Another Murderous Attack, While Police Still Search Vainly For H. L. Williams' Assassin

Bullet Fired at Young Man in Cranston Avenue Missile Barely Missed Him, Passing Through His Trousers—Search Made at Torryburn For Stranger Reported to be Lurking Around Bishop's Picnic Grounds

Six days have now elapsed since Harry L. Williams, a well known young grocer and butcher of the North End was murdered, but the assassin is still at large, and the mystery surrounding his death becomes deeper and more vague. The city is filled with rumors of all kinds, many of a startling nature, but how they originated is a baffling problem in itself. The authenticity of many has been disproven and it is thought they have either been conceived in the mind of some irresponsible person, or else have been told by some alarmist.

It was reported today that a well known merchant of the North End received a type-written letter from some unknown person warning him that he was the next in line for assassination, but upon enquiry it was learned that he had only heard the rumor and had not received any such communication.

A report which caused no small amount of alarm among citizens, especially in the North End, was heard yesterday and was to the effect that, while a young man was returning to his home somewhere in the rear of Fort Howe at three o'clock Sunday morning, some person fired at him. The bullet went through his trousers but did not strike the young man.

The story comes from the father of the young man and was in part as follows: His son was employed on the elevator and was on duty on Saturday night. He remained at work until about three o'clock in the morning when he started for home. He was going along Cranston Avenue when the report of a revolver rang out and at the same instant he felt something strike his leg. He did not wait to ascertain who his would-be assassin was but started to sprint and kept running as hard as he could until he arrived home. It was then that he discovered that a bullet had passed through his garments.

This, coupled with the appalling murder, the burning of a summer cottage owned by William J. Crawford on the Loch Lomond road, the murder of Robert Harris, Jr., and several burglaries have aroused the citizens to a pitch which is unparalleled in the history of St. John and they are beginning to clamor for some drastic steps on the part of the police officials. Many citizens feel that the police have not been over-diligent or else are helpless in the present crisis and that help should be solicited from larger cities where they are more experienced in criminal matters of this kind. Two murders in such a short space of time and other serious crimes have caused an uneasiness and nervousness which will not be mitigated until the culprits have been brought to justice. From appearances during the last few days the police have been actively engaged running down the assassin, but unless they can obtain results and bring the guilty person or persons to justice the anxiety of the citizens is not likely to become less.

Mrs. Wilkins Questioned.
Mrs. John Wilkins was summoned to the Chief of Police's office this morning, where she was questioned regarding her actions on the night of the murder, but nothing of importance was learned that had any connection with the case.

Will Look for Him
The man who accosted the three girls in Rockland road last Wednesday night and who made statements which caused considerable comment, is being sought by the police and, it is understood, he will be made give an account of his actions and statements. He told the girls about murders having been committed and the assassin coming, also spoke about a code he had on a piece of paper which made many homes unhappy, especially one, and later, when two of the girls became frightened and started to run away, he said he could stop them with a pressure of a finger. The Times learned this morning that a stranger, presumably the same man, was seen again Thursday night sitting on the side of Rockland road and his presence there terrified women who had to pass along to get to their homes. Whether or not the man will throw any light on the mystery is yet to be known. The citizens expressed surprise that he was not rounded up several days ago after the report appeared in these columns.

Search at Torryburn.
Chief Simpson received a report that a strange man was seen wandering about the Bishop's grounds at Torryburn, and in company with some of his men, he went to the scene on Saturday. A careful search was made but no trace of the man could be found. It is not unusual for strangers to be seen about the grounds of the Bishop's grounds, and they are not inclined to believe that the murderer, having been seen there, had exercised a careful consideration for the department in a fair manner, often even at personal inconvenience. Mr. Miller, a few years ago, married Miss Bell of this city. St. John will be sorry to lose them both, but will send with them to their New York state home the best of wishes and the hope that they will make this city a frequent place of visitation.

Chaplain Hooper TELLS OF HIS WORK
Miss Ethel M. Turner, Sandy Point road, has received a letter from Chaplain E. B. Hooper, acknowledging the receipt of $20.50 which was sent to him by the ladies of St. Barnabas' church, Sandy Point road. Rev. Mr. Hooper writes:

"It is curious that only last evening I said to my wife: 'Is it not surprising that I never hear from you?' and then your letter came this morning with your generous gift of $20.50. Nothing that I have received has pleased me more and with all my heart I thank you. You already know how I spend the money sent for my 'wounded soldiers' fund; getting many more cigarettes for the men who use them; taking weak and crippled men for drives in motor cars with tea before coming back. The dear lady appreciate it all so much and I always tell them the names of those who send me money for these things. It interests them greatly and they so enjoy these outings and they do them a great deal of good. I still love St. Barnabas and its little congregation and you may be sure that, if I am spared to return to Canada, I will spend one Sunday afternoon with you all and preach. No, I never preach now; I just will talk to you of real things and things worth while, which will interest you as no thing ever has done. Give my love to all my people out there. My present trip is wonderful in its blessedness, usefulness, and yet so filled with blessedness and happiness. Mrs. Hooper and the girls send their love. My boy is still at the front with my machine guns. I would that every able bodied man of military age in St. Barnabas church had enlisted. If they could only see what I have seen they could not help coming. I do so much appreciate your affections for me. I shall never forget your good words, helping my dear lady putting together this money you sent me."

pending sentence. The boy admitted taking the milk, but owing to his youth, the strong plea of his relations and the fact that he is awaiting his discharge from military service, the court refrained from sending him to jail.

GOOD OFFICIAL RESIGNS AFTER MANY YEARS

Peter E. Miller, Chief American Immigration Inspector Here

ILL HEALTH CAUSES RETIREMENT

His Term Here Has Been Step by Step With Growth of Passenger Traffic—Inspected First Vessel With European Passengers Here—A Faithful, Popular Officer

Peter E. Miller, inspector in charge for the U. S. Immigration Department in this district, has resigned his important post to retire to private life. That his resignation has been forwarded to Washington was learned by a Times reporter today and the news will be received with regret by many who have met Mr. Miller in social life or have had dealings with him in his official capacity.

He resigns because of ill health. It will be remembered that about a year and a half ago Mr. Miller fell on Chipman Hill and severely injured his spine. Just so soon as he could, however, he resumed his duties, but his health has not been restored, and on advice of his physician he decided to give up the position he has so well filled and retire to private life at his native place near Rochester, New York.

Mr. Miller entered the service of the department twenty-seven years ago, starting in New York. He was one of the first inspectors transferred to Canada for duty and was first stationed at Quebec, then Halifax and finally, twenty-two years ago, was appointed to St. John. He has since covered the territory between Eastport and Fort Kent, Me. At that time Mr. Miller was thirteen years of age and in the department in a fair manner, often even at personal inconvenience. Mr. Miller, a few years ago, married Miss Bell of this city. St. John will be sorry to lose them both, but will send with them to their New York state home the best of wishes and the hope that they will make this city a frequent place of visitation.

ANOTHER BREAK IN THE NORTH END

The north end is getting its full share of sensation today, yesterday afternoon or last night the biscuit factory and offices of Hamm Bros. in Main street, and the establishment of the Blue Ribbon Beverage Company, adjoining were entered, presumably by boys, and so thoroughly ransacked that the thieves evidently took their time about. Very little was taken, except some loose cash, chewing gum, candy and soda water; but drawers were pulled out and searched and everything disarranged. No attempt was made to force the safes open. It is reported that several boys were seen climbing over a nearby fence about six o'clock in the evening.

The Work of Boys?
The fact that Hamm Bros' bakery and confectionery store, which was broken into last night, is only a short distance from the scene of the murder, leads some people to believe that perhaps some youthful burglar was hiding in the little back room, or else in the meat store and, while either holding up the proprietor, or else attempting to sneak out of the building, was caught and the weapon may have been discharged accidentally. Youths have been caught in so many daring breaks recently that people are beginning to look in the neighborhood for a clue to unravel the gruesome murder mystery.

VICE-PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER OF THE G. T. P. R.

W. P. Hinton has been appointed vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway with headquarters at Winnipeg. Mr. Hinton, Donaldson, resigned on account of ill health. The appointment is effective from August 1.

DELEGATES FROM FRANCE WILL GO TO STOCKHOLM

Socialist Party Has Decided In Favor of Movement

THEIR PLATFORM STATED

Arthur Henderson Expected To Make Statement in Commons
Today—German Comment on Approaching Conference

Paris, Aug. 12.—After a prolonged discussion the permanent administrative committee of the French socialist party has adopted a resolution stating among other things, the French socialist delegates will go to the Stockholm conference to demand that the governments which will refuse to make known their aims and whether they are prepared to make reparation in accordance with the rights of the people be made to do so by socialist action. The declaration says:

"The (socialist) party does not go to Stockholm in search of a peace compromise which would leave the fate of the peoples in suspense and at the mercy of fresh wars. It goes to declare that it respects the rights of the peoples and its engagement to honor the just and honorable terms of the peace of nations, can constitute an acceptable peace."

Henderson's Resignation
London, Aug. 12.—A statement by Arthur Henderson, the labor leader and minister without portfolio in the British war cabinet, who resigned on Saturday, was expected to be made this afternoon in parliament and it was assumed that Premier Lloyd George would reply immediately. It was reported that Henderson would demand the production of all communications between the British and Russian governments and the Russian telegram he quoted in a letter to Mr. Henderson. If the House of Commons endorses the demand, a secret session is likely to be held for the communication of certain documents, reference being made in morning newspapers to a telegram which, it is stated, Mr. Kerensky, the Russian premier, sent to Albert Thomas, French minister of munitions, declaring that the Russian government not only was not interested in the Stockholm meeting but that Premier Kerensky himself hoped the conference would not be held.

A German View

London, Aug. 12.—Commenting on the decision of the British labor conference to send delegates to the socialist meeting at Stockholm, Vorwärts, the Socialist organ of Berlin, says, according to a despatch to the Exchange Telegram Company: "We hope when the delegates arrive that they will understand from that indicated by Henderson. They must understand that it is impossible for them to reach a continuation of the war by giving German minority socialists additional evidence against the German government. One single discussion with the Germans will show the English how naive they are." This is an advance we hope for from the coming discussion. Therefore we rejoice in this step forward. It cannot remain the only step.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT REFUSES PERMISSION

London, Aug. 12.—Andrew Bonar Law, the government spokesman in the House of Commons, told the members of the lower house this afternoon that the government had decided that permission to attend the international socialist conference

FIRM MEASURES ARE ADVOCATED IN PETROGRAD

Deporation of Non-Production Population

AN ECONOMIC MEASURE

National Council Meeting at Moscow Postponed—Government Will Make Statement of Measures Proposed

Petrograd, Aug. 12.—A partial evacuation of Petrograd by idle and non-productive elements of the population in which daily is becoming more acute, was favorably considered by the government at a conference yesterday and the question referred to the minister of justice for his approval.

