

MENT.

SICK.

Authors of Europe and the healing properties of water in their cures and throughout the centuries promote the study of medicine,
and contrive to cure disease,

and contrive to cure disease,

and contrive to cure disease.

AND EVANGELICAL WITNESS,

is issued every Saturday, from Hammon's Printing Office,

South Side Queen Street,

AY.

DAVID LAIRD, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

Taxes—Twelve Shillings if paid within the First year

after being taken, or from the date of the last payment; Twelve

Shillings and Sixpence if paid within the Second half year;

otherwise. Taxes remaining to be collected.

Advances interest on the amount due.

To prevent disappointment, all advertisements should be sent to the Office before 8 o'clock on Friday.

TICKLES.

are produced in the appeals of the pulpit, and graves of the dead.

EYESPELAS.

and agonizing disease, yet

increasing, the feverish

symptoms of this malady.

STIFF JOINTS

real waters, lotions, and

pastes. Fever Sores heal

digging open contract-

THERS.

affords from external injuries specific for burns,

and internal diseases of fever.

TICKLES.

with the happiest effects the skin diseases resul-

tive.

It is largely and diligently used in the spring from evanescent

are invaluable in infant-

feet, and it gives greater and enduring curing pain-

, resulting from exposure

TURNS, SCALDS.

d manufacturing industry

is in any other, than in the same

and the same

made to end fatally from the most powerful

burns, and excesses of any fever, in fact, every

and who is there except!

physical dangers which encourage.

FISTULAS.

, in healing Ulcers of the nose, appendages,

and fistulas, we have

the world, that any effort sufficient to cure the

and cure.

be used in the following

Stiff Sores

Thrush

Skin Diseases

Scrofula

Tuberculosis

Ulcers

Wounds

Yaws

of patients in every dis-

taking the larger sizes.

Professor HOLLOWAY, 244,

; also by all respectable

throughout the civilized

14d. 2s. 6d. 6d. and

1s. 6d. and your budge-

on please.

Complaints of Nervous and character, such as Neu-

ritis, Rheumatism,

Inflammation, Tendonitis,

B. W. Complainants,

and Neuralgic Sick

Nervous dispositions, and

Loss of Sleep."

constant to the short

paroxysms, when aggravated

or prolonged,

and especially for all HAN-

PAPATIONS.

LECTIC PILLS, without the making a meal of such, will

a single Pill, produce all the relief.

HYGIC.

to make trial of the above

are tributary by which real declaration is that such con-greater justice, is to procure to be found with all dealers.

A. P. BOSTON,

Boston, Mass.

for Private Education and Instruction, and M. W.

dealers throughout the Island

Pietro N. S.

SOAP &amp; C

Suds

Soap

Soap

Teeth Paste

A. S., WHICH ARE

in the hands of the Watch

for the Teeth, of the

UCH SOAP CAN BE MADE.

the aromatic flavor, imparted

gentle properties a which

the fluid matter and tantalous. They

most whitens

the teeth, and of those palefaces

never reddened until they are

CODESMIC

oth Brushes.

e extensively introduced the univ. Justinus, and are

GENERAL Co., Inventor,

RO. HAIR BRUSHES.

in City.

W. R. WATSON.

SOAP, recommended to the plated and silver ware.

W. R. WATSON.

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The tendency to unity which has already accomplished so much has by no means spent its force. The

proposals for union among Presbyterian bodies now

distinct are almost as numerous as the unions actually

accomplished. In New Zealand, those proposals have been so far accepted, that it is probable that in

November of this year the General Assembly of the

Presbyterian Church in New Zealand will be constituted.

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The tendency to unity which has already accomplished so much has by no means spent its force. The

proposals for union among Presbyterian bodies now

distinct are almost as numerous as the unions actually

accomplished. In New Zealand, those proposals have been so far accepted, that it is probable that in

November of this year the General Assembly of the

Presbyterian Church in New Zealand will be con-

stituted.

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Pope has at length obtained a measure of relief to his burdened spirit by the discharge of a flood of wrath, manifested in condemnation on all of every hand who think that Popery either admits or requires any kind of temporal power. The Allocution was full of good words to his mired audience, whom he commanded to proceed vigorously but warily against the heretics and the infidels, the "fabricators of fraud," the "liars" who dealt in spreading deadly poison under the guise of "odium hypocriti." The Holy Father exhorts them "to remove the faithful from the contagion of this plague; to turn their eyes and their hands from the pernicious books and journals; to instruct them in the holy precepts of our Saviour." Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

we forgot, while many extortions and deep ingratiations were in the work body, we argue in earnest, still we have every hope in the upper sanctuary. I thank you for your aid and family, who unite us of our heavenly Father, and now I remain, dear to God.

