RECOGNITION.

The care of the teeth is now recognized as a necessity. In fact the large hospitals all over the world examine the patients' teeth and where it is possible put them in good condition before attempting a surgical operation. Experience has shown that the patient has a better chance for recovery with a clean healthy mouth than without it. This ought to convince the most skeptical that care of the teeth is requisite to health.

Own Your Own Home for Less Than You are Paying Rent.

For $600 cash down we build a nice plain 6 room $1,800 house and give 10 years to pay the $1,200 balance. Payments in principal and interest will average $14.40 per month for the 10 years, when payments cease and buyers own their own homes.

We build up to $3,500 house on this plan.

We accept $900 on a $2,700 house; the monthly payments for 10 years to own this averages $21.60 per month.

The actual rent on the $1,800 house is $4.40 per month, as $10.00 per month or $120 per year applies to paying the principal.

On the $2,700 house, payments on principal is $15.00 per month or $180 per year, rent therefore only $6.60 per month.

See the $2,500 bungalow we are now erecting on Mount Royal Avenue—$800 down and $20.37 per month for 10 years is the price to own this beautiful home. We are in a position to give good service and value; we operate our own saw mills on the West Coast, also our own factory on Plank Road. We have one million feet of splendid sound, clear lumber of all kinds now in the city, including clear Fir Clapboard.

Call on Mr. St. George, West End Lumber Yard, for further information.

MABEL HOWARD,
OF THE LYRIC.

CHAPTER XVII.
A MINIATURE PAGANINI.
She walked down Oxford street, to Marshall & Snellgrove's, and made her purchases—and, few and modest as they were, they made a considerable hole in her stock of ready money—and she was retracting her steps to Mrs. Barker's, when she saw a hansom cab pull up almost in a line with her. A gentleman jumped out, and, with a start which sent the blood from her face, Iris saw that it was Lord Clarence.

He paid the cabman and hurried past her, so near that he almost touched her, and Iris, drawing her veil still more closely over her face, hurried on breathless and trembling. She knew instinctively that he was searching for her, and the sight of his handsome face, so wan and haggard, smote her heart.

Yes, they were searching for her; but they must not find her! Rather than return to Knighton and appear before Heron Coverdale as the palest daughter of Godfrey Knighton, she would die in the streets! Once and for all, the Iris Knighton, of the Revels, had ceased to exist, and in her place was the unknown and friendless girl—Mabel Howard!

Weakened and unnerved by the sight of Lord Clarence and the risk of being recognized, she reached home. Mrs. Barker had cooked a simple dinner for her, but she sat before it, unable to eat a morsel. She had thought herself safe in London, but if Clarence Montacute was in pursuit of her, and so near to her that she could pass him in Oxford street, she was anything but safe.

Then, suddenly, there flashed upon her the question: Why should she not go abroad? She would have enough money, if she sold her jewelry, to pay for her passage and support her for a few weeks in America or Australia. Across the ocean she would at least be free from the chance of meeting Heron Coverdale!

In feverish haste she dressed herself again, and, taking her bag, went into Oxford street. She walked for some time, looking for a jeweler's at which she could offer the gems; but the shops seemed too large and grand, and her courage forsook her at the thought of the questions that would be asked. How could she account for the possession of such valuable articles, she who could not give her name or address, or a single reference! She turned into a by-street after a while, the bag held fast in her hand. Perhaps it would be better to wait; while she had the jewels, she was secure, at any rate, from absolute poverty. Pondering and troubled, she walked on unconsciously, until, suddenly, as it seemed, she found herself in a street forming one of a network in a squalid quarter, apparently occupied by the poorest of the poor.

Confused and bewildered, she was about to ask a woman who was passing to direct her back to Oxford street, when some shouts and screams rose from a low public-house near where she stood, and two or three men tumbled out of the doorway fighting together.

Before she had time to turn and run, a crowd collected, and she found herself almost in the center of a seething mass of unwashed humanity. Men and women of the lowest type yelled and screamed and pushed round her; and, utterly overwhelmed by the noise and crush, she tried to force her way back to the wall, where she could stand firm, at least.

But the crowd seemed to increase every moment, not three, but apparently thirty men were hard at work fighting, and Iris was beginning to feel faint with the horror of the situation, when suddenly she heard a voice near her, and, looking round, saw Paul pushing his way toward her.

"Paul!" she cried, and she held out her hand.

"All right, Miss Mabel! Don't be afraid!" he sang out; but well meant as the encouragement was, it attracted attention to her. A big, cool-begrimed costermonger turned, and stared, growled out a slang word or two to his companion; the two men slipped in between Paul and her, and one of them, snatching the bag from her hand, bent down, and, cleaving a path through the mob, disappeared.

Iris uttered one cry, then stood still, white and motionless.

"Mabel! Mabel, are you hurt?" Paul said, pressing up to her anxiously, and turning white. "However came you here? Have they hurt you?"

"No, no!" said Iris. "But my bag! They have taken that!"

"The bag," he said, the color coming back to his face. "Is that all? I thought you were hurt! Come away at once! Never mind the bag, so long as you are not hurt!" and by sheer persistence doggedness he forced a path for them through the crowd. "Oh, what a turn you gave me!" he said, almost reproachfully. "And how white and frightened you look! Why, Mabel, whatever made you come here? It is the worst place in London, I should think! And your bag? Was there anything in it?"

Iris forced a smile, a very wan one.

"Never mind the bag, Paul," she said, bravely. "Whatever was in it is lost now!"

the sun, say that something was troubling her.

"Mabel," he said, "you are unhappy!"

"They were sitting in his room, Iris lying back in the comfortable chair which, in his devoted loyalty, had become almost as a throne in Paul's eyes; he was practicing the music of a new operetta which was to be produced at the Lyric.

"Unhappy, Paul!" said Iris, awaking with a start from a sad reverie.

"Yes, Mabel," he said, gently. "Don't deny it; indeed, it wouldn't be any use. I can read your face as plainly as I can read that sheet of music there, and it means as much to me. Won't you tell me what it is?"

She tried to smile.

"If I am in trouble, Paul," she replied, "my trouble is a very common one. I am very poor."

"Poor!" he repeated, sadly and sympathetically. "Nearly all the world is. But I know what it means, no one better. I have been down to my last half-penny, Mabel!"

"And that is where I shall be presently!" said Iris, smiling, but rather ruefully. "Come, Paul, you are a man of the world, give me your advice. How can I earn some money?"

He touched the strings of his violin musingly, his large, blue eyes fixed upon her face; then he said:

"Mabel, you are very clever—"

Iris shook her head.

"Oh, yes," he said, firmly, "you are. You are well educated and a lady. You could teach. Why not go out as a daily governess, Mabel?"

Iris colored.

"You forget, Paul," she said, gently; "people do not take strangers as governesses for their children unless they can give references, and I cannot do that."

He hung his head, discouraged for the moment.

"There must be some way," he said, musingly.

"What way?" said Iris, cheerfully. "I have thought and thought for the last week, and I can find none! Paul, don't people, young women, get some needlework to do? I have read of women earning money in that way."

His face flushed, and he struggled to his feet.

"You don't know what that means, Mabel!" he said, quickly and bitterly. "Needlework! You don't know, but I know! You would have to work from dawn to dusk—sht and after dusk—and at the end of the day and night you would have earned just enough to pay for a cup of coffee and some bread and butter. Get a living by needlework! It would be living starvation. And you don't know anything seemed to come into his throat.

"Why not?" said Iris, bravely. "Better women than I have had to earn their daily bread with their needles, Paul!"

He shook his head.

"No, no!" he said, in great agitation. "It—it would kill you! Only those who have been used to it since they were children can stand it, and you—oh, Mabel—you would grow pale and thin, and bent, and—"

He stopped, and clinched his hands. "Mabel!" a scarlet flush rose to his pale face, and his eyes grew moist—"if you are poor, I am not; I am rich—I've got more than I want. I don't spend nearly my five-and-twenty shillings. Let me—"

He stammered and stopped again.

"Iris' own eyes grew moist."

"I knew you were going to say that, Paul," she said, gently and gratefully, "and that is why I did not tell you before—"

(To be continued.)

CHAPTER XVIII.
THE NEW SINGEL.
Not until she had reached home did Iris realize the loss she had sustained. Her jewels were gone! Beyond the sum remaining of her twenty pounds she had no money or resources in the world!

