* DONOVAN TRIUMPHANT

Monday was a great day for the Conservatives of Ontario. They gained a sweeping victory, making gains in the very strongholds of Liberalism, and showing most conclusively that their administration of the affairs of the province is heartily approved by the electors.

In Brockville riding, the Liberals were disheartened by the handicap imposed by the "rearrangement" of the constituency, and their campaign lacked the old time vim and vigor. The result, with many, was a foregone conclusion, though the size of Mr. Donovan's majority was undoubtedly a surprise to all.

Early in the evening returns were received that assumed the triumph of the government and the election of Mr. Donovan, and the younger element of the Conservative party at once decided upon a demonstration. A cornet, alto and drum furnished the music, and as the procession formed, bundles of fireworks were brought out and distributed, and soon Main street was a blaze of light. The procession marched to the residence of Mr. Donovan and, assembled on the lawn, gave expression to their joy in no uncertain way. Mr. Donovan was in Brockville, and the assemblage was addressed briefly by Messrs Thomas Berney and Joseph Thompson, who thanked them for their demonstration of loyalty, and urged upon them a constant recognition of their duty as patriotic Canadians. While Mr. Thompson was speaking, the notable character of the victory won by his brother in East Peterboro became known, and the news was cheered to the echo.

Returning up street, there was more music and a bonfire, and at a late hour the crowd dispersed.

The voting in Athens and Brockville proved a surprise to both sides, and Mr. Donovan has every reason to be proud of the endorsement he received in these places. Following are the majorities scored:—

Donovan Buell
Brockville.....	580 911
Elizabethtown.....	652 406
Athens.....	111 78
Kitley.....	156
Rear Yonge and Escott.....	74
South Elmsley.....	76 65
	1949 1460

Donovan's majority... 489
Returns from all over the province indicate that in the new legislature the parties will stand as follows:—
Conservative.....86
Liberals.....19
Independent.....1

DEATH OF MRS. SCOTT

On Sunday last Mrs. Benjamin Scott departed this life at her home in Athens, in the 79th year of her age. Mrs. Scott had been in poor health for some time, but was able to be about as usual.

On Friday morning she received a stroke of paralysis from which she never rallied. She had led a most worthy life—industrious, a faithful wife, a loving mother. She is survived by her aged husband; three sons, Alpheus of Athens, Joseph of North Augusta, George of Brockville; and two daughters, Mrs. Davis of Glen Buell and Miss Emma at home.

The funeral service was conducted in the Methodist church on Monday by the Rev. S. J. Hughes, who paid a fitting tribute to the worth of the deceased. Mrs. Scott had been for years a member of the W.C.T.U. and representatives of that society attended the service.

REAR YONGE AND ESCOTT Court of Revision and Council

Court of Revision met at 1.30 on Saturday, May 30th, with Reeve Mulvena in the chair. Members all present, except Mr. Holmes.

The assessment of John and Winifred Cowan was reduced $100.

The Peter Coby property was changed from S.S. 13 to No. 14.

George B. Leeder was given permission to pay his school tax to the separate school.

Samuel Hollingsworth, Jr., was assessed for the Sterling Wilton property.

Geo. Morris and Mary Newlan were assessed for Chas. Foley's property and Chas. Foley assessed for the R.P. lot 12 con. 10, instead of Alexander Taylor.

The following names were added to the Roll: James George Cablehorn, Harry Botsford, Ambrose Shea, Irvin Keyes, Bert Dorman, E. W. Chivers, Heber Burham and Fred W. Crumpler.

Council met after court and minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. By-laws to change the property of Manson Hayes from S.S. 1 to 14, and to apportion the macadamized road among certain road divisions were passed.

W. C. Harves was allowed to do his statute labor on the 6th con. road under supervision of overseer.

Joseph Clow was appointed overseer in road division 2.

Reeve Mulvena was appointed to act with the reeve of Elizabethtown to divide the town line road between Yonge and Elizabethtown.

Reeve Mulvena, Concillors Brown and Holmes were appointed to inspect road between front and rear of Yonge.

John Hall was allowed to do his statute labor on town line road, between his home and the Plank Road, under supervision of overseer.

Mrs. Freeman was remitted her statute labor for present year.

Reeve Mulvena was appointed to oversee repairs to bridge near Albert Wilton's, also to arrange for crushing stone and to give orders for repairs to roads.

Orders were given on the treasurer as follows: Dr. Moore, for services in smallpox cases during winter of 1908, $16.50; St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, $5.00; M. C. Bates, bonus on 54 rods wire fence, $10.80; L. L. Bates, bonus on 50 rods, $10.00; M. Brown, bonus on 76 rods, $15.20.

Council adjourned until August 15, unless sooner called together by the reeve.

FARM DRAINAGE

To the Editor of the Reporter.

The Department of Physics at the Ontario Agricultural College desires to announce the continuance of its previous offer of assistance to farmers in matters pertaining to drainage. For the past three years we have been authorized by the Minister of Agriculture to go out and assist any farmer in taking the levels of his lands for drainage purposes, in planning the most advantageous system of drains, and in calculating the grades and sizes of tile for the different drains. A finished map, bearing all the information, is sent to the owner. This serves two purposes: first it is used as a guide in constructing the drains; second, it may be preserved as a record of the exact location of every drain, so that if for any reason it should be necessary in years to come to find any drain it could be done accurately at a moment's notice.

Anyone wishing drainage surveying done should apply to Wm. H. Day, Department of Physics, O.A.C., Guelph. The only outlay connected with the work is the travelling expenses of one man, including meals, cartage of instruments and railway fare at one cent a mile each way.

The Department has just issued a pamphlet on "Farm Drainage Operations," which may be had on application.

THE QUEBEC TRICENTENARY.

A Magnificent Spectacle to be Presented With a Gorgeous Historical Programme.

The romance of Canadian history is just beginning to dawn on the average Canadian citizen. The preparations for the great tricenarian celebration at Quebec, which commences on July 20 next, have resulted in an amazing amount of historical information being disseminated throughout the length and breadth of the country.

The beautiful summer days had passed into autumn, and from winter into the cold bleak ones of winter. He had accepted an invitation to a small dance given by a mutual friend to which Hugh had been bidden also.

Denise had written a letter and mailed it at once that she might not have time to regret it, and now that it had gone she was filled with remorse. The note contained but a few lines, but her cheeks reddened as she thought of them.

The next day she watched from the window long before it was time for the postman, but she could not have told which letter she desired an answer to the most. Her fingers trembled a little as she took Hugh's letter from the man (for he had written at once), and a little blur came into her eyes before she dared read what it contained.

DENISE

The girl watched the man's figure as he strode quickly out of her sight without once looking back. She was young and she truly loved him, but she never knew how much until now, when it was too late.

"No," she said, "it can never be; you are not what I am, and I can never be."

She did not have time to say more for Hugh had taken his hat and left her without a word. She had not known then, as she did now, that it did not matter after all what he was, if he had only come back to her, she would have accepted him gladly for she knew that she loved him and would always love him.

He bowed gravely to her as he passed, and a terrible fear clutched at her heart for the first time. She passed a miserable evening for he did not ask her to dance and had studiously kept away from her. She did not know that he was not dancing; that this was the first function since he had attended since his cousin's death a few months before.

"Good night," he said, gently, as he bent over her for just one second, and she heard that the tears which filled her eyes.

Denise had written a letter and mailed it at once that she might not have time to regret it, and now that it had gone she was filled with remorse. The note contained but a few lines, but her cheeks reddened as she thought of them.

"Dear Hugh," she wrote, "I have written you a note asking you to come to me. Please, please, ignore it entirely. I do not know what made me write it. There is Miss Norton, too. I would not have you dishonor her for the world." And she signed it simply, Denise. Then she mailed that one and in spite of it did not feel much better.

The next day she watched from the window long before it was time for the postman, but she could not have told which letter she desired an answer to the most. Her fingers trembled a little as she took Hugh's letter from the man (for he had written at once), and a little blur came into her eyes before she dared read what it contained.

Denise kissed the senseless paper a little wildly as she ran up the stairs to her room, but the pain was gone from her heart.—Boston Post.

DANDRUFF IS A DISEASE

Three old men having met by chance, it was but natural that they should fall into some comparison of their several achievements.

"In 70 years," said the first, "I have amassed a hundred million dollars."

"I have heard many of your deceased patients are being cremated," said his friend, who does not like to call a man a liar.

FATHER & DAUGHTER BENEFIT

Miss Wilhelmina McCharles of Powassa, Ont., writes: "I have proved Z-m-Buk a healing balm for eczema. My father had it very bad on his hands and they were swollen very much. One night he decided to try Z-m-Buk. I had previously used it for Ringworm which I could not remove until I tried Z-m-Buk. This removed the Ringworm in a very short time."

ZAM-BUK

The Slippery Pronoun. Many are the circumlocutions which have been devised by civilized races in order to avoid the bluntness of direct address.

"Thou" has, of course, become obsolete, except in prayer, although it flourishes colloquially in the North of England. The second person plural is substituted. In parts of the south "you-all" is heard, a further step toward refined elusiveness.

REPORTS OF THE COLLEGES.

Principal Business of the General Assembly.

Principal of Knox Announces His Retirement.

Report of Home Missions, Western Section.

Winnipeg despatch: Exchanges of felicitations, near reports of colleges and considering reviews of the home mission work occupied the attention of the Presbyterian General Assembly today, and much important business was transacted.

The reading of the letter of resignation from Dr. MacLaren, the revered principal of Knox College, provoked a demonstration of the assembly's loyalty and devotion to the aged educationist, who for 35 years has assisted actively in preparing young men for the Christian ministry, and the leaders of the gathering joined spontaneously in a tribute to his great qualities of mind and heart.

Devotional exercises occupied a large portion of the morning session, and the business was principally routine. Applications from thirty-one ministers of other churches, who desired to be taken into the ministry of the Presbyterian Church, were received and a committee was appointed to consider them.

Presbyterian College, Halifax. The report of the Presbyterian College, Halifax, expressed gratification at its success under Rev. Principal Magill, Ph. D., and with Mr. J. W. Falconer, B. D., succeeding Dr. R. A. Falconer in the chair of New Testament Greek and exegesis.

