Home-made Bread

THE kind that comes from the oven a symphony in golden brown, a study in tantalizing fragrance.

And when the light, fluffy, flaky slices are piled high on the plate—

What a sight to tempt the appetite!

What a wholesome tastiness to appease it!

"Her bread's a treat."

Isn't that enough to stir a housewife's heart?

It's a tribute not only to her skill in mixing and baking, but also to her discernment in the selection of her flour. And the housewife who knows selects Rainbow Flour—

Because Rainbow Flour is good flour. She can depend on it. It helps her to get the very best results, always.

Beautiful Cynthia;

Victory After Many Defeats.

CHAPTER XXXIII.
THE REPENTANT SINNER.

"No; nothing that you have not heard," said Cynthia, with a sigh, "but—"

Lady Alicia shook her head. "It is only a hope, an idea?"

"A conviction," said Cynthia, solemnly.

Lady Alicia stared at her, then she shook her head.

"There is no hope," she said, in a hollow voice. "He is dead. And my heart, all that to me is worth living for, died with him. I meant to keep from you the knowledge of the part I played; but—but I have been ill; I was half mad for a time, and Northam's letter worked on me. I felt that, if I were to have any peace, I must come and tell you, Cynthia. You will think hardly of me, won't you understand?"

Cynthia leaned forward, her eyes moist, her breath coming painfully.

"Ah, but I do, I do!" she said, with sad earnestness. "You acted wickedly, selfishly; but—but—oh, do you think I do not know, I who love him, how greatly you were tempted? To lose Darrel! To see a chance of winning him— Oh, I understand. I understand!"

Lady Alicia stared at her. "Then you—forgive me, Cynthia!" she faltered.

"Yes; forgive and—pity!" responded.

ed Cynthia gravely, her eyes dwelling pityingly on the white face, the twitching lips.

Lady Alicia arose. "You—you are a good woman, Cynthia; I had almost said a saint," she murmured brokenly. "Another woman, hearing of what I had done, would have cursed me."

Cynthia shuddered and held up her hand.

"Don't!" she breathed. "I have no bitterness in my heart. There is no room for that," she added, with simple pathos. "It is too full of him. I know that he is not dead. I am going to find him."

Lady Alicia's self-possession broke up, and the tears welled slowly to her eyes.

"God help you; help us both, Cynthia," she said, in a low voice. "You have still more to suffer; for—"

"You will not accept the dreadful truth. It will be all the harder to bear when it is forced on you. I will go now. I—I am glad I came, though you will never know the effort it cost me to face you, to confess."

She stood for a moment, looking at Cynthia; then she turned away; but Cynthia rose and laid her hand on her arm.

"When I said 'forgive,' I meant that I forgave you fully," she said, in a low voice. "You asked God to help you. If I did not believe that He will—ah, but I must keep on hoping. I must, I must! Good-by, Lady Alicia."

Summoning all her strength of will, she drew her fellow sinner toward her and kissed her. Lady Alicia quivered in every limb, then suddenly her head dropped on Cynthia's bosom, and the two women held each other in a mutual embrace; then Lady Alicia drew herself from Cynthia's arms, made her way to the door, and passed out—passed out of Cynthia's life for many years.

CHAPTER XXXIV.
THE SALE.

On his way to the sale the next morning, Northam called at the cot-lege to inquire after Cynthia, and heard that she was better; that, indeed, she was dressed and downstairs. But he did not go in; for the sight of her tearless misery and, worse, the baseless hope, as he considered it, which alleviated that misery, were too hard for him to bear.

As he drew near to the entrance to the Court, he saw that the sale had attracted a large number of people, who were strolling about the drive or clattering over the house.

The hall in which the sale was to take place was crowded, and a murmur of excited talking and laughing rose like the hum of a hive of bees.

His entrance, of course, attracted considerable attention, and Northam took to a corner of the hall and leaned against the wall, his face and manner as impassive as usual; so listless and uninterested, in fact, that the other spectators concluded that he had come to look on merely.

Presently he saw Mr. Burridge and Sampson, accompanied by the auctioneer, come from the library.

Old Burridge's face wore its usual childlike expression; his thick lips hung loosely, and his eyes regarded the crowd, which stared back at him with interest, as if he wondered why they had all come.

Sampson, on the other hand, was undignifiedly elevated; he had a half-smoked cigar in his lips, and he bestowed an arrogant, condescending nod here and there, as he pushed his way through the crowd toward a chair at the table below the auctioneer's rostrum. He suddenly caught sight of Lord Northam in his comparatively quiet corner.

Mr. Sampson's never at any time pleasing countenance was rendered still more unprepossessing by a scowl. But presently, forcing a smile he turned and thrust his way to Northam's side.

"Mornin', my lord," he said, with a mixture of covert insolence and servility which made Northam's big toe itch. "Glad to see you, of course; but I'm afraid if you thought of picking up a bargain or two you'll be disappointed."

"As how, Mr. Burridge?" asked Northam, with his impassive drawl; but with a certain something in his look which drove the insolence from Sampson's manner and voice as he answered:

"Well, you see, the conditions of the sale have been altered, my lord. The auctioneer—a first-rate man, my lord, one of the best—and my father, who is the mortgagee, have decided to offer the whole thing in two lots;

the estate first, and the furniture and effects in a second lot; the purchaser of the first to take the second by the usual valuation, if he cares to do so. You see, the person who buys the house and estate may like to purchase the furniture and the rest of it—to take the whole show, you know."

"I see," said Northam. "A very good arrangement, Mr. Burridge."

"Glad you think so, my lord," said Sampson, his insolence coming back to him. "Hope you'll make a good bid for the whole thing. 'Fraid we shall come out badly, however, high the bidding goes. Real estate is ruling low on the market just now. In fact, properties are going for next to nothing. And I'm afraid we shall be left with the rickety old place on our hands, worse luck!"

"Yes? Wish you all the luck—you deserve, Mr. Burridge," said Northam, in an utterly expressionless voice.

Sampson glanced at him with his small, shifty eyes, forced a smile, and pushed his way back to the table. The auctioneer, a keen, hawk-faced man repped with his hammer for silence, and opened the sale with a very curt and brief eulogium of the property.

"No need for me to say more, gentlemen," he said, in a pertentious fashion. "You all know the Court—it's well known as one of the grandest and most beautiful estates in England; fine ancestral mansion standing in extensive and grandly wooded grounds, with several good farms attached, and all let to responsible tenants. Late the property of Sir Anson Frayne, deceased; and to be sold at the instance of the mortgagee. I shall offer the estate in one lot, and give the purchaser the option of taking the second lot at valuation."

Murmurs rose, for many persons had come, some from London, in the hope of buying portions of the furniture of the pictures, and so on; but the auctioneer used his hammer again and silenced the complainers.

"Now for Lot one," he said, his harsh, strident voice echoing through the grim old hall. "I'll take a bid for Lot one. You will know about what it's worth, though, to speak frankly, times are bad. Give us a bid, please."

