Terrible Day of Thirty-Seven Years Ago in Saint John Is Recalled -- The Great Fire

This is the Anniversary—Loss $27,000,000, Besides Several Lives—The Relief and Aid Society—Other Disastrous Conflagrations in City

Today marks the thirty-seventh anniversary of the great St. John fire... The fire was a calamitous one, and was followed by a period of trying hardships by the greater portion of the city's population.

News of the disaster soon spread, and immediately came generous offers for assistance. Large sums of money, supplies, clothing and furniture were poured into the city from all directions, and the St. John Relief and Aid Society, which is now nearing the end of its existence, was formed with the mayor, S. Z. Earle, president, and the recorder, W. H. Tuck, vice-president, and C. H. Fairweather, treasurer, and the following board of directors: James A. Harding, H. J. Leonard, Hon. Geo. E. King, James I. Fellows, Harris Allan, Wm. Magee, Fred A. King, C. N. Skinner, Andre Cashin, Ezekiel McLeod, James Reynolds, Gen. D. B. Warner, A. Chipman Smith, E. Fisher, John H. Parks and Aldermen Maher, Ferguson, Kerr, Adams, Duffell, Brittain, Glasgow and Wilson with L. R. Harrison.

General Warner was then United States consul, and was general superintendent of the association. The Odd-fellows also instituted a fund for the relief of the sufferers, and among the most important contributors to the fund Grand Lodge were: Bangor Odd-fellows, Ontario Grand Lodge, Chicago, Ill.; Portland, Me.; and other lodges. Contributions to the general fund were received from many outside places, as well as locally, the largest sums being received from Augusta, Me.; Boston, Mass.; Bank of N. E. A.; Bangor, Me.; Bath, Me.; Bangor, Me.; Bangor school children; Chicago stock yards; Chicago Clearing House; Chicago, Ill.; Chicago Board of Trade; Chicago city; Charlottetown, Carleton County Council, New Brunswick; Insurance Co., Dominion Government, Detroit, Mich.; Fredericton, N. B.; Kingston, Ont.; Liverpool, Eng.; London, Ont.; Montreal, Que.; New York, N. Y.; New Glasgow, Newcastle and Digby, N. S.; New Brunswick; Philadelphia, Pa.; Peterboro, Ont.; Pictou, N. S.; P. Hope, Ont.; Sherbrooke, Ont.; Summerside, P. E. I.; San Francisco, Toronto, Ont.; Truro, N. S.; Windsor, N. S.; and York, Ont. The total amount received was $27,000,000.

The following streets were more or less wiped out—North Market Street, South Market Street, Market Street, Dock Street, Water Street, Prince William, Canterbury, Germain, Charlotte, Sydney, Horsfield, Harding, Pagan Place, St. Andrews, Cambridge, Wentworth, Main, Britain, St. James, Pitt, Sheffield, Queen Square, Queen, Leinster, Church, King Square, King and Union streets.

Steps are being taken to make the new Produce Board an important factor in the commercial life of the city. Following the visit of a Dominion government official in the interests of the work this week a committee of the Board of Trade was given authority to proceed with the work of organization and this is now under way.

Several people lost their lives in the fire, including Capt. Wm. B. Pirb, who succumbed while trying to make his way out of the flames in Prince William street; Samuel Corbett, lost in his own building in the same street; Joseph Bell, a painter, who perished in his home in Duke street while trying to save a painting; Mrs. Coughlan, Timothy O'Leary, Michael Donahue and Mrs. Fitzgerald were also among the victims; Mrs. M. T. Reed, wife of a former mayor, was crased by the heat and died in spite of heroic efforts made to rescue her; John Anderson was killed by flying bricks during the blasting of the post office walls after the fire had been extinguished.

WILSON FIRM; MEDIATION IS ALMOST ENDED

Declines to Have Other Than Constitutionalist President—Some Consternation at Niagara Falls

Toronto, June 20—A Mail and Empire despatch from Washington says: The Niagara Falls mediation conference so far has been done. At a White House conference last night attended by President Wilson, Secretary of State Bryan, and Ministers of Argentina, the Argentine diplomat learned that the United States will stand firm in its demand that a Constitutionalist be appointed to the provisional presidency of the Mexican delegates may yield from their demand that a "neutral" be appointed. The possibility that the Mexican delegates will stand firm is regarded as remote.

ROBERT WEYMAN PASSES AWAY IN ALSASK, SASK.

Well Known and Respected Resident of Kings County, and Later St. John, and Who Had Moved to West Few Years Ago

Sad news came over the wires today to Wm. Weyman, former in the Evening Times composing room, in a telegram which told him of the death of his father, Robert Weyman, who passed away at Alaskan, Saskatchewan, some seventy-seven years ago.

NEARLY ANOTHER TRAGEDY OF THE SEA; HALIFAX THE SCENE

Halifax, N. S., June 20—A thick blanket of fog which has enshrouded the Nova Scotia coast, came within an ace, last night, of bringing disaster to the Canadian government steamer Afrida, with the loss of many lives.

ST. JOHN WILL SEND SOME FORTY MEN TO LABOR FEDERATION

Many matters of interest in the labor world are to be discussed at the semi-annual meeting of the Provincial Federation of Labor which will convene in Fredericton on the first two days of July in the Knights of Pythias hall.

TWO HUNDRED IN BELGIAN MINE BUT ALL ARE RESCUED

Liege, Belgium, June 20—Two hundred miners were entombed in the Vieille Montagne mine near here, when a fire broke out in the mine yesterday. The men were all rescued after a hard fight against the fire by the fire brigade and rescuing parties.

CANADIAN NAVAL MILITIA Call for Volunteers Coming—Will Wear British Navy Uniform

Ottawa, Ont., June 20—A call for volunteers to the Canadian naval militia will be made next month. Regulations are being prepared and as soon as they have been passed the existing volunteer company on the Pacific coast will be taken in and companies formed upon the Atlantic coast and the great lakes, chiefly from among the fishermen.

ARTILLERY PLANS

The mounted men of the 3rd Regiment Canadian Artillery, will get a taste of work under service conditions next week when they will parade for field manoeuvres. All the officers and those of the men who would be mounted while in action will parade with their horses. The big guns will not be taken out of the army but the horses will be hitched to the limbers, which will be all that is required for the work to be undertaken.

LAWNS AND LINGERIES

"What shall I get this summer?" is a question of deep interest to every woman. When one notes the many interesting things the stores are showing it would seem as though the problem really was how to discriminate.

Vandals Uproot Germain Street Trees and Tear Guards Apart

Effect of Worst Act of Destruction Yet Since This Thoroughfare Was Made Beauty Place Confronts the Caretaker This Morning

John Woodland, caretaker of the Germain street boulevard, was a very indignant man this morning, and rightly so, for when he went to work he discovered that four of the trees which had been set out to beautify the street and which were flourishing after four years of nursing had been torn from the ground or loosened to such an extent that their growth will be greatly retarded and some of them may have to be replaced.

LOCAL NEWS

CHIEF'S WAGON DISABLED. The fire chief's wagon broke down in Douglas avenue this morning as Chief Blake was driving to the West Side. The axle broke.

POSTPONED. The outing which the girls of the Natural History Society were to have held this afternoon has been postponed owing to the rain.

POLICE COURT. Daniel Collins and Charles McRoberts, who have been in demand for some time, were brought in from the jail this morning and again remanded.

LITTLE ONE DEAD. Much sympathy will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Goodwin, 189 St. John street, west, in the loss of their infant daughter, Dora Margaret, who died this morning after a three weeks' illness of whooping cough. She was sixteen months old. The funeral will be held at 1:30 o'clock on Sunday.

THREE ANNIVERSARIES. Monday next will be the anniversary of the coronation of Their Majesties the King and Queen, and Tuesday is the birthday of H. B. H. the Prince of Wales, while Wednesday will be St. John's Day and the anniversary of the discovery of St. John in 1492. The first two days will be noticed by salutes while all three call for flying flags.

PICNICS TODAY. Two Sunday school picnics were held today, the Main street Baptist church members having their annual outing at Rothsay, and the Mission church, Riverside Row, holding theirs at Westfield Beach. Large numbers of children went out on the morning trains, and despite the threatening weather, many more with adults went along at noon.

FAST TRAVELLING. There is one of the C. P. R. passenger grey boys who is looked upon by the others as the champion bicycle rider of the squad. His name is Lester. He had a record of three miles house to Haymarket Square, doing the distance in six minutes; this is considered a good hauling.

