Because of the throng which attended the last rites for Ora Thomas, deputy sheriff, slain in a gun battle with E. Gary Young, at Merrin, Ill., services were held in front of his home. Rev. J. KASSON, UNABLE TO SEE, PLACES TRUST IN LEADER

Siberian Canine Takes Team Safely to Nome SERUM ALL RIGHT

Although Frozen Solid, It Proves Undamaged, Says Doctor Welch

British United Press. NOME, Alaska, Feb. 3.—The north country has written on the pages of its history in large letters the name of Balto, lead dog of Gunnar Kason's team.

Kason told how, when he himself was no longer able to see his dogs, much less the trail, he placed his trust in Balto, and the big Siberian never faltered, but led him straight to Nome.

Kason arrived Monday morning after completing the final lap of the "race of mercy" into Nome with 300,000 units of diphtheria serum on his sled to relieve the Nome diphtheria epidemic.

30 Below With Gale. "I left Bluff, 83 miles east of Nome, at 10 p.m. Sunday," Kason said. "The thermometer stood at 30 below, and a gale was blowing. I gave Balto his head and trusted him. He never once faltered. It was Balto who led the way; the credit is his."

"For Balto it was just another entry to be made on his long record as a veteran of the Arctic trails. In 1916 he led the Kason team to victory in the 'Moose Race' and again gained fame two winters ago when he took Raeder Amundsen the explorer, north from Nome when the explorer planned his airplane flight across the pole. He is known as the best leader in the north."

Praises Others. Kason had words of praise for all but himself. "There's lots of credit due to Eskimo Pete," he said. Pete drove from Unalakleet to Isaac Point, through a terribly bad country.

"Then Seppala took the serum and William Iker, seaman, all had to be taken to the hospital here on the vessel's arrival yesterday.

The Hastings County left Hamburg on January 6 and the Tyne River on January 14 and ran into the terrific hurricane on January 20, this being the same storm which swept overboard two members of the crew of the Weland County, of the same company, which arrived here last week. The vessel battled the winds and waves for more than 48 hours, and during this time two lifeboats were wrecked, two were smashed and the cabin flooded with water.

Wave Sweeps Decks. Early in the morning of January 21 a huge wave broke over the steamer, and members of the crew were hurled along the deck, several of them narrowly escaping being swept overboard. During this turmoil, the boatswain received a severe injury to his knee, the carpenter suffered serious wounds to his head and injuries to his chest, and the seaman was quite badly cut around the head. It is not expected that any of the injuries will be fatal.

The Hastings County has a large cargo for this port. She is commanded by Captain Hansen. She docked last evening at No. 1, Sand Point, to discharge.

CITY GETS NEW SNOW COVERING

Storm Brings 5 1-2 Inches and Gives Work to 55 Teams and 175 Men.

February apparently started in where January left off and real wintry weather continues to prevail. Early last evening a snow storm broke and during the night the wind increased in violence. A 20-mile an hour gale was blowing and the mercury had advanced to eight degrees above.

The storm, while it added to the expenditure of the public works department, provided work for a number of men today in shovelling the snow from the streets into the sleds waiting to carry it away. This morning 55 teams and 175 men were engaged in removing snow and the total number of men at work in the department was 230.

LEXINGTON, Mass., Feb. 3.—A pistol duel fought in a North Lexington street last night by two 18-year-old youths, one of whom was shot dead, remains unexplained. Joseph Statzky, Lexington high school senior, survivor of the battle, maintained that he had fired in self-defence after George Travence of Arlington Heights had held him up and robbed him. Travence was shot dead. Statzky, wounded in the right shoulder, is under arrest, charged with murder.

SENSATION IN ROME

Resignation of Fascist Deputies Emphasized by Opposition Newspapers.

ROME, Feb. 3.—The resignation of several deputies from the Fascist party is emphasized by the opposition newspapers and minimized by the Government organs. The retirement of such men as Eduardo Torre is causing somewhat of a sensation. Deputy Torre occupied a leading position both in organizing the Fascist party in Piedmont and later in successfully re-organizing the Italian railways.

Deputy Torre in an interview said he had resigned because of attacks launched against him by some of the Fascist newspapers.

MRS. READY LEFT $117,000 IN WILL

$38,000 Is Bequeathed For Charitable Purposes

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 3.—Pallid of face, his lips purple and his strength fast ebbing, Floyd Collins early today lay in the mole-like hole in Sand Cave, waiting for someone, something, to release his foot, held down by a huge boulder, which fell upon it when he was exploring the cave Friday morning. Efforts are fruitless.

For 24 hours he was alone. Saturday he was found and since that time scores of men have tried in vain to rescue him. Many suggestions have been received by telegraph—but the ingenuity of man has gone for naught.

In the narrow crevice, hardly large enough for a small man to squirm through the boulder, immovable, has held Collins while the constant dripping of water from above has created a torture chamber such as was known only in ages past. For hours men have peered away at the boulder with cold chisels; others have tugged at a rope fastened to the body of the victim. He has been moved five inches in four days.

But hope, stronger than the jaded bodies of the rescuers, held out today, and renewed efforts were being made to pull Collins from his living tomb. Apparently only the most primitive methods will be successful if anything is to be. A compressed air drill was rushed here from Louisville, but experienced cavers said there was grave danger that the vibrations would loosen other rocks and cause the narrow passage to collapse, so it was not used.

Prisoner Still Hopes. Still optimistic, but himself facing a complete breakdown, Collins has entered into any scheme to extract him from the cave. He has even offered to be a guinea pig for a new method of rescue. He has even offered to be a guinea pig for a new method of rescue.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Half-starved families crouched in chill stone hovels, trying to warm themselves around a smouldering bit of water-soaked peat, are described by the day Chronicle correspondent, who has returned from a visit to the distress areas in the west of Ireland. The sufferers live on dry bread, tea and tiny potatoes, and sleep on piles of damp straw and rags. None had starved to death, but many in a state of "semi-starvation."

REGINA DEALER TELLS WHAT MARITIME PORTS MUST DO—ROTARY CLUB HEARS CLAIMS OF EAST-WESTERNERS STRESS NEED OF ALL-CANADIAN UNDERSTANDING

Special Representative of The Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star now touring Western Canada in the interest of the Maritime Provinces.

REGINA, Feb. 2.—I talked today with a representative of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, which is building an elevator with 1,000,000 (not 2,500,000) bushels' capacity at Buffalo. The company has an exporting office in New York and another in Winnipeg. It handles both Canadian and American grain.

I was told that the questions of freight tonnage and exchange ruled the business, and the margin of profit was so small and competition so keen and merciless that advantage must be taken of whatever port ensured the lowest through rate, and that the exporter who yielded to sentiment would be put out of business in short order.

Buffalo, I was informed by a grain exporter, appears to be a great natural bulk-breaking port for American and Canadian grain. It handled far more grain last year than Montreal.

FACE DEFICIT IF V. O. N. WORKS NOT CURTAILED

Requirements Force Expenditures Higher is Statement to Meeting. ESTIMATE $1,813 BEHIND IN 1925 Money Requests and Gifts Acknowledged in Report of President.

Reports to the annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses St. John branch, arranged for this afternoon with Hon. J. G. Forbes, president, in the chair, show that the order has accomplished a great deal of work here; also that additional expenses have been placed in the order in such a position that a deficit of approximately $1,813 is faced if the same activities as last year are to be continued.

May Reduce Staff. The central governing body has decided that there must be an increase of $120 a year paid to the nurses and also, owing to reports made by the Board of Health, a stenographer must be kept in future. In view of these matters the local branch is taking up the question of doing with one less nurse this year, reducing the staff to eight, including the superintendent who also does nursing work.

Financial Report. The financial report was submitted by W. L. Caldwell, secretary-treasurer, and in this he included an estimate of the expenditures for 1925. The statements follow:

Table with columns for Grants, Fees, Income, Expenditures, and Surplus. Includes items like City of St. John, Parish of Lancaster, Board of Health, Nurses salaries, Car fare, Telephone, Drugs and medical supplies, etc.

