STATE SHOULD CONTROL TELEGRAPH AND CABLES

Success of Public Ownership in Bringing Principle Into Competition With Private Owned Monopolies - Lemieux Expects Announcement of Sweeping Reduction in Cable Rates.

OTTAWA, July 18.—(Special).—After the Middlebrooke amendment had been rejected in the house of commons today, before the speaker left the chair, W. Maclean (S. York) spoke on the subject of public ownership as applied to the telegraph and cable service. In a statement he made it was made clear that the success of public ownership was found in bringing the principle into competition with private owned monopolies. The International Commission on Telegraphs and Cables, which is now in session in London, is expected to announce a sweeping reduction of rates and likewise a state-owned telegraph system would bring about a corresponding reduction in the telegraph rates.

Mr. Maclean was fortunate in securing from Hon. Rodolph Borden a statement that he expected shortly to have an announcement from the British postmaster-general that a sweeping reduction would be made in the rates of the telegraph. Personally, he was not opposed to public ownership. Mr. Maclean also pointed out that there were important considerations which would enhance the economic value of a state-owned system, as it would encourage a greater interchange of opinion between the different parts of the empire. But the only successful way to accomplish this would be by extending the land lines and providing an Atlantic cable.

A Great Principle. In introducing the subject, Mr. Maclean said his object was to draw the attention of the house to an improvement that could be made in the telegraph and cable service of the country. "We have heard," declared the member for South York, "a good deal in Canada for some years about public ownership. I believe it is a great principle, and I believe it has given us the best performance for the public of Canada. We have talked about it for quite a while, and I believe it is a great principle. In the Province of Ontario we have realized that principle in a way that justifies it. Public ownership is the only way to get the best service, and in the next place will give the public a much cheaper service. Now, that has been done in Europe, and we have today the evidence of all Europe, of Australia, of New Zealand, of other countries, that public ownership is a great success."

Mr. Maclean then went on to refer to the results so far derived from the adoption of the principle of public ownership in Ontario, which had been to cut the prices of a widespread public service in two, and to improve the service. In this way public ownership had been vindicated in Hamilton, at the Cataract Power Co., when public ownership was threatened, offered to give as good or a better price than the commission, and which it was patriotic not to provide was able to sell power to the people of the United States for less than they could buy it elsewhere.

"It is reciprocity," said Hon. Mr. Graham.

Extend the International. The member for South York said that the success of the international depended upon competition. It should be extended to Toronto, to Georgian Bay, and to the Detroit River, and railway rates in the province would be cut one-third. It should have been put in the Canadian west, and then there would have been a reduction in rates that would have substantially benefited the people of the west. "You cannot vindicate government ownership," he said, "unless you give it a chance to vindicate itself."

In regard to the postoffice, telegraph and cable service, Mr. Maclean admitted that government-owned telegraphs had been tried, but only in uninhabited parts of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and the Yukon.

Dr. Johnson, who performed the autopsy, showed that the deceased was practically electrocuted when he fell. The body showed a burn in the front of the right shin, presumably when the current had left the body, and a large oblique burn in the right wrist, showing signs of severe laceration. There was a wound three-quarters of an inch long over the left ear, which showed an extensive fracture of the skull.

THE LENOX PICNIC. The North York Liberal Conservative picnic, which takes place at Jackson's Point tomorrow, is an assured success. Everything indicates that the attendance will be greater than ever before. A special program of amusements has been arranged and six bands will play on the grounds. The automobile procession from Lenox to the Point will consist of at least 50 decorated cars. Some of the vehicles will be from the Lenox and the Point. The picnic will leave the Union Station at 9:30 a.m.

ASKED FOR EXPLANATION. MADRID, July 18.—According to a semi-official statement to-night the foreign office has requested the Spanish legation at Tangier for information regarding the reported arrest of M. Boisset, the French consular agent at Alcazar. In view of the fact that instructions have already been given to the Spanish minister at Tangier and the fact also that he has not reported the incident, it is taken as indicating either that it was unimportant in itself, or that the legation's explanations offered M. Boisset were satisfactory.

No Election Before October.

OTTAWA, July 18.—(Special).—The commons was a listless house to-day. It did not shape up. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is looking exceptionally well, and Mr. Borden in extra good fettle. The one thing that comes out into the clear, notwithstanding all that the correspondents have been saying, is that no election can be held until well on in October. The lists in the unorganized districts of Ontario cannot be got ready before some time in October. The Duke of Connaught arrives here towards the end of that month; perhaps he will land when they are counting the boxes.

