If We Could Look at the Heart of a Pale-Faced Person!

Few people ever stop to consider what pallor to the countenance means. In the first place it indicates an absence from the blood of the rich, red, life-giving elements so requisite to health; and in the second place it indicates a weakened heart action. These two things act and react. If we could look at the heart of one of these pale-faced people, we would see it flabby, weak and palid. No wonder they are easily tired, get out of breath quickly, have palpitation, are nervous and down-beated. Their muscles are poor, their stomachs disordered, and their lives are seldom free from misery.

Let them take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills; there is no remedy to equal them for making pale faces rosy, weak hearts and shaky nerves strong, flabby muscles firm, and infusing new hope and animation into life.

Mr. W. J. Churchill, Lombard, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for three years with a weak heart and nervousness. I could not sleep and ever so little food would distress me. I also had faint and dizzy spells, and doctored with three doctors but was growing worse. After taking three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I feel as well as ever I did. They are the best pills on earth."

Price 50c per box, or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CITY SOON TO BE SUPPLIED WITH WATER AT FULL PRESSURE—WATER AND SEWERAGE DEPARTMENT TO MAKE UP ABOUT $27,000

The Water and Sewerage Board held a short meeting last evening, in which many matters were dealt with. The matter of arranging the water assessment was laid over until Saturday night, when a special meeting is to be held.

Extension of the water and sewerage system and changes in the same received considerable attention. A considerable portion of the Sherbrooke street is to be raised, part of Adelaide street is to be lowered, the northern part of Dorchester street is to have a sewer, and a six-inch water main, and Campbell street is to have a water main.

The board also decided not to extend the water system on Havelock street, West End, and to lay over the recommendation for an extension of the water system on Charlotte street, West End. The old Dorchester street sewer is to be closed.

According to the monthly report of Engineer Hunter the city is to be supplied with water at full pressure at the end of next week.

Orders for printing the report and appendix were opened. The tenders were: Geo. E. Day, 85 cents a page plus report, $1.40 a page for the appendix; John A. Bowers, 54 cents and $1.25; Barnes & Co., 50 cents and $1.25. The contract was awarded John A. Bowers, the lowest tenderer.

Would Be Left Over. Chairman Frink informed the board that the matter of water and sewerage maintenance there was a deficit of $13,382, to which the amount of $4,000 for interest should be added. This made a total of $19,382 to be paid by the city.

The matter was most important and should be considered at a special meeting on Friday or Saturday.

Aid. Pickett agreed with the chairman concerning a special meeting. He pointed to a special committee to be appointed to take up the matter and that the director be asked to submit a statement of arrears in water rates.

Director Murdoch recommended the closing of the Sherbrooke street sewer, which was through the grounds of Fleming's foundry, be closed and a new sewer be laid along Dorchester street to City road, and that a six-inch water main be laid in parallel with the sewer.

It was decided to lay sewer and water main subject to the approval of the chairman.

FREIGHT FACILITIES MUCH IMPROVED

Merchants Experience No Delay, Thanks to Pugsley, Butler et al

It will be remembered that shortly after Hon. Dr. Pugsley became Minister of Public Works the business interests of the city, through the Board of Trade, urged him to use his influence to secure additional freight handling facilities in the L. C. R. yard here. The previous winter there had been great congestion of traffic there, causing annoyance and considerable loss.

The Board suggested a remedy and Dr. Pugsley took up the matter immediately. The result of this action is concisely stated by the President of the Board of Trade in the following letters:—

St. John, N. B., May 24, 1934. Hon. William Pugsley, Ottawa: My Dear Dr. Pugsley,—I enclose you herewith copy of a letter which I have written to Mr. Butler, and at the same time wish to thank you for the great assistance you gave us in this matter.

Yours truly, W. E. FOSTER. Saint John, N. B., May 21, 1934. M. J. Butler, Esq., Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, Ottawa:

Dear Sir,—As one of the committee of the Board of Trade of this city which last year urged the necessity of improvements in your yard here, I cannot but feel that I should state how satisfactory these improvements so far have been, and the great assistance and benefit it has been to the merchants in general. During the last winter there was not any great delay in getting deliveries of cars when once they arrived, such as was experienced in the previous winter.

In conversation with Mr. Ross, your terminal agent here, a few days ago, he informs me that from Oct. 1st to March 31st, 1937 and 1938, that 3,500 more cars were handled than during the same period of the year previous, and that the increase in freight during the same period amounted to over 13,000 tons. You will readily see, therefore, that the improvements were fully justified.

Thanking you for your interest taken in the matter, Yours truly, (Sgd.) W. E. FOSTER, President St. John Board of Trade.

STEAMER WITH COSTLY CARGO DISAPPEARS

Peculiar Circumstances Surround S. S. Goldsboro.

Charterers Disappeared After She Sailed—Men and Steamer Still Missing—Her Register Revoked.
NEW YORK, N. Y., May 21.—Attorneys for the receiver of the Export Shipping Company of this city today reported to United States District Attorney Simon that the disappearance of the steamship Goldsboro, which left New York, May 22, bound for Belle and Puerto Cortes, Central America. The receivers asked that the government take measures to locate the steamship, which carried merchandise cargo said to be valued at $150,000, and herself is rated as being worth $50,000.
Nothing has been heard of the Goldsboro since she left this port. Shortly after her sailing and the disappearance from their office of Francis Lablatis, president, and his brother, Albert Balley, secretary of the Export Shipping Company which owned her, the company was petitioned into bankruptcy by creditors.
The Goldsboro sailed under British register, but shortly after her departure, the British consul here revoked her registry, and she is now sailing, it is said, either without flag or under a flag without registry.

A WOMAN GOVERNOR.