Silence. "Is it cautiousness or shyness? No one ventures? Then I'll open the ball."

He named a sum which represented about a quarter of the value; but no one bettered the bid for some moments, and the hammer was going down when Northam nodded. The auctioneer looked surprised, but instantly called out the sum. Old Burridge just raised his eyes, and the auctioneer raised the amount by a hundred pounds; Northam nodded again. The people craned their necks to get a sight of the man who possessed the temerity to bid against Mr. Burridge, but were puzzled; for Northam's face was like that of one carved from wood.

Mr. Burridge raised his eyes again, and continued to raise them, as Northam persistently bid against them. Burridge was as calm as a block of ice, but Mr. Sampson was getting hot and restless, and he bent his head and whispered in his father's huge ear:

"What's his name? Is he going to outbid us? What?"

Old Burridge's thick lips moved slowly.

"Keep quiet," he muttered, as he nodded again.

Northam's higher bid promptly followed; the bidding rose quickly but steadily; half the value was reached; the sum increased, nearly the whole value had been bid by Northam. For the first time Burridge glanced in the direction of his opponent; and the old man's eyes were bland and childlike no longer. The spectators of the duel were growing more excited at every bid.

"Dear me, if old Burridge ain't met his match!" muttered an old farmer, one of the old servants of the Court; and his wrinkled face grew still more wrinkled by the grin of hope. "I'd give my best cow, aye, that I would, to see him bested!"

"Not he!" retorted a fellow servant who stood beside him. "He won't let the old place be snatched from his claws. 'Tother chap—he's a fine gentleman, as all can see—will give in 'fore Burridge. The old devil won't lose his hold of the Court. We all do know that he's set his heart on it, he and Master Sampson; dang 'em both."

The auctioneer, evidently ill at ease and by no means elated by the vigor of the contest, called the latest bidding and waved his hammer.

My Digestion Is Now Good

And I Feel Like a Young Man Since Using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Prof. A. T. Smith, 1 Mt. Charles street, Montreal, and formerly of Boston, Mass., writes:—"I suffered for many years from bad digestion, constipation and horrible backaches. I have been treated by many doctors without any results. One day a friend in Boston advised the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. After using two boxes I noticed great improvement, and after the fourth box I was completely cured. My digestion is good. I never feel any pain in the back. My head is clear and I feel like a young man. I think Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are one of the best medicines on earth."

Dear Sirs,—I have found Zam-Buk most reliable for healing cuts and abrasions; while for the relief of skin irritation it is invaluable.

How Zam-Buk Cures Burns.
Stoker Kingsnorth, of H.M. First Class Cruiser "Cochrane," says: "One day I fell with my arm on an exhaust steam pipe, which fairly frizzled the skin. At once the ship's surgeon dressed my arm, but from the first, the burns took the wrong way, owing to a lot of coal dust and dirt from the pipe having got embedded in the flesh and setting up blood-poison."

"For weeks I remained under treatment, but the ordinary ointments proved no good for my arm. Indeed, I got worse, and I became alarmed at the spreading of the poison. I therefore obtained a supply of Zam-Buk and almost as soon as this was applied I got ease. From the very first application, healing commenced, and a few boxes of Zam-Buk healed my wound completely."

Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, blood-poison, festering sores, pimples, eruptions, cuts, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. See box all druggists and stores, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Try Zam-Buk Soap, 50c. tablet.

Take Someone Your Own Size.

Below is a letter which came to me too late to be used in our "spank" symposium, but which is too good not to pass on: "I rarely spank our little girl," writes my letter friend, "and last night was the first time I ever did so without having her on the carpet and giving her a fair trial. In this way I usually convince her that she should be punished. Sometimes of course I lose my case, but why shouldn't I? She has often shown me that I was wrong."

BY RUTH CAMERON. I pressed my regret and sorrow to the one I had wronged. Please observe the fine justice this father showed in always discussing the offense with his daughter, but please more especially observe this frank confession, "and of course like a man I gave vent to my wrath on my family."

Wonderful Cures Reported in Germany.

The use of simple herbs as remedies instead of the more concentrated and usually more dangerous inorganic substances, has been revived very widely of late. In Germany a new school of physicians has arisen which throws out almost a whole of the pharmacopoeia and relies on an adaptation of the method of wild animals in curing themselves.

Household Notes. It will give it a soft, steady light and will burn all night. Excellent griddle cakes can be made with a small quantity of boiled rice left over.

Newfoundland Herring.

Mr. Simonsen, the Norwegian attached to the Fishery Department, offers several suggestions in his report to the Minister which he deems would be of great advantage, if adopted, in Newfoundland. He is of opinion that the herring fishery can be made a great industry in this country. He declares, however, that "the curing and pickling in barrels must be improved, in order to compete with other countries, and meet the requirements of the different markets to which I am in hope Newfoundland herring will find their way in large quantities. The compulsory branding of all herring exported in barrels from Newfoundland by a Government Inspector will tend to improve their market value, provided that such an Inspector understood and performed his work properly."

Similar opinions have been offered before and like advice given time out of number by others. The ruin of the Labrador herring market in Canada by bad packing has been told time and again. But the admonitions appear to pass unheeded. An attempt was made by the last Liberal Administration to deal with the situation and do something worth while with the herring industry, but the attempt was made the target of political attack and although Sir Edward Morris promised to encourage the herring industry, nothing has been done by his administration.

In the N. Y. Fishing Gazette received yesterday shows how necessary it is that greater attention should be given to the matter of packing if Newfoundland herring is to obtain and retain a market value worth such adverse statements and comments must materially improve our trade and it behoves those interested and the Government to give heed to the warning. Here is the statement to which we refer:—

"The situation with regard to herring remains about the same.
Practically the only stocks obtainable at Halifax are Newfoundland spring herring, which were bought around $2 a barrel, and have not brought much profit to the holders.

Shipments of these fish, made to the West Indies, have in many cases had to be thrown overboard because of their bad quality.

"The Maritime Merchant" states that a member of the trade, discussing the herring question, said that Newfoundland packers had claimed that the whole trouble with their fish in the Halifax market was that buyers allowed their herring to remain outdoors during hot weather. "This," he said, "may have been true of some cases, but there are other cases where importing houses have put all their Newfoundland herring under cover as soon as they have arrived and yet have had them turn out badly. Some of the Halifax importers recently made a request of the St. John's Board of Trade to send an inspector to various outports to see these stocks and inspect them before shipment. We understand that this suggestion will be acted upon, with satisfactory results, we trust, to all concerned."

Judging also by the comment of Inspector Dee, not much can be expected in the way of profitable market until something better is provided in the way of herring barrels. We call these remarks from his report: "G.
H. Kampf, Esq., merchant of this city, has sent a shipment of about 200 barrels of our herring to the German market, with a view to testing their quality in that country and working up a profitable business in that direction, but the want of proper packages for such long distance shipment will, I fear, be a very great drawback to such an undertaking."

