic catarrh. Catarrh is liable to settle anywhere in the system. While it is true that Peruna cures catarrh wherever located, yet it is advisable for everyone to use Peruna as a preventive, and not wait until catarrh has fastened itself in some part of the system.

Miss Sara McGahan, 197 Third street, Albany, N. Y., writes: "A few months ago I suffered with a severe attack of influenza which no-thing seemed to relieve. My hearing became bad, my eyes became irritated, and feverish. Nothing seemed right, and nothing I ate tasted good.

"I do not know what it is made of, but I know it is a wonderful medicine to drive away sickness and restore you to health. Within two weeks I was perfectly well, and now when any of my friends are sick I advise then to take Peruna."—Sara McGahan.

Rapid Development of the Canadian Northwest.

A quarter of a century ago, Canadlans used to read illustrated magazine articles in Harpers' Monthly, and articles without illustrations in the New York Tribune and other journals, giving interesting accounts of the rapid settlement of the then United in British industry, arising from causes

What we then read about the Far West of the United States, is now being repeated in the Far West of Canada. With each year, the rapidity of the settlement of Canada's Northwest lands will be cumulative.

The records of the Dominion Lands Agencies for the year 1901 are interesting and instructive reading. In 1900, there were 7,850 homestead entries; in 1901, there were 9,100. The addition of population in the Northwest for 1900 was 24,568; in 1901 it was 28,034.

Of these, Ontario sent up 1,721, not quite as many as in the previous year; perhaps Ontario sent more to New On-Quebec Province sent up 231, about 40 more than in 1900.

Besides 84 from Nova Scotia, there were twenties and thirties from New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia.

Three hundred and fifty-two Manitobans shifted farther west; and 205 former Canadians returned from the United States.

From the British Isles, England contributed to the Northwest 641 persons; Scotland, 206; and Ireland, 98.

France added 48; Belgium, 18; the Swiss, 2; the Italians, 3; the Assyrians, 1; the Danes, 24; the Icelanders, 162; Swedo-Norwegians, 112; Mennonites, 61; Poles, 13; Duokhobors, 62; of settlers, gave a quota of 245; Austro-Hungarians, 969.

Quite a polyglot of population, one might say, and so it is; but fortunately most of it is good material, which it is to be hoped will become rapidly assimilated and Canadianized, as we have no doubt will be the case.

But the most interesting thing in the figures, and the loudest advertise- advantage of the absence of blighting ing, and many successful political the fact that the altogether largest the harvests of the Western States infigure is that which indicates the num- to the ground, when they are almost ber of settlers who left the United ready to be garnered. # Expert Witnesses in Court.

Hon. J. T. Garrow, the member for West Huron, has brought into the Ontario Legislature a bill providing that the number of expert witnesses to be British consumer to our various prolimited to three. No doubt the reason for this action is the knowledge that suits where expert testimony is necessary are at times loaded up with unperts to give evidence for them. We have heard it suggested that it would be a good thing to extend the limitation of expert testimony to criminal cases as well. At present it is possible for the prosecution, which is really the crown, to call any number of experts and to pay them out of the public funds at the disposal of those charged with the administration of justice. If the accused party is a poor man, this inequality of conditions upon which he is made to face judge and in his sermon yesterday that he would Jury may seriously affect his legitimate offense, or if he meets it, it may prove a source of great hardship to himself and his family, if he has a family.

The fair plan would be to amend the criminal law, so far as it relates to expert testimony, by enacting that only a certain number-say, not more than four, or five at the outset-experts shall be admissible on either side, leaving the trial judge discretionary power to permit additional testimony of this kind when, in his wisdom, he deemed it in the interest of the public and of the accused party.

Old Age Pensions. Mr. Chamberlain, the British political leader, does not appear to have yet made up his mind to establish an old age pension system, although his party secured power some years ago mingham the other day, Mr. Chamberdepended: (1) That it should be the outcome of the joint action of all the great agencies for promoting thrift; (2) that a clear distinction must be made between the poverty due to misfortune, ill-health, or failure of physical strength after a long industrious life, and the poverty due to misconduct or improvidence. Taking up the crisis that have been much discussed in late months, Mr. Chamberlain's advice to the employes was to take the fullest advantage of the educational opportunities provided for them to develop their brains; to the working classes, to take advantage of their special opportunities, and to develop the product of their labor, realizing that any attempt to limit production was fatal to trade.

More British Settlers for Canada.