Queens have ruled many nations, but Pennsylvania is the only one of the United States that ever had a woman for governor. A passage lately unearthed from Armor's Governors of Pennsylvania," Page 128, says: "On the 30th of July, 1774, William Penn died, at the age of seventy-four. By his will, his wife, Hannah, was made sole executrix . . . and assumed the management of colonial affairs, excepting his difficult task with rare tact and business capacity. She became, says Watson, 'in effect our lieutenant-governor, during all the term of her children's minority.' It is safe to say that Hannah Penn made a better governor of Pennsylvania than some of the officials who have held that high position since her time.

THE WHOLESALE DISMISSAL OF LIBERAL EMPLOYES

Mr. Hazen's Weak Defence of His Unjust and Unfair Methods—Mr. McKeown and Others Strongly Criticize His Policy.

FREDERICTON, May 23.—There was quite a breeze in the House of Assembly yesterday afternoon when the government bill authorizing the appointment of an agricultural commission, it was explained by Chief Commissioner Landry, the commission would consist of himself and two agriculturists who would visit the different sections of the province to make careful enquiry from the farmers, shippers and others as to the best means of developing the agricultural resources of the province. Mr. Lablatis suggested that the scope of the commission should be widened to include a visit on the part of the commission to Quebec and Ontario which had made great progress in agriculture and where there was much to learn. If confined to New Brunswick Mr. Lablatis thought that there might be a suspicion that the visit of the commission was more political than agricultural.
This innocent remark caused Mr. Hazen to rise in his place and with a show of the greatest concern to protest against the imputation. There would be no politics in the commission—none whatever. Had Mr. Hazen stopped there all would have been well but he went on to say that the Liberal party had been offensively partisan in the recent election—men who had gone on the public platform and demanded the right to the present government. To dismiss such officials was the right of the government and they had exercised that right in dismissing a Liberal because he was a Liberal. No! And he appealed to his colleague the chief commissioner and said: "I have been offensively partisan in the recent election—men who had gone on the public platform and demanded the right to the present government. To dismiss such officials was the right of the government and they had exercised that right in dismissing a Liberal because he was a Liberal. No! KING EDWARD'S LATEST.

British journals generally view King Edward's visit to Russia as a most important step in the direction of world-wide peace. It is spoken of as the culminating act in the King's great work, begun four years ago, in binding together all the nations in friendship. Coming, as it does, within a few days of the visit of the president of France to London, there is a tendency in some quarters to the belief that the King may be conveying to the Emperor of Russia a message or expression of sentiment from France. This is, however, unlikely, but the circumstance is sufficient to create a feeling of uncertainty in France. Paris papers and those throughout the republic generally welcome the latest move, believing that it signifies the beginning of negotiations for a new alliance to be composed of Britain, France and Russia. Opinion in the latter country is wholly in favor of such an entente, while in Britain there is nothing but favorable comment. With the three parties to this agreement in such a state of mind it is not at all unlikely that some formal understanding will be reached in the near future. Germany, it will be noted, is still out in the cold, not through any fault of the other powers, but rather because of her own policy, though during the past three or four years Emperor William has been anxious to bring about a more friendly relationship with France. That he has not yet been able to do so is not because of any action of Britain, and Germany is unable to find cause for criticizing King Edward's work. Indeed in Germany there is now such a marked tendency as was the case a few years ago to view with suspicion the efforts made by King Edward to ensure the peace of Europe, for relations have considerably improved of late.

MOVING PICTURE LICENSES.

There is a movement on foot in the Common Council to impose a much larger tax on moving picture shows than is now paid. Almost all the aldermen seem to be affected by the notion that these institutions are taking from the city immense amounts of money, that their profits are enormous, and that they can well afford to pay many times what is now asked in license fees. Some even go so far as to declare that the picture shows are undesirable and should be put out of business. There is an evident intention to make conditions so hard that the majority of these houses of entertainment will have to close. Such a course is by no means wise. If the aldermen were able to go about and examine the accounts of the picture companies they would find that the net profits are really quite small. The present license fee is $75 per year. There is now a proposal to make it not less than $50 per month or $600 per year. It is doubtful if more than one or two shows in town could continue in business and pay such a license. These picture houses are not the very best institutions that a city could possess, but they are in the main very worthy of support. Since the fad became popular in St. John thousands upon thousands of the poorer class, who cannot afford to attend higher priced entertainments, have been able to secure amusement at an insignificant cost. It is a pleasure in most cases to spend an hour in watching the pictures shown and in very rare instances has there been any cause for complaint. More than this, the moving picture industry is assuming an important position in the education of the world. A man may sit at home and read books of travel all his life time, but by watching a so-called travel picture for ten minutes he will learn more of some particular place than he could by all his reading. Years ago the subjects chosen were frivolous, today they are educative, although, as in all other amusements the comedy element must play a part in order to hold the interest of audiences and to attract business. In St. John there are five or six picture houses. Each one gives employment to local people. In most of them by far the greater portion of the receipts is expended in running expenses. Only in one or two cases do the net profits go out of the city, and these profits are not such as would warrant the Common Council in imposing an exorbitant tax. Such a move would mean that a number of St. John men who have invested their money in this form of amusement enterprise would lose. Double the present license fee would be quite enough to charge, but if the aldermen insist on squeezing money from every possible source it may be that the majority of the picture houses could pay up to $20 a month. Anything beyond this would be extremely unfair.

The depression in the labor market this spring is evidenced in the departmental report for the month of April, which shows that there were twenty-five fewer disputes last month than in April 1907, and a decrease of $3,750 in the number of working days lost. The total number of disputes in Canada last month was only eleven, involving six hundred and ninety-five employees, and the loss of time was approximately 5,400 working days.

Wantanno—Why do you call that boy of yours "Blanchet"? Duazo—Because he just naturally shrinks from washing.

The Employer—Please air, I've gone and got married, and I'd like you to raise my wages. The Employer (worried over thoughts of the workmen's compensation act)—Very sorry for you, Smith, I'm sure; but I can't do that. I'm only responsible for accidents that happen in the works you know.