An Arizona Courtship.

Rossley's popular theatre last night was filled to the front door twice, and no wonder, for the Lorraine Buchanan Co., put on a great western playlet, the like of which has never been seen here before, the entire company taking part. It is one of Lorraine Buchanan's own sketches. It is the best thing they have done yet, and the audience were simply delighted with it. The new scenery was greatly admired, showing the interior of a log cabin. The singing of Billy Devau held the audience spellbound. He has a beautiful voice. The single turn by Chester Cook was heartily applauded.
The pictures are the best seen in a great while. Harry Ingram also sang a fine Irish song. There never was a better show at Rossley's than the "Arizona Courtship." While the orchestra with Prof. Ryall as leader is worth double the price of admission alone.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.
Notice to Steam Tug Owners.

Sealed Tenders, addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for towing Dredge to Port Nelson," will be received at this office until 10 o'clock on Thursday, the 19th June, 1913, for the towing and safe delivery of a steel suction dredge from Montreal to Port Nelson for the Hudson Bay Railway.

The Dredge which is of steel construction throughout is now being built for the Department of Railways and Canals by the Polson Iron Works Company and is to be delivered at the Port of Montreal on or about the 1st August next and is of the following dimensions, viz.:—130 feet long, 42 feet beam, with a loaded draught of between 7 and 8 feet.

The Contractor will be required to bear all expenses connected with the towing, "with the exception of insurance on dredge," and must provide capable navigating officers for both towing vessel and dredge, the latter having no propelling power of her own, and must also be prepared to enter into contract to take the dredge in tow at Montreal not later than August the 1st proximo, and to proceed forthwith to destination.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $1,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted. The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

BELVEDERE.

Its Beautiful Little Chapel.

(BY H. F. SHORTIS.)

If a Newfoundlander were to return to his native land, after an absence of fifteen or more years, and visit the sacred grounds of Belvedere, he would be surprised at the great improvements which have taken place, and all this may be attributed to the untiring efforts of the energetic committee in charge, ably assisted by the liberal donations of the Catholic people of St. John's. It is not my intention to particularize these improvements, nor could I do so with anything like full justice, with the limited space at my disposal in a newspaper article, but the amount of care and attention as well as the time devoted by the gentlemen of the committee, is to be commended and it justly meets with the warm approval of the Catholic people of the city. The same may be said with regard to the energetic committee who have charge of Mount Carmel. There also the grounds have been beautified—new walks opened up and everything kept in repair, so that both cemeteries, in a few years, will compare favorably with any others on this side of the Atlantic. A large and commodious house is now in course of erection at Belvedere, which will be occupied by the courteous and efficient caretaker, Mr. O'Toole. But it is with the beautiful and historic little Chapel at Belvedere that I have to deal in this article, and I shall endeavor to describe it, as it is, to the best of my ability.

Since the appointment of His Grace Archbishop Howley to the Diocese of St. John's, this beautiful little historic Church has been—one might say—re-built. The old tower had been taken down and replaced by a new one. The tower, as first attached to the Church, was built partly within the front of the building. The new tower differs from its predecessor, by standing out from the main building, which gives greater effect to its outline and proportions. The Church, as originally built, was not supplied with a vestry, but this want has been supplied in the new alterations. The new tower is much handsomer than the former one, being surmounted by a graceful octagonal bell chamber, and many other alterations have been made to the whole exterior of the building. This little Church may now be said to be a Gem of Art, and is not surpassed in Newfoundland, by any Church of its size, either in design or finish. The splendid Gothic windows and doors, which were made entirely by hand—the work of an Irish artisan named Walsh and his assistants—were found to be in an excellent state of preservation; and His Grace, Archbishop Howley, in order to preserve this splendid memento of architectural skill of over half a century ago, gave strict orders that it should be preserved at all costs. The Church is now substantially in every particular, having an entirely new retaining wall surrounding it, and the ground around it has been laid out with ample walks. The little Church is beautifully and artistically painted in various colors, and it would well repay one to walk out from the city if for nothing else, than to view this beautiful work of art, situated in the City of the Dead.

The interior of the little edifice has been decorated and beautifully painted in pink and gold, by Mr. George Gamburg. The sides and ends of the building have Gothic panels placed at certain intervals. All the windows and panellings beneath the windows are of grained oak. There has been a handsome chancel ralling added, also a ralling to the gallery. On the north end, over the Altar, there is a handsome scroll, upheld at either end by the figures of two angels, the scroll bearing the inscription: "I am the Resurrection and the Life." This is the work of His Grace Archbishop Howley, and is most artistically and tastefully finished.

The Altar is of the Gothic style, to correspond with the Church. The Altar Table is eleven feet long, by three and one half feet high. In the front are three panels, and in the centre one is the representation of the Lamb, Banner, Cross and Book, carved in wood—the former being done in silverleaf—the Banner in gold and the Cross crimson. The other two panels are quatre-foils, and the back of these panels are glass, painted. There are two breaks containing a Gothic panel each, with painted glass, the same as the quatre-foils; the frieze around the Altar Table is beautifully carved leaves and grapes. This has a really handsome appearance, and is supported by four pillars with carved capitals. The monogram in the centre of the frieze of the Altar centre represents the Immaculate Conception, the ground work of which is blue—the stars, letters and Cross are gilded. On each side of the Tabernacle is a column with carved capitals, etc., to correspond with the columns of the Altar Table. These are supporting nicely ornamented Gothic pinnacles, and upon each side of the Tabernacle, are steps to receive candle-sticks, etc. At the side of the steps are panels. There are three niches, each containing four columns with carved capitals, corresponding with those of the Tabernacle and Altar Table. The fronts of the niches are pierced with quatre-foils, etc., and the centre niche is surmounted by a Cross, and the side niche by nicely carved ornaments. These columns are also supporting pinnacles similar to those at the Tabernacle. Between the centre and side niches there are also panels, painted on glass. The panels in the Altar Table represent Malachite marble and are wrought on glass. The panels in Reredos are done to represent Siena marble. The shafts of the columns at the Tabernacle are of the same material, and the crockets and finials or pinnacles and gables over niches, and the Cross over the centre niche are all worked in gold. The centre panel contains a beautiful statue of Our Mother of Dolores (to whom the Church is dedicated). In the niche on the Gospel side is a statue of St. Michael and the one on the Epistle side is that of St. Gabriel. All the ground-work is supposed to represent white marble, and the shafts of the columns at the Tabernacle are made to represent the column of niches, being all of green marble. There are six beautiful candle-sticks about four feet eight inches high.

The Altar is the gift of a lady and her husband who are great admirers of the work performed by His Grace Archbishop Howley and who have been pleased with the work of the energetic committee. The statues are the gifts of three gentlemen. There are at present a number of pitch-pine pews, with kneelers and book-rests to match, designed from those of Westminster Abbey. The beautiful little vestry attached to the eastern end of the Church is entirely ceiled with beautifully dressed pitch-pine—the same as the main portion of the Church, neatly polished and varnished, giving the sacred precinct a most pleasing aspect.