Now, as to the meantime, the government have little business to press on the house other than reciprocity and supply. They may feel constrained to propose a redistribution measure, but they may press forward the reciprocity proposals, and if they fail to make headway in that, then they will prorogue or dissolve the house and start in campaigning for an election in October or November.

This is taking for granted that the senate at Washington will pass reciprocity next Saturday. Something may arise there that will delay it.

The opposition will likely challenge the government to bring down a redistribution and to take lots of time in doing it. The opposition are not afraid of a fair measure, and the government do not hope to gain much out of it, so the government are not nearly as anxious to give the west its new and full voice, which the new census, it is said, will call for.

The foregoing is the situation as it looks to-night. If the two parties come to close grips, with a test of endurance without rising from Monday until Saturday, no one can predict what will happen.

The government lost prestige to-day by their treatment of the claims of the veterans of 1866-7 to some kind of land or money recognition.

NOT HYDRO WIRES THAT CAUSED GOWANS' DEATH

Witness Gives Opinion That T.E.L. and Telegraph Wires Formed a Circuit. "I feel certain that Frank Gowans met his death on July 10 by being electrocuted through coming into contact with the T.E.L. wires and the telegraph wires forming a complete circuit," declared William C. Jamieson, 184 Mutual-street, a subscriber on the hydro-electric commission, under whose orders Gowans was working when he met his death. "The wires carry 2200 or 2300 volts," he added.

Gowans was a first-class lineman, having worked for the Ontario Power Company before entering the employ of the hydro commission. On the day of the accident he had been instructed to move a three-pin bracket from the east side of the hydro-electric pole on the south side of the street, and to connect it with the transformer on Sunning-avenue. This necessitated his working above the Toronto Electric Company's wires, and the passage up and down this pole, thru them, was very hazardous. On the north side of the pole the T.E.L. wires are quite close to the pole, and on that side there are more high tension wires than on the south side. These high tension wires are 2 1/2 to 4 inches away from the hydro pole, being kept from touching it by side blocks. On the bottom and top cross arms of the hydro pole there are no cross wires, but on the second lowest arm there are three wires, each carrying a voltage of 2200.

Dr. Johnson, who performed the autopsy, showed that the deceased was practically electrocuted when he fell. The body showed a burn in the front of the right shin, presumably when the current had left the body, and a large oblique burn in the right wrist, showing signs of severe laceration. There was a wound three-quarters of an inch long over the left ear, which showed an extensive fracture of the skull.

SHADY DEAL FOR VETERANS OF '66

Government Votes Down Motion by W. S. Middlebrooke to Do Justice to Country's Defenders - Reciprocity Debate Resumed When House Reassembles After Recess.

OTTAWA, July 18.—(Special).—Before a specially filled house the debate on the reciprocity proposals was resumed to-day. On the motion to go into committee of ways and means, W. S. Middlebrooke (N. Grey) moved an amendment expressing the desirability of the government recognizing in some tangible way the services of the veterans of 1866 and 1870. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 45 against 31. The government majority was only 16.

Mr. Arthurs (Ferry Sound), continuing the reciprocity discussion, analyzed the amended proposal, and pointed out how absurdly inaccurate were statistics furnished by the government. J. G. Taylor (New Westminster) said that geographers had favored the north and south trade, but the fathers of Confederation had aimed to make it run east and west. Sir Wilfrid had done his best to promote this, but had permitted Mr. Fleming to override his suggestions.

The Men of '66. On the motion to go into committee of ways and means, W. S. Middlebrooke (North Grey) introduced a resolution of the government granting some recognition, either in land or money, to the veterans of the Fenian raids of 1866 and 1870. The resolution had been called for the situation some fifteen or sixteen years ago, the veterans petitioned the government in 1886, and repeatedly at intervals since delegations representing the Veterans' Associations had interviewed the government. Mr. Sir Francis Borden had stated: "I am satisfied that the government should take the matter into consideration, and the prime minister had asked that the matter be not pressed and virtually committed to the government to some action. Notwithstanding the above, Mr. Middlebrooke found a precedent for the government granting recognition, in the action of Hon. Alexander Mackenzie in 1879-80, when he secured a vote in the house to aid the veterans of that affair. But since 1886 the government has not done so far on either side of the house. It fixes the same rate on first-class wool that the Lafollette bill names, so long as that class of wool maintains the price of 22 1/2 cents per pound, but as the rate is specific the protection is made variable, as it is under the ad valorem system of the Wisconsin senator, it retains higher duties on wools than are provided by the Lafollette bill.