AWAITS NEWS OF BROTHER. News from the mining disaster at Hillcrest, Alta., is being awaited with more than ordinary interest by William B. Bingham, of the Western Union Telegraph operating staff, this city, for his brother, Frederick, has been located there and may have been working in the mine where the explosion occurred. Mr. Bingham endeavored last night to secure some information concerning his brother, but was unable and continued his efforts today. Up to noon he had received no word. His brother, Frederick, is a former resident of Sydney, N. S.

MRS. MARY MCCARTHY. The death of Mrs. Mary McCarthy, widow of John McCarthy, took place this morning about 11 o'clock at her residence in St. Andrew street, after about a month's illness with pneumonia. She is survived by four sons, Thomas, Timothy, Michael J. and Edward V., and two daughters, Mrs. Austin Power and Miss Nellie, all of this city. The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon. Many friends will regret the death of Mrs. McCarthy and will deeply sympathize with the family in the loss of one of the best of mothers.

SWIM IN A SWEATER! STUNNING NEW SUIT SEEN THIS SUMMER AT SEASIDE

At Atlantic City the new bathing suits are made with "sweater" tops. A short pleated skirt and wool knickers and a sweater brought down tightly over the hips form the most popular bathing suit seen on the long sandy beach. This suit is worn both by the bathers and beachers.

Hints for the Cook

How to Boil Rice

Put 8 quarts of boiling water into a kettle, add a teaspoon of salt and let the water boil rapidly. Wash one cup of rice, sprinkle the rice so gradually into the water that you will not stop the boiling. When you have it all in give the water a twist with a fork, cover the kettle and boil rapidly 20 minutes, then pour into a colander to drain. Place the colander on a tin dish, stand it in the oven for five minutes to dry, leaving the door wide open, then turn it carefully into a heated dish. Serve without a cover. Boil rapidly from the time you cover the kettle till you take it off. The rapid boiling allows each grain to swell to three times its normal size and the motion prevents the grains sticking together. Do not stir it, as this will cause it to fall to the bottom and burn. The drying in the oven with the door open evaporates the moisture, leaving the rice soft, snowy white and perfectly dry.

A Prune Dainty

Beat the white of one egg stiff as you possibly can. Into a saucepan put one cup of white granulated sugar and four tablespoons of cold water. Put on fire and from the time it begins to boil boil this mixture about six minutes or until it spins a hair from the spoon, then remove quickly and pour slowly over the beaten egg white, heating all the time. Stand dish in a pan of cold water and continue beating until the mixture is partly cooled and begins to stiffen. Have ready half pound of prunes, thoroughly cooked, slightly sweetened and well chopped. Stir or fold these in very slowly and thoroughly. Stand on ice when thoroughly mixed and let get ice cold. Let stand at least three hours; four is better. Serve in punch glasses piled high with sweetened and flavored whipped cream. Cold cake is delicious with this. It is very rich. You can use this same recipe for a prune filling for cake, only be sure to cook the sugar a good six minutes in that case.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

A pinch of salt added to mustard helps to prevent it from drying or caking.

To make the gas burn brightly, a little salt should be sprinkled over the top of the mantle. This should be done when the gas is burning.

If your oven will not brown your pastry as well as you would like, put the cakes or tarts on the upper tray, and throw a little sugar on the floor of the oven.

To turn a jelly out of a mould without breaking it, try rubbing a very little of the best olive oil on the shape before pouring in the jelly. If you do this you will never have another broken jelly.

make the dress illustrated today. It is a one-piece model, built without a lining. In cutting out the pattern, the back and front gorges of the skirt should be laid on open material. Then a length of the gingham is folded so that the front of the waist, the collar, back and sleeves may be cut out. The large collar and back are laid on a lengthwise fold of the material, and the front and sleeves on a lengthwise thread, to assure the correct line. Now tack the front on either side for the Gibson effect at the shoulder. Close the under-arm and shoulder seams and try on. It may be well to gather the lower edge of the front and back while the waist is being fitted, to get the correct waist-line. Gather between double "T" perforations. The center front of the waist is indicated by large "O" perforations. Now sew the stay to the lower edge of the waist, being careful to keep notches and seams even. The collar is added to the neck at this stage and if the shield is used the standing collar is put on as a finish. The standing collar may be edged with a bias fold of the same material. Close the sleeve seams and turn under extension on slit perforations. Sew up cuff seams as notch, add to sleeve and stitch. Sew the sleeve into the armhole with as little fullness as possible. Turn under edges of right front of the skirt and left back gorges on slit perforations; then lap on left front and right back gorges, centers even. Stitch, leaving the edges of the front gorges free above single large "O" perforation for placket. Close the side seam as notch, sew the skirt to the lower edge of the waist and the dress is complete, except for whatever additions are desired in the way of details. A service dress in taffeta gingham trimmed with embroidered linen collar and cuffs. The waist has a V shaped neck, and the skirt is a four-piece model, cut walking length. The morning frock is a very important item of the summer wardrobe. Taffeta gingham is among the newest tub materials, and they are used to make models that are both practical and dressy. With the added decoration of embroidered linen collar and cuffs they may do duty upon almost any informal occasion. For misses and small women of average size, 4 1/2 yards of taffeta gingham 26-inches wide will be required. Pictorial Review pattern No. 5348. Sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. CAROLINE COE'S TESTED RECIPES

Neapolitan Ice Cream
Scald one quart of cream in a double boiler; do not boil it. Beat the yolks of six eggs with one cup of sugar until light and foamy. Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff, and fold into the yolks and sugar. Add a pinch of salt. Pour the hot cream into the eggs—a little at a time and beating constantly. Turn back into the double boiler and cook very slowly until of the consistency of custard. Strain and allow to get perfectly cold. Flavor and freeze.

ERADICATES DANDRUFF, STOPS FALLING HAIR

Others Imitate and Make Similar Claims, But the "Genuine and Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer" is Newbro's Herculicide
The discovery of the dandruff germ as the cause of all hair troubles is not a recent event. Prof. Uuna gave the germ theory to the world in 1887 and two years later Sabouraud by his experiments with a rabbit proved beyond a doubt the actual existence of this germ. On the heels of this establishment of the germ theory came the discovery of Newbro's Herculicide. It is the first and only remedy ever prepared in harmony with this theory. There are other preparations for which the same claims are made as for Herculicide. But the thousands of enthusiastic users testify to the genuine merit of Newbro's Herculicide as a scalp prophylactic. It does as promised. For this reason it has long been known as the original remedy and the only one that is genuine. Don't be fooled by preparations which are trading upon the marvelous success of Herculicide. Remember you take no chances with Newbro's Herculicide. It is absolutely guaranteed. Newbro's Herculicide is 50c. and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Applications at good barber shops. The Herculicide Company, of Detroit, Mich., Dept. R, will send a sample bottle and booklet upon receipt of 10c in postage. E. Clinton Brown, Special Agent.

LOCAL NEWS

A contribution of $25 from two St. Stephen Orange lodges was received by Mayor Feink yesterday for the widows and orphans left destitute by the Newfoundland sealing disaster through David Hipwell, grand master of the order. The contributors are L. C. L. St. Stephen, No. 17, and True Blue Lodge, Star of the East, No. 93, each of which voted $12.50 for the fund. His worship has been asked to forward the money to Newfoundland.

An audience with Pope Pius X. at the Vatican, Rome, recently, was the privilege enjoyed by John Flood, contractor of this city, and his son, John, who are at present touring Europe. A letter which was received yesterday told of meeting Bishop LeBlanc in Rome, and by means of a letter from him they were received in audience by the pontiff, and given his blessing. The two visitors were elated over the honor which was bestowed upon them and said that it was beyond their anticipations to be granted such a privilege.

MORE EVIDENCE OF DEFECTIVE GEAR

Crew of Collier Alden Noticed Empress Zig-Zagging Down St. Lawrence — Captain Murray's Experiment

Quebec, June 19.—The alleged defective steering gear of the Empress of Ireland and the rapidity with which she went to the bottom of the St. Lawrence after being struck by the collier Sturston on May 29, formed the two most conspicuous details connected with the calamity enquired into today by the dominion commission sitting in the court house here.

