The Monument of the Future!

"The only imperishable material for monumental work is White Bronze, it is artistic, elegant, and inexpensive.—N. Y. Herald.

"Metal possesses many advantages over stone for monumental arposes aside from its greater durability; the positive assurance of the raised lettering or inscriptions remaining legible for ages is itself worthy of appreciation, as the value of any monument lies in its ability to legibly retain its record. The monuments are made with removable tablets, for the purpose of adding inscriptions in the future. White bronze is also free from the discoloring influences of trees or growths of moss or mildew, and is not effected in the least by the elements of the atmosphere, so destructive to stone,— Scientific American, vol. 53, page 304.

The Miscrics of Selfimportance.

Observe how self-importance makes a man moody and unhappy. He who is always thinking of his own excellencies renders himself thereby unfit to enjoy the good of others, and is prone to imagine that every token of affection given to another is an insult offered to himself.
Hence he is touchy, sensitive, irritable, and envious. He takes offence when none is meant, and even when those around him are not thinking of him at all, he interprets their conduct as if it were studiously discourteous, and goes

A good, true story now current in New York tells how a young assistant minister of a Fifth Avenue church, has made his way rapidly into great social favor.
He did it by making the influential la dies of his congregation believe that they were responsible for the best points in his sermon. In making a pastoral call, and when the conversation turned on religious topics, de would pick out some utterance of his hostess, declare it ad. mirable, and promise to use it on the ensuing Sunday. On that occasion she would proudly hear him introduce an embellished form of the conceit, with such an introduction as "One of the

There is no surer way to make ourselves miserable than to think of ourselves more highly than we cought to think. It isolates us from all about us. It cuts us off alike from human sympathy and divine assistance.

Lise "Maud S." Condition Powders for Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Hogs and Poultry. Three things that are as good as the best—brown bread in famine, well water in thirst, and a gray cost in cold.

(Alas! even doctors don't know everyman sympathy and divine assistance. It makes us very Ishmaels, our hands against every man, and every man's hand apparently against us. It gives a jaundiced hue to the behavior of those who, so far from meaning to do evil to us, have our interests at heart, and love us, have our interests at heart, and love us with self-sacrificing affection. The man who has a wound about him, no matter where it may be, feels it to be always in his way. Let him do what he the constantly making, is overlooking small opportunities and waiting for great of the constantly making, is overlooking small opportunities and waiting for great constantly making, is overlooking the constantly making the ways in his way. New Edition, complete in 28 Royal Octavo volumes, containing all information down to 1887.

The Latest, The Cheapest, and The Best. C. C. Richards & Co.,

THE LATEST.—A corps of contributors who hold the foremost rank in Science and literature, both in Europe and America are employed on this work the year round. And a new volume is added annually, recording the progress in literature, in the acts, in science, and the social, political, religious, commercial and in fustrial developements to the latest possible date. It never becomes old. Hence it is the latest.

developments to the latest possible date. It never becomes old. Hence it is the latest.

THE CHEAPEST.—It is a well selected library in itself, presenting a panoramic view of all human knowledge, from the earliest time to the present day. It is the only complete new and exhaustive cyclopædia in the English language. Its annual volume keeps it completely abreast of the times, and precludes the necessity of buying other books. Hence it is the cheapest.

THE BEST.—It is prepared by the ablest writers and scholars in every department of knowledge. It is impartial, doing justice to all men, all creeds, and all countries. Space is everywhere duly proportioned to the subjects. Its range of subjects embraces more than all other cyclopædias combined, and any point is instantly available by means of an elaborate analytical index. Hence it is the best,