The Smoot bill maintains the classification of the present law on this class of wool. Instead of a rate of 11 cents per pound on first-class wool in the grease and 12 cents on second-class, a rate of 9 cents per pound is provided on both classes. On washed wool of both classes the rate is fixed, and on scoured wool the rate is fixed at 3 and 6 cents, instead of 4 and 7 cents. The "retiring" clause, by which the wool-growers' specific duties have been reduced from 11 cents to 9 cents per square yard. There are also material reductions on carpets, druggists and mats, clothing, amon waisings, brads, ribbons, trimmings, etc.

There is a new paragraph which provides that "in no case shall any of the articles or fabrics enumerated in this schedule pay duty greater than is equivalent to an ad valorem duty of 50 per centum." It is admitted by the author of the bill that this provision may be the means of making it difficult for the manufacturers of exceedingly fine and high-priced cloths to compete with similar foreign made goods.

A Contemptuous Reference. Dr. Sproule (East Grey) submitted that the nation owed a debt to the men of 1866-70, which should have been paid, and S. Barker (East Hamilton) that the prime minister's words were a contemptuous reference to the men who were ready to fight, but had been prevented by the inaction of the government from seeing active service.

A. F. Lancaster (Lincoln) declared that the government's position, presumably because he was anxious that the house should deal with other business. He pointed out that the government

The Veto Bill.

LONDON, July 18.—Mr. Balfour had another long conference with Lord Lansdowne to-night, and it is understood that they agreed to adhere to the policy of allowing the amended veto bill to pass the third reading without division.

So far, there is no sign of any motion to reject the bill, and although it is still in the hands of the insurance peers may challenge division. It is not expected that the revolt will be big enough to endanger the bill in this stage. As Lord Lansdowne and his associates are doing their best to counteract the threatening risks.

Lamb Prices Frisky

One of the most remarkable changes in the prices of live stock that have ever happened at the city cattle markets occurred between last Thursday and yesterday. On the first named day lambs sold as high as $11 per cwt., and yesterday the range was from $6 to $7 per cwt. They may explain to householders the reason for the high price paid for last Sunday's dinner.

The only explanation for the extreme drop in quotations for the two live stock dealers were contestants in a market with a very small supply. Many drovers are suffering from the effects of last week's lamb prices. These dealers bought from farmers on the basis of last week's prices and had to sell on the market yesterday at a heavy loss.

LIVEMAN VICTIM OF LIVE WIRE

Wm. Spence, While at Work in Swing, Met Tragic Death - Three Recent Electro-cution Fatalities.

William Spence, a Bell Telephone Company lineman, living at 24 Division-street, was instantly killed by a contact with an electric light wire at Bloor and Christie-streets at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, and his clothing was then burned and his body partially roasted by the continued contact until it was removed by a fellow workman and the police.

Spence was at work sitting in a swing swung from and riding upon a cable stretched across between the wires on both sides of Christie-street. William Morden was running the swing with a rope handled from below. In some way as the swing was allowed to run from the east to the west side of the street, it touched the electric light wire, which flared up and broke. One end of it fell on Spence's hands and arms, and immediately his clothing started to burn and his flesh to roast.

Morden hurriedly drew the swing away from the broken wire, but the man's clothing still continued to burn. The end of the wire, Morden, with the assistance of Policemen McElroy, Allison and Hicks, lowered the body to the ground, where he was carried upon the burning clothing. Dr. Malcolm Cameron, 375 Spadina-avenue, was called, but found him dead. The body was then removed to the morgue, and the chief coroner notified.

Spence was a married man about 35 years of age. His wife and family are living at Absey, P.O. near Stony Lake.

Third Electro-cution Inquest. Chorus Wigham will hold an inquest into the death. This will make the third inquest in as many days into deaths caused by electrocution. On Monday night the inquest into the death of John Walker, who was killed by a live wire of the Interurban Electric Co. in Bathurst-st., July 10, was closed.

Last night a sitting of the inquest entered into the death of Frank Gowans, a hydro-electric lineman, killed by one of the wires near which he was working July 10. It has not yet been determined whether it was wires of the Electric Light Co., or hydro wires, or a short circuit formed between either these and the telegraph wires which caused his death.