She must find some work, and at once. If she did not wish to become homeless and penniless, for her money was going, going, even in the frugal way she was living.

She said nothing about her loss to Paul, for she knew it would distress him; the little fellow was as devoted to her as a spaniel is to his dearest-loved master, and was as sensitive as one of those plants which shrivel at a touch. So she said nothing to him about the dreadful loss, and kept a cheerful countenance.

But as day succeeded day, and the little store got less, and no means of replenishing it occurred to her, she grew thinner and paler, and the boy, who watched her face as attentively and reverently as a Parsee watches

Equal the Famous Dessert Chefs
You will find that the great chefs all know of the advantages of Knox Gelatine in attaining the right results in their delicious fairy-like desserts. You may equal the attainments of these master-cooks, with Knox Gelatine. Try for luncheon—

Do You Realize How Much Retail Prices Have come down since last November?

It took five years of war and a year and a half more to run prices up to their highest point. No one expected prices to fall so rapidly. But in forward looking stores prices have come down very considerably.

PRICES ARE LOWER.

IN THIS STORE we've met every drop with a corresponding one in our prices. Our new price basis is a low price basis, and if you doubt it, read here, or visit our stores and compare some of our offerings.

A Challenge to Members.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—It is interesting to notice that our Hon. members for Placentia publicly acknowledge that St. Mary's public wharf was destroyed by the storm. What are they going to do about it? Forget it like the whistle that was to be erected at Point Le Haye to prevent the Fortia and other steamers from going on the rocks? During the last long session of the House of Assembly, St. Mary's Bay was never mentioned. When the House was closing we noticed that the Hon. members forced the Government to grant $70,000 for the Colinet line. Why not say the Placentia road? The people of Placentia can go by train to town when they wish, and now they are presented with a motor road, or at least with a grant for one. The road is opened at Hurley's and 110 men are employed, while 160 men are employed in the Placentia side. We understand the contract is $600 per mile; Placentia men, of course, got the contract! How are they going to spend $70,000? They certainly have made a mess of things in this side. We could walk over the road that was, but it is hard to get over the road that is. The people of St. Mary's have to drive 41 miles over a cow path, in order to get to St. John's to do business. We understand that the grant this year, for the road from the head of Salmonier to St. Joseph's, which is 8 miles, was something about $200. The rest of the so-called roads were to be repaired with potatoes. The Government are most economical in this district in regard to the facilities of locomotion for the taxpayers. North Harbour is one of the safest in this island, yet when schooners get in, they have no way of communication, consequently when a schooner is missing, North Harbour is the last hope; like many of the settlements they have no road. Colinet has three large sawmills and the owners have to send a telegraph message 14 miles to Whitbourne, or 8 miles to Mt. Carmel. When a person gets seriously ill in those places they may chance to get a priest and doctor. It should be easy to have phones erected in those places seeing that so many were discarded in St. John's during the past year, and that $18,000 will be used on the Placentia road for better or worse. There is a ferry boat plying between St. Joseph's and Mt. Carmel for which $100 per month were given for past services. Two ferry boats could be run at St. Joseph's and Mt. Carmel for half the money, and more suitable to the place. We were honoured with a visit from the Superintendent of schools a short time ago, but owing some business of more importance she had no time to examine the children. The Fortia is the only means at our disposal to get to St. John's, but through inadvertence on somebody's part, people who spent some days waiting for her here, had to suffer, and perishable freight for St. John's has to run the risk of being destroyed. We certainly are living in the wrong century, and will continue to do so until the people of this bay wake up to the fact that they must elect a member of their own to see after their wants. Thanking you for space.
Salmonier, Nov. 8, 1921.
Yours truly, VOX POPULI

King Prorogues Parliament.

His Majesty Asks for Moderation and Patience--Methodist Church Registers Absolutely Against Divorce--Lloyd George Expresses Confidence in Sinn Fein Good Faith.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

LONDON, Nov. 10. Proroguing Parliament today King George said in part, "It is not yet possible to say that peace is firmly established in Europe and it must be long before the world can recover from the strain of war, but good progress has been towards the solution of most critical problems of home and foreign affairs. The situation in Ireland still causes me grave anxiety. I earnestly exhort leaders of all parties in Ireland and all those in whose hands lies the responsibility of the negotiations and discussions now proceeding to exercise patience and moderation, with the object of establishing friendship and co-operation between my people of that country. It is my firm belief, as it is my earnest prayer, that with forbearance and good will, and with an honest resolve to tread the path of forgiveness, enduring peace will be finally achieved. I have followed with great interest steps taken by the President of the United States to promote the reduction of expenditures on armaments, an object which commands the fullest sympathy of my Government. It is my hope the labors of the conference will be crowned with success."

ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY.

LONDON, Nov. 10. There does not exist any military or naval agreement understanding or arrangement of any sort, between Great Britain and Japan, not arising from the terms of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty, Lloyd George told the House today, in answer to a question whether in view of the Washington Conference he would state if any supplementary agreement existed.

METHODISM AND DIVORCE.

TORONTO, Nov. 10. The department of Social Service and Evangelism of the Methodist Church in Canada, today passed the following resolution: "We are convinced that the joining of one man and one woman in holy wedlock until death do them part, and fidelity on their part to that bond, is fundamental to the progress of human society and the salvation of humanity. We are therefore against divorce." The department adopted another resolution approving the tendency of legislation to remove illegitimacy from the children of unmarried parents, and to make the father responsible for the support of such children.

U.S. AND NAVAL DISARMAMENT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. A definite formula for agreement on the limitation of Naval Forces has been reached by Secretary of State Hughes and his colleagues of the United States delegation. The formula does not attempt to state any general rule for the establishing of equitable relations between the powers, and does not attempt to fix a common denominator, by which all Navies could be divided and each power assigned by agreement the number of units it could maintain with world approval. The United States suggestion will deal with things as they are. It will be a proposition of ships built, building or authorized, of Naval bases, of the vital element of Naval replacement of the potential Naval significance of Merchant Marine, and of other concrete existing of Naval warfare. It is regarded by those who framed the suggestions as a bold stroke for Naval reduction, possibly too bold for immediate realization.

IRELAND AND THE TRUCE.

LONDON, Nov. 10. Lloyd George expressed confidence in the House today that Sinn Fein negotiators were doing all they could to see that the truce terms in Ireland were observed, and reiterated his hope that the negotiations would prove successful. In reply to a question whether arrangements had been made for the protection of Ulster and the loyal population of Southern Ireland, in the event of a breakdown of negotiations, the Premier said it had been agreed that there would be reasonable notice of a termination of the truce, and his Majesty's Government would do all in its power to protect life and property.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TIMELY WORDS.

LONDON, Nov. 10. Austin Chamberlain, Government House leader and Unionist, in a message to the Unionist Party to-night asks the members not to allow their minds to be biased by rumor but to reserve judgment until a full statement is laid before them, and expresses the belief that with good will and mutual accommodation, peace is possible. "Where so much hangs in the balance for Ulster, Ireland, Britain and the Empire, perhaps even for the world, it is too much to ask confidence from our friends," Chamberlain adds.

ULSTER'S ATTITUDE.

LONDON, Nov. 10. A statement issued after this morning's session of Ulster Cabinet members concluded as follows: "Sir James Craig on behalf of the Cabinet of Northern Ireland, wishes it clearly understood that there can be no surrender of Ulster's rights."

STATE SUBSIDY REFUSED.

LONDON, Nov. 10. Lloyd George's refusal to grant additional state subsidies to miners has general approval, and the miners are being told that their bad leadership was responsible for the present hard straits of many workers in other trades.

RUSSIAN ROUBLES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 10. Important documents were seized and millions of Romanoff rubles together with considerable French and British money, were discovered by the interallied police in a raid on the offices of The Russian Trade Mission here today.

THE FAIR RENTS ACT.

SYDNEY, Nov. 10. The Fair Rents Act does not prevent a corporation from evicting its tenants from houses required for its own employees, Judge Finlayson decided today.

DRUMMING UP BUSINESS.

SYDNEY, Nov. 10. A Civic Committee is proceeding to Upper Canada cities in the hope of drumming up more business for the Steel plant here.

NOBEL PRIZE WINNER.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 10. The Swedish Academy today awarded the 1921 Nobel prize in literature to Anatole France, the noted French author.