The receipts for the year from all sources were $13,850.77. The contributions from congregations amounted to $6,915.81 as against $5,997.08 for the preceding year. The income from interest was $7,852.96, and from donations and all other sources $82. The expenditure apart from the debt was $14,061.17.

Presbyterian College, Montreal. The Presbyterian College at Montreal had sixty-two students enrolled. Great satisfaction was expressed in the report of the board, of which Mr. David Morrice, of Montreal, is chairman, at the good work done by the new professors, Rev. R. E. Welsh, D. D., and Dr. J. D. Gordon, D. Litt.

The financial statement showed all funds, excepting the building fund, with balances on the right side, though that of the credit of the ordinary fund is very small, and several small sums can hardly be counted upon in future.

The Revenue of Queen's. Principal Gordon presented the report of Queen's University and College. The enrollment for the past session was as follows: Undergraduates in arts attending, 390; extra-mural, 261; post-graduates in arts attending, 34; extra-mural, 38; students in theology, 36; in practical science, 284; in medicine, 213; in education, 42.

The board asked for the Assembly's approval of $2,250 a year, for the present canvass for additional endowment of half a million dollars, as General Secretary and professor of practical theology at $2,250 a year.

The revenue for the year totalled $99,564.39. The chief items were: Fees, $32,449.84; interest, $33,741.29; jubilee fund interest, $2,148.34; General Assembly college fund, $3,620.25; Ontario Government, $3,000; Ontario Government, voted but not yet paid, $2,226.63; scholarships, $2,492. The chief item of expenditure was that of $50,874.84 for salaries.

It was adopted, and the motion included permission, in the case of the other colleges, to fill vacancies on the staff. Principal Gordon secured consent to postponing the presentation of the report of Queen's endowment and the memorial of Queen's Senate for the present. Principal Patrick presented the report of Manitoba College.

Manitoba College. The number of students attending Manitoba College, as reported by Mr. William Whyte, is slightly in advance of last year, which was the largest in the history of the college. There were 275 enrolled, including 2 post graduates, 18 in regular course in theology, 25 minister evangelists, 124 university, 97 non-attendants and 9 special students.

That standard was taught as before by Mr. Michael Sberbinin, B. A. It was adopted. Mr. J. K. Macdonald, Toronto, presented the report of Knox College, conveying an intimation of the resignation of Principal MacLaren, and reviewing the work of the year.

The sixty-fourth annual report of the Board of Management of Knox College, presented by the Chairman, Sir Wm. Mortimer Clark, K. C., LL.D., Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, showed that the expenditure of the college during the past year had been $20,614.25, and the revenue during the same period amounted to $23,499.02 and as the revenue account included a balance of income from last year of $956.48, the true deficiency for the year is $4,071.71, a condition of affairs which, as the report says, calls for the immediate attention of the Church.

Twenty students completed their theological course and received their diplomas, eighteen of them holding university degrees. The appointment of Rev. Dr. Grey as financial agent at $2,500 a year was reported. The board regretted that no offer had been received for the present college building. It was explained that the Caven library will form a special part of the new college building, so that friends who had subscribed for that memorial would know that their subscriptions would be applied for the erection of the library.

The total capital assets amount to $389,272.69, which with cash and other assets held against surplus income, $738.38, and accrued interest on investments, $4,792.73, making a total surplus income of $5,498.11, brings the total assets to $394,770.80. Rev. E. D. McLaren presented at the evening sederunt the report of the home missions (western section).

FRANCE ALL EXCITEMENT

Over the Attempted Shooting of Major Dreyfus.

One Man Offers to Murder Him—Editorial Vituperation.

Paris, June 8.—Whether yesterday's attempt upon the life of Major Alfred Dreyfus at the time of the naming of Emile Zola in the Pantheon was only the individual act of a man believing himself to be an outraged patriot or had behind it an incipient nationalist plot, the Republican press are unanimous in deploring the incident, and believes it injured, rather than aided, that cause.

Even those papers which doubted the wisdom of burying Zola in the Pantheon think that the shooting of Major Dreyfus consolidated the Republican sentiment, and they evidently desire to see the incident ended as early as possible. Any attempt to reopen the old Dreyfus issue at the trial of Louis Gregori, the man who shot at the major yesterday, they point out, can easily be frustrated as being plainly extraneous.

On the other hand, the fury of the Nationalist papers is unbounded. L'Action Francaise fires a broadside, which recalls the most exciting days of Dreyfus and Boulanger. At the head of its columns this newspaper prints a statement by Charles Maurras which, it is likely, the authorities will investigate. In this article the writer says that on Wednesday night "a resolute patriot visited M. Daudet and Lieut. Boisfleury, and himself offered to kill Dreyfus, but his proposal was rejected."

A leading editorial in this paper appeals to the country to turn to the Duke of Orleans for redress, and concludes with these words, "Do you desire that Zola's body be ejected from the Pantheon? Do you desire to march Dreyfus to the execution block? If so, invoke our King."

The paper also republishes a number of London reviews of the Dreyfus case, insisting that he is a traitor. The decision of the Court of Cassation to cut off the time for an appeal, the paper says, is illegal, and it concludes its article as follows: "What we ask for Dreyfus is not six bullets from a revolver, but the twelve bullets from the execution squad."

Other newspapers declare that Gregori, much grieved at the recent death of his mother, has lately manifested signs of mental derangement. With regard to the reasons for Gregori's act, the opinion prevails in Paris that there is much truth in his avowal that he was driven to the deed by the appeals to hatred with which the anti-Semitic papers have been filled since the Government resolved to place the body of Zola in the Pantheon.

The state of this feeling can be gauged by an interview with Henri Rochefort, editor of the Patrie, which is published to-night, and in which he says: "It would have been a glorious death for Dreyfus. It would have been his first and only time under fire."

It was definitely established at the reconstruction this afternoon of the scene in the Pantheon that Gregori fired the first shot from behind Dreyfus, the ball penetrating the sleeve of his coat and burying itself in a flower pot at the base of the catafalque. When Dreyfus wheeled at the sound of the detonation he threw up his left arm over his heart. The second shot was fired point blank at his breast, the bullet entering the wrist and ranging upward. It was located this afternoon by means of a radioscope, but was not extracted.

Mathieu Dreyfus, the brother of Major Dreyfus, who sprang forward to save him, chivalrously protected Gregori from the crowd which was raining blows with canes and umbrellas on the man, shouting: "It is not for us to punish; let the law take its course."

Gregori made a statement to the police directly after his arrest, and during a second interrogatory to-night he said: "I did not wish to kill Dreyfus. It is true I aimed at him, but I only wanted to graze him. My object was to protest against the participation of the army in the glorification of Zola and the rehabilitation of Dreyfus. My blow was aimed less at Dreyfus than at Dreyfusism."

In describing the scene before the magistrate, Mathieu Dreyfus said that at the sound of the first shot he shouted at Gregori, asking if the revolver was loaded. Gregori replied in the negative, as he pressed the trigger a second time.

Other witnesses testified that they noticed Gregori's suspicious movements as he pressed forward in the throng. He was fumbling in his coat pocket, and as Dreyfus passed he ducked between the legs of the bystanders and arose and fired at the major's back. During the course of the day the police made several hundred arrests, but no serious importance is attached to these, as the prisoners are mostly students and rowdies who took part in numerous street brawls.

Bullet Not Taken Out. Gregori's sister is unable to account for his act, except that he was carried away by indignation at the idea that the army, to which he has devoted his life and which he so passionately loved, should salute with its flags the author of "Al Debacle." She said her brother latterly had displayed symptoms of melancholy. The authorities are pursuing their investigation with a view to determining whether or not there is a plot behind the attempt of yesterday. This morning Gregori was taken to his apartment, and was present when the police made a thorough search of his rooms for possible incriminating documents. Their efforts developed nothing of importance.

The bullet was not extracted from Major Dreyfus' arm. Madge—What did Molly mean by saying that joining the Audubon Society was a good business proposition? Marjorie—The dues are only $5, while a hat with feathers on it costs at least $20.—Harper's Weekly.

SOCIALISTS IN PRUSSIAN DIET

Election of Eight Has Created a Great Str.

Berlin, June 8.—The elections for members of the Prussian Diet have resulted, for the first time in history, in the entrance of Socialists into that stronghold of Junkerdom. This fact causes a great stir, and it is expected it will lead the Government to grant the long-demanded reform of the franchise. Six of the twenty divisions in Berlin have elected Socialists. One was elected in Hanover, while possibly two or three will be elected on the second ballots.

The victories of the Socialists are all the more remarkable because the franchise elections to the Diet are regulated in Prussia by a property qualification, which confers the bulk of power on the wealthy and disfranchises the masses. The Government hitherto has resisted successfully all demands for reforms. Chancellor Von Bismarck, on this question, and the resurgent street demonstrations last January are recalled as the latest incidents in this perennial struggle.

It would be unsafe, however, to deduce from the present Socialist triumph the success of the democratic cause. The ground they lost in the Reichstag elections last year. All the victories are in constituencies which then adhered to Socialism.

VIOLENT LANGUAGE.

BRITISH SOCIALIST M. P.'S. OPPOSED KING'S RUSSIAN VISIT.

Foreign Secretary States Plainly That Attitude of Aloofness, Would Sooner or Later Lead to War—Unionists Side With the Government.

London, June 8.—Continuing the debate over King Edward's proposed visit to Russia, the Labor-Socialists suggested that the visit had been engineered by Russia, with the view of rehabilitating her credit, and John G. S. MacNeill, Nationalist, joined in the debate. Sir Edward Grey, Foreign Secretary, on behalf of the Government deprecated the tone and the temper of this attack. He declared that the evidence proved clearly that the system of Government in Russia had apparently bettered during the last two years, and such an attempt to exert pressure as suggested would hinder this constitutional progress instead of helping it.

He then invited the House to consider what the Government would have been in Great Britain had the Emperor of Russia declined to visit this country until a full self-government had been granted the Transvaal. The Government had advised the King to pay this visit, which, according to its information, would be welcomed by all the moderate and liberal citizens of Russia.