"Have you named your little niece yet?" asked the doctor. "Yes," said the professor. "They haven't christened her?" "Yes."

"Then how can it be an experimental name?" "It's Tryphena."

"Yes," said the prospective investor to the Billville real estate man. "Your terms of $2 an acre are very reasonable. Is there any gold in the land?" The agent looked around, as if to assure himself that no one was listening, then he leaned over and whispered: "It's mostly gold!"

Just 'cause my brother Alfred, he is two years older 'an me. Why, everything he gets 'at's new. They give to me when he gets through it is not at all unlikely that some formal understanding will be reached in the near future. Germany, it will be noted, is still out in the cold, not through any fault of the other powers, but rather because of her own policy, though during the past three or four years Emperor William has been anxious to bring about a more friendly relationship with France. "Here waiter," cried the guest in the cheap restaurant, "this food is simply vile and I don't propose to pay for it. Where's the proprietor?" "He's gone home to lunch," replied the waiter.

TOLSTOY LONGS FOR DEATH TO COME

Famous Russian Author Writes Remarkable Letter to Paris Newspaper.

PARIS, May 27.—Count Tolstoy, the famous Russian author, replying to a friend who congratulated him recently on the approach of his eightieth birthday and the celebrations planned for it, said: "It is another happiness that I await—death." Now the Main publisher's letter from the veteran writer in which he amplifies that saying and adds that all earthly life is a dream and death the true awakening. "All our life from birth to death," he writes, "is a dream, with its dreams, its joys, its sorrows, its pleasures, its pains, its real life, its reality springing solely and entirely from our ignorance of any other life more real. Our earthly life is one of dreams of another and more real life, and that other life is a dream of yet another life, and so on ad infinitum, even to the last life, the life of God. Death in youth is as when a man is awakened before he has slept full measure. Death in old age is as when a man wakes of his own accord after good sleep. Suicide is as a nightmare which a man battles by remembering that he is asleep; he makes an effort, and he awakes. "Deep sleep, without dreams, is comparable to semi-heatlity. It is the sleeper conscious of what goes on around him and ready to wake at any moment; but has knowledge though but vague, of the life whence he came and whither he shall return. "Even in this present dream life we feel that which the new life will perhaps make real to us. The earthly form in which awakening of our knowledge of the true life finds us appears as a limitation to the free development of our spirit. The true life begins when that limitation is removed. This idea embodies all the knowledge of truth which gives to man the consciousness of eternal life. "I believe with all my soul in what I say. I feel it now with certain that in dying I shall be happy, that I shall enter a world more real."

ANOTHER PRESIDENT ELECTED IN PERU

LIMA, Peru, May 28.—Senator Dona De Liguera has been elected to succeed Dr. Pardo, as President of Peru. Senator Liguera is forty years old and was formerly in the life insurance business. Later he became managing director of the British Sugar Estate, Limited, a corporation which has many millions of dollars invested in Peru. He has served as Minister of Finance and Premier.

LIMA, Peru, May 28.—The military judge here has ordered thirteen political prisoners, including one American, to be set at liberty as in no way implicated in the recent insurrection of which Dr. Durand was the leader. Several Senators and Deputies who are still implicated as political suspects, have appealed to the Supreme Court against illegal prosecution by the military judges.

TWO WRECKS DUE TO SAME EMPLOYEE

Belgian Pointsman Responsible for Former Collision.

Despite Protests of Station Master, Employee is Punished Only With Short Suspension.

BRUSSELS, May 27.—The foreman in charge of the repairs at the signal box at Cortich has been arrested. The station at Cortich is very small and is considered one of the most dangerous in the country. Three hundred and ten trains pass through the station each day, and all shunting operations have to be carried out on the main line.

An accident which was reported to have been caused by the same pointsman occurred here on May 19, 1907. He omitted to place the signals at "Danger" during shunting operations, with the result that the Amsterdam express came into collision with a freight train. The pointsman, who on this occasion, as he did three days ago, it is believed that possibly his nervous system did not recover from the shock of the first accident. He was punished by some months' suspension from work, and was then replaced in his former situation, despite the protests of the station master.

The railway company will have to meet claims for indemnities amounting to 3,000,000 francs ($600,000). One of the passengers in the plugging train, a journeyman baker, escaped without bodily injury, but the shock was such that he went mad and placed under restraint.

AERONAUTIC CONGRESS IS MEETING IN LONDON

LONDON, May 28.—The International Aeronautic Federation is holding its fourth annual conference in London. The delegates represent Great Britain, the United States, France, Germany, Belgium, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Spain, Switzerland and Sweden. The main object of the federation is largely technical in nature and is directed toward the elimination of grounds for dispute in international competitions in furtherance of the conquest of the air. A subject of interest discussed yesterday was the proposal made by the British and Italy's delegates that there should be a differentiation between amateurs and professionals. This was defeated on a vote.

The principal topic of discussion will relate to ballooning as the most important of the propositions made is that the pilot of any balloon taking part in a race who is carried over the line by a quite assistant to get back to land shall be disqualified or the distance covered over the sea not counted.

INTERESTING ROMANCE OF A PICTURE

There has just come to light in Bristol, England, an interesting romance of a picture. For some years there has been hanging in the Bristol Young Men's Christian Association a picture entitled "The Holy Family." The owner lent it for a long time, and once proposed that the committee should buy it. He did not wish to drive a hard bargain. The picture was obviously a good one; it was six feet by four and a half feet. Would the committee like to buy it for $1077? "If you would," he said, "I appear much in sympathy with your excellent work, and I am willing to contribute $5 myself toward the purchase money." But the committee felt that they had more important matters for their $5 notes, and they replied accordingly. By and by the owner died, and the executors began to realize his estate. The picture was looked up and the work was ordered to be packed and sent to London for sale. Judge the satisfaction of the executors when they received an offer of $5,000 for it, and were advised not to sell under $10,000. Experts have identified the picture as from the brush of Pietro de Cortona, the great Italian painter of the early seventeenth century.