The mission of the Canadian Deputy Minister of the Interior, Mr. Smart, who has come to this country for the pur-pose of encouraging British emigration to a British colony, is deserving of the greatest encouragement. Mr. Smart points out that at present for every British emigrant who goes to Canada, about five go to the United States; and yet there is a brisk emigration out of the United States into the farming districts of Western Canada. If Canada is prosperous enough to attract settlers from within the four corners America itself, it should still more attract them from England. The matter is really one of organization and advertisement. Canada wants settlers, and preferably British settlers, and it is prepared to give 160 acres of land free to anyone who is willing to work. The presence of Mr.Smart in this country is a guarantee that his Government intend to make their offer widely known, and it only requires to be wideknown in order to be widely accept-

The fact that upwards The Germans, always a good class of 50,000 people of the neighboring republic have settled in our Canadian Northwest within the last three or four years is an indication that Canada offers greater inducements to homeseekers than do the Western States. What seems to be most needed now is to advertise our country in Great Britain. Printer's ink is an effective means of accomplishing this end. The methods pursued by our Dominion Government are also very effective. The Hon. George W. Ross, Hon. Rev. Mr. Hincks, of Toronto, said like to see a prayer meeting once a year for editors. If he had been in one of Hamilton's churches yesterday he would have heard Rev. W. J. ## Kissing the Bible.

In "taking the oath" in the English courts, the Scotch form is coming more and more into use. A widespread belief prevails that disease may be communicated by "kissing the Bible" by putting old age pensions as a plank after repeating the oath, and it is in their platform. One English judge, indeed, declared the other day that the practice of kissing the thumb instead of the book was becoming very prevalent, and he made it known that those who had such objections were free to take the oath in Scotch fashion. Under the Oaths Act of 1888 it was provided that "if any person to whom the oath is administered desires to swear with uplifted hand in the formal manner in which the oath is usually administered in Scotland, he shall be permitted to do so, and the oath shall be administered to him in such form without further question." A similar enactment is on the Canadian statute book, and witnesses are free to affirm, after the Scotch fashion, or to kiss the Scriptures, after repeating the oath, as they may choose. Here, too, there is a growing tendency to follow the simpler method, and thus run no

The revenue from the British postoffice department last year amounted to £3,897,520, or nearly nineteen million dollars. This is an example of what may be derived from a legitimate state monopoly. We understand that notwithstanding the fact that nearly nineteen millions of revenue are collected. the initial salary of a letter carrier is $6 per week, which may be increased to $6 50. Governments, as a general thing, pay their employes well, comparatively speaking, especially those occupying clerkships. It would be well if their generosity extended to those occupying positions quite as exacting and at certain seasons of the year subject to no small amount of exposure. The position of letter carrier is one requiring men, and not boys. If the services of a man are required, he should be paid reasonable wages, such as will enable him to live as his brethren in other walks of life. It should be remembered that red braid and brass buttons will not of themselves keep the wolf from the door.

The Manitoba Act.

[The Globe.] As a matter of fact, the Manitoba liquor act, which it is proposed to adopt in Ontario, is not prohibition, nor anything like prohibition. It could be more properly termed an act to prohibit the retail sale of liquor in It permits the uninterrupted manufacture of liquor in the province, and its wholesale distribution throughout the homes of the province agents of the liquor interest living outside of Ontario. The bill, in fact, is a strictly limited measure of provincial option, and must necessarily be much more difficult of enforcement than a measure prohibiting manufacture and sale throughout the province.

sons dead, three more probably fatally burned and three seriously hurt in jumping from windows and others more or less hurt were the results of fire just before 2 o'clock this morning in an Italian tenement house on Fleet street, north end. Seven of the dead are adults, three of them women, and the eighth is a child. The fire was not seen until it was under headway, so that sleeping inmates on the upper floor were cut off. Before the firemen got on the scene two women and one man were seen to throw them-selves from windows of the third floor to the street below. After the firemen had succeeded in subduing the flames they began a search of the various rooms, and quickly stumbled on eight bodies. The firemen and police officers labored hard in giving the unfortunates emergency treat-ment, but their efforts were in vain for all had inhaled flame and smoke and their bodies in most cases were blistered by the fierce heat which they had encountered.

BISHOP COLEMAN STARTLED PEOPLE

In a Mission Address-Said the Increase of Drunkenness Among Women Was Appalling.