The Altar is entirely the work of Messrs. Callahan, Glass & Co., and has been superintended throughout by Mr. John Callahan, the principal of that well-known firm, and the whole work reflects the greatest credit on his skill as an artisan, as well as for his painstaking attention to every detail of the work. It may be said that Mr. Callahan's first initiation into the work in which he subsequently excelled in so remarkable a manner, took place at the erection of the new historic Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, of Harbor Grace, which was destroyed by fire on September 2nd, 1889, the work on the dome of which was partly performed by him, and anyone of an artistic turn, who has seen that dome, must be ready to admit that it had no superior on this side of the Atlantic.

The idea of writing this little article is to show my fellow-countrymen in Canada and the United States (whose number, alas! is growing greater and greater every year) that those they have left behind them have not forgotten that beautiful plot in rear of the Cathedral grounds—known as Belvedere, where very few have not some dearly loved relative or some fondly cherished friend, whose bones are now resting in that beautiful and peaceful seclusion.

When the bells chime out at midnight on Christmas Eve throughout the continent of America, proclaiming to the world that a Saviour is born to mankind, the Newfoundlanders scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land, after reading this article, will be reminded at that hour that the good Sisters of St. Michael's, Belvedere, will have gathered together the fatherless and motherless little ones, who are their especial charge, and kneeling with them, at that solemn hour, will lift up their unsullied voices in supplication to Heaven, not only for those departed and who rest in solitude around them, but for Newfoundlanders who are still in the flesh and who are unwilling sojourners from their native land.

They will be reminded of the exultant strains of the Gloria in Excelsis, pealed forth from the grand organ and fifty voices of their own Cathedral in St. John's, and they will think with sentiments of gratitude, not unmingled with pride, of the Archbishop, who at that hour, clothed in the Pontifical robes of his sacred office, is celebrating Midnight Mass, which ecclesiastic is one of themselves—a native of dear old Terra Nova.

I feel sure that I may make no apology to my fellow-countrymen in the Provinces, or across the border, for the writing of this short article. It will be to them a stirring reminder of the past—old associations will be called up afresh, and I flatter myself that amongst the older and more thoughtful of my countrymen abroad, the reading of this little sketch will cause a moistening of the eyes, by the awakening of former scenes and associations, and if only for the year, no matter how fortunate their lots may have been in their own home, they will breathe a firm prayer to be permitted to view it, but for once, dear old Newfoundland again and kneel at the graves of those they loved so dearly; now at rest in the sacred soil of Mount Carmel or Belvedere.—(Requiescat in pace.)

Gentlemen,—In January last, Francis Leclaire, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his lips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

Killed by a Bomb
Editor Evening Telegram.
SHANGHAI, May 26.
General Hsu Kai San, generally known throughout China as the tiger who commanded the Yang Chow troops throughout the revolution, was killed yesterday by a bomb, sent him in a package. The General was a noted collector of pottery, and when he received the package supposed it contained certain objects which he had recently ordered. As he unfashioned the string the explosion occurred. He and a servant were blown to pieces. Hsu Kai was a staunch friend of Yuan Shi Kai, and cordially hated by the Kuo Ming Tang and Southern Radical Party.

DUNLOP TREAD
SEAL OF QUALITY
TRACTION

IF YOU KNOW CANADA YOU'LL WONDER AT THIS

Not a few motorists thought it would be impossible to cross Canada on tires. One can hardly blame them. These motorists had travelled over our Western country and knew the lamentable condition of the trails. They felt that no tires could be made which would stand up under such strains as the driver unwillingly would be forced to put on them.

The success of Dunlop Traction Treads proves that the trip was not impossible and that these tires are capable of doing anything which a rubber-made article could scientifically be expected to do. The driver of the car, F. V. Haney, says: "Dunlop Traction Treads never skidded once on that terribly exacting journey of 4,160 miles." Could a tire receive more enduring or more convincing praise than that?

Thomas W. Wilby, newspaper writer, who also made the trip, confirms Haney in his praise of Dunlop Traction Treads. These men ought to know. While they completed a trip which the average autoist will probably never undertake, at the same time, if Dunlop Traction Tread tires are not found wanting in the biggest test possible to give tires, it is pretty safe to say that they will more than make good in any test that every day use can give them.

Heroine Here.

There arrived here yesterday a heroine in the person of Mrs. McDonald, wife of the late Patrick McDonald, of Golden Bay, St. Mary's Bay. This woman a few years ago performed an act which undoubtedly marks her as a heroine, and particulars of which were exclusively given in the Telegram at the time. While in a very delicate state of health and while alone in the house with her four children, shortly after midnight one stormy night in December she heard cries for help coming from the angry waters near her home. Lighting a lantern and taking her children with her she dashed into the night and ran to the beach and regardless of her condition rescued Capt. Bond and others of the stranded schooner Galatia from a watery grave. The men had left the vessel in a small boat and in rowing for the shore were guided by Mrs. McDonald's lantern. Their lanterns went out in the rushing waters and all were struggling for life when Mrs. McDonald rushed into the water up to the shoulders repeatedly and dragged the whole three men into safety. Her little children by her command clung to her skirts to keep her from being washed into the deep water by the receding seas. Her clothing was frozen to her person when she returned to her home with the men, and her children were in a terrible plight. One man, Talk of Harbor Buffett, who was almost drowned would have died but for her kind ministrations. She kept Capt. Bond and the men in her home until they could travel. Mrs. McDonald who is a widow with four children dependent upon her is now in reduced circumstances. Her eldest boy is an invalid with spinal trouble. At the time we recorded her brave act we contended that it should be brought under the notice of the Carnegie people who reward such actions and we hear now that the members for the District will move in the matter. It's about time.

Narrow Escape From Death.

Mr. George Cranford, of the Southside, while at work at the Reid Co's machine shops, last evening, had a narrow escape from a horrible death, by being caught in a running machine. He was passing by some rapidly running machines when his clothing became caught and he was quickly drawn in amongst the cog wheels making desperate efforts to throw back a lever and stop the machinery. Mr. Jas. Pike, a fellow-workman, did this for him, and just in the nick of time. Mr. Cranford's clothing was torn into shreds and he was cut about the legs and bruised about the body, though his injuries fortunately were not serious. He was attended by Dr. Cowperthwaite. Had Pike not been near he must have been ground to death.

Constable Saves Boy From Death.

Plunging fearlessly into the waters of Burrard Inlet, Police Constable Hann, saved the life of little Andrew Erickson, who resides on Cordova street, last evening after the boy had fallen into the water near the North Vancouver ferry. The lad had gone down twice before the officer reached him, and he was just pulled out in the nick of time. Willing hands assisted the officer to land the boy. He was taken to his home and was soon completely recovered. Hann's fortune was regarded as particularly meritorious.—The Vancouver World.