HENRY DANIEL.

completed its business—having sat for five hours present was not so here being only one injury of Halifax, and the having been necessarily to a family affliction. As to the roll—the Rev. Mr. Weston, formerly in consistory missed at this meeting, before the blank can addition to the usual several subjects of an were brought under the various sessions was this resolution passed no doubt will appear, of the House, we will

We will only mention scheme went a very easily been already introduced, will be observed in a McLean, the deceased Belfast, P. E. I., has $20. May the pious duty has left behind her, a public meeting of our Church was held Glasgow, at which the Missions, as well as advocated with great course of the present may render us in our distribution is in anxiety pleading, and is willing to pay McLellan's Mountain room, but very urgent for Prince Edward minister, and the case pressing. The truth is, give ample employment—and were they on true missionary spirit could be done by our own brought before the Syndicant of Education, and his great instrument of his Province justifies all thoughtful and patriotic behalf.

act of another attempt College, by converting

The Government are Our Presbyterian and the Church of Scotland

The object is certainly as yet has made too expressing any opinion

much, we deeply regret severely in one of their both the Rev. Mr Paton the Rev. Mr Matheson, as under circumstances been repeated almost entirely and trying one.—P.

doctrines held by the most versed divines, but Dr. Johnson has not been able to come to the conclusion that in pronouncing them the article of the Liturgy have been violated. Both are the denials of the Messianic elements in Hebrew prophecy; the rejection of the commonly received belief as to the authorship of particular books of Scripture—as the Book of Daniel, the Second Psalm, the Epistles to the Hebrews; and the interpretation in a figurative sense of the Hebrews. The last allegation of the Bishop of Salisbury, that "the tendency, object, and design of the whole Mass" is to inculcate a disbelief of the Divine inspiration and orthodoxy of the Holy Scriptures, is a heresy, justified by the statement, propitiatory, and the like, "referred to by the Court as unprecedented, and as contrary to the fair rule established by the Judicial Committee in the case of 'Burke v. Heath,' viz., that the words or writings which are called heretical must be believed; that the doctrine which they can affect by their meaning or convey, must be proved; and the particular Articles of Religion, or parts of them, asserted to be contravened, must be pleaded also."—See Times.

Secular Department.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

St. John's N. F., July 11.—The Norwegian was intercepted off Cape Race, at 11 a.m. on Friday. Left Liverpool on the 3rd, and Derry on the 4th.

The Sumer continues at Gibraltar, the two visitors a Algiers. The total Kaomo after two days visit to Gibraltar left for the West on 30th ult.

On last night, which ran the Charleston blockade, March 23, reached Liverpool with 300 bales of cotton, besides tobacco and robes.

Proceedings in Parliament unimportant. Diesel made a characteristic party attack on Gladstone's financial policy and budget. The latter spoke strongly in defence of his financial measures, and the critics of Bentinck attributed the disuse of the country to its inconsistent and inhuman policy in refusing to recognize the Confederate States. The House in Committee adopted a resolution in favor of Gladstone's various recommendations in the budget.

The naval force of ships and floating batteries continues to sweep stations.

The Government shipwrights are all transferred from wooden to iron vessels.

In the Commons, on the 2d, Mr. Birrell moved the second reading of the bill providing taking votes by ballot, and proposed a clause inserting the names of G. G. Gray opposed. The motion was rejected by 211 to 125.

The Times, in a leader on American affairs, says four main armies have advanced into the Confederate territory, but the South remains unconquered, and it is determined that the Federal forces are not accomplishing their purpose by gigantic efforts and at enormous cost, but by lavish waste of men and material.

"The Courier's" Nem.—Under this heading the New York Independent, which was supposed to be a firm supporter of President Lincoln's Administration, thus speaks out regarding his policy since the late returns of the election: "We can give one estimate:—

"The almost universal silence of the press on the days of battle, the rebel loss was over 75,000 men.

Discarding all these contradictory and exaggerated estimates, we make the following guess for the benefit of readers whose means of information may be less than ours:

That the three corps d'armes of the Federal army, with reserves and independent corps, all under General McClellan, number 90,000 effective.

That the Southern forces, including the old Mexican army (80,000), the new conscript levies (40,000), and the columns of "Stonewall" Jackson (50,000), was actually much larger than the Federal army, as the bodies in the Southern services are now much more concentrated than those of the Union army.

As to the losses. Judging by the published statements of loss in certain divisions and regiments, and by the lists of killed and wounded, it would not be surprising if the entire Federal loss from the commencement of the battle to its close, footed up the prodigious number of 40,000 men in killed, wounded and prisoners; and that of these three-fourths at least fell on the two great engagements of Friday and Monday.

"It is time that the dangerous silence of this country was broken, and that papers and popular assemblies speak out, and speak openly. To be sure, there is danger of faction, of exciting discord among the Government. But we must take the risk. Silence breeds dangers than dissension. Corrupt men like to burrow and plot when it is deemed unwise to debate matters."