New York Jan. 28.-Right Rev. L. Coleman, Episcopal Bishop of Delaware, who startled his hearers in a mission address at New Brunswick, N. J., by the statement that there is an alarming increase of intemperance among women, along with a decrease of intemperance among men, has repeated the statement, and added assertions equally interesting. He says that his opinion has been formed only after exhaustive investigation and observations of conditions in this country and abroad.

Bishop Coleman said that a newspaper hostile to his views set on foot inquiry in New York, with a view of disproving his charges. Committees of impartial citizens went to the various fashionable hotels and women's restaurants, taking notes of the orders of women patrons. They found that to take wines, cordials, even whisky, with one's meals, was an almost in-variable rule among the wealthy and fashionable set. Not only this, Clinton, Ia., Jan. 29 .- An operation in so-called tea-rooms, intoxicants by which the cornea of the eye of a were served to women, who ordered rabbit was substituted for that of a them without even the pretense of or-man is proving successful. About ten days ago Dr. Paul Walter, of this city, dering a meal. "Intemperance among women, however," said the bishop, "is not confined to the women of the wealthy and fashionable class. The use of stimulants, medicines, bracers, tonics and all similar devices serving as a mask for the liquor habit, is becoming more general among the middle classes.

OPERATION OF TICKET-OF-LEAVE SYSTEM.

Views of the Hon. David Mills, Minister of Justice-Department's Annual Report.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.-The annual report of the department of justice was issued yesterday. The minister of justice says: "I beg leave to submit the statistical information relative to the administration of the ticket-ofleave acts during the second year of their operation. The figures given in the report which I had the honor to submit at the last session of parliament, covered the period of one year from the date of the first license or ticket-of-leave issued, viz.: Nov. 24, 1899, to Nov. 24, 1900. Taking the second year, ending Nov. 24, 1901, I find that 199 tickets of leave were issued, of which 126 were granted to convicts in penitentiaries, and the remaining 73 to prisoners confined in fails and other public prisons. This shows an increase of 54 on the total number of tickets issued in the previous year. Of these, one was cancelled by a full remission of sentence, granted in order to enable the recipient to be taken to a foreign country for medical treatment; another because the prisoner declined to accept it, and third was cancelled for breach of its conditions.

Returns received during the year

Adding the three remaining forfeitures for conviction to the cancellation for breach of conditions of license above mentioned, we have a total of four licenses revoked for misconduct during the year under consideration, being a proportion of 2.01 of the total number of licenses issued. This exceedingly small percentage justifies the conclusion that the acts have proved successful from

Mr. Douglas Stewart's, the inspector of penitentiaries, report says that out of a daily population in the peniten-tiaries there was only one escape from St. Vincent de Paul. The county council met pursuant to adjournment, with the retiring warden presiding. Capt. Robson not being present, County Auditor W. D. Stanley, consented to act as clerk in his place for the day. Two ballots were taken, each one resulting in a tie on political lines, as at Tuesday's session. Lots were then drawn be-tween Councilors Jackson and Elson, as representatives of the largest electoral division. The lot fell to Councilor Elson, who cast the deciding vote which gave Councilor Campbell the coveted honor over Councilor Grigg. The new warden was conducted to the chair by his nominator and his seconder, Councilors Gough and Gray, and introduced to the council.

After taking the declaration of office, Warden Campbell, in his opening remarks, returned thanks for his election, saying it was all the more gratifying to him because unexpected. He hoped before the end of the present session to acquire a thorough grasp of the important matters to come before the council during the year. He asked for the assistance of the council, and said that if the committees exercised the same ability as they had shown the past year his duties would be light. He asked that any shortcomings or errors on his own part be excused as unintentional, and hoped for a continuance of the favorable auspices under which the county's affairs have been administered by the council in the past. The transaction of business was then taken up. FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

IT IS A LIVER PILL.—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. ALEXANDRIA, DEC., 20th. 1901. Speaking from personal experience I can state that your Stout is excellent in building up the system—I was very much run down and was dvised to use Labatt's Porter-this I have done for some time and I largely attribute to its effects my steady improvement in strength and weight. I deem it but justice to you, and it certainly is a pleasure to me, to add my testimony to its sterling qualities, and I gladly recommend your Stout as an excellent tonic and food in cases where such is required. Its head and neck are almost white, the feathers of the wings and tail are a mixture of brown and white. It was noticed first about the middle of September, with other robins that frequented the gardens of a block in the center of the town, and long after its companions had gone south it contin-ued to come and feed on some grapes left on the wines. When these were done we scattered food under the vines, and sometimes it would come down and feed with the sparrows. I am glad to say it is still alive and cheery, in spite of the severe storm of

AS A CURE FOR PILES

Dr. Chase's Ointment Never Disappoints-It Has Won Worldwide Fame on Account of Its Magical Control Over the Most Severe Cases of Itching, Bleeding and Protruding Piles.

