La MARQUISE de FONTENOY

Mr. Shuster and the Complications in Persia—Nelson's Log Book—The Tripoli War

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company)

While every right-minded man, especially those of the English-speaking race, must admire the energy, the pluck, and the unflinching integrity with which Morgan Shuster is playing a hand at Teheran, which has won for his countrymen here a reputation for courage and square dealing that extends far beyond the bounds of Persia and indeed throughout the Orient, it must be a source of regret that the good work which he has already accomplished, and the possibilities of his great usefulness to Persia in the future have been endangered if not entirely destroyed by his lack of tact and of diplomacy. More than this, his deficiencies in these two particular qualities seem likely to cost Persia the last remaining vestige of her independence and to reduce the former empire to the fate of ordinary Russian and British oriental protectorates.

Mr. Shuster, in taking up his duties as treasurer general in Teheran, within a few weeks only after his appointment and without having sufficiently studied the Persian situation, which is so intricate and so much involved that it would take long months, combined with a thorough knowledge of the language and character of the people, to master, did not appreciate the fact that one-half of Persia was under Muscovite protection and the other under the protection of England. It was in fact thanks to these two great European powers that Persia was independent of the domination of her own tribal existence instead of being reduced to anarchy and chaotic tribal warfare.

He made the mistake of ignoring the existence of these two protectorates which, while burdening the protecting powers with certain responsibilities, likewise endowed them with privileges above other foreign states, and at the same time gave them a claim to special consideration and a voice in the methods of administration. He chose to regard Persia as a completely independent nation and that he was no more bound to consider the recommendations of England and Russia than those of France and Germany or the United States. He absolutely denied the pretensions of Russia and Great Britain to be treated as protecting powers, on the ground that their position as such had never been sanctioned by the national legislature of Persia, although that legislature was indebted for its existence to the intervention of the two powers, concerned, with the former Shah.

Naturally this has been bitterly resented by Russia, whose officials in Asia are somewhat heavier handed and less patient than their British colleagues, quicker, indeed to punish anything that they look upon as an insult. And when, to cap matters, he took upon himself to appoint Englishmen instead of Russians to important positions of revenue and taxes in the Russian sphere of Persia, and Englishmen, moreover, who were distasteful to the British legation in Teheran and to the British government, turning a blind eye to all the English envoy's remonstrances and "complaints." As a result, he has shown more tact and conciliation on his dealings with Russia, the situation became untenable.

Americans naturally took pride in the courage displayed by young Shuster when they somewhat mistakenly regard as representing their national interests in Persia. The English government realizes this and in consequence thereof has endeavored as far as possible to smooth over matters, but it has found it impossible to bring about an understanding, and now the situation means that either Persia will go out of existence as an independent nation, being divided between Russia and England, or else she will be obliged to get rid of Shuster, and to submit to more foreign interference than hitherto.

HENDERSON & HUNT 17-19 Charlotte Street ST. JOHN, N. B.

The Evening Chit-Chat By RUTH CAMERON

THE other day I was asked to write something which I had no idea how to word. I asked four people what to say. Three of them answered, "I'd say something like this" — and then made some vague and indefinite suggestion. The fourth took a paper and pencil, and wrote his suggestion in definite, finished form. The fourth is an unusually successful young business man. I wonder how much of his success he owes to the habit which this little incident shows he possesses—the habit of definiteness.

I believe that the habit of indefinite thought is one of the most common weaknesses that keep men and women from accomplishing things. It is much easier to think and talk and plan and live in "glittering generalities," to make up one's mind to say "something like this," to plan undertakings in vague and sketchy outlines, than to be definite and accurate in one's thoughts, and words, and plans. Of course, the indefinite and general idea must come first, and the definite and concrete afterwards, but the trouble with many people is that they never get beyond that first stage.

The indefinite idea is the powder—the concrete plan or thought is the shot. And the reason so many of us make much racket, but never hit the mark, is because we have powder, but no bullets in our guns. I know a man with such a passion for definiteness that he always makes a general statement by saying, "Such as," which is his way of demanding a concrete example of the generality. He says that half the time the person who makes the general statement cannot give any concrete example.

When I was out driving the other day, I passed two farms where produce was offered for sale. On the sign at one farm was printed: "ALL KINDS OF FARM PRODUCE FOR SALE." At the other place was a sign which read: "FRESH EGGS, FRESH PRODUCE, FRESH EGGS, CELERY, SQUASHES, CIDER, APPLES, LETTUCE."

The broad generalization of the first sign made no appeal to me. The definiteness of the second reminded me that I wanted some celery and brought out my pocket book. So definiteness won out as it always does. Train yourself to habits of definite thought and statement, to definiteness in your desires and aims and to the making of definite concrete plans, and you will have immeasurably sharpened the tools with which you are seeking to carve out a successful life.