Estimates For 1925. The following estimates for the present year were submitted. Expenditures: One superintendent at $1,800, Seven nurses at $1,500, One stenographer at $100, Car fare at $200, Telephone at $100, etc.

These grants are to capital accounts and the interest only can be used.

Aid Is Acknowledged. Thanks also was expressed to the councillors of Lancaster and Simonds to the Corporation of the City of St. John, as well as to the County Council, for their generous aid in the I. O. G. T. Rowley and the other medical gentlemen who without fee or reward aided in the well-baby clinic. "It is a matter of pride and satisfaction," says the report, "that not one dollar of the funds was paid in salary for management, and every dollar contributed for our charitable work was used for that purpose."

VALUED WORK OF HEALTH BOARD

Fire Chief Blake's Knowledge of City Conditions Proved of Much Service. The regular meeting of the St. John County Board of Health, which was to have been held yesterday afternoon, was postponed on account of the death of one of its members, George Blake, chief of the fire department. Mr. Blake's membership with the Board of Health in St. John dates back to 1913, and during that twelve years of gratuitous service, he contributed largely to public welfare because of a thorough knowledge of the home conditions in St. John. Being chief of the Fire Department and for that matter a lifelong fireman, and being trained in the plumbing and heating trade, very little escaped his keen observation when working among houses and public buildings during fires.

Helped in Reforms. Hardly a meeting of the Board of Health but Mr. Blake's aid for information on some subject more or less hidden from the casual view of the public, places with which he was familiar as fire chief, and citizens indebted to him for quickly but firmly rooting out much sanitary evil and human risks that existed in all parts of town. A man of resolute mind, John Kelly, who was Mr. Blake's firm friend for more than two generations, the late chief was well informed in what might be termed the structural history of St. John not only since 1877 down to the present, but in the days previous to that configuration date. Therefore the Board of Health was always well informed in matters of precedent and the early career of the city by the first-hand knowledge of these two gentlemen. It will now fall upon Sanitary Inspector E. J. Walsh, himself an experienced man of many years' service, a plumber by trade, to supply the fund of experience and information that Mr. Blake has left behind.

B. Prohibitory Act to go after statement had been made by the policeman that arrest had been made. "Resolved that this District Lodge, I. O. G. Much Ice Along Coast Is Reported

The bays and small harbors along the coast are filled with ice, according to a report issued this morning at the local Marine and Fisheries office. The C. G. S. Laurentian is busy along the Nova Scotia coast of the Bay of Fundy replacing buoys which have overturned on account of the ice forming on their tops, thus making them top-heavy, or those that have been dragged down by the ice. All these buoys, however, are close in shore along the coast and they do not affect navigation in the bay for the ocean steamers. The ice is also confined to the smaller bays and harbors. The C. G. S. Dollard, which has been receiving general overhauling and repairs during the last few weeks, will probably be back in commission some time next week, and this will greatly aid in the work along the coast.

"A little rainy spell, however," remarked Dr. Smith, "would be in no wise unwelcome to us or any other part of the country."

SANDING THE STREETS

Some Want It, Some Don't—Others Don't Care. One of the easiest things in this world to start, and the hardest to finish, is an argument. For instance, take the sanding of the streets of St. John. The Mayor says let 'em buy creepers, and the commission says just so. And there we are. Slips and bumps and tumblers. And then the arguments start in the press. Just so and so forth. The same applied to the price of milk. Somebody said it was too high in price (which it was). And then the arguments started. This man figured that the more milk he sold at the low price the sooner he would be in the poor house. Another said just so and so forth. And so said they all. Then Purty downs the price and everybody is pleased excepting those selling milk. But Purty kept right on, it's other dealers following suit, arguing all the time. However, the price will stay down so long as Purty is supported by the public. Phone Main 5000 and order your daily supply of milk, and do it now!

MARITIME MISSION WINS GOOD WILL IN WEST

I impressed this viewpoint upon my hearers in every place in which I addressed meetings. I conveyed to them the information that because of the fact that Canadian National Railway officials had repeatedly stated in the Maritime Provinces that Ontario business men insisted upon routing goods through the United States ports, they, the manufacturers, were the victims of some very doubtful advertising. I spoke to them of the unrest that had been created by this railway propaganda.

DESIRE FOR PRACTICAL CO-OPERATION

But I was also enabled to tell them that I had been pleasantly surprised on discovering that apparently there was no justification for such statements. I also promised to convey this information to the people of the Maritime Provinces and to assure the readers of The Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star that, far from finding any antagonism towards the ports of the Maritime Provinces, I found nothing but sympathy and a desire for practical co-operation.

Of the many instances of this character with which I came in contact, nothing is more enlightening than the case of the Ford Motor Company. It will be remembered that when certain traffic routed by this company was transferred by the Canadian National Railways from St. John to New London, Conn., the statement was made that it was because of an insistent demand on the part of the officials of the Ford Motor Company.

THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY'S CASE

In consultation with Mr. Wallace R. Campbell, general manager of the Ford Motor Company, I was told that the policy of that great concern was to use Canadian ports wherever possible in the routing of their freight. When it is considered they have a contract for carrying thousands of tons with the Canadian National Railway, the importance of this attitude is apparent. They have been told by representatives of the Canadian National Railways that it takes much longer to get goods from Windsor, Ont., to St. John or Halifax than it does to forward them to New London, and the period in which goods are en route to the Connecticut port from Windsor is fixed at four and one-half days. A few years ago I had occasion to bring a large tonnage from Toronto to various parts of the Maritime Provinces and I was guaranteed delivery by the Canadian National Railways from Toronto in four days. This was, of course, because there was competition with the Canadian Pacific Railway. I maintain that if it was possible to do this several years ago in the winter months, it is possible to do it today, and, therefore, there is no reason why the Canadian National Railway cannot deliver the Ford products in St. John in five days and in Halifax a few hours later.

ANXIOUS TO USE CANADIAN PORTS

It might be well to recall also that Canadian Government Marine boats were sent from Halifax to New London to get this freight. And yet we have the Ford Motor Company's representatives willing and anxious to use Canadian ports. The cause of the routing via United States ports is clear. Apparently former employees of the Grand Trunk Railway are still under the impression that they are working for that defunct organization instead of being employees of the people of Canada. If the experience of Mr. Belding and myself revealed anything in Ontario, it was that the people with whom we came in contact were impressed with the idea that these officials should be brought to a clear understanding as to just who their employers are and what country pays their salaries.

There were many cases in which, after hearing our side of the case, exporters and importers indicated not only their desire but their intention of using Canadian ports both ways in connection with their business. So far, so good.

NEED FOR PROPER ORGANIZATION

But with all this encouragement and with the rosy outlook that this reception of our case suggests, we in the City of St. John have to realize that we are engaged in a business enterprise which should be properly organized and which should have the support of the citizens of this city and of every resident of the Maritime Provinces. The same is true of the City of Halifax. So it has been indicated beyond question that the possibilities are obvious if we care to avail ourselves of them. How to do it is a matter which should engage the serious attention of business men of this city and province.

It would be impossible to express how full and whole-hearted was the welcome extended to The Telegraph-Journal and The Times Star. When it is recalled that the meetings held were attended by hundreds of big men, the very cream of the business world of Ontario, and that not one dissenting voice was raised against the broad proposition submitted on behalf of Canadian national ports, it will be appreciated just how deep and real is the sentiment underlying the support of the claims of the people of the Maritime Provinces.