RAILROAD WAGE REDUCTIONS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. Action will be taken to effect wage reductions, approximately ten per cent, of the train and yard service employees on all railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers, it was announced today, following a meeting of presidents of the lines involved. One million men are affected.

CANADA'S SEA FISHERIES.

OTTAWA, Nov. 10. Sea fish landed on the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts of Canada during September totaled 1,026,553 hundred weight, valued at $2,520,047, compared with 1,157,870 hundred weights valued at $3,581,567 last year.

Salvage Notes.

Friday night, October 28th, 1921, will long be remembered by the people of Salvage, for on that night occurred a double event, the consequences of either of which we are yet unable to learn. The first part of the night was utilized by Rev. Dr. Facey, Principal of Queen's College, who, before a large audience in the school-room gave an illustrated lecture on Queen's College and things connected therewith. The lecturer outlined the growth of the Spencerian idea—(not Herbert, but our first Newfoundland Bishop) and the project of his successor Bishop Field, through whose energies Queen's became, largely, what it is today. Apart from the slides altogether the lecture was a most educative one on Church History in the Diocese of Newfoundland. Our sincere thanks are due to Dr. Facey, and we believe that the appeal of the Bishop for the permanent endowment of Queen's will be successfully answered by the Lenten self-denial offerings, 1922. Then it is we shall behold the consequences—in part—of Friday night's lecture.

For about thirty years now, our people have been in the habit of oftentimes referring to the 7th June gale. From henceforth we opine a dating from the gale of October 28th. On Saturday morning, when it was possible to get out, a scene of destruction beggaring description met the eye. Flakes were swept away, stores blown from their positions, roads wiped out entirely, schooners adrift, and smaller boats beaten up, bottom up and every other conceivable way. The various coves were filled with debris of all kinds, and a loss running into thousands of dollars was everywhere apparent. The oldest residents never witnessed a similar storm or destruction. There were two or three very narrow escapes with life in our vicinity. It is extremely difficult to particularize the losses, as practically everybody suffered more or less. Probably the hardest hit was Mr. John Moss, merchant of Bishop's Hr., who returned from St. John's by Friday's Malakoff. His wharf was washed away with seven barrels of beef and pork, just landed from the schooner. Furthermore the roof of his store was entirely blown away.

shelves stripped from the walls and contents broken or damaged. At Salvage Bay similar destruction reigned along the waterfront, while at Happy Adventure the schooner Maggie, captained by Thos. Babcock, recently returned from Labrador went ashore but fortunately has since been refloated, although leaking badly. Mr. Geo. Bishop's schooner, of Wesleyville, which went into Happy Adventure Friday evening, lumber laden, became a total wreck. Three schooners are reported ashore in Rocky Bay, but further particulars are not yet to hand.

Messrs. Job Stead, James Moss, B. Oldford and Wm. Brown, in their respective schooners are back from St. John's, and awaiting favorable opportunities to get into the bays for wood.

Rev. Dr. Facey, who was forced to stay over here on Monday, went to Salvage Bay yesterday accompanied by Rev. E. H. Humphries, rector of Salvage parish.

S.S. Malakoff passed south on Monday, but was unable to touch at Salvage by reason of the heavy sea raging.

Plenty of Good Men.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—The Plaiddealer last Saturday in commenting on the coming Municipal Election said there was very little interest manifested, and it was doubtful if the class of men who would suit best the city's welfare would allow themselves to be nominated. Since then more than a dozen well known citizens have announced their willingness to serve as aldermen and I do not know if any better men are necessary. We have Messrs. J. T. Martin, S. G. Collier, N. J. Vincombe, W. E. Brophy, J. F. Wiseman, K. Ruby, R. Hopkins and possibly five or six others, any of whom are capable in every respect. The Plaiddealer lays particular stress on men of the Gostling, Ayre, Jackman, Bradshaw type, and regrets these men cannot find it convenient to contest. Even these men made mistakes, and we have no reason to believe but that their successors from the first mentioned list can carry on the work, just as able as previous boards. We should first consider candidates who have the time at their disposal, and above all we should leave party politics out of the question, and consider the best interests of the city when voting at the polls.

How fine cooks make cream soups to-day

After eating a rich cream soup somewhere, do you sigh and say to yourself "if I could only afford to use real cream, I could serve soup like that, too!"

The chances are that the soup you would like to duplicate was not made with cream at all. For many fine cooks have learned a culinary secret that makes of cream soups a banquet dish at every day cost.

The secret is—make them with Libby's Evaporated Milk. For twenty years Libby has worked to give a finer and richer milk to consumers. Their plans were far-reaching. First they sought out the finest pasture lands in America. There they encouraged the breeding of splendid milk herds and the use of all the appliances and practices of scientific dairying. And there they established their milk condenseries so equipped as to assure absolute purity and cleanliness.

At those condenseries the whole milk from the fine herds, with the cream left in, is canned for you. Half the moisture is taken from it by evaporation. Nothing is added to it. So you have in this milk just the rich, pure product of the finest cows, but with twice the food value, twice the butter fat, of ordinary milk.

This milk makes cream soups so smooth, so rich, so mellow that they taste like the soups made by extravagant cooks. Used in coffee, this milk gives a creamy richness at half the cost of cream.

Try it in your favorite recipe where cream or milk is called for. Your grocer has it or can get it for you.

Newfoundland Millionaire.

T. W. CRAGG STRIKES OIL.

The many friends of Mr. T. W. Cragg of Concord, who spent a very pleasant vacation in St. John's the past summer will be glad to hear that he has had a stroke of almost unprecedented luck. He was interested in an oil well in Texas and it has gushed so successfully that he is now a millionaire, and expects to be much wealthier before the end of the year. The following extract from the Concord Patriot will interest Mr. Cragg's friends:—

"More cheering news has been received by Senator Benjamin H. Orr and Thomas W. Cragg from Capt. Arthur Coyle, in which he tells them the run of oil from the well discovered by him at Mexico, Texas, is 25,000 barrels a day instead of 15,000 barrels as he wired in his first despatch. The volume is so large, he says, pipe line companies cannot handle all of the production.

The Humble Pipe Line Company reports that the wells the largest thus far discovered in North Texas. Messrs. Orr, Cragg and Coyle are associated with Major John G. Winant of Concord in the well. Capt. Coyle's telegram, dated Nov. 3, to Senator Orr, follows:—

"Our well is so big that the pipe line companies cannot handle all the production. Humble Pipe Line Company officials state that the well is the largest ever discovered in North Texas. It would make 25,000 barrels a day if we could run the oil."

A Problem Play.

"THE BLINDNESS OF VIRTUE."

Notwithstanding last night's rain storm, theatre goers crowded the Casino Theatre to witness for the third time in succession the reproduction of the great sex problem play "The Blindness of Virtue" by the Gladys Klark Company. The presentation of this play, touching as it does one of the fundamentals of human sex relationship, was exceedingly well done, and the portrayal of the various difficult parts and the delivery of the dialogue left nothing to be desired. Not one word or action could be construed into suggestion. Altogether the play was clean, wholesome and educative. The moral being that prudishness must give way to the actualities of life, and no matter how arrived at, the sex education of the growing generation must not be neglected. Miss Gladys Klark starred as Edie Pemberton, and ably sustained by other members of the company. Not for Amusement.

The lady's face was writhing under a white veil in a series of remarkable contortions. In one hand she carried an umbrella; in the other a brown paper parcel. Several passers-by paused to watch her, some of them wondering whether she expected coppers for her performance.

Then a girl acquaintance approached her hurriedly and gazed at her face. "Why," exclaimed the newcomer, "what on earth is the matter?"

The facial contortions ceased, and a sweet smile succeeded.

"With me? Why, nothing!"

"But you looked ill! Your face—your face was twisting it into all sorts of shapes."

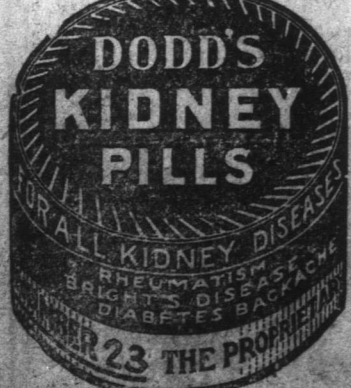

The lady held out her hands—one with the paper parcel in it, and the other the umbrella.