Sprinkle the top with grated Parmesan cheese and put the dish in the oven for ten minutes. When ready to serve garnish around the edge of the dish with strips of toast.

PSORIASIS WAS CURED

After Five Years of Suffering—Three Doctors Failed and Said Case Was Incurable. Itching and Burning Was Terrible Until Relief and Cure was Effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment

Psoriasis is another name for chronic eczema. It is the worst form of this dreadful itching skin disease. Once eczema has reached this stage it is usually considered incurable.

But here is a case which proves again the wonderful healing power of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Not only does relief come quickly, but the resulting benefits are thorough and lasting.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Conson, Ont., writes: "I think it my duty to write you telling of the great benefit I received from using Dr. Chase's Ointment. For five years I suffered with what three doctors called 'Psoriasis.' I doctored with three different doctors, but with no good results, and one of the noted doctors told me if any doctor offered to guarantee me a cure for $25,000, I should keep my money in my pocket, as I could not be cured."

"The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head. The itching and burning was hard to bear. At last my brother read in the paper about Dr. Chase's Ointment, a healer. I used 8 boxes, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise the ointment enough, and you are at liberty to use my testimony, as I hope thereby to induce other sufferers to try the same."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 6c. a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1911

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., DECEMBER 8, 1911.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Campbell street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Companies Act.

THE MASTER OF THE CABINET

Abraham Lincoln once asked a politician how many legs a sheep would have if he called the tail a leg? The answer was, five. "No," was Lincoln's reply, "calling the tail a leg does not make it one." This political philosophy does not come with the lion in the Ontario Conservatives. A Liberal said in Dundas, at the nomination of Premier Whitney, that Mr. Bourassa dominated the Borden cabinet. The audience strenuously denied that this condition existed. They took five minutes calling the tail a leg, and seemingly believed that upon making it one by strenuous shouting.

The speaker was forced to take it back, but his friends say that, like Galileo under similar circumstances, he was heard to whisper, "The world moves just the same." The ordinary man would think that even an infant class in Canadian politics would know that what he said was true. When the lion eats straw like the millennium has not dawned, the lion will be very likely to dominate the company. There is no doubt about the matter in this case, and when the fact sinks into the minds of those Ontario partisans, lively developments may be expected.

The people impulsively do the wrong thing sometimes, but sometimes they do the right thing. Indignation at political chicanery and cynicism is bound to increase them powerfully, and they will insist upon exercising their own judgment. The votes of the people of Ontario cannot always be "delivered." Politicians who leave out convictions and make a jest of conscience, who denounce a man one month as a deadly enemy of the state and the king, and the next embrace him as a brother, without a word offered in explanation, will be repudiated in a way that even the most hardened politician must take to heart.

DEMOCRACY AND GOVERNMENT

It is quite as easy to hypnotize oneself into imbecility by repeating, in solemn tones the shibboleths "progress," "democracy," and "corporate unity," as by repeating the blessed word Mesopotamia. Democracy is perhaps the silliest of all the fetishes that are seriously worshipped among us. With these words and many others of like tenor, the Dean of St. Paul's has recently aroused the indignation of the working classes of Britain, the ecclesiastic of Cluny in the eleventh century gave form to the same doctrine and it is interesting to see how common is the tendency to return to many of the views that were current in the early middle ages.

Democracy today is glorified by popularity and it is almost impossible to discuss or criticize it. No one treats it with complete candor and sincerity. They would get no hearing and would be alone. We analyze aristocracy and autocracy very freely, but we believe in democracy because we have been brought up in it. We accept its mythology because we believe in it and like it and no argument can touch our faith. The ground for our confidence may not be any more solid than Dean Ingle indicates. Democracy may be no more than a phase in the endless shifting of philosophical generalizations by which society consents to subject itself to another set of arbitrary interferences, but whether it is superior to military or imperialism is something which only the evolution of history can show.

TRIPOLI PROVERBS

Here are some Tripoli proverbs:—"Do not run after destiny; it will find you." "Sweet words sometimes break the mouth." "Everything is gall to him who has bitterness in his mouth." "If I expect nothing from thee in adversity, I was nothing in prosperity." "He who obliges promptly confers a double favor." "Death is the consolation of the poor." "The wise man possesses humility, the foundation of all virtues." "If the stars shot bread we should spend our nights out of doors to get it." "The sick man is the physician's granary." ### LIBRARY FOR THE BLIND IS A WORTHY OBJECT FOR CHRISTMAS GIVING

Last spring a brief article on the Canadian Free Public Library for the Blind appeared in these columns. In that article it was stated that the library, then in Markham, Ont., was to be removed to Toronto. The removal has since taken place, and the C. F. L. B. now occupies quarters at 105 Annetto street, Toronto, Ont.