THE CARE OF OILCLOTH.

When washing oilcloth, whether for the table or floor, use no soap if desirous of preserving the polish. Skimmed milk is serviceable, but milk and rubber. Hot vessels, onion juice and such drippings discolor light oilcloth. Varnish floor oilcloths and linoleums fall and spring to rejuvenate their appearance and to lengthen their days of use. Heavy canvas, painted yellow and spotted with slender colors, makes a durable and handsome kitchen or entry carpet. New canvas absorbs much paint, but will outwear many common oilcloths, washes easily and saves the floor and the good wife's muscles. Wherever else one may economize let it not be in floor paint. Next to washing and hot weather cooking, scrubbing comes on the list of wife killers.

ANARCHY IS RIFE IN PERSIAN CITIES

The Shah Helpless to Cope With the Situation

The Governors are Tyrannical, the Administration Corrupt and the Soldiers' Wages are Unpaid.

BERLIN, May 27.—The most recent advices received here are to the effect that anarchy prevails throughout Persia. As an example of the Shah's helplessness to cope with the situation is a libel action brought against the Persian newspaper Mousavvat, for an article which contained the following passage: "Khalbul and Ardebit, the most important posts on the Russian frontier, have been plundered. Bann and Uruman are as good as lost frontier districts. The Kermanshas are in open revolution. Blood is flowing at Shiraz, Pars and Kasmim. Hlan is in possession of brigands. Khorassan, Asterabad and Masanderan are suffering from raids of the Turke. The government is tyrannical, the administration is corrupt and inefficient, the taxes are in arrears, the exchequer is empty, the soldiers' wages are unpaid and the army is helpless. What is the Shah doing in these melancholy circumstances? What are the Shah's occupations? He contents himself with satisfying his own animal instincts and devotes himself to orgies night after night until daybreak."

The newspaper proceeds to give proofs of its allegations, and concludes by demanding the dethronement of the Shah and the establishment of a Republic.

The Shah brought the libel action, but withdrew it when the editor offered to prove the charges in detail. Copies of the paper containing the attack on the Shah are being sold at eleven shillings each, and the walls of Tehran are covered with placards calling upon the people to assassinate the monarch.

ROBBED THE DETECTIVE.

Chicago Has Burglar With a Sense of Humor.

CHICAGO, May 27.—A burglar with a humorous turn of mind, who picked as his victim a detective noted in his district as an expert "thief-catcher," is one of Chicago's latest acquisitions. The midnight prowler broke into the policeman's room while he lay asleep in bed, appropriating diamonds worth of jewellery and $80 in cash, which he found under the detective's pillow. The thief added insult to injury. He left the policeman's gun, removing the cartridges before he left, but he took the officer's star. Detective-Sergeant P. A. Reynolds was the victim of the midnight raid. Wm. Levy, alias George Davis, a negro under arrest, is said to be the burglar. Reynolds asserts he was chloroformed before he was robbed.

German in Motor Car Beats English Adversary and Gets Valuable Concessions.

BERLIN, May 27.—The story of a thrilling motor race across Abyssinia between German and English promoters to secure valuable concessions from the Emperor Menelik is told by Herr Arnold Holtz, the German commercial agent, who recently returned from Addis Ababa.

Right to establish trading stations on motor tracks thirty miles apart. Right to convey the mail. Right to build a wireless telegraph plant. Describing his journey Herr Holtz says: "As, in my opinion, the economic development of the country depends on the construction of means of communication, I laid before Emperor Menelik two years ago a project for a motor car service, but, through an abuse of confidence, the project got into English hands."

Civil marriages also are apparently more liable to be dissolved than those celebrated in church.

ASQUITH'S DEAL WITH SUFFRAGISTS

No Doubt of the Bona Fides of the Concession

Sweeping Woman Suffrage Provision Will Undoubtedly be Included in New Reform Bill.

LONDON, May 27.—Prime Minister Asquith's surrender to the suffragists is the paramount topic of the week in British politics. The militant branch of the suffragist horde profess dissatisfaction with the terms of concession and a suspicion of its bona fides. They were wrong in their doubts. A definite deal has been made between the Liberal leaders and the Moderate Suffragists whereby the government will endeavor to make votes for women the principal issue of the next general election.

More than a hundred and twenty years ago, Van Marum, a Dutch electrician, noticed that when electric sparks were passed through a tube of oxygen—the discovery of oxygen being only nine years old—the odor was like that of a lobster, and had a most remarkable effect on certain substances. The theory received a further basis of confirmation from observations made at the Royal College of Science, Dublin. There it was found that ozone is present, that is to say, it has the property of absorbing certain rays of light which travel so fast that our eyes cannot see them, called "ultra-violet" rays.

AUTO FIRM'S AGENT

PRINCESS' LOVER

Eloping Archduchess Is Amelio of Furstenberg—Romance Began a Year Ago.

LONDON, May 27.—The mysterious Austrian Archduchess, of whose elopement with the Emperor's cousin, Prince Amelio of Furstenberg, the head of that house, she is 24 years old. The romance began last year in the Carriage when a certain Amelio met Gustav Koestner, an agent of a German automobile firm. He is 34 years old, tall and handsome, and highly educated. He was a cavalry lieutenant in the Austrian army until about a year ago, when he was discharged on account of secret betrothal. Koestner lately tried without success, to recover a title held by his ancestor, Prince Amelio. It is believed he came to Vienna last week and arranged for the departure of the Archduchess. He is now believed to be on the island of Wight, Princess Amelio being of age, her marriage could not be prevented. She has an independent fortune. Her brother Prince Egon, is a great friend of the Emperor.