The police Constable referred to above, was at one time, a member of our local Constabulary.

Mr. Thos. Fitzgibbon, of Flannigan & Fitzgibbon, who had been very ill for a few weeks past, is now almost recovered, a fact which his many friends in the city will be glad to hear.

Mr. Francis Hogan, of St. Brendan's, who for some time has been Relieving Officer and Postmaster there, will shortly remove with his family to St. John's to reside in future.

The s.s. Nevada, with 200 passengers, struck three mines in succession, yesterday, in the Gulf of Smyrna, and sank. Only 80 passengers and crew are reported saved. The mines were strewn in the coast waters of Asia Minor by the Turks to prevent attack by the Greeks during the Balkan war. The 50 were rescued by boats from the French cruiser Bohix, which was anchored in the harbor. The Nevada is the second passenger steamer sunk by mines in the Gulf within a week, and the fourth destroyed in this manner since the outbreak of the war. The others were the Texas, 480 tons, lost April 1912, 68 out of 139 lost, the majority Greek pilgrims from Jerusalem; on Wednesday last the Senegal, 5 killed and 6 injured; and in January the Turkish 'Hordores', a sailing vessel of 650 tons, was blown up at the entrance of Smyrna Bay.

Pasture for Cows

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Allow me space in your valuable paper to write a few remarks relative to cattle raising as practised in this country and also as regards cleanliness of milk as supplied to the community by some of the farmers around this town.

Firstly,—Mr. Editor, as regards raising of cattle, well, of course we all know that to be a farmer in this country where everything in the way of feed is so costly, a man needs

BY THE KING'S COMMAND.

His Excellency the Governor and Mrs. Davidson will "Receive" at Government House on Tuesday, the 3rd day of June, from 4 to 6.30 p.m., on the occasion of the Birthday of His Majesty the King.

W. H. DAVENPORT, Major,

capital and has to be at it from early till late to make anything out of it at all. Every farmer to keep cows should have plenty of pasture for them and no man should be allowed to keep cows and raise same unless he has a suitable place to keep them in where they will find plenty of pasture and grass suitable to produce good and pure milk, with which, to supply the wants of the town. Mr. Editor, how many of our farmers do not seem to have the necessary pasture? I think it is a disgrace to see so many cows roaming the roads trying to pick up a feed which they find it very hard to do, and out in all weathers. I think it brutal of the owners of them, and a number of these cows are owned by farmers who have plenty of land and pasture but prefer to turn the poor animals out while they try to grow enough to just tide them through the winter. Oh, you poor cows, you feed your master and his family but he does not care to look after you; oh, no, get out and get what you can in all kinds of weather, you are expected to give your full complement of milk and pure at that.

Secondly,—Mr. Editor, as regards cleanliness of milk. Can this milk be pure? I say no. The cows pick up every sort of disease on the road sides and we know what the grass is along side of same where dust and filth are always accumulating, and with this grass to eat can the cow be supposed, being half-starved trying to obtain a feed, to supply pure milk and milk free from disease. Mr. Brehm should look into this matter, it may look a small thing but there is a lot in it. Test the milk and see what it contains. The stables and dairies may be pure and clean but look at what the grass contains. If it was tested I guess the trouble of so much sickness would be found out and a great deal of it stopped.

Lastly,—Mr. Editor, I should like to know what law on our Statute Book permits persons to have their cattle at large to do as they please and destroy other people's property. It is not permitted in other countries, why should we permit it here. Farmers, if you have to call them so although they do not do credit to the name, who have cattle at large should be made either to keep them in bounds or sell them and not half starve them on the highways.

Trusting that this matter will be looked into without delay.
I remain, yours sincerely,
BOS.

Hot Air.

The man who deals in rain-bows, has come to town by stealth, to catch the village v a in beaux with tales of sudden wealth. I hear his gorgeous ravings, his winter dreams and sigh: "Bring me," he says, "your savings, and I will make you rich; I've coal mines in Nebraska (where coal does not exist), and peach groves in Alaska (no peaches there, I wish); the neektarins and prune shine on trees I have for sale, and I can sell you moonshine, so hand me out your kale." The easy marks are digging their kopecks from the jar, for hot air, never twigging what easy marks they are. They hope to rake in riches and never pay the price; a sucker always itches to be a sacrifice. I sidestep such disasters as these men have in view; to my hard-earned plasters I stick like patent glue. I cannot be enchanted by any hot air crank; my coin is safely planted down in the village bank. I buy no dazzling Opalrs a million miles away, no Belgian hares or gobbers in Fowls or Catfish; No fish in the Nyanzas, no ice plants up in Nome; no ginseng, arms in Kansas, no silk works far from home. I save my clammy roubles till there's a seemly pile, and sidestep lots of troubles, and dance and sing and smile.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Quite a number of Harbor Gracians and their friends availed of the Empire Day holiday to visit the town, among them being Miss Jessie Burgess, Miss Elsie Tetford and Miss Grimes, of St. John's; Messrs. Edward Gordon and Harris Oke. They returned to the city by this morning's train.

Master Malcolm Yetman, son of Mr. Clement Yetman, who has learned the business of telegraphy at the Anglo Office here, has secured a position with the Cable Co. at Heart's Content and takes up his work there on the 1st of June. Malcolm is a bright lad and is sure to succeed.

Our attention was called on Saturday night about 11 o'clock to a small horse owned by a grocery man and used in conveying goods to his customers. The poor animal was left standing on the street in the cold wind and rain and was an object of pity to the few people who ventured out on such a night. No doubt the police saw it too.

Rev. F. S. Coffin left by Saturday evening's train en route to his home in Charlottetown. The rev. gentleman's friends all denominated his regret his departure, but join in wishing him much success wherever his lot may be cast.

Mr. Malcolm Parsons, son of Mr. Alan Parsons, of St. John's, came to town on Saturday and spent Sunday with his friends here.

Mr. Graham Duff arrived from Parrsboro, N.S., on Thursday night to spend a few days with his parents. Graham's home coming was a very sad one, owing to the death of his sister, Miss Helen, to whom he was very much attached.

The members of the Sons of England held their annual church parade yesterday morning, attending service at Christ Church. A very suitable and able sermon was preached to them by the Rev. C. M. Steekings on the 6th chapter of Judges and 10th verse: "Go in this thy might, and thou shalt save Israel from the hand of the Michanites; have not I sent thee?"

Dr. W. H. Parsons expects to leave to-morrow on a visit to Canada, to occupy about three months. It is now six years since the doctor took up his practice here, and he has indeed had hard work. He goes now, not alone for a holiday or pleasure, as he will do some hospital work in some of the large cities, and the experience and further knowledge gained there he will use, he hopes, with advantage to his people on his return. Dr. C. Cron will attend to his practice during his absence and reside at Dr. Parsons' home.