Prevent tooth decay below the gum-line

As the soil nourishes the tree roots, the gums nourish the teeth. And as the tree decays if you bare the roots, so do the teeth decay when gum shrinkage starts in. This condition—one of the first stages of Pyorrhea—is very common and something that ordinary tooth pastes are powerless to prevent. If not checked promptly it will lead to loss of teeth and serious organic diseases. If used in time and used consistently twice daily, Forhan's will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. It will preserve the gums in their pink, normal, healthy condition, safeguard your health and keep your mouth clean, fresh and wholesome. Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. "The Finest Thing That Ever Happened for the Maritimes"

"THE finest thing that has ever happened for the Maritime Provinces."

In these words did William Swanton yesterday summarize his opinion of the action of The Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star in sending to Ontario and Western Canada J. D. McKenna, M. L. A., and A. M. Belding to bring home to Canadians living to the west of us just what the Maritimes mean to the West; how necessary it is, for the good of the whole, that the part should enjoy an equal prosperity with the whole, what advantages the East holds out to the West and finally "to sell the Maritimes to the West."

The papers which had made this first definite move deserved the highest commendation from all Maritime Provincial bodies, declared Mr. Swanton. For years, there had been a great deal of talking about Maritime problems, but nothing had been done about it, he said. No real impression was made on the quarters that should have been reached.

Now there was definite action, and it would find its echo in the halls of Parliament, said Mr. Swanton. Members would take pains to inform themselves as fully as possible on the issues, so that when any Maritime issue came up in the House they would be able to discuss it and vote on it intelligently.

Mr. Swanton paid personal tribute to Mr. Belding and Mr. McKenna. There were no two persons who knew conditions here better than they did and who could be surpassed in their ability to put their message across, he declared.

Rates and Tonnage Are Big Factors In Grain Shipments

immensely improved, but having so few people, compared with the United States, and its several ports having such diverse problems, it faced a difficult situation. The central provinces had by far, he said, the best of the bargain as compared with the East and the West. Freight rates are a very live issue in the west. Structural steel is brought from England into Alberta via the Panama Canal and Vancouver more cheaply than it can be railled from eastern Canada, and even Regina is importing goods via Vancouver at lower than eastern rates.

Want the Railway. Saskatchewan wants the Hudson's Bay Railway and is in real earnest about it, believing the project is good business. In Winnipeg a member of the Board of Trade declared the Maritime Provinces would benefit from the cheap water carriage of their goods through Port Nelson into the heart of the west.

I find that Saskatchewan does not discriminate against the goods of the Maritime Provinces. Both are "The East" and are regarded by most people here as alike in opposing western policies and plans.

The Regina Post on Saturday declared there is a certain amount of politics in the agitation to secure more traffic for St. John and Halifax. When I called on the editor and assured him such was not the case, he referred to a Maritime Province paper which has been sending telegrams and marked copies of the paper to western journals and public men since The Telegraph-Journal sent me on this mission.

A Common Question. He asked me what was behind that action. I have been asked the same question from London, Ont., to Winnipeg. The Post editor assured me that if it could be shown that grain and other products could be shipped as cheaply and satisfactorily through St. John and Halifax as through other ports, his province would stand behind the principle of Canadian trade through Canadian ports. With the small margin of profit, he said, the farmers must get their product to market at the cheapest possible rate.

Want to Hear Message. The Rotary Club had an important speaker today but gave me five minutes and a most cordial reception. The Canadian Clubs and Boards of Trade here and at Moose Jaw want a date on my return from the east.

"The East and West," said one Regina business man, "ought to have a common policy, if that were possible." Another man put the case thus: "Canada's trouble is a lack of unity. Saskatchewan is in Saskatchewan but not in Canada. The Maritime Provinces are in the Maritime Provinces but not in Canada. And so with British Columbia and some other provinces. We must get together and develop a policy that will benefit all and so create a national spirit. The west at bottom is Canadian, but its problems cause complaint and encourage a few to talk possible secession. Send more of your spokesmen out here to stimulate our interest and tell us of your situation in the extreme East. It will do great good to us all."

PROTEST AGAINST MORE OIL TANKS

Meeting in South End in Opposition to Proposal of Imperial Oil Co. Ltd.

A strong resolution of protest against the erection of any more oil tanks in the southern end of the city was passed with a few dissenting voices at a meeting of citizens that district last night in the rooms of the South End Boys Club, at which Thomas Killen, chairman of the community affairs committee of the South End Improvement League, presided.

The protest was against the proposal of the Imperial Oil Co., Ltd., to build additional tanks on that section of ground given to the Dominion Government by the city and leased by it to the oil company, and was based on an official communication from the New Brunswick Board of Fire Underwriters, to the effect that the erection of the tanks would mean an increase of from one to two per cent. in insurance rates on properties within the vicinity of several blocks of the site, on the menace to life and property that such tanks would create, and on the fact that with the exception of St. John no city allows an oil company to erect tanks within the city limits.

The resolution was moved by Rev. H. A. Cody and seconded by Abner Secord. The meeting was small due to the storm but it is planned, if it is found necessary to hold a large meeting for a full discussion of the question.

Committee Named. The following committee was appointed to draw up the resolution and also see to the circulation of the petition: Sterling Lordly, Thomas Killen, James Lewis and Thomas Longon.

Rev. H. A. Cody spoke strongly against the erection of more oil tanks on the grounds of the menace to life and property.

E. W. Rowley said he could not see where the tanks were going to be dangerous, as they contained crude oil. He mentioned the $40,000 in taxes paid by the company and said that the most dangerous tanks were already there. He was the nearest neighbor.

Abner Secord, in seconding the resolution, made some remarks which Mr. Rowley resented strongly. Sterling B. Lordly read a letter from the fire underwriters which set forth the increase that would be necessary in insurance rates in that vicinity if the tanks were erected.

England Proposes to Produce Own Sugar

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(United Press.)—England will attempt to produce her own sugar. At present she imports 1,600,000 tons of sugar per year. Now she proposes to lighten this import burden by growing sugar beets and refining the product, as does the United States. As a starter, 60,000 acres of British soil will be planted in sugar beet and five refineries will be built to take care of the product.

GAME REFUGES - A TRANSFORMATION.

New Brunswickers, who become more deeply interested year after year in the preservation of our game birds, animals, and fish, and who look forward to the establishment of more forest refuges for deer, moose and partridges, should hear with pleasure and a sense of profit and encouragement the story of Pennsylvania's success in restoring its game which was destroyed so thoroughly by wasteful and criminal methods.

Fortunately, there is still ample time in New Brunswick to protect and gradually increase our game animals by careful and wise methods, and to conserve that noble native game bird, the partridge, and promote its presence in far greater numbers in every county in the province. Already we have adopted the principle of game reserves, and have set aside one or two tracts for this purpose, but in that respect we are only beginning, and we should come, at no distant day, to the establishment of smaller reserves in every county in which conditions favor such a plan.

Twenty years ago, Pennsylvania, once rich in game, was "shot out." Market hunters, bad laws—and even those generally disregarded—forest destruction, greed and neglect had destroyed "the wonderful heritage of game abounding in Penn's Woods" in the earlier days. In "Field and Stream" for January, Mr. Seth E. Gordon tells of the transformation wrought in twenty years by the awakening and organizing of public sentiment, and by the setting aside of game refuges and the introduction of protective legislation of a character rendered doubly effective by strong public opinion. In 1900 sportsmen living in Pennsylvania went into their woods for their shooting, but to-day, Mr. Gordon writes, "Pennsylvania is supplying good shooting to one-tenth of all the hunters in the United States. The Pennsylvania sportsman no longer needs to go beyond the borders of his own state to get his black bear, wild buck deer, or genuine wild turkey, and even the stately elk is again furnishing sport after a lapse of seventy years during which there was no elk in the state. Small game such as ruffed grouse, ring-necked pheasant, quail and squirrel may be found close at hand in almost every section, and much of this sport may be had within sight of the State Capital or most other of our oldest cities."