"I was only trying," she exclaimed, to work the edge of my veil down under my chin, dear."

Whereupon the crowd dispersed.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—We have a Society in our midst, known as the S.P.C.A. (Society Prevention Cruelty to Animals). To my mind, there is too much attention and sympathy given to that organization, and not enough to the higher specimen, whom the Scripture says, was created in the likeness of God.

If the facts given in your paper last evening are correct (they are—Editor) it is enough to fill anyone with the highest indignation, to read of a person going to the Penitentiary because he broke a window in defending himself against a savage dog. Can you blame any citizen for carrying a revolver shooting those pests on the spot when attacked? I myself, have often threatened to do it, and on several occasions have warned dog owners to that effect, as it is not the first time I have had trouble in this respect.

Trusting that the new Council when elected, will see that all dogs are kept off the public streets.

I remain, yours truly,

Where Clothing is Banned.

Curious Customs of African Natives.
An extraordinary custom is observed by natives in certain parts of East Africa. It is enacted there that nobody must wear clothes.

This rule was discovered by the Rev. John Roscoe, the missionary, who, in his book, "Twenty-five years in Africa," records that when a number of native youths who had been clothed by missionaries returned to their homes in the hills round Lake Victoria, their parents commanded them to put their clothes away and not bring disgrace upon the village by wearing them.

In Uganda the person of the King is regarded as sacred; he is never allowed to walk outside his enclosure, but is carried out on the shoulders of chosen men. The shoulders of these men are treated with reverence, and no man, not even a friend, is allowed to place his hand upon them in a familiar manner. Any breach of this rule is punished by a fine.

Trapping Fish in October

Herring and Oil Inspector Howlett, who returned last evening from a tour of the Northern outports, reports a large catch of herring at Little Bay Islands and Springdale, but nowhere yet have the fish struck in quantities, and they have not yet put in an appearance at Miller's Island. The Inspector says that the wharf was badly damaged by the recent storm, and a large quantity of coal and lumber were lost. However, says that very little other damage was done on that side of the bay. The people from Exploits to Tull Cove are not bad off as far as he could judge, but there were isolated cases of destitution. From Mr. Duggan of Exploits, Mr. Howlett learned that the people there were fairly well off, and that there was a good quantity of fish yet to come forward. He was also told that contrary to usual practice, some of the fishermen in this district put out their traps during the latter part of September and part of October. They found fish very plentiful, and as a result their summer's voyage was considerably augmented. Some of the trappers adding as much as made their total voyage up to 700 dollars.

Poppy Day.

Despite the extreme cold, a large number of young ladies were stationed throughout the city this morning selling poppies in aid of the G. W. V. A. funds. No one who did not have one of the red emblems of "Poppy Fields" was allowed to pass. These keen-eyed girls, and quite a large sum must have been collected towards the deserving object. The proceeds will be divided between the G. W. V. A. and the War Memorial Fund.

Coastal Boats.

Argyle arrived at Placentia at 11 a.m. yesterday. Clyde left Herring Neck yesterday. Gloucester was at Burn yesterday. Home is leaving Humbermouth tomorrow. Kyle is at Port aux Basques. Meigle left Harbor Grace yesterday. Malakoff was at Port Blandford at 8.45 a.m. to-day, on way out.

LEFT TO-DAY.—The Sagona, which has been on dock for some months undergoing a complete overhauling, left to-day for North Sydney where she will be inspected. The Sagona will probably replace the Kyle on the Sydney-Port aux Basques service for a short time.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

SHIPPING DISPUTE SETTLED. WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. The principal points in the controversy between British shipping interests and United States Shipping Board, as to the revision of indirect Egyptian cotton shipments, have been settled, it was announced yesterday at the Shipping Board office.

NOT ACCEPTED.

WARSAW, Nov. 11. General Joseph Pilsudski, President of Poland, tendered his resignation to the Government yesterday. His action was based on the rejection, by ministers, of a plan for the creation of middle Lithuanian States. They insisted upon the incorporation of Vilna in the Polish State. The President's resignation was not accepted, and ministers are seeking a compromise.

NOBEL PRIZE FOR SWEDISH CHEMIST.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 11. Professor Walther Nernst, of the University of Berlin, was awarded the Nobel Prize for 1920 in chemistry by the Swedish Academy. Prizes in chemistry and physics for 1921 are being reserved.

REJECTED BY ULSTER.

LONDON, Nov. 11. The Ulster Cabinet to-day rejected the Government's plan for a settlement of the Irish question on the ground that it contained fundamental principles which, under existing conditions, were impossible of attainment. Ulster Ministers, however, are putting forth counter proposals.

THE IRISH SITUATION.

LONDON, Nov. 11. The Government's written statement outlining peace negotiations between its representatives and those of Sinn Fein was in the hands of Sir James Craig and members of the Ulster cabinet here to-day. The British Government's proposals are not in the form of an ultimatum requiring a direct answer, and Ulsterites are declared not to be contemplating the submission of an alternative plan. The issue is whether the terms present any possible basis upon which an agreement may be brought about.

The Westminster Gazette, now a morning newspaper, in discussing repeated unconfirmed rumors, attributing to Andrew Bonar Law the intention of co-operating with Ulster leaders and organizing a conservative party for their support, if they refuse to accommodate themselves to the settlement programme reached by Conference, says, "Arthur J. Balfour's case is more of a puzzle than Mr. Law's, but rumor, which points to him as the leading figure in the reorganized ranks of the Tory Party, is persistent, although for the moment being in the immediate foreground."

RETAINED TITLE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. Johnny Bull, world's bantamweight champion, retained his title to-night by obtaining a judge's decision over Jack Sharkey, of New York at the end of a 15-round bout here.

WON IN POOR EXHIBITION.

QUEBEC, Nov. 10. Mike McGuire, claimant of the middleweight championship of Canada, scored a knockout here to-night over Robbie McDonald, of Glace Bay, at the end of a ten-round bout, which was one of the poorest exhibitions of boxing ever seen here.

Honoring the Dead.

CEREMONY AT SERGENTS' MEMORIAL. The ceremony which took place at 11 a.m. to-day at the Sergeants' Memorial, was an impressive one, but would have been a great deal more so if citizens generally had taken more interest in the proceedings and had attended as a mark of respect to all which this day commemorates. Shortly before 11 o'clock guards of honor from the Sergeants of the Royal Nfld. Regiment and the Royal Naval Reserve, representatives of all the city brigades, Mayor Morris, Sir R. A. Squires, Sir Michael Cashin, Mr. J. R. Bennett, and a small concourse of citizens had gathered around the monument. His Excellency the Governor, who was attended by Captain Saltmarsh and Capt. Hamilton and Commander Kerr, R.N., was also present. As the signal for the two minutes' silence rang out, the naval guard reversed arms, all uncovered and a deep silence for a brief period, fell over all. As soon as the two minutes had come to an end, wreaths were placed on the monument by Lady Cashin, Lt.-Col. W. F. Rendell, representing the Militia Department, Mrs. M. S. Sullivan, representatives of the C.C.C. Cadets, C.C.C. Nfld. High School, Boy Scouts, and the Regiment. Before leaving the scene the guards of honor were inspected by His Excellency.

USED A PLOW.—The express which arrived here yesterday afternoon from Port aux Basques was compelled to use a push plow near the Topsails, where snow was encountered for a considerable distance. This is unusually early for a plow to be needed, but all the snow has practically gone by now.

Don't Be a Slave to Your Stomach.

It is Easy to Prevent all Stomach Troubles That Are the Root of Most Ills. Fresh is Heir to.

Thousands of men and women, in every walk of life, are compelled to deprive themselves of eating certain meats or vegetables because they suffer from Dyspepsia or Constipation, and that to indulge in certain foods which they like would mean bitter suffering.

Don't be a slave to your stomach. Don't forego the pleasure of eating what you please, when you please! "Gastronol" the most marvelous remedy and preventative for all troubles of the digestive organs, allows you to do so. One or two Gastronol tablets after meals will assure you a perfect digestion and prevent auto-intoxication, which often results in most of the serious maladies which levy such a heavy toll on human life.

The surest way of assuring yourself a long life is to prevent or cure all diseases of the alimentary canal—the stomach is the motor of the human organism and when it is functioning normally sickness has little chance to affect you.