Big Ben

Don't set your mind—set Big Ben

Don't bother your head about getting up. Leave it to Big Ben.

You ought to go to sleep at night with a clear brain—untroubled and free from getting up worries. You men, if you are up to date farmers, work with your brains as well as with your hands. Such a little thing as "deciding to get up at a certain time in the morning" and keeping it on your mind often spoils a needed night's rest and makes a bad "next day." Try Big Ben on your dresser for one week. He makes getting up so easy that the whole day is better.

Big Ben is not the usual alarm.

He's a timekeeper; a good, all-purpose clock for every day and all day use and for years of service.

He stands seven inches tall. He wears a coat of triple-nickel plated steel. He rings with one long loud ring for 3 minutes straight, or for 10 minutes at intervals of 30 seconds unless you shut him off.

His big, bold figures and hands are easy to read in the dim morning light, his large strong keys are easy to turn. His price, $3.00, is easy to pay because his advantages are so easy to see. Big Ben is sold in St. John's by the following jewelers:

Father Browne in Boston.

Special to Evening Telegram.
BOSTON, Mass., Yesterday. —Newfoundlanders of Boston gave Father Browne an ovation at the Boston College Hall last night. The building was packed with the most enthusiastic audience that ever gathered there. A large attendance of Boston clergy was there. Father Browne was introduced by the Mayor of Boston and spoke in following terms: Newfoundland. The Mayor is very popular with our people. The lecturer of the north was an eye-opener to Bostonians. Father Browne's reputation as a platform speaker was a revelation to the audience. He goes to Washington to then to Chicago and returns here in the middle of June.

The Oldest Colony Club of Mt. Allison.

The Oldest Colony Club in connection with Mount Allison University held its annual meeting for the election of officers in the Y.M.C.A. parlour on May 11th, at 1:30 p.m. The following officers were elected for the coming year:—
Dr. White (Moncton), Honorary President, re-elected.
W. H. Palmer, President.
W. B. Burden, 1st V.P.
F. D. Cotton, 2nd V.P.
R. A. LeGow, Secretary.
A. Pollard, Treasurer.

Our endeavor this year is to make the club a greater benefit to our island home, to our college, and to ourselves. There is one thing that we all feel proud of that is that as never before the youth of Newfoundland are becoming intensely alive to the possibilities that lie before them. They have been inspired by the accomplishments of those who were the playmates of their fathers, and their brothers and sisters. They are arguing this way—other boys are making good, and have made good, in all of the professions and callings of life; why cannot I? And they should be encouraged along this line. Every year ought to find new students from Newfoundland to one or other of the Universities of the Dominion. And why not come to Mount Allison? I ask this question merely for the sake of answering it, and in answering it, endeavor to set forth the merits of these institutions, for the benefit of those who may not be well informed, or who have perhaps been misinformed.

Mount Allison cannot make brains, but she can develop them, she has developed them, and throughout the whole of this broad Dominion, and elsewhere, her graduates are holding with credit to all concerned, most honorable positions in church and state. We might make mention of the Arts Course. It is the opinion of men, competent to pass unprejudiced judgment, that a B.A. degree from Mount Allison is equivalent to that of any other college in the Dominion. The students who this year worked the paper given in Freshman Mathematics at McGill last year found that it was not so difficult as any paper that has been given at Mount Allison for the past ten years. Then again this institution is connected with McGill in the completion of the Engineering Course. Third year men from all the colleges go to McGill to complete their course. Here is what the professors say of the men that Mount Allison has sent: "Mount Allison men made the highest record of any college in Canada in the examination of the Dominion. A whirlwind campaign to raise an Endowment of $200,000.00 has just been brought to a successful issue. Some of the money is to be used in providing scholarships and bursaries for successful students. It is also planned to raise an additional $50,000.00 for the building and fully equipping of a new Science Building. Newfoundlanders have been called upon to take a share in this worthy cause. Mount Allison has done much for our boys, and we feel sure that she is to play a large part in the intellectual culture of our land in the future. Another college year is fast closing in. This is Mount Allison's jubilee year. Lots of the old graduates are coming back for closing and a real good old time is in store for all.

Atlantic Lodge, No. 1 I.O.O.F., held its regular meeting last night. An official visit was paid by Bro. J. C. Phillips, D.D.G.M., who conveyed thanks to the Lodge, on behalf of Bro. J. A. Craig, of Yarmouth, N.S., Grand Master for 1912, for the reception given the latter gentleman when he was here last year. A night cablegram was also received and read at the meeting from Bro. Craig, conveying his best wishes to the Lodge. A return message was sent thanking him for his kindness in remembering Atlantic Lodge on the anniversary of his visit. Bro. J. C. Phillips was then presented with a beautifully inscribed jewel by Bro. W. T. Quick, on behalf of the Past Grand Master, for his valuable services in connection with the Order. A happy reunion brought the evening to a close.

BAMBRICK—MOLLOY.
A pretty wedding took place on Sunday last at St. Mary's, when Mr. Michael Bambrick, Road Inspector of St. John's, led to the altar Miss Lucilla Molloy, of that place. Rev. S. O'Driscoll performed the ceremony, and the bride who was attired in a handsome costume was attended by Miss Bonia, of St. Mary's, while the groom was assisted by Mr. P. Bonia. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served to a large number of the friends of the bride and groom, after which these happy personages left for Salmonier to spend the honeymoon there. Mr. Bambrick is one of the most popular officials in our City Council and his bride has hosts of friends both in the city and her native place. To Mr. and Mrs. Bambrick the Telegram extends its felicitations.

Splendid Show at the Nickel.