As the lumbermen swept away the game covers from the State, and had almost completed the cutting of merchantable timber in 1900, it was found that wealthy sportsmen or club members who were buying up the land for their exclusive use for hunting and fishing. It was seen that the average sportsman was thus losing his heritage, and that game birds and animals were practically non-existent except in private reserves. Pennsylvania then created its Game Commission, and began to protect large areas which would give food and shelter for wild life. This policy became immediately popular, and by 1905 the Legislature gave authority for the creation of state game refuges, and to begin to buy up cut-over lands and to build up tracts of state forests. As the work grew, game from the refuges, rapidly increasing, overflowed upon state and private lands surrounding the reserves. Officers were appointed to protect the reserves, kill off destructive animals, prevent forest fires, feed certain game in the winter season, and mink war upon poachers.

In the meantime effective organization and propaganda won from the public a very generous support of the movement. At first it was only necessary to purchase deer and game from large private reserves in order to get a start. The state now has thirty-two regular game refuges, containing some 75,000 acres, and 1,100,000 acres of state-owned land surrounding these refuges, for public hunting grounds. As to how game multiplies, one example is cited. A small refuge established in 1907 was started with twenty-five deer. During the open season of 1923, more than 650 buck deer were shot in the territory supplied from that refuge, and does were found so plentiful that during the season sixty deer became common sights in that region. During the present winter more than one hundred deer will be taken from that one reserve for stocking purposes elsewhere. A large reserve for wild water-fowl is now being laid out and several more such tracts will be established.

In 1907 only two hundred deer were killed in all Pennsylvania, but now, Mr. Gordon says, "many counties kill more than this number annually, the total bag in 1923 being 6,452 legal bucks. Black bears have increased rapidly, 800 of these fine game animals, frequently thought to be found only in some far Western state, being killed last season. One of these weighed 338 pounds hog-dressed. Twenty-three nice bull elk were also taken; and while wild turkey had been so scarce that they had to be protected absolutely for two years, the annual kill of these game birds is now over 5,000."

Pennsylvania sportsmen contribute personally to a special fund used for game and wild birds protection and the payment of bounties, and under this arrangement the chief cost is today defrayed by nearly 800,000 residents and by more than 2,000 non-residents. It is to be noted that more than $100,000 is spent annually in trapping and shooting predatory birds and animals which prey upon game, and this is thought to be an excellent investment, "as vermin if uncontrolled will kill far more game every year than the hunters." It is pointed out that the gradual education of the public in the matter of game protection, and the fact that hundreds of thousands contribute a dollar each to the good cause, have together brought about a wonderfully strong sentiment and a widespread and direct interest in good sportsmanship, so that Pennsylvania has become a national example today, whereas twenty years ago it was a national reproach in this respect. The state is filled with sportsmen's organizations which give the most loyal support to the good cause. More and more refuges are being established, and Mr. Gordon says confidently that "it is a safe bet that the whir of the ruffed grouse, the gobble of the wild turkey, the flash of deer and bear, and the bugle of the lonely elk will be with us in increasing numbers as the years go by."

PRECAUTIONS.

In a Boston school the other day forty pupils, their average age being seven years, marched out without panic or confusion when fire was discovered on the roof. Many years ago a very grave disaster in Chicago, the Iroquois Theatre fire, led to a hurried and widespread inspection of schools, theatres, churches, and other places of public assembly throughout the United States and Canada, and the result was the construction of a great many additional and improved fire-exit escapes, a sharpening up of fire drills in the schools, and the taking of many other precautions, not a few of which have since been abandoned.

It is wise and useful, from time to time, to think about and to examine school buildings and other places of congregation and the existing practices designed to prevent fire panic. Frequently it is found that the additional safeguards resulting from some great disaster of the kind referred to have become neglected because of the horror of the old event being too distant to be any longer a spur to these changes, and with the protection of children or of adults in places of public assembly.

And mid-winter is the very time when fires are likely to bring the most disastrous results.

A decrease in the Canadian wheat crop has upset the whole world, says the Toronto Globe. "Canada has become a world economic power within ten years. The next ten years will see her supreme as the granary of the nations."

Mr. Gratton O'Leary says that out of a Canadian population of less than 9,000,000 more than 500,000 are to-day living on tax money; that is, as paid public servants in one capacity or another. Among the remedies he proposes would be a cut in the Senate membership, and the reduction of the indemnities of Senators to $1,000 a year; the reduction of the Cabinet, and smaller salaries for judges. Mr. O'Leary would combine the Prairie provinces, and the Yukon to British Columbia, and group the Maritime Provinces under one government. All his scheme lacks is the consent of the governed.

Also, and likewise lackaday! Hear the New York Times lament the lowered standards of honor among the bootleggers—"How sad it is to learn that the distributing bootleggers, when buying from their importers, are paying them in counterfeit money. That is enough to spoil the day for anybody of sensibility who reads the tale, so strongly does it imply that in the bootlegging fraternity there are men so little delicate, so lacking in the sense of honor, that they do not hesitate to cheat their brothers in the trade. One does not like to think about the existence in human nature of treachery so base. The stories about the 'hijackers' who make a business of robbing the imports by force of arms have been told enough; but there is about that same game and romance such as saved the pirates of old from the condemnation of moralists who never had been young. There is no game, no romance, however, about the working off of counterfeit bills on a confident friend engaged in the same nefarious and elevating industry."

Odds and Ends

"You never know what you'll find among the odds and ends."—From "Notes by a Wayfarer."

Limericks

Limericks are a fruitful source of amusement, and it is not surprising that collection of them should be included between covers. In "The Complete Limerick Book" published in England, Langford Reed has preserved the efforts of some notable people and the favorites of others in this field of humor. It is surprising, perhaps, to learn that limericks have been the great prolific writers of limericks, and among them is Dean Inge—which shows that "the gloomy Dean" has some moments of comparative joy. Here is one of his efforts:

There was a good Canon of Durham, Who fished with a hook and a worm. Said the Dean to the Bishop, "I've brought a big fish up, whom. But I fear we may have to inter'm."

The Dean's own favorite among limericks is given as follows: There was an old man of Kharotum, Who kept two black sheep in his 'um. They called him 'Bum' and 'Bum', 'Of two friends who are dead, But he never would tell us of whom.

There was an old man of Nantucket, Who kept all his cash in a bucket. But his daughter, named Nan, Ran away with a bucket—Nantucket!

And, as for Rudyard Kipling, who called Canada "Our Lady of the Snows," even in the limerick field he has his little fun with the Canadian climate:

There was a young boy of Quebec, Who fell into the ice by the neck. He replied, "Yes, I do, But we can't call this cold in Quebec."

A Vanished Civilization.

Most people think of the present industrial civilization as something quite definitely here to stay, to go on forever, world without end. Many seem to think it can go on forever without improvement. The speaker at the Canadian Club in Ottawa tomorrow will tell of a civilization which vanished completely from the face of the earth, although it thought out many inventions, built great cities, established overseas trade, accumulated immense treasures, attained a high standard of art and culture, and in numerous other ways did things that would compare with some of our achievements.

Count Byron Khun de Prorok, F. R. G. S., will speak on the excavation work of ancient Carthage and the dead cities of the Sahara. Carthage once had a population of 700,000, it has been said. On the site of the Phoenician Capital, there are buried relics of a great civilization which existed 25 centuries ago. It is possible that even before the time of the Phoenicians the city flourished at Carthage. The Vandals later established themselves after a remarkable expedition of conquest through Europe and along the North African coast. Christian relics tell of the later Byzantine civilization.

There are great names associated with the history of Carthage: Hannibal, St. Augustine and St. Cyprian still survive. People think of modern civilization as permanent. How many names of the leaders in modern times are likely to occupy any place in history 2,000 years hence?

New York and London are impressive cities. But so were Nineveh, Babylon, Tyre, Sidon, Carthage, and Carthage, the great colonial offshoot of the traders of Phoenicia. They have disappeared like many others. Some are buried beneath the desert's dusty floor.

There is very little in the material structure of any modern city that would survive, even without destructive war, for many centuries. Along the present drift, industrial civilization may wipe itself out in much less time.