The order of evacuation, if promulgated, and it is likely that it will be, will provide for the transfer of all idle and non-productive individuals not actively engaged in Petrograd or necessary to the economic or official life of the city. The measure will aim to move from the capital the burden of the idle parasitic population, which fomenters disorders and which, to a great extent, was responsible for the recent uprisings. Schools probably will be included among the institutions transferred from that city.

A special permit designating the business of the holder will be required of those entering the city.

Refugees From Palestine and Syria Arrive in Switzerland After Terrible Trip—"None so Miserable"

Geneva, Aug. 12.—The Swiss press is indignant over the condition of American Jews from Palestine and Syria who have arrived in Switzerland after eight weeks of constant traveling under terrible conditions. La Suisse says: "We have seen many unfortunate refugees of several nationalities pass through our country but never have they been so miserable as the Americans."

FRENCH REPULSE GERMAN ATTACKS

Enemy Sustains Losses and Obtains No Results—Air Craft Brought Down—Two of German Flying Squadron Pay Penalty For Raid on English Coast

Paris, Aug. 12.—The Germans attacked last night on the Alsace front in an effort to recapture trenches taken by the French on Saturday. Today's official statement says they were repulsed with losses.

The announcement follows: "Between Cerny and Craonne the enemy's artillery developed pronounced activity, especially in the sector south of Allas. The Germans attacked in vain at the point at which we captured trenches on Aug. 11. They were repulsed with losses and obtained no results. In the Champagne, east of Rheims, in the regions of the Casque and the Teton, and on the left bank of the Meuse there were spirited artillery actions. Two surprise attacks by the enemy, at Caurieres Wood and Bezonvaux, were repulsed by our fire. Elsewhere the night was calm."

"Two German airplanes and a captive balloon were brought down yesterday by our pilots. Three other enemy machines were forced to land having been severely damaged."

TWO HUN MACHINES DESTROYED

London, Aug. 12.—Two of the German machines which yesterday evening raided the English southeast coast watering places, were destroyed by British naval airplanes. The official statement issued by the government today says that one of the machines was a Gotha airplane and the other a seaplane.

"NOTHING TO REPORT"

London, Aug. 12.—"There is nothing special to report from the Franco-Belgian front," says today's official communication.

TO LOOT JERUSALEM

Cairo, Egypt, July 20.—(Correspondence of the A. P.)—The situation in Palestine this summer is the most serious since the war began. A scheme for the looting of Jerusalem is already being executed and, throughout the countryside, the Turk has embarked on a calculated policy of plundering and killing the native inhabitants, so that if they are forced to vacate the country they will leave behind them a desert. The only thing which can save them, the only hope that buoy them up, is that the British armies now hammering at the gates of the Holy Land may soon drive out the Turk.

Spanish Railway Struck

Madrid, Sunday, Aug. 12.—The news today from the province indicated that railroad trains were running under almost normal conditions, following the strike of railroad employes on Friday night. Premier Dato says the government has taken all measures to avoid a general strike, which, it is reported, the workers wish to undertake.

Government Buys Coop.

FERDINAND OF BULGARIA TALKS

Discusses Desires For Expansion in Russia and Economic Future of His Own Country—Looks to Asia Minor

Berlin, Aug. 12, via Amsterdam.—In the course of an interview with a Stuttgart editor, King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, who has been visiting the King of Wurtemberg, said he believed the desire of expansion would come to assert themselves in liberated Russia and also that the smallest states must constantly be on their guard.

The economic future of his own country, the Bulgarian king said, was dependent upon a close association with Germany, and Austria-Hungary, which countries would prove ready markets for Bulgaria's agricultural products. The olive and lemon industries, he added, especially were suited for development on a large scale, which would make Bulgaria an active competitor of Italy. The Bulgarian monarch said he firmly believed that Asia Minor would be a profitable field of economic endeavor, its exploitation merely awaiting introduction of adequate transportation facilities. The Bulgarian king blamed the Italian king and French influence for Italy's withdrawal from the Triple Alliance.

VISITORS FROM SOUTH

The Rotary Club at today's luncheon at Bond's enjoyed the treat of hearing two tourists from the States—Dean Johnson of the Anglican Cathedral, Atlanta, Georgia, and John Singler of Florida. The Dean, who confessed to being an Irishman, is eloquent, witty and forcible, and his address was one of the most brilliant the Club has heard for a long time. Mr. Singler spoke briefly, but like his friend, made eloquent reference to the war and the new fellowship between the United States and Canada. A vote of thanks was moved by J. M. Robinson and seconded by J. G. Harrison. E. A. Schell, president. Among guests of members present were Judge Armstrong and Major Tilly.

Dean Johnson of Atlanta, Ga., speaking

ALBERT ROGERS
DROWNED TODAY
IN THE RIVER

That Albert Rogers, the nine-year-old son of Pilot Bart Rogers, was drowned in the waters of St. John river just off Epworth Park was the sad news that Pilot Rogers received this morning just shortly after he had arrived in the city after spending the week-end at his summer home.

Pilot Rogers and family have been summering at Epworth Park. Mr. Rogers has been in the habit of going up and spending the week-ends with his family. This morning when he left his home his two little boys were well and playing around. About twelve o'clock today Mr. Rogers was called up on the telephone and the sad news was conveyed to him. He was informed that the body had been found. No further particulars were received. For some time Pilot Rogers did not know which of his boys had been drowned, and it was not until the second call that he received the information that it was his son Albert. Mr. Rogers left about 12.30 o'clock by automobile for the scene of the accident, in company with Mr. O'Neil, the undertaker. The body will be brought to town.

HOW THEY WON
THE VICTORIA CROSS

Five Victoria Crosses were announced last Thursday. The following are details of the deeds for which the awards were made:

Four Times Wounded

Lieutenant Rupert Vance Moon, infantry battalion, Australian Imperial Force—For most conspicuous bravery during an attack on an enemy strong point. His own immediate objective was a position in advance of the hostile trench itself, and thence against the trench itself, after the capture of which it was intended that his men should co-operate in a further assault on a strong point further in the rear. Although wounded in the initial advance, he reached his first objective. Leading his men against the trench itself, he was again badly wounded and incapacitated for the moment. He nevertheless inspired and encouraged his men and captured the trench. Lieutenant Moon continued to lead his much diminished command in the general attack with the utmost valour, being again wounded, and the attack was successfully pressed home. During the consolidation of the position this officer was again badly wounded, and it was only after the fourth and severe wound through the face that he consented to retire from the fight. His bravery was magnificent, and was largely instrumental in the successful issue against superior numbers, the safeguarding of the flank of the attack, and the capture of many prisoners and machine guns.

"A Magnificent Example"

Second Lieut. (Acting Captain) David Philip Hirsch, late York Regiment.—For conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty in attack. Having arrived at the first objective, Captain Hirsch, although badly wounded, returned over fire-swept slopes to satisfy himself that the defensive flank was being established. Machine gun fire was so intense that it was necessary for him to be continuously up and down the line encouraging his men and holding the position. He continued to encourage his men by standing on the parapet and standing in the face of machine gun fire and counter-attack until he was killed. His conduct throughout was a magnificent example of the greatest devotion to duty.

"Absolute Disregard of Death"

Temporary Second Lieutenant John Harrison, M. C., East Yorkshire Regiment.—For most conspicuous bravery and self-sacrifice in an attack. Owing to darkness and to smoke from the enemy barrage and from our own, and to the fact that our objective was in a dark wood, it was impossible to see when our barrage had lifted off the enemy front line. Nevertheless, Second Lieutenant Harrison led his company against the enemy trench under heavy rifle and machine gun fire, but was repulsed. Reorganizing his command as best he could in "No Man's Land," he again attacked in darkness, under terrific fire, but with no success. Then, turning round this gallant officer, single-handed, made a dash at the machine gun, hoping to knock out the gun and so save the lives of many of his company. His sacrifice and absolute disregard of danger was an inspiring example to all. He is reported missing, believed killed.

"A Very Gallant Soldier"

No. 88504, Sergeant Donald Forrester
Brown late infantry battalion, New Zealand forces.—For most conspicuous bravery and determination in attack when the company to which he belonged suffered very heavy casualties in officers and men from machine gun fire. At great personal risk this N. C. O. advanced with a comrade and succeeded in reaching a point within thirty yards of the enemy guns. Four of the gun crew were killed and the gun captured. The advance of the company was continued till it was again held up by machine gun fire. Again Sergeant Brown and his comrade with great gallantry rushed the gun and killed the crew. After this second occasion in attack Sergeant Brown showed most conspicuous gallantry. He attacked single-handed a machine gun which was holding up the attack, killed the gun crew, and captured the gun. Later, whilst sniping the retreat of the enemy, this very gallant soldier was killed.

A Bombing Incident

No. 64512, Sergeant William Gosling, R. F. A.—For most conspicuous bravery when in charge of a heavy trench mortar gun. Owing to a faulty cartridge the bomb, after discharge, fell ten yards from the mortar. Sergeant Gosling springing out, lifted the nose of the bomb, which had sunk into the ground, unscrewed the fuse, and threw it on the ground, where it immediately exploded.
This very gallant and prompt action undoubtedly saved the lives of the whole detachment.

ARRESTED AT THE ALTAR

Monton Transcript—"Arrested at the Altar" was the experience of a young American in this city this afternoon, and strange to say the complaint against him is similar to that laid against an American here yesterday. The young man hails from Fulton, Tenn. For the past three months he has been working with the Warren Bituminous Favin Company. Since coming to Moncton he has fallen in love with a Moncton young woman residing on River street, and today shortly after noon, they were married. As he describes it himself, he had been married about one minute when an officer arrived and placed him under arrest, and he was at once taken to the police station.

The complaint was made by a resident of River street, who states that he used language insulting to the king.

The prisoner is a young man wearing a stamp of industry and generally of good appearance. The bride and her mother visited him at the station shortly after his arrival. Both the young man and the young woman seem to feel their position very keenly, but state he is innocent. They say the complaint against him was prompted by jealousy, that there is another woman in the case.

