R. L. Borden pointed out that the position of affairs was such that required interference on the part of the government. It was a question whether the government should not take control of the houses. He was glad to see the evidences of a winter port being built up in St. John. This was due to the enterprise of the people and the C. P. R. In fact the people of Nova Scotia had been thwarted by the government in endeavoring by means of C. P. R. to build up trade at Halifax. There was no rivalry between the two ports. Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out how the ernment had subsidized an addition government had subsidized an additional railway to carry wheat from Winnineg to the lakes and also agreed to increase the capital stock of the C. P. R. by $20,000,-000 so as to double its track between these dove for that noble woman who occupied the throne until the beginning of last year. It still remains in full strength be-cause our present king, while Prince of Wales, gave promise of being a constitu-tional ruler—a promise which has been so far fulfilled. When his son visited us last year we all gave him a hearty welcome. It was not necessary for him to refer to the admirable manner in which the prince and his wife, the Duchess of Cornwall, conducted themselves during their visit. He was pleased to see the reference to the death of President McKinley. One good result had followed from this vile assissination. The freedom that exists under the British constitution and that of the United States had enabled societies. to flourish that were unfriendly to the state. Now these anarchist associations will be restrained, at least from openly preaching assassination. When our good queen died, her death was greatly lamented in the United States and he was glad that we were able to reciprocate this feeling on the death of their president.

It was deeply gratifying to him that the government were able to congratulate the legislature on the prosperity of New Brunswick. It was not claimed that thus prosperity was due solely to the efforts of the government. But there was no questhat an energetic and capable government have the power of greatly assisting in the development of the country and its equent prosperity.

Agricultural Advancement.

This is an agricultural province, and for many years to come our prosperity must rest on that foundation. The government of the province has recognized this fac and has developed an agricultural policy. It seems strange that for so many years but was merely a matter which was sup-posed to be attended to by another department unconnected with agriculture. The government wisely selected the dairying industries as a point on which to make a beginning. They saw that our system of dairying was extremely defective, that huch of the butter made in the province was a poor quality and had to be sold at a low price. They saw that the province had no reputation for butter making and that good cream was being turned into indifferent butter to the great loss of the farmer. The same thing was true with regard to cheese. The government have introduced an improved method of dairying with the result that thousands of dollars are now flowing into the country from the sale of butter and cheese abroad. It has been said by the opopsition that our provincial gov-ernment is not entitled to much credit for this because the dominion government in-troduced these improved methods. He did not wish to minimize what the dominion government had done but their efforts would have had very slight results if they had not been supplemented by the work of the provincial government. In the recent campaign in Kings the opposition tried to show that the government de-served no credit for their agricultural policy. But the people of Kings knew better because they saw on every side the beneficial results of that policy. province.

New Brunswick Wheat.

The government then took another step and one equally important. In old times the people of New Brunswick grew their own wheat but owing to the weeval and other causes, wheat growing in the province had been almost abandoned. The province had been almost abandoned. Ine government felt that New Brunswick could again grow its own wheat and they proceeded to encourage wheat growing and to give bonuses to mills which made flour by the roller process, so that New Bruns-wick might produce as good flour as that made from western wheat. This policy the importation of horses and this should be a lesson to New Brunswick. Mr. King doing for the province.

has been very successful and has already resulted in wheat growing on an extensive scale. Last year as much flour was made from New Brunswick wheat as would DR. RUDDICK'S SPEECH. have cost a quarter of a million dollars to ort and he believed that this province import and he believed that this province would yet grow all the wheat it required.

The opposition now say that this money has all been expended, if so it has been expended for great public works of general utility, not one dollar of it has been wasted.

Oominion and Provincial Relations. With regard to the fisheries claim, it with interest added for about 24 years, will amount to nearly $2,000,000-With regard to the fisheries claim, it was not necessary to go into the circum-stances that led to that. The dominion claimed the fisheries, but it has now been decided by the highest court that the fisheries are attached to the soil and be-long to the province. Our government claims that the right to regulate the fisher-ies which is given to the dominion by the British North America Act involves the duty of protecting the fisheries. It may be a task of some difficulty to adjust all the questiops arising out of this matter. It is understood that negotiations are now in progress between the dominion and provincial governments on the subjects. The moment it is established that the fisheries belong to the province it follows that our share of the Halifax award should come to us. Ottawa, March 7-(Special)-Hon. Mr. McKannon, of Prince Edward Island, who was attorney general of that province and well up in constitutional law, has been the means of saving $4,000 a year or abou $40,000 in 10 years to his province. There is a decrease of 5,000 in the population of the island and consequently the claim was made that the subsidy to the province should be reduced $4,000 a year. Mr. Mc-Kinnon looked carefully into this and has pretty clearly shown to the government that in the terms of union while an in-crease in subsidy was arranged for if the population, as shown by the decennial sus increased, no provision was mad

if the population decreased. This means a great deal to the island and it shows that Mr. McKinnon is zealously guarding The interests of his province. The exchequer court will sit in St. John May 20 and at Halifax on May 27.

DEVELOP OUR TRADE.

WEST INDIES.