In addition to these three lives recently taken by electricity, there was the death of Joseph Gellinas, who was electrocuted by a T. E. L. wire in Duchess-st., a few months ago, from this cause.

Motorman Was Shocked. Electricity in the form of a lightning bolt also struck David Ward at a free bathing beach at the island a week or so ago, and yesterday Motorman Albert Brown (68) of Bathurst-st. was taken to St. Michael's Hospital in an auto from Yonge and Amelia-sts., where he was stunned by a shock from his motor. He was not severely injured and was able to go home.

AT FIVE DOLLARS A WEEK. Made President of Two Companies and Secretary of Third. PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—At a hearing here to-day of three officials of the "mutual fire insurance company" of this city, on the charge of operating fraudulent concerns, a 19-year-old boy testified that he had been one of two of the concerns and secretary of a third at a total salary of $5 a week. The witness, Herman S. Robinson, said he was homeless when hired to run errands. He was told he must "dress up," and said that one of the defendants had outfitted him at a clothing store. At the end of the hearing the three officials, David Balfour, Jacob Malschick and Charles Robinson, were held under bail for trial.

HAMILTON IS FOR A NEW PORCUPINE THE HYDRO POWER HAS BEGUN TO ARISE

First of Series of Big Public Meetings Held Last Night in Interests of Bylaw—Will of Citizens, Thwarted in the Past, Will Win Out This Time.

HAMILTON, July 18.—(Special).—The first of the public meetings arranged for the purpose of informing the ratepayers on the municipal power and light bylaw and the working of the hydro-electric power commission, was held to-night in the Twentieth Century Club, South Lock-street. Controller Bailey was chairman, and the speakers were Mayor Lees, Hon. J. Sheehy, T. J. Stewart, M.P., and Gordon Wilson, M.L.A. (Dundas).

The meeting was decidedly pro-hydro was evidenced by the enthusiasm displayed by the ratepayers, who filled the hall. Mayor Lees gave a hearty reception when he rose to make the first speech of the evening. He expressed his opinion that the present campaign over the bylaw was question of the citizens of Hamilton against the Cataract Power Co. His remarks were chiefly devoted to a brief review of the hydro question and an outline of conditions which would be met by the bylaw to be voted on July 25. He reminded the audience of previous efforts made to obtain hydro power in this city, and cited the vote on the question in January, 1909, when the citizens had voted $250,000 to establish a municipal plant. He repeated the story of how the people had been ignored and their wishes violated by the council making a contract that year with the Cataract, and of the legal dissolution of contract. In 1909 the question was again favorably voted on by the ratepayers, but a divided council refused to carry out their will.

People Again Defied. Then in 1909 their vote, which it was thought would be final, was taken. Again the will of the people was defied, and instead of making a contract with the hydro power, the council contracted for only 1000 horse-power of electrical energy from the commission. Now the citizens are again and just about as warm and as mean as it had ever been. The fairness and reliability of Mr. Sifton's record in the past, and the absence of any criticism of it in the city council, even from Cataract supporters in that body.

His worship referred to the criticism that had been fired at the waterworks system in an effort to discredit municipal ownership. He drew attention to the fact that in this city of 80,000 people, no complaints had been made against the waterworks, except by the main residents. There the trouble was not due to any defect in the system itself. He promised that the ratepayers would be given a city light and power plant, which will soon be as satisfactory as the waterworks.

Hon. John S. Hendrie was welcomed with prolonged applause. In referring to the hydro question, he first referred to the hydro power, which he said was difficult to instruct. The hydro scheme emanated from the municipalities, which he said was to carry the matter thru, had asked the government to take it in hand. Col. Hendrie was surprised to find a gentleman in the room in regard to the hydro system. This turned out to be Henry Beckett, who has displaced the waterworks, and who has a great interest in Hamilton's bylaw. Col. Hendrie objected to Mr. Beckett's taking 10,000 horse-power as a basis for his figures, when Toronto alone will soon be using 11,000 horse-power. He sarcastically referred to Mr. Beckett's "warning," and indignantly re-iterated the charges that the hydro commission was trying to pull the wool over the eyes of Hamilton people.

Ottawa's Experience. In regard to the offer of the local company to have its rates regulated by the hydro commission, Col. Hendrie explained that the commission could only regulate the rates of municipalities participating in contracts. He instanced the Cities of Ottawa and Hamilton, where the commission had regulated the rates, and stated that in the case of Ottawa, the rates of the private electric company had increased 30 per cent. since the hydro was introduced there. The hydro was popular with all classes in Ottawa. He then illustrated how the hydro rates are reduced as the use of power by the municipalities increases.

