CHAPTER XVI.

"Pay me only what they are worth!" said Carrie, scornfully. "He will pay me ten times what they are worth. He is so generous he couldn't help it."

"He is such a gentleman he would not pay you any more than a fair value under the circumstances," said Phyllis, quietly.

"How well you understand him," said Carrie.

"The color mounted to the round, fair cheeks, and there was no answer. Presently Carrie had a new idea.

"If he gives only a fair price, and the money is truly and properly mine, to use as I please," she said, "will you share with me just as usual?"

"That is different," said Phyllis, in a troubled tone.

"It is not," said Carrie. "I see how it is, you are not honest, Phyllis, any more. You were trying to make me take the money and use it, because I am only a poor little cripple. If the money isn't good enough for you it isn't good enough for me, and I'll send it right straight back to him, I will so. I didn't think you'd let any man come between us," and Carrie wept.

"Carrie, darling!" said Phyllis, piteously, "you'll make yourself sick. Please don't feel so. Don't use the money if you think best not to. Never mind about it at all."

"If you didn't like him so much you wouldn't be so hard on him," sobbed Carrie, with delightful inconsistency.

"You'll make me cry if you keep on," said Phyllis, her under lip beginning to quiver.

"I know I'm horrid," said Carrie. "My temper's as crooked as my back."

"Oh, Carrie, Carrie, I can't stand it!" said Phyllis, and presently there was a clearing up shower of tears, two pairs of arms, one pair plump and one pair piteously thin, being twined sympathetically around the necks of the girls.

"Now it's all right, isn't it, Phyllis?" said Carrie, cheerfully, after the tears had been duly wiped away.

"Yes, dear."

"And we won't touch his old money, will we?"

"It shall be just as you say, dear."

"But it's your way I want to follow," insisted Carrie.

"Well," said Phyllis, smiling a little sadly, "that is the way I wish it to be. We won't use the money, but we won't hurt him by sending it back."

"Now we've settled that, let's go to work," said Carrie. "There are those dinner cards not half finished. Oh, Phyllis! think of painting dinner cards when we have the famous Sir Lionel for a customer!"

"What a little sunshine you are!" she said.

"Am I? He wasn't to send the money until to-morrow, was he?"

"What does it matter, if we are not to use it?" asked Phyllis, who was putting her work in order, to begin on.

"None, I suppose; but I'd just like to know how much he will send, and then I am curious to learn whether you judged him right about the amount. I'm sure I'd be puzzled between the desire to do something nice and the gentlemanly notion that I mustn't," and Carrie exhibited no little scorn for the gentlemanly notion.

"I don't know how he will do it," said Phyllis. "I suppose it will be difficult; but I am sure he will do what is right."

"I am sure of that, too," said Carrie, dryly.

Fortunately for Carrie's impatience they were not obliged to wait until the next day to learn what Lionel would do about the paintings. A package came to Miss Carrie Braithwait that afternoon, and when the landlady handed it to her she saw by the seal on it that it must have come from him.

The landlady had some curiosity in the matter, too, and remained in the room, talking generally but cheerfully, touching lightly but enthusiastically on the noble gentleman who had called in the morning, and doing everything to intimate that she would not mind it at all if the package were opened in her presence. Carrie, however, curbed her own burning curiosity, and put the package quietly on the bed beside her, and worked while Phyllis answered the landlady.

"Shall I tell the man to wait?" snapped the landlady presently, seeing that she was not to be admitted to the symposium.

"If you please," answered Phyllis. "Lock the door," said Carrie, when the woman was gone. "She's crazy to know what's in the package. And so am I."

Phyllis did not say she was also, but she locked the door with a gentleness that so the landlady's feelings should not be hurt by hearing the click, and then she ran to the bedside where Carrie's nervous fingers were trying to open the package.

"I can't do it, Phyllis, she said, despairingly. "If it was a love-letter I couldn't be more nervous."

Phyllis took the package and made a much better show of composure, but, indeed, she was as much moved as Carrie.

"None, I suppose; but I'd just like to know how much he will send, and then I am curious to learn whether you judged him right about the amount. I'm sure I'd be puzzled between the desire to do something nice and the gentlemanly notion that I mustn't," and Carrie exhibited no little scorn for the gentlemanly notion.

Makes Stubborn Coughs Vanish in a Hurry

Surprisingly Good Cough Syrup Made at Home

If some one in your family has an obstinate cough or a bad throat or chest cold that has been hanging on and refuses to yield to treatment, get from any drug store 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex and make it into 16 ounces of cough syrup, and watch that cough vanish.

Pour the 2 1/2 ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) into a 16-ounce bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 54 cents, and gives you 16 ounces—a family supply—of a most effective remedy, at a saving of $2. A day's use will usually overcome a severe cough. Easily prepared in 10 minutes—full directions with Pinex. Keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste. Children like it.

It's really remarkable how promptly and easily it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and breaks the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. A splendid remedy for bronchitis, winter coughs, bronchial asthma and whooping cough.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in quiniacal, which is so healing to the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," and do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction goes with this preparation of money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Carrie, however, curbed her own burning curiosity, and put the package quietly on the bed beside her, and worked while Phyllis answered the landlady.

Carrie, seeing Phyllis studying it. "No, the Warne seal, I fancy. It isn't the Basingwell crest."

"Don't break the seal, will you, Phyllis?"

Phyllis cut the string around the seal and gave that to Carrie, while she unrolled the package.

"Here's a note to 'Miss Carrie Braithwait, and an unsealed package to the same person," said Phyllis.