The Canadian Free Library for the Blind is attempting to reach and benefit all the blind of Canada, but it is encountering serious obstacles in the realization of this hope from the difficulty in securing names and addresses of those without sight, from the necessity of canvassing for funds to defray the expenses of maintenance. The Board of Management therefore requests all readers of this journal who are acquainted with blind persons, not now enjoying the benefits of the library, to send in such names and addresses to the secretary, S. C. Swift, M. A., 8

THE PINES

How often when my faith declines, And on my soul black doubts intrude, Have I bemoaned the needed pines, To grant me balm of solitude.

To them I bring my dearest grief, Fatigue, and throbbing brain; but these Have not availed to bar relief, And solace of the scented trees.

Outstretched beneath them on the ground, With limbs relaxed and senses still, Another being have I found, A stronger heart, a purer will.

What the cool winds have whispered through Their tangle branches I have heard, And clearer than the perfect blue, Of heaven hath the perfect spirit's word.

Sweet is that loon the grove breeze breathes Where lilted dozes and stirring cease, And my too restless spirit breathes, Unfathomable depths of peace.

—Leslie Pickney Hill.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

It is one of the idlest of all vagaries to dream of perfect government and institutions with imperfect people. It is still more idle to hope to secure perfection by the government of a class. Humanity is as strong as the weakest link and its government is as wise as the most foolish dispenser of authority and power.

Great weather we have here in the banana belt.

That sprightly and popular lady, Princess Patricia, is to have a glimpse of St. John today on her way through to Ottawa. The whole country will give her a warm welcome.

Counting the Liberals "fired" by the new government and those who now hold office, it is easy to understand that the followers of Sir Wilfrid still constitute a majority of the people of Canada excepting Ontario. The Tory headman has slain his thousands, and the axe is still swinging.

As Parliament has adjourned, a great many Canadians, looking back over the season, will become aware that they do not yet know what the policy of the Borden-McBouras government is with respect to the tariff, the navy, the development of Canadian ports, and many another important question. Our Conservative friends take a long time to roll up their sleeves and make a start.

Hon. Mr. Hazen, in reply to a query by Hon. Mr. Emerson, has promised to look into the matter of the pollution of streams by sawdust. If the Minister of Marine is ready to adopt an effective policy in this matter the New Brunswick Fish, Forest and Game Association will be able to provide him with a great deal of useful information. At all events they should place the evidence in his hands.

POOR DEVIL

A Kansas judge had a wretched, dilapidated prisoner before him. It was with difficulty he could get him to take any interest in the proceedings. After much questioning, the judge elicited the fact that the prisoner had no one on earth who was more closely related to him than his wife's mother. His wife was long since dead. The judge sat back and, looking at the ceiling, said:

"Poor, unfortunate, penniless, miserable, forsaken, half-witted wretch! No money, no brains, no sense, no home, no mother, except a mother-in-law. You are entitled to mercy, and, by Jigger, you'll have it too!"

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ENJOY FINE SMOKER

Large Gathering in Keith's Assembly Rooms With Speech and Song and General Good Time

The reception given by St. John Council No. 287, of the Knights of Columbus in Keith's Theatre last night to the new members and to the visiting degree team from Boston, was easily the most successful affair of the kind ever held by the order in St. John.

There was a very large attendance and from soon after eight o'clock until midnight all were entertained with a very fine programme of musical numbers and addresses, while always there was a spirit of jollity and good fellowship pervading the proceedings.

Grand Knight R. O'Brien made an excellent chairman. The recently formed Columbian Gleu Club, under direction of J. L. Mullaly, furnished the musical programme, which consisted of selections by the Columbian orchestra—Messrs. Mullaly, Harry O'Neill, Edmund Lunney and Mr. Hopewell—songs by Frank McCafferty, T. Chipman Olive, M. T. Morris, Gerald R. McCafferty, Dr. T. H. Lunney, Harry Milliholland and Louis J. McDonald, with entertaining extras by George J. Lynch, of Halifax Council and State Deputy William O'Brien, of Boston. Then there were well sung Gleu Club choruses. Fine recitations were given by L. A. Conlon and John R. Pauley.

The addresses were remarkably good. State Deputy O'Brien in a concise and forceful speech gave a nutshell history of the Knights of Columbus, spoke of its insurance and fraternal features, its work in many countries and gave wise counsel to all in carrying on its work. He announced the membership as 285,000.

District Deputy Joseph Murley of Boston made a very effective address upon the work of the order, and District Deputy John P. Duane of Ogdensburg was heard in an impromptu speech, so eloquent and striking that it well upheld his reputation as an able orator.

Very Rev. W. F. Chapman, V. G., Past State Deputy Mahoney, Messrs. O'Neill, Quinn and Grady of Boston were all heard to advantage, the St. John speakers all expressing the pleasure experienced in the visit of the knights from Massachusetts, and the latter heartily reciprocating the feeling. Mr. Mahoney, as well as Grand Knight O'Brien, speaking for the council, told how heartily the visitors were welcome and gave a warm invitation to them to come again. Every speech brought ringing cheers from the assembly of knights.