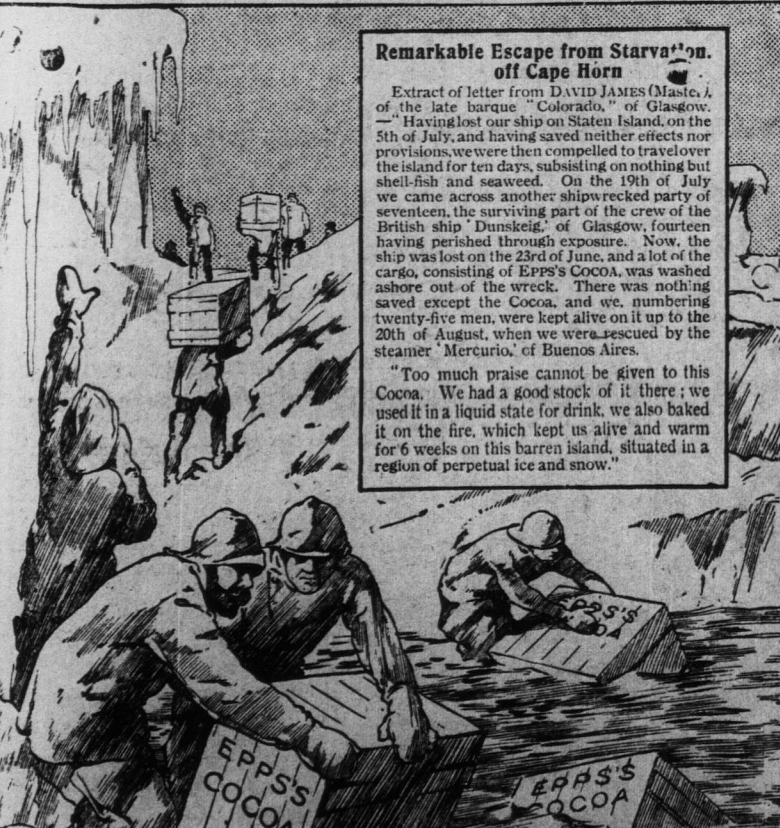

There was the usual large audiences at the Nickel Theatre last evening. The picture programme was a particularly good one and gave every satisfaction to the large number of ladies and gentlemen present. The Gaumont graphic had a number of interesting subjects including the Titanic when leaving Belfast on her first and only voyage. "Scenes in Cuba" is an educational travelogue showing the handling of the tobacco plants and sugar cane. "The Turning Point" is a drama such as is heard of every day in the large cities of America and Europe. "A Western Legacy" has lots of bright sparkling humour. "Just Like a Woman" is also an attractive film. Miss Gardner sang Girls Keep Away from the Fellow Who Owns an Automobile, and Miss Geavin, Ernest A. Ball's latest love ballad. To Have, to Love, to Leave. The programme will be repeated this evening.

League Football.

The opening game of the League Football fixtures will take place on St. George's Field, Monday evening next, when the Fildians and St. Bon's will face each other. Both teams have some good material in their ranks this year and a lively contest is anticipated.

Remarkable Escape from Starva Mountain.
Extract of letter from DAVID JAMES (Macleod) of the late barque "Colorado," of Glasgow.
"Having lost our ship on Starva Island, on the 5th of July, and having saved neither effects nor provisions, we were then compelled to travel over the land for ten days, subsisting on nothing but shellfish and seaweed. On the 15th of July we came across another shipwrecked party of seventeen, the surviving part of the crew of the British ship "Dunkeld," of Glasgow, fourteen having perished through exposure. Now, the ship was lost on the 23rd of June, and a lot of the cargo, consisting of Epps's Cocoa, was washed ashore out of the wreck. There was nothing saved except the Cocoa, and we, numbering twenty-five men, were kept alive on it up to the 20th of August, when we were rescued by the steamer "Mercurio," of Buenos Aires.
"Too much praise cannot be given to this Cocoa. We had a good stock of it there; we used it in a liquid state for drink, we also baked it on the fire, which kept us alive and warm for six weeks on this barren island, situated in a region of perpetual ice and snow."

Wrinkles

By H. L. RANN.
Wrinkles are a form of facial freckling which nature embosses people who worry. Some people worry more than others and are embossed to such an extent that they look like a bas relief map of ancient Jerusalem.

The wrinkle is composed of several deep dimples strung together. Every body admits a dimple, but when a number of them come together and unite in producing a wrinkle the owner invests in a bottle of skin food and a rubber massage roller.

Wrinkles are caused by a variety of conflicting emotions, such as worry over the fit of a new gown, anxiety over the corn crop or fear lest the bread will burn. It doesn't require much effort to produce a set of wrinkles that can hardly be told from the epithelium of Hamees II, as all that is necessary is to sit down and fret over something that might happen thirty years ahead.

The most dastardly form of wrinkle is known as the crow's foot. This is a deep convolution of decorative design which is so adhesive that the ordinary cosmetic will turn tail and flee. Crows' feet seldom settle on the young, but locate with great energy on the cheekbone of age. Some society people grow crows' feet at the age of forty, due to studying a bridge hand until three o'clock in the morning, and were glad to exchange them for a mild, domesticated mole or some other unobtrusive blemish.

Wrinkles are sometimes caused by wearing spectacles fitted by an eye specialist who graduated from a glass-blowing factory. This produces wrinkles which mingle at the bridge of the nose and enable the owner to pass them off as evidences of deep thought. Many a man is wearing a set of encrusted wrinkles due to the astigmatic nose glass and getting by the neighbours on the score of studious habits.

Annual Report

Of the Bell Island Regatta Committee—Season 1912.
In submitting the Annual Report of the Regatta Committee, for the year 1912, your officers wish to congratulate you all on the splendid and unequalled success of the work of the Committee of last season. That the Regatta of last year easily outclassed all previous Regattas is a matter for congratulation to all, who by their interest and work as members of the committee, helped to bring it to such a standard of perfection. As all are aware the Regatta Committee met for the first time last year on April 24th, and formed the committee for 1912, under whose auspices the Regatta was run. At that meeting also your officers in whom you placed your confidence and executive responsibility were elected as follows:
President—Mr. C. F. Taylor.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. C. Maine.
Treas.—Mr. R. Proudfoot.
Secy.—Mr. J. M. Greene.
It is pleasing to note that the committee and executive worked in perfect harmony, and we trust the cordial relations that existed in this respect will long continue between officers, executive and members.
Your officers desire to record their thanks to Rev. J. J. McGrath, P.P., and Mr. T. A. Bowen, Manager of the D. I. & S. Co., who so very kindly allowed us the free use of Wabana and Dominion Fire Halls, respectively for our meetings. Also to Mr. F. Burrows, Manager of the N. S. Co., for the free use of their athletic grounds for our Field Sports. We desire likewise to thank the Highlanders, especially Messrs. Maude and Robertson of that brigade, who so kindly furnished us with music both at the Regatta and Ball, free of cost. We also wish to thank Mr. A. Hiscock, President of the St. John's Regatta Committee, who kindly promised to donate a Cup for this year's Regatta; likewise to Mr. Joseph Murphy who donated a splendid silver cup last year for the Marathon Race in connection with the Field Sports. Such generosity cannot fail to be appreciated, not alone by the Regatta Committee, but by the people of the Island. Your officers also believe they are expressing the opinion of the committee when they express their thanks to Mr. W. J. Higgins for many kindnesses shown on Regatta Day and Sports Day, when he took a most active part in making the events of these days a success.
The great improvement shown in last year's Regatta is due to two causes, the entire day being devoted to the Regatta only, and the introduction of the new type of racing boats which proved to be what we really require for the Annual Bell Island Derby Day. These facts were no doubt responsible for the great interest taken last season and for the great success achieved. We append herewith a memorandum of the results of last year's races, prepared by the Secretary, and which is of an authentic character.
The Annual Field Sports held under the auspices of our committee were held on August 24th, in the afternoon, on the Nova Scotia athletic grounds and were very successful, despite the fact that the weather was disagreeable, owing to a series of rain showers during the whole afternoon. Notwithstanding this, the Sports were very successful and the idea of holding the Sports on a separate day from the Regatta was certainly a wise one, and one that met with the approval of the general public.
The Races held under the auspices of the committee were also very successful, both the Regatta and Sports Ball, netting a very large sum clear of expenses, and in this way were quite a source of revenue to the committee. The Bell Committee deserve great praise for their efforts in this direction.
The new races placed on the course last season by the Dominion and Nova Scotia Boat Clubs were certainly a great innovation to our Regatta, as well as a stimulant to the various crews, who year after year have been rowing at our Annual Regatta in a type of boat that made the art of rowing more laborious than is necessary. With the introduction of these boats last year a new era dawned for our Regatta, which we trust shall long continue. We regret, however, to say that the crews last year did not show the interest that should be always manifest on their part. While this Regatta is gotten up for the benefit of the residents and inhabitants of the Island, it must be remembered that only a few contribute to its success by competing in the various events. Last year, as all are aware, an exceptional amount of work was done by the committee to make the Regatta a great success, and the various Boat Clubs did their share to help out matters, still at the last minute we found it rather difficult to get crews for certain races and one race had to be rowed alone by one crew, while in another event the race committee had to hustle and get a crew or so together a few minutes before the race.