"Shall we look in the package first, or read the note first?" asked Carrie.

"I should think the note first," answered Phyllis.

"That's what I should say. Let's read it together. Or shall I read it aloud to you?" asked Carrie, in a fever of excitement.

"There might be something in it you wouldn't wish me to hear," suggested Phyllis.

"Well, I should say!" and Carrie laughed derisively as she opened the envelope. "Um! that's nice paper he uses! Look at his crest, Phyllis. Oh, and he begins, 'Dear Carrie!'"

"Rather familiar," said Phyllis.

"Now, you needn't say a word, Phyllis. I like it. There! he explains it, apologizes for it. Now keep still while I read.

"Dear Carrie.—Excuse me, but I started a letter with dear Miss Carrie, and liked the looks of it so little that I tore it up. In revenge you may call me anything you like, or Miss Honesty will permit."

"You are Miss Honesty," laughed Carrie, looking gayly at Phyllis.

Phyllis only laughed.

"I write to-day," read Carrie, "instead of to-morrow because I must go to Basingwell this evening, and may be occupied there for several days. I have had a great deal of trouble with your pictures, chiefly because of a vivid recollection of a pair of big brown wondering eyes, which seem to be putting a fellow on his honor all the time, and demanding every sacrifice to honesty."

"Has he you on his mind, Phyllis," said Carrie.

"Nonsense!" said Phyllis, soberly.

"I knew," went on the letter, "that I must give no more than the pictures were worth, and I was afraid not to give enough. On the one hand our—you—brown-eyed friend would say, 'He has no right to burden us with his charity,' and on the other hand there was you, with your terrible grasping nature, and I was in dread that you would say, 'The mean, stingy thing!' It was a painful situation."

"I think this is simply splendid," cried Carrie.

Phyllis said nothing at all, but looked very sober—a trifle sad even.

"What was I to do?" read Carrie. "I looked at the pictures and wondered and puzzled over them, trying to put a fair valuation on them, and was about to give it up in despair, when I had a great idea. A really great idea! I am sure even Miss Phyllis will admit it. Please put it to her. I said to myself that my fears had incapacitated me for a fair judgment, and that the only safe plan would be to call in an unprejudiced third person of critical judgment, and let him decide. Oh, don't applaud yet! My brightness was not exhausted yet. Who should the third person be? A wealthy connoisseur? No, for he would appraise them at their artist value, which would be above the market price, and therefore would be repugnant to the strict notions of our—you—brown-eyed friend."

"Does it annoy you," asked Carrie, "to have him refer to you in that way? I am sure he really admires you. I wouldn't read another word if I didn't think so."

"It doesn't annoy me at all," said Phyllis. "I think he misunderstands me."

"Now, I think you misunderstand him, Phyllis. But never mind, as long as it doesn't annoy you."

"Who then," read Carrie, "should I call upon? Who but a dealer in pictures, who, if he made any mistake at all, would make it against the artist. You know that is always the case. Well, I went to a man who has sold me a great many pictures, and told him that I wished him to appraise some pictures, the painter of which he was not to know, lest his judgment should be biased. Wasn't that quite clever of me? He came, his critical nose all ready to take on a skyward turn. He looked at the pictures, and as I am an honest man! he put the value as follows: "One picture of chimney pots 45 Guineas.

"One picture of floating clouds, 40 Guineas.

"Five picture of floating clouds, 200 Guineas.

"Total—435 Guineas.

"I know you will be inclined to look with doubt on this statement; but I give you my word of honor that it is strictly correct."

Carrie dropped the paper, which had been trembling in her hand for some time. She was quite pale.

"Do you believe it?" she said to Phyllis.

"Every word of it," answered Phyllis. "I would have believed it without his word of honor. With it I wouldn't think of doubting."

"But it's a fortune," gasped Carrie.

"Yes, dear," said Phyllis, sadly.

"Oh, I forgot," said Carrie, calmly. "It doesn't matter anyhow. But it's something to have one's pictures appreciated, isn't it?"

"A great deal."

Carrie took the letter up again, trying hard not to show the disappointment that was in her heart. She had already been having visions of the things that could be done with the money.

"I might have sent you a check for the amount, but I fancied you would be better pleased with bank-notes, and I send them in the accompanying package. It may interest you, by the way, to know that these notes are among the last possessions of the famous Sir Lionel. Before he could touch the money of the worthy earl he felt the need of something to live on, and he squeezed a few more pounds out of the money-lender. I thought you would like to know this, for as I shall always think of myself as the famous Sir Lionel when I remember of you, so I would like you to think of me in the same way."

"I do think he's lovely," said Carrie, brushing a tear away.

"I have taken a liberty, I know," the letter went on; "but I ventured to do it, and have sent you a picture of the famous Sir Lionel. If you feel that you cannot accept it as a remembrance of me you may send me a chilling. That is what it cost, for I was obliged to buy it out of a shop."

"You don't mind if I keep the picture, do you, Phyllis?" asked Carrie.

But Phyllis' head was on the counterpane and sobs were shaking her. Carrie put her hand in dismayed silence on the brown head.

"I couldn't help it," said Phyllis, suddenly looking up, and smiling through her tears. "Don't you see the money was Sir Lionel's. There is no reason why you should not keep it, and I will share it with you. Oh, you don't know, Carrie, how thankful I am."

"And so we can go abroad and study," said Carrie.

BELOW THE STANDARD.