Doctors may tell you that nothing short of a surgical operation will cure piles. In this they are mistaken, as we can prove in a host of cases where Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used. It is not infrequent that people tell us that Dr. Chase's Ointment has succeeded in effecting a cure after operations had failed. There is much risk in a surgical operation, too much suffering, and too much expense. If you take the advice of scores and hundreds of your friends and neighbors, you will avoid operations, and resort to the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It will relieve you almost at once. It will thoroughly cure you in a remarkably short time. Mr. J. Wolfe, Arnprior, Ont., states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles, and can assure the public that there was never anything on the market to equal it. I was disappointed time and time again when trying remedies for the ailment, and you can scarcely imagine my gratitude when I found that Dr. Chase's Ointment was an effective and thorough cure for this ailment. From the first application this magical ointment gave me relief, and a few boxes perfectly cured me. Since being cured of piles I al-ways keep Dr. Chase's Ointment in the house, and find it useful in scores of ways as a treatment for every form of itching skin, chafing and skin irritation.'

Dr. Chase's Ointment is indeed useful in scores of ways, as Mr. Wolfe says, and people who once make the acquaintance of Dr. Chase's Ointment are loath to be without it in the house. For pimples, blackheads, eczema, salt rheum, chapped hands and face, chilblains and each and every form of raw, itching and chafed skin. it is an incomparable treatment. It is especially recommended as a cure for piles, because it is, so far as we know, the only actual and guaranteed cure for every form of this wretched and loathsome disease. 60 cents a box. at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto,

Never was colder letter kissed. But then, wisdom always seems cold, and Angelique was rapidly growing wise. It is one thing for a young girl, with her character scarcely formed, to indulge her first fancies by falling in love, with a kind of romance hero, especially if she had been touched by the "mania Byronica"; but it is a very different thing for the same girl, when months of youth, which correspond to years of later life, have defined her feelings and made her capable of forming something like a real purpose, to keep faithful to mere capable of forming something like a real purpose, to keep faithful to mere romance. It is not at all wonderful that in the day of the Medoras, the Gulnares and their tribe, a very little mystery should have been able to go a long way in attracting her fancy. Even now, when Laras and Conrads are gone out of fashion mystery is notoriusly by no means ion, mystery is notoriously by no means a bad line for a man to take if he wishes to be thought of with interest by a very young girl whose dreaming days are not yet over. When, therefore, Mademoiselle Angelique was really young, the young artist who chose to wear his hair long. who talked in the language of romance, and yet of sincerity, about love, art and so forth; who came from a land of hills and forests, and who, for anything that he knew about his birth and parentage, might have been the heir of the Bourmight have been the heir of the Bourbons themselves; who preferred, as a matter of taste, to make love to her secretly, and who shared in that absurd but not unamiable kind of hypocrisy which leads very young men to like to make themselves out to be very much worse morally than they really are—had quite enough points in his favor to touch her fancy if not her heart. She would have preferred, no doubt, that they had been respectively sultana and pirate, instead of only being dame de compagnie and fiddler; but still imagination will do a great deal in such cases—a great deal a great deal in such cases-a great deal more than change a fiddler into a pirate and a dame de compagnie into a sultana of sultanas. The unromantic Marie would have been safe, in all probability, from the influence of a real and genuine Lara; but the violinist was unconventional enough in his ways, singular enough in his appearance, and mysterious enough in his origin, to pass in her cousin's eyes for a sufficiently good imitation of the real thing—as a peg on which she might hang up her fancies to dry. For she had thought a great deal about love in those days—as much as she was getting to think about marriage now. more than change a fiddler into a pirate contain more truth than falsehood; and one of them. unhappily, is that familiar-ity breeds contempt. Though mystery is a good key, it is a very bad lock; it does very well to open the door of a heart, but it is by no means well adapted to keep it safe and secure. This must be done by sheer strength; and of sheer overmuch talk about love and art, and the youthful affections of long locks and mild wickedness, are in nowise symptoms—at least, not of the sort of strength that is required to hold for ever a woman who had opened her eyes to the fact that the good things of the real world are by no means to be despised. But, once more, it is the eve of battle: and yet do we linger in ladies' bowers?