A ROSSING MILL

Campbellton Graphic—A complete rossing mill consisting of engine and boiler, saws, barkers, and conveyers with car for men engaged, arrived at Cross Joint, via Matapedia Saturday for the Meigs Pulpwood Co. The entire equipment came through a charge of William Connel, and will work along the Quebec Oriental railway. The train consists of four cars and takes the wood cuts it into proper lengths, barks it and then it is conveyed by a carrier to waiting cars. The Meigs Pulpwood Co., which is a large New York corporation, but with a number of Canadian directors, is buying a very large quantity of pulpwood from the farmers of this district for shipment to the United States.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT
"EYE STRAIN" MEANS?

Most people think of eye-strain as a conscious effort to see. As a matter of fact, few who have eye-strain are aware of extra effort. It is made without one being aware of it, and might may be keen, though severe strain exists. That is the great danger. Permanent harm may be done before the trouble is suspected.
If you have headaches, nervousness, exhaustion; tired aching, itching or eye-weary, you should have Sharpe's Optometrist examine your eyes and fit you with glasses, which will end eye-strain.

THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., MONDAY, AUGUST 13, 1917

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 13, 1917.

THE WAR SITUATION

The great battle in Flanders, which some of the reports declared was to be the greatest battle of the war, with the British driving steadily forward, has disappointed expectations. The fighting, after the first successful advance for a short distance, has settled down to the old business of attack and counter-attack here and there along the whole western front. The British and French have the best of it, but the change in relative position of the opposing armies is very slight. After long and patient preparation some ground is gained, after which there must be more patient preparation. The German line is still unbroken.

The situation in Roumania is again causing anxiety. The Roumanian and Russian forces are not holding their own. They are, however, fighting hard. Along the Russian front the situation shows very little change and it is clear that Germany's hope of putting Russia out of the war by one swift stroke is not to be realized. There appears to be a growing steadiness of purpose among the Russian people to uphold Premier Kerensky and remain in the war, and this would dash German hopes of releasing eastern armies for service on the western front. It is also reported that Austria refuses to withdraw any of her forces from the Italian front, and this if true will further embarrass the Germans.

The interesting news comes that additional Japanese naval units have joined the Allies in European waters. Will the time come when armies from Japan will also be brought into service? Japan is no doubt willing.

Another German air raid has levied its toll of death among women and children in an English town. The French do not submit as tamely as the English to this sort of warfare. Their airmen have dropped bombs on the German city of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, in retaliation for a German raid on Nancy. There is such a thing as being over-sympathetic in dealing with a tiger-nation, and the British may presently realize the fact.

Air fighting becomes more and more an important factor in the struggle on the western front, and the advantage is with the Allies. The sooner they are able to gain absolute supremacy in the air the earlier will they be able to drive the enemy out of France and Belgium.

GROWING DESPERATE.
The toy press is already throwing out hints about dreadful things to happen if the life of parliament is not prolonged. The French do not submit as tamely as the English to this sort of warfare. Their airmen have dropped bombs on the German city of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, in retaliation for a German raid on Nancy. There is such a thing as being over-sympathetic in dealing with a tiger-nation, and the British may presently realize the fact.

NO CAUSE FOR PANIC

Tories once burned the parliament buildings in Montreal. That city, with its very much mixed and somewhat turbulent population, has been the scene of many outbreaks such as would probably not occur in any other city in Canada. But Montreal is not Canada, and the people will not have their attention diverted from great national issues by what may happen in its war factories. We may well believe that there are gentlemen in Ottawa and elsewhere who would be willing to have the country fix its attention upon these matters rather than upon the record of the Borden government. Possibly there are some who would be willing to encourage riotous conduct in the hope that the smoke bombs would enable them to get away with the swag. The serious-minded people of the country, however, will not be swept off their feet by racial or religious prejudice, or the mad acts of fanatical partisans. They realize that the people of Canada must not only help to win the war but go on living together after the war. In the face of the bitterest controversy partisan zeal may provoke, and even in the face of riotous demonstrations they will keep the great issues clearly in mind, remembering that such ebullitions are short-lived, and that under the froth there must still remain the untroubled waters of national resolve, moving irresistibly onward to the haven of unity and peace. As sternly and steadily as the men in France traverse the field of No Man's Land, the Canadian people must go forward in the performance of their duty to save the country from dishonor abroad and the evils of lasting dissension at home. The Winnipeg convention has steadied the country. It has declared that unity can be preserved at any cost without impugning the honor of Canada abroad.

GIVE THEM PLAYGROUNDS

The Montreal Gazette says: "The fighting spirit is a fine thing in its place, but it is strongly to be discouraged when it shows itself in the form of bands of small boys arming themselves with clubs and giving battle at night in the public thoroughfares in a densely-populated part of the city. Recently the police have had to suppress several such disturbances. The guardians of the youngsters should awake to their responsibility. Negligence in such a matter may easily prove costly to them and unfortunate for their young hopefuls. A spank in time may save a term in the reformatory."

The same issue of the Gazette contained a court report telling of numerous depredations committed by boys. Its suggestion that the guardians of the youngsters should awake to their responsibilities is quite proper, but also quite useless. There will be no such awakening. But if the rich business men of Montreal would take on the promotion of child-welfare as a diversion, and provide an abundance of playgrounds, with good surrounding influences, they would enjoy the experience, and at the same time direct the superabundant energies of the boys into healthy channels, training them for better team-work and better citizenship. There are so many care-givers or utterly irresponsible or bad guardians that society for its own protection must take up the task of keeping large numbers of young people in the right path and out of mischief.

The retirement of Mr. Arthur Henderson from the British war cabinet was made inevitable by his action in advocating the attendance of British Labor delegates at the Stockholm conference, when his colleagues in the cabinet opposed that course. He seems to have conveyed the impression on his return from Russia that the latter country approved of such a conference, but Mr. Lloyd George is advised that the Russian government is not favorable and he charges that Mr. Henderson failed to comply with his request to give information to the British labor conference. The incident is unfortunate, but the press reports say that it will not alter the attitude of labor generally, and Mr. Henderson himself says that he wants the war carried to a successful issue. In the meantime the German Socialist organ warns the British delegates to Stockholm that the British government will not tolerate any reflections on Germany in relation to the war. It is difficult to understand how any Englishman can have a desire to take part in any such conference.

The Liberals of the maritime provinces should now meet in convention and decide upon their policy and attitude in the coming campaign.

HIS LATCH-KEY.

England, April 28, 1917.
"I am sending you all my keys except the latch. That I will keep, so that some day, when I get leave, I may walk in on you unexpectedly, and give you a surprise."
—In a letter from the Front, and long . . . long . . . long we waited for the sound that would tell us our signal was o'cr, and our hearts beat anxious no more—
For that sweetest of sounds that could fall on the ear
Of those who had lived on the knife-edge of fear,
The sound of his key in the door,
The sound of all sounds that could bring back life's cheer,
And comfort our hearts that were sore,
O, the ears of our soul strained as never before,
For the sound that shall tell us our joy
On the other side of the door,
The sound of his key in the door.

And we said, "We shall know when our boy's on his way."
And we said, "We shall know when he's here."
His step we shall catch while it's still far away,
And with it an end to our fear.
"But" we said, "we will wait for his key."
For the sound that shall tell us our joy
On the other side of the door,
For the joy of his rattle, so gallant and gay,
As we've heard it so often of yore,
O yes, we shall know when he reaches the door,
For his guardian angel will fly on before
To tell us he's on his way.
And so we waited, by night and by day,
For the sound that would tell us our joy
On the other side of the door,
But now . . . "All's Well" . . . but we're waiting no more
For the sound of his key in the door,
It lies with him there in his lowly grave,
Out there at the Front, where his all he gave
Our lives and the Soul of Life to save,
And our hopeful vigil is o'er
For now it is he who is waiting for us,
On the other side of the door;
And another stands with him there waiting for us,
And the sound of OUR key in That Door.
—JOHN OXENHAM.

that his own fat, easy industry is war itself, and that he may count his fatted cattle in the light of his stable lantern and go to bed a patriot; teaching all the professors, the chefs and the piano players, the actors and the buffoons, that in going on with their business they are aiding in the conduct of the war."

This, in a pamphlet circulated by the government, is putting, it so strongly, these one must expect the government to hesitate at no sort of measure that will improve matters. Accompanying the pamphlet, however, is a letter urging the recipient to go out and help on a farm—help a farmer presumably by holding the stable lantern while he counts his fatted cattle before retiring to a patriot's rest.

Either the government is about to take more energetic measures than it has ever been induced to promise publicly, or it is circulating pamphlets that arouse great expectations in that direction. There is a fervor in this pamphlet, an impatience with present conditions, and with governmental performance up to this time, which we wish we could feel possessed the souls and warmed the minds of the premier and Mr. McCann enlisted in the 257th Railway Construction Battalion here last winter and was quickly drafted to the 22nd Battalion of the same service in France.

One Recruit For The Week-End

With recruiting practically at a standstill, only one man was secured by the recruiting authorities in St. John over the week-end. He is C. Muse, 62nd Overseas Draft. He is an American.

Mrs. Pearl McCann, Union street, yesterday received an official telegram from Ottawa informing her of the wounding of her husband, Sapper Thomas McCann, of the Railway Construction Corps. Sapper McCann enlisted in the 257th Railway Construction Battalion here last winter and was quickly drafted to the 22nd Battalion of the same service in France.

The telegram stated that he had received gunshot wounds in the left arm and leg and was at No 21 Casualty Clearing Station on Aug. 7. Further particulars will be sent when received.

VICTORIA CROSS IS WON BY GALLANT CANADIAN AIRMAN

London, Aug. 12.—The intrepidity of Captain William Bishop, a Canadian and a member of the Royal Flying Corps in attacking a German airman (single-handed), has been rewarded by the bestowal upon him of the Victoria Cross, the most prized of the British valor medals. The official Gazette gives the following resume of the action which brought Captain Bishop the Victoria Cross:

"Captain Bishop flew first to an enemy airfield, landing no enemy machine about 500 yards from the airfield, three miles distant, and about twelve miles inside the German lines. Seven machines, some with their engines running were on the ground. He attacked these from a height of fifty feet, killing one of the mechanics.

"One of the machines got off the ground, but Captain Bishop, to a height of sixty feet, fired fifteen rounds into it at close range, and it crashed to the ground. A second machine got off the ground, into which he fired thirty rounds at 150 yards. It fell into a tree. Two more machines rose from the airfield, one of which he engaged at a height of 1,000 feet, sending it crashing to the ground. He then emptied a whole drum of cartridges into the fourth hostile machine and flew back to his station.