Sir Edward Grey then repeated that no negotiations were on foot for a new treaty or convention with Russia, and he said none would be initiated during the visit. It was hoped, however, that the visit would have the political effect of improving the relations between the two countries. A few years ago such a visit would have been impossible. The fact that it occurs now is intended to emphasize the knowledge that the relations between Great Britain and Russia are becoming friendly, and he trusted they would so continue.

The Foreign Secretary then went on to say that the consequences of the attitude of aloofness or boycott of Russia, as suggested by the Labor-Socialists must be disastrous and would sooner or later lead to war. The British Government was pursuing a policy of peace. If the House rejected that policy he (Sir Edward) would fall with it. Attacks on the personal character of Emperor Nicholas were unjustified. If the Cabinet advised the King to take up the attitude suggested it might as well tear up the Anglo-Russian convention, the Foreign Secretary said, and he then reminded the House that the general peace of the world depended greatly upon Great Britain's relations with Russia.

Mr. Arthur J. Balfour associated himself and the entire Unionist party with Sir Edward Grey's "able and dignified speech." Mr. James Keir Hardie, Socialist, excelled himself in violence of language against Emperor Nicholas and the Russian Government. He was called to order by the Speaker, who threatened to stop the debate unless he withdrew certain objectionable phrases. This Mr. Hardie finally did.

The Labor-Socialist motion condemning His Majesty's visit to Russia was defeated 225 votes to 59.

A BRIDEGROOM'S SUICIDE.

Ended His Life While Bride Waited at the Altar.

Winnipeg, June 8.—Leaving a note saying he was "going to shut out the mortal coil" and that he was "unworthy of Jennie," Alexander Scott, a young foreman in the Winnipeg Paint and Glass Company, cut his throat about 8 o'clock last evening while his bride, Miss Jennie Sullivan, waited for him at the altar. The discovery was made by the bride's brother and the groomsmen, who went to the bridegroom's house and found him quite dead. It is thought that his mind had become unbalanced by financial worries and excitement.

TWO INDIANS DROWNED.

Fatal Accident on the St. Lawrence River.

A Brockville despatch: Circumstances point to the drowning of two Indians on the St. Lawrence. The bodies were west of here last Saturday. The following morning an Indian reported to the colony residing west of the town that he had been in their company when the skill overturned, he being washed ashore on an island. Byers is said to have fired a shot at the Indians. Nothing more was thought of the story until to-day, when a party of three came down from Kingston in a skiff for St. Regis, but have never reached there.

LION BREAKS LOOSE.

Keepers Succeed In Luring Him Back Into Cage.

Greenwich, Conn., June 8.—In the summer resort here this afternoon a large, seven-year-old lion named Nero, untamed, and made angry by repeated jabbing with a stick and the firing off of blank cartridges by the keeper, leaped at the iron door of the cage where he was being exhibited to a large crowd gathered to witness "Washburn's Circus."

It was all the fault of the assistant keeper, who failed to pull the iron door in time. He has disappeared so fearful was he, when the affair was over and the lion safely caged again, of being mobbed.

The circus was exhibiting across the street from the high school and hundreds of school children were in the crowd. The lion was performing in connection with a side show in a small tent and around the cage stood society people. When the news of the lion's escape reached those assembled in the main tent, where the show proper was about to start, there was the greatest stampede ever made from a circus tent. The people crowded under tents and over stone walls, into adjacent buildings and up trees and telegraph poles.

Proprietor Washburn, of the circus, told several officers present to shoot the lion. He also offered $1,000 reward for his capture. While a search was being made for the escaped animal, growls were heard coming from the tent in which the side show was held. The circus men resolved to capture the lion and get the reward.

Four men crawled under the tent and one of the circus troupes succeeded in throwing a lasso around the lion's neck. He was finally enticed into a circus wagon cage by a plentiful offering of meat. There was a shout of triumph as this was accomplished and the circus tents filled up again with the crowd.

Nero has the reputation of having killed three men and of late the trainer has found much difficulty in entering the cage with him.

STRANGE DEATH OF A FARMER IN RENFREW COUNTY.

The Horses Were Put in the Stable—Two Men Found Him in Helpless Condition, But Did Not Remove Him to Shelter.

Renfrew despatch: Left lying in his rig at night on the side of the road, with no covering, in a heavy down-pour of rain, when his horses were put into a neighboring stable, Michael Sholea died on Sunday, up the country. On Friday afternoon he left his farm to drive to Barry's Bay. Four miles from home he went into his sister's house near-by for a short time.

A mile further on a farmer named Retza met Sholea, who asked him where he could get a doctor, as he was sick. After dark that night two men from Barry's Bay saw a team at the side of the road and found Sholea hanging out of the rig, his head resting on one of the wheels. They thought him drunk, though he muttered something about getting a doctor. They hitched the horses and put them into Retza's stable, as it was raining heavily.

Sholea lay there all night and all Saturday morning. About 2 o'clock a farmer passing found him and took him home, where he died on Sunday. No doctor was summoned. His body, neck and legs were found to be all bruised, and his chest and back apparently injured, but no bones were discovered broken. No inquest was held, and he was buried on Tuesday. He left a widow, five sons, and four daughters.

ON AN ICE FLOE.

DR. GRENFELL'S THRILLING ADVENTURE ON LABRADOR COAST.

Forty Hours a Prisoner, and Nothing but Raw Dog Meat to Eat—Afraid to Lie Down Lest He Should Freeze to Death.

St. John's, Nfld., June 8.—Capt. W. Bartlett, of the steamer Strathearn, which has just arrived from the north, brings word of a thrilling experience which Dr. Grenfell recently passed through and which nearly cost the intrepid missionary his life. Late in the month of April the doctor set out alone one day to cross the Fish rocks, bound to Belvue to amputate a man's leg, and took with him a team of eight dogs and komatik with his gun and a case of surgical instruments. He was lightly clad, as the weather was fine, and he expected to make a quick journey, but had not been long out when conditions changed and there were signs of a storm brewing. Though he thought of returning, he had covered so much of the way that he determined it would be just as well to push on to his destination, and never for a moment imagined that the journey would prove to be almost his last one.

To avoid the obstacles inseparable from land travels in the northern wilds Dr. Grenfell was proceeding over the ice along the shore when suddenly the wind began blowing from the land. In less than an hour it had reached the velocity of a gale, and before the doctor could realize his position or make an attempt to return to the coast, the ice parted from the shore and began to move rapidly out to sea, taking him and his outfit with it. It was an intensely trying position to be in, but for hours the devoted missionary kept up his pace, urging his team to their greatest speed, hoping to effect a landing at some jutting point on the shore before the ice would clear it. In this he was disappointed, and when nightfall set in

DOUBLE DROWNING.

Such is Indicated at Barrie by Upturned Canoe.

Barrie, Ont., despatch: What looks like a double drowning accident took place here some time yesterday. About half-past two, Norman McKnight and Percy Graham, two young men, 17 and 18 years of age, hired a canoe from Carley's boat house, and went out for a paddle. They did not return, and the upturned canoe was found later by Capt. Lyons near Strathallan, three miles east, on the southern shore of the bay.

The identity of the boys was not known at the time, but enquiry to-day revealed the fact that McKnight and Graham are missing. The supposition is that they went in bathing from the shore, pushing the canoe in front of them, and became exhausted. A search party is now patrolling the shore to see if any clothing or other trace of the missing lads is discoverable.

MAE O'REILLY ALIVE.

One of Mrs. Guinness' Alleged Victims Turns Up.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 8.—Mae O'Reilly, who Julius G. Treulson, judge, murdered on the Guinness farm at Laporte, Ind., arrived on Friday last from New York city and is the guest of friends.

Miss O'Reilly at first denied her identity, but after admission to her according to the story told by Daniel F. Welsh, a member of the family with whom she is stopping, she has been employed in New York city during the past winter. Miss O'Reilly was married to Treulson in Albany in August, 1905. Their only child, a boy, Treulson was sentenced to Elmira Reformatory, and since that time Miss O'Reilly says she has had no correspondence with him and knows nothing of his actions.

She declares she was never in Laporte, Ind., and at the time when Treulson alleged that he and Mrs. Guinness killed her she was in Rochester. The police here believe that Treulson is mentally unbalanced.

THE COURT HAS FLED.

Important Witness in Berlin Court Scandal Missing.

London, June 8.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says it is stated that Count Edgar Wedel, who was Court Chamberlain of the late Emperor Victoria, mother of the Kaiser, and who was summoned to testify in the investigation of the perjury charge against Count Zu Eulenburg, has fled, and there is no trace of his whereabouts.

BANQUET TO LORD CREWE.

Lord Strathcona Presides at Function of Canada Club.

London, June 8.—Lord Strathcona presided at a banquet tendered to-night by the Canada Club to the Earl of Crewe. He expressed the conviction that penny postage would soon be universal. Lord Crewe expressed regret that his duties would prevent his attendance at the Quebec Tercentenary. Other speakers were Rt. Hon. Mr. Seeley and Hon. Charles Russell.

Convicts Shot Down.

Birmingham, Ala., June 8.—A desperate effort to break the coast to-day at the plant of the Alabama Manufacturing Company at North Birmingham by nine convicts. The guards fired on the men, and the day policemen of North Birmingham joined in the fusillade. Five of the convicts were shot dead, two of them being fatally wounded. Two others were captured, and dogs were put out on the trail of the other two.

FROM SUNNY ALBERTA

Edison, Alta., May 18, 1908

Dear Old Reporter,—
Kindly find the cash enclosed to extend my subscription to your most valuable paper. At the present time I would feel at a great loss without it. Seeding is progressing very favorably, the soil being in fine condition.

Mr. John Baldwin informs us that a town site will be located here. This town will be on the Main line of the C. N. R. to Athabasca Landing. Mr. John Baldwin and Eli are old Prescott Ont. boys. A big plant, a short distance north of here, is boring for oil.