How do you feel to-day? Not quite right? Energy a little below standard—not strong enough to make much exertion? Perhaps a slight cough?

Nyala's Cod Liver Compound is what you need. Don't get frightened about those words "Cod Liver." You'd never know it from the taste.

It's a real tonic containing cod liver extract, extract of malt, wild cherry and hypophosphites—a splendid combination.

The cod liver extract builds you up so does the extract of malt. The wild cherry soothes the bronchial tract and the hypophosphites supply phosphorus to the nervous system—just the thing it needs.

And the taste is pleasant. As an all round tonic, strength restorer and body-builder, you'll find nothing better than Nyala's Cod Liver Compound—so why look further? You will be pleased.

The price is one dollar. PETER O'MARA, THE DRUGGIST, 40-43 Water St. West.

Your Boys and Girls.

It is a good idea to teach your children that the toothpick should no more be employed in public than the toothbrush. Do not allow them to use it as they parade through the public halls, sit in drawing rooms or even at the table. If you have neglected this very important item in their education, instruct them from now on to attend to such matters in private and without compulsory witnesses.

If they say that wild dressed men and women commit this offence against decency and good taste, assure them that they were unfortunate in having no well bred parents to teach them better manners, and that they are not to be emulated, but pitted.

 BONAR LAW.
INSURANCE ON THE APPAM.
 LONDON, Feb. 2.
 Property regarding the Appam is being handled by Lloyd's as an unprecedented one. The solution of the dispute depends largely on the attitude of the United States Government.
 It is whether the Appam is to be considered a merchant vessel or a German cruiser. She is considered a merchant vessel by the underwriters, however, and it is believed she will not be abandoned at Lloyd's as having been done in port as would have been done if she had completed her voyage to England. The sinking of her other vessels by the Germans is probably will amount to about one million five hundred thousand dollars.
POSTER RELATES CAPTAIN HARRISON'S STORY.
 NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Feb. 2.
 Mr. Foster, who brought the Appam into Hampton Roads, told the story of the capture of the Appam as related to him by Capt. Harrison.
 This is Capt. Harrison's story:
 "It was a bright, clear day when we were captured. We were moving along at a fair rate of speed when suddenly at the distance, I saw what appeared to be an ordinary tramp steamer. Gradually she came closer, she did not fear her, and continued ahead with no attempt to stop.
 "I was making preparations to combat her, as we certainly expected no good. Suddenly the tramp fired a shot from a small gun across our bows. Immediately we hove to. As I sat on a false forecastle, apparently the shot fell away and revealed a battery of guns. It was immediately apparent that resistance was useless.
 "I surrendered without offering resistance. Once aboard the Appam a German prize crew under protection of machine guns, took possession of the vessel and locked them in various cabins. A similar precaution was taken of the passengers. The crew and passengers of the Appam were taken to Hampton Roads started, together with the prize crew was stationed at the wireless for the purpose of receiving all messages, but to prevent any communication with the other British cruisers patrolling the regular ocean lanes were always in touch with them. The crew and passengers of the captured vessel were given daily exercise, but only in small numbers at a time.

THREE FAMOUS SCIENTISTS

Dr. Andrew Wilson, Dr. Gordon Stables and Dr. Lascelles Scott, the famous English analysts, have all personally tried Zam-Buk and expressed themselves convinced of its great healing value.

Mrs. St. Denis, of Thompson St., Weston, Wilm., suffered long with eczema, and finally her doctor said only Zam-Buk could cure her. She writes:
 "Another fine tribute of a scientific man to this great healer."
 Mrs. St. Denis says: "The eczema broke out on my nose and one side of my face. I could get no sleep because of the irritation and pain and my face was in such a shocking condition that for two months I did not go out of the house. I applied remedies and my doctor treated me, but without effect, until one day he said that the only thing which would be likely to cure me was Zam-Buk. I procured a supply and cut a long story short, in a few weeks Zam-Buk cured me completely, leaving no scars."

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for cuts, scalds, burns, rashes, etc.; also an embrocation for rheumatism, etc.; also an embrocation for rheumatism, etc.; also an embrocation for rheumatism, etc. Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, Ont. Price: 25c. per tin. Return postage and stamp included.

ZAM-BUK
 was very easy for the few Germans to control several hundred captives.
HARRISON KNOWS THE NAME OF THE GERMAN RAIDER.
 NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Feb. 2.
 Capt. Harrison has reported to the Elder Dempster Co.'s New York agents for the owners of the Appam, that it was the German raider "Mowat" that put the prize crew on his vessel. He said he knew the name of the German craft.
DEMAND RELEASE OF PRISONERS.
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.
 Late to-day the State Department asked the German authorities to release the passengers on the Appam subject to the action of the immigration authorities. British Vice-Consul Boyd called on Collector Hamilton formally and demanded the release of the prisoners. He stated that if the ship remained in American waters it could not be regarded as a prize, but must be turned over to the owners. Hamilton replied that all such questions must be passed upon in Washington. Immigration Inspector Morton, after completing the work on the ship, announced that fourteen of the Appam's passengers were in indigent circumstances, and would not be permitted to land in the United States. Seven of the Germans, being taken from Africa to England by the Appam for internment, inasmuch as they cannot be deported on a German ship, it is believed here the United States may be compelled to take care of them until the end of the war.
APPAM CARRIED BULLION.
 LONDON, Feb. 2.
 It is understood here that the Appam carried 500,000 pounds of bullion which will probably be claimed as a prize as bullion is contraband.
A GRAPHIC STORY.
 LONDON, Feb. 2.
 A graphic story of his experience is given in a letter by his sister by Capt. Wilson, member of Parliament, who, with Col. Napier, formerly military attaché at Sofia, was taken off a Greek steamer in the Mediterranean in December by an Austrian submarine. Capt. Wilson says he spent 48 hours on the submarine during which time the vessel fought an action with an Entente Allied patrol boat. The feelings of the prisoners on board the underwater boat are described as having been mixed between a desire for the success of the patrol boat and anxiety over their own safety. The submarine, the letter says, sighted the Entente Allied cruiser and submerged. Afterwards the commander of the underwater boat informed the prisoners that the cruiser had been torpedoed by another submarine. When approaching its destination the submarine came to the surface and proceeded to port escorted by three torpedo boat destroyers, which later were attacked by an Entente Allied submarine, but escaped. Capt. Wilson in his letter pays tribute to the submarine officers for the treatment accorded the prisoners. The letter says also that Capt. Wilson was able to destroy the despatches he was carrying before capture.