A dainty luncheon divided the programme into two parts. When midnight was reached, Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King were sung and a very successful function ended.

Newport, N. I., disputes the claim of Windsor, Conn., that the oldest inhabited house in the United States is in the latter town. Windsor's old house was built in 1640, while Newport's was built in 1639. The Newport house was built by Henry Bell, who later was Governor of the Rhode Island Colony.

ENGLISHMEN HERE TO STUDY 'PHONE SERVICE
Montreal, Dec. 7.—England—or, at least the National Telephone Company, which is the biggest thing of its kind in England—has come to Canada to learn how to work its telephones.
The company has had six men in Canada for the last two months, trying to learn the American secret of how to make the telephone business pay, and yet reduce the rental to rates something like those which are charged on this side of the Atlantic.
In England it costs between $200 and $300 yearly for an individual line, and over partnership in a four-party line runs up pretty close to $100. There is another trouble, too, over long distance telephoning.
The National Telephone Company has sent out six men to Canada to investigate. The party includes both engineers and chartered accountants. Two men are in Montreal, two in Toronto and two in Winnipeg. The party has already been in Canada two months. The Montreal men are investigating the Bell Telephone Company system of accounts, which is to be altered at the first of the coming year.
There are in New York State 1069 active organizations formed for the purpose of advancing one or more phases of agriculture. This number includes town, county and state organizations. The state grange, numbering 109,000 members, heads the list.

BUSINESS HONESTY.
A certain man was a great stickler for business honesty, and he was wont to declare that a dishonest dealer would turn the straightest patron's morals slightly askew. He illustrated this with a story. There was a farmer who sold butter to the village storekeeper, a deacon of a chapel taking sugar in exchange. It seemed to the farmer after a while that the sugar he was getting was short in weight. Accordingly he made a complaint. "Look here, deacon," he said, "it appears to me, you're giving me short weight sugar." "No," said the deacon, a religious old man, in a dry voice, "no, that can't be, for in measuring out that sugar of yours I always use a pound of your butter as a weight."

C. P. R. AND THE USE OF OIL FOR FUEL
Will Abandon Use of Coal on the Pacific Coast Steamers
(Montreal Witness).
An important series of experiments as to the speculative value of coal and oil as fuel for steamships has just been completed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Capt. J. W. Troup, the manager of the British Columbia coast service of this railway, has issued the following report giving the result of the experiments: After very careful consideration of the subject during the last year, the C. P. R. management decided to equip a few of its vessels on the British Columbia coast for the purpose of testing the efficiency of oil as compared with coal for fuel. Before doing this the various aspects of the question as to speed, efficiency, supply and cost were discussed, and the result of this inquiry, together with the experience of others, indicated clearly a decided advantage in the use of oil.

The first vessel to be equipped was the Princess May, which was undergoing extensive repairs. In former years when burning coal, this vessel was unable to make the desired speed at all times. There were losses through cleaning of fires and the handling of ashes, and on a voyage where tides form such an important feature due to the necessity of passing through certain channels at certain stages of the tide, if the vessel fails to catch the tide it becomes necessary to anchor, and thus lose still further time.
It will therefore be readily seen how important it is to be able to secure the speed when called for, and this advantage has been gained in the Princess May by the use of oil fuel. It is now found that she can maintain an average speed with two boilers, just about equal to what she had before with three boilers burning coal. One of the great advantages in the use of oil is the steady steam throughout the watch, and in fact from day to day. With coal it is up and down, and the operation of cleaning fires has an injurious effect on the boilers while with oil there is no cleaning of fires, and the temperature remains the same at all hours.
The company's vessel, Princess Charlotte, has also been fitted for oil, the fuel being carried in her double bottom, no special tanks being required. She has six boilers with three furnaces in each. They have all been fitted with Cyclone burners, and this vessel is showing very good results. It is found that 3.75 barrels of oil will do the work of one ton of Vancouver Island coal. One of the great advantages in the use of oil is its cleanliness and the great saving of labor.
No coal trimmers are required, no gangs of men to put the coal on board, the number of firemen is very much reduced, and their work is now comparatively easy. The decks are not covered with cinders and smut, and the time required for taking fuel on board each day is more than cut in two. The company has constructed a large tank in Vancouver with a capacity of 35,000 barrels of oil. There has been placed near the wharf another tank of 1,000 barrels. The oil is transferred from the large tank to the smaller one by means of a steam pump and from the smaller one direct to the vessel's tanks by an electrically driven pump of sufficient capacity to deliver about 1,000 barrels an hour on board. The company's officers are very much pleased with the results so far, and there is little doubt that the greater number of the company's vessels on the coast will soon be fitted with this fuel.
Nearly every man has a fool theory that he believes the world will finally adopt.