Mr. Tom Nunn, formerly of Canton, had his house with contents burned one week ago, caused by a bush fire. His loss will be quite heavy—a very hard blow to a homesteader, just getting started.

No doubt many of your readers got very bad reports about this terrible muddy country around Edmonton last fall by a couple of very tender feet, so I will give you a few facts about it so you can judge for yourselves. Since the 15th of Sept. last till the 15th of this May, 8 months, we have not had a rain to speak of, during the winter, a bad snow-storm or a blustering day that you Eastern people would call bad.

What snow we had came in little flurries, never had more than six inches any one time. We had a few windy days, but the mercury was always above freezing and it was not disagreeable. There were very few cold days all winter, never more than 25 deg. below zero. Cloudy weather here in the winter is an exception—the rule is bright, clear and sunny days. On Saturday night and Sunday we got a good rain (16 and 17 of May), but nothing seemed to be suffering for moisture, notwithstanding the small amount of rain and light snow fall in 8 months.
MINOR BATES.

Weak women should try Dr. Shoop's Night cure. These soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories go direct to the seat of these weaknesses, My book No. 4 For Women, contains many valuable hints to women, and it is free. Ask Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. to mail it. Ask the Doctor in strictest confidence, any questions you wish answered Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is sold by All Dealers.

PHILIPSVILLE

Stevens and Halladay have their cheese factory nearly finished. On Tuesday morning, May 20th they took in their first milk. The building is one of the best in Ontario, built of brick 30x82½ feet, comprising boiler room, manufacturing room, cold storage and ice house, all under one roof. The building stands in a beautiful maple grove. The floors are of cement, and painted. They put in two new steel vats and have two of the common woodens vats as well. They can manufacture 35000 lbs of milk a day. W. B. Phelps is the agent here for the above steel vats.

Mr. Hourigan and wife of Smith's Falls are the guests of Mrs. Hourigan's mother and sister, Mrs. E. Kennedy.

The farm work has been very slow this spring owing to the wet.

Many of the cows are not milking as well this season, owing to the scarcity and high price of feed, and a number of cows have died from one cause and another.

Hiram Niblock of Minnesota is visiting his sister, Mrs. H. Brown.

Rev. Dr. Eber Crummy, pastor of Bathurst Street Methodist Church, Toronto, has accepted a call to Grace Church, Winnipeg. He will assume his new duties in July, 1909. Dr. Crummy is a native of Leeds County, a graduate of the A. H. S. His progress has been remarkably rapid. He is about forty-four years of age, a bachelor of science and Doctor of Divinity of Queen's University. After his ordination he spent nine years in Japan, in missionary and collegiate work.

STUDENTS

Who contemplate taking a Business College course should communicate with the Reporter office. We can save you money.

Danger Zone.

"If this corn doesn't quit hurting, I will do something desperate."
"Be careful, miss; this is leap year."

Friendly Interest.
"He has proposed to her seven times."
"Mercy! Why does she allow it?"
"Wishes to perfect him."
"Why?"
"So that when he meets the for sure only girl he will be able to propose in a most artistic manner."

Burnt Them Before Him.

"He is in for it now."
"Burnt his bridges?"
"Yes, you bet."
"So he can't turn back now."
"Not at all, so he can't go on."

"Because they can't."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

When our job keeps us busy it generally pays enough to keep us alive and too little to get us into mischief.

We always think we are entitled to the best there is going, but forget to get a cinch on it when it is coming.

The thing that we are dead sure that we can do better is always the thing that we have never tried to do.

There may be an opportunity for every man, but there is no dodging the fact that a trust got a corner on the viable supply and has it cinched for a number of years to come.

The only way to get along with some people is to get along entirely without them.

As a general proposition each man thinks he holds exclusive rights on the way he is going to destruction.

They also serve who only stand around and wait until the tax bill comes in and then cheerfully pay the same, ignoring the board of adjustment.

A good cook is apt to make things hot for you if you keep the dinner waiting until it gets cold.

Having money would doubtless become very irksome if some one were not constantly trying to get it away from you.

Many men make good use of their time and strength to make money and then spend the rest of their days trying to find some one who has a perfectly good stomach to sell.

People who get rich quick often have to make a quick get-away to save it.

Guaranteed to Cure Lame Back or money refunded!

An excellent remedy for Rheumatism, Lame Back, Etc., Etc.

Read the following testimonial from a man you all know:

Mr. W. A. Singleton Portland, Feb. 8, 1908

Dear Sir,—In the winter of 1905 I was laid up with La Grippe and unable to get relief from several other patent medicines. I was convinced by several of my neighbors to try St. Regis Lumbago Cure, and I can thankfully say it was the first thing that gave me immediate relief. Since that time I have never been without it in my house, and cannot speak too highly of it, especially for children, as it will break up a cold at once. I have also found it a sure cure for lame back.

You are at liberty to use my name for reference if you wish to publish it for the benefit of others. I am yours truly,

C. A. VANKOUGHNET.
If your dealer does not keep this medicine kindly ask him to order same for you as any sized order will be filled promptly.

BROCKVILLE

ON SATURDAY OF THIS WEEK the store known as the "Semi Ready," owned by Koenig & Co., will commence a clearing sale that will empty the store of all Semi Ready and Fashion Craft Clothing.

EVERY DOLLAR'S WORTH MUST BE SOLD IN TWO WEEKS TIME

Fashion Craft—the best Clothes Canada has yet seen—will be sold at so low a price that any one may know what it is to have the World's Best Cloth made up by the World's Best Tailors. THIS STORE WILL BE CLOSED ALL DAY FRIDAY. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that each and every Fashion Craft suit or pants has a price label in the pocket of the coat so that any one may know the regular price of the garment and be convinced of the great saving during these two weeks. What you read here regarding this great event is intended to serve only as a hint only as to what is doing in Brockville's most popular clothing store, it being absolutely impossible in so small a space to describe or even mention all the lines. The truth is there is not a suit or article in the line of men's clothes but is to be sold at one-third or one-half off regular price.

L. A. Hopes, Wilmer, Montana. My hair and whiskers restored to natural color, dark brown, by using Canadian Hair Restorer.

M. Orum, Burgessville, Ont. Canadian Hair Restorer is the best I have ever used.

John G. Hall, New Aberdeen, Cape Breton. Canadian Hair Restorer has worked wonders. My hair is nearly all covered with thick growth black hair, original color.

Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists. Mailed to any address in the civilized world on receipt of price, 50c. Manufactured by THE MERVIN CO., Windsor, Ont., Canada.

For Sale in Athens by J. P. Lamb & Son, Druggists.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and he proves it by his little pink tablet. The tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain spots. Its effects are charming, pleasantly delightful. Though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same thing. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Brush your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of James Jarvis, who died in Philadelphia May 9, 1908.

Another dear one is taken From sorrow here below, It makes us feel forsaken To see our loved ones go.

Just twenty-three years had passed Of his fair life on earth, Oh, what a gloom is cast, Caused by his sudden death.

His feet on earth will move no more His hands are now at rest, His sufferings now on earth are o'er And he is laid to rest.

Then why, Oh, loved ones should you weep, Though lonely be your home, Cannot your heavenly Father keep Your dear one till you come?

Though very sad may be your hearts, Your drooping spirits rise, You yet shall meet where none shall part If we are prepared to die.

Then, dear friends, God doeth well, From whom afflictions come, Go now to him, your troubles tell, And say Thy will be done.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON XI—JUNE 14, 1908.

COMMENTARY.—1. The miraculous draught of fishes (v. 1-11). While the disciples were waiting in Galilee, seven of them decided to go down to the sea and take up their old business, which now for two years had been laid aside. The seven were Peter, Thomas, Nathanael, James, John and two others. They probably needed to do something for their support, and so when Peter said he was going fishing the others immediately fell in with the idea and went with him. Although during the night was the best time to fish, yet that night they caught nothing. There were plenty of fish in the lake and under ordinary circumstances they would have caught them; but our Lord evidently performed a miracle to keep the fish out of the net until the proper time, when, by performing another miracle, he could fill the net and thus make a strong impression upon them. In the early morning Jesus appeared on the shore, but they did not recognize him. He called to them, asked them if they had any meat, and told them where to cast their net in order to find it. They cast, therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes. John at once said, "It is the Lord." As soon as he heard this, Peter put on his outer coat, "for he was naked" (naked may mean nothing more than being destitute of an upper garment, or it may mean stripped to his waistcoat), and waded or swam ashore, as they were only two hundred cubits (one hundred yards) from land.

II. Christ's charge to Peter (v. 12-17). 12. Come and dine—Jesus now provided a morning meal for the disciples, probably in a miraculous manner; but they were invited to bring of the fish which they had just caught, and thus was the fruit of their labor joined to that which Christ had provided for them. 13. Give them—It is not said here that Jesus ate as in Luke 24:43. 14. Third time—While this was Christ's seventh appearance, it was only the third time he had appeared to the disciples in a body. 15. When they had dined together, Jesus asked them three times if they loved him. The first time he asked them if they loved him as he loved them. The second time he asked them if they loved him more than the world, the flesh, and the devil. The third time he asked them if they loved him as he loved them. Each time he asked them a question which was more than the last. The first question was a question of friendship, the second a question of love, and the third a question of devotion. The first question was answered by Peter with a simple "Yes." The second question was answered by Peter with a more fervent "Yes." The third question was answered by Peter with a declaration of his love for Christ.

16. Christ's charge to Peter (v. 17-18). 17. Feed my sheep—This was the first time that Christ gave Peter a charge. The charge was to feed his sheep. The sheep were the disciples who were scattered in all directions. Peter was to be the shepherd of the church. 18. Feed my sheep—This was the second time that Christ gave Peter a charge. The charge was to feed his sheep. The sheep were the disciples who were scattered in all directions. Peter was to be the shepherd of the church.

19. Christ's charge to Peter (v. 19-20). 19. Feed my sheep—This was the third time that Christ gave Peter a charge. The charge was to feed his sheep. The sheep were the disciples who were scattered in all directions. Peter was to be the shepherd of the church. 20. Feed my sheep—This was the fourth time that Christ gave Peter a charge. The charge was to feed his sheep. The sheep were the disciples who were scattered in all directions. Peter was to be the shepherd of the church.