 In connection with negotiations which are already in proceeding between Greece and Romania, and the report that Romania is ready to form an anti-Bulgarian alliance, it is stated here that four-fifths of the Roumanian troops are under arms, that the main Roumanian forces are concentrated on the Bulgarian and Hungarian frontiers, while the troops on the Russian frontier have not been increased.  LONDON, Feb. 2.
 A despatch from Rome to the Daily Telegraph, says, according to the Roumanian colony in Romania, Roumania, in March, will take the field on the side of the Allies.
NEWSPAPER ATTACK ON THE GOVERNMENT.
 The Mail, Empire and Daily Mail find in Monday night's Zeppelin raid fresh material for an attack on the Government. If the Government had taken its advice, it says, all would have been well; as Great Britain in that case would have possession of an aeroplane service capable of preventing Zeppelins coming to England and all important cities of Germany and Zeppelin lairs would have been raided. The Mail accuses the Government of inertia, slackness and lack of precision. It adds, we are perpetually on the defensive, owing to elementary blunders and lack of foresight. We are on the defensive in France and Mesopotamia, at Salonika and in the air, and since Lord Fisher resigned, we have been leading no attacks at sea. Have the Ministers forgotten William Pitt's saying, "defensive war spells ruin?"
URGE IMMEDIATE REPRISALS.
 LONDON, Feb. 2.
 Several morning papers urge immediate reprisals against German towns for damage done by Zeppelin raiders in England. The Chronicle says the Allies have means of exacting not merely an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, but three eyes for each eye, and three teeth for each tooth. Such a policy of reprisals opens up a tragic perspective but at a certain point the demand for it may be justified. Something must be done to safeguard human lives in this country, says the Daily Telegraph, and punish those who commit these barbarous acts. The British public has no desire to hear that the German women and children have been slaughtered by British bombs, but it feels that a point has been reached when vigorous steps are necessary to halt these German manifestations of frightfulness. The Graphic says our business now is to crush the enemy and in carrying out that work we are entitled to use the same weapons they use and in the same way. The Daily Mail urges on the Government a programme of building a gigantic aeroplane fleet. It says that from 25,000 to 30,000 aeroplanes should be immediately built. It predicts that engines of from 200 to 1,000 horse power will be found practical for aeroplanes within a short time.
BERLIN AND THE RAID ON ENGLAND.
 BERLIN, Feb. 2.
 Rumors have circulated here that the Zeppelin raid on England Monday night was inspired for the invading air, but the Associated Press correspondent is assured, in authoritative quarters, that the attack did not come under that heading. It is stated that the midland section of England was selected for the raid because it is the centre of the munitions industry, and because Liverpool is the centre of England's commerce, and that there was a purpose in being home to the people of Great Britain the fact that the boasted defenses of London do not avail against Germany's air craft, and it was intended also to interfere with the preparations being made in England for carrying on British operations in France and Flanders. The Admiralty Office has no further details to give out regarding the raid besides those already published, but it reiterates the positive statement that not a single one of the raiding Zeppelins was injured.
SWISS FEDERAL COUNCIL ISSUES ORDER.
 PARIS, Feb. 2.
 A Havas despatch from Bern says that the Swiss Federal Council has issued an order that all male citizens between the ages of 18 and 60 who have been exempt from military service, but who understand the use of firearms, shall come forward immediately for medical examination. It is further ordered that all residents of Switzerland, whether Swiss or foreigners who possess rifles or cartridges shall bring these arms to the military authorities for inspection.
MORE BOMBING.
 SALONIKA, Feb. 2.
 Two Greek soldiers, five refugees and seven workmen were killed and fifty civilians injured by inflammable bombs dropped early yesterday morning from Zeppelins. No damage was done to military buildings, and the population has remained calm.
ILL HEALTH CAUSE SUICIDE.
 LONDON, Feb. 2.
 The suicide of Yusoff Izzeidin, heir apparent to the Turkish throne, is reported in a despatch received by Reuters Telegraph Co., from Constantinople by way of Berlin. The messenger said that the Crown Prince ended his life by cutting his arteries in his palace at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Ill health is given as the reason.
WILL ARRIVE BY FLOREZEL.
 HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 2.
 Private Keatney, of the Mid. Contingent, who has been service at the Dardanelles and was recently invalided home, arrived on the Carthagenian to-day. He leaves for home by the Floreze.
RUSSIA DETERMINED.
 LONDON, Feb. 2.
 M. Sturmer, the new premier of Russia, declared in an interview with the Novoye Vremya of Petrograd, as quoted by Reuters' correspondent, that his policy would be inspired above all else with one idea the bringing of the war to a successful issue. He said no proposals for separate peace would provide a solution for the problems which confront the na-

St. Mary's Sunday School.

