American Humorists.

The distinction between wit and hu-nor is this-but on second thoughts we will not go into the subject. It has been discussed before, and like the Schleswig-Holstein question and the Alabama difficulty, it is slightly confused. Whatever the subtle line that defines their qualities, the distinction is there, and each one draws it to suit his taste. American humor is a thing in presses a doubt of the genuineness of a monkish legend, but admits a capacity of credulity that makes the subject of it inexpressibly ridiculous. He wanders through Europe and the Holy Land, a modern iconoclast armed with the weaonly a touching delight in the know-real crown of thorns or the genuine boot-jack of a sainted crusader. No man after him can invest with serious interest the cherished hambugs of the Old World, as no one before him ever caught the true way of exposing them.

In a similar style, though with less ability, the "Rev. Petroleum V. Nasburlesque sentiment pervades nearly all the fugitive paragraphs in the American press. George D. Prentice was the father of paragraph writing. His condensed sentences contain material enough to fill each one a column, but are only effective by their pith and brevity. Bret Harte has the same rare faculty of saying much in little. He is a humorist with the true humorist's under current of sentiment. The marvellous poem "Jim," which is by far his best effort in dialect, is in itself an Irving was delightful, like Holmes of The Elections.

The contest yesterday was well fought out. From the moment the polls opened the friends of the candidates worked with an energy and determination never before witnessed in St. John. In every Ward in the City the ground was contested manfully, nothing being left undone on either side. Up to eleven DeVeber men having made their grand climax best illustrated in the quaint o'clock the vote stood about even, the charge at an early hour and with such vigor as to astonish Mr. Tilley's friends. It is difficult to correctly estimate the value to Mr. DeVeber's side of this brilliant coup, for, while it undoubtedly inspirited his adherents and enabled them to dispose at an early hour of some unreliable voters, it at the same time stirred up the Tilley party to more vigorous and active measures than they might otherwise have taken It was, however, a notable incident of the election and worthy of special mention. Considering the intense feeling of the contending parties, and the issues at stake in the election, the day passed off very quietly. One or two blows were struck in King's and Wellington Wards, and in the evening there was some loud talk in the bar-rooms, but with these exceptions there was no violence shown nor were any attempts made to intimidate The election, as a whole, was so peaceors in our City, and reflected the highest credit on the holders of the franchise The result was not disappointing to the leaders on either side, except as regards the extent of the majority. Mr. DeVeber's friends had an assurance of polling a heavy vote, but his best informed supporters were not over confident of vica thorough canvass and saw no prospect of victory being imperilled. The scenes for the decline of Southern chivalry, tory. Mr. Tilley's supporters had made at the polling booths, the meetings, speeches, the torch-light procession, the Victoria Hotel gatherings, Mr. Tilley's reception, the serenade by the City Band to Messrs. Tilley, Burpee, Palmer and Elder, are alluded to in the morn ing Press. It is safe to say that the excitement and jollity of last night were utterly without parallel in the City's lant and honorable manner; the contending hosts having argued, discussed, dissected and disposed of the leading causes of grievance as between Govern ment and Opposition, and the merits and demerits of all the candidates, it is to be hoped that business, temporarily suspended, will resume its accustomed channels; that personal friendships, temporarily disturbed, will be cemented afresh; and that all will unite their energies for the common good. It is tolerably certain that the Government with which our City member has joined his fortunes will be sustained throughout the Dominion, and our duty to our Province demands that we should utilize the Government and its influence as much as possible for our local interests. In reference to legislation on the Tariff, on Shipping, on Elections, on Public Works, on the Manufacturing Interests, etc. we should be in a position to require that our special interests shall not be over-looked, and this we can only attain by our members giving the Government a fair support,—certainly not a ble only to the cultivated palate, and is factious opposition. There are immense revenues to be expended by the Dominion; there are great public improvements still needed in this Province; there are "Better Terms" still to be fought for and secured :- and a score of other important measures to be dealt with. and as we will have a larger and a and as we will have a larger and a much abler representation in the Cominventions of humanity, apart from fumons than before, we may reasonably nerals, the dreariest, dismalest, saddest expect that our influence in the councils of Canada, properly directed, will be greater in the future than it has been in the past. It only requires that we should forget the old causes of contention and give to the men whom we have elected.-men who received the votes of all classes and creeds and political beliefs,—that loyal support to which they are entitled, to enable them to battle for our rights and win those triumphs. which energy and persistency, wisely

The First Gun-Sumner's Manifesto-Banks Backslides-Soldiers on the Stump-A Fraternal Epistle, Etc.

BOSTON, Aug. 6. The first gun of the campaign has fired blank cartridge. North Carolina has spoken in very ambiguous terms, the reports being conflicting and the result, at the present writing, undetermined, altho it is pretty certain that the Reform party have achieved a small success, the which, like wise tacticians, they are making the most of. Senator Sumner's letter to the col ored people was issued on the evo of the ntest, too late to affect much the result of the election, but time enough to do serious damage to the Administration party in this section. Numerous replies have been evoked from his opponents, and many and bitter are the comments it excites. Speaker Blaine's answer, penned with more warmth than discretion, has provoked the Senator than discretion, has provoked the Senator. Sumner by Brooks of South Carolina is sharply criticised, and the outrage itself to his case. He would vindicate the outsharply criticised, and the outrage itself spoken of in a tone of magnanimity hardly to be expected from the victim. Mr. Sumner declares that even when enduring his long suffering from that assault no harsh word against Preston Brooks ever lell from his lips, and says that he does not now propose to denounce his assailant when the quarrel and its originator are past and dead. The latest defection from the Grant party is that of our Massachusetts representative and ex Governor, General Banks, who briefly announces his conversion to who briefly announces his conversion to him, as he was determined to reform.