21. Christ's charge to Peter (v. 21-22). 21. Feed my sheep—This was the fifth time that Christ gave Peter a charge. The charge was to feed his sheep. The sheep were the disciples who were scattered in all directions. Peter was to be the shepherd of the church. 22. Feed my sheep—This was the sixth time that Christ gave Peter a charge. The charge was to feed his sheep. The sheep were the disciples who were scattered in all directions. Peter was to be the shepherd of the church.

23. Christ's charge to Peter (v. 23-24). 23. Feed my sheep—This was the seventh time that Christ gave Peter a charge. The charge was to feed his sheep. The sheep were the disciples who were scattered in all directions. Peter was to be the shepherd of the church. 24. Feed my sheep—This was the eighth time that Christ gave Peter a charge. The charge was to feed his sheep. The sheep were the disciples who were scattered in all directions. Peter was to be the shepherd of the church.

for Christ, that he begged to be crucified with his head downwards, not thinking himself worthy to die in the same posture in which his Lord did." 19. Glorify God—The good man glorifies God in his death as well as in his life (Psa. 116, 17; Phil. 1, 20). In an especial manner did the death of the martyrs glorify God; for they gave their lives in defence of the truth. Follow me—Peter evidently understood the words literally and started to follow Jesus, as in "turning about" he saw John; but no doubt the command should be understood in a figurative sense. Peter was asked to follow Jesus during his whole future earthly life even through suffering and death; and this the apostle did without swerving. 20. Seest thou the disciple that is like unto thee?—That is, Peter turned about and saw John. The author of this gospel, following John, also leaned, etc.—See John 13, 21-25. 21. What shall this man do?—And this man, what?—R. V., margin. "What is to become of him? Must he partake of like sufferings, and testify his love by dying for Thee?" 22. That he tarry till I come—There is great difference of opinion as to Christ's meaning. By the words "till I come," did Jesus mean His second coming, and that John was never to die; or His coming to destroy Jerusalem; or did He mean that John was to remain at that place until He and Peter returned from a private interview? John lived for many years after the destruction of Jerusalem, and was the only one of the apostles who did not die a violent death. The disciples themselves understood that Jesus meant that John should not die (v. 23). "Who can say when or how he died? St. John himself, at the time of writing this gospel, seems not to have known clearly whether he should die or not" (Benson); but he stated what Jesus had said, and if he understood he did not think it proper to explain. John Wesley thinks John did not see death, but was translated.

PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS. 1. Restoration.—"Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou more than these?" (v. 15). The gentleness of the rebuke in this public restoration of Peter was like our Lord. By "a fire of coal" (John 21, 9) Peter denied his Lord (John 18, 18) with a threefold lie (Matt. 26, 75). In the presence of a miraculous draught of fishes (John 21, 11) was he first called (Luke 5, 10, 11). In his first question the Lord used the word agapao, expressing reverential love, putting Peter in the place of a disciple. Peter responded with phileo, a word denoting warm, personal devotion. The same distinction is in the second question. The third time the Lord adopted Peter's own utterance. Peter, although grieved was positive in his statement.

11. Refreshment.—"When they had dined" (v. 15). God never says to a hungry Christian, "Feed My sheep." He first satisfies, then sends. The promise is, "I will bless thee, and thou shalt be a blessing" (Gen. 22, 2). 12. Regard.—"Predominant, 'Lovest thou Me?'" (v. 15). "Love is the 'great-est'" (1 Cor. 13, 13). Love brought Jesus from heaven to die for us, love impels us to serve and suffer for him.

13. Personal.—"Lovest thou Me?" To love Jesus is to love to think about Him, hear about Him, read about Him, talk to Him, please Him, know His friends, mourn over any sin, guard against its repetition, let no sin or sorrow keep us from Him, and cling to Him for what He is, not for what we can get from Him. 14. Proved.—"Lovest thou Me more than these?" "I love thee." When Peter loved he said "Although all shall be offended, yet will not I" (Mark 14, 29). When he loved much he had no comparison to make. Those who love most never boast. Peter's love was by putting himself above them; by sympathizing with them, not by superiority over them (1 Peter 5, 2-4). Not to outrank but to outlove should be our ambition.

15. Positive.—"Lord thou knowest" (vs. 15-17). A loving heart is its own best witness. After McNeely's death, a note was found unopened, sent while he lay ill. It read: "Pardon a stranger for addressing you. I heard you preach last evening, and it pleased God to bless that sermon to my soul. Not so much what you said, as your manner of speaking struck me. I say in you a beauty in holiness that I never saw before. You also said something in your prayer that struck me. It was, 'Thou knowest that we love thee.' O sir, what would I give that I could say to my blessed Lord, 'Thou knowest that I love thee!'"

16. Practical.—"Feed my lambs" (v. 15). With Bible stories, Bible precepts, Bible promises. Teach them the love of the good shepherd, the beauty of green pastures, the security of the fold, the happiness of the flock. Teaching them the good will fortify them against the evil. Adapt the truth to their capacity. "I like to go to Aunt Rachel's best," a little girl said; "she keeps the cookies on the lowest shelf. Aunt Josie puts hers up high." Feeding the lambs is lowly, careful, continuous, choice, laborious work, but it pays above and beyond any other. "Feed my lambs." Christ "commits what he loves to the care of those who love him. To feed his lambs, because they are his; is a proof of love, brings an inflow of more love, than an outflow of greater love. "Feed my lambs." The little innocent, wandering, playful, weak ones. Xavier, the great missionary, overcome with his labor, lay down one day in his tent, sleep. "Do not call me," he said, "unless a little child passes by." The opportunity to speak to a little child was not to be lightly regarded. "Tend my sheep" (v. 16, R. V.). Visit the sick, care for the poor, rescue the wandering, rebuke the willful, comfort the afflicted, pray with the dying. Shepherd my sheep. Guard, guide, go out after, give your life for them. "Feed my sheep" (v. 17). A lost traveller perishing in the desert saw a small bag lying on the sand. Slipping from his camel, he seized it eagerly and tore it open, hoping to find dates or water. "God pity me!" he cried; "it is only pearls!" When famishing souls come into the church what do they find? Pearls or bread? A friend reproached Judson for speaking only of Christ to an American audience, saying, "They wanted something new from a man who has just come from the Antipodes," said Judson, "I am glad that a man from the Antipodes had nothing better to tell them than the story of the dying love of Christ. How could I furnish food for vain curiosity, tickle their fancy with amusing stories, however strung together on a thread of religion; how could I hereafter meet the fearful charge: 'I

HEADACHE, WEAKNESS, HEART TROUBLE. "I Suffered With for Years—Pe-ru-na Cured Me Entirely."

Miss Albina Chauvin, No. 50 Rue Agnes, St. Henri, Montreal, Can., writes: "I consider Peruna better than any other remedy, as it cured me when nothing else could. I suffered for years and years with heart trouble, headache and weakness. I never expected to find anything to cure me. I saw one day, in 'La Presse,' that Peruna was excellent and I tried it. One bottle produced a change in me and if the price had been $100 a bottle I would have paid it gladly. I have taken six bottles and am entirely cured. Please accept my thanks and best wishes for your Peruna."

"Please Accept My Thanks and Best Wishes For Your PE-RU-NA." ALBINA CHAUVIN

Many cases of heart trouble are caused by reflex disturbances. Derangements of the stomach and liver produce symptoms of heart trouble. Catarrh of the stomach is a very frequent cause of sympathetic heart disease. Palpitation, shortness of breath and bloating after meals are the most prominent symptoms. Such a condition of the stomach is also liable to produce headaches of the worst sort. Medicines that palliate the symptoms will never lead to a cure. It is the effect which Peruna has upon the stomach, healing the mucous membranes and restoring the natural function of the stomach, that causes Peruna to bring such prompt relief.

gave you one opportunity to tell of me, and you spent it in describing your own adventures!" 2. Personal.—"Lovest thou Me?" To love Jesus is to love to think about Him, hear about Him, read about Him, talk to Him, please Him, know His friends, mourn over any sin, guard against its repetition, let no sin or sorrow keep us from Him, and cling to Him for what He is, not for what we can get from Him. 3. Proved.—"Lovest thou Me more than these?" "I love thee." When Peter loved he said "Although all shall be offended, yet will not I" (Mark 14, 29). When he loved much he had no comparison to make. Those who love most never boast. Peter's love was by putting himself above them; by sympathizing with them, not by superiority over them (1 Peter 5, 2-4). St. Lawrence sugars are quoted as follows: granulated, $4.50 in barrels, and No. 1 gold-ene, $4.50 in barrels. These prices are for delivery; car lots 5¢ less.