On the first of these two points, evidence was submitted by a number of sailors and Pilot Napoleon Lapierre, who were on the collier Alden, which was seized yesterday that the liner's head jammed for three minutes on the night of the disaster. These witnesses agreed that the Empress, as the pilot put it, zig-zagged down the river, though they all had to confess that while still a good distance away she showed red to red in conformity with navigation laws and passed more than a cable's length away.

Captain Murray, a former commander of the Empress of Ireland, described how he had experimented with her sister ship and had put her from full speed ahead to full stop in two minutes and fifteen seconds.

After a close cross-examination by Mr. Meighart to whether such a severe strain was usually put on the engines under normal conditions, and after Captain Murray had said it was not, the witness explained that the officer on the bridge could indicate the necessity for hurry in going astern by simply giving two rings on the telegraph.

Napoleon Lapierre, the pilot on the Collier Alden, swore that the Empress of Ireland, as she approached the ship he was in charge of on the night of May 29, zig-zagged, showing first her red light a couple of times and then her green. At one time she was showing both her red and green together. Ultimately she went by a cable's length away.

Cut Down the Cost But Don't Cheapen Your Building

Bishopric Wall Board and Sheathing will not only save you money on material but will save 75% of the labor cost in finishing walls and ceilings.

'Bishopric' gives the best results because it is made of No. 1 Pine Laths imbedded, under great pressure, in Asphalt-Mastic on a resin surfaced cardboard. This combination means strength—proof against dampness and vermin—warmth in winter—coolness in summer.

For rough cast (Stucco Work) or cement, Bishopric Stucco Board is ideal to work on and makes a moisture-proof background that is without a competitor.

If your dealer does not handle our products, we will gladly send you samples and an illustrated booklet showing houses built of our materials, together with full details as to cost delivered at your home.

Stiles Dunham and Harry Mallett, the two men arrested by Special Policeman O'Leary on suspicion of stealing a bag of corn from the Maritime Cornmeal Mills, were allowed to go yesterday afternoon by Police Magistrate Hitchcock. Minor Akerley, the watchman, whom they implicated, however, was found guilty on the strength of the evidence submitted, and sentenced to six months in jail. This was suspended, however, on account of his age, he allowed him to go. He sentenced Akerley but owing to the fact that he is crippled, and also on account of his age, he allowed him to go, after Mr. Stewart promised to keep him in his employe.

CADET CORPS INSPECTED

St. Stephen's Cadet Corps was inspected last evening at the army by Major A. B. Snow, of Fredericton. Col. Sgt. Vall was in charge of the parade. Captain Manfred Brown was in charge of No. 1 company and Lieut. Royden Boyer of No. 2 company, assisted by Sergeants H. Brown, J. Gaulton and R. Capson. The corps turned out fifty strong with the band of pipers. It was remarked that the corps showed marked improvement over last year and Major Snow, after the inspection, spoke highly of the parade. He also gave the boys good advice on discipline. The corps then marched to the drill hall in Charles street and were entertained at lunch by Mrs. Charles Thomson, Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. H. Dakin and Mrs. W. Vall. Those present included Major Snow and Rev. Gordon Dickie. Corp. Bowers was given the No. 1 company cup for shooting in the gallery competitions and Pte. Bial the No. 2 company cup, both presented by Mr. Page. Rev. Gordon Dickie presented a traveling bag to Col. Sgt. Vall from the corps in recognition of his work as an instructor. Charles Ross danced the Highland fling and the meeting closed with the singing of the national anthem.

Twelve Killed in Tunnel

Nice, France, June 19.—Twelve persons were killed and seven injured by a landslide today in a tunnel of the new railway from Nice to Cuneo, Italy. It is feared that more people were beneath the debris.

The whole city of Kanton, O., suspended activities for a day in order to pay honor to Rev. Dr. Thomas Pinkerton, who was leaving there after sixteen years' service in one church. The day was occupied by speeches, receptions and a free ball game, at which the minister was the guest of honor.

WEAK KIDNEYS RESULT IN PAIN IN THE BACK

How often you feel that dull, tired ache in your back, and wonder what causes it. Look out for it. There is never a pain without a cause, and the cause of this pain is going to lay you up some day for months. It kills you of a weakness, and you should cure it. Your kidneys may be crying for needed help; your spinal nerves may be exhausted, and want strength; you may have locomotor ataxia in its first stages, or lumbago, all of which are serious and need to be cured to protect your health.

Do you think a dose of medicine taken into your stomach will relieve the pain? It may, by stupefying the nerves, but that is not real relief. Don't you see that there's only one way to cure that trouble, and that is by giving strength to your back, if it is weak, or helping the circulation if there is congestion? Electricity will do that by giving it strength to the back muscles, and stimulating circulation. No pain or weakness can exist where electricity is, for electricity is the life of the body, and where it goes in pain goes out. It is the action, the power and no organ or part of the body can be weak when it is full of electricity, and that it can get from my Electric Belt.

My Electric Belt is a body battery, made up of separate cells. It is easily, comfortably worn next to the body during the night, and gives out a continuous stream of that blood-building, nerve-feeding force, which is the basis of all health. You simply buckle it about your waist when you retire, turn on the current, and all night long, while you sleep, it pours a glowing electric current into the nerve center at the back.

This electricity saturates the nerves and muscles of the back with its life, adding new strength daily until it is restored to its natural, healthy condition.

THE STANDARD'S TROUBLE

The Standard is laboring very hard in its endeavor to divert public attention from the gentlemen who profited by the money which was collected by Mr. Berry and Mr. Reed from the lumber operators. In the course of its efforts the organ of the Fleming government pays a great deal of attention to The Telegraph and Times, and charges these journals with various high crimes and misdemeanors.

TRADE CONDITIONS

The condition of business in the maritime provinces is the subject of a number of interesting articles and references in last week's issue of the Maritime Merchant. A wholesale firm in "Toro" is quoted as saying that for the four months up to the end of May their sales showed an advance of twenty per cent over the same four months of last year.

In another article the Maritime Merchant sets out reasons why times are never very bad in these provinces, and quotes the Halifax Herald as follows: "While other parts of Canada have suffered from hard times the maritime provinces have not been appreciably affected."

AN INTERESTING RECORD

It is sometimes profitable to make comparisons with other communities in respect to progress in legislation of the kind that is designed to improve social conditions and living conditions generally for all the people.

pendent, neglected or ill-treated boys and girls; requiring equal pay with men for women teachers if they hold certificates of the same grade; requiring kindergartens in all school districts having a population of 2,000; creating a State Art Institute; forbidding horse-race gambling; requiring all schools and educational institutions supported wholly or partly by state funds to give systematic instruction in physiology and hygiene; equal guardianship; a juvenile court in each district; with jurisdiction also over adults who aid a minor's delinquency; curfew law for children under fourteen; child labor law; in cities messengers doing night work or sent to objectionable places must be over twenty-one; a woman labor commissioner; inspection of slaughter-houses, packing houses, dairies and creameries, and of dairy and food products; tuberculosis made reportable; report required of birth of child with inflated eyes; regulation of employment offices, and penalty for sending women to improper places; mothers' pensions; minimum wages law, making 75 cents a day the smallest permissible wage for girls under 18; 30 cents a day the smallest for adult learners and apprentices; and $1.25 per day the smallest for experienced adult women; law forbidding sale of opium, liquor or tobacco to minors, and making it a misdemeanor for a minor to buy or possess them; making pool-selling and book-making a felony; providing punishment for wife or child desertion.

The Winnipeg Free Press says that Hon. Robert Rogers has arrived in Manitoba to operate the machine for Premier Roblin in the provincial elections. The Free Press adds that Mr. Rogers made the machine when he was in Manitoba provincial politics, and therefore knows better how it should be operated than even the premier himself.

The list of great disasters which have shocked the public in the last few months is sadly lengthened by the awful mining disaster in Alberta, where nearly two hundred lives have been lost and nearly that many homes made desolate by the loss of bread-winners.

It is difficult to find words to express what one feels towards the vandals who deliberately tore up by the roots four of the handsome trees planted a couple of years ago in the German street boulevard. These trees were thriving and adding beauty to the street.

ADVOCATES FEDERAL DISTRICT AT OTTAWA

Present Chaotic Condition of Civic Politics Revises the Proposition.

Ottawa, June 20.—The civic opera municipal situation which has developed at Ottawa, and the absolute civic chaos which has developed, has forced attention again upon the question of establishing a federal district. Ottawans are so thoroughly disgusted with the civic political mess that it is safe to say that if there was a vote tomorrow there would be an overwhelming majority for a federal district.