to compete. Your officers hope that greater enthusiasm will be shown by the competitors and by the public in general in future, for all our meetings and the discussions of the committee amount to naught when enthusiasm wanes on the part of the public or of the competitors.
The race time was not beaten last year, though we had new style and type of boats.
Another new era dawned last summer, when the Regatta Dinner, which it is hoped will become an annual affair, was held by the committee. It proved to be the event of the season, was greatly enjoyed, and was a fitting conclusion to such a record season as last year's was for the Regatta Committee. Replacing as it did, the smokers, which were formerly the wind up to the Regatta, it was quite a change, and one that has, we understand, established itself.
In connection with the expenditure on account of last year's Regatta, it is but fair to say that while the Regatta cost considerable it must be remembered that last year was for the Regatta Committee, a turning point. It was a turning point to new ideas and new methods, hence the extra increase which must always be paid for. Your executive, however, think that this year considerable can be saved, and learning from last year's experience, we believe sincerely that this year's Regatta can be run with as good results as last year and for a sum of $100 less.
The importation of the medals and trophies by the committee direct, last season, was certainly a move in the right direction, not alone were the trophies better than previous ones, but they cost less to the committee, and gave satisfaction to the public in general.
Your officers think that to avoid confusion this year, pamphlets containing the rules and bye-laws of the Regatta should be published and distributed to any interested in the Regatta. This would enable everyone to read them for themselves, the rules, etc., under which they are competing. It will be remembered that a slight dispute arose last year over a matter relating to the Regatta, and to direct rule to govern the technicality raised.
In conclusion we again beg to congratulate you all on the success of last season, and we earnestly hope that all Bell Island Regattas will be such a success, for it must be remembered that Regatta Day is to the people and miners of Bell Island a national holiday. It is the only day in summer when both Companies, Merchants and all stores close down, and all people alike treat the day to the Beach to enjoy a day at the salt water and there on historic Bell Island Beach watch the year's Annual events. We must remember that while members of their committee, we are working for the success of the day that means most to the people of Bell Island. It is not necessary for us to say that Regatta Day has come to stay here. That is a fact we must all admit. Our duty is to thank the Regatta Committee for a year, better and more successful than in the past.
Signed on behalf of the officers,
CHARLES F. TAYLOR, Pres.
JOSEPH M. GREENE, Secy.

The Annual Field Sports held under the auspices of our committee were held on August 24th, in the afternoon, on the Nova Scotia athletic grounds and were very successful, despite the fact that the weather was disagreeable, owing to a series of rain showers during the whole afternoon. Notwithstanding this, the Sports were very successful and the idea of holding the Sports on a separate day from the Regatta was certainly a wise one, and one that met with the approval of the general public.
The Races held under the auspices of the committee were also very successful, both the Regatta and Sports Ball, netting a very large sum clear of expenses, and in this way were quite a source of revenue to the committee. The Bell Committee deserve great praise for their efforts in this direction.
The new races placed on the course last season by the Dominion and Nova Scotia Boat Clubs were certainly a great innovation to our Regatta, as well as a stimulant to the various crews, who year after year have been rowing at our Annual Regatta in a type of boat that made the art of rowing more laborious than is necessary. With the introduction of these boats last year a new era dawned for our Regatta, which we trust shall long continue. We regret, however, to say that the crews last year did not show the interest that should be always manifest on their part. While this Regatta is gotten up for the benefit of the residents and inhabitants of the Island, it must be remembered that only a few contribute to its success by competing in the various events. Last year, as all are aware, an exceptional amount of work was done by the committee to make the Regatta a great success, and the various Boat Clubs did their share to help out matters, still at the last minute we found it rather difficult to get crews for certain races and one race had to be rowed alone by one crew, while in another event the race committee had to hustle and get a crew or so together a few minutes before the race.

P. F. COLLINS, The People's Store

Specially Favored.
Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Last summer the law prohibiting the keeping of dogs came into force in this place. The constable of Brigus was sent around to destroy all the dogs, and every dog except two were destroyed or sent out of the place.
Sir Robert Bond was the possessor of a very valuable better dog, which he immediately sent away. Mr. H. Mercer also owned a large black dog, a noble animal, and was immediately shot by the officer of the law. A number of people owned dogs which they used in the woods in winter time and found them very valuable. These also had to go. In fact every dog except two were destroyed.
These two dogs are still here, one is a setter and the owner gives as his reason for keeping it, that he is trying to sell it. The owner of the other dog, claims that it is a sheep dog, and consequently he is allowed to keep it. Quite a few of us have seen sheep dogs in our time, and we have also seen the Esquimaux dog, and this dog in our opinion certainly does not resemble the former, while it has a striking resemblance to the latter.
The owners of these dogs do not need to keep them to gain a living, and we cannot understand why they are allowed to keep them unless "specially favored."
We demand in this matter as well as all others, "equal rights to all men and special favors to none," and we respectfully request that the magistrate enquire into the matter, and see that the law is enforced.
Yours truly,
Whitbourne, May 23rd, 13.
PUBLIC OPINION.
MINARD'S LINIMENT USED BY PHYSICIANS.

Breach of Game Laws.
Yesterday the police had a man from Gander Bay before Judge Knight charged with killing a rabbit out of the proper season. He was fined $20 or 30 days. A policeman was not long ago about Gander Bay and vicinity looking after certain matters connected with breaches of the Game Laws and returned here Saturday.
A BRUTAL ACTION.—At 6.30 p.m. yesterday two men, who were drunk, fell out on the railway station platform and pumelled each other unmercifully. One of them on falling was viciously kicked in the pit of the stomach by his antagonist, and was so severely hurt that people who gathered had to lift him bodily to his home, as he could not walk. The wonder is that the man was not killed. His aggressor will likely be prosecuted.