A most enjoyable time was spent by friends and pupils alike, at St. Mary's Sunday School, South Side, last evening, the occasion being the distribution of prizes to the scholars. The Parish Hall there was full to overflowing a large number of parents attending the happy event. Mrs. Uphill kindly distributed the prizes to the children, and in encouraging words asked each pupil for renewed efforts the coming year. Addresses were given by the Rev. Henry Uphill, Rev. H. Pike and Mr. Levi Chafe, each gentleman praising the good work done by the Sunday School children. After a pleasing talk to the pupils the Rector told all that School Librarian, Charles Archer Ellis, was soon to leave them for the front. Like another old boy of the Sunday School, Ronald Williams, Mr. Ellis had decided to do "bit" for King and Country, and all would wish him good speed in this noble cause. Private Ellis who was present, thanked Mr. Uphill for his kind remarks and promised to do his best.

Splendid Concert for Boy Scouts.

The concert which took place in the Casino Wood Hall last night to help along the Boy Scouts movement was a great success, and the musical numbers were kindly presented by the following ladies and gentlemen received encores. Songs by Misses Shea, Strang and Russell; violin solo by Miss Johnson; recitation by Miss J. Hanlin; songs by Messrs. Ruggles, P. F. Moore and F. Seymour; an instrumental duet by Messrs. Fenman and Jago; and a French horn solo by Mr. Arthur Bulley. The two sketches: "Somewhere at the Front" "The Boys in Blue" were staged in a very suitable style and much praise is due the "Clyde group" party: Messrs. Burley, Macklin, Lloyd, Luxon, Landry, Jago, Ashworth, Connolly and Gill for the excellent acting throughout the piece. Before the end of the very pleasing entertainment Scoutmaster Goodman stepped forward and thanked one and all who had helped to make the gathering so big a success. He announced that the proceeds of the night were sufficient to give No. 2 Troop of the Scouts a new start from a financial point of view. Everybody who aided in last night's entertainment is to be congratulated.

Alcanda Heard From.
 A message from the A. N. D. With the Klark-Urban Company.
 That the popularity of the Klark-Urban Company continues to grow stronger with our theatre-loving public was evidenced by the packed houses which greeted their performances yesterday afternoon and night. "So Much for So Much" was played as a matinee in the afternoon and for the night session "Alias Jimmy Valentine." The play has to do with the doings of the underworld. It gives a graphic account of the career of Valentine, the proverbial safe-cracker and is replete with sensation, thrills and love with a little sprinkling of comedy. The same drama was played in St. John's before, but the Klark-Urban Company outclassed all former efforts in last night's production which was greatly appreciated by the audience. The different parts were well sustained by every member of the troupe and Harden Klark, as "Jimmy Valentine," won new laurels. The specialty numbers rendered by Messrs. Klark, Urban, Webb, Tenney and Misses Allen and Clarke were warmly applauded. The play will be repeated to-night.

Reprisals.

The British public is long suffering and slow to anger. For a long time it has borne quietly and philosophically the outrages perpetrated in accordance with the German doctrine of frightfulness. There is, however, evidence that the plume of Englishmen is being disturbed, and those who have adhered to the policy of no reprisals are changing their attitude. It is absurd to think that British people will be frightened into calling for peace by such outrages. They are not given to panic. But they may be incited to cry for reprisal with such insistence that the Government will heed their cry. Had as the suffering may be which such raids entail. It is infinitely less than has been suffered by the Belgians, Russians, Serbians and Montenegrins and the French within the theatre of invasion, and they have endured, and the people of England will not be less ready to endure lesser evils. Hatred is the idea of reprisals to the British temperament, the situation is such as now calls for action in this direction, and we should like to see the policy instituted. This appears to be the only way to force the Germans to limit their action to bona-fide combatants. From the start of the invasion of Belgium, throughout the long period of murders at sea, from the Lusitania horror, and the Persian tragedy, Germany has never hesitated about sacrificing innocent lives. International law, humanity and honor are without meaning to Germany, and the only way to bring her to book is the policy of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, and the policy is recognized and acted on the sooner these frightful deeds will cease.

"The Business of Being a Man."

The members of Wesley Bible Class were very fortunate indeed in securing the services of Rev. Dr. Jones to lecture to them last evening. The subject chosen by the learned lecturer was a very interesting one, "The Business of Being (or making) a Man," and it is not necessary to say that it was handled in a masterly and frequently drew forth great applause. We are sorry that we cannot give a more extended report of this great address, but to those who were present in Wesley Basement last night, the burning words of the Rev. Dr. Jones will not be forgotten. Special hymns were sung, and a solo very nicely rendered by Mr. H. Chapman. At the close of the lecture Mr. Y. Mott made a short address which was well received and the lecture closed by the singing of the National Anthem, and the benediction pronounced by the lecturer.

After the Races.

After the "set" races were concluded yesterday, a number of smart "brushes" took place between private horses. One could scarcely credit that the city held such fine-appearing nice-going horses as were present on the ice yesterday. Among the non-contestants was a beautiful mare, the property of Mr. Bert Ross, as well as the well dressed and fine appearing "Finister," the property of Mr. M. Kelly. A few public spirited gentlemen have offered $20.00 in cash prizes, for a race between animals owned outside city limits. In addition the Telegram gives a year's subscription to the owner of the horse taking first position.