Unusual interest seems to be attached to the coming lecture on Christian Science in the Ovens House next Sunday at 3 o'clock, as it has been learned that several parties are coming to St. John from towns throughout the province to attend the event.

"We are no anti-British party," I deny it. "And I repeat it," persisted Mr. Sinclair. "Your own leader, Henri Bourassa, the leader of the postmaster-general, went to North Bay and talked to the Ontario people there about 'Your king, and your flag, and your constitution.' He would not acknowledge for himself our King George, or our flag which flies over these parliament buildings, or the constitution under which we live. Your own leader, Mr. Bourassa, I say shows that it is an anti-British party."

Turning on the lights they discovered that the figure was the corpse of a well-dressed man, and that his pockets had been emptied. A doctor was called and declared that the man had been dead for many hours.

SICK HEADACHE A Symptom of Troubles Which are Removed by Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Sick headaches are not merely afflictions to be borne as patiently as possible—they are danger signals. They never come unless the digestive system is out of order, and their regular recurrence is proof positive of serious trouble and a warning that should be heeded promptly.

Sick headaches are caused by indigestion, biliousness, constipation, and no amount of "headache powders" will do more than temporarily relieve them. The only way to get rid of them entirely is to cure the cause. Indigestion that is causing them, and nothing will do this quicker or more effectively than Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are purely vegetable in character and are free from any harmful drug. For over fifty years they have been in constant use in Canada, and have proved most effective in regulating the bowels, aiding digestion, banishing sick headaches and restoring vigorous health.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have stood the test for over fifty years, 25c at all dealers. W. H. Comstock Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont.

EMANCIPATE THE GIRLS OF SULTAN LAND

Ahmed Riza Bey's Scheme to Lift Them to Western Level

WAR CAUSES CHECK

Lyceum for Moslem Girls to Be Founded With Every European Requisite for Education and Training and Conducted on Lines of Western Civilization

(London Chronicle.)

Constantinople, Nov. 26.—His Excellency Ahmed Riza Bey, who has just been elected now for the third time president of the Ottoman Chamber of Deputies, has received me to the charming garden of his villa at Cardili, on the Asiatic shore of the Bosphorus. I have interviewed this distinguished statesman to get up-to-date information about the Hala-Turkish war, which, like everything else in the Near East, is becoming a dull monotony of a problem, which will prove, in the near future, of the utmost importance to the whole commonwealth of Young Turkey's constitutional regime.

For many years past the creation of a lyceum for Moslem girls has been the favorite dream of Ahmed Riza Bey, and such an institution will shortly be opened.

As is known, Ahmed Riza Bey lived for a long time in Paris as an exile, being the bitterest enemies of the Sultan and his son, and of his brutal, despotic way. He was, in that city, editor of a revolutionary newspaper in Turkish and Arabic, a paper exclusively devoted to problems of overthrowing the tyrannical regime of the "Red" Sultan. It is too much to say that the bloodiest revolution of three years ago was largely due to Ahmed Riza Bey's stirring campaign. Abdul Hamid feared Ahmed Riza Bey more than any other leader of the revolution, as he wielded the weapon far mightier than the sword, the weapon of an expert pen. Thus, when Ahmed Riza Bey returned to Constantinople, the Sultan interrupted every possible overture to make a friend of him. At their first meeting he embraced and kissed him. It was a Jewish kiss, and left the recipient unmoved. Abdul tried then to bestow on him various titles and privileges, but they were not accepted.

"Then, one day," continued Ahmed Riza Bey, "Abdul Hamid called me and said: 'Ahmed, art thou still cross with me? I have nothing I can do for thee? Do not, of me, ask anything thou hast set thy heart upon, and it shall be given thee.' I showed in my attitude all respect for Abdul Hamid, as he was then still our padishah and khalif, but I refused to accept any personal favors from him."

Abdul Hamid's Gift

"Thus just as I was leaving Yildiz Kiosk the idea struck me that the Sultan might be made the instrument of the realization of a national task, the ideal of which has been before my spiritual eye, smiling, beckoning, stimulating me, during all the long weary years of my exile. I had conceived the scheme, namely, of creating in Constantinople a lyceum for Moslem girls, an institution equipped with every European requisite for education and training, and conducted on the most backward lines of western civilization.

"You know, of course, how very backward our unhappy country is in the direction of the education of women. This has been all along the curse of our fatherland. We have women enough, but we have no life companions, no mothers in the proper sense of the word. I thought what a stupendous benefit would accrue to the whole of our nation if we could create, with special principles connected with the raising and bringing of Moslem girls, with the social duties of properly directed motherhood, could be imparted to our rising female generation.

"But I had no means of realizing the scheme, and I thought that Abdul Hamid, who had so cruelly wronged his nation and country for over thirty years, might now be given a chance of doing a little measure, redeeming his evil deeds. I consequently told him of my plan, and asked him to grant me a site for the building of a lyceum for Moslem girls. Next day I got the enjoyable news that this extensive place on the hill yards (Abdul Hamid Riza Bey showed with his outstretched arm the delightfully wooded plateau above his villa)—had been given me as a site for my lyceum."