Each box contains 50 Gastronol, each bearing its own name to prevent the substitution of spurious imitations—see that you get full count.

Train Notes.

The outgoing express which left here yesterday was at Bishop's Falls at 3.55 a.m. She was only fifty minutes behind schedule.

The incoming express with the Kyle's mails and passengers left Port aux Basques early this morning. The Carbonear local arrived in town at 12.40 p.m.

The weather along the railway this morning was fine. The temperature ranged between 25 and 30 degrees.

City Manager Needed.

INSTRUCTIVE DEBATE AT ST. ANDREW'S.

An overwhelming majority in favour of the affirmative was the result of the vote taken at St. Andrew's Club Rooms last night at the conclusion of the debate on the advisability of the appointment of a city manager. A very large number of members were present at this, the second debate held by the St. Andrew's Literary and Debating Society. Dr. R. C. Grievie was in the chair. Mr. J. J. McKay, who led the affirmative, pointed out the duties which a city manager would have to perform, and outlined the benefits which could not fail to accrue from such an appointment. He contended that in those cities of the States and Canada in which there was a city manager, the system of supervision of civic works had accomplished a considerable amount of good. If the right man were appointed here as city manager, he would, by careful supervision of city works, save his salary within a very short time. Mr. McKay was supported by Messrs. R. E. Tait and W. Wardlow. Hon. John Anderson made an eloquent address in reply. He had made himself fully conversant with conditions in the city and quoted numerous and interesting statistics in connection with various civic matters from as far back as before the fire of 1892.

He discussed the new charter and said that in it, the duties of a city manager were divided between the City Engineer and the Secretary-Treasurer. He contended, therefore, that the appointment of a city manager was unnecessary. Mr. R. A. Templeton, supporting Mr. Anderson, said that a city manager would be in a position to practise all forms of autocracy, and could dictate to the Council when and how he pleased. The appointment would only cause ceaseless friction. Practically every member present expressed his views on the question, and the great majority were in favour of the appointment of a city manager. Dr. Grievie said that one of the great difficulties that would be overcome by such an appointment would be that of lack of continuity between the various councils. As a permanent official, fully conversant with all civic affairs, the city manager would form a connecting link between incoming and outgoing councils.

Next week the subject for debate will be "are we spending too much time on sports and amusement." Amongst the leaders will be Messrs. A. Robertson, J. Hepburn, W. Neal and L. Calvert. This debate should prove very interesting as it would be hard to find a more topical subject.

Shameful Apathy.

NON-OBSERVANCE OF SILENCE BY MANY. The shameful apathy shown by so many people in town this morning after the signal for the two minutes silence had been given, must have aroused the indignation of the few who realizing what their brief, quiet period commemorated, honoured it by stopping in their various occupations and concentrating their thoughts on the gallant dead who had gone, never to return. For a brief two minutes it was hoped that every single person in the town would have sufficient respect for the solemnity of the occasion and cease the work on which each was engaged. Some few did—but on the street traffic rolled along as before, motor cars kept on going, long carts did likewise, people went on as if nothing untoward were happening; everywhere apathy or ignorance of what was being commemorated was apparent. There was no excuse for stopping in their various occupations and concentrating their thoughts on the gallant dead who had gone, never to return. ### Armistice Day.

The ceremonies commemorating Armistice Day have been completed. Around the world two minutes' silence were observed, and hushed was every noise and motion. To-day, following Britain's example of last year an unknown American soldier typifying the thousands of the expeditionary force of that country who died in France, whose body was recently brought from the battlefield of Europe, will be interred at Washington with all the pomp and magnificence of military custom. That unknown American hero will be honored more than any of his class, inasmuch as his grave will be decorated with Britain's highest award for valor—The Victoria Cross. In his lifetime it may be that he merited this coveted distinction, but in his death he receives it at the hands of Britain's King-Emperor through his chosen representative, Lord Cavan, the chief of the British military mission at the Washington Conference. In placing this highest military decoration of the Empire upon the tomb of America's miles incognito, the whole American Army, the American Navy and the great American nation are its recipients. Other nations and dominions will show their honor by the presentation of floral wreaths, and in this, Newfoundland, by the happy forethought of our Prime Minister, participates. As told yesterday three commissioned officers of the Royal Nfld. Regiment were present at the interment, and amongst others was a floral tribute from Terra Nova. Thus the two great nations of the Anglo-Saxon race met together on sacred ground for a specific purpose; an exchange as it were of symbols, perpetuating for all time the connection which links together the peoples of the same race, language and customs. The following verses, written by Lilian Gard on the occasion of the interment of Britain's unknown warrior at Westminster Abbey, last year, as a symbol of all who fell in the great war, are equally appropriate to the American soldier whose remains were laid in mother earth, for the last time to-day:

"What did he give that was more than the rest?
For many have suffered and died,
He buried his name in the earth's torn breast
As he passed on the deathless tide.
What did he do that he earned the right
To a nation's heart salute?
His last great deed was hidden from sight
In a silence tense and mute.
Why does the love of a nation
Linger about his grave?
Why do his comrades as gallant
Laid to sleep
Prior to his grave?"

C.L.B.C. Anniversary

To-day marks the thirtieth anniversary of the organization of the Church Lads' Brigade Cadets in England and also in Newfoundland. It marks also the completion of thirty years of work which has been of incalculable value to the community. The C.L.B.C. which was last year affiliated with the King's Royal Rifle Corps, in which regiment it maintained a battalion during the war, has a record of which any corps of a similar nature might well be proud. Thousands of men to-day have good reason to be grateful for the training which they received whilst members of the C.L.B. Just as the city should realize how much the C.L.B. in common with other brigades, has accomplished in helping to make useful and patriotic citizens. The Newfoundland Brigades have probably done more useful work than any in other countries, for they have generated the spirit of camaraderie and patriotism, ideals with which every man should be inspired. The city brigades formed the nucleus of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment. Practically every officer of the first five hundred was a former brigade officer, and it was their training in the brigades that helped so many to gain well-merited promotion. Men like Lieut. Colonel Franklin, D.S.O., Lieut.-Col. Bernard, M.C., Lieut.-Col. Carty, Lieut.-Col. W. F. Rendell, Major Riley, M.C., Capt. G. Ayre, Capt. Ledingham and many others all received their early training in the various city brigades. That alone would justify the existence of these Corps. On Sunday next, Brigade Week, with which the C.L.B.C. will celebrate their anniversary, commences, and it should receive the support of all citizens irrespective of denomination, not because it is the C.L.B., but because it is one of the bodies which is daily accomplishing invaluable work on behalf of the community at large.

Paper Auction.

Mrs. Herbert Outerbridge will wield the hammer at the auction of papers to be held in the Reading Room of the Current Events Club to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Tea will be served after the sale, and all members of the Club are cordially invited by the committee to partake of the cup that cheers.

Own Your Own Home.

The own your own home for less than you are paying rent advertisement by Collishaw Mills, Ltd., in this issue, is worth reading, and should interest everybody paying rent. Mr. St. George, Secretary of the Company, whose office is at the West End lumber yard (just a little west of the railway station), is taking orders, and will make drawings and give specifications free of charge. The Company are now erecting five houses and bungalows. Mr. St. George claims their $2500 bungalow a beauty, and has a real sample to show. He states the Company can only accept contracts for more than this fall and first come first served.

Car Broke Down.

Mr. George Churchill's motor car, with which he was engaged carrying freight and passengers to Portugal Cove met with a mishap yesterday afternoon, when about two miles from town. The rear axle broke due to carrying too heavy a load. The car besides a couple bundles hay, several boxes of goods and a barrel of flour, and a number of small packages had also two passengers.

PLACE WREATH ON BODY OF AMERICA'S UNKNOWN SOLDIER.—NEWFOUNDLAND PARTICIPATES WITH ALL NATIONS IN SOLEMN CEREMONY.

Special Press Service Evening Telegram.
WASHINGTON, D.C., To-day.
Solemnly placing the wreath of Newfoundland on the body of the unknown soldier in the rotunda of the Capitol to-day, three sons of that country, wounded veterans of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment in the world war, cemented the friendly feelings of the two nations. Wounded in their engagements in Europe, these three men dressed in the uniform of their regiment presented one of the most picturesque settings in a ceremony in which practically all the nations of the earth participated. The Newfoundland delegation, headed by Capt. Stanley Robertson, a banker and business man now located in New York, but whose home is in St. John's, placed in position a wreath of chrysanthemums, American Beauty roses, orchids and pink roses, bound by claret and white, the colors of the Regiment, and bearing the streamer of Newfoundland, on which the Caribou seal of their Regiment was inscribed. The other two members of the delegation were Lieut. Field, son of Canon Field, of St. John's, and Lieut. Herder, son of the Proprietor of the St. John's Telegram.