TROTTERS AT AUCTION BRING LOW PRICES

READVILLE, Mass., May 27.—W. J. Lewis, 2084, holder of the world's trotting race record for three consecutive heats was sold today at the Pease-Tipton horse auction, for $1,200. Paul Connolly, of Philadelphia, who has his remarkable feat at Columbus only three years ago, and is a candidate for the $50,000 American Trotting derby next August, yet buyers were afraid of taking chance of bidding, as last season he was not riding on account of an ailment in the leg. He showed in the sale ring today, apparently sound, but it is much work for him to do in a crowded city, and the close, heated room—the air has no ozone and is saturated with smoke and other impurities, and it is rarely, if ever, present even in the largest and best-ventilated stables. In the open country, therefore, there is more ozone than in town or city, while the air that comes from the sea has even more than that of the country.

JEROME MAKES EMOTIONAL PLEA IN HIS OWN DEFENCE

ELIZABETHPORT, N. Y., May 27.—With an apology, which was at the same time a defense for having treated somewhat flippantly the charges against his administration of the district attorneyship of New York Co., Wm. T. Jerome, this afternoon finished his argument in his own defense before Commissioner Richard T. Hand. The conclusion of the hearing, the last day of which had opened with the argument of Franklin Pierce for counsel for the complainants and the commissioner announced that the attorney might have until June 15th, to file supplemental briefs.

SOME OF THE RECENT DISCOVERIES ABOUT OZONE

Everybody has a vague belief in the health-giving properties of ozone. The air of the country, of the seaside, and of high mountains, is said to be charged more liberally with this peculiar gas, and to this charge the improved health of those who breathe it is said to be due. It is only within recent times, however, that our knowledge of this strange element has emerged from obscurity into clearer light, and the steps for which modern conclusions have been reached afford an admirable example of the solution of what seemed a generation ago, to be a most baffling problem. The chemist and the meteorologist have both been at work, the former seeking to make the gas in the laboratory with a view to its industrial applications, and the latter investigating its presence in the atmosphere.

THE "SMELL OF ELECTRICITY"

More than a hundred and twenty years ago, Van Marum, a Dutch electrician, noticed that when electric sparks were passed through a tube of oxygen—the discovery of oxygen being only nine years old—the odor was like that of a lobster, and had a most remarkable effect on certain substances. The theory received a further basis of confirmation from observations made at the Royal College of Science, Dublin. There it was found that ozone is present, that is to say, it has the property of absorbing certain rays of light which travel so fast that our eyes cannot see them, called "ultra-violet" rays.

In 1840 the German chemist, Schonbein, investigated the odor which he detected the same "smell of electricity" when water was decomposed by the electric current; he also discovered that when sticks of common phosphorus were partially immersed in water, the air of a large room could be filled with the odor. Schonbein was the first to recognize the gas as a distinct form of matter, and declared that it had peculiar properties of its own, which were quite different from those of oxygen, having the power of rusting metals, such as silver and mercury, which oxygen does not do at all under ordinary conditions. Its characteristic odor suggested the name which Schonbein gave to the new gas, a molecule of ozone being from the Greek word, "ozon," meaning "I smell."

THE ADDITIONAL ATOM

For a long time after its discovery the exact chemical nature of ozone was a mystery. The chemist now tells us that it is simply oxygen in another form. It is a well-known fact that certain substances have the strange capability of existing in two or more forms, which, in their chemical or physical relations are quite distinct from each other. This phenomenon is not rare. Sulphur, for example, though a brittle crystal, can assume the form of a translucent, soft and highly elastic mass, and carbon, more familiar as a lump of coke or charcoal, may assume the form of the hardest and most brilliant diamond. Similarly, ozone, an altered or allotropic form of oxygen, a molecule of ozone has three atoms, a molecule of oxygen has two atoms, and it is this extra atom which makes ozone so different from ordinary oxygen. In fact, ozone has a strong odor, oxygen has none, ozone is an energetic oxidizing, or rusting, agent, oxygen is a feeble one, ozone is a powerful antiseptic, oxygen is a weak antiseptic, ozone is a powerful germicide, oxygen is a weak germicide.

GERMICIDAL PROPERTIES

Bensen predicted that when ozone could be made commercially there would be no end of its usefulness, and his prediction has been realized. Ozone is now made in large quantities, and at small cost, by the action of a discharge of electricity on ordinary air. The gas can be used in extracting gold from its ores; in making sulphuric acid; in refining mineral oils; in producing camphor; purifying sugar, and bleaching linen; in whitening gum wax and ivory; and in hardening wood for special purposes, such as building of musical instruments. It is, indeed, the wonder-worker among gases, applicable not only industrially, but also as a remedy for many ills that flesh is heir to. A host of diseases due to the diffusion of a microbe, are said to yield to its germicidal properties.

VARYING IN QUANTITY

Is there any ozone in the atmosphere? Yes, in a small and variable proportion, depending entirely on locality. The small quantity, however, is of vast importance to health and welfare. Its presence is due to the free electricity of the air, and wherever found, its quantity is increased after a thunderstorm. Its main function is to purify and cleanse the air. In doing its work it does more effectively than any other known cleanser. In doing its work it does more effectively than any other known cleanser. In doing its work it does more effectively than any other known cleanser.

DOGS AS COLLECTORS

Dogs with collecting boxes attached to their collars are comparatively common in Europe. It may not, however, be generally known what large sums they earn for the charities they represent. It is stated in the Animal World that one which used to beg for a hospital in Ireland collected in five years nearly $15,000. He had a special banking account, which was submitted periodically to a chartered accountant.

Hello Bill at the Opera House.