At present, as a result of the judgment of Judge McTavish, there are no controllers. They have all been unseated on the ground of irregularities. There will likely be a new election, but two of the controllers say they are so "sick of the mess" that they will not run again. It may be hard to get heroes to offer their services to the city.

Last municipal election, Taylor McVeity, ex-city solicitor, defeated ex-Mayor Ellis, M. P. P., on the water question. Four controllers supporting the Gatineau water scheme were elected. All year there has been a continual light between the mayor and controllers, while the water question. There was a long fight before the legislature between the two parties.

The party led by the mayor were triumphant, and the city was authorized to prepare plans for an Ottawa River water scheme. These are being prepared at the present time and the citizens change their minds again will be carried out, provided they are applied to the present board of health.

LARGE NUMBER MEET DEATH IN WESTERN MINE

Worst Disaster in Mining History of Canada—Only Forty Escapes—Hillcrest Colliery, Alberta, the Scene

Hillcrest, Alberta, June 19.—Almost the whole male population of this town suffered death today in what is regarded as the worst mining disaster in the history of Canada. Fully two hundred homes are bereaved by the loss of those whose lives were snuffed out twelve hundred feet down in the bowels of the earth by the treachery of the explosive fire damp. Only forty-one men of the entire shaft came out alive. Many of the dead bodies have been brought to the surface, and it is not thought that any of the men are still alive in the death-trap.

J. M. MacKie, managing director of the Hillcrest Collieries, Ltd., issued the following wire last night in Montreal: "The explosion was in No. 1 mine. This is the mine where most of the men work. No. 2 mine is where our new development is going on. Two hundred and thirty-two men went into the mine this morning at 7 o'clock. The explosion occurred at 8 o'clock. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon thirty men had been taken out alive and thirty-two dead bodies recovered. The missing at present number 170. The work of rescue is progressing steadily and artificial respiration constantly and vigorously applied to those brought up. Excellent order prevails and the best of equipment is available for rescue work.

Considerations as to how the disaster would affect the business of the company were not discussed yesterday, officials of the company being overwhelmed by the reports of heavy loss of life. Supplementing what is contained in the formal statement above, J. M. MacKie, who spends part of each year at the property, stated that all development work had been carried out in such a way as to guarantee a maximum of safety and in the absence of more detailed information he could form no idea as to how an accident had happened. In addition to the two main entries there were some eight outlets, which were of easy access at important points in the workings.

Hillcrest Collieries Limited was organized here some five years ago and covers the property of the Hillcrest Coal & Coke Company, in which M. P. Davis and a group of Ottawa men were interested. The mine had then been in successful operation for some years, the company was capitalized at $1,000,000 preferred and $2,000,000 common, with a bond issue of $250,000. Of the preferred there had been $700,000 and of the common $1,000,000.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Cowell-Dykeman.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. T. L. Dykeman on Wednesday evening, June 17, when their daughter, Vera, was united in marriage to Leslie I. Cowell, of St. John. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. B. Colwell. The bride and groom looked charming under a beautiful floral arch. The bride was attired in white embroidered voile, trimmed in lace, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Little Muriel Dykeman, daughter of O. S. Dykeman acted as flower girl.

After the ceremony about thirty guests partook of a dainty repast. Many beautiful gifts were received, the groom's present to the bride being a handsome gold watch. Mr. and Mrs. Cowell will reside at Fernside.

The guests from a distance were, Dr. and Mrs. George Camp, of Sheffield, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Dykeman, T. G. Dykeman, Mrs. Haazen Taylor, and F. W. Dykeman, of St. John.

MAY TRADE DISPUTES.

There was a slight increase in the number of trade disputes reported to the Department of Labor at Ottawa during May. Ten new disputes were reported, twenty-six less than in the corresponding month of the previous year. Although the disputes occurring in May were six more than in April, industrial harmony was seriously affected, while the new disputes, for the most part, concerning but few establishments and a comparatively small number of employees. The total number of strikes in existence at the end of May was fifteen.

GOOD SLEEP GOOD HEALTH

Exhausted Nerves Were Fully Restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When the nerve force expended in the day's work and in the act of living is not replenished by restful sleep at night you have cause to be alarmed, as physical bankruptcy stares you in the face. This letter directs you to the most satisfactory cure for sleeplessness, Mr. Dennis Mackin, Maxton, Sask., writes:—"I have just finished using the sixth box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I must say that when I commenced using it my nerves were so bad that I could scarcely get any sleep. I would lie in bed nearly all night without sleep, and anyone who has this trouble knows the misery of sleepless nights. The Nerve Food helped me from the start, and has built up my nervous system wonderfully. I now enjoy good, sound sleep, and instead of feeling tired in the morning I am strong and healthy, and well fitted for my daily work."

of Sunningdale, has just returned after a holiday in Devonshire. At ten o'clock one night he left his camp for a walk. He lost his way, and peered about in the darkness for some landmark. Eventually he met a policeman and two other men and asked to be directed to a certain bridge. This request appeared to raise the constable's suspicions. He followed the stranger and asked him for his name and address.

Treating the matter as a joke, the curate said: "My name is Tom Smith and my address is Windsor Castle. But that is neither my correct name nor address. If I told you correctly you would be none the wiser."

"You must come to the station with me," said the policeman, "and make your explanations there," and in spite of a protest Mr. Bankes-Jones was taken three miles to the police station. There he discovered that the constable suspected he was a foreign spy inquiring for a bridge which might be in danger of being blown up.

The sergeant in charge was also told that the curate had been looking at telegraph poles very suspiciously. It was further said that for a foreigner the curate's accent was remarkably good.

Being an Englishman and a graduate of an English university, this remark naturally caused Mr. Bankes-Jones a good deal of amusement. He was detained for some hours for inquiries, and then liberated.

Betty, a bright little 8-year-old, was a born gossip. It was her custom, as soon as she arrived at her grandmother's to say:

"Come into the kitchen, 'g'ma, I've got a lot to tell you."

And she generally had, being blessed with three popular grown-up sisters.

One day, however, she came in looking dejected.

"Any news, Betty?" inquired grandmother.

"Not much," said Betty, soberly, "William (elder Mabel's fiancé) was over last night, but he and Mabel spelled most everything!"—Judge.

THE PUBLIC TRUSTEE

English Official Has Proven Most Useful One

GREAT GOOD IS DONE

In Few Years Demands Have So Grown That Nearly 100 Rooms Are Needed, With Big Staff of Clerks—His Scope of Operations Wide

(London Saturday Journal)

There always have been people in the world ready to mind other people's business in an ill sense, and their readiness is regarded as one of the nuisances of life; but for the last five years there has been a man in the world prepared to mind other people's business in the best possible sense, and his readiness is looked upon as a praiseworthy trait.

He is known as the public trustee, and, officially, he cannot do more than be appointed by the state, and he is guaranteed by the state to do all work entrusted to him in a highly satisfactory manner.

At the present moment his private name is C. J. Stewart, a hundred years hence his friends will call him by some other name, because he will be some other individual; but officially he will be the public trustee, for, though men may come and men may go, the Public Trustee will go on for ever.

Past and Present.

In an official sense the public trustee was born on October 1, 1907. On that date he opened offices in Clements' inn, Strand, for the purpose of getting into the working order by January 1, 1908, when the public trustee act came into force.

He began in four rooms, with a staff of two principal clerks, two shorthand typists, and a messenger. Today the staff numbers 370, and occupies ninety-seven rooms in Clements' inn. The growth of the department shows the appreciation of the public for the services the public trustee is willing to perform. New offices are being built for him in Kingsway, and a branch office has lately been opened in Albert Square, Manchester.

Up to date he has dealt with 6,000 trusts and with other people's business to the value of more than £110,000,000.

The largest estate which has passed through his hands was worth five million pounds sterling and the smallest just £15. A good many poor people are afraid to approach him because they imagine him to be an expensive luxury of the rich; but, as a matter of fact, he is primarily intended to become an inexpensive luxury for people of moderate means, and though the wealthy are his most numerous clients, he does not care who they are.

Some Good Examples.