Fined $50.00.

Arthur Reid, who was engaged as clerk in the grocery department and who was arrested a week ago on a charge of stealing goods to the value of $10, was fined today before Mr. Hutchings, J.P. Accused pleaded guilty, and was fined $50 and costs. The fine was paid. There is not likely to be any more arrests made in connection with it, as the police believe that they captured every person, numbering about four, who were implicated in the affair.

Amusements.

AT THE CRESCENT.

The Biograph Company presents "The American," the Crescent Picture Palace. "A Romance of Old California" produced in two reels, the photography and settings in this fine drama are beautiful. "The Spy's Sister" is a war drama produced by the Lubin Company. "Toys of Destiny" is a strong domestic drama, and a very funny comedy is "Sweedie's Hero," the funny Wallace Beery does some funny stunts in this funny play. Mr. Dave Parks, baritone, the man with the voice, sings "Come Back Dixie" a pleasing southern song.

BRITISH THEATRE.

The performances at the British Theatre yesterday were well patronized and the pictures shown were high in quality. Mary Fuller was seen at her best in a beautiful moral photo-play, entitled "Every Girl." This drama is in 2 acts and portrays the different types of humanity, their virtues and vices. Another big two-act drama is entitled "Where Brains Are Needed," in which J. Murdoch Macquarrie is seen in the role of an old detective. Brinsley Shaw, the celebrated screen actor, is seen in a humorous drama, "A Stranger in the Camp." The "Violent Menace," the daily comedienne, appeared in a comedy-drama, "Uncle Blazer." This complete all-star programme will be repeated to-night and should prove a strong attraction. We are requested to state that on and after Monday and until further notice the admission will be five cents. For five cent patrons will be enabled to see the same high class pictures with the best possible music and effects.

The Recount.

The recount of the St. John's West ballots was begun yesterday morning, some 1855 votes being examined during the day. Of these, 1700 favored Prohibition and the remaining 155 counted for "wets." No points for argument were brought forward by counsel. At yesterday's count three votes were not allowed, each of them having written words on the ballot. Two of them properly cast would have gone towards the "yes" fund, whilst the third was a decided neglect, as the words upon it "No, dear," plainly prove.

Count Finished.

The West End count finished at noon today. There were 2421 ballots counted; 2154 were in favor of Prohibition and 261 against. Six votes were rejected because of writing upon the ballot paper.

At the close of the event, which was so much enjoyed by a full vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Arch Gillies and seconded by Mr. John Browning was accorded to the lecturer.

THE BRITISH CONTENTION ABOUT THE APPAM.

LONDON, To-day. The British Government will hold that the Appam must be released under clauses 20 and 22 of the Hague Convention, 1907. It was stated today that those approved merchantmen can't be converted into auxiliary cruisers on the high seas...

GERMANY CLAIMS APPAM AS A PRIZE.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Count von Bernstorff, German Ambassador, today formally notified Secretary of State Lansing that the Appam was brought into Hampton Roads as a prize under the terms of the Prussian-American Treaty...

ABANDONED TO ENEMY.

LONDON, To-day. The British official communication, dealing with operations in East Africa, made public here tonight says a report received from Sir Smith-Dorrien states the small post of Kasaiu which was occupied by the enemy on December 6th has now been abandoned by the enemy.

DENONCES AMERICAN PROPOSALS.

LONDON, To-day. While official circles do not acknowledge the British Government has received more than a cable summary of the American Government's recent note, asking belligerent countries to subscribe a declaration of principles governing attacks on merchant vessels...

CLEARING KAMERUN OF GERMANS.

LONDON, To-day. An official last night regarding the operations in West Africa, said General Dohell telegraphing from West Africa on February 1st, reports Daing was occupied by Col. Haywood's column on Jan. 25th with a slight loss, that after defeating the enemy another engagement two days later, Col. Haywood occupied Nsan. This column in touch with French troops who are at Amban. Another British column under Col. Coles occupied Lotobert on January 28th. Large enemy convoys continue to pass into Munli, Spanish Guinea.

SLEMP ON GERMAN EXCHANGE.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Exchange Telegram from Zurich said, reported there was a heavy slump yesterday on the Frankfurt (Germany) Bourse, owing to the belief of financiers that German-American diplomatic relations were approaching a crisis.

OFFENSIVE ON SALONIKI IMMINENT.

LONDON, To-day. The Austro-German offensive against Saloniki is imminent, according to Saloniki advices. From German sources the Exchange Telegraphs Athens correspondent says the Cleveland Strumitza railway has been repaired and that Field Marshal Von Mackensen is now at Monastir. A portion of the Montenegrin army, this correspondent adds, has effected a junction with the Serbian troops and has fallen back on Durazzo.

MORGAN SAILS FOR ENGLAND.

NEW YORK, To-day. J. P. Morgan sailed last night for England aboard the steamer Rotterdam accompanied by Benjamin Strong, Governor of New York. Federal Reserve Bank. The announcement that the two men were on visit to London caused much surprise and interest in financial circles yesterday.

REPRISALS DEMANDED.

LONDON, To-day. The sentiment in favor of reprisals is increasing rapidly and the belief is growing that German air raids have no military objects and are not aimed at any military basis, but are intended to be indiscriminate attacks for the purpose of terrorizing England. More- over, experts declared the Zeppelins could not attempt to find any definite targets at the height from which they now drop bombs, even if they wished to. Newspapers which heretofore were opposed to reprisals, as unworthy of British methods, declared yesterday in favor of carrying on the same kind of warfare into the enemy country, if necessary, to protect women and children. The pitiful story of mangled women and children and old men, which everyone has heard is kindling a fierce anger and is commented upon by newspapers as the strongest deterrent to any peace talk, which the entire war has produced.