In the first place, we have a right to demand of the Government the annunciation of a clear Policy; or, if they may have none, we have a right to know, in order that one may be supplied to them by the people. To be sure, we are to put down rebellion: to maintain the Constitution and the law: to bring back the states to their allegiance: these are noble works. But we must be in them honest men. Power corrupts. It burns like fire.

"It is time that the dangerous silence of this country was broken, and that papers and popular assemblies speak out, and speak openly. To be sure, there is danger of faction, of exciting discord among the Government. But we must take the risk. Silence breeds dangers than dissension. Corrupt men like to burrow and plot when it is deemed unwise to debate matters."

"The Government seems to us to be in the position of men who don't know what to do, and are afraid that the people will find out. There seems to us to be a want of leadership, of a clear policy, of a definite aim."

"The Government persists in pointing out that the presence of the ex-King Francis II., at Rome is a source of disorder. He believed Napoleon also shares this conviction, and perceives the necessity of providing against its continuance, but difficulties cannot all be avoided."

The Roman Ambassie, bearing official recognition of the Kingdom of Italy by Russia, arrived at Turin King of Portugal.

A Portuguese Envoy arrived at Turin to ask officially for the hand of Princess Maria Pia of Savoy for King of Portugal.

The new Bonaparte conspiracy has been discovered at Naples. Several arrests have been made. It is reported that Garibaldi was about to visit Naples.

Spain.—The statements made in the French Chamber by M. Billault with regard to Mexico, had aroused great indignation among the friends of Gen. Prim.

British and American News.

United States.

St. John, July 15.—Another Federal regiment has surrendered at Mumfreesboro', Tennessee.

The Confederates are stated to be advancing upon Nashville. Union reinforcements are rapidly arriving there, and greatest excitement prevails among the citizens.

Morgan's (Confederate) force is reported to have crossed the Kentucky River, and to be marching toward Louisville (Kentucky) is a most marauding law.

A despatch from Vicksburg says that the bombardment is tremendous and increasing. The inhabitants have taken refuge in the woods.

Gen. Curtis, it is stated, cut a piece of hundred Contingent to Louisville.

The iron-clad in course of construction at Richmond has been greatly strengthened. The batteries are iron-clad.

The recent rains have very considerably weakened the obstructions in James river.

The news of the Confederates to Richmond has caused dissatisfaction there, as it was given out that they would attack McClellan.

The President has submitted his bill to Congress, in furtherance of voluntary emancipation.

St. John, July 16.—President Lincoln has not approved of the Confiscation Bill. He has requested a prolongation of the session of Congress, and the request has been referred to the appropriate committee.

The Border States representatives will reply to the President's Emancipation proposition, declining to endorse it, and disagreeing with the President that its non-acceptance by the Border States will prolong the war.

There was a general holiday held yesterday in New York city, consisting of from fifty to one hundred thousand persons, who were all unanimous for a vigorous prosecution of the war, and repelling any foreign interference, and maintaining the traditional policy of the nation.

Gen. Curtis's army of fourteen thousand men had arrived at Hatteras, North Carolina, having won the victory in every attack made upon him.

The movement of General Bragg's army (Confederate) in the state of Mississippi, indicates operations on their part.

General Morgan's (Confederate) Guerrillas are actively operating in Kentucky.

St. John, July 16 (cont'd.)—It is rumored that the President is preparing a veto message on the Confiscation Bill. Trumbull thinks he will sign, but recommends supplemental bill to remedy defects.

Reports of proposed changes in Cabinet are credited.

Guerillas have fallen backwards at Mobile, and are doing damage to New Orleans. Citizens are actively soliciting the release of slaves, and relatives arriving.

Confederate loss at Mumfreesboro' battle 50 killed, 300 wounded. Federal loss somewhat less.

Halleck's army at Corinth reported in excellent condition.

The St. John "News," of the 16th, contains extracts from American papers of Monday morning last.

The Federal regiments—the 9th Michigan and the 2d Minnesota—were attacked at Mumfreesboro', Tenn., on the 13th ult., by 2,000 Georgians and Texans. There was considerable fighting, and capture of one of the Federal regiments; two generals, a colonel, and other officers were taken prisoners. The city of Nashville was in great danger of being re-taken.

Proceeded to Washington to the trial of the day, and to Sedgwick, and all must be measured.

The Confederates have made a descent upon the town of Memphis, in Northern Mississippi, and captured it, carrying away 90 Union citizens.

THE PROTESTANT, AND EVANGELICAL WITNESS

Bands of Confederates 2,000 strong under Col. Morgan, are operating in Kentucky at Harrodsburg and Danville, threatening extensive raids in Louisville on account of their proximity to it, and the arrival of the State are being removed from these.

Further and "mysterious" demonstrations are being made by Confederate cavalry in front of the Federal army.

Two days ago

the Boston Advertiser

described

the

as

the</p