"Four hostile scouts were 1,000 feet above him, for a mile during his return journey, but they did not attack. His machine was badly shot about by machine gun fire from the ground."

MORE TETANUS GERMS

(Bangor Commercial)

Those who found it very difficult to believe the report that German agents have distributed court plagues with disease germs in the world, change their views now that more of the poisoned plagues has been found in Ohio. The letter is dated in Ohio, one of which he engaged at a height of 1,000 feet, sending it crashing to the ground. He then emptied a whole drum of cartridges into the fourth hostile machine and flew back to his station.

"Four hostile scouts were 1,000 feet above him, for a mile during his return journey, but they did not attack. His machine was badly shot about by machine gun fire from the ground."

French Air Raid on Frankfurt

Paris, Aug. 12.—The French aviators yesterday dropped bombs on Frankfurt-on-the-Main, one of the most important cities of the German empire, having a population of more than 300,000. The French official statement, announcing the raid, says it was in retaliation for the German aerial bombardment of Nancy and the region north of Paris.

Both French machines returned undamaged. The text of the announcement reads:

"In reprisal for the German bombardments of Nancy and the region north of Paris two of our machines, piloted by Lieut. Mezergues and Sub-Lieut. Beaumont, yesterday dropped bombs on Frankfurt-on-the-Main. Both machines returned undamaged.

"It is confirmed that a German aviator was brought down Aug. 9 on the Belgium front. Yesterday a German machine was shot down by machine gun fire northeast of Vauxelles."

23 KILLED IN RAID ON ENGLAND.

London, Aug. 12.—Twenty-three persons, including nine women and six children, were killed and fifty persons were injured at Southend, in Essex, forty miles east of London, by bombs dropped by German raiders today, says an official statement issued tonight. Considerable damage to property was caused at Southend by the nearly forty bombs dropped upon the town.

London, Aug. 12.—Last night the weather on the battle front in Flanders was wet and stormy. Fighting between the British and Germans took place east of Givenchy-Les-Bassée, seven miles north of Lens, where the British occupied the rear lip of a mine crater and drove off German counter-attacks. The British official statement announcing this operation follows:

"The weather was wet and stormy. During the night fighting occurred for possession of a mine crater east of Givenchy-Les-Bassée. We established ourselves on the rear lip of the crater and drove off counter-attacks.

"The hostile artillery showed great activity last night east and north of Ypres."

London, Aug. 12.—The British official communication issued this evening says:

"The number of prisoners captured in the successful attack of the 10th and in subsequent operations east of Ypres, has reached a total of 454, including nine officers. In the same operations we also captured six German guns.

"An attempted enemy raid this morning south of Armentières was successfully repulsed by the Portuguese with bombs and rifle fire.

"In spite of repeated storms and strong westerly winds, which greatly favored the enemy, our airplanes carried out much successful work yesterday. In air fighting three German machines were downed, and four others were driven down out of control. Two of our airplanes were forced to land behind the enemy line and three other British machines are missing."

NEW HALL WAS USED

The St. John District Lodge, I. O. G. T., met with the Scarlet Banner Lodge, Saturday night in the latter's new hall at Lorneville. This is the first time that the hall has been used and there will be a dedication service at some future date. Various matters relating to the Temple Lodges and other business was taken up and several addresses were made.

A. E. Akorn, referring to the new provincial prohibitory liquor that while it was doubtless a good one, something more was needed to prevent liquor being imported from Montreal and other licensed places. An attempt will be made to have the Doherty law enforced in New Brunswick.

The election of the delegates to the grand lodge was held over to another meeting which will take place some time this month at Nerepis.

After the business, during which two candidates were given the district degree, a long programme was carried out, consisting of music, recitations and speeches. Among those who spoke were B. C. Fisher, E. N. Stockford, the grand chief templar and A. E. Akorn. Henry W. McEachern, district chief, was in the chair.

The ladies of Lorneville provided refreshments for the gathering, which was a large one. The party from the city met at Haymarket square and two large automobile trucks took them out to Lorneville and brought them back at the close of the meeting.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 12.—Leslie Forbes, fifteen years old, son of Mrs. Forbes, Legit's Corner, lies dangerously ill in Moncton Hospital as a result of injuries received Saturday night when struck by an automobile driven by a resident of Harrisville. The boy stepped around the head of a carriage and

DRYING AND CANNING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Fifty years ago it was a very common thing to dry practically all kinds of fruits and vegetables, says Friday's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden commission at Washington. Now drying has become a "lost art" but the present emergency will stimulate this method of food conservation. In this year of great food production, it is essential that some means be taken for the prevention of waste during the time of over supply.

Advantages of drying are most apparent to the housewife who has no store fresh vegetable and fruits. When the markets are overstocked she can lay in a supply, dry it and store it away for the winter without any special space. If she is accustomed to canning her vegetables and fruit and is unable to obtain jars or cans she can easily resort to drying.

Many times there will be quantities of food left over which are too small for convenient canning. A few pieces of carrot or turnip may be dried at a time and a quantity sufficient for a meal will soon be secured. Small quantities of different kinds of vegetables may be dried and combined for soups and stews.

A strong point in drying is the ease with which it may be done. Nearly all kinds of fruits and vegetables may be dried at small cost by means of the ordinary home utensils.

The food to be dried may be placed on dishes in the oven, with open door partially open on the back of the stove which may be used for drying. It may also be done on sheets of muslin or paper in the sun.

There are three results for home drying: Sun drying, drying by artificial heat; drying by air blast (patented fan); and drying by means of combined advantageously.

All material should be washed and prepared carefully. Potatoes should be blanched and cold-dipped as for canning and then the regular drying process carried out.

To be dried quickly, most fruits and vegetables should be shredded or cut into slices because large pieces will dry on the outside, leaving a skin preventing escape of moisture.

Another precaution to be taken, especially in artificial drying, is with a gentle heat and raise slowly to higher temperature after the whole material has begun to wither.

Three Ways to Dry

Simplest form of food conservation, sun drying, is to place slices of food on sheets of paper or muslin and expose them to the sun, says Saturday's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden commission at Washington. D. C. All food should be taken to protect the product from moisture, and along towards evening the material should be carefully covered with cheesecloth to protect from insects. Once or twice a day the material should be turned and the dried pieces removed. No exact time can be given for drying but a little experience when the products are sufficiently dried. When first dried, vegetables should be rather dry and crackle, and fruits rather leathery and pliable. Product will mold if not dried enough.

In drying by artificial heat, at, or wire trays may be suspended over the range or dishes of food may be placed in the oven, or specially-constructed driers may be made or purchased. In oven drying the foodstuffs may be placed on dishes or wire screens in a slow oven with the door open. For drying over a stove, a single tray or series of trays may be suspended by wire, or specially constructed driers may be used. The material should be placed directly upon the top of the stove. In drying by this process, care should be taken that the temperature is not too high. The method of sun drying by air blast takes advantage of the electric fan or some similar device for creating a current of air and directing it along a series of trays stacked one above the other. The number of trays is regulated by the size of the fan. A combination of this method with sun drying gives excellent results. Drying by this process may be done in 24 hours, or less, a few hours being sufficient in the case of some vegetables and fruits.

Before storing for the winter, it is essential that dried material be "conditioned" by pouring from one container to another daily for several days. All moist pieces should be returned to the drier.

Proper packing and storing is of great importance. Tin cans and pasteboard boxes with tight fitting covers, moisture proof paper bags and similar containers may be used. Small packages should be used so that the product may be used quickly after opening. Seal all cans and paper boxes with paraffin and the top of bags tightly. Store all dried products in cool places from moisture, insect and vermin, and label all packages for convenience in finding.

EAT WHAT WE CAN AND CAN WHAT WE CAN'T

(Halifax Chronicle.)

You need not reduce your standard of living if you will eliminate waste in your household. Eat home-grown perishable products as much as possible. By so doing, you add to the exportable surplus of Canada's food supply. Great Britain can't fight on an empty stomach. That is why Germany is trying, by means of the U-boat, to cut off her food supply. But Germany can't succeed unless the people of Canada help by continuing to waste food which, if saved, and eaten, would free further Canadian reserves for use in Great Britain.

"We eat what we can, and we can what we can't," said the humorous Kansan to the English visitor who was overwhelmed with the waste of time, energy, and money in the waste of food products. That is what Canadians should do this year with all garden products. Eat all you can of home-grown vegetables, but what you can't eat, can. Don't waste.

"Bombing parties" are popular in the trenches. Make them popular at home. Increase the supply of sugar and beans by using only what you need, and you will have thrown a deadly bomb into the German trenches.

No Canadian need do without the necessities, but every Canadian should eliminate the waste of time, energy, and particularly of exportable foodstuffs, for by so doing he can help win the war.

Life is not made up of "cakes and ale." Both are made from grain. Grain can be put to better use just now. The best use of anything is true conservation of that thing. Conservation is the need of the hour.

Conservation means having enough now and in the future. Waste means too much now and nothing for the future. Which shall it be in Canada, conservation or waste?

It used to be said that battles were won on the cricket fields of Eton. This may be true in the kitchens in Canada.

Help to hunt the Huns out of France and Flanders by saving as well as serving.

"Every little bag of flour saved means a soldier fed and fit."

and for convenience the containers should be labeled.

HOW TO SAVE TOMATOES.

Tomatoes which are ripe enough for serving raw on the table are just ripe for canning, says Wednesday's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden commission at Washington, D. C. The firm, well-formed fruit and scald for several minutes to loosen the skin. Dip into cold water and peel. Peel and remove cores with a narrow bladed, sharp-pointed knife, being careful not to cut into the seed lobes.

Pack carefully and firmly into hot jars and add a level teaspoonful of salt for each quart. No water should be added to tomatoes. Adjust and partially tighten tops of jars and sterilize in boiling water for thirty minutes. Remove jars from sterilizer and tighten tops at once. Invert jars to test for leakage and let them cool in this position in a place free from draughts. Wrap in dark paper to prevent loss of color and store in cool dry places. Small tomatoes should be sliced and packed in place of whole. Jars should be filled with boiling water, a level teaspoonful of salt added to each quart and the whole sterilized for twenty to thirty minutes.

Tomatoes for drying should be prepared in the same way as for canning and then sliced cross-wise into one-half inch slices. These should be spread in layers on the drying trays and dried until leathery. Another way is to sprinkle slices with sugar and dry until the material resembles dried figs.