The Cloud in the East. (Montreal Gazette.) The confidence of the white nations in their own superiority and supremacy may receive a shock if too much dependence is placed upon prestige and past achievements and the logic of present and impending developments be ignored. Japan's proven military and naval capabilities and her amazing progress from medievalism to modernity in little over half-a-century, the responsiveness of distracted China's hordes to Japanese influence, the dominance of Russia's millions in Europe and Asia by the senseless Bolshevik and the latter's intrigues in other Eastern countries, the political and economic agitations in India, the unrest of the blacks in South Africa and the successes of Islamic tribes in other parts of that continent, the unexpected recovery of strength by Turkey, the troubles in Egypt—all these conditions and a dozen minor contributory factors combine to create a situation fraught with possibilities of peril to Western civilization. At present these various foci of trouble are separate and distinct, but there is no guarantee that they will remain so. Only the butchers of Moscow strike hands in a bargain for offensive action with the rulers of overcrowded and ambitious Japan and there would be created a nucleus for an onslaught of the combined brown and black races upon Christendom from which the latter, if it survived at all, would emerge broken, spent and bankrupt, and with the clock of civilization turned back even farther than in the terrible struggle of 1914-1918. There is no occasion for panic fear in the immediate prospect, but every need for careful scrutiny and prudent precaution.

SAYS C. P. R. AND CITY ENGAGED IN JOINT WORK

W. B. Howard Expresses Hope They Will Continue Enterprise Together.

FORMER ST. JOHN MAN ADDRESSES ROTARY CLUB LUNCHEON ON BOARD THE R. M. S. "MONTLAURIER" YESTERDAY IS BIG SUCCESS.

Declaring the city of St. John and the C. P. R. were engaged in the joint enterprise of developing the port to the mutual advantage of both, W. B. Howard, a former St. John man and now assistant to the general executive of the C. P. R., expressed the hope that the Rotary Club luncheon on board the R. M. S. Mont Laurier yesterday that they would continue to travel that path regardless of other influences. His company, he said, looked in all friendliness on the city and he believed the common objective could be reached through co-operation.

Masterly Address. Mr. Howard's address was a masterly one and made a deep impression on the large gathering present. H. Mout Jones, president, was chairman, and guests included Hon. Dr. Walter E. Foster, Commander Henderson of the Mont Laurier, L. W. Simms, T. H. Estabrook, H. W. Brodie, and others. Rotary songs enlivened the gathering, and the Rotary "band" aroused much admiration. Motion pictures were taken after the luncheon.

In opening his address, Mr. Howard said he was very glad to be present. When he left St. John, nine years ago, he had felt he was leaving behind his best friends and his best years. Turning to his subject, he spoke of the railway situation in Canada.

C. P. R. a National Institution. The Canadian Pacific Railway, he declared, was a national institution. Few parts there were in Canada in which it was not represented and its effects of its development policy. The C. P. R. had big investments in New Brunswick, particularly St. John. This city and the C. P. R. have been engaged, he pointed out, in a joint enterprise for the mutual benefit of both.

Despite the enormous handicap of great distances and a sparsely settled territory, every Canadian had reason to be proud of his country. "The great distances, Mr. Howard declared, were largely responsible for the lack of understanding among Canadians of the east and west versa. For commercial reasons, Canada was divided into four parts, the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and Ontario, the Prairie Provinces, and the Pacific slope.

Each has its own problems, but those problems I believe must be solved in the interests of the whole. No one section can solve its problems save through the co-operation with the other parts. The difficulties here in the Maritime Provinces must receive serious consideration," said Mr. Howard.

The Canadian Pacific also had its problems, he asserted. The present total investment in this great railway stood at about $800,000,000. Yet, the capital invested in the last seven years the earnings were less than four per cent, or practically bank interest and the dividend returns were less than two per cent. The year 1924 had been a discouraging year for business throughout Canada and if the C. P. R. had maintained its record, it had been because of economies practiced. A railroad to be successful, must not merely pay its way but earn its way as well, he maintained.

The C. P. R., he said, is appealing for patronage on no other grounds but proper and efficient service. He characterized as unfair the appeal on behalf of the Canadian National Railways on patriotic grounds. He declared the Canadian Pacific was as much a national institution as the Canadian National.

The prosperity of Canada was indissolubly linked up with the Canadian Pacific, which was the largest property owner and the largest taxpayer of the country. For the period 1919 to 1923 inclusive, the C. P. R. paid in taxes the sum of $31,666,000. In other words, the C. P. R. had returned to Canada practically the entire cash subsidy granted the railway by the Government. The Canadian Pacific, he maintained, must maintain its credit and anything done to shake the confidence of the investors was bound to react unfavorably for Canada. If we are to progress we need

He thanked them for their attentive and courteous hearing and resumed his seat amid a thunderous burst of applause. On behalf of the club members and their guests, Mr. Jones warmly thanked Mr. Howard for his splendid address.

Each has its own problems, but those problems I believe must be solved in the interests of the whole. No one section can solve its problems save through the co-operation with the other parts. The difficulties here in the Maritime Provinces must receive serious consideration," said Mr. Howard.

The Canadian Pacific also had its problems, he asserted. The present total investment in this great railway stood at about $800,000,000. Yet, the capital invested in the last seven years the earnings were less than four per cent, or practically bank interest and the dividend returns were less than two per cent. The year 1924 had been a discouraging year for business throughout Canada and if the C. P. R. had maintained its record, it had been because of economies practiced. A railroad to be successful, must not merely pay its way but earn its way as well, he maintained.

The C. P. R., he said, is appealing for patronage on no other grounds but proper and efficient service. He characterized as unfair the appeal on behalf of the Canadian National Railways on patriotic grounds. He declared the Canadian Pacific was as much a national institution as the Canadian National.

The prosperity of Canada was indissolubly linked up with the Canadian Pacific, which was the largest property owner and the largest taxpayer of the country. For the period 1919 to 1923 inclusive, the C. P. R. paid in taxes the sum of $31,666,000. In other words, the C. P. R. had returned to Canada practically the entire cash subsidy granted the railway by the Government. The Canadian Pacific, he maintained, must maintain its credit and anything done to shake the confidence of the investors was bound to react unfavorably for Canada. If we are to progress we need

Heart Trouble Shortness of Breath. Mrs. Geo. E. Bowman, Morrisburg, Ont., writes—"I am writing you a few lines to let you know of my experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Two years ago I became very poorly with my heart and nerves and whenever I took the least little exercise my heart would start to jump and flutter. I could not walk upstairs without having to sit down and rest before I was half-way up, on account of my breath becoming so short. I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and in no time I felt a great improvement, and can now heartily recommend them to all those who are troubled with any affection of the heart."

H. & N. Pills are for sale at all drug and general stores; put up only by the H. & N. Pills Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippé and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness. 50c and 75c, at all druggists.

Eagles, and of the librarian, Mrs. Mary E. Kirkpatrick, were submitted. The reports show a deficit on the operation of the library and a smaller balance in the bank in the hall fund than was on hand at the beginning of the year.

Following is the report of the secretary-treasurer:
Union Hall Report.
Receipts under this heading were $1,753.49, and expenditures $1,652.07, leaving $101.42 in bank compared with $198.49 at the start of the year.

Portland Library.
The library receipts were $1,603.44, including $1,200 from the city. Expenditures were $1,677.36, a deficit of $71.92. The expenditures included $275.15 for books and magazines.

The report of the librarian was as follows:
The work of the library has been carried on as usual. We have a great many readers, a large number of whom are boys. We bought a new table for the larger boys and we find that it proves very successful. We are pleased to say that we were able to get our new oilcloth, also that Charles Richardson gave one Saturday afternoon and varnished it. We receive about the same number of magazines but we are changing some, dropping Punch, Independent, and Harper's Magazine, to be replaced by The Strand, McLean's, and "Municipal Canada," a gazetteer of all Canada which we think will be very useful. Also received book and maps of the Selkirk Range, B. C. We have added 87 subscribers, 81 new books, 110 reprints, one Girl's Own Annual, one Chums, two books donated. Books changed numbered 10,674.