The voice of Ahmed Riza Bey quivered, and his eyes glistened with intense excitement and delight as he uttered these words:

"You can walk on that plateau for about an hour, so extensive it is," added my host, with enthusiasm, "and I defy anybody to find another place on the whole of our charming Bosphorus which would equal this in picturesqueness and beauty. I was offered the opportunity of inspecting the place, and indeed no site more admirably adapted for the erection of an educational establishment could be found anywhere in the whole extent of 'the great city of Constantinople the Great.' The view from the hill of the Bosphorus, of the Golden Horn, and the Marmora Sea, is magnificent beyond description. The large vineyards, the numerous plane and cypress groves, and their own exquisite charm of cool shade, of variegated green, of perfect quietude and peace."

250,000 Needed

"The site alone is not enough, of course," there was a melancholy intonation in these words of Ahmed Riza Bey. "Nor is the erection you see on that side of the hill all that is needed. To make my dream a tangible reality, I require a sum of about 250,000. The government has permitted me to arrange an international lottery. Money was beginning to come in readily and liberally from all quarters, showing that the need of a national lyceum was felt everywhere. Unfortunately, however, the disastrous war with Italy and the extensive conflagrations which completely reduced to ashes large quarters of Stamboul, diverted public interest elsewhere, and my scheme is experiencing at present a very regrettable deadlock. I do not despair, however, and trust that by next year the whole institution will be put into perfect working order."

"The chief object I have in view," Ahmed Riza Bey continued, "is the elevation of the sense of motherhood and of its sacred responsibilities in the minds and hearts of our daughters. I was greatly struck during my long exile by the splendid beneficial results that accrue to European countries from good women brought up with the ideal of gentle, sweet, self-sacrificing, yet strong and rational motherhood. Give us such motherhood and our country will be saved, prosperous and happy. Nothing else will do it."

Ahmed Riza Bey's plan is to equip his lyceum for 250 Moslem girls from 5 to 15 years of age. The staff of teachers will consist of European ladies with a perfect, modern education. Only those in possession of a full certificate will receive appointment. Apart from all the necessary preliminary subjects there will be taught also domestic economy, Physiological and hygienic training will receive the utmost attention. Instruction in nursing will be all-round and thorough.

As I was leaving Ahmed Riza Bey showed me a spacious bathing house erected on the shady, delightful shore of the Bosphorus.

"This is for my children," he said to me with a smile, "my 250 children, who are to people this charming spot with grace and my heart as well, doubly bright with their happy laughter, their merriment, and their intelligent studies."

"Long live then, future Moslem motherhood!" I exclaimed. My host warmly pressed my hand.

"What about gymnastics?" was my parting question.

"Ample provision will be made for that," was the proud reply. "My children, the future mothers of our nation, will have to learn the wisdom of the classical studies. 'Mens sana in corpore sano.' And I am sure they will learn it as easily and as readily as their efforts and their looks."

FIVE MINUTES SOMETIMES MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE

If You Are Suffering the Tortures of Indigestion and Have to Wait Until Someone Runs to the Drug Store for a Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Free Trial Package

The instant relief afforded poor overburdened stomachs by the use of a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet should be a reason for constantly keeping a box on hand—at home and at the office as well.

A Stuart's Tablet is not only a digestant but it actually does the digesting itself. In other words, it furnishes the same elements for the digestion of food as the natural juices of the stomach. The stomach, when it is overworked, is unable to do any of the work except to burn the juices (immediately by the tablet) and then push the digested food into the intestines, where it will be still further digested and the strength taken up by the blood. Bitter waters, for example, and purges of the body.

So taking a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet before a meal turns the stomach the right way in which to mend itself and grow well again. And you absolutely prevent the mere blue-black, the formation of any poisonous gases, belching, flatulence, or constipation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have done more for humanity and have caused more rejoicing than any other one agency that has been named.

Every druggist everywhere sells and personally recommends Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The price is 25 cents per box. If you first wish to try them, a sample package will be sent you free if you write to F. A. Stuart Co., 139 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

UNIQUE WATCH

Works all Contained in a Pearl—It is Worth $6,000

Geneva, Dec. 8.—The watch-making firm of Louis Gallopin, of Chaux de Fonds, has just completed a wonderful watch, the only one of its kind in the world.

A pearl, which weighs forty-five grains and has a diameter of about half an inch, contains all the works. It took an employee of the firm fifteen months to hollow out the pearl and fix in the works.

The watch, which is guaranteed to keep good time and may be worn as a ring on the finger, is worth $6,000.

Dyspepsia is one of the most prevalent troubles of civilized life, and thousands of people suffer untold agony after every meal, for nearly everything that enters a weak dyspeptic stomach acts as a irritant.