Impressive Ceremony at Washington.

NEWFOUNDLAND GIVEN PROMINENT POSITION.
This morning the Prime Minister received a telegraph message from Captain Robertson, at Washington, as follows:
"Ceremonies most impressive. Wonderful showing from all parts of the British Empire. Newfoundland given a very prominent position in procession."
Elastic Corsets are the latest development in corset comfort. The rubber is circled in such a way that it gives as much shape as the standard corset. As is usual with all newest ladies' wearing apparel, this new found comfort can be had at BISHOP'S. Price is only three dollars each.

Dr. Grenfell's Disclaimer

Just prior to his sailing by S.S. Manoa, Dr. Grenfell wrote the Prime Minister, his communication containing the following disclaimer, which the Telegram has been requested to publish:
"My attention has recently been called to an article 'Famine in Newfoundland' which I am informed has been circulated in a section of the United States Press. In so far as this article purports to be an interview with me or to suggest a state of famine or starvation in Newfoundland it is absolutely false. I have no knowledge of any Newfoundland Relief Fund in New York or any other American City.
(Sgd.) WILFRED T. GRENFELL.

Two Tall Stories.

BARON MUNCHAUSEN OUTDONE.
The recent storm has given rise to many tall stories and not the least of these is that which recently came from Ferryland. A gentleman who has just returned from that settlement declares "He catches his own by name." A dory was thrown by a heavy sea fifty feet up in the air. He does not say whether it came down again, but we presume it did. How the eyewitness gauged the distance the dory went up is also a matter which will have to be left to Professor Einstein or posterity to solve.
Another story which comes from a storm swept district, is reminiscent of Baron Munchausen in modern surroundings. A resident of a Northern island declares that during the storm he was sleeping in his house and a heavy sea swept the island, carrying the house and the sleeping man, to another island close by. When the narrator of this yarn woke up, his house was firmly grounded on the second island. And people say Newfoundlanders are not gifted with imaginations.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baird were passengers to Montreal by S.S. Manoa sailing yesterday.
Mr. Eric Collier, Second Engineer of S.S. Rosalind, was obliged to stay on shore this trip, owing to a sore foot caused by treading on a nail.
Dr. W. F. Grenfell and Mr. C. F. Watson of the Grenfell Association, left for Montreal by the Manoa yesterday.
Capt. George Hyde, agent of the Western Marine Insurance Co., Ltd., is at present in North Sydney in connection with the stranding of schooner Linda Parly, which went ashore near there some time ago.

C. of E. Orphanage Garden Party.

FINALIZATION MEETING.
The general meeting of the Church of England Orphanage Garden Party Committee to finalize matters in connection with last summer's event, was held in Canon Wood Hall on Wednesday evening. In presenting his report Mr. C. E. A. Jeffery, the Secretary, referred to the very generous support and assistance the committee had received from those who had been asked to lend a hand. He referred in particular to Mrs. Furlong, who gave the ball-room at Smithville, free of cost; to Rev. Bro. Quinn who placed at the disposal of the committee tables and benches and anything else required. Mr. Walter Clouston generously provided the lights for the grounds, and quite unasked, the C.C. Band unconditionally volunteered their services for the afternoon. The firms on Water Street willingly offered their conveyances and in fact it was only a matter of asking to have every request acceded to. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the members of the C.L.B. Band who not only added so greatly to the enjoyment of the afternoon-by their programme but who also furnished the music for the dance. To a great extent the success of the athletic programme was due to Mr. W. J. Higgins whose presence on the field as master of ceremonies is a sufficient guarantee that everything will run smoothly.
Mr. E. Job, the Treasurer, then read his report which showed that the results of the Garden Party were highly gratifying from a financial point of view and exceeded by a considerable amount the proceeds of the previous year. In particular he drew the attention of the meeting to the sum raised by the ladies as a result of the tea, and he paid a high tribute to all who had assisted in making the Garden Party such a splendid success. Mr. R. Dowden the Chairman in moving the adoption of the Report fully endorsed all that had been said, and made various suggestions with a view of making the event next year an even greater success. It was decided by the meeting that the Garden Party next year would be held on Wednesday, July 19th.

Chamoisette Suede Women's Gloves.

Each year each season, sees Women's Chamoisette Gloves gaining new friends and increasing the respect of their old friends. The best Chamoisette Gloves are to be had at BISHOP'S for ninety cents to two dollars and forty-five cents a pair. These values are unequalled.

Dissatisfaction Over Work.

A great deal of dissatisfaction is being manifested over the distribution of work on the railroad. The principal objections are coming from men of the Piacentia and Trinity districts. These claim that men from Bay Roberts and other sections of Conception Bay are being sent into their districts to work, whilst men belonging to the places cannot get anything to do. In this connection there are over 100 men engaged at Tickle Harbor Crossing who belong to Conception Bay district, whilst hundreds belonging to Trinity Bay are in destitution. Some seven or eight men have come to the city to interview the members, Messrs. Halfyard and Guppy, with a view to getting a share of the work.

"Hall! Who go there?"

"A friend."
"Have you reserved your tickets for the C. L. B. Band Concert?"
"Yes, and for the Athletic Show."
"Pass, friend; all's well."

NOTE OF THANKS.

Mrs. Street wishes to thank the kind friends for the wreaths and flowers they sent to adorn the casket of my dear husband; I also wish to thank Mr. Murray for the beautiful wreath he sent from the firm for which he worked, and also Mr. Barnes, the Superintendent at the Gospel Mission, and the brethren for the beautiful wreath which was sent. I also want to thank Mrs. Barnes for bringing to me words of comfort, as she also played on the organ "Jesus Lover of my Soul"; I want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Johns for their sympathy in my bereavement; I also want to thank Mr. George Reid and Mr. Hynes for their attendance during his illness. -adv.

The Sacrifice and the Gain.

(STANLEY G. GRIMES) For four long years, the earth... What tortured millions writhed in strife, that murdered without cease.

There's a silence over the City, this drear November morn. As the solemn clatter ceases, and Commerce' clatter ceases, and the People meet in homage at the Shrine of Sacrifice.

Fathers of Men, and Mothers of Men, burdened with Grief and Loss, Look up, see now the Glory of Him who patiently bore His Cross.

Llewellyn Club Meets.

At the annual meeting of the Llewellyn Club held last night... The meeting was largely attended. After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and confirmed, the Secretary gave a graphic description of the work of the Club for the last year.

SE. BON'S AT TOP OF SCHOOL LEAGUE.
For the fifth year in succession St. Bon's won the inter-collegiate football championship, when they defeated the Pelidians in one of the best school games ever seen here, by a goal scored in the very last minute of the game yesterday afternoon. Both teams played excellent games and there was little to choose between them. The ball was brought from one goal to another throughout the game, but all attempts at scoring were ineffectual, although some good opportunities were missed. To all appearances the game was going to be a draw when Flynn of St. Bon's scored the winning goal from a mix-up. St. Bon's team were as follows:—Goal, A. Collins; backs, J. Alsup and S. Ryan; halves, K. McGrath, J. Murphy, E. Ryan; forwards, W. Flynn, L. Niboney, L. Halley (Capt.), J. Cotter, H. Hill. Congratulations to Captain Halley and his fellow champions. The inter-collegiate series this year provided far more interesting football than in the past few years, and every team is also deserving of congratulations.

New Red Cross Liner.

WILL BE NAMED SILVIA.
It is likely that the Red Cross liner "Orel," which is to run in conjunction with S.S. Rosalind on the Halifax-New York-St. John's service, early in the New Year. The Orel is now in England being put in first-class condition. The Orel was built at Dantzig, Germany, in 1909, and has accommodation for over 300 first-class passengers. She has all modern improvements. The company has decided to change the ship's name to that of "Silvia," personating the name of a former popular boat on this service.

Disturbance on Street.