What promise to be one of the best shows of the season is booked for the Opera House Thursday, Friday and Saturday, when the clever comedian, George F. Hall will be seen in the new musical fun show, Hello Bill. It is entirely different from anything Mr. Hall has ever been seen in, it is a musical farce comedy pure and simple, enlisting the services of a large company of players. Some of the songs in the piece are A Carless Bunch Are We, Good Bye Sweetheart, Good Bye, Good Bye, Friend of Mine, Bye-Bye, My Sailor Boy, Jack Tar, Some Day When Dreams Come True, Schmitzbank, Smiles on Me, The Boston Trio and Mr. Hall's big song Bill's a Millionaire.

Big Success at The Palace.

Everyone in Carleton seems to have decided to enjoy the amateur night at the Nickel last evening and the City Hall was crowded to the top stairway with an audience which laughed themselves hoarse, and left the building having decided unanimously that of all the amateur shows given during the last six months, on both sides of the harbor, that of last evening must take precedence. In the laughable sketch A Dollar for a Kiss, Fairbanks, Harrison, Moffat and Chapman, the performers, made a big hit, and the audience yesterday afternoon, who were present at this evening was received with cheers. Besides Miss Moffat making a success rival to that of her regular partner, Mr. Harrison, and the three encores spoke eloquently the appreciation of her audience, besides the five splendid motion pictures no less than fifteen cantatas and every one of them showing talent. A special candy matinee was announced for Saturday afternoon, known. He had been all day in present when every child attending is presented with a bag of candy. Some big surprises are promised for next week.

At the Unique

The management of the Unique Theatre wish to announce that this afternoon they will put on their regular programme and that the admission will be back to the old price. For tonight they have secured four very excellent pictures: A Fashionable Hat. Mrs. Wealthy refuses to go to the theatre unless she has a new hat. She arranges her maid to buy one at the nearest milliner. She expects the whole shop and is about to leave in indignation when she finds her maid in a huge mass of lace and feathers. She buys it, but it is so enormous that she has to take it off to go through the door. Hailing a cab she finds that the head gear must be taken off and laid on the roof. Arriving at a theatre the audience break into a wild laugh and two gentlemen sitting directly behind her call a policeman and have her ejected. The picture will be seen by all who are interested in motion pictures, and it is very instructive and amusing.

At the Princess

Indescribable of the Kinetograph. This is one of the most wonderful pictures ever photographed, showing the development of the film. The picture will be seen by all who are interested in motion pictures, and it is very instructive and amusing.

SEEDS OF JEALOUSY

By COLIN S. COLLINS.

(Copyrighted, 1908, by E. C. Purcell.) Jimmie Blatchford sprang to his feet to greet Marcia as she entered, but the gravity of the girl's face arrested the greeting that hung upon his lips, and instead he gasped. "What's the matter?" he cried, when he had found his voice. "Is it anything serious? Some of the family?" "There is no illness in the family," said Marcia coldly. "Then why this funeral countenance?" demanded Blatchford. "Here I am, just back from the West, and you don't even say 'how d'ya do.' Didn't you get my letters every day or what is the matter?" "I was induced to visit a motion picture performance yesterday," began Marcia. "I believe that they are called 'nickel theatres.' " "I've heard the phonographs outside," murmured Jimmie. "If the pictures are as bad as the music, your look of woe is explained. How did you come to patronize such a place?" "It was curiosity," explained Marcia. "I happened to meet Belle Brewer and George Taylor and Henry Towne, Belle is perfectly crazy over the absurd motion pictures, and they were on their way to one of these places. I foolishly let myself be persuaded to go with them. They had a picture of you on the screen." "That is flattering," cried Jimmie, mockingly. "I find you looking as if the end of the world was near, and you explain that you saw me in the motion pictures, which accounts for your state of depression." "It was taken at the shore last summer," said Marcia, meaningly. "I admit that I am not a dream of beauty in a bathing suit," said Jimmie with a smile. "But I did not know that I was almost fatal to the beholder." "You were entirely dressed," interrupted Marcia. "You had on that gray suit I liked so much, and the tie I gave you for Easter, the one you said you never would wear except when you were with me." "And I never did," said Jimmie, promptly. "Only the thought of being a girl who looked like an actress. You had your arm about her waist and you were kissing her, and the people walking along the beach stopped and laughed at you, and, especially you saw them and got up and ran away." "And here's where I get the engagement ring and my letters back, and you tell me that I have destroyed your faith in the honor of men just because some motion picture actor happens to look like me." "It was you," insisted Marcia. "There can be no possibility of a mistake." "Now, let's get home, I've seen enough pictures for one evening, and I guess you have. Let's walk. It is not very far. I want a chance to cool my head." "What are you going to do about it?" asked the girl curiously, as they sought a more quiet thoroughfare. "Three things," explained Jimmie. "I'm going to fire my man for letting Towne have my old clothes. I am going to call on Towne—ever mind that—and I'm going to get a license to photograph and marry you before they can spring any more photographic seeds of jealousy on us." "I think," said Marcia softly, "that in future the seeds will fall on barren ground, Jimmie, but—your'd better get the license anyway."

GILLET'S PERFUMED LIFE CAUTION.

Put a strong glass on the label and examine it closely every time. Always look for the name "Gillett's." Like all good articles, which are extensively advertised, Gillett's Lye is frequently and very closely imitated. In some instances the imitators have actually copied directions and other printed matter from our label word for word. Be wise, and refuse to purchase imitation articles for they are never satisfactory.

Insist On Getting Gillett's Lye

and decline to accept anything that looks to be an imitation or that is represented to be "just as good" or "better," or "the same thing." In our experience of over fifty years in business we have never known of an imitation article that has been a success, for imitators are not reliable people. At the best the "just as good" kinds are only trashy imitations, so decline them with thanks every time.