Castle, and Kellworth Castle, are both safe, but neither of them had seen any thing of the German raider. The steamer Clan McTavish, which is reported sunk by the Moewe, was one of the most valuable of the Clan line. She carried a very rich cargo, consisting mostly of wool and beet from Australia and New Zealand. The crew numbered eighty. The wool dealers here have been anxious for some time concerning the whereabouts of the steamer.

RIVAL CLAIMS TO APPAM.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Indications that the British passenger liner Appam brought into Hampton Roads by a German prize crew, will be held by the United States to be a German prize of war and not an auxiliary cruiser, were given last night in high official quarters. The neutrality board, which advises the State Department on such questions, announces the ship was a prize, but the announcement was recalled later, presumably because the State Department insisted that the British owners of the Appam shall remain in possession of the prize crew under the terms of the Prussian-American Treaty, but shall be returned to British owners under the Hague Convention, Indian negotiations were given out that the State Department will hold that the prize belongs to Germany.

AEROPLANE BROUGHT TO EARTH.

SALONIKA, To-day. The number of victims among the civilian population was eleven killed, fifteen wounded. In addition, two soldiers were killed and one wounded. The enemy aeroplane was brought to earth by one of our machines between Topsin and Verria, west of Salonika and two aviators, a captain and aspirant (midshipman) were made prisoners.

HARROWING STORIES OF THE ZEPPELIN RAID.

LONDON, To-day. The removal by the Government of most of the restrictions on the publication of news about air raids has released flood on account of latest visit of the raiders the part of Staffordshire was the only place in which much material damage was done. The towns in this district were lighted when the Zeppelins appeared and light appears to have been of considerable use to the visitors before the mangled corpses under the ruins of our own houses, but all the month these things have been going on Zeppelins have not killed one-fourth the number who were drowned on the Lusitania, or as many as would be carried off by a comparatively mild epidemic in a moderate sized town. Assuming Zeppelins came in the largest number ever suggested, that they killed two thousand, three thousand people, the additional risk to our daily life will be incon siderable, very little greater than was added in walking abroad in the streets when motors were first introduced. The Daily Chronicle, heretofore against reprisals yesterday joined with the Daily Telegraph in demanding an eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth policy. In the last letter, the late Lord Alverstone, for many years Lord Chief Justice of England, wrote and appealed from his sick bed to the British people not to employ barbarous methods of warfare, because the Germans followed such methods, but Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in recent letter advocating the announcement of a policy of reprisals as the surest and most effective method in accord with present public feeling. The residents of cities approached by Zeppelins on Monday night, although warned of their danger from splinters and shrapnel bullets preferred to continue on the streets. When it was announced that railroad traffic was suspended people took the matter philosophically and sought omnibuses and street cars and when unable to get transport in this manner proceeded homeward without complaint, women and men equally calm, while children continued to play in the streets, but occasionally looking skyward to see whether the air invaders were visible. The wife of a Mayor of one of the towns, travelling in a street when the alarm was given and the car stopped, she alighted and turning to proceed to her home, she was struck by a fragment bomb and taken to a hospital where she lies in a critical condition. Large churches were among the buildings badly damaged. A couple married at a principal town on Monday afternoon were both killed in the evening by Zeppelin bombs. The fleet of Zeppelins is apparently the same fleet which attempted a raid on Friday night. The fog which prevailed on Monday enabled the Zeppelins to evade aeroplanes.

AIR RAID ON SALONIKI.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Exchange Telegram from Athens says 29 persons were killed and 14 injured by a Zeppelin raid on Saloniki; two soldiers were among the killed.

CASUALTIES 160.—KILLED 59.

LONDON, To-day. The War Office last night issued the following statement: In reference to the Zeppelin raid on England. The utterly inaccurate report of the Berlin official telegram as one which pur ported to describe the effect of the German air raid on the night of the 28th, affords further proof of the fact that the raiders are quite unable to ascertain their position or shape their course with any degree of certainty. The number of cases of injury, mostly slight, have been reported since the previous figures were issued. There have been two or three more deaths. The figures now stand as follows: Killed, men, 33; women, 20; children, 8; total, 59. Injured, men, 51; women, 48; children, 2; total, 101; making a total of killed and injured men 84; women 68; children 8; total 160. The total number of bombs discovered up to the present exceeds three hundred. Many fell in rural places where no damage was caused at all.

SOUTH AFRICAN LINERS SAFE.

REDMOND'S APPEAL TO IRELAND.

DUBLIN, To-day. Redmond has issued a stirring appeal for recruits from Ireland. He says, recent events have made it absolutely essential that Ireland for her own sake, to guard her own highest interests and to maintain her honor, should make it plain to the whole world that she is willing and eager to fulfil her obligation. Any impression that Ireland is shirking her duty will be a deadly injury to her future interests.

PLANNING NEW OFFENSIVE.

LONDON, To-day. The London newspapers this morning express conviction that the Germans are planning a new offensive on a big scale against the left wing of the Allies. It is expected that they will attempt to break their way to Calais and Dunkirk by the use of strong bodies of infantry, supported by enormous masses of artillery.

Supreme Court.