T. J. Stewart, M.P., hailed the Cataract Company and their methods of doing business over the coals in his address to the voters. He ridiculed the statement that 99 out of 100 citizens had no complaint against the Cataract and declared that no manner proposition was ever made to any city than that of the Cataract. He stated that the Cataract's offer to cut their rates 10 per cent. lower than the hydro's. He had never met another company so successful in getting out of holes as the Cataract, and said that no law in Canada could draw up a contract to hold that company. He accused the company and its canvassers of wilful lying in the present campaign, and said that the hydro ratepayers' rig in the city at $10 each for use on the 25th.

In spite of all their money, the bylaw will carry. In regard to the 1000 light customers for the city plant, estimated by Sifton, the number would more likely be 8000. He admonished his hearers not to succumb to the Cataract's offer of $5 each for their votes, but to bear in mind that they would save more than that on their first years' light bills under the municipal system.

While the last, Gordon Wilson, M.L.A. of Dundas, was by no means the most serious, said Mr. Dineen. "The recent agreement between the municipalities and the fact that the dealers have few pellets on hand makes the prospect for a big increase in price very probable. Then it follows that substitutes for Alaska seal, such as Hudson, Near and Electric Seal, will be much higher from now on."

REGULATION OF CAPITALIZATION

The determination of the directors of the Toronto Railway Company to distribute one million dollars of paid-up stock among their shareholders as a bonus, and to issue two other millions to them at par, when the stock is selling at about $150, brings again to public attention the need of federal and provincial laws regulating the capitalization of all public service corporations.

The member for South York brought up the question during the present session of parliament in regard to the Canadian Pacific Railway, which had unnecessarily increased its capital stock, and therefore increased the burden imposed on traffic, when it could have got all the money it required on a bond issue at low interest charges. The stock carries 10 per cent, and bonuses. And, furthermore, it issued this stock at less than it would command on the market. This is exactly what the Toronto Railway is doing, and it is a wrong inflicted on the public who have to maintain the railway. But Mr. Maclean got no support in the house; he was personally attacked; and he was abused in the newspaper press. Worst of all, he was left absolutely alone, without any support of any kind. The Northwest members were mum. Evenly much the same argument was made in the local legislature by a solitary member in regard to local corporations, including the street railways, and Sir James Whitney and his government refused to act. The same thing happened in the case of the leader of the opposition; he had no word to say.

Things are in a bad condition in Canada when the members of the legislature are afraid to say anything on an issue of this importance. They are away behind the State of New York and other states in the Union. And President Taft to-day is pledged to have a law enacted regulating the capital of all federal corporations. In New York State they have a most excellent law, and since it has been passed not one dollar of water has been injected into any railway or public service corporation. But before it was passed, hundreds of millions of water were injected into the New York underground roads. And not only does the New York law take control, but it says what the class of the securities shall be; that is, if the money can be got for less in the way of bonds, then they order an issue of bonds instead of a stock issue.

Inasmuch as the public will in a short time elect members for the Dominion House of Commons and most of the legislatures, it is the duty of the electors to demand pledges of the candidates and of the parties in this respect. It is the greatest question before the people of Canada to-day. Has the city council anything to say?

ELECTRICITY FOR SMALL HOMES

Mr. T. M. Humble has challenged the hydro-electric commission, The World, and all whom it may concern, to produce some means whereby Toronto may be placed in the same position as Ottawa, or dozens of little villages throughout the length and breadth of the land, where every shack and cottage is provided with electric fixtures, and the inmates have the benefit, convenience and comfort of electric light. Mr. Humble is naturally anxious that small householders should have the advantages of the cheap light provided by the hydro-electric commission. We point his third letter on the subject to-day.

The Hamilton Spectator, which is not interested in the working classes, but has the interests of the big capitalists of the Cataract Power Company in Mr. Humble's communications, "in Mr. Humble's communications" a strange and heretofore unmentioned objection to a lighting plant planned upon hydro-electric lines.

This is very like the Spectator. Very like, indeed. And like The Times, and also like The Stratford Beacon and all the other under-headed supporters of monopolistic wealth against general convenience and comfort.