"Sound, sound the clarion, fill the fife": and in fact, the clarion-from Redchester, at eighteenpence a day and as much beer as he can swallow—is sounding to the fray; nor are local drums and fifes wanting to beat and whistle with a heroic disregard of light and shade, of time and tune. Words, hard as bullets, and almost as telling, are hurled about the place incessantly, and every now and then missiles that are harder still; standards are displayed, Union Jack against Union Jack, and motto, against motto; rosettes begin to enliven frieze and brondcloth, on this side with hue of heaven, on that with the color of flowery heaven, on that with the color of nowery fields; and the armies rush together in a shower of gold and silver, as though Denethorp were Danae, weeed by rival Joves. In a word, it is a contested elec-tion of the good old days, when men hit at least as hard as they do now, and far more openly.

He who has seen, he who has heard, may picture to himself the outward phenomena of the long and exciting weeks that preceded the nomination of a burgess to represent in Parliament the borough of Denethorp. Mr. Prescott came down from London, open-handed, to represent the cause for which, according to the orators who held forth at the Chequers, "Hampden died on the field and Sydney on the scaffold." He made an admirable candidate—far better, it an admirable candidate—lar better, it must be confessed, than Hugh. He was, though not an old man, an old hand at such things; and if he was not actually much more weathy than Madam Clare. admirable candidate-far better, it and if he did not spend more freely-that was impossible—his resources were much more readily available, and he spent with greater ostentation and eclat. He moreover, had no local prestige to lose. If he won, it did not matter how he won, and if he lost, he lost no more than one particular contest. And then he was the popular candidate and then was the popular candidate, and had the noise on his side—and that, in an old-fashioned contest, was always a great point in a man's favor. In a state of things in which the sanest of men be-comes part of an insane crowd, noise creates sympathy. The ordinary man always likes to add his voice to the loudest chorus; and so "Prescott for ever!" was shouted forth much more often and much shouted forth much more often and much more loudly than the similar cry that was given for Lester. But, above all, while the latter was an untried boy, the banker from London was a man of mark and weight, with whose name newspaper collticians were familiar; and while Les-er spoke only like a gentleman, and that orator. Altogether he was the very type of a popular candidate; and his party in Denethorp could not have brought down a better man.

Still, Hugh had his advantages. A feeling of duty is in itself a source of strength, even in an election; and he honestly believed himself to be the champion of the right. Besides, he was, after all, fighting a stranger upon his own ground—always an immense advantage in every sort of war; for in this respect the truest of proverbs shows its weak side, and familiarity breeds not contempt but confidence. He was popular also, and his manner of canvass was such as to draw upon him no personal ill-will, even from his opponents. That was all reserved for Madam Clare, who was all reserved for Madam Clare, who drew upon herself a great deal of it, and not without real cause. She made no pretense of concealing her cards, and victory would be of little worth to her unless it was carried by a high hand. She was, however, wise enough not to trust entirely to herself and her presenting. trust entirely to herself and her prestige. It was not without good reason that she placed great reliance upon Mr. George White, her Denethorp solicitor, who, though unused to election contests, was not unequal to them, as Mr. Prescott's more practised agent very soon discovered. And in, no way did Miss Clare's lieutenant-general prove his wisdom and discretion better than in first getting hold of Mark Warden, and in afterwards gradually promoting him to be his own first lieutenant. Mr. White was not a man of many words, but this was not a man of many words, but this is the opinion of Mark that he, after a week or two of work, expressed to Mr.

THE SEMI-FINALS. Woodstock, Jan. 29.—Six rinks in group 8 of the Ontario tankard series played the semi-finals at Woodstock yesterday. Bright was pitted against St. Thomas and won; Ayr defeated Paris, the winners of the tankard last year, and the Forest City club suffered a severe defeat at the hands of Woodstock. One feat at the hands of Woodstock. One rink of the Londoners, comprising Messrs. W. Fulton, C. M. R. Graham, Dr. McDonald and R. Reid (skip), did fairly well, losing by a score of 18 to 16 to a rink skipped by D. W. Karn, but the second rink—and the one of which the most was expected—was down is short. most was expected—was down 18 shots, the score being 29 to 11. The London rink was in the hands of Mr. John Burnett, recognized as one of the best skips in the west, and its bad defeat was in no small measure due to the fact that Mr. Burnett had met with an accident on Monday and was not able to play his usually good game. He had on his rink John Purdom, Charles Sterling and H. Gillies. Their opponents were F. Holmes, F. Ure, A. Gardner and F. Millman,

BELL BOY TO RICH MINSTREL

Interesting Career of George Primrose.