The long train of distressing symptoms, which render a meal a torment to the victim of dyspepsia, and are so promptly cured by the use of Burdock Blood Purifiers, Mrs. Wm. Blood writes: "I have N.B. writes: 'I thought I would write and tell you of the great Burdock Blood Purifiers, and I will always recommend it.'"

"For five years I had been a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and had different doctors and proprietary medicines, but could get no relief. One day a friend told me to try Burdock Blood Purifiers. SAYS THE BLUE DRESS SUIT HAS ARRIVED

Several Worn at London Opera Performance—One Had Velvet Buttons

London, Dec. 8.—"Quite," in the London "Observer," says: "There is no doubt whatever about the arrival of the blue dress suit. The color is very dark but it is quite distinct from the mere blue-black cloth, which only the abnormally inquisitive can distinguish from black. I looked for practical confirmation of the new vogue at Hammerstein's opera, knowing that at that occasion there would be many men by a gentleman who was with the 'Majesty of Sovereign's party.'

I would lay stress on this, because the man in question has for years been regarded in society as the leader of the best-dressed men brigade, and it is not easy to imagine one of his friends having sufficient courage to go into his presence attired in anything likely to be considered daring, or in any way opposed to good taste. In short, I regard this admission of blue dress cloth into the de Sovereign circle as the highest possible confirmation of my recent announcement of it as the new style.

I would like to put on record a postscript of the interesting fact that a well-known patron of opera appeared in the stalls at Hammerstein's on that wonderful opening night in a dress suit which, of a dark blue vicuña, had velvet buttons to it, there being four small ones on the sleeves, the cuffs of which were marked by a thin velvet piping. The collar, too, was of velvet.

On a man inclined to jewelry and fancy necks or tinted waistcoats, this suit would undoubtedly look gaudily conspicuous. But, as I have so often pointed out, so much in these matters depends upon the wearer. He, whose coat I have described, was tall, slim, middle-aged and clean shaven; his waistcoat was of white linen and not too pointedly cut in the fore and not too pointedly cut in the fore; his studs and waistcoat buttons were plain white enamel.

I was pleased to observe a scarcity of grey dress waistcoats. Indeed, I saw only three in all that great assembly, two being worn by foreign musical critics, and the remaining one decorating the facade of the composer-conductor, M. Nougues."

PROCESSES OF MANUFACTURING PULP

(Forestry Press Bulletin No. 31.)

Three processes were used to manufacture into wood-pulp the 600,000 cords of pulpwood used in 1910. These are the mechanical or grinding process and the two chemical processes, which depend upon the use of sulphuric acid and soda. Statistics issued by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior show that wood used in the pulp process was valued at more than three-quarters of the total during 1910, a greater percentage than at any time in the past. Unlimited supply of clean water is a necessity in the manufacture of wood by the mechanical process so that Quebec is the province best adapted for it. Spruce furnished over four-fifths of the wood used for mechanical pulp. Balsam contributed one-sixteenth, with small quantities of hemlock and poplar making up the balance.

The sulphite process accounted for one-fifth of the pulpwood and was used slightly more in Ontario than in Quebec. Nearly seventy per cent of the wood used in this process was spruce, mostly from Ontario. Balsam furnished thirty per cent, about three-quarters of which was from Quebec and the same province used a small quantity of poplar in this process. Barely two per cent of the total amount of pulpwood was manufactured by the soda process, although Canada has the distinction of having the oldest soda mill in America. Quebec manufactured more than three-quarters of the pulp made by the soda process. This process was the principal method used in the reduction of hemlock. Of the total used by the soda process spruce formed seventy per cent, hemlock seventeen per cent, and poplar ten per cent. Balsam is not adapted to the soda treatment.

The Ring Private Match For Driscoll-Moran New York, Dec. 7.—(Grand Austin, a light promoter of England, who had Jim Driscoll and Owen Moran, matched, only to have the courts stop the bout, is now trying to arrange a private match between these clever featherweights.

"It seems to me a dreadful pity from a sporting point of view that this, which would in all probability prove the greatest featherweight contest of modern times, should be permitted to fall through finally and forever."

As you doubtless know, I have already lost heavily in my attempts to bring these two men together in public, and such surplus as remains over, after paying all expenses, will show me a very meagre profit indeed.

Yours faithfully, (Signed) "HERALD AUSTIN."

Grab shod, pull fo' de sho', When you're tired, pull some mo' Beter off a pile than yo' is. Et yo' would improve yo' lot, Make de bes' of what yo' got. --Brooklyn Eagle.

Two farmers living near Georgetown, Ind., made a wager last summer as to who could raise the bigger hog. Each farmer selected the healthiest and largest hog in his pens and the race began. The hogs were of unequal size at first, but the smaller gradually gained on the other until last week, when the time limit expired, both hogs weighed exactly the same to an ounce, and neither owner could claim the bet.