OTHER MARKETS. WINNIPEG WHEAT MARKET. Following are the closing quotations on Winnipeg grain: Wheat—June 10.00 bid, July 10.07 bid, Oct. 8.75 bid. Oats—June 4.34 bid, July 4.4¢ bid. BRITISH CATTLE MARKETS. London—London cables for cattle are steady at 12 to 14¢ per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 14¢. THE CHEESE MARKETS. Winchester—To-day, 483 white and 128 colored west registers, nearly all sold on board at 11 1/2¢; six buyers present. Alexandria—To-day, 1,671 were offered; all sold at 11¢. Russell—To-day, 300 white and 110 colored cheese offered; all sold on board at 11 1/2¢. A resolution was passed, that no cheese be boarded on the board under one week old. Valparaiso—To-day, 1,200 boxes cheese boarded and sold on board here to-day. Price offered was 11¢, and at this price all sold. Macos—To-day 315 boxes white cheese offered; 400 sold at 11¢; balance unsold. Pictou—To-day 30 assortments boarded 1,200 boxes, all colored; 11¢ bid; 1,700 sold; buyers, Millett, Morgan, Benson, Szemiska and Miller. Kingston—The weather is favorable to cheese making and at this time to-day, there were 5/6 boxes registered, 627 white and 279 colored. The sales were 415 at 10 1/2¢. Brockville—To-day 3,144 boxes registered, 2,068 colored, balance white; 11 1/2¢ offered; 2,000 boxes sold at this price on board. BRADSTREET'S TRADE REVIEW. Montreal—General business conditions show little change from those of a week ago. Retail trade in all directions has brightened up considerably owing to the warm weather, but the effect upon wholesale business is not very marked. Fall prospects have considerably improved and fair orders are being booked. Summer lines of dry goods are moving well. Sorting orders are likely to be good, as retailers' stocks are light. The demand for groceries is fairly good. Sugars are steady and mostly lines of canned goods hold firm. Most lines of hardware are meeting with a good enquiry. Cotton operatives are on strike against wage reduction, but with orders light and a good stock on hand the manufacturers are in a good position to hold out. Toronto—Further favorable crop news from the West and most parts of Ontario are having their due effect upon general trade here. Splendid weather has also helped current business both in a retail and wholesale way, although in the latter case orders are still on the light side. Retailers have been placing light orders all along and should present conditions continue an active sorting trade should make itself felt. In the meantime business is light and may be expected to continue more or less so until harvest. Men's summer goods are moving well, but the clothing trade is still dull. Prospects for fall goods in general lines are bright. Prices are tending easier. Cottons are held fairly, but further reductions in the United States are not helping the market. The trading trade keeps up well. Winnipeg—The volume of business moving continues to show improvement. Summer and fall supplies are being ordered more briskly and a gradual resumption of trade activity is looked forward to. Crop reports are excellent, the grain being from 4 to 10 inches above the ground, and growing well. Vancouver and Victoria—Business along the coast is fairly steady. The wholesale trade is rather more active owing to the opening of lumber camps. There is already a big movement towards Prince Rupert, the new terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific now under construction, although the town will not be opened by the railroad for some time yet. Quebec—Out-of-town orders, while not large, are keeping the wholesale trade fairly busy. Hamilton—Retail and wholesale trade continues to show improvement. There. Orders for fall lines are good and collections are coming in fairly well. Country trade is moderate. Produce is coming forward freely and prices are about steady. London—There is a good tone to general business there. Favorable crop reports are having a good effect upon general trade and retail stocks of seasonal lines are moving more freely. Ottawa—Trade is fairly steady, although not yet of heavy volume.

STEEL CHEAPER. Mills Reduce Price of Bars and Other Reductions Expected.

Pittsburg, June 8.—Following closely the action of the steel bar mills in reducing prices of finished iron and steel, local makers of iron bars, including the Republic Iron & Steel Co., Lockhart Iron & Steel Co., Burns-Miller Co., and other mills have reduced prices of iron bars for Hillsburg, West Virginia, northern and eastern Ohio and western New York, to the basis of 1.40, Pittsburg, plus the freight. Now that a start has been made in reducing prices on finished iron and steel, it is generally conceded that structural material, plates, black and galvanized sheets, and possibly tin plate will be reduced in price between now and July 1st.

TWO DROWNED.

Montana Railroads Washed Out—Battle in Darkness. Butte, Mont., June 8.—Train service in Montana is in a state of demoralization on account of the floods. The Northern Pacific and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul west from Deer Lodge are under water or washed out. The Missouri River rose steadily last night as the result of heavy rains yesterday. Butte last night was in darkness as the result of the bursting of White's dam below the city, flooding the power plant. Two lives were lost in Northern Montana yesterday, a rancher and his wife drowning in the high water in a coulee.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

A LEAGUE FORMED IN ENGLAND TO COMBAT IT. The Object is to Prevent the Spirit of Sex Antagonism Aroused—Promoters Say Woman's Place is at Home. London, June 8.—Prominent opponents of woman suffrage have formed the "National Woman's Anti-Suffrage Association" to combat the Suffragettes' campaign. A circular will be issued to-morrow setting forth the principles and objects of the association. It will have numerous signatories, including the Marchioness of Tweedale, the Countess of Jersey, Mrs. Humphry Ward, Lord Dunraven and Lord Rothchild. The promoters say they wish to combat the spirit of sex antagonism which the woman suffrage propaganda is arousing, and they want the fact recognized that men and women are not antagonistic, but complementary. They believe that woman's sphere is the home, and, while granting that woman's work in municipal and local bodies has been valuable and should be continued, they protest against bestowing the Parliamentary franchise upon them. They contend that the effectiveness of woman's legislative power could not exceed the limits of the moral force exercised by their influence on men. This influence is immense without vote, and it would naturally be lessened proportionately as attempted to become the competitors and rulers of men.

SAVES SON.

But Receives Fatal Blow Struck by Her Husband. New York, June 8.—Receiving a knife thrust that was intended for her son, Mrs. Caroline Campbell, wife of Cornelius Campbell, a bricklayer, was tonight stabbed to death at their home here. Campbell, it is said, quarreled with his son George, when the latter chided him for making no apparent effort to obtain work, and with a butcher knife inflicted a gash several inches long in the young man's forearm. When the knife was raised for the second time Mrs. Campbell rushed in between the combatants and received the full force of the blow, the knife penetrating the breast, causing almost instant death. The elder Campbell was arrested.

FOUGHT FIRE WITH MILK.

Woodstock dispatch: The fine brick residence of Reeve Wm. Pullen, of West Oxford township, at Folders Corners, was badly damaged by fire early this morning. Fire caught from an oil stove in the kitchen and spread very rapidly. Neighbors and men from the cheese factory nearby came quickly, and the flames were energetically fought by a bucket brigade, using water, milk, and whey as materials. The whole interior of the house was burned out and most of the furniture was destroyed, but the services of the volunteer brigade prevented its total destruction. The loss will be partially covered by insurance.

MURDERED HIS STEPSON.

Saskatchewan Farmer Convicted and Sentenced to Death. Prince Albert, Sask., June 8.—R. R. Barrett was found guilty of murdering his stepson on his farm near Egg Lake, and was to-day sentenced by Judge Johnston to be hanged on July 17. The crime took place last October.

THE USURPER

"Jack! my brother! my brother!" That word was the cause of the terrible confusion which brought so much trouble in the near aftertime. Holding up his hand for silence, Lorrmore raised her head.

"Your brother?" he said. "Where is he?" She motioned faintly toward the door. "You mean that you left him there?" said Lord Lorrmore.

"Yes," she breathed with painful eagerness and anxiety. "Take me to him! Bring him to me!" Lorrmore beckoned two of the men, who stood looking on in respectful silence.

"Go back and search," he said. "We will wait here." A pressure of the weak little hand thanked him, as she dropped back exhausted by the few words she had spoken.

The two men went back and commenced their search. They had no difficulty in tracking their way through the bent and crushed undergrowth to the spot where Sylvia and Neville had been surprised and attacked, and there, lying dead, they found the man Neville had shot. He was a young fellow of about Neville's age, and not unlike him. Indeed, all diggers, given similarity of age, are somewhat alike in appearance. While he had been examining the bag he had put on Neville's pea-jacket. It was stained by lust and clay, and the two vigilants at once recognized it as a genuine digger's jacket. They looked no farther, though poor Neville at that very moment lay hidden in the thick bush but a few yards from them.

"This is him," said one of the men; "this is her brother, poor devil." "And dead as a herring, poor devil," said the other. "I'm sorry for that poor girl! Let's take the coat; she'll know if it's his or not, and that'll settle the matter."

They hurried back to where Lorrmore and the litter were waiting. Thinking Sylvia still unconscious, one of the men held up the coat. "We've found him, sir," he said. "Dead! Here's his coat."

Lorrmore put up his hand to stop him, but it was too late. Sylvia had heard him say the words, and recognized the coat. A shudder shook her, and a faint cry arose from her white lips, then the hand became still as death in Lorrmore's.

"By heaven!" he said. "You've killed her!"

CHAPTER XIV.

Sylvia was not dead, but the hand of death hovered so near that Lord Lorrmore could scarcely tell whether she lived or not.

They placed her gently in the cart the captain had sent to meet them, and Lorrmore rode with her, supporting her head upon his knee.

In the excitement caused by the news of the encounter with the rangers her arrival at the camp was scarcely noticed. Fortunately the doctor was a married man, and she was carried directly to his tent, where she received every attention.

"It's a state of collapse," he said. "Prolonged terror, followed by the shock caused by her news of her brother's death, has simply stunned her. Poor girl! Oh, yes, she'll recover; but she will want careful nursing, and she shall have it."

"He was as good as a dead man, and his wife a warm-hearted American, devoted herself to the stricken girl as if she had been her daughter."

Lorrmore haunted the tent. In his anxiety for Sylvia he almost forgot his mission, and when it did flash across him that hunting rangers and rescuing damsels in distress was hardly searching for Neville Lynne, he consoled himself with the reflection that when Sylvia recovered he could ask her if such a man as he was looking for was in Lorn Hope Camp.

On the second day he learned from the doctor that Sylvia's condition had improved. She was not yet, however, fully conscious; her mind was only clear at intervals, and would wander off into shadowland as if to come back to real life.

"She thinks of nothing but her brother," said Mrs. Langley, the doctor's wife. "It's pitiable to hear the poor girl call upon his name, and in a voice that brings the tears to your eyes. They must have been fond of each other."

and happy girl who had walked so happily through the woods with him but seven days ago.

She held out her hand—it was white now, alas! instead of brown, and looked woefully thin and long—and he took it and sat down beside her.

"I am glad to see you are better," he said, scarcely knowing what tone to adopt, for though she looked so young, her sorrow had given her an expression which was almost that of a mature woman.

"You have been very ill, I am afraid." "Yes," she said, emphatically, "I suppose I have."

"But you are better now, and will soon get strong," he said, with the awkwardness a man always displays on such occasions.

Sylvia had learned of the part played by Lorrmore in her rescue, and she gratefully thanked him for his inestimable service on her behalf. She then patiently told her own story in a way that deeply affected the young nobleman, and her constant reference to "dear Jack" brought a mist of moisture to her eyes.

He asked her if she wished to return to Lorn Hope Camp, but she promptly declined, saying that she could not endure existence in a place which constantly reminded her of her faithful Jack.