IN TRURO ON FEB 20

Executive of United Baptist Women's Missionary Union to Meet.

The quarterly executive meeting of the United Baptist Women's Missionary Union, will be held on Feb. 20 in Truro, N. S. All names of delegates are being sent to Mrs. J. F. Ryan, Pleasant street, Truro. From inquiries made, it would appear that the representation from St. John will not be large, as unforeseen hindrances will keep the members from attending. Miss Fullerton, maritime secretary, does not expect to go and Mrs. George W. Parker, is away owing to the illness of her sister's husband, in the United States. Mrs. W. G. Clarke, of Fredericton, president of the U. B. W. M. U. is in Washington, as are several others of the executive but it is thought that these ladies will return in time for the meeting. The last one was held last fall in St. John and had a fine representation from Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH YEAR REPORTED ON

Annual Meeting Hears Review of Various Departments and Elects Officers.
The annual meeting of St. Paul's church was held last night having been adjourned from Jan. 26 as that was St. Paul's day when it has been the custom of the church for many years to hold a conversation. The meeting was held in the schoolroom with Ven. A. H. Crowfoot, the rector, presiding. The financial report was very satisfactory showing that $7,935 had been raised for parochial purposes. The overdraft carried forward from 1923, amounting to $880, had been repaid and a small credit balance was shown. For other obligations, missions and various other causes, $1,445 had been raised.

Encouraging Reports.
The various organizations in the parish all presented encouraging reports. For the poor $359 was contributed of which $223 was given on Christmas Day. The report of the W. A.

showed $861 had been raised, the Mothers' Meeting report showed total receipts of $100 and the Needlework Society, $792. Great interest had been shown by the members of these societies and the meetings had been well attended. The attendance at the Sunday school had been very good and the officers and teachers were devoted to their work. Special reference was made to the choir, which under the leadership of James F. Browne had steadily improved, its membership now numbering about 40.

The Officers.
The election of officers resulted as follows: Church wardens, Cortland A. Robinson and C. C. Kirby; vestrymen, R. Arscott, H. A. Anderson, J. B. Gale, A. Jack, C. H. Lee, Dr. J. Magee, H. E. Mercer, F. B. Schofield, F. T. Short, F. P. Starr, J. F. H. Teed and P. N. Woodley; lay representatives to the synod, Dr. J. Roy Campbell, J. F. H. Teed, F. T. Short and C. C. Kirby; substitutes, F. B. Schofield, P. N. Woodley, H. A. Henderson and Dr. J. M. Magee. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the rector on the motion of Dr. J. Roy Campbell seconded by Dr. J. M. Magee.

ACCEPT INVITATION.
An excellent report of the recent annual meeting of the Fredericton diocesan W. A. was given last night at the meeting of the Monday night branch of the W. A. of St. Luke's church by Miss Gladys Atkins. The meeting was well attended and Mrs. Lester Mowry, president, was in the chair. Mrs. George Coupe was elected second vice-president, replacing

Miss Mary Carle who had moved to another parish and Miss Charlotte Brown was elected convener of mission study. An invitation from Dr. William McIntosh for the members to visit the Natural History Museum next Monday night was very gratefully accepted. Get rid of constipation by internal cleanliness HEADACHES, biliousness, sleepless nights, heaviness, are Nature's warning that intestinal poisons are flooding your system. If this is allowed to continue, you may become a victim of serious organic disease.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication
Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

Grateful reference was made to the kindness of Mrs. Frank Ross in giving a recital which netted the chapter $437.91. From the Felix Frolics production the chapter realized $697.36. Mrs. Nasse reported that the chapter was still giving financial assistance to the W. O. N., the teacher of the East St. John Kindergarten and milk for the Free Kindergarten.

Protests Course Followed At Women's Council Meeting

Women's Institute Passes Motion Relating to Procedure in Election.

The Women's Institute, at its meeting yesterday afternoon, passed a resolution condemning the manner in which the annual meeting of the St. John County Council of Women was conducted on the ground that procedure had been unconstitutional. Mrs. J. W. Lawlor, who had attended the Women's Institute meeting as the representative of Mrs. T. N. Vincent, president of the Institute, gave a report of the proceedings. She stated that the Women's Institute had been allowed to ballot in the election of officers. She held that only delegates should ballot in the Women's Council, as it was a federation of affiliated societies. The resolution will be forwarded to the secretary of the Women's Council, and the chapter expressed the hope that the Council will in future adhere to constitutional rules.

Give Valentines.
Mrs. T. N. Vincent, president, was in the chair and the roll call at the meeting, which was well attended. These valentines will be sent to the children in the County Hospital.

The budget of the National Council was also discussed, and it was pointed out that the budget for the coming year calls for $900 from New Brunswick and the same amount from Quebec.

Chapter responded to appeals for assistance for needy families, sent boxes of candy to East St. John soldiers, and Christmas boxes of toys and food to soldiers' dependents, contributed garments to the orphanages, presented a set of framed pictures to Lorne school, and answered appeals from the Ant-Tuberculosis Society, the Boy Scouts, the Health Centre, the Red Cross, and others. Financial donations for the year amounted to $904.72.

Royal Arms Chapter.
The meeting of Royal Arms Chapter was held at the home of Mrs. E. S. Stephenson, Orange street, with Mrs. R. W. Wigmore, regent, in the chair. The officers elected were as follows: Regent, Mrs. Norman Gregory; vice-regent, Mrs. R. W. Wigmore; second, Mrs. William Taylor; secretary, Mrs. P. L. Foster; treasurer, Miss Belle Thurston; educational secretary, Mrs. T. H. Carter; Echoes secretary, Mrs. James Patterson; standard-bearer, Mrs. E. S. Stephenson; councillors, Mrs. W. H. Anderson, Mrs. Harry Thurber, Mrs. John McConnell, Mrs. Clive Dickson and Mrs. Harold Crouse; child welfare convener, Mrs. G. S. Mayes. The chapter voted $20 to the free milk fund of the Women's Council.

The report of the secretary, Mrs. F. Z. Fowler, showed that Royal Arms Chapter had added 12 new members during the year and had held teas and party sales in April and December. The chapter also helped in the grave decoration on Armistice Day, and responded to calls for assistance.

There was a large attendance at the Centenary W. M. S., which held its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the church parlor, with Mrs. Robert G. Fulton, president, conducting the meeting. Mrs. M. CARMARTHEN W. M. S.
At a well attended meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Carmarthen street Methodist church last evening, Rev. A. D. MacLeod led in prayer. A chorus by the choir was excellently rendered and was followed by an exercise, "The Voices of The Women," by members of the auxiliary illustrating in costume the lives of women in various countries. A duet by Miss Earle and Miss Alma Roberts was followed by an inspiring address by Mrs. Walter Small, returned missionary from China. Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Miss Sylvia H. Mills of St. John, who is meeting with much success as a contract singer for radio was one of the special guests at the home of Mrs. Roy Sumner in Moncton recently, when Mrs. Sumner entertained Earle Spicer and Prince Chavchavade. WOMEN WHO SMOKE.
VIENNA, Feb. 3.—The woman who is happy and satisfied never smokes, says Dr. Robert Hofstadter, gynecologist, who recently said that smoking distorts women's faces. "Women who smoke almost invariably contracted the habit at a time when they were unhappy," he says. "They continue it because they think it is smart."

If you like a porridge

If you like a hot porridge in Winter why not eat a real whole wheat porridge? Put several Shredded Wheat Biscuits in a small saucepan; add enough water to cover the bottom of the pan; add a little salt; stir and boil until it thickens, then serve with milk or cream. Not a pasty, mushy porridge. It is made of crisp shreds of baked whole wheat. Better for children than any ordinary porridge, and so easy to prepare.