ESCAPED FROM ASYLUM, DROWNED IN THE RIVER

The body of Elbert R. Kennedy, who escaped from the Provincial Hospital, Lancaster, nearly three weeks ago, was discovered floating in the harbor, near Long Wharf, about 5 o'clock Sunday morning. It was badly decomposed and the body was not recognized. Only letters and papers in the pockets established his identity.

Kennedy was fifty-two or fifty-three years of age, and belonged to Sussex, Devon, York county (N. B.), occupied the pulpit both in the morning and evening. Rev. D. B. Sharp, of Moosejaw (Sask.), was his preacher at both services. He took the place of Rev. David Hutchison, pastor of Main street church, at Waterloo street church. Rev. Dr. Heine preached at both services. George B. Coler took the place of Rev. David Hutchison, pastor of Main street church, at both morning and evening services yesterday.

At Knox church both services were conducted by A. J. W. Back. Milltown (N. B.). In the absence of Rev. J. A. MacKeigan, the pulpit of St. David's church was occupied by Rev. A.

WOMAN INJURED WHEN STREET CAR DERAILED

At about 11 o'clock on Saturday night street car No. 118 left the rails at the corner of Main and Albert streets. Mrs. John Bridges, who was sitting near the door, was thrown violently off her seat into the front vestibule, injuring her left hand and limbs. She was conveyed to her home at 679 Main street in the automobile of Herbert Parize, who happened to be near the scene of the accident. Dr. D. P. Mahony was summoned and attended to her injuries. She was unable to stand yesterday and it is feared, may be injured internally. Fortunately none of the other occupants of the car were injured. In a short time the street car was put back on the rails.

Legislation to Label Food Packages With Weight and Name of Filler

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—Legislation to require that all packages containing human food or other commodities sold in the form of fillers and the name of the fillers and the weight or measure of the contents, was introduced in the House of Commons by Sir George Foster. The resolution upon which the bill is based is passed without amendment after a short discussion.

The minister stated that the legislation would have wide application. While it was chiefly intended to protect the purchaser of food, it was general in scope. It proposed that all packages of food should be clearly labeled to indicate the quantity of food or other commodity contained. It also proposed that packages of goods weighed or measured at the time of sale and in the presence of the purchaser. It was suggested that the new act come into force on the 1st of January, 1918.

The resolution was generally commended by the members, though questions were raised on one or two points. Hon. Wm. Pugsley, who weighed in, thought that it covered all kinds of commodities such as cement and fertilizer. Hon. George P. Graham was afraid it would be a burden on the farmer delivering butter, etc., to customers. Mr. Thornton, of Durham, pointed out the difficulty of weighing down the manufacturer of evaporated goods since the weight could not be maintained in products subject to continued natural evaporation. W. F. Nickle, of Kingston, thought the solution of this would be to fix a standard weight at a certain point. Col. Currie endorsed the proposal, but he thought it ought to apply to all packages, whether weighed in the presence of the purchaser or not. Hon. Mr. Pugsley took a contrary view. He thought that even as it stood the bill would put retailers to a lot of trouble, especially on telephone orders.

Again Adrift In Bay of Fundy

Scarcely a week since James Knight, a Newfoundland fisherman, had been lost in the bay for four days and four nights in an open boat and had put into St. John for refuge, he has been again at the mercy of the elements. This time he was in the company of James Simms, and in Thursday's gale was blown away from the schooner he was fishing from, in a small boat. For forty hours the two were without food or drink until they came to shore Saturday morning.

The dory in which Knight and Simms belonged to the fishing schooner Roseway, Captain John Simms had four dories with two crews of two men each. The Knight dory landed at Phinney's Cove, twenty-five miles east of Point Prim at an early hour Saturday morning. Although in an exhausted condition when interviewed, Knight and Simms were able to tell a thrilling story of their forty hours' experience during the terrible gale. It appears that, they in company with three other dories, from which, as yet, there has been no tidings, strayed from the roseway about twenty miles southeast of Digby Gut Thursday afternoon. During the night they lost sight of their companions, all of whom were rowing toward the Nova Scotia coast.

When within four miles of the shore late Friday afternoon, Simms and Knight encountered the heavy south-easter which soon kicked up an awful sea, by times almost completely filling their little boat. They lost their fish and tubs of gear, but with a drag made from a trawl log they managed to keep their little craft head to the sea, rapidly drifting off shore until the wind suddenly changed to northwest at 7.30 p.m. This gave the men new encouragement and all night long they again rowed toward the Nova Scotia shore, landing at Phinney's Cove, as above stated. Fishermen and seafaring men, residing along the coast, reported the worst sea witnessed in the Bay of Fundy for the month of August for many years.

Railway companies in the west are furnishing refrigerator cars at various stations once a week to carry perishable produce to the Winnipeg market.

HARDWARE MARKETS

'Hardware and Metal,' August 11, says: Price changes in hardware lines during the past week, although important, are not so numerous as they have been in previous weeks. Among important lines which have advanced in price during the week are cross-cut saws, washing machines, rifles, wrought-iron bolts. The new discounts are now being put on many lines of hardware. In accordance with the advance announced two weeks ago, the iron and steel market is still in a waiting mood. The trade is in a state of uncertainty as to what action the U.S. government will take in regulating prices. There are shortages on many lines of hardware. Summer demand is good, and mail orders during the holiday period have been heavy. Wholesalers are now shipping an active fall trade. Reports from western Canada indicate that the wholesale hardware trade is very busy. Lined oil has shown increased firmness of price. The Ingot metal market has been slightly easier during the week.

GROCERY SITUATION

The following comment on the market situation as regards food stuffs appeared in Canadian Grocer this week: Canners advise that there is likely to be a short pack on jams of all kinds and that prices will probably be higher. A big

To All Returned Soldiers.

This is to inform you that the Hon. Gilbert W. Gamon, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of New Brunswick, has offered the following prizes for the three best articles on 'HOW BEST TO ASSIST THE WAR VETERANS IN GETTING BACK INTO CIVILIAN LIFE.' First prize, $50; Second prize, $20; third prize, $10.

This competition is open to all Returned Soldiers. It must be noted, however, that it is necessary that all competitors should be vouched for by either Lieutenant-Col. J. I. McAVITY, President of the Great War Veterans' Association, or by E. J. Puddy, Secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association.

shortage of strawberry jam is stated to be probable. Sardines and extracts are among the lines in which advances have been recorded. Metal polish is one of the lines to show an easier tendency. Butter is in firm market owing to the higher prices being paid in Great Britain. Manitoba eggs of good quality are in eastern markets and have caused slightly lower prices during the week. New honey arrived during the week and is reported of good quality. There is not the crop will be as good as last year, the weight of opinion, however, inclines to an equally good crop with last year. In poultry, lines live ducks are now coming to the market in good quantities.

Chickens are not plentiful, but the quality is reported better. Much interest has been connected with the sugar market during the week, one referee having advanced 48 cents per hundred and three others 25 cents. There is a very firm situation in the primary market due to the eager competition for existing stocks of raw sugar. Stocks of latter are comparatively light to see the trade through until such time as the beet root sugar comes on the market. Flour prices held steady during the week. There is an exceptionally good demand for flour from the United States. There is also an active demand for mill feeds of all kinds from the United States, demand being so heavy that some of the Ontario mills have put their prices up in order to keep it within bounds. Business still continues somewhat light, which is natural for this season of the year. 'What did he have to bring the ball back for?' asked Ethel innocently of her companion. 'Why, don't you know, you little goose?' answered the other demurely plying. 'Of course, it's because he got an encore!'

RECENT DEATHS

John K. Storey The many friends of John K. Storey were greatly grieved yesterday to hear of his death which occurred at 2 o'clock Sunday morning after an illness of only a week. Mr. Storey was a native of Ireland where he was born June 4, 1846. He came to this country when he was quite young and he had been in business in this city since the St. John fire. For many years Mr. Storey was manager for Thos. R. Jones and eventually he was able to buy out his employer and has been conducting the business successfully ever since. Mr. Storey was very popular with a host of friends, being always cheerful and in an even temper. Many friends were sorrowful callers at his late home last evening. Although he had been feeling ill for some time, Mr. Storey did not grow sensibly worse until last Sunday. Mr. Storey was twice married, and is survived by his second wife in addition to one son (Eug.), and one sister, Mrs. White of Letterkenny, Ireland. The funeral will be held from his residence at 19 Garden street, the hour to be announced later.

Hon. W. M. Clark Toronto, Aug. 12—William Mortimer Clark, of Toronto, lieutenant-governor of Ontario from 1908 to 1909, died at Pointe Point on Saturday. He was born in Aberdeen, Scotland.

George Blakely, son of Sherman Blakely, of Sunny Brook, died in the hospital Saturday. The lad was injured about two weeks ago by being hit by a team while riding a bicycle. Blood poisoning developed soon after the accident from a cut on the forehead.

The death of Mrs. Frank M. Dayton of Moncton occurred at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crandall, Moncton on Friday night. She was twenty-eight years old.

A former resident of St. John, Harford B. Spiller, died on Monday last at his residence, No. 623 Carroll street, Brooklyn. Mr. Spiller was engaged in the edge tool business in this city and had a factory on Union street near Prussels, some forty years ago. A son and two daughters survive.

CANADA MUST MAKE BIG CUT IN WHEAT CONSUMPTION Canada and the United States must cut down their normal wheat consumption by 100,000,000 bushels to meet the needs of Great Britain and the Allies. Hon. W. J. Hanna, Canadian Food Controller, estimates that to feed Great Britain, France and the other Allies, and the men at the front will require 1,050,000,000 bushels of wheat. This means at least 100,000,000 will have to be imported from Canada and the United States. There will be under normal consumption in these two countries only 800,000,000 bushels surplus for export, and so by special efforts of the United States and Canada will have to make up a shortage of 100,000,000 bushels.

BRITISH TROOPS IN THE MAKING

Turning Out First-Class Men-at-Arms

Experts on the Three B's

Ultimate Success of Fighting Men Depends on Bayonet, Bomb and Bullet, Says General Hunter

London, July 16.—We are trying to turn out men at arms and I think we are succeeding. That in a dozen words sums up the attitude of the British army authorities, as enunciated by General Sir Archibald Hunter, G.C.B., a veteran who spent fifteen years of his life in Egypt and the Sudan under Kitchener and other leaders first in "making soldiers from mud," as Kipling has it, and then in using the mud-begotten ones and a few—very few—white soldiers to a back and finally to overthrow the Mahdi's barbarian hordes. Later in Ladysmith, in the belly-pinching of 1899-1900, he was the life and soul of the defense, and now ever since the opening of the great European war he has been in command of the Aldershot training centre.