A large crowd was attracted to a disturbance which was created on Water Street this morning. A free fight seemed to be in progress and all who approached, hearing what it was all about, joined in the disturbance. The cause of the disturbance, the Telegram was told that it was merely a rush in Gray and Goddard's for tickets for Brigade Week events by people anxious to get good seats.

Catholic Cadet Corps.

BELL ISLAND CADETS HAVE RECORD WEEK.
The Big Rally of the Catholic Cadet Corps of Bell Island, "C." Wabana Co., has already borne good fruit and last week over 200 Cadets reported for duty—the biggest number in the history of the Company—and we doubt if ever exceeded by an Outpost Brigade. On Monday the Senior Company assembled at the Armoury numbering fifty and were put through manoeuvres by 2nd Lieut. A. Connors assisted by 2nd Lieut. John Gunn. Major J. M. Greene Commanding "C." Co., inspected the seniors and took over the parade. On Wednesday the Brass Band had their first practice under the competent instruction of Mr. A. S. Murray and if their enthusiasm is any indication of their future success, then good results are sure to follow. Over 21 officers for the Band including several ex-members of the Corps who rejoined. On Thursday the Drum and Bugle Band numbering 17 were given practice and instruction under Sergt. Instructor John Mansfield. 2nd Lieut. Patrick Murphy and Jas. L. Connors were on duty in connection with the preparatory arrangements of the Bands. On Thursday also Major J. M. Greene accompanied by 2nd Lieut. J. Gunn and 2nd Lieut. F. F. Jardine, J. P., proceeded to Lance Cove where the Lance Cove platoon under 2nd Lieut. P. Stoyles numbering 27 nearly a full complement, were inspected and put through several exercises.

On Friday Captain John J. Murphy had his names fall with the Junior Company's name under seventeen, 85 of whom paraded, but Capt. Murphy assisted by 2nd Lieut. Thos. Neary and C.S.M. Thos. Fitzpatrick were able to handle the situation. Lieut. J. L. Connors, 2nd Lieut. P. Murphy, J. Gunn and F. F. Jardine, J.P., together with the Major were on parade also on Friday night. On Saturday a fatigue squad under Sergt. M. Dobbin, J. Hunt and T. Joy were busy engaged at the Armoury and did yeoman service. On Saturday night the band again practiced, full strength turning up, and putting in nearly three hours practice.

The Officers Mess held a meeting in the Officers Mess on Saturday night. Major J. M. Greene presiding and the following being present:—Capt. J. J. Murphy, Lieut. J. L. Connors, 2nd Lieut. A. Connors, J. Gunn, T. Neary and P. T. Murphy. Much business was discussed and it was decided to hold a card tournament on Saturday night, the 13th. A big dance in the Star Hall on Nov. 23rd and the annual re-union of the Brigade members on the 25th inst. while it was decided to form a Ladies' Auxiliary on the 13th, and the Athletic Association to meet on the 20th. Fifty new rifles were ordered from headquarters and it was decided to increase the number of drummers and buglers.

Schr. Minnie Maud, Capt. Theo. H. which left here on Thursday, 3rd inst., for Whoooping Harbor, via Lady Cove put in at the last named place and left for her destination on the 7th inst. but was forced to put back to Lady Cove again to have some repairs attended to before proceeding further.

Dyed Her Draperies and a Faded Skirt

"Diamond Dyes" add years of wear to worn, faded skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, hangings, draperies, everything. Every package contains directions so simple any woman can put new, rich, fadeless colors into her worn garments or draperies even if she has never dyed before. Just buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then your material will come out right, because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to streak, spot, fade, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

Improved Service.

S.S. Manoa which sailed for Montreal yesterday evening took as additional passengers:—Dr. W. T. Grenfell and Chas. F. Watson. The Manoa is scheduled to leave Montreal on the 23rd inst., on what will probably be her last trip for the season, in order to encourage the tourist traffic on this route, it is understood the Canada Steamship propose having alterations made on board the ship and provision made for an extra 150 first class passengers, making a total of 220 passengers. The work will be done in England during the winter, and the Manoa, when completed will be amongst the best of her class coming to St. John's.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Since last notes sent in, we, in common with the other seaports on the eastern coast of the island, have been visited by a severe storm, same commencing on Friday night of the 28th ult. Owing to washouts along the railway line, caused by the heavy tide which prevailed, making it impossible for any trains to get through until repairs were effected, no train from the city got through to here until Thursday, 4th inst. However, the train was a welcome visitor then, especially as there being no means of communication—the telegraph lines having been put out of order for the greater part of the time—and therefore no way of ascertaining what havoc the storm had wrought in other settlements. Now that the trains, telegraph and telephone lines are in working order again, and day after day as the different places are got in touch with, comes the news of the storm's terrible devastation, such as experienced in some of the northern settlements, when cemeteries with coffins and bodies were washed away, fishing gear, stidges, stores, etc. completely destroyed, and the people practically ruined and in need of immediate relief. When we read the daily papers and messages, acquainting us of the serious damages as referred to, caused by this tremendous storm, and consider these losses, although we have suffered somewhat, we must admit that we in this port and the neighboring ports, have been very fortunate, and for which we should be grateful to Divine Providence. The loss of life is by all means the greatest loss, and with deepest sympathy for the bereaved, was learned the sad news that Capt. George Gushue and Michael Connors, both of the schooner, Clarence B., whilst on passage from Labrador, had been washed overboard during the storm. We hope the full extent of the losses are now known, but fear that all reports are not in yet.

Schr. Minnie Maud, Capt. Theo. H. which left here on Thursday, 3rd inst., for Whoooping Harbor, via Lady Cove put in at the last named place and left for her destination on the 7th inst. but was forced to put back to Lady Cove again to have some repairs attended to before proceeding further.

S.S. Meigie, Capt. Burgess, arrived here early Sunday morning from Labrador and landed freight and passengers. Owing to there not being room available on the steamer, parties who

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer in this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O., Lucas, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicine, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at night for pain, which wholly used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch till my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also sleep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

The Apotheosis of Captain Kidd

DIFFERENT STORY OF THE FAMOUS PIRATE.

There is no more fascinating theme than the search for buried treasure. Its foundation is laid in the experiences of men from time to time that the more energetic of them began to heap up wealth which they began to conceal from avaricious neighbors who envied them in their prosperity.

The pot of gold at the end of the rainbow is a childhood's riddition of a mythical myth. The Arabian Nights tales are indolent of hidden treasure. The Golden Fleece probably is an allegory of treasure trove done with Greek artistry. The folklore of India and China repeats with legends of concealed wealth, colored by the fantastical imagery of Eastern imagination. The gold and jade of the tombs of Chinese emperors has long furnished plots for fiction. Incidentally, it is said, for finance of the Chinese republic.

It might go on for hours reciting the legends of semi-authentic and authentic cases of buried treasure for which men have been led to arduous searches sometimes successful but more often unavailing and tragic. In fact, tragedy nearly always follows along in the wake of buried treasure hunters. But the subject to be dealt with particularly here is the story of Capt. William Kidd. Here there will be presented a new story, backed by very strong evidence of the fate of the treasure. In gold and rare eastern stuffs which were sent from the Indian Ocean.

It is now known that Kidd was made a captain by Lord Bellomont, royal governor of New York and Massachusetts, and certain officials of the British ministry to save themselves in a political crisis, and that the trial which resulted in his death by hanging May 17th, 1701, was a travesty of justice. It is generally known, however, that one of the documents which is reported would refute the charge of piracy was discovered quite recently by the British public record office, where it had remained in obscurity for more than two hundred years. In the course of his trial Kidd referred to him frequently, begging for time which to produce them. He said to the court:

"I have some papers, but my Lord Bellomont keeps them from me, so that I cannot bring them before the court."

Papers "Whitewash" Kidd. The papers were afterward smuggled into the public record office and discovered until two centuries ago. The discovery, coupled with a review of the proceedings of the trial as recorded in the records of the state trials, in which the probability of the malignancy, the determination of his judges to convict, all are set aside, prove beyond question that Captain Kidd was not a pirate and would shatter a standard upon a pirate's gentleman. But no amount of explanation can ever remove the stigma which rests upon his name and posterity. If the papers of inquiry which he always appears as a body swabbing buccaneer, and the old Kidd ballad, "As I sail'd," will ever remain part of the literature of piracy.