Did He Learn to Dance on the G. T. R. Depot Steps or by Moonlight on Clark's Bridge?

Probably there will be many friends and admirers of the famous minstrel comedian, George Primrose, to give him a cordial "welcome home," at the Grand here tomorrow night, and there will be many in the audience who will recall those far away days when Primrose, as a mere youngster, first gave promise of a successful professional career. It is almost unnecessary to mention the fact that this is Mr. Primrose's native town, a fact of which he is duly proud, and it is likewise unnecessary to record the further well-known fact that the embryotic comedian was serving in the humble capacity of bell-boy at the Tecumseh House when his ambition was aroused, and he determined to win for himself and he determined to win for himself a name behind the footlights. It was an eventful day in the life of young Primrose when Skiff and Gay-lord's Minstrels paid a visit to London and gave one of their brilliant characteristic performances. The leading lights of the troups, which was the greatest minstrel organization of the day, were those wonderful dancers, Messrs. Delehanty and Hengler. They were the originators of a peculiarly graceful style of "soft-shoe" dancing, which has since almost gone out of vogue. Young Primrose who had saved up enough coppers to purchase a front row seat in the gallery, sat en-thralled throughout the performance, and the next day his resolution was made in solemn earnest. He, too, would be a minstrel. He contrived to fix up, through his own ingenuity, a crude tambourine and a pair of bones, and thereafter all his leisure time was spent in practicing on these home made instruments, and in shuffling wing steps in the privacy of his attic

There is an old tradition, that Primrose, in his capacity of bell-boy and "runner" for the hotel, used to wait on the depot steps to meet the pas-sengers from the incoming trains, and away from the constant and energetic efforts of the ambitious boy to imitate the dancing of Delehanty and Hengler. There is also another well authenticated legend that he used to steal off by himself to Clark's bridge, and there, in the effulgence of the moon he would practice alone and unencouraged for hours at a time. Perseverance is always its own reward, like virtue, and young Primrose's natural ability as a dancer soon won the recognition of a manager, who took him to Buffalo, where he made his professional debut, and scored an immediate hit. From Buffalo he drifted to the metropolis, where he joined W. H. West, and together they appeared at the old Olympic Theater, billed as "Primrose

George Primrose's career as an amateur will be remembered by many of his school mates and chums of boyhood lavs It was co arrange performances for many of the nearby towns and villages. George Primrose's ardent admirers as a boy dancer was the Bremner, who, on several occasions appeared with Primrose in amateur minstrel shows. Three London boys, who also were fast friends of this wonderful minstrel man, were Messrs. Charles and Walter Stevens and John Clarke. These three gentlemen, it is said, gave George Primrose many in-structions in the terpsichorean art. When the team of Primrose and West won the championship of the world as clog dancers from three other teams, their services were immediately demanded by prominent managers. Shortly after this the Big Four minstrel combination of Barlow, Wilson, Primrose and West was formed, and it was ultimately the means of establishing the reputation of Primrose throughout the continent of America.

The wonderful success for a few years of this company made both Primrose and West wealthy men, while the other two members spent their money as soon as it was made.

The subsequent career of this talent-ed man is well known to theatergoers. From the humble bell-boy at the Tecumseh House he has risen to fame and riches, and he is today the wealthiest minstrel in the world. Mr. Primrose makes the proud claim that company this season is the largest and strongest organization to which he has ever given his name. Local lovers of minstrelsy will have an opportunity to judge of this assertion for themselves tomorrow night.

Are You Suffering From Varicocele, Nervous Debility, Loss of Vital Power, Loss of Ambition, Early Decay? I WILL CURE YOU.