BILL TO LEVY TAX ON SALES OF BALL PLAYERS

Is Designed To Force Revision of Organized Baseball Regulation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A bill to levy a federal tax of 90 per cent. on the money involved in the sale of a baseball player from one club to another, except when the money is received by the player, was introduced in the House Monday by Representative LaGuardia of New York, Independent.

The bill is designed to force revision of organized baseball's regulation so that diamond stars may reap the financial benefits of their proficiency instead of their owners.

"Baseball is about the only profession or calling," said LaGuardia today, "where an individual does not derive the full benefit of his efforts and proficiency. A musician, movie or stage actor, artist or prize-fighter can demand a better contract when one expires, but a ball player cannot. If he does not come to terms with the club with which his contract has just expired, he is banished from the national pastime. I believe that a ball player should be permitted to go out and look for the best proposition he can find."

LaGuardia said he wanted his bill to hit every baseball management. He insisted that a player himself should receive the money from his sale from one club to another and not the club.

Says It Inconsistent. "When they sell a ball player," LaGuardia continued, "they sell him for what he is worth, and it is inconsistent with the laws of nature for somebody to be extended to players. My bill would extend to players the proficiency of somebody else."

"Baseball management is closely organized and some protection should be extended to players. I believe that baseball has become a profession of such recognized standing that players should form their own organization for the financial management of baseball is so highly commercialized, there is no reason in the world why ball players should not be like other workers. My bill will prevent these sales and go a long way toward establishing a greater degree of independence on the part of the players and give them an opportunity of enjoying the benefit of their own efforts and proficiency."

IMPERIAL OFFERS FINE PROGRAMME

Munroe Sisters and Orchestra Treat.

A programme distinctive for its general quality opened the week at the Imperial Theatre yesterday and a very generous volume of patronage appreciated the effort. In presenting The Munroe Sisters the Imperial added a pleasing touch of strange color to its bill as these young ladies discoursed a three-part programme of song, monologue and piano music which sparkled with wit and tunefulness. It was the essence of refinement.

The Imperial's own musicians under Director Alf. Jones played that magnificent overture, "Orpheus," written by Offenbach, composer of the score of "The Tales of Hoffman." So together with the Metro-Goldwyn super-picture, "His Hour," written by Elinor Glyn, the Imperial's programme was of a highly interesting nature, in fact one of the best for months. Even the Pathé Weekly contained among other subjects of world interest the impressive ceremonial which marked the beginning of the Holy Year in Rome, showing excellent views of the opening of the great doors which inaugurated it.

Story of "His Hour."
This same programme will obtain today and musically it will continue Wednesday, but tomorrow there will be a new picture feature, "Christine of the Hungry Heart," a high-class First National feature in which Florence Vidor and Clive Brook, Great Britain's favorite society star, will be principal players.

The story "His Hour" now being shown is an engrossing fiction. A young English widow, Tamara Loraine, meets Gritsko, a Russian Prince. She is prim and conventional due to the fact that she has been reared as one of the English aristocracy and her emotions are hidden far beneath a frigid exterior. Gritsko, on the other hand, is wild, impulsive, handsome and the most beloved man in all Russia. Tamara is attracted to him, but resolves not to fall under his spell as every other woman has. She intrigues him by her distant charm which is different from anything he has ever before encountered.

By her pronounced aloofness she spurs him to deeds of devilry. She openly dislikes him, but is really hypnotized by the brilliant fascinating Prince.

The affair reaches a climax and a declaration of love is forced from the lips of the proud Tamara.

Alten Pringle plays the leading feminine role while John Gilbert is cast as the Prince. They both hold by their dynamic personalities and Elinor Glyn in choosing them as her ideal lovers made a selection which should be generally popular.

GLORIA'S NEW NAME.
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Gloria Swanson came to the assistance today of her many admirers who do not know how to pronounce her new name. Gloria was married to a wealthy marquis and here is the proper way to call her.

"Madam La Markees Onree de Faysays de La Coodyray."

However, if fans fear they can't do this easily, they may still call her Gloria Swanson.

SOME DOLL HOUSE.
OLYMPIA, Eng., Feb. 3.—Queen Mary's famous doll house is on exhibition at the Ideal Home Show here. Constructed on a scale of one inch to one foot, it is a perfect embodiment of everything that is found in the modern home. It weighs more than four tons and more than 600 craftsmen helped in building it. Little books in the library were specially written for it by 170 authors.

Carroll Players Score Big Hit In Great Drama, "The Fool"

Capacity Audience Applauds Work in Pollock's Drama—Westfield Club Party.

They called him a fool because he jeopardized his position as assistant rector in a fashionable New York church by flaying the rich members for their worldliness and by championing the cause of the working people; because, after they had turned him out, he refused to accept a fat salary to carry out the propaganda work amongst the workers, but chose rather to join them in their struggle for better conditions; but he lived to demonstrate that, after all, he was not such a fool as they thought, and that the happiness which he had achieved was more solidly grounded and more satisfying than theirs, hedged around as it was with the disturbing influences of great wealth.

This, in a word, is the foundation upon which Chaunting Pollock has constructed his great play, "The Fool," which was presented with great success to a packed house by the Carroll Players in the Opera House last evening. The characters were well chosen; the play was well staged and the four sets in which it was presented were appropriately and artistically executed.

Frank Harrington, in the name role created even a more favorable impression than he did in his opening last week. He had some fine opportunities for good dramatic work and he accepted them with full honors. The character acting of Clyde Franklin was one of the best pieces of stage work that has been seen on the local stage for some time; if Mr. Franklin is one thing, he is thorough, and his presentation of the Polish worker, Unanski, was for him a personal triumph and a great contribution to the success of the piece.

New Players Appear.

Miss Nancy Duncan gave a tenderly sympathetic interpretation of the little cripple girl, whose cure through faith is one of the big climaxes of the play. She received a tribute in the form of a handsome bouquet. Miss Lola Jackson, new ingenue of the company, made a very favorable impression in her first appearance in St. John, playing the role of the girl who sacrificed love for worldly comfort in an artistic manner. She was particularly good in two or three highly dramatic passages.

Another newcomer to the city was William Janney, new juvenile man, who, on the whole gave a good rendition of an exacting part. Owen Coll gave a masterly presentation of the part of worldly man of business, finally forced to acknowledge that wealth was not always the key to the door of happiness. He, as well as the other members of the company, were frequently rewarded for their good work by hearty applause.

All the other regular members of the company—Emma DeWeale, Musa Beale, Dorrit Kelton, James Swift, Philip Boland, Jack Matthews and George Smith—were each seen in two roles, and every one of them was a successful piece of work. Of particular note was the work of Mr. Swift, who after playing the part of a rich business man through two acts, switched into the character of an East Side drifter; and it was some minutes after his appearance before the audience recognized the actor. Miss Kelton, Miss DeWeale, Miss Beale and Miss Audrey Winter of Moncton each also presented two contrasting roles, being transformed from wealthy society ladies in the opening part of the play

THE MAN WHO CAME BACK AT THE PALACE

Vigorous Picture Play Tells of Fall and Rise of a Black-sheep Son.

The romance that attaches itself to blacksheep sons was never more touchingly portrayed than in the William Fox screen version of "The Man Who Came Back," shown at the Palace Theatre last night.

Dorothy Mackall, the San Francisco and Shanghai dance hall girl in the picture, plays the finest role of her career, and George O'Brien, in the title role, acts himself into stardom. The picture is without a dull moment.

Cyril Chadwick, as Captain Trevelan, a suave globe trotting detective, has exactly the right savoir faire. Ralph Lewis, as Thomas Potter, indulgent millionaire father of the ne'er-do-well, is another whose acting stands out notably.

The story tells of a petted son who goes bad. He is shanghaied and works his way across the Pacific, only to become an underworld man in the dens of the Orient. In San Francisco, the youth meets a girl in a dance hall. He comes up with her again in a Chinese opium dive and they realize for the first time that they love.