Now the Aldershot training centre is an area, roughly speaking, some twenty miles square in the lovely part of Southern England, where Hampshire and Surrey join, and in peace time it is a peaceful place enough, with few soldiers to be seen save at the Aldershot training centre. The Newfoundland Regiment, who won fame and glory by heroic defence of monarchy, are shown marching back to their billets, back of the front line, after that historic engagement.

GALLANT DEFENDERS OF MONOCHY

The Newfoundland Regiment, who won fame and glory by heroic defence of monarchy, are shown marching back to their billets, back of the front line, after that historic engagement.

Canadians have done, your people will find a basis in a great asset when it comes to learning bombing. Aldershot, as well as being a centre for training of large bodies of troops in the bulk, is the chief station for the specialized and intensive training of professional officers and non-commissioned officers of all branches of the service who, having gone through a course in this, that or the other subject, then return to their units anywhere in the British Isles, themselves to act as instructors to men of their battalion, company, squadron or battery, as the case may be. Solidering now in England, and even in France, during that period misnamed "rest" when troops come from the trenches only to fall into the hands of the schoolmaster—is largely a matter of going to school.

Things Soldiers Must Learn. Leave is hard to come by and courses are many. There are courses in every imaginable subject from gas drill, which teaches you the proper—and the correct—way to put on your gas mask, the same being often a matter of life and death, a death that is a slow torment, to bayonet drill, which teaches you the end that which is deadly may look innocent, and that the innocent may look deadly. The complete making of a bayonet is not what they mean, but to get to close quarters and come to grips with the enemy at all costs. If a man goes into a fight with the belief that in a hand to hand fight he can get the better of his antagonist, that is half the battle won already. In wars between civilized peoples when the men get to close quarters it is not always that this hand to hand fight ensues, in fact it is comparatively seldom that they actually cross their swords. It usually ends with one man putting up his hands. We are trying to ensure that it won't be our men that's all. We have established a moral superiority over the Hun and we mean to keep it.

In carrying out training we find games of enormous use to us. Cricketers are our best bondsmen. Boxing gives the quickness of hand, brain and eye that is so essential in bayonet fighting and sprinters and hurdlers are very useful people when it comes to a bayonet charge and the attacking infantry has to get over or through barbed wire that has only been partially cut and must jump across into trenches, and I think, concluded the General, "that it is the

GREGORY FIGHTS HUN SPY SYSTEM

U. S. Attorney-General Has Great Secret Force

He's Doing Things

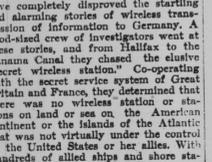

No Wireless Communication With Germany—Three Hundred Aliens Arrested

Attorney-General Thomas Watt Gregory, and his army of "spy catchers" in the United States department of justice believe they have found the proper means of combating the greatest spy system the world has ever known, which radiates from the Wilhelmstrasse in Berlin, and stretches its tentacles to the furthest parts of the earth—mining towns in Arizona and lumber towns in Oregon, for instance. After nearly four months of war Attorney General Gregory and his secret agents have definitely decided on an administrative anti-spy policy, and it is this: Sanity and vigilance. According to the chief legal official of the government the two grave dangers which confront the United States are indifference and hysteria. And it is in guiding the country down the calm, dispassionate middle of the road between these two dangers that the energies of the anti-spy army are being directed. While avoiding these two dangers, Gregory well they have succeeded in manifesting in the records since this country entered the world conflict. They have undertaken the tremendous task of fighting the most efficient espionage machine ever organized, of handling the millions of alien enemies and enemy sympathizers who are at large, and at the same time of preventing a wild outbreak of hysterical feeling that would result in rioting and looting.

What's Been Done. The latter problem the attorney-general and his aids look upon as of pressing importance. One consists of so conducting their anti-spy campaign as to justify the country in a state of apathetic belief in the spy menace, thus leaving a clear field for the myriads of the alien enemies of the United States. The other consists of the country to a point where mob violence will be directed against every Johann and Heinrich. The absolute elimination, temporarily at least, of all secret communication between enemy aliens in this country and the Prussian government. This last accomplishment, the anti-spy workers assert emphatically, has been secured. But they decline to guarantee a permanent disruption of German spy communications. They are prepared to find new evidence of German efficiency every day, and they expect to deal with them summarily. But from the attorney-general's point of view, it is the servants of the Kaiser who are doing their serving in the United States just now are doing little reporting those days.

AMERICAN LUMBER TO REBUILD EUROPE

Commissioners Going Abroad To Study Conditions

Great Market Expected

Lumber Trade and Government Cooperation in Seeking New Fields For Commerce

Nelson C. Brown, and John R. Walker, members of the United States Lumber Commission, assigned to study lumber production, consumption and competition abroad, have reached New York, preparatory to sailing for their respective fields of investigation, after conferring with lumber interests in all sections of the United States. A. H. Osborn and R. E. Simmons already have left for the Orient on a similar mission. In the belief that the reconstruction period after the war is certain to witness a big demand for American timber, the lumber department, commerce and the National Lumber Association, acting jointly, appropriated a sum of money which made the investigation possible, the lumber men, however, making the chief contribution. The commission will be officially accredited representatives of the United States, and will spend two years at their task. As matters stand, the Department of Commerce, Mr. Brown will look over conditions in Southern Europe, this calling for investigations in Italy, Spain, Portugal, Greece, the Balkans, Egypt, and Northern Africa. Mr. Walker's programme will include a tour of Britain, France, Holland and Belgium. Commissioner Brown said yesterday at the Foreign Commerce Commission that the purpose of the Federal Lumber Trade Commission is to open the way for future trade with the countries of Europe to which lumber has been shipped practically bare of timber and lumber, and added that the rest of Europe was about in the same condition, pointing out that the scarcity was so pronounced that search was now being made for every piece of lumber or timber that could be picked up on the Continent.

"Russia and the Scandinavian countries," Mr. Brown said, "will be among the competitors the United States will have to face after the war when the lumber men here seek to make shipments. One day last year two hospital ships were berthed at the same time alongside the landing stage at Southampton, says A. J. Dawson, author of 'Some Battle Stories,' in the New York Tribune. One was from France and the other from the Near East. For the most part the cases removed from one ship said nothing of those disembarked from the other, but it happened by chance that one of the first stretcher cases from the Near East ship was laid down in the shed alongside one of the last stretcher cases from the French ship. But the men did not see each other, because their heads were turned in opposite directions. The writer, walking between the stretchers, offered a newspaper to one of these men, and he spoke both to the other men and to the writer, and recognized each other. They were brothers. Both had been serving since the autumn of 1914, and neither had the remotest idea what had become of the other. A Lucky Shift of Quarters. In a sector on the Aeneas, before the majority of people in England had even heard of that little river, the company in reserve was recalled almost as well placed as a company in rest. By coincidence of these lucky escapes that they have in partnership with a very vile front line, most ceased to note them.

Freake of Fate Noted in War

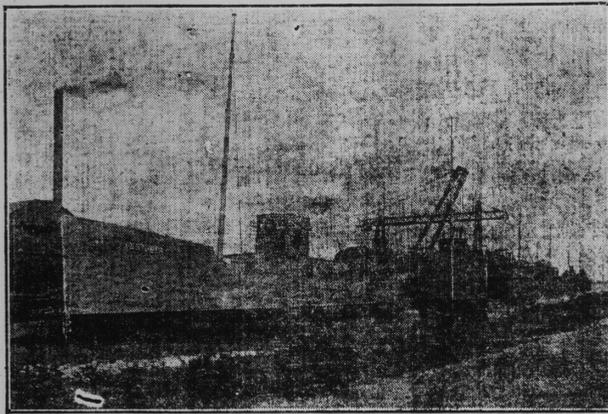

Odd Coincidences More Remarkable Than Writers of Fiction Would Venture to Invent. In the distant, easy-going pre-war days we used rather to poke fun at some writers for what was called their habit of stretching the long arm of coincidence to fit the exigencies of the plot. That idea is perhaps one of the many that we shall have to revise in the light of the war. For the most extravagant among the users of the long arm rarely ventured up-

OUTSIDE LABOR FOR PRISONERS IN MAINE August 6, Aug. 11.—Dr. Hastings H. Hart of 180 East 22nd street, New York city, of the Russell Sage Foundation, chairman committee on jail, national committee on prisons and prison labor, was a visitor by appointment with Gov. Carl E. Milliken of Maine at the State House. The subject of their conversation was the employment of the jail labor outside of the jail buildings, a matter in which Dr. Hart is much interested through his connection with the Sage Foundation and for which he hopes to arrange plans for the adoption of the plan in this state. Vermont, Connecticut, Wisconsin and New Jersey have carried out the scheme, each under different local conditions but each, it is said, with a gratifying degree of success. Sec. James F. Bagley of the Maine board of charities and corrections, was also present at the conference and will see what can be devised for a plan to meet the conditions here in Maine, where necessarily the county commissioners and the sheriff, would be directly interested and affected, through their jurisdiction over all prisoners. Should a feasible plan be devised it is probable that Gov. Milliken will call a conference of the commissioners and others concerned, the plan laid before them at some time taken. It will be watched with great interest by all.

Piles, or hemorrhoids, are the cause of keen distress to thousands who do not yet know Dr. Chase's Ointment. There are three kinds of piles—itching, bleeding and protruding. The itching, burning sensations usually increase at night, and the misery which many people endure is beyond description. The bleeding is sometimes so profuse as to cause death. Protruding piles are most dreaded because it is commonly believed that a surgical operation is the only means of cure. If you will read the letters quoted in the daily press there will be little chance for scepticism as to the certainty of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for every form of piles. Or, better still, ask your friends about it, for Dr. Chase's Ointment is recognized among doctors and druggists as well as by the public generally as the only real cure for this wretched disease. MONARCHS WHO HAVE LOST CROWNS

Growing List of D-throned Rulers of Nations

SOME RECENT CASES

Cases of the Czar, Constantine and Montenegro King Recall Wanderings of Fallen Sovereigns of the Past History abounds in abdicated kings, and the present war has added to the list. Of the unfortunate rulers who have lost their thrones, says a writer in the New York Times, a few have been allowed to pass their declining years peacefully in their own countries. Many have been imprisoned, and have become insane, many exiles have been exiled, and some have sought refuge in England and America. Two even found safety under the humble name of Smith.