HOW MANY MEN ARE SUFFERING MISERIES FOR THE WANT OF A SIMPLE REMEDY? They do not live; they simply exist. In the faces of thousands can be read the story of a wasted life and blighted hopes; joys and pleasures are unknown to them because their vitality is being sapped. Varicocele, wasting drains, have exhausted Nature's Electrical forces and left them wrecks upon the shores of life. Many have sought in drugs and patent remedies to relieve their mental and physical suffering. They are soothed for a day, or maybe a week, falsely braced up, until, the effects of the drug wearing off like the momentary bracing of whiskey, they sink still lower in vitality, and, with hope exhausted, lose confidence in themselves and their fellow-man and decide to abandon all efforts to recover their power, feeling that there is no help for them. Man, do not sacrifice yourself in this way. Do not endure this living death while Nature holds out to you relief in the form of Electricity-that vital clement of which, by a life of dissipation, you have deprived yourself-tearing down faster than Nature could rebuild. In this great restorative Electricity there is life and happiness for you. It restores power to the weak and indifferent; it builds up the weakened system, and by its vitalizing, stimulating cure it makes the blood jump through sluggish veins, increasing the circulation to every part, assisting Nature to carry off the impure matter which clogs up the wheels of life. If you are weak and sick, don't depend on the doctors or drugs any longer, but try

HINSEY ACQUITTED BY K. OF P.

CHANCELLORS. Chicago, Jan. 29.—After twenty-three sessions a committee of five past chancellors of the Inter-Domain Lodge, Knights of Pythias, has unanimously voted to acquit John A. Hinsey of the charges brought against him. Mr. Hinsey is the former head of the insurance department of the Knights of Pythias. Charges of mismanagement and misappropriation of the department's funds were made against him at the meeting of the Supreme Lodge in Chicago last July, and a shortage of $500,000 was stated to have been discovered in the funds. The evidence which the defense produced was to the effect that $500,000 had been loaned on good security, and since paid back to the treasury.

PRINCE HENRY'S VISIT. Washington, Jan. 29.-In the present opinion of the officials here, President Roosevelt cannot accept any present from either Emperor William or Prince Henry without authority from Congress. An examination of the precedents is said to disclose the fact that while in many instances presidents apparently received presents from abroad they never have retained these except by express authority conferred by congress. In the other cases where the gifts have not been returned to the donor, the presents have been deposited by the president in the de-partment of state or in the Smithsonian institution. According to programme Prince Henry of Prussia and party will arrive in New York harbor on Saturday, Feb. 22, probably about noon, on the Kron Prinz Wilhelm.

Intellect CAUSED BY COFFEE.

"Careful inquiry in the schoolroom developed the fact that those children who are habitually given coffee to drink have sallow complexions, are nervous, more or less irritable and very sluggish intellect, or an overwrought and abnormal imagination, results of extreme nervousness. My own experience with coffee drinking kept me afflicted for some years with severe and constant headiches, with extreme nervousness at times.

"I was compelled to abandon coffee altogether, and was quickly relieved of the head-aches and other troubles. I was fortunate enough to secure a package of Postum Food Coffee, but my first at-tempt at making it was a failure. After another trial and following directions (which are very easy, by the way), I secured a delicious drink, far superior, in my mind, to coffee. I have con-tinued to use it from the start, and my improvement has been steady with no ill-effects at all."

The above was written by a school teacher, Miss E. Barn-It is an easy matter to leave off the coffee habit, if Postum Cereal Food Coffee is used in its place, particularly when attention is given to its proper preparation. The whole secret of the preparation is in allowing the Food Coffee to boil long enough to bring out the taste and food value.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"The Belle of New York" at the Grand Opera House.

To lovers of musical absurdities the production of "The Belle of New York" at the New Grand last night was in many respects disappointing. In the hands of such a comedian as Edward J. Connolly, who takes the part of Ichabod Bronson, president of the Young Men's Rescue League and Anti-Cigarette Society of Cohoes, the piece—never remarkable for anything but its pretty music—loses a great deal of the sprightliness the author endeavored to put into it. Mr. Connelly's attempts at humor are about as funny as a Sunday afternoon funeral, and his voice is everything a voice should not be; but, of course, it is the voice of a comic opera comedian, and you will "please eggcuse." The really difficult who, as Karl Von Pumpernick, a pocomedy part falls upon Joseph Kane, lite lunatic, saves the situation. The other comedians worth mention are James Darling, as Kenneth Mugg, "low comedian of the Angelique Comic Opera Co.," and A. Dragon—"Blinky Bill" McQuirk, a mixed-ale pugilist. The latter, in his present role, is prostituting a really magnificent voice; he is the only singer in the company who rises above mediocrity. Miss Beulah Chase Dodge, a Salvation Army Lassie, and the Belle of New York, is pretty and graceful, and a moderately good singer. As a musical production the "Belle of New York" is delightful. The songs are catchy, and there is not a bar in the entire piece that is not worth listening to. The chorus work last night was admirable and is really the one feature of the opera which makes it worth hearing.