The argument of the Spectator really is that as the less advantageously situated part of the community has never had the comfort of electric light, the others never give it to them at all. And then snatches at Mr. Humble's mistake view, which we do not agree with at all, that a large section of the community are being taxed to actually maintain a monopoly under the name of public ownership. We repludiate this sentiment, split infinitive and all.

Nobody, of course, is taxed to maintain the hydro-electric system. The public credit is pledged, as it is pledged to build railways and other things, but the service will pay itself out of the rates charged to consumers. The Spectator knows this very well, and knows that Sir James Whitney never would have agreed to the hydro-electric scheme had it been otherwise. But in a Cataract campaign misrepresentation comes natural.

Most of our houses in Toronto are not wired for electric light because the Toronto Electric Light Company has for years charged such high rates that it was impossible for any but wealthy people to pay for electric light. In Hamilton the case is similar. The Cataract Company had no use for the working man, and only offers to reduce its rates under the compulsion of hydro-electric competition. The Spectator would not be at all surprised, it says, to see The World "pressing upon the Whitney government a legislative scheme for the municipalizing of the gas and electric-fitting business, with the object that the people may be served with installations at cost."

This is not even clever, for The Spectator. The World has advocated public operation of public utilities, but gas and electric fitting is no more a public utility than shoe-blackening. Any half-skilled mechanic can fit up electric lighting fixtures in his house at very slight cost. Great pains has to be taken about the insulation, but the work is always inspected before it can be used, and there should be no difficulty in securing absolute safety. The commission supplies the meter. The hydro-electric rates are low enough to compete with gas and give better light for the same money.

We believe all new houses are being furnished with electric fittings, and from the number of electric supply stores springing up in every quarter of the city, we do not think there is any doubt about the eagerness of people to have electric fittings installed in their homes. The electric fitters are so busy that they do not advertise, even in The Spectator, but we shall be happy to hear from any electric fitter as to his idea of the cost of wiring a four, five or six-roomed house. As to the silence of the hydro-electric commission on the subject, we can only say that their heads, like the giraffe's, are in the air at present. They are busy putting up poles and wires. The giraffe utters no sound, and the secretary of the commission follows this amiable example.

But just listen to Hon. Adam Beck Friday next. He will have both feet on the ground.

MILK AND BOVINE TUBERCULOSIS

Very important on account of its bearing on the public health is the final report of the British Royal Commission appointed some years ago to investigate the subject of tuberculosis. The late Professor Koch indicated the opinion, without however committing himself to its certainty, that bovine tuberculosis was not transmissible to human beings and that milk could not become the vehicle of communication. This view has not been sustained by the commission. As the result of their researches and experiments the members are satisfied that bovine tuberculosis may be acquired, since its specific germ was found in afflicted patients both alone and in association with the human variety. Milk from cows suffering with that disease is therefore a serious menace to public health.

Apart altogether from the general question of pure milk, sufficient of itself to justify rigid regulation, the finding of the commission makes regulation all the more imperative from the source of supply to the consumer. For the large proportion of deaths among infants and young children, impure milk must bear a material share of the responsibility. Marked benefit has followed from the established municipal depots where the milk has been properly sterilized before distribution, but the process of supervision must be extended back to the animals themselves. This final report of the royal commission will greatly strengthen the hands of medical health officers in their demand for adequate inspection and supervision for adequate inspection and supervision.

WIDENING YONGE-STREET. Whatever there is of progressive spirit in the city council will be put on its mettle when the question of the widening of Yonge-street is brought up by Controller Spence. We never can understand why some aldermen who claim to be progressive are always found leading reactionary movements against such measures as this, and objecting very strongly to be mentioned as doing so.

The statement that is now being made to do duty for an argument against widening Kings and Yonge-street is that there is going to be less traffic on Kings-street and Yonge-street in the future than at present. Look at Queen-street, we are told. We have looked long and earnestly, and we see it being choked at a tremendous rate. But when we look at Kings-street we see no slackening there. More people go past the corners of King and Yonge-street than ten years ago. Ostensibly progressive aldermen will rise in the city council and tell us, no doubt, that there will be fewer people there from now onward. We respectfully decline to be moved by such statements, which merely represent what are called "divergent interests." Controller Spence's proposal is a wide-awake one, so far as the future is concerned, but it would not have been premature fifteen years ago.

AS TO "BUSTED" BOOM.