CIVIL SERVICE TO BE PUT UNDER COMMISSION

OTTAWA, May 27.—The new civil service bill to be introduced in the House by the Hon. Sydney Fisher will affect principally the members of the inside service for the present, the outside service or any part of it being left to come under the provisions of the act later on by proclamation of the governor in council. The bill, as has already been stated, places the control of the service with regard to appointments and promotions under a permanent non-partisan commission. This commission will consist of two members, who are to have the rank of deputy-minister. With respect to the reclassification of the service, the bill provides that instead of the present system of classification by clerkships the service is to be reorganized into "divisions" and "sub-divisions." The first division will include deputy heads and the principal technical administration and executive officers, with salaries ranging from $2,800 to $4,000. Class "B" of the first division will include the lesser technical and administrative officers, including the chief clerks, salaries range from $2,200 to $2,800, this being a considerable increase over the present maximum allowance. The second division will include clerks whose duties enable them to qualify for holding positions in the first division. In class "A" of this division salaries range from $1,500 to $2,150, and in class "B" from $800 to $1,400. The third division comprises other clerks whose duties are copying and routine work under direct supervision, salaries in class "A" ranging from $600 to $1,200, and in class "B" from $500 to $800. These salaries allow for an increase for most of the present civil service employes, maximum varying from $100 to $300. Promotions in any class or from one class to another will be made on the basis of competitive examination, the candidates to rank for promotion according to their standing on the exam.

KING WITHOUT CASH.

Royal Household of Portugal Besieged by its Creditors.

LISBON, May 27.—The royal household of Portugal is being besieged by its creditors and the newspapers of Lisbon are filled with the notices of suits brought by tradespeople against its members. The courts already have awarded a butcher $30 and costs, the amount of an unpaid meat bill against Dowager Queen Maria Pia and the Duke of Oporto.

This situation arises from the fact that the members of the royal household have not received a single penny from the state since King Carlos and his son were assassinated, because the new civil list cannot be approved until after the inauguration of the new king. The situation is being remedied by the fact that the members of the household have not received a single penny from the state since King Carlos and his son were assassinated, because the new civil list cannot be approved until after the inauguration of the new king.

WILL SEND ANOTHER DELEGATION TO CAPITAL RE STREET RAILWAY BILL

MONCTON, May 27.—The City Council wrangled for nearly three hours this afternoon over street railway legislation question before finally deciding to send City Solicitor W. B. Chandler and Ald. E. A. Bally as delegates to Fredericton to press the city's street railway bill before the municipalities commission. The delegates were to get the city legislation through to do what they considered best for the city, the delegates were to be empowered to compromise with the old company, F. W. Sumner and R. A. Borden, representing the old company, met with the council this afternoon to see if a compromise could be effected, and an agreement was reached on many points but no definite conclusion reached. Mr. Sumner said that the old company, who claim to still control the charter, were negotiating with a company of capitalists who would be ready to start at once providing arrangements were completed. The company would eliminate the heat, light and power clauses. A five year lease was agreed upon and the delegates were to be empowered to compromise with the old company, F. W. Sumner and R. A. Borden, representing the old company, met with the council this afternoon to see if a compromise could be effected, and an agreement was reached on many points but no definite conclusion reached.

TWO YOUNG MEN DROWNED NEAR GANSO YESTERDAY

CANNO, N. S., May 27.—David Richardson and Freeman Feltmate, two young fishermen, were drowned today by the capsizing of their boat. They left their homes today to tend lobster traps and some hours later their boat, battered, was found on the beach, but of the men there was not a trace. Feltmate leaves a widow and young child, but Richardson was unmarried.

COLONIES RIGHT IN THEIR DEMAND FOR PREFERENCE

LONDON, May 27.—Premier Ward of New Zealand, speaking at Eltham today, referred to the idea of a white New Zealand. He said New Zealand did not intend to interfere in English politics, but thought the colonies were within their rights in their demands for preference. The colonies, he said, should not be called upon to compete against Denmark, America and Argentina, which had built high protective walls. He was sorry to notice that Canada had concluded a commercial treaty with France. When other colonies made such arrangements with other countries it would be the beginning of the overthrow of the commercial supremacy of the Empire.

SCHOONER BOUND FROM ST. JOHN IN BAD COLLISION

SAUNDERSTOWN, R. I., May 27.—The identity of the two schooners today reported by fishermen last night as in collision south of Beacomb was revealed tonight when the two-masted schooner Conrad S. arrived at his port. Captain Cochrane of the schooner reported that at 4 a. m. on May 26, when eight miles southeast of Brenton's Reef lights, during a thick fog, he collided with the schooner Harold B. Cousens, bound from St. John, N. B., for City Island. Both schooners lost a lot of their top hamper, the foremast, flying jib, cathead and headrail of the Conrad S. being carried away. The exact damage to the Harold B. Cousens is not known, but it is thought to be similar to that of the Conrad S. The former schooner started towards Beacomb, while the Conrad S. put into this port for repairs. The Conrad S. was bound from Fort Greville, N. S., to City Island, N. Y.

PROPOSED ROAD THROUGH BAY

Govt. Now Taking First Move

Survey Party Already Laying Out Townsite of Fort Churchill

OTTAWA, May 27.—The first move in the direction of establishing a new outlet for the Hudson Bay Company's trade is now being made by the government, and a survey party, under the direction of Mr. Marrier, is being sent out by the interior department to lay out the town site of Fort Churchill, the future metropolis of Hudson Bay and the terminus of the proposed Hudson Bay Railway. The future city will be located on the eastern side of the river, opposite the ruins of old Fort Prince Wales, and across the river from the Hudson Bay Company's trading post. Plans and drawings of the harbor are also being prepared under the direction of the department.

The present population of Fort Churchill consists of four half-breed families, a mounted policeman and one settler named William Beech. The latter is the only man whose home is pitched on the future townsite. He settled there with his wife before the area in question was reserved for settlement, and is therefore entitled to claim a free quarter section of 100 acres of "city real estate."