A few cases taken at random and mentioned personally to the writer by the public trustee himself will tend to show the variety of his work and the scope of his usefulness. A man came into the office the other day with a bag of money, which he planned to do with. "When is the form I have to fill up?" he asked. He made it evident that he would rather trust his money to the public trustee than to any other person to whom the car belonged, and at the same time we took up the care of the public trustee himself through the Church Army. Then there was a baby dying, and through the Invalid Children's Association, her life was saved. Thus the whole household has been built up again, and the £100 capital, instead of being squandered, is still intact under the trust. Another man settled a life policy on his family, and appointed me to administer the money in the event of his death, also to educate his children. I have scores of similar instances in which the insured is still alive but in this particular trust the man is dead, the widow is being looked after, and the children are at the school which I selected for them.

The Will and the Way.

The public trustee may be appointed to look after people's affairs when they die merely by stating that they appoint him in their will, and, whether they are worth £10 or £2,000,000, they can rest assured that he will do all that can be done with the money, and that—when it is insufficient for his purpose—he will also do what cannot be done by any other person.

He is in touch with most of the charitable organizations and philanthropic institutions, and the youngsters who are left in his care benefit enormously even when their parents die practically penniless. He does not hand out money to the poor law authorities, but he is in touch with them, and he is in touch with most of the charitable organizations and philanthropic institutions, and the youngsters who are left in his care benefit enormously even when their parents die practically penniless.

King George's Indian Attendants

(London Tit-Bits.) The fact that King George received at Buckingham Palace recently four Indian attendants, who will be in attendance on His Majesty at state ceremonies during the season, is a reminder that it has been the custom for many years, particularly since the late Queen Victoria was made Empress of India in the 'seventies, to have at the English court a number of high caste, usually relatives of powerful potentates, to act as orderlies and attendants to the Majesties.

The custom really arose from the desire of Indian princes to learn something of English life, although it has been said not a little to do with the continuance of these periodical visits to the court by high caste, usually relatives of powerful potentates, to act as orderlies and attendants to the Majesties.

Queen Victoria always liked to have her Indian attendants about her, and a glance at pictures dealing with the events of her reign will show that she was invariably accompanied by her orderlies from the east.

The late King Edward, too, whose voyage to India in the winter of 1876-77 brought him into close contact with the chief Indian vassals of the British crown, had a great party for Indian attendants and orderlies, and it is an open secret that the honor of attending him for a season was much coveted by the completion of their English education.

The custom, which really has for its object the cementing of the bond of friendship between Britain and India, is carefully observed by King George and Queen Mary, whose visit in 1911, when they attended the Durbar, and Delhi was proclaimed the capital of India, aroused much enthusiasm. As a matter of fact, His Majesty made himself so popular during his visit to India that it was with the greatest difficulty that the orderlies at present in attendance upon him were selected from the number who wished to spend a season at the English court.

of a man's usefulness he still entertains as with his vigorous thought phrased in his always courtly language. The prince evidently enjoyed the speech of Sir William, which was indeed an intellectual sphere of activity and his use of medicine to describe various commercial conditions was a feat of wit. Not even an exuberant real estate dealer could quarrel with his diagnosis of "suffering from a little extension."

Walter Nichol, managing editor of the Vancouver Province and Mrs. Nichol and family, are here for an extended holiday and will spend some time in the south of France.

Bertram Harrison Manager Of Theatre in Northampton

HARKINS' LONG TOUR

Covered 30,000 Miles — Edward Mawson in He Comes Up Smiling—The Stock Companies and the Pictures

Including a fine picture of Bertram Harrison, formerly of St. John, a recent issue of the New York Mirror publishes the following:— Although professional interests engage him part of the time in New York, the most prominent theatre manager in Northampton, Mass., is Bertram Harrison. By recommendation of Henry Miller and Professor Baker, of Harvard University, Mr. Harrison was asked to enter the interesting theatre situation in that city when the trustees of Northampton's municipally-owned theatre were seeking for someone specially qualified to direct and experiment, which it is hoped may become a distinctive and support of dramatic art.

While this theatre aims to provide amusement for all the people, its environment is collegiate to an extent that must be adequately considered. Mr. Harrison combines fortunately both the experience and culture required in such a field.

He is a native of St. John, N. B., and attended school and college in Toronto. For a time he studied law, but his interest in the stage took him from this, and gave him experience in the various capacities of actor, manager and director.

He was connected for several years with Henry Miller and Maryvyn Anglin in all their productions, and has personally directed productions for Madame Nastova, Madame Bertha Kallch, Messrs. Frohman, Brady, Cort, and Shubert Brothers. With Miss Jessie Bonstelle as co-director, in 1912, he assumed the directorship of the Academy of Music, Northampton, where his personality, consideration for local preferences, and identification with city interests have made him liked and respected in a position that, through its unusual conditions presents exceptional problems.

Paul Gilmore, supported by Kathryn Hutinson, who appeared with him in St. John a few seasons ago, is meeting with success in stock on a circuit in North Carolina.

The tour of the W. S. Harkins played ended a short time ago, covering 30,000 miles and was most successful.

Madame Sarah Bernhardt, at the age of seventy, will leave for New York on October 10 to begin a professional tour of the world, during which she will visit five continents. The tour, it is stated, will close her career on the stage.

Madame Bernhardt has made several farewell tours. On the last one to America, which ended in May, 1913, the theatrical profession in America raised money for a gold wreath, which was later presented her in Paris.

Edward Mawson, in St. John with Jessie Bonstelle, is playing in Douglas Fairbanks' new show "He Comes Up Smiling," the opening to take place on July 6 in Atlantic City.

David Belasco announces David Warfield will again appear next season in "The Auctioneer" and that he will not have a new play until the following year.

The Gus Hill press bureau is authority for the statement that there will be five "Mutt and Jeff in Movies" companies, four "Bringing Up Father" troupes and three other productions in preparation, including a play with a cast composed

INDEPENDENTS GET 'BELASCO OF SCREEN WORLD' AT BIG SUM

Here is the man who stands out prominently in the business of moving picture producing. He has been called the "Belasco of the screen world."

When he was the director of the Biograph pictures, they were called the best in the business. But now the independents have captured him at a salary of $100,000 a year. And he is directing the city's favorite residence was situated. Of course he was a mere boy then and because of an especially sweet treat was selected to sing in St. George's Chapel, where the queen worshipped.

Master Freddie rather got it into his head that this intimacy with royalty gave him some special warrant to take short cuts to school over the castle grounds. It was while this proceeding one day that the queen scolded him.

John Brown, the hardy Scot, was accompanying the queen on a little drive in one of her pony carriages. Very soon they came across the scamping and laid hurrying across a piece of green sward which was intersected by a driveway. On Her Majesty's order John Brown halted the lad abruptly.

"Hey, ladie, come here," called the Scotch attendant.

Young Mellor, flushed with a mixture of fear and happy anticipation, obeyed the summons. Then the queen in a grandmotherly sort of way asked:

"Where were you going, my little fellow, don't you know these are private grounds?"

Master Mellor mumbled an affirmative reply and said he was on his way to school and did not wish to be late.

"Well, lad, you said the queen, 'but when you want to cross these grounds again you must get permission. If all the little boys in the town did the same thing a sorry mess they might make of these nice flower beds and shrubbery, for some boys, you know, are not as careful as others.'

Greatly relieved, and just as tickled into the bargain, young Mellor stammered "Yes, Ma'am," and beat it back to the public roadway.

"I got a licking for being late for school," said the visiting singer to the newspaper man, "but wasn't it worth it?"

A young Lancashire mill-worker in a mental restate which resulted in his being sent to the county asylum. After he had been there a few weeks he was visited by one of his fellow-workers, who came across him in the grounds.

EXPERIENCE AT WINDSOR CASTLE

Called to Task For Scampering Over Royal Enclosure on Way to School, Queen Victoria Excuses Him With a Little Advice

Frederick Mellor, of Mellor & DePaula, who is filling a singing engagement in a local theatre, has the proud distinction of being scolded once upon a time by no less a personage than Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria.

Mr. Mellor lived in the picturesque little town of Windsor, where Her Majesty's favorite residence was situated. Of course he was a mere boy then and because of an especially sweet treat was selected to sing in St. George's Chapel, where the queen worshipped.

Master Freddie rather got it into his head that this intimacy with royalty gave him some special warrant to take short cuts to school over the castle grounds. It was while this proceeding one day that the queen scolded him.

The Movies

Three brief years ago Thomas H. Ince, after spending twenty years on the stage as a light comedian, juvenile and singing comedian, found that he had been able to accumulate just $7, a wife and a young son.