Some interesting suggestions as to how Canadian trade with the West Indies may be further developed are given in a report from Robert Monro, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, to the executive of the association, says the Toronto Globe. Mr. Munro, who, with a number of other manufacturers, is making a trade trip through the West Indies, dates his letter from Hamilton, Bermuda, adout two years, and his death was not unexpected. The deceased came here about 20 years ago, and had built up a large business. He was at one time war-den of the county, and took active inter-est in all public matters. In politics he and says that on even terms Canada can have the greater part of the business done outside of Britain in that island, although at the present time 60 per cent. of 'the entire imports into Bermuda are from the United States. The feeling there, however, respecting Canada is that this country has not shown much desire for the trade. The most glaringly unsatisfactory items on Ber muda's list of imports is that of flour, but Mr. Munro is assured by the largest im porters there that they are most willing to give the business to Canada on even terms, providing they are in earnest about

One nurse whose name is mentioned as being inattentive was on as night nurse for one month while I was as night nurse for one month while I was there. I never knew anyone to have to knock a second time for her and I have seen that girl come into the ward at night several times to see if anything was wanted, especially if any patient was very sick. As for bed bugs and vermin, I never saw any nor never heard of any all the time I was there nor sit any other time until I cars, it in The Telegraph One all the time 1 was there nor at any other time until I saw it in The Telegraph. Rome, March 7 .- Captain Casati, the LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Game Law in Dorchester.

In this city, on the 9th inst., the death To the Editor of The Telegraph: occurred of James Mackarlane, aged 74 years and two months. Deceased was Sir,-We were under the impression that our New Brunswick "game act" was an excellent law, and that it was popular in born at Studholm, Kings county, and leaves a widow and one daughter.

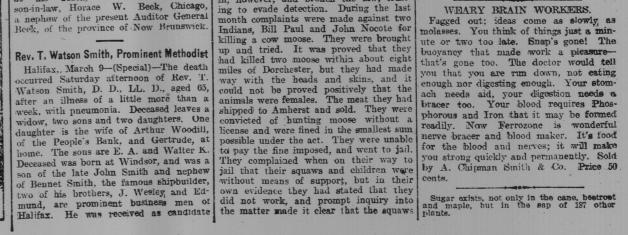

pital is perfect—there is room for im-provement—but I must say that I think it very wrong for people to find so much fault when it is to be considered that it is a free institution and when patients are admitted or taken there (as in case of accident) and given such treatment as they do, probably the best that can be done with the funds at their disposal. Just think of a patient spending several weeks or months there and receiving free medical attendance, free board, free nursing, free washing, everything free, and then abuse the institution for not doing better. I think it is decidedly wrong to say the least of it. People should not go there if they expect so much. While in the province generally, but a prosecution which the game warden here lately found it necessary to bring, seems to have stirred It necessary to bring, seems to have strifted up greatly a couple of our literary and oratorical gentlemen, who contribute to the Moncton papers by way of advertis-ing themselves, and are always ready to give their weighty opinions on any subject at any time and whether they know any-thing about it or not. there if they expect so much. While in the case of accidents there requires to be some place to take parties where they have no home or at a great distance from home. As in my own case, I had an acci-den't on the street which resulted in a thing about it or not. W. E. Lawrence has acted here as game dent on the street which resulted in a broken leg and other injuries by which I was unconscious for four hours. But thanks to the St. John hospital I com-pletely recovered and am none the worse for it. I must say I feel that I owe a debt of gratitude to the medical staff and to the metron and the nuclear staff and I also

W. E. Lawrence has acted here as game warden for a number of years, and has been a popular and efficient officer. About two years ago he was appointed night keeper at the prison, and continued to act under the game law, as his prison duties left him free in the day time and as game warden his principal work would be to issue licenses and attend to reports sent by his agents and sub-officers through out the county, and this would not inter fere with his work at the prison where be is considered a first class officer. There sent by his agents and sub-oncers through in many cases the cause of complant of the patients is that, being sick and con-fired indoors, their appetites are not as good as they ought to be and that food does not taste good. They therefore blame the food, while in other cases it will often be found that the ones that make comcarefully notified all interested and warned parties for first offences and generally got along without trouble. The result of his careful attention to duty being that game increased in our woods, there being now plenty deer, and quite a few moose and caribou at no great distance from the shiretown. Partridge, which had become almost an extinct bird, are now plentiful in our woods. The Indians who live near the town seemed at first to give little plaints and find fault with everything are plaints and find fault with everything are the very ones that have no good home or never had much anyway. I do not mean that this is always the case but I feel that it often is. Now, I have spoken mostly of the public wards. The private rooms I do not know much about but think that when a patient is very sick that is the proper place. Then I believe they can have their own nurse if desired. I trust that this letter will have the ef-fect of showing that every one that has the town seemed at first to give little heed to the law, but were brought to see that it was to their advantage to have it obeyed. It became necessary to prose-cute some of them, and their chief was convicted of a breach of the law, but the provide the second the law by the fect of showing that every one that has been in the hospital does not give it a bad name and that it is at least a benefit to some and that there is one that appre-ciates its usefulness and wish that it may convicted of a breach of the law, but the conviction was let stand, on condition that he cease to violate the provision of the act, and advised his people to do the same, and there has been no trouble with our Indians since. Outsiders have come in, however, and broken the law, trust-ing to evade detection. During the last month complaints were made against two Indians, Bill Paul and John Nocote for billing a cow moose. They were brought long continue its aid to the sufferers brought within its walls. S. G. ECCLES, 5 Westfield, Kings Co., N. B. WEARY BRAIN WORKERS

TANKAGE AS PIG FEED. Value of This Packing House By-Preduct as Food for Swine-The Indiana Bulletin Summarized.