NO PAY FOR CITY EMPLOYEES UNTIL DAY'S WORK ENDS

New Rule in Effect Today and One Cause of Criticism of Engineer's Department is Removed

The cause of one objection which was made at the recent investigation into the city engineer's department has been removed by a change which has gone into effect in the chamberlain's office at City Hall. Notice of the change is given by large cards which have been tacked up around the corridors bearing the inscription, "In no case will pay roll be paid until 5.15 p. m."

This is the day for the issue of the fortnightly pay envelopes for the city laborers and up to the present the men have been able to get their envelopes almost any time on Friday. The complaint was made that the men knocked off work early to go after their pay and in this way the city lost a good many hours of work.

Under the new method the men will have time to finish their day's work and still get to City Hall before the envelopes are handed out. The chamberlain's office will be open at six o'clock on pay days for the benefit of the men, and the officials say that if the men come along promptly they will be able to pay them all by that time.

The pay roll this week is as follows: Public Works, $1,278.45; Water and Sewerage, 2,538.69; Ferry, 217.50.

Total, $4,024.64

ADDRESS AND ROSES TO BISHOP CASEY AS JUBILEE GIFT

Presentation Made at Meeting of St. Monica's Society in C. M. B. A. Rooms—His Lordship in Happy Reply

In the C. M. B. A. rooms, in Union street, on Thursday afternoon, at the invitation of the president and members of the newly organized St. Monica's Catholic Ladies' Benefit Society, His Lordship Bishop Casey was present and received an address accompanied by the gift of a silver vase containing twenty-five red roses, the commemoration of the twenty-fifth year of His Lordship's priesthood. The address was read by Mrs. Warren C. Winslow, first vice-president, and Mrs. James Dever, president of the society, presented the roses.

After graciously acknowledging the gift, His Lordship addressed the members, pointing out to them the good work that might be accomplished, especially mentioning the immigration work on the west side of the harbor. He also referred to the artistic value of the paintings unveiled in the cathedral this week, which were placed there, he said, to commemorate your elevation to the priesthood and, as the address, the forty-five members present knelt to receive His Lordship's blessing, with which the interesting proceedings were brought to a close. Following is the address read by Mrs. Winslow:

It gives us much pleasure that this, Your Lordship's first visit to St. Monica's Society, should be on such an auspicious occasion, and that, while we welcome you in our midst today, we may be permitted at the same time to offer you our heartfelt congratulations on the attainment of your silver jubilee.

We feel we have peculiar claims on Your Lordship's goodwill, our little society has come into existence in your jubilee year, and almost on the anniversary of your elevation to the priesthood, and we see in this a happy combination of circumstances which cannot fail to be an incentive to us in our proposed good works.

We felicitate Your Lordship on these twenty-five years, spent in union with God and the active work of the vineyard; years laden with golden memories of good deeds projected and accomplished; years which brought to Your Lordship the approbation of the Holy Father, and the bishop's mitre.

We beg Your Lordship's acceptance of these roses, and sincerely hope that God will spare you for many happy days, and that on the occasion of your golden jubilee, we may be able to point with joy to much good accomplished under Your Lordship's encouragement.

FREE KINDERGARTEN

The November Report of the Work Is One of Encouragement

The reports of the Free Kindergarten for the month of November show that the average attendance has been almost the full enrollment. The children who were forced to remain home because of lack of clothing, have been enabled to return through the generosity and thoughtfulness of friends.

Thanksgiving was as real and heartfelt to the little ones of the different kindergartens as it was to those who inaugurated the day and they entered into the celebration with much feeling of thankfulness. At one of the kindergartens, the first Thanksgiving Day was initiated. After talking over the things they had to be thankful for, the children marched into the church singing hymns of praise, and their own thanksgiving song, "We Thank the Heavenly Father," closing their short service by kneeling and repeating the Lord's Prayer. On their return they found a feast spread by friends—fruit, milk and cake—and all felt it was a day long to be remembered.

The days following have been occupied in discussing the "baker" and other workers necessary in the production of bread. The hand-work and gift lessons have been carried out with the purpose of illustrating and impressing the knowledge of the trades in the minds of the children. So through happy play much knowledge is gained.

Two mothers' meetings have been held, where Mrs. Matthews has given helpful talks on the importance of plain and nourishing food. It is pleasing to note that through the children's conversation, the kindergartens find these suggestions are being adopted.

Kind friends have not forgotten the little ones in the kindergartens this month, and the kindergartners report a larger number of visitors than usual.

Through the kindness of "The Daughters of the Empire," two kindergartens have been provided with milk and biscuit once a week. Other circles and friends have sent donations of apples and other food. A friend from Sussex also sent a barrel of apples.

Among the generous gifts received have been clothing, $5 in cash and dolls for one of the Christmas trees, all of which make the committee realize that they are not alone in the work.