Marks Brothers at the London Opera

The usual large crowd greeted Marks Bros.' presentation of "In Duty Bound," at the London Opera House last night, both play and specialties receiving generous applause. The prizes offered for ladies and gentlemen are attracting much attention to the engagement. Tonight's bill is "The Irish Detective," one of the company's old favorites.

"KING OF THE OPIUM RING." The play at the New Grand this evening is Charles E. Blaney's sensational Chinese-American drama, "King of the Opium Ring." The story of the play is intensely dramatic and decidedly interesting. The scenes are laid in California. Chinese characters are introduced in swarms, and their manner of living and habits are shown in all their repulsive hideousness. A special scale of prices, 50, 35 and 25 cents, is an-

G. B. CAMPBELL THEIR CHOICE.

County Councilors Elected Him Warden Today.

All Attempts to Make a Choice Yesterday Ended in a Deadlock-A Party Vote.

The January session of the Middlesex county council opened yesterday afternoon at the county buildings. The first business on the books was the election of a warden to preside over the council's deliberations, and exercise a general superintendency over county's affairs for the coming year. It was not proceeded with, how-ever, without a preliminary hitch. It appears that Councilor Jackson, who was at the last session of council ap-pointed clerk pro tem., to act during Capt. Robson's absence at the provincial legislature, refused to act in that capacity, fearing it would pre-judice his position as a councilor later in the session. This resulted in a delay of an hour or more until legal advice was secured, and then the reresulting vote was a tie, leaving the election of a warden to be decided at today's session.

Most of the councilors reached the Most of the councilors reached the city in the morning, and immediately after noon the councilors of each political stripe held a caucus. The Liberals, as was expected, selected Mr. J. P. Grigg, of Caradoc, as their representative, The Conservatives chose Mr. G. B. Campbell, of Ekfrid, the defeated candidate last year for the defeated candidate last year for the office of warden. Their choice of Mr. Campbell was somewhat of a surprise, as it was expected that Mr. R. M. Piper, of Westminster, would be se-

Although the time set for opening was 2 p.m., it was after 3:30 when the councilors took their places. There was a full attendance of members, those present being: Division 1—John Bradley, Brinsley; A. King Hodgins, Lucan. Division 2—Trafford Camp-bell, Fernhill; Simon McLeod, Parkhill. Division 3-Peter Elson, London; R. W. Jackson, Arva. Division 4—Geo. Neely, Dorchester Station; J. W. Salmon, Thorndale. Division 5-James Murray, Wilton Grove; R. M. Piper, Lambeth. Division 6-Alex. Strathroy. Councilor Elson arose and explained that Councilor Jackson refused to act as clerk. Mr. Elson therefore moved that the retiring warden, Trafford Campbell, take the chair, and that the council appoint a clerk pro tem, and proceed with the election of a warden. On Mr. Elson's motion being seconded and carried, Warden Campbell assumed the chair.

Councilor McLeod suggested that Malcolm McGugan, M. P., be appointed clerk pro tem. He also took occasion to remark that the present situation showed the evil of appointing as county solicitor a lawyer who was not esident in London.

Warden Campbell was in favor of getting a solicitor's opinion as to the course to pursue, so as to avoid placing the county in a humiliating posi-Various suggestions followed from

THE STANSON OF THE ST councilors named went out to consult the solicitor. Meantime the long distance 'phone was called into requisition by Councilor Jackson, who secured an interview with Capt. Robson, in which the latter promised to leave Toronto on the G. T. R. flyer, and reach London in time for an evening session.

Warden Campbell and Councilor Elson returned, and reported that Solicitor Meredith was of opinion that it would be legal for the retiring warden to act as presiding officer during the election of a new warden, he to have right of voting. Councilor Elson moved that in accordance with section 262 of the municipal act, Warden Campbell preside over the balloting. The motion carried. A ballot was then taken, resulting in a tie vote on party lines, the division being as follows: For G. B. Campbell-Elson, Neely, Gray, G. B. Campbell, Gough, Hodgins, Piper, McLeod. For J. P. Grigg—Murray, Trafford, Campbell, Jackson, Grigg, Robotham, Graham, Bradley, Salmon.

The presiding officer declared no election, and the council adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning, the members not favoring the holding of a night session. MR. CAMPBELL ELECTED.

At this morning's session of the council Mr. G. B. Campbell, of Ekfrid, was elected warden of Middlesex for 1902. SEARCHING FOR THE CONDOR.