In view of the rapid extension of swine growing, and the consequent establishment of pork packing houses in all parts of the country, a recent bulletin (No. 90) of the Indiana Experiment Station, regarding the val-ie as a food for swine of the packhouse bye-product, known as tankage, may be of interest. cording to the above bulletin tankage offers a considerable value as a feeding material for pigs. It contains a higher per cent. of protein, and an amount of phosphoric acid that materially excels that found in my grain or bye-product of mills

The phosphoric acid for pigs is use ul in building up bone structure and this is an important feature with our pigs to-day, while the protein has a value universally recognized feeders. An extensive breeder of swine, in Indiana thus describes the character of this product: 'Especially with young pigs, one inds some feed of great advantage that is rich in all the nutriments equired, that is easily digested, and specially palatable. A ear's experience with feeding tankge shows it the ideal feed for this Blood, lungs, etc., are cooked together in tanks at the large packing houses. The fat is drawn off and the residue dried and about $25 per ton laid down at my home, contains about double the proein found in oil meal, and is a very nuch better feed for pigs. It seems to be a perfect substitute for milk, a pound of the tankage costing less than a cent and a quarter, and having a feeding value equal to about three gallons of skimmed milk. A mixture of 30 pounds of corn to 10 lbs each of wheat middlings and tankage, makes a very well balanced ration for pigs up to four months old. VARIETIES OF BEES.

Favorites Are the Cyprians, Italians and West Indians.

The Cyprians are the greatest honey gatherers on record. Their hon ey has a watery appearance, which is caused by the cells being filled so full that the cappibg rests on the honey. They are easily offended and cannot be subdued without using a great quantity of smoke. The Cyprians are rejected on account of these faults by those who produce comb honey. Their symmetry and bright colors render them things of beauty if not a joy forever.

Italian bees were first introduced direct from Italy, early in 1860, by a purchasing agent of the com-missioner of agriculture. They are liked better than other races, which, large packing houses. The fat is drawn off and the residue dried and ground for hog feed. It costs I think their golden yellow color has much to do with their popu-larity. Italian bees do not winter as well in a cold climate as the common black or brown bees, but they defend their hives better against moth and other robber bees, and are more energetic in gathering honey The smallest bees known are na tives of the West Indies. They build in the open air, fastening a single comb to the branch of a small tree or shrub. This comb is no larger than a man's hand and is very fragile and delicate. There are 100 worker cells to the square inch 100 worker cells to the square inch of surface. The tiny workers' bodies are longer than house flies and more slender. They are blue-black in co-lor, with part of the abdomen a bright orange. These diminutive bees gather very little surplus honpetites, and are especially free from ey, therefore their cultivation would not be profitable .- Farm Journal.

Its Advantages for Wintering Farm Stock -Just the Thing for Sheep-An Important Factor.

The present time of year should show to the fullest extent whatever benefits may pertain to a covered barnyard. An Ohio Farmer writer says of this: If appearances are facts, seldom indeed is there a farmer who ap-preciates the real worth of a cover-ed barnyard. At any rate, those seen by the writer in his travels over and about the country have been exceedingly few and far be-tween. A covered barnyard, just the same, is a very important factor in farm management, it not only be-ing possible with it to keep manure from leaching, even in the slightest degree, but preserve it to a certainty from that hateful consumer of the

To determine something of the value of tankage in a swine feeding ration, an experiment with a fairly uniform lot of pigs was begun and continued for 127 days. are quite long. This arrangement, furthermore, se cures constant circulation of air through the yard, removing all undesirable fumes arising and keeping the whole pure and sweet. This, in my judgment, is the proper con-struction, for, while it makes the yard colder, it will be rendered unfit for use only during a few days of the winter, and then a temporary obstruction to the cold may be put up at the open space between wing and barn. If it faces to the south, the yard will thus be made practic-ally impregnable to the frost king.

Unsuitable Hogs for Market

A good many farmers in Eastern Ontario are still adhering to the very foolish policy of marketing hogs that are too light in weight and quite unsuitable for packing purposes. The Geo. Matthews Company, Limited, report that during the month of January their receipts of hogs graded as follows: Selects

Light ______ 1,840 Light fats ______ 699. Heavy fats -----Sows 123 Stores A total of 4.154 hogs, of which only 1,398, or about 33 per cent, were suitable for the manufacture of first-class export bacon. If the trade-in Canadian bacon is to be increased or even maintained at its present volume. it is absolutely necessary that only hogs of proper weight and quality be sent to the packing