Lorrmore never for a moment dreamed that she was lamenting the death of the very man of whom he was in quest. It was agreed, after a conversation with Dr. Langley, that as the young nobleman was determined to aid Sylvia in every way in his power, it would be best to remove her from the scenes where she had experienced so much misfortune.

In the doctor's family was a sweet-faced young woman, pale, sad and reserved, whom he had brought with him from England as companion and attendant to Mrs. Langley. This young woman, Mercy Fairfax, had served as nurse to Sylvia during the first days of her illness, and no one could have been more kind and attentive to a place which she had won the highest esteem of Sylvia.

The subject of Sylvia's removal to other scenes was suggested to the latter, and she was in no way averse to the prospect.

Lorrmore, too, was eager to get away and pursue his search in other quarters, for he had been informed by Sylvia that her beloved Jack was the only refined gentleman in Lorn Hope Camp, all the others, in her estimation, being rude, and therefore undesirable acquaintances.

If this were true, reasoned Lorrmore, and he had no reason to doubt her statement, it would be useless for him to visit Lorn Hope, with the expectation of finding Neville Lynne. Therefore, it would be a waste of time for Lorrmore on with their work as if nothing.

The matter of an early fitting was lengthily discussed by the nobleman and the bereaved girl, and the former eloquently pointed out the advantages of a change of scene.

While the two were thus engaged the doctor and his wife came in, and Lorrmore turned to greet them.

"Miss Sylvia and I have just been coming to a decision as to her future. How soon do you think we can start, doctor?"

Mrs. Langley stooped and kissed Sylvia. "My dear, I shall miss you very much," she whispered. "But it is better for you to go."

"In a day or two," replied the doctor. "I shall want some one, some woman, to accompany her," said Lorrmore, walking toward the door of the tent with the doctor.

"I've thought of that, and will find some one. What you want is a steady, sober person—neither too old or too young—who will not only be a watchdog but a companion for her."

"Exactly," said Lorrmore. "But I'm afraid you'll discover it rather difficult to find such a person in a digger's camp."

have learned nothing about her. But this I can say, he went on earnestly, "that I believe few better women exist. He was patient and kindness and devotion themselves in the hospital, and since she has been with us our respect for her has increased daily. My wife will give her the best of characters. You are content to let the past history remain a blank, and will take her on our credentials, our experience of her, why, I'll answer for it you will get just the woman you want!"

"While he had been speaking Mercy had withdrawn to a little distance. 'I'll take her,' said Lorrmore. 'Her face and manner impress me favorably. Speak to her, doctor.'

She turned and came toward them as the doctor called her, and stood with downcast eyes and placidly sad face. "Mercy," said the doctor, "Lorrmore and I have been talking about you."

She raised her eyes. "I know it, sir. I heard nearly all you said, until I moved away." "Well, then," said the doctor, "what you answer. Will you go with Sylvia and take care of her? You know we shall be sorry enough to lose you, but—"

Her lips twitched for a moment, then she looked from one to the other. "Yes, I will go," she said, in her subdued voice.

And so another link in the chain of coincidence was forged and clasped!

Two days after the fight with the rangers Lockit and the Scuffer, happening in the morning in the direction of the woods, came upon a man lying full length under a big tree.

"Hallo!" exclaimed Lockit. "One of our fellows has been on a tear. 'One of our fellows' is a way of saying 'my dear wif! If it ain't the young man, I fancy the young man is going on a spree! I thought he looked rather upset and bowled over when he came upon us in the valley and found we'd tapped his secret. And he's been on a drunk, as he added, looking down at the poor figure with an expression half admiring and half envious."

But the Scuffer, whose experience in such cases was both varied and extensive, looked grave and shook his head. "Pears to me," he said, "as above so below, 'pears to me that this ain't no spree at all. By Josh, if the young un ain't dead, he's pretty near it!"

Carefully they conveyed him to his own hut, and the doctor of Lorn Hope Camp attended him. His first examination was determined by Sylvia. Her constant questions were of Sylvia.

He learned of her rescue from Lavarack by a young Englishman, her careful nursing at Wildfall under the ministrations of Dr. Langley and his wife and her heart-rending agony on being informed that her "dear Jack" was dead, for she had been shown the jacket worn by the dead ranger, and even now treasured the contents of the pockets of that garment which had given plausibility to such an appalling bluff.

Yet the news of Sylvia's safety cheered Neville but he was overcome with pain and anxiety when the tidings came to him that, believing him dead, Sylvia had been persuaded to seek recuperation by travel, under the guidance of the young nobleman, who had induced Mercy Fairfax to accompany her as chaperone.

"Alone! my God, I'm all alone!" Neville exclaimed, when the full meaning of Sylvia's departure dawned upon him. "God bless me, I have lost her!" he moaned.

When his strength was well-nigh restored he attempted to banish his sad reflections by work, and again began his search for gold. But he could not labor with his old energy, and his reward was insignificant. Then he wandered here and there that month passed, and then he disappeared from Lorn Hope Camp.

His disappearance caused considerable speculation among the visitors at Macgregor's saloon.

Where had he—a penniless man—gone? CHAPTER XV.

Two years and five months have passed since the memorable day when Audrey Hope and Lord Lorrmore parted. She had promised him to remain single for two years, and during all that time she had not heard from him. Five months had expired, and now she was free-free to bestow her hand on any deserving man whom she could love.

She had many suitors, the most persistent of whom was Sir Jordan Lynne, whose political advancement had been so rapid that now it was popular gossip that he was not unlikely to be selected for the Premiership. In fact, he had aspirations in that direction himself, and already his ambitious eyes, peering into the distant future, saw himself in the chief position in the state, holding the reins of government in his firm grasp, shaping the events of a vast empire.

This ambitious man on a certain evening was sufficiently confidential with Audrey Hope to confide to her his aspirations, thinking that to dispel the indifference with which she had hitherto received his pleadings for that love which was the great longing of his heart. It was at a grand party at the Marlow's mansion in Grosvenor Square. The rest of Sir Jordan had been in the state, holding the reins of government in his firm grasp, shaping the events of a vast empire.

In ardent words, with passionate fervor, he proclaimed his devotion, but she gave no encouragement to him, politely changed the subject of conversation, and had impressed him with the belief that nature had implanted in her breast a heart of marble.

She read it carefully with distressed earnestness, which she strove to conceal from Sir Jordan; then, thinking of the knight-errant whom she had dispatched on an important mission, she mentally said "so much for modern chivalry! And I thought him a most devoted knight—a man to be trusted!"

Had Sir Jordan at that moment renewed his suit it is very probable that he would have been successful; but his repulse about half an hour before had temporarily embittered him against her, and his present object was to wound the woman who, he thought, had been captivated by Lorrmore.

Later in the evening, as Sir Jordan was on the portico of the mansion awaiting the announcement of the arrival of the carriage, a stalwart young man, shabbily dressed, stood near the entrance, among a dozen other wayfarers who had paused there. The vehicle presently drove up and a footman shouted:

"Sir Jordan Lynne's carriage!" The shabbily dressed young man started, looked up and saw the nobleman, with majestic stride, bowing to the right and left as cheers greeted the well-known statesman.

He entered the vehicle and admiringly shouted his cars as he was driven off.

The young man in tattered garb raised his cap from his brow, wiped the moisture from his forehead and an involuntary sigh escaped him.

It was Neville Lynne, half brother to Sir Jordan, recently arrived from Australia—the young un of Lorn Hope Camp.

That night, in his lonely garret room, in one of the less attractive localities of London, Neville Lynne threw himself on an humble couch and dreamed of many things—of his half brother; of Audrey Hope, of Sylvia Bond, and of Lorn Hope Camp.

It was the evening later, when, desiring to visit the village of Lynne, he set out for the home of his youth and walked the entire distance, his purse being scant. He merely wished to behold once more the scenes of his happy boyhood days. In his search he was not desirous to be recognized, and he had no desire to be recognized in his present tattered habiliments.

Keeping in the outskirts of the village until dusk, he then strolled on until he arrived at the village of Lynne, and Park. Bounding over with the agility of a trained athlete, he advanced until he was close to the house. He thought of the days long past, of his father and of Audrey Hope.

He was a deep reflection when suddenly he found both his elbows grasped from behind.

With a sudden twist of his leg he entangled the lower limbs of his assailant and in a moment the latter found himself being jerked and astounded.

Presently the man arose, gazed in wonder for a moment at his young adversary and then exclaimed: "Why, good heaven! may I be jiggered if it isn't the young man of Lorn Hope!"

The speaker was Neville's old friend, Inspector Trale, who, from a rear view had mistaken the young man for Jim Banks, a disreputable character, of whom he had for a long time been on the watch.

A hurried explanation of the dog in the park followed, and the mention of this personage revived some recollections of Neville concerning him.

"Jim Banks?" said the young man; "I certainly recall that name."

"Oh, yes; you must have known him," said Trale. "He lived with his daughter in a little cottage on the Stoneleigh road. He was a tough customer, a regular bad un."

"I think I remember something of her. What became of the girl?" (To be continued.)

Right handedness and right eyedness came with genus homo. Dr. George M. Gould has watched for them in squirrels that use their front paws to hold nuts, cats that strike at insects in the air or prey with wounded mice, and in many other animals, but he is certain no preference is given to the right side over the left.

INDICATION CAN BE CURED.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Succeed After Other Remedies Fail.

There are twenty drugs to help your digestion for a time, but there is only one medicine that can positively cure your indigestion for good. To any one with indigestion a half dozen boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are worth all the purgatives and mixtures in the drug country. After all these things have failed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured the worst cases of indigestion by going straight to the root of the trouble in the blood.

You can take a purgative to tear through your bowels and make a clean sweep of your food, whether it is digested or not. You can take stomach bitters to create a false appetite—if you don't care what happens after you swallow your meal. You can drug your stomach with tablets and syrups to digest your food for you—if you don't care how soon you ruin your system altogether. You can do all these things—but don't call it "curing your indigestion." There is only one way to cure indigestion, and that is to give your system so much good, pure, red blood that your stomach and liver will have strength enough to do their natural work in a healthy and vigorous way.