Their rise goes to build a notable story which is well acted. The constant love of the old father back in New York combines eventually with the influence of the woman, to link the wanderer with a new philosophy on life. "The Man Who Came Back" will have its final showing at the Palace tonight.

James Kirkwood and Alma Rubens Head Cast in "Gerald Cranston's Lady."

"Gerald Cranston's Lady," a film version of the popular novel by the noted English author, Gilbert Frankau, which opened at the Queen Square Theatre last night, is a striking example of the effort picture producers are making to adhere rigidly to the original story in their screen relations. It is a feature production by William Fox.

Emmett Flynn did a fine bit of work in directing "Gerald Cranston's Lady." Every possible artistic resource at the command of a motion picture director has been put to use in this Fox production. Much credit is given to Edmund Goulding for his handling of the scenario.

Alma Rubens in the title role portrays an English noble lady with understanding, and James Kirkwood as the ambitious, but honorable, financier is an outstanding character. Marguerite De La Motte and Walter McGrail offer excellent color to the distinguished cast which includes Richard Hendricks, Templar Sexe, Lucien Littlefield and J. Farrell MacDonald.

BANDIT PAYS TAX.
WARSAW, Feb. 3.—Jan Domanski, notorious bandit, believes in obeying the law in one respect. For years there has been a price on his head, but an income tax is something that even a bandit can't forget. The government has received a ten-cent money order from him to cover his 1924 tax. The treasury believes that banditry is much more profitable than his tax indicates.

MARRIED LOVE IS UNIQUE'S FEATURE

Fighting Blood Series Also is Continued in Programme Beginning Week.

In the year 400 B.C. a Greek philosopher named Socrates said, "A man cannot get along on one wife," and today a famous author named Marie Stopes has written a book and supervised a great picture that will either show up Socrates as a "lunatic" or stamp him as the wise man of the centuries. It is shown at the Unique under the title of "Married Love." The story is a powerful one, blending drama, romance and pathos. The central figure is that of Marie, the eldest child of a family of fourteen brought up in the squab and misery of ignorant parenthood, and Dick the hero of the story is brought up in directly the reverse conditions. The story takes these two simple figures and plunges them into the whirlpool of life, that threatens to tear their moral happiness and dashes them on the rocks of dissipation and sweeps them on towards the haven of marital felicity. It will be repeated tomorrow.

"The Fighting Blood" series also keeps up its pep and humor and together with the Pathé Review rounds out a good evening's entertainment.

Canada's Railways Must Have a Living Profit

CANADA'S future development depends upon the ability of her railways to live.

If the railways can operate at profits sufficient to pay operating, maintenance and capital charges, leaving a fair amount for reserves and dividends, they will be enabled to maintain the position, stability and prosperity which have done so much to attract capital and immigration to Canada.

For years the success of the Canadian Pacific has been the barometer by which conditions have been measured in Canada and its success has been a magnet attracting to Canada hundreds of millions of dollars for investment in land, industries, mining, timber and fisheries.

Canadian Pacific success has been the biggest factor in peopling the west and bringing its production to a volume undreamed of twenty-five years ago.

But, if rates on the traffic of Canadian railways are reduced below the level of profit—if capital carrying charges cannot be met, if money for maintenance and improvement of existing lines is not available, if new necessary extensions cannot be undertaken, Canada would face a real crisis.

No greater catastrophe could overtake Canada than the weakening of the present strong position of the Canadian Pacific Railway. If conditions were set up which would impair the Company's position or the confidence of the investing public, incalculable damage would result to the country.

Canada must face this issue fairly and squarely. It would be supreme folly to cast away the bone of railway stability for the shadow of illusive advantages in low and unprofitable freight rates.

Canada and the Canadian Pacific Railway must continue to work together in a spirit of co-operation for the development and prosperity of all Canada.

Canadian Pacific management, financial policies, and the experience of forty years have given Canada not only the world's premier transportation system, but the lowest freight rates in the world.

Canada in the past has shown its confidence in the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Pacific has honestly endeavored to merit that confidence by giving the Canadian public efficient service at low cost.

Unhampered in its operation, the Canadian Pacific will be enabled to continue those policies which have done so much for the advancement of Canada.

LOUISBUCKLE SAVES SOLDIER AS ENGINEER DIES

Former St. John Man Figures
in Sensational Railway Incident.

DRIVER EXPIRES
IN CAB OF ENGINE

Fireman, Though Unskilled
as Engineer, Meets Situation.

News that has trickled through from Boston tells of a former St.
John boy figuring conspicuously in a sensational railway incident. Louis Buckle, son of T. Albert Buckle, teamster with Manchester, Robertson, Allison, Ltd., is credited with having brought safely into Boston a suburban express laden with several hundred business passengers, handling the throttle over the dead body of the engineer who expired of heart disease while the train was running full speed.

Buckle was a fireman on the locomotive and was not experienced in driving the engine, so, when lifting his eyes from his stoking work he noticed his chief sitting limp with hand still grasping the throttle.
Buckle was in a quandary to know what to do.

Masters Situation.

The train was running fast into the city and in a few minutes would be in the danger zone of big traffic and the North Station. Leaving his fires, he lifted the lifeless arm of the engineer from the throttle handle and bending over the prostrate body shot off the power and later applied the brakes, bringing the train to a standstill. All this was a matter of moments, according to reports published in the metropolitan press.

Was Soldier.

Louis Buckle is remembered by many St. John people and has a large number of friends and relatives here.
He was a member of the 156th Battalion and was remembered as the bass drummer who wore the leopard, skin drum apron. He is a splendid type of young manhood, tall, husky and alert.

ANOTHER TRIBUTE TO TRADE MISSION

Rev. Neil MacLauchlan Brings to
St. John Word From Ontario.

Rev. Neil MacLauchlan, pastor of the Queen Square Methodist church, who has just returned from Hamilton, Ont., brought word of the notable success attending the Maritime trade mission of The Telegraph-Journal and The Times-Star.

A newspaper man, he said, spoke to him of the visit of A. M. Belding and expressed the opinion that a strong impression was being made. As a result of the addresses there was being developed a bond of sympathy between the East and the West. Mr. Belding had opened up matters that had not heretofore been well understood in Central Canada.

Rev. Mr. MacLauchlan was attending meetings of the Social Service Council of Canada.

NOT ONE IN FUNDY

Board of Trade Reports to Shipping Committee on Accidents to Vessels.

The Board of Trade is sending forward to the Imperial Shipping Committee data about accidents to vessels in Atlantic waters during the severe storms of this winter and pointing out that not a single one of these accidents took place in the Bay of Fundy. They are also pointing out that St. John suffered less from storms than any other port on the Atlantic coast.

Speaks of Value Of Shipping to Port

If the people in St. John only realized what a ship means to them they would get out on the farthest point of Partridge Island and welcome with open arms, each one which have over the horizon, said William Swanton, stevedore, before leaving last night for Buffalo on a short vacation trip.

An idea of what a ship meant to St. John he said, might be gleaned from the fact that the last African steamship that was here left approximately $10,000 in cash in the city. One annual average a steamship left about $10,000.
Never had it been known in the history of the port of St. John for a ship to be delayed or want of labor he said. The longshoremen and the coal handlers working here were the equal of any this side of the Atlantic.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 27.

There was a young

just like what you'd long ways from anybody—'n' I just want flat country with any neighbors—like some folks does.

"Well, sir, you orto hev seen me when Eph. Chapman an' Walter Murray an' some other fellers from
'way back east grabbed me an' begun to ask questions. I guess this country out here owes something to us folks for the heaven we put into the loaf when we sent sech fellers as I been meetin' here to help 'em build up the country.
Me! It's a big country—but it haint got nothin' on old Noo Brunswick fer mixed farmin' an' general appearance—no, sir. Well—I'll keep on goin' fer a spell.