Editor World: The long article on Vancouver in The World is not explicit enough. "The boom is bust," it says, but it doesn't prove it. All it does say is that 15,000 men are out of work and the carpenters are on strike. The strike indicates activity in the building trade, for men strike when they are in a position to demand better wages. It proves that a lot of building was going on. Figures support this. In May last the value of building permits issued in Vancouver was $2,448,755. The first six months of the year showed an increase over last year of $2,525,525. That is progress, not a busting boom. Vancouver has been widely advertised and men know that work was plentiful there, and hence, the public and people flocked in filled up the jobs and left a surplus of out-of-work. Such is fame. Vancouver is not a factory town and does not require many unskilled laborers. It can't stop them coming in, but the fact that they have to walk the streets when they get there doesn't prove that "the boom has busted." Vancouver.

CHEAP ELECTRIC INSTALLATION.

Editor World: The writer returns to the subject of cheaper installation in the homes of the average citizen to benefit from the hydro-electric system of cheap power. It is needless to cover the ground again. The World is familiar with the points emphasized in my previous letters. In the meantime The Hamilton Spectator has taken up the subject, and supports the contention of the writer. It is a chief exponent of government ownership, it was expected that a reply would be forthcoming.

Has its owner or editors no opinion to offer on so vitally interesting a subject? Or has the writer, unkindly, created an issue that cannot be answered without imperiling the whole superstructure of public ownership? Does the chief editor, the publisher, or the writer intend to remain silent? T. M. Humble.

TORONTO'S REAL SUBURB.

Editor World: I commend your editorial reference to North Toronto real estate development in The World, and only real suburb of Toronto. Contrast it with the others and you see the truth of this remark. Away Up North.

SECRET WORTH A MILLION.

Not Discovered Haphazard, But Won by Deep and Careful Research.

"If China Wood Oil has all the wonderful advantages you claim for it, why don't all varnish manufacturers use it?" "This is a question which has been asked me often, and I answer, they don't know how," said Harry W. Thorpe, sales manager of the Holland Varnish Company. "We had to experiment for years. Our Mr. Hollister is a chemist, and a fellow of the Chemical Society of London. Eng. studied the China Wood Oil from the jar-shaped 'Tung nut' to its jelly state, to be sure that anyone who discovered the secret of treating this oil successfully so that it could be used in high-grade varnishes, would not sell it out right as a method would be worth a value figure into the millions. "When Mr. Hollister discovered the secret so long denied to the world, he promptly resigned a remunerative position held with another firm and devoted two years to setting his discovery. On proving up, he had no difficulty in interesting capitalists, and a fine new factory was built and equipped, with Mr. Hollister in charge of the production, and his colleagues taking an active interest in the work. "I am neither bombastic nor boastful when I say that this is the best varnish business. We can sell 'Dyke' varnishes to-day at a less price than is asked for the best linseed oil varnish ever made."

Opportunity for Those Going West.

On July 25 and Aug. 8 through tourist Pullman sleeping cars will leave Toronto at 11 p.m. for Winnipeg and points on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Winnipeg and Edmonton. Cars will run through the Hydro-Railway System to Chicago, thence connecting lines in connection with "homeseekers" excursions. The rates to Western Canada are very low. Winnipeg and return, $32; Edmonton and return, $41. Tickets good for 60 days. Proportionate rates on other points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Tourists' cars will be fully equipped with bedding, etc., and porters in charge. Grand Trunk agent, or address A. E. Duden, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, Ont.

Genus Homo Tourist.

The usual summer tourists who prefer to travel in rags and choose rather to ride on freight cars or wherever convenient without having troubled to purchase a ticket, are once more quite common on the trains through Ontario and are giving the Ottawa end of work in trying to spot them.

COULD NOT PUT HANDS IN WATER

Because of Severe and Stubborn Eczema. Used Everything for Nearly Eight Years. Could not Sleep. After Few Applications of Cuticura Ointment, Burning and Itching Lessened. Could Sleep Well.

Now Has Hands as Clear as Anyone.

"Some nine years ago I noticed small pimples breaking out on the back of my hands. They became very irritating, and gradually became worse, so that I could not sleep at night. I consulted a physician who treated me a long time, but it got worse, and I could not put my hands in water. I was treated at the hospital, and it was the same. I was told that it was a very bad case of eczema. Well, I just kept on using everything that I could for nearly eight years until I was advised to try Cuticura Ointment. I did so, and found after a few applications and by bandaging my hands with the Cuticura treatment, and thought I could use other remedies for over seven years with no result, and after five more applications and finding ease from Cuticura Ointment and Soap for nearly six months, and am glad to say that I have hands as clear as anyone. "It is my wish that you publish this letter to all the world, and if anyone doubts it, let them write me and I will give them the name of my physician. (Signed) Mrs. Mary A. Bentley, 63 University St., Montreal, Que., Sept. 14, 1910. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Deposits in all world. Potter Drug & Chem. Citizens Pay Up Tax Bills.