It is said that Nicholas II, until recently Czar of all the Russias, has but 900,000 rubles left of a fortune estimated a year ago to be greater than the Rockefeller, Morgan or Krupp possessions. He furnishes an example of the misfortunes of kings. Practically all the mines of Siberia were the personal property of the Czar. He owned in his own name 100,000 acres of land, upon which were mines, timber and farms. Besides, he drew an immense salary to maintain his palaces and defray the expenses of royal personages and dependants.

The other most recent abdicator, Constantine of Greece, did not have such vast estates, but he had enough for a life befitting his station, and he undoubtedly will have much less in future. As in the case of the Czar, no announcement has been made about arrangements for the future allowances of the Greek king, who is now residing in Switzerland with his queen, a sister of the German Kaiser.

Nicholas Petrovich, the old king of Montenegro, is another ruler who lately lost his crown, at least temporarily. He has leased a villa just outside of Paris, where he is living with his daughters, Princess Xenia. Because Nicholas was suspected of treachery to his allies, the Entente Powers, he is guarded by the Entente Powers, although he enjoys comparative freedom. His cabinet minister who went with him when he left his country, when the army was starving and besieged by the forces of the Central Powers, has deserted him. But Nicholas is not alone, for he took with him his entire family, excepting Prince Mirko, who was left behind with the army, and has been mentioned as the Austro-Hungarian candidate for the throne of a united Serbo-Croatian state under Austro-German protection.

Like a Game

King Nicholas Petrovich is passionately fond of poker. When he is not reading the war news, according to reports from Paris, he gathers his old cronies about him for a game. He is the father of the Queen of Italy. Another of his daughters is Princess Francis Joseph of Battenberg, and still another is a Russian grand duchess. Little has been heard recently of King Ferdinand of Roumania, who sacrificed his vast holdings in Austria by allying himself with the Entente Powers. His brother, William, fifteen months older, who was Kaiser of Germany until he resigned all his rights in 1918, has not only expelled Ferdinand from the German army, but now has begun to call himself king. It is certain that Ferdinand's finances are in a very bad condition, and it is not likely that he will ever regain his lost property in Austria. The older brother, William, has two sons, both of whom are generals in the German army, and his daughter by his first marriage was wedded to Manuel II, then king of Portugal.

Peter, King of Serbia, has the distinction of being the second king to lose his crown because of the present war. His grief was probably greater than that of any other ruler who met with a similar misfortune, for Peter had spent a lifetime trying to gain the throne. Peter was not accepted into the ranks of the other European royalty on his accession to the throne in 1903, following the murder of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

A little old man once remarked in a fit of temper: "I must be very ill today; it does not even please me to be king." When they drove him from Serbia he went to Athens. He has now found an asylum on the Greek island of Euboea in the Aegean Sea. At 72 he spends much of his time walking. The "King of Hedjaz," formerly chief of Mecca, is another recently deprived of office. But he seems to have come out on top, for the English, French, and Italian governments recognized the government of Hedjaz, which he founded. In it are the holy cities of Medina and Mecca.

Before the great war began there were abdications every little while. Some of the ex-rulers are living. There is, for instance, the Prince of Monaco, who has a castle at the foot of the mountain of Monte Carlo. He is a bookkeeper by profession, but is abiding his time until he shall become King of France. He is James III, of the Bourbon line, and is a third cousin of Alfonso of Spain. He might be a perfectly good terms with his reigning cousin, but he is not for the awkward circumstances that James thinks that he himself should be King of Spain. His grandfather sat on the Spanish throne until the opposing branch of the Bourbon family took title.

Unique among the abdications of the seventeenth century was Queen Christina of Sweden, daughter of Gustavus Adolphus. The "Madcap Queen," as she became known, came to the throne in her eighteenth year. She showed remarkable ability, but was headstrong and incurred the opposition of her chancellor and ministers. When they urged a marriage with her cousin she refused and abdicated in his favor. She left Stockholm in masculine attire under the name of Count Dohna, and lived at the various European capitals until her fortune was exhausted. She tried to regain the crown several times. In 1688, Christina died—old, forlorn, and miserably poor—in Rome.

Charles I, Emperor of Rome and King of Spain, passed his last years at his villa at Yste in Extremadura, after his abdication for Ferdinand. There he dictated his commentaries, cultivated flowers, and delighted in a large collection at Farnborough, England, and at intervals in Paris. Empress Eugenie was ninety-two years old last May. She has turned her Farnborough home into a hospital for British officers, and in the time of her illness has been sent caring for the wounded from the battlefields of France. She foregoes some of her customary trips to France since the war. Usually she passes most of the winter at her villa at Cap Martin, on the Riviera. On her way she spends two weeks in Paris, where she gratifies her mania for revisiting old spots and old friends, and from the windows of the Hotel Continental she can look out on the Tuileries gardens, where her child used to play.

It is generally known that Louis Philippe, King of the French, taught in a Swiss college during his exile when he was discovered to be among the plotters against the French Republic in 1793. Three years later he was joined by his mother and brothers, who had been imprisoned in Paris since the Terror. They set sail together for the United States, and settled in Philadelphia in an old mansion. For two years they traveled in New England, the Great Lakes region, and the Mississippi Valley. The exiled XVIII, and lived with his brothers at Twickenham, near London. He went to Sicily in 1807 and remained there until Napoleon's abdication. The XVIII, made him colonel-general of the Hussars and restored his estates in Orleans. This made him enormously wealthy, and although his attitude toward the House of Peers cost him two years of exile, he was made regent to Charles X, who was deposed. Louis Philippe then became king. His alliance with the Spanish house forced his downfall, and he was caused to flee with his consort to Holland. They found refuge in a garden's cottage.

"Mr. and Mrs. Smith." "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" were a bedraggled couple, without any property save the clothing they wore, when the English coast smuggled them into New Haven. Yet "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" were once King Louis Philippe and his queen, who he took pity on and they settled at Claremont on Count and Countess of Neuchâtel.

"Prince Jaime," or "Don Jaime," the cronies of the cafes and tea rooms of Paris call a prim, bewhiskered little man who is a bookkeeper by profession, but is abiding his time until he shall become King of France. He is James III, of the Bourbon line, and is a third cousin of Alfonso of Spain. He might be a perfectly good terms with his reigning cousin, but he is not for the awkward circumstances that James thinks that he himself should be King of Spain. of birds. Ferdinand I of Austria, who abdicated in favor of the late Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, his nephew, spent the remainder of his life in prison in Olmutz. Philip V, founder of the Bourbon dynasty, abdicated for his son, Louis XV, who died a few months later. Philip resumed the sceptre and tried several times to abdicate, only to be prevented by his ambitious wife, who kept him in confinement until his death. The King of Sweden who spurred the Russian Grand Duchess Alexandra, granddaughter of Catherine II, was deposed and transported to Germany with his entire family. Gustavus IV left Germany for St. Gall, Switzerland, where he died in melancholy and indolence. His body was brought to Sweden for interment in the royal burial place, Riddarholmshuset.

THE HUN CORPSE FACTORY

The Times publishes a photographic reproduction of the daily army order issued by the supreme command of the Sixth German army on December 21, 1916, and containing (paragraph 23) the most famous instructions, of which the following is a translation: It has become necessary once more to lay stress on the fact that when corpses are sent to the corpse utilization establishments...

The death of Albert V. Blake, a former Chatham man, but for many years a resident of Bangor, Me., occurred in Bangor a few days ago. He is survived by his father, two sisters, Mrs. A. S. Harlan, Logville, and Miss Margaret, R.N. New York, and one brother, Fred, of St. John.

of birds. Ferdinand I of Austria, who abdicated in favor of the late Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, his nephew, spent the remainder of his life in prison in Olmutz. Philip V, founder of the Bourbon dynasty, abdicated for his son, Louis XV, who died a few months later. Philip resumed the sceptre and tried several times to abdicate, only to be prevented by his ambitious wife, who kept him in confinement until his death. The King of Sweden who spurred the Russian Grand Duchess Alexandra, granddaughter of Catherine II, was deposed and transported to Germany with his entire family. Gustavus IV left Germany for St. Gall, Switzerland, where he died in melancholy and indolence. His body was brought to Sweden for interment in the royal burial place, Riddarholmshuset.

DANGER OF GREAT WASTE IN FOOD

Supplies Must be Canned or Preserved or Much Will be Allowed to Spoil

There is bound to be a great waste of fruit and vegetables this season unless people are forewarned in time. In the towns and cities where the backyard garden movement was most successful, the danger of waste is most imminent. It is a back garden. Their faithful work is bringing results in fine crops of fruit and vegetables. But the problem of taking care of those crops before they spoil is now pressing for solution.

The Food Controller has said: that waste and defeat are synonymous at the present time and surely this end of the light rests on the shoulders of the women. Every bean and pea, every ear of corn, every berry, and every other ripe fruit and vegetable grows reproachfully from the new gardens and demands to be popped into some place where it can stand in line and do its bit.

Unlike their sisters in the country, who harvest their garden crops in boxes and bottles against the long winter months, city women have not been trained to store vegetables and fruits. Through the Women's Institutes of the various provinces the countrywoman has in her hand bulletins which give the latest, simplest and best ways of canning and preserving her city crops.

Those who are interested in food conservation and methods of canning, preserving, drying and storing should write for information to Miss Hazel E. Winter, Dept. of Women's Institutes, Department of Agriculture, Fredericton, N.B.

RUSSIA'S NEW MINISTER OF SOCIAL WELFARE

To the Editor of the Times-Star:—Sir:—Russia, the youngest of the democracies has appointed the Countess Sophie Panin as minister of social welfare. Forty-five years of age, of an aristocratic and wealthy family, and having been prominent for many years in every big movement for social betterment, she brings to her new position a wealth of experience that will count for much in the administration of the important work committed to her care. She has never looked upon social work in the spirit of the society woman; but being imbued with lofty ideas, she regards the problems of the poor as her own.

JUVENILES PLEASE OPERA HOUSE PATRONS

Novel Feature of Vaudeville Act Was Well Received—Other Members Receive Generous Applause

The Opera House was, as usual, crowded at all performances on Saturday. The patrons apparently appreciated the various acts for they were generous with their applause, and their comments were favorable. The headliner on the vaudeville bill was the Juvenile Opera and it made a decided hit. The members are all young and their singing evoked prolonged applause. The group of the little tots was good, their singing about the ordinary, their songs well chosen and their costumes both pretty and attractive. A Hawaiian number, sung by one of the little girls, was greatly appreciated. The act was novel and highly entertaining.