At the same time Ince encountered an actor—not such a very good one either—who had supported him in a vaudeville offering that had withered and fallen by the wayside because of popular and managerial indifference to his worth. This one-time vaudeville associate was garbed in the latest raiment; he drove his own automobile, and in divers ways he fairly radiated contentment and extended prosperity.

"How do you do it?" inquired Mr. Ince.

"The pictures," answered the richly garbed one.

"Then it's the pictures for me," exclaimed Ince.

The next morning he had a place with a New York film company. The remuneration at first was $3 a day. And he paid $3 a day in New York, Thomas H. Ince finds himself the vice-president and general manager of the New York Motion Picture Company, regarded as one of the big things in the world, and situated on a plot of land containing 50,000 acres in the western country, and in charge of a force of about one thousand persons engaged in making moving pictures in a studio that is one of the most complete in the world, and situated on a plot of land containing 50,000 acres in a wonderfully picturesque canyon near Los Angeles, Cal.

Master Freddie rather got it into his head that this intimacy with royalty gave him some special warrant to take short cuts to school over the castle grounds. It was while this proceeding one day that the queen scolded him.

John Brown, the hardy Scot, was accompanying the queen on a little drive in one of her pony carriages. Very soon they came across the scamping and laid hurrying across a piece of green sward which was intersected by a driveway. On Her Majesty's order John Brown halted the lad abruptly.

FOR ROWING AND CRICKET HONORS

American Crews and College Eleven Away

CONTESTS WITH ENGLISHMEN

Two Crews For Henley and Haverford Cricket Team For Series of Matches — Intercollegiate Regatta at Poughkeepsie Next Week

New York, June 20.—The Harvard crew will sail today for London to compete in the English Royal Henley regatta July 1-4. The men are preceded by the Union Boat Club eight-oared crew for the same purpose.

The Haverford College cricketers are today setting foot on English soil for a playing invasion against the leading school club players despite the fact that the American collegian is far more at home on the baseball diamond than the cricket crease. The initial invasion was made in 1896 and was repeated in 1900, 1901 and 1910. As in past years the squad will consist of thirteen cricketers and seventeen games will be played between June 25 and July 28.

Judging from the fast times made by the college crew assembled at Poughkeepsie for the Intercollegiate Regatta next Friday a new record for the course is not improbable if weather and water conditions are right late in the afternoon of June 25. Cornell, Columbia and Washington have all given indications of possessing 'varsity' rights capable of rowing four miles in 19 minutes 01 second by the record is held by the Cornell crew of 1901, which covered the course in 18 minutes 52 1-2 seconds. Cornell crews also hold both the two mile freshman record and the two mile 'varsity' four oared time. The freshman eight record of nine minutes 11 3-5 seconds was made by the 1909 crew and the four oared figures of 10 minutes 01 second by the four which won on the same day.

With Mr. Gaskill, his own feature producing company, a pioneer in "evening-length" pictures. Mr. Gaskill has long been the front rank of motion picture producers.

Sally Crute, of the Edison Company, recently purchased a summer home at Sound Beach, on Long Island Sound. It will be of interest to many to know that Miss Crute is an artist of no mean capabilities with pen and brush aside from her capabilities before the camera.

Bernard Daly, who has worked at the Solax forces from the legitimate stage, thought after his first few weeks of picture work in interior scenes taken in the studio that the life of a photoplayer was just "the life." Then followed one day of work in the open, which included a rough trip lying on his face on a flat car, a leap to the back platform of a passenger train, a ride on the cow-catcher of an engine, a long, hard ride up-hill on a bicycle, and a trip hand-over-hand on a cable. All in all, he has decided that one-night stands are a bed of roses compared to some things, and that being the hero of a motion picture drama is not all it is cracked up to be.

Here is one that was told at a recent dinner by Senator Thornton of Louisiana, in demonstrating that there is always more than one way of getting around a difficulty.

One afternoon Hans and Fritz were rambling along the street when they came abreast of a laundry. Instantly Fritz stopped and began to study the characters on a sign that announced Sing Lee's excuse for being in America.

"What makes you stop here, Fritz?" asked Hans, wonderingly. "Vot was you looking at?"

"I was looking at old sign, Hans," was the smiling rejoinder of Fritz. "Can you read it?"

"No, I can't read it," answered Hans, glancing at the sign, "but if I had my horn here I could blay him."

Mr. Anshury, the superintendent of the penitentiary, was escorting a party of women visitors through the building. They entered a room where three women were busily sewing.

As they turned to leave the room one of the visitors said:

"It is wonderful," said Mr. Holding, "what a little ingenuity can do."

"But such an outfit would scarcely be suitable for bad weather," Mr. Holding remarked. "Pooh!" remarked this veteran, whose sturdiness would arouse the envy of a man of forty years younger. "weather is a matter of complete indifference to a man used to the simple life. In the shelter of my tiny tent I laugh at rain, and have endured as much as 22 deg. of frost and can now regard snow with composure."

Little River Once More.

Little River took their third straight victory from the East St. John baseball aggregation on the Little River Park Grounds last evening, piling up thirteen tallies to their opponents' lone score. Roddy McDonald was on the firing line for the visitors and in the five innings of play was touched safely only four times, in the first, fourth and last innings, but three men faced him and retired.

East St. John operated two heavy hitters, W. Ross started the game, but was touched so generously that Captain Malcolm came to the plate (allegedly) only to meet with the same heavy reception.

A Roust. The game between the Royals and Athletics for leadership in Fairville League to date was fought out last night, and the Royals defeated their opponents by the score of 18 to 8.

McCrossin opened fire for the Athletics and pitched good ball but off decided to leave the box at the end of the second inning, his place being taken by Maher and from that on disaster followed disaster in quick succession, loose play and overthrows allowing the Royals to run up their large total, while the battery was considerably below form.

Nobles and O'Toole, for the victors, handled the sphere well and received good support.

The series of competitions will include eight classes of boxers, from flyweights to heavyweights. A sub-committee was appointed to settle the rules and regulations for the contests.

The German delegates said that the German police had stopped a number of boxing contests, but suggested that an exception might be made and permission be given for boxing competitions at the Olympic games.

ROWING. Yale Won by Four Inches.

New London, Conn., June 19.—By the narrow margin of four inches, Yale won the varsity four mile race on the Thames river, from Harvard, here late this afternoon, after a struggle which will stand out as one of the greatest in the rowing history of the two universities.

Yale led from the start, though there was never more than three-quarters of a boat's length between the two crews. Towards the end the Crimson pulled up

RARE POSTAGE STAMPS

One Most Valued is Considered Worth $10,000

(London TIT-Bits.)

Not a little of the fascination which the study and collecting of postage stamps holds for enthusiasts lies in the fact that the story of their origin and subsequent history is, in many cases, of an exceedingly romantic character.

The single known copy of the rarest stamp in the world, valued at £2,000—the one-cent British Guiana issued in 1856—was discovered by a young collector in the colony amongst some old family papers stored away in an attic.

Knowing nothing of its scarcity, and not being favorably impressed by its appearance, he sold it to another collector for a trifling sum, the purchaser being also ignorant of its great bargain. Ultimately it found its way to Europe and now resides in the collection of M. Philippe de la Renciere, of Paris, who purchased it many years ago.

The value of £1,450 is placed upon the famous "Post Office Mauritius" stamp, which was crudely engraved on a small copper plate by a local watchmaker of Port Louis, and issued on September 16th, 1847. A total of only 800 copies of each of these stamps were tediously printed off one at a time from the plate, and the majority of these were used on invitations to a ball sent out by Lady Gomm, wife of the governor of the colony.

It was not until nearly twenty years after its issue that the first two copies of these rarities were brought to light by a young stamp collector of Bordeaux. The most perfect used copy of the stamp issued in 1847 was sold by auction in 1904 for no less a sum than £1,450, and is now included in King George's collection.

To the story of the watchmaker who designed this stamp may be added that the baker's boy who engraved a stamp of the Republic of Corrientes, now forming part of the Argentine Federation, in 1855 it was decided by the authorities to issue stamps, but they could find no engraver to do the job.

While one of the officials was discussing the situation with the head of the state printing office, his veranda one morning a baker's boy arrived with the daily supply of bread, and, overhearing the conversation, volunteered to undertake the work, stating that after emigrating to South America he had been apprenticed to an engraver in Italy. Ultimately the boy was given the work to do, and he turned out a stamp which, although crude, served for all the postage stamps issued in Corrientes from 1855 to 1860.