July 25 is the last day set for the payment of the first instalment of taxes, and while payments are being made right along, there will likely be the usual rush on the last couple of days. The collection of taxes is delayed very considerably this year owing to the late date at which the estimates were passed. In the meantime the city has had to borrow $2,000,000 to meet current liabilities, while the first instalment of taxes is being collected, and interest on this sum will reach a considerable amount.

Must Make Widow Comfortable.

Edward Gray of Whitechurch, who died in the last week of June, left an estate valued at $449, consisting of farm and cash and personal property. Three bequests of $300 are made to daughters, and an annuity of $125 to the wife, after which the residue goes to his son, Edward Russell Gray. The son, however, must give to his mother the use of the three best rooms in his house, and must board her and give her firewood.

FORWARD STEP IN BUSINESS.

Enquiry as to the effect upon the business of Rice Lewis & Son, Ltd., of the sale of their retail building, elicits the information that this move does not by any means indicate a contraction of the business or change in policy of the company. The retail department will be conducted as heretofore in the King-street building for some time to come and ample provision will still more commodious quarters for the continuation of this branch of their trade without any interruption whatever when possession of the front building is transferred. In this connection it may be mentioned that when two and a half years ago the business and property of this company were purchased by Messrs. R. C. Fisher and A. E. Gilverson, it was announced by these gentlemen through this journal that their plans included the sale of the King-street building, the policy then formulated being now carried out. It was also given out at the same time that the new proprietors would be joined in the business by some of the senior members of the staff, who had been connected with the house for twenty-five or thirty years, and now that Messrs. Fisher and Gilverson have completed the purchase of the capital stock of the company, the new board now being formed will include Messrs. James W. McMillan, Walter J. Lawson, Fergus E. McDonald and E. R. Kastner, the three gentlemen mentioned having grown up in the business from boyhood. It will therefore be seen that each move made means a step of progress looking to the expansion of the business, which ranks with Toronto's pioneer mercantile institutions.

Divisible Payments. The payment of general taxes may be divided into two instalments, and on the 25th day of July, and not otherwise, an extension of time shall be given for the payment of the second instalment on the 25th day of September, and on the payment of the second instalment on or before the day named, an extension of time shall be given for the payment of school rates to the 25th day of November.

On taxes payable on the 25th of September, if paid before the 25th of October, one-half of one per cent. After 25th of October, five per cent. will be added. Failure to pay such instalments of tax as it becomes due not only forfeits the right of settlement by instalments, but brings the parties under the penalty of the Assessment Law, which enacts that, in case any party shall REFUSE to pay the tax, or to pay the tax as it becomes due, the Collector of Taxes may, after demand, the Collector shall levy the same, with costs by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the party who refused to pay the tax, and do not pay the tax as it becomes due, and the Collector shall be entitled to bring the same charge to cover your payment. Checks tendered for the payment of taxes must be "marked" and made payable to the order of the City Treasurer. Additional stamps enclosed to ensure the prompt return of receipts.

What Will Make It Go?

A driver who omits to take stock of his car, how much oil and gasoline he has with him, and what a load he can carry, soon finds that his motor has ceased to be "a running concern."

Same way with a business; if we didn't take stock of this running concern every six months, we'd soon be not only stationary, but defunct. To keep our stock up to your expectations, we are now laying aside all broken lines and late deliveries for you to take at practically your own price.

From day to day you will find mentioned here the items that we've found most recently. But it's well worth your while to come and inspect the whole of this merchandise we've marked for quick disposal.

Summer Millinery for Children

(Second Floor)

How would you like to wear a winter hat all through the summer? Just notice the number of children whose parents apparently think it quite all right to bundle up the kiddies' heads in exactly the same style of bonnet during the hot weather as they did when the temperature was below zero.

On Thursday a newly-arrived consignment of Summer Bonnets and Hats from New York will be displayed in the Millinery Salon, in three sections. Prices are 50c, 75c and $1.00, and are about half the money you would expect to give for similar millinery. Space forbids description, but you will not be disappointed.