Christie and Mack were heard in several songs and, in addition, entertained the audience with some new and old jokes and a few eccentric dances. Plunkett and Romine gave a pleasing number of dances, which won favor, and the audience showed appreciation by generous applause. Marie Allen was heard in songs. She possesses a deep, rich voice and combined both expression and brilliancy in the lyric selections she sang. Her final number was a recitation which was well rendered.

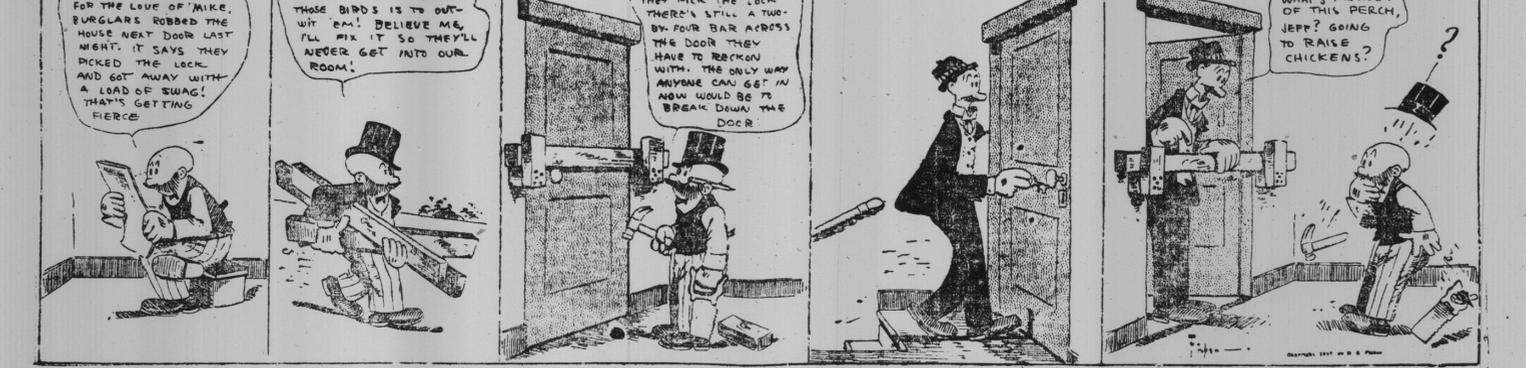

Jess and Bud Grey, whose act has been seen here before, was appreciated. The lady member sang several pleading patriotic numbers, while the man performed some hair-raising feats on a bicycle. Both received a good share of applause. Gloria's Romance, the serial which features Billie Burke, was interesting. The scenery this time was the episode one of the best yet thrown on the screen.

HERMANN OPPOSED TO BETTING IN BASEBALL PARKS

Cincinnati, Aug. 11.—Chairman August Hermann of the National Baseball Commission, in a statement on Friday night, announced that he had declined being carried on at the Boston bill park, declared that the matter primarily is for club control with the co-operation of the interested leagues, if necessary. He believed that the evil, if it exists, will be eradicated eventually. "Statements regarding the conditions in Boston," Chairman Hermann declared, "have reached my associates and myself, and President Johnson has been to Boston this week as the commission's representative, to ascertain the condition of affairs and submit a report which will be accorded thoughtful attention and may result in prompt action. "I do not hesitate to put myself on record as condemning gambling, in all its forms, on ball games, as a menace to the sport. In judgment the club that tolerates open betting on its grounds is not worthy to enjoy the privilege of the national agreement. "Each major league has the right to insist that those in control of a franchise enforce the provisions in its constitution against betting in ball parks. "Failure to safeguard the game's integrity and sportsmanship from this menace is so serious an offense under baseball law, that it is one of the causes for which the National or American League franchise may be revoked. "Mrs. James Buckley of Harcourt is dead, aged years. Three sons and three daughters survive.

The money will be used for the boys in the trenches.

LEONARD WOODS, CHAMPION RUNNER, GIVES HIS LIFE

That Private Leonard Woods, the holder of the world's record for fifteen miles, a member of the 180th Sportsmen's battalion, has made the supreme sacrifice, is the information that was received in the city this morning.

Private Woods was only twenty-one years of age when he left the racing track and joined the Canadian forces. As a runner, he was always known to be a clear, straightforward sportsman and always bore a smile, even on the track when things did not look bright for his winning. He was very seldom, he still retained that smile and in many cases has won for him the "hand" of the crowd.

Private Woods, while in the city as a member of the 160th Battalion, made many friends, all of whom regret to hear the sad news of his death. It will be remembered that, while the unit was in the city, a field day was held at the Barrack Green and the feature of the sports was a three mile race between Private Woods and Sergeant Corbery, the winner of the Hamilton race.

Private Woods is an Englishman by birth, but for the last few years, prior to going overseas, he lived in Toronto, where his mother and two sisters still reside. Jack Woods, a brother, is now overseas as a member of an upper Canadian battalion.

G. G. R. WANTS ANOTHER TRACK IN WATER ST.

A communication to the department of public works from E. R. Ross, terminal agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, requesting that they be allowed to lay an additional track in the dock area, west of Water street to Pettingill wharf, has been received. City Engineer, Murdoch interviewed H. C. Schofield, agent of the Robert Carr Company, Ltd., and William Thomson & Company and both companies expressed themselves as being very much in favor of the laying of the extra track.

The following is the recommendation which Commissioner Russell will submit tomorrow morning:

"It is recommended that the C.G.R. be permitted to lay a track immediately west of the present track, the conditions being the restoration of plankings interfered with and that the whole new and old track be planked between the rails, between the tracks and for eighteen inches on the outside of the tracks and that the restoration be terminable in one month's notice from the city at any time; that the C.G.R. be responsible as to foundations, and also city assume to itself the right for excavation across these tracks for the laying or repairing of water pipes or for any other purpose."

LIQUOR VIOLATIONS

William Chittick pleaded guilty to drunkenness in the police court this morning and was fined $5 or two months in jail; he was also told that he was liable to a fine of $200 or six months in jail for having a bottle of liquor in his possession. Asked by the magistrate where he got the liquor, the prisoner told a hazy story about himself and a companion cutting some hay on the fifty-fifty plan at Hampton. Here the court interposed and asked if the bottle of whiskey had anything to do with the hay making. "Well I think it did," was the answer.

This story did not correspond with the one the man told the police and, when taken down stairs, he admitted to Inspector Crawford and the police that he had bought the liquor in a sheff street. The police took up this clue and two men were sent to investigate the truth of the statement. Whether there will be a police court charge or not could not be determined at noon.

Alfred Albert, colored, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of drunkenness and was fined $8 or two months in jail. For the charge of having liquor in his possession when arrested by the police he said he was guilty. The court said he was liable to a big penalty. In giving an explanation to the magistrate, he said that he had met a young fellow in the street and had secured a flask for seventy-five cents. He was sent below.

KEEL OF FIRST WOODEN STEAMER WAS LAID TODAY

Mayor Drives First Spike in Ceremony Which Marks Revival of Industry Which Once Made Port Famous

In the presence of the mayor and members of the city council, the president and members of the council of the board of trade, and members of the provincial legislature, the keel of the first wooden steamer for the Imperial Munitions Board was laid in the shipyard of Grant & Home, Courtenay Bay, at three o'clock this afternoon.

Mayor Hayes, who drove the first spike, read the accompanying address to the contractors—

St. John, N. B., Aug. 12, 1917.

Messrs. Grant & Home, Ship Builders and General Contractors, St. John, N. B.

Gentlemen—On behalf of the citizens of Saint John we would express our appreciation of the enterprise, determination and patriotic spirit you have shown in entering upon the contract for the construction of this port of two wooden steamers for the Imperial service. We know something of the difficulties that you have had to encounter in this connection and we know how manfully you have surmounted them.

We feel that you are all the more entitled to this expression from us because having been residents of our city for but a few years you have been instrumental in reviving an industry that is closely identified with the history and prosperity of St. John—one whose traditions we, as a maritime people, cherish very dearly and one whose revival we feel confident will bring great and lasting benefits to the community.

We can assure you that it is a very great pleasure indeed to be present today and participate in the important ceremonies attending the laying of the keel of the first of these ships.

With the record of your past achievements before us we are confident that the responsible work which has been entrusted to you will be well and faithfully performed. We will look forward with pleasurable anticipation to the day when the product of your skill and efforts will be ready for launching.

It is our sincere wish that the courage you have shown in initiating the present enterprise will bring you the abundant financial reward that you deserve, and that the ship whose keel is now laid will be the foremost of many others from this and other St. John shipyards in the years to come.

R. T. HAYES, Mayor.
A. H. WETMORE, President Board of Trade.

Mr. Grant replied very happily on behalf of the contractors.

Congratulatory addresses were also delivered by other gentlemen present.

ALONG THE RIVER

Saving Carrots From the Worm—Dance at Public Landing—Farmers and Help

More than a hundred people gathered around the pavilion at Public Landing on Saturday evening, some to join in the pretty picture. The roof had been put on during the week, and the floor planned, and the dancers greatly enjoyed themselves. Half a dozen motor cars, a huge hayrick and several small rigs, were brought to the place.

Robert Carr provided music, and F. G. Poole was master of ceremonies.

On the Ocoee on Saturday afternoon the amateur farmers talked about carrots, and Donville Walsh gave some information, worth having. He and Howard Crabbe have a large plot of carrots, on the Manawanogish road, surrounded by plots planted by other amateur farmers. They discovered that a wire-worm was playing havoc with the carrots on all sides, and to save their own they made a shallow trench all around the plot, and put in it a mixture of ashes, slaked lime and salt. Up to Saturday last not a worm had crossed the trench. Mr. Walsh is quite hopeful that the little crop will be saved. It is said that the big potato field on the city lots is worth a trip over there—the growth has been so wonderfully good.

August is the river month. All the cottages are filled, there are tents along shore, and happy children are seen elsewhere. The weather has been unsettled since the middle of last week, and the farmers are making very rapid progress with their hay. A passenger on the Ocoee on Saturday told of a visit to a farmer in Charlotte county who had offered three dollars per day for help to get his hay but could not get it and being alone had almost given up hope of saving his crop. Perhaps the time will come when all the farmers will join in societies, work together, and anticipate their collective wants at all seasons; so that none will be entirely alone.