Probably few people are aware of the fact by the way that His Majesty (then Prince of Wales) was responsible for the design of the 1903 postage stamps of Canada, universally acknowledged to be the most artistic stamps of the late reign, says "The Strand Magazine."

About the time of the late King's Coronation the Postmaster General of Canada, then a visit to England, took the opportunity of consulting his Royal Highness on the subject of the proposed new issue of postage stamps for the Dominion. The Prince at once took the keenest interest in the work, designed the stamp in conjunction with a member of the Royal Philatelic Society, and supervised the preparation of the "master die" in this country. The Edwardian stamps of Canada can therefore lay claim to the distinction of being designed by a king.

A stamp pound which centres one of the foulest political crimes of modern history is the so-called "death-mak stamp" of Serbia, issued in 1904 to commemorate the accession of King Peter I. The dastardly assassination of King Alexander and his Queen Draga by military officers on June 11, 1903, wiped out the Obrenovitch dynasty from the throne of Servia, and paved the way for the present king.

After the tragedy one of the most famous of French stamp engravers was commissioned to prepare a stamp from a design by a Serbian artist, showing on a single plaque the twin profiles of Kara George, the founder of the dynasty which bears his name, and King Peter, his descendant.

The stamps were issued at the time when they had got into circulation when it was discovered that the "death-mak stamp" of the late King Alexander had been skilfully and subtly introduced into the design and on the stamp being inverted could be plainly traced in the reverse features of the two heads.

This discovery at once caused an outcry, the stratagem being ascribed to ex-Queen Nathalie, mother of the murdered king, and her supporters, but all evidence in the plot was indignantly repudiated by the engraver, and the mystery of this extraordinary happening has never been satisfactorily cleared up.

on even terms with the blue, and it was impossible for spectators to tell which crew had won, so close was the contest at the finish.

ACQUATIC Canadian Crew Strong

Henley-on-Thames, June 19.—In their outing Wednesday night the Winnipeg crew showed excellent form in the most serious work they have undertaken since their arrival here. After a steady row to Temple Island they got into position at the starting point getting smartly off the mark, they rowed the full course.

They covered the distance in seven minutes, nineteen seconds, which is considered good at this early stage of their training. The crew had another workout this morning, their efforts being devoted to practising starts.

Dibble is sculling well and Coach Barry is quite satisfied with his work. The Toronto carman was pulled for an hour this morning and showed excellent form in a full course trial.

Converting Britain's Old Battleships Into More Peaceful Uses

(Cattle's Shipbreaking Company, of Millbank, is the largest concern in England engaged in the work of buying and breaking up old battleships. In this article in London Answers, the secretary of the company gives many interesting details of its work.)

Does it occur to you when you sit at Lord's watching an exciting match that you are probably seated on part of the timbers of the Fighting Temeraire? Probably it does not. Yet the greater part of the garden furniture in England is built of broken battleships.

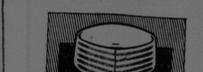

When the Admiralty has a battleship to dispose of we are informed, and as a rule, we pay £20,000 down for the entire ship as it stands. The original cost of the ship might have been anything from £200,000 to £750,000. You may wonder how we make a profit.

Used Again and Again. Every part of a ship is of some value, real or sentimental. Many people—Americans particularly—are always ready to pay fancy prices for relics—old flags, bolts, anchors, cannon pieces, figure-heads, ships' bells, etc. One American millionaire has had his battleship wood, and numerous country houses you will find ships' bells being used as dinner-gongs.

The steel of the hull is the most valuable portion, for this can be melted down (as we do the ironclads) and sold again to the battleship builders. The old wooden vessels cannot, of course, be built up again, but the thousands of tons of steel which go to the making of an ironclad can be used again and again by melting and re-melting.

You may think that there cannot now be any wooden vessels to destroy, but there are hundreds of them still to be found at our ports. Many of them are used as coal-hulks, stores, training hulks, and so forth, though they are going out of fashion for the latter purpose owing to their insularity condition.

When a ship has become our property, and the inventory is made, we come across some queer anomalies. In one old ship which we recently destroyed we found a large bar-shot embedded deep in its hull—no doubt, of Napoleon's time. Bar-shot is not used nowadays. It was the shape of a dumb bell, and when fired revolved perpendicularly.

in its flight, and so bored a considerable aperture in anything it struck.

Made From Bones. We have also found old combs, Spanish and French and curious wens. Recently we discovered in a hold a bunch of old Black Besses. In another ship we found and have preserved in our museum, some most beautiful models of warships, carried from common beef and mutton bones by the French prisoners at Portsmouth in 1805.

In many noble gardens in England and America you will find the figureheads of great ships which have seen service in the Nile and off Trafalgar. The ironclad, of course, has no figurehead, but it carries instead a stern scroll—a kind of wooden shield, much carved and decorated. These are also preserved by collectors, and serve to garnish many a hall or study.

We have still, at our yards, a number of figure heads, and recently we offered to the nation by giving one to any public institution which might accept. After all, it is only right that these relics of our past struggles and victories should, if possible, be preserved by the people whose heritage they are, and be carried away by enthusiasts of other countries, whose sole interest in them is that of the collector.

Hearts of Oak. If you want to get the real historic thrill, you should visit one of our "scrapping" yards. I guarantee that there is no more vivid imagination to be found there than in any other part of London or equal area.

"Hearts of oak are our men, hearts of oak are our ships." The truth of the former we have tested through the centuries of our national existence. The truth of the latter half only comes home to you when you start breaking up one of Lord's watching an exciting match that you are probably seated on part of the timbers of the Fighting Temeraire? Probably it does not. Yet the greater part of the garden furniture in England is built of broken battleships.

ANOTHER VICTORY

St. John Wins The Second Game From Halifax

Score Was 11 to 4. Same as on Thursday—Local Pitcher Makes Fine Showing—Is Well Supported

The score: Halifax, A. B. R. H. P. O. R. E. Hanlon, lf. 5 1 0 2 1 0 Howe, 2nd. 4 1 2 7 2 0 Watt, 1st. 4 1 2 7 2 0 McGovern, ss. 4 0 1 2 0 0 Murphy, cf. 3 1 1 0 0 Gibbons, 2nd. 4 0 0 1 8 0 Doyle, p. 4 0 0 0 1 2 Sprout, c. 5 0 1 2 0 0 Grace, rf. 4 1 0 0 0 8

By the same score as in the previous day's game, 11-4, the St. John baseball team took the second of the series from Halifax yesterday. "Big Sixty" was on the mound for the locals and pitched right-handed ball. The St. John team is slipping into a good fast team and the support they presented their pitcher yesterday was excellent. Doyle was in the box for Halifax, but was given poor support at times. Ramsey and Milan showed up well in the field for the locals and the superior stick-work was done by Ramsey, Sproutstead and Donovan. Howe and Watt were conspicuous for Halifax both in the field and at bat.

Today's Game. The Halifax team will have its own regular men in the game this afternoon. In the game of the day before yesterday they have used four men who did not really belong to the line-up, but were filling in.

At Halifax on Monday. On Monday the locals will journey to Halifax for a double header. It is not known who will compose the St. John team, but Halifax will play about the same as in today's local.

WANT TRILINGUAL SCHOOLS IN OTTAWA. Ottawa, June 20.—A new phase of the bilingual problem has appeared here in a request made to the Public School Board for a double header. It is not known who will compose the St. John team, but Halifax will play about the same as in today's local.

Fols have requested that their Language also be Taught. Ottawa, June 20.—A new phase of the bilingual problem has appeared here in a request made to the Public School Board for a double header. It is not known who will compose the St. John team, but Halifax will play about the same as in today's local.

The members of the school board have received the request very sympathetically, not one being in favor of any such proceeding. Each is determined that only English shall be taught in the elementary classes. One member of the board, however, said that he was not averse to accommodation being provided in certain of the schools after the regular hours so that classes for the Polish children might be conducted there if the parents would take charge of the appointment and payment of a teacher.

Next Year Before New Bridge Will Be Ready

Outlook at the Falls That Summer of 1915 Will be Well Under Way Before Traffic Rate Will be Established

The completion of the spur line of railway to the site of the proposed bridge over the reversing falls has given rise to increased interest not only by residents of the West Side and Fairville but also to many living in the city proper who are looking toward Lancaster as a possible answer to the rent question of the future.