This is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure indigestion—they actually make new blood. Here is the proof. Mr. R. M. Corbett, St. Thomas, Ont., says: "About a year ago my system became generally wrecked. My stomach was always in a state of nausea. The sight of any kind of food often turned my stomach, and I would arise from the table without eating. Doctors advised different medicines which I took without benefit. Finally I became so run down that I had to build myself up with the aid of doctors, but as time went on and my condition did not improve I became much discouraged. Then a friend told me he thought Dr. Williams' Pink Pills would help me, and I began their use. In three weeks time I was so improved that I went back to my work, but I continued using the pills until I had taken twelve boxes, and now my stomach is strong, and I am ready for a good meal three times a day, and life now really seems worth living."

It is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, red blood, that they cure such common ailments as anaemia, with all its headaches and backaches, rheumatism, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, partial paralysis and the secret ailments from which women and young girls suffer so much. You can get the pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at $2.00 per box, or six boxes for $12.00 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SHOPPING IN HALIFAX. All the Stores There Give You 10 Per Cent. Off on Everything You Buy.

The shopper in New York takes it for granted that she will not buy at even figures; she pays 98 cents, or $1.43 or $3.87, whatever it may be, and is content so long as she is certain she has made a bargain. So it is a shock to her when she goes to some place where a different system of pricing goods and of offering bargains obtains.

"I got my greatest shock in Halifax, N. S.," said a New York woman. "They're the queerest people up there. It's a queer old city anyway. It looks as if it were built in very ancient times; reminded me of an old English garrison town. At every step you took you met a soldier."

"A beautiful old place, though, built on a steep hillside that lovely harbor. But it was telling about the shops."

"You see, I'd been told that it was a good place to buy things much cheaper than in New York, so when my husband and I landed there for a three days' stay I made up my mind I'd do some shopping."

"Well, the shops were lovely—lots of room, attentive salespersons and all that. The first thing I got was marked $3, and I thought it was a bargain and said I'd take it. I counted my change and found I'd got $2.30 back for my $5 bill."

"Guess you've made a mistake," I said to the young woman who waited on me. "You've given me thirty cents too much," and I handed back the 30 cents.

"Oh, no, that's all right," she told me. "Ten per cent. off, you know, special discount on the class of goods I'd bought and went on to another shop."

"The same thing happened again. I began to wonder, then, thinking it odd that I'd struck two 10 per cent. discounts in one morning's shopping."

"At the third store—shop, I mean, I nearly forgot myself and said store—you mustn't do that in an English town—I picked out something I wanted for $10. I hesitated a moment over the price and the young woman said: 'Of course, with the discount off it's only $9.'"

"Mercy me!" I said. "What do you mean by your discount? If you only want $9, why don't you mark it that?" "You're a stranger here," she said. "Why, we always give 10 per cent. discount on everything."

"All the shops?" I asked. "All of them," she said. "But what good does that do?" I burst out. "Why not mark all goods right in the first place?" "The people expect 10 per cent. off."

was her answer, and I couldn't get any more out of her.

"Why the people like it I'm sure—I don't know, for it means shopping to a dead level. Takes all the fun and excitement out of it. Why on earth don't they vady their eternal 10 per cent. off and make it 8 1/2 or 9 1/2 once in a while and give the shopper a run for her money?"

"Still, if you could see the women dress in Halifax, you'd understand. They all dress alike; that is, they're all dowdy. They don't care how their clothes fit, so I suppose they don't care how they buy them."

And the New York woman passed on in a hurry to get to So and So's department store before all the hats for $9.70 had been grabbed up.—New York Sun.

INDIAN PRINCE VISITS LONDON. The Maharajah of Nepal Travels in Regal State.

Nepal, which covers an area of about 54,000 square miles, and has a population of over 4,000,000, is somewhat bigger than England, and is a very interesting little country if only from the fact that it is from there the Gorkhas come. The de facto maharajah, Sir Chandra Shamsah Jang, Rana Bahadur, was born in 1863 and educated at Calcutta University. He is an honorary major-general in the British army, honorary colonel of the Fourth Gorkha Rifles, became Prime Minister in 1895, succeeded to the supreme government of the country in 1905. He has translated several military books into Nepalese.

London, May 30.—A picturesque Indian visitor is now in London. This is his highness Sir Chandra Shamsah Jang, Rana Bahadur, Prime Minister of Nepal. He travelled in regal splendor, with a suite numbering twenty-two persons and with twenty servants.

The maharajah and his suite brought an extraordinary amount of baggage, consisting of hundreds of packages, including the case containing his highness' famous regalia of jewels.

These jewels are said to be worth nearly $500,000, one headpiece alone being valued at $250,000. It is a magnificent ornament. The front is composed of a glittering mass of diamonds, while a border of pure emeralds hangs over the wearer's forehead.

Extraordinary precautions were taken to guard this valuable luggage on its way to London, and special detectives were on duty at Dover and Victoria. The question of catering for the maharajah and his suite is one of no little difficulty. Special sheep, bred in Nepal, were brought to England, as this is the only kind of mutton the party is allowed to eat. Many other provisions were also being brought from India.

The retinue includes a large staff of cooks, as all the food has to be specially prepared.

The maharajah comes to England as the guest of the British Government, and Mortimer House, near Belgrave Square, is the residence of Lord Penryn, has been taken for his use. Although the house has been gorgeously redecorated and fitted throughout, it forms a striking contrast to his palace at Kathmandu, a building nearly as large as the whole block of government buildings from the treasury down to the corner by the Houses of Parliament.

The maharajah, who is an exceedingly shrewd and alert man, is 43 years old. He is an energetic ruler, and is frequently at work from 4.30 in the morning until late at night supervising the various matters connected with the administration of his country and his army. He is a splendid shot, and a keen big-game hunter.

His highness will probably remain in London for about eight weeks. He has already been received by the King, and almost all the royal honors are being paid him.

Chemist Creates Plants. Artificial plants, as well as artificial seaweed developed from artificial cells, have been developed by Prof. Leduc of the College of Medicine of Nantes, France.

That said on which these were produced consisted of cane sugar, copper sulphate, and potassium ferricyanide.

To create the artificial plants Prof. Leduc proceeded in this wise: An artificial seed was made of two parts of cane sugar and one part of copper sulphate. This seed, about one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter, was immersed in a solution of potassium ferricyanide, sodium chloride, and gelatin. In a few hours the seed germinated.

The germination can be regulated by the professor, however, according to the temperature he utilizes. He can prolong it over several days if he so wishes.

Leduc's artificial plants would defy many botanists in distinguishing from certain water plants and other representatives of the vegetable kingdom, although they are not living, as are artificial bodies formed in the chemical laboratory.

It is startling to observe how from an artificial seed a small plant or shoot springs up and develops with apparently the same forms of stems, leaves, buds and blossoms as the actual living plant, and all within a few hours' time.

Marvelous as are the results that he has attained, Dr. Leduc has little of the sympathy of other scientific men in his work. While the transmutation of metals and the creation of artificial life was a dream of the alchemist of old, the modern scientist has a strong feeling against converting one element into another or putting life into inert matter.

An outward indication of this is the fact that Prof. Leduc's work has been attacked by Prof. Gaston Bonnier of the Paris University and Academy of Sciences.

Not a Chip of the Old Block. "You want a job, do you, young man?" said the manager of the department store.

"Yes, sir."

"Are you willing to begin at the foot of the ladder?"

"No, sir!" answered the applicant. "That's the way my father began, 25 years ago, and he's still carrying a hod. I want something a little higher up than that."

So the manager, who hadn't encountered that type of boy before, put him in the packing department, on the top floor.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired worn out nerves leave us languid, lifeless, and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced. Sold by all Dealers.

AN APPRECIATION

At the close of the exercises of the Methodist Sabbath School on Sunday last, Mrs (Rev) S. J. Hughes was presented with the following address, accompanied with a pair of gold-bowed glasses and a pearl crescent:—
Mrs. S. J. Hughes,
Dear Friend,—In common with all interested in the work of Methodism in Athens, we, the teachers in the Sabbath School and members of the Adult Bible Class, have viewed with sincere regret the near approach of the time when, in accordance with the church itinerancy, you must leave us; and because it means to us an especial deprivation we desire to express in this way our appreciation of your services and the sense of loss we feel in contemplating your departure.
Your faithful work in the Sabbath School has been a source of strength to the teaching staff and of incalculable good to those who have had the privilege of receiving the benefit of your direct teaching and guidance. In every emergency, that has arisen, teachers and superintendent have felt free to turn to you for counsel and help, and your response has invariably been prompt and practical, evidencing that your whole heart was in the work of establishing in the children right principle for the government of their lives.
In the Adult Bible Class your work as teacher has been such as to attract and hold, Sunday after Sunday, the attention of the large membership. Your breadth of view, your liberality of thought, your faculty of bringing to the surface the best in the members have been salient features of your work. Under the inspiration of your thoughts, Memory, the mother of Wisdom, has brought before the members of the class views and conceptions of divine revelation and of duty to God, formed long ago, and by introspection we have been elevated to a higher plane of thought, a clearer light of reasoning and a more wholesome spiritual atmosphere.
As a memento of your life in this school, we ask you to accept this token of our regard with the assurance that we shall always bear in fond remembrance the thought of your presence here.

Signed on behalf of the S.S.
T. S. Kendrick, Supt.
B. S. Cornell, Secy.

Signed in behalf of the Whatsoever Adult Bible Class.
G. F. Dannelley, Pres.
Dora Klyne, Secy.

Though completely surprised, Mrs. Hughes acknowledged in suitable terms this kind remembrance, assuring the school that she would ever recall with pleasure her connection with the S. S., her class, and the people of the village.

Women's Pains

"I received your sample of Zutoo Tablets, and took them for severe pain (monthly) and headache. At the end of 30 minutes I was entirely free from pain and experienced no more throughout the period. I suffer a great deal at these times and feel grateful that I now have a remedy which affords quick relief. Every woman in the land should know about Zutoo Tablets and what they will do."
MRS. ALLEN WRIGHT, Fulford, Q.