The court met at 11 a.m. Present: Chief Justice Horwood and Mr. Justice Emerson, died of measles, Scotland, Feb. 1st. Smith Co. Ltd. vs. Geo. Rumsey. This is an action for an injunction. McNeilly, B.L., for plaintiff, and Mews, B.L., for defendant. Calvert C. Pratt sworn and after several persons had been examined, and letters and agreements put in as evidence the court adjourned at 1 p.m. till to-morrow morning at 11.

Reids' Boats.

The Meigs and Sagona are now due at North Sydney. The Argyle left Lamaline at 6 p.m. yesterday inwards. The S. S. Glencoe left LaPolle at 4 p.m. yesterday going west. The Kyle is leaving Basques after arrival of Tuesday's No. 1. The Ethie, Home, Clyde and Dundee are all receiving necessary repairs at St. John's.

Train Notes.

The Kyle's express with passengers and mail is due at 6 o'clock this afternoon. The Southern Shore train arrived at 11:35 a.m. bringing only one or two passengers. The express which left here Tuesday evening reached Basques at 8:30 this a.m.

OBITUARY.—Early this morning at his father's residence, Southside, the death occurred of Thomas Ehsary at the early age of 18 years. His brother Hubert was killed recently in the Dardanelles.

Fads and Fashions.

Suit jackets are somewhat shorter. They have belts and pockets; also having tails. The spring turbans are not worn straight on the head, but tipped slightly on one side. There is simply no end to the usefulness of ribbon in making clothes pretty. Cameo buckles in pale pink and white are delightful on either white or pinking evening clothes. Black and white Chantilly lace combined makes a charming and simple dinner gown. Pastel colored Georgette crepe in three or four tints makes some of the most charming evening frocks. It is said that all the spring skirts and sleeves will have puffs on them somewhere. A malle collar for the crown of the hat which begins to look winter-worn is often a great rejuvenator. Spring fashions will probably bring the tight basque, drapery at the hips and the light sloping shoulder line. New blouses are in pretty color combinations. For instance, a blouse of blue handkerchief linen has a fichu of pale pink batiste. Garlands of little silk roses trim the prettiest of evening dresses, or perhaps one large rose will adorn the gown. Blouses are getting more gay in color. There are deep pinks, yellows and reds among the crepe de chine models. The newest outing hat for summer wear is of Panama straw, with the trimming painted either on the brim or crown. Evening dresses are mostly skirt, the bodice being only of chiffon, and of sleeves there are none. Shoulder straps alone support the bodice. Miles of ribbon are being used for the fashionable ribbon bows and flower trails that are being used for frocks and hats.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

HUNTINGTON WEST, Va. Sam Brown, a Pittsburg steambot, sank in a few minutes after the boilers exploded in the Ohio River opposite this city to-day. The great majority of the crew, approximately 30, are believed to have perished. Not more than six survivors reached the Ohio side of the river following the explosion.

APPAM CAPTURED BY NEW CRUISER.

NEW YORK, To-day. Daniel Bacon, agent of the Dempster Co., British owners of the Appam, says the vessel was captured by a new type of light draught, heavily armed swift German cruiser, on the lines of a merchantman, and easily disguised. She was not an old warship, but a brand new vessel. The cruiser which captured the Appam was escorted by several other vessels, at least one of which was a collier, that also acted as scout ship. It understood that the sum of $150,000

Volunteers are Good Marksmen.

There are very proficient marksmen amongst the volunteers now in training. Don Carter, one of the youngest members of H Company, made the possible score at the dip or head and shoulders target which is kept moving and only exposed five times for periods of eight seconds, allowing ten shots in all. The scores made Tuesday were:—

D. Carter, 40; F. Matthews, 38; H. Lawrence, 35; H. Twiner, 36; J. Field, 30; A. Reid, 30; M. Picco, 28; M. Oldford, 26; W. Sheppard, 26; J. George, 25; A. Guy, 25; A. Eastfield, 24; J. James, 24; C. A. Reid, 20; W. Lemmesurrier, 18; E. H. Walters, 16; F. J. Wornell, 14; E. Elsworth, 10. This is the first company of the Regiment to practise at the dip target. Yesterday a squad were at the South Side Range, shot at the moving man target rapid fire, 5 shots in 30 seconds, making the best average shooting yet, the scores being:—

H. Cranford, 20; A. Davis, 20; W. Snow, 20; S. Locke, 20; K. Squires, 18; W. Andrews, 18; L. Brown, 18; F. Pettie, 18; S. Keele, 18; A. Brown, 12; A. Nichols, 10; H. Kneec, 8.

Patriotic Hockey.

The "Old Boys"—East End vs. the West End—will play their hockey match at the Prince's Rink to-night for patriotic purposes. A lady's match will also take place and this item alone will be well worth the admission fee. The C. C. Band will be present and the ladies who have given their services on other occasions to help swell the W. P. A. Fund will serve refreshments.

Horse Races.

A series of horse races were held on Quidi Vidi Lake yesterday afternoon and were thoroughly enjoyed by the large concourse of people who witnessed them. Four heats were run from the eastern to the western ends of the pond. The winners of the three prizes, three, two and one bag of oats, respectively, were won by W. Wiley, M. McDonald and J. Judge. The officials were Messrs. Macpherson and Parkins. At an early date, not yet arranged, Captain M. Kelly and J. Judge will race for the benefit of the W. P. A. Fund.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."
"That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured it. You can get Zylex at your druggists."
Zylex, 50c. a box; Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake. Zylex, London. eod:it