It is expected that the government measure providing for the construction of a railway to Hudson Bay will be brought down in the commons shortly.

THE SPREAD OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

In The World's Work there is an article entitled "English—the World Language." The author, Mr. H. J. H. points out that in a sense, it is true that the Arabic alphabet covers a slightly larger population than that of those who use the Latin alphabet and its slight variations or the Chinese characters, which, of course, are not an alphabet at all.

The writer proceeds: "This is an age of development of material resources and means of transportation. In consequence there is an increase in the world's population which few realize and which has not yet been fully appreciated. The population of the world is now about 1,600,000,000. The representation of the leading European languages then and now will be as follows: English—Population in 1900, 160,000,000; per cent. 10.0; population in 2000, 1,100,000,000; per cent. 25.0. Russian—Population in 1900, 100,000,000; per cent. 6.3; population in 2000, 500,000,000; per cent. 11.0. Spanish—Population in 1900, 50,000,000; per cent. 3.1; population in 2000, 300,000,000; per cent. 8.0. German—Population in 1900, 70,000,000; per cent. 4.4; population in 2000, 100,000,000; per cent. 2.4. Italian—Population in 1900, 35,000,000; per cent. 2.2; population in 2000, 100,000,000; per cent. 2.0. French—Population in 1900, 40,000,000; per cent. 2.5; population in 2000, 60,000,000; per cent. 1.3.

FUTURE IN CHINA.

Here is an interesting passage: "The future of the English language in China is a matter of great interest and great possibilities. It is, of course, a certainty that if China does with English what Japan is doing, all Chinese before the end of the century will read English. This will be, as communication improves, a powerful influence, in addition to that already existing, for increasing the use of English in India and the rest of Asia. No foreboding is ever likely to take the trouble to learn the Chinese writing in the hospital, they covered in English. This very grivelly illustrates the fact that English has reached round the world."

MEXICO AND JAPAN.

And again: "It is probable that all the countries in temperate zones will have universal literacy by the end of the century. In this case, even if no one read English outside its vernacular countries, it would still hold its own as the leading literary language. German and French are bound to fall off relatively as vernaculars, and this implies a falling off of their importance as culture languages; but the importance of English in this respect is bound to grow. The first place among foreign languages has been given to it in the schools of many European and South American countries; Mexico and Japan make it compulsory in all schools of upper grades; and China is to follow Japan in this respect as soon as the work can be organized. It would appear probable that within the century English will be the vernacular of a quarter instead of a tenth of the people of the world, and be read by a half instead of a quarter of the people who can read."

HANDKERCHIEFS.

To keep handkerchiefs in good condition is to keep them from becoming soiled. Proceed as follows: Put two quarts of tepid water, with five drops of blue and a small piece of lump starch, into a basin and into this mixture dip each handkerchief separately, thoroughly wetting it, and then squeezing it as dry as possible. When all the handkerchiefs have been treated in this way spread them out smoothly on a clean cloth or towel until they can be found

THAT SAME OLD SUIT

IN CIVIL COURT AGAIN

Horace Brown Non-suited in Suit Case
Sues for Suit Which Smith Says Did Not Suit.

In the civil court this morning Horace Brown was the plaintiff in a suit to recover $25 from Douglas Smith for a suit of clothes he claims was sold and delivered. Heber Keith appeared for the plaintiff and A. A. Wilson for the defence.

This case was tried in the civil court some months ago, and was appealed. On the appeal, the case was non-suited, and this morning another suit was commenced. Mr. Brown testified that the defendant ordered the clothes in March, 1907, and the suit was sent out for delivery about three weeks later. Some days after the delivery the plaintiff learned that the defendant had not received the suit, which was at his boarding house, the Prince Royal Hotel.

Mrs. Gleason, proprietress of the Prince Royal Hotel gave evidence that Mr. Smith left the hotel about six o'clock on the day the suit was delivered. He went on the steamer to Boston.

The defendant took the stand and said that he never received the suit, and was not liable, as it was delivered at his hotel after he had left the city.

George Wesley testified that Mr. Smith left the hotel before six o'clock, and the steamer left the city about six o'clock.

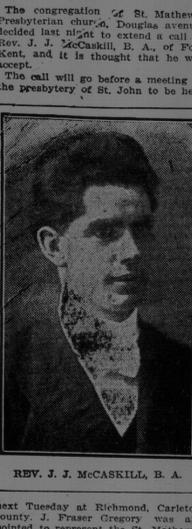

F. F. Burpee was called in rebuttal, and testified that the steamer did not leave the city until after six-thirty o'clock. The case was adjourned at one o'clock and will be resumed this afternoon.

Another defended case is that in which C. H. Peters' sons are endeavoring to recover a balance of $60 from Thomas Graham for manure sold to him. Mr. Frank Peters gave evidence that Graham owed $100 for two years' delivery, and that the defendant got a receipt in full from the firm's typewriter and only paid $40. He refused to pay the balance or show Mr. Peters the receipt, and sarcastically remarked that he had the receipt and had Mr. Peters where he wanted him. This case will also be resumed this afternoon.

POLICE COURT.

Three prisoners faced Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning. Guilberne Augusta, an Italian sailor, who has a very poor command of the English language, was charged with wandering about Charlotte street last midnight. He explained to the court that he was paid off yesterday with $35, and left the money with a boarding house master with the exception of two dollars, which he spent. He was without money last night and did not know where to go. He was remanded.

Harry Duke was charged with acting indecently on main street. He was fined $8 or two months with hard labor, and the magistrate remarked that if he had the power he would give the prisoner a whipping.

Alexander Dougherty was charged with assaulting his mother, being drunk and disorderly in her home on Bentley street, also with using threatening language and attempting to cut Policeman Silas Perry with a knife. The prisoner said he had no recollection of the affair, and was remanded to jail.