It would seem as if those involved in the construction of the bridge have not been overly lively, judging by the rate at which work has progressed to date. No doubt must be remembered that the McVey concern who have the substructure on the ground, then that firm and the government engineer were in dispute for a while, the former being reported as intimating that the substructure contract should be carried on much faster, while the report was made that the government had hampered operations by not having their part ready as expected, such as tearing down houses on the city side of the bridge. This finally culminated in the government ordering the contractors to rush things forward and without further friction. The advice has been followed but in a very desultory fashion and instead of the substructure being ready for the steel people last fall it will be a week or two yet before they can start in.

Advance Men Off To Camp Sussex

The advance party of the Army Service Corps, under command of Major McKean, with Lieutenants Olliphant, D. B. Pidgeon, and A. G. Ralston assisting, left this morning at 7 o'clock for Camp Sussex. The members of the Canadian Ordnance Corps under Major Anderson, also went to the grounds today, and the men of H. Company, Royal Canadian Regiment, Fredericton, are expected to reach camp from Alderston where they have been training for some few weeks. Colonel W. M. Humphrey, A. A. G., 8th Division, Halifax, will probably take up his quarters on the staff as camp commandant today.

On arrival at the grounds, immediately all was activity for the work of preparing for the coming of the larger bodies early next week, and as rain was threatened it was desirable to pitch the lines before it fell. Stores were gotten from the Ordnance Corps and the little bell shaped canvas tents which will house the troops for the next two weeks were neatly arranged on the broad stretch of green campus. In the supply shed where are supplied the rations for the whole encampment of upwards of 3,000 men, the members of the supply section of the Service Corps were busily engaged in storing, cutting, weighing, etc., and altogether it was a very busy day.

The Man In The Street

Despatch announces that Ontario man's sight was restored by a severe blow on the nose. Near-sighted or blind insurance and book agents are cordially invited to this office.

Pittsburg parents called their baby "Wilson Huerta." Probably want to be in right no matter which way the trouble ends.

Referring to the opening of Camp Sussex, the Globe said on Wednesday: "On Monday, the bakers will cook enough bread for the three thousand men who are to be under canvas." Presumably the intention is to use what is still left at the close of the week for the sham battle on the last day, although, in order that the ambulance corps might not be over-worked, it might be better to remove the outer crust. The Globe should tell us what the bakers will do for the balance of the week—sod, we suppose.

Doubtless the fact that four circuses may show in St. John this year will arouse in tents enthusiasm in the small boy.

Despatch announces pastor of Ontario church "has been relieved of clerical work." Our language is altogether too serious, unless he has been relieved of his duties, he's been fired.

With our own about ten days away, we can't think of anything more disappointing, saddening, disheartening and then some, than to have to take our little two weeks' holidays in wet weather.

Those people who are trying to make Villa appear as a martyr should not forget that his life has been as eventful as though he were seeking a position in an abattoir.

Now we have the only thorough explanation of the cause of trouble in the world: We heard it all in the valdecolores, of our school grade.

O, for a traffic cop at some street corners! Perhaps then those motorists and grocery boys would not try to see how close they could come to a fellow without touching him.

Is there any connection between the statements in the newspapers yesterday to the effect that the official returns show a marked decrease in the consumption of spirituous liquors and that the city of St. John finds it necessary to lay three miles of water mains this year?

The new automobile refused to start one morning this week. The proud owner cranked it with no response, then he cranked it again; once more, but still no response from the engine. Then, putting some of his recently acquired knowledge of car mechanism to the test, he tried to crank the carburetor, tested the air pressure in the rear tires, jiggled the spark plug, reversed the prestaltic tank, made sure that the horn would honk and tied a knot in the battery wires. Then he cranked up again with the same net result of no action. After consulting with the book of instructions he went over the machine again, putting into effect the various suggestions which he proceeded to apply to this particular case and trying a few new ones of his own. Still it would not move. He was just about to try the darkey's favorite method with a balky mule, lighting a fire under it to see if he could get set action in one direction if not in another, when the suggestion came that saved the situation. And it was his wife who did not profess to know the popet valve from the axle jack, who put her finger on the trouble. "Are you sure you have any gasoline in the tank?" she mildly inquired. He had not, and that was why one of our best known citizens was two hours late getting to the office one morning this week.

HOUSING IN SCOTLAND

In the Glasgow Evening News (Scotland), a writer quotes from Sir George McCrea: "After careful study and personal examination, I do not hesitate to say that the condition of housing in Scotland is a standing disgrace to the nation. I find not only in big towns, but in the smaller towns, a great scarcity of houses and a lamentable state of congestion, misery and wretchedness. Nothing short of a revolution will put Scotland in the position it ought to occupy."

Sir Robertson Nicoll endorsed these words, and said that in one vital particular at least civilization in the lower valley of the Clyde, and from Glasgow to Greenock, there are more slums than ever.

YANKEE TIME PIECES FOR I.C.R.

Here is Latest Gutelius Move On People's Railway

WHAT OF THE "LOYAL" TORIES?

Is Not This "Truck and Trade" With the Yankees, Which They so Roundly Denounced?—May go Back to A. M. and P. M.

A question now being discussed by those who have been watching affairs on the intercolonial railway since the ascendency of Manager Gutelius is "How much longer the loyal flag-bearers of the Tory party will stand the Americanizing of the road under his direction?" The trend of his management, it has before been declared, has been strongly in favour of the introduction of "Yankee" ideas, for he is a former United States citizen placed in a $20,000 a year position over many Canadians, and his leaning towards old associations has been shown in several matters relating to his management.

Following his heavy coal orders given to American companies as opposed to the intercolonial railway, apparently his latest dictum to the men of the I. C. R. is that they must have Yankee British time pieces, as he has not considered good enough for the ideas of this ex-C. P. R. employe, and the "loyal" Tories who were so strongly opposed to "truck with the Yankees" not so very long ago, stand stantly by and see the preference given to things American. Clocks from across the border are now being installed in the stations of the intercolonial. Apparently, British clocks were not of a sufficiently high-class order.

Circular has been sent out to the I. C. R. employes advising them that they must equip themselves with watches of American grade, giving a description of those desired. This may be most satisfactory to the several American drawing fat salaries from positions given them under Gutelius control, but there are many of the men who are not in favor of the idea. It seems difficult to see why Yankee-made clocks should have been ordered also.

A report has been current to the effect that the management is now considering a return to the old twelve-hour day system such as is in vogue on American railways. This has not yet been decided upon, but if the American preferences already shown can be taken as a criterion, few would be surprised if the arrangement would be established.

BEACONSFIELD AND INCORPORATED PLAN

Discussion at Public Meeting Reveals Strong Opinions For and Against—Committee Will Report

A largely attended public meeting was held in Lower school Beaufield, last evening to discuss incorporation of Lancaster, Captain Kennedy in chair, Geo. Bailey acted as secretary.

The councillors were outvoted in the municipal body and not allowed any say. The present system was bad and the councillors personally.

H. Colby Smith said the suggestion that a committee be appointed was a good one, that all information be laid before the public.

Councillor O'Brien said that as long as the city maintained the bonds to make improvements, the system was all right, but if the city refused to do this, some action must be taken to improve conditions.

G. Ralston Logan was appointed to investigate the merits or demerits of incorporation or other means of improvement, and report back to similar meeting. This was seconded by Geo. Maxwell and carried.

The following were nominated:—G. S. Mayes, H. Colby Smith, James McMurtry, Geo. Armstrong, D. C. Clark, Geo. Maxwell and Captain G. N. Kennedy.

Geo. Bailey asked why a policeman was not doing duty in the vicinity of Seaside Park as in former years, independently. He was appointed by the St. John Railway Co.

Councillor O'Brien replied that funds had been voted but the policeman was on duty on May 24, at a meeting of the municipal council in January, and that the Lancaster councillors were unanimously in favor of Policeman Amos, who had served sixteen years, but that he understood Warden McLellan and County Secretary Kelley were not in favor of his appointment, and so the position was not filled.

Considerable indignation was expressed, and it was moved that Warden McLellan be asked why the appointment had not been made. This was carried unanimously.

Andrew Collins made rather a telling speech against incorporation at this point, and James McMurray was heard in its favor. The meeting adjourned until July 16.