Captain Kidd's buried treasure has been located by legend and sought in every Atlantic seaboard, from Maine to Maine, and on Oak Island, Nova Scotia. Popular belief centres on Gardner's Island, east of Long Island, and the adjacent Westchester County, New York, but of late years the spot occupied by Greenbough's Island in Washington near the capital in Washington has found adherents.

The Washington site argument is based upon the comparatively recently discovered purported narrative of a flight to America in 1699 by Louis de Pallisot, Duc de Pallisot. Its authenticity has not been established. In his services in Louis XIV's campaigns the Duc de Pallisot, he was in his narrative, was given a grant of land in Canada. In March, 1700, he sailed from Brest in the brigantine St. Nazaire, bound for Quebec, and on the 24th of the coast of southernly France, the brigantine was boarded by a small crew overcome, before the vessel was looted, the pirates were recalled by a signal gun from their ship and hurriedly set off in small cutters, taking De Pallisot and the other passengers as prisoners on the ship, which proved to be the merchant, William Kidd, master.

"As we climbed over her side," says Pallisot, "we were met by Kidd, a tall, nervous man in red coat and lace, in his finery a sharp contrast to the motley crowd of pirates, composed of upward of a hundred and reckless men of all ages, with a sprinkling of black and white, both male and female." He found De Pallisot with marked respect, and he alone of all the passengers of the St. Nazaire to share his cabin.

The smoking quality of BRITISH COLONEL is all that any smoker can desire--That's why we say The "Utmost" In Plug Smoking.

We are making every effort to keep our entire staff working throughout the coming winter. This can only be accomplished if the Smoker insists on buying the Tobaccos MADE in Newfoundland. Their Quality and price cannot be equalled—therefore, it's up to YOU to buy the local brands that will keep your own people working when they'll most need work.

San Antonio sailed with a crew of forty men, "picked for their manners to be a show before Bellomont." The Quedah Merchant remained hidden in one of the many bays of the Dry Tortugas. It was afterward looted and burned by the men. Off the coast of the Carolinas a severe storm was encountered, the mainmast was lost and the sloop put into what the pilot believed to be the Delaware River, but which was in fact the Potomac. A new mast was put in and then Kidd decided to bury the loot on the neighboring shore, having long since reconsidered his determination to turn it over to Lord Bellomont.

De Pallisot narrates, "we moved into the eastern branch of the river and spent the next four days in putting the treasure under ground. Pulling and hauling the chests through the thick brush was exhausting work, and one man died from the heat and the strain." His body was placed in the pit, and the San Antonio departed for New York, Kidd having previously dealt out two hundred pieces of gold to each of the crew. The latitude and longitude of the hiding place was carefully taken and verified by the pilot on every day of their stay and, as recorded by De Pallisot, mark the spot now occupied by the Greenbough statue.

The incident of the interment of the dead sailor received singular verification in 1842. The workmen engaged in excavation for the base of the statue of Washington came upon a human skeleton at a depth of six feet. The conclusion that it was the skeleton of an Indian was readily accepted and no further inquiry made.

The seizure of the St. Nazaire, a ship belonging to a nation then at war with Great Britain, was a strictly legal proceeding. Each nation charged the privateers of the others with being pirates. A privateer was a man operating under letters patent from some competent authority, which authorized him to prey upon the commerce of an enemy nation.

DR. MINARD, Inventor of the Celebrated MINARD'S LINIMENT.

My new green car was sick as grease, and yesterday I took nice and neighbors three or five, and as we scorched along the ways I pulled off sundry fancy plays, to show how I could drive. I drove so close to other cars that drivers fenders bore the scars of this unseemly strife; I swung round corners on two wheels, and laughed to scorn the tragic antics of jays who dodged for life. But when a man acts like a boob there always is some other rube who'll beat him at his game; a reckless skate ran into me, and now my nose you may see all busted up and lame. My niece is nursing many wounds, and saying words like "Chee!" and "Zounds!" She even mutters, "Pshaw!" The passage—who were my guests are planning for some drastic tests in the abode of law. I sit here in a plaster cast, and now I know full well, at last, that "Safety First" is wise; there is no sense in fancy tricks, endangering the lives of hicks and skates and jakes and guys. There is no sense in running cars so they resemble shooting stars in their erratic course; there is no sense in pulling stunts, while traffic cops, with martial fronts denounce you till they're hoarse. And when I leave my couch of pain and once again get up and walk among the surging crowds, I'll be so cautious men will say, "If everyone would drive that way, there'd be a slump in shrouds!"

WRITE A LETTER TO YOURSELF.

Did you ever try writing it out when your mind was in a whirl of uncomfortable emotions? I mean writing it out in two senses—writing it out on paper and writing it out of your system. Not long ago I went through a purgatory of anxiety—the kind of thing almost every human being passes through sometimes. Thoughts raced through my head as agonizing, speed, fears tore at my heart. It seemed as if I should go wild with the torture of my own active mind. I tried reading—I could not get my mind on my book. I tried writing—work—worse still. Finally I sat down at my typewriter and tried to write the whole thing out. Just to See How Exaggerated My Fears Were. Not, you understand, with any idea of doing anything with it but just for the relief of having something that would occupy my mind and of straightening the whole thing out in my mind. When I rose from my typewriter the whirl of my thoughts had abated as distinctly as the wind abates at nightfall or the sound of the waves quiets when a storm has blown itself out.

NERVOUS, IRRITABLE, AILING WOMEN

Mrs. Britten Tells How She Was Restored To Health After Suffering for More Than A Year.

A Triumph for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dimondale, Mich.—"I had inflammation and displacement and weakness, and it had been neglected so long that it caused great pain, and this affected my mind and nerves so that I was very irritable. I had severe pains every month, so that I was often obliged to lie in bed for two days at a time. I suffered for more than a year before my friends said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I purchased one bottle after another until I had taken ten bottles, then Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I received so much benefit from this treatment that I am now able to do my own work. —Mrs. W. D. BRITTON, R. No. 2, Dimondale, Mich. Another Michigan woman writes: 'I was bothered for a long time with female troubles and was so nervous I felt almost afraid at times. I also had a pain in my right side and was certainly in a bad way. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved me of these nervous feelings and pains and I am much better in every way. I don't know just how many bottles I have taken, but I took it for nearly a year and it has done me a world of good.' —Mrs. JAMES GRANGER, R. No. 3, South, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Good health is a woman's greatest asset. With it she may be the inspiration of her husband, a happy mother, and the life of the home. Without it she enters agonies, household duties are a burden, and her family is made miserable by her condition. Is it any wonder that these women were nervous and irritable after suffering so long from such dejected conditions? Such ailments act directly upon the nerves, and it has been said that a large percentage of nervous prostration, nervous depression, 'the blues,' and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism. If women who are in this condition would only profit by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, much suffering and unhappiness would be averted, as everyone knows a nervous, irritable, ailing mother makes the home unhappy and her condition irritates both husband and children. Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon 'Ailments Peculiar to Women' will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

at a part of the house equipment as the sewing machine. But in the meantime there are always pencils and pens. Do not be scornful of this plan, but the next time you have to pass through one of these valleys of mental misery that lie in the pathway of all of us, give your pencil a try at relieving you.

Punished for Writing to Queen.

GREEK ARMY SURGEON GETS FORTY DAYS.

Athena. (Associated Press)—At a time when all the hospitals in Athens are crowded with wounded from the Anatolian front, one of the ablest of Greek surgeons has been sentenced to 40 days' imprisonment for alleged disrespect to Queen Sophia. The Athenian press of all shades of opinion is up in arms against the sentence passed upon Dr. Politus Coriolis who, in his capacity of honorary surgeon of the Greek army, committed the offense of writing to Queen Sophia from the front, to call her attention to the fact that parcels containing candy and cigarettes sent to soldiers at the front by their relatives and friends hardly ever reach their destination. The powers that be, however, ignore this general outcry.

EDWIN W. FIELD, Milwaukee, Wis.

"I'm convinced if I had taken Tanlac two years ago, when my troubles first began, I would have been saved a world of suffering," said Ed. W. Field, 535 Jefferson St., Milwaukee, Wis. "My case proved that when a man's stomach goes wrong, everything goes wrong with him. The first thing I noticed out of the way was loss of appetite and next, that no matter how sparingly I ate, I was sure to have an attack of indigestion. This was two years ago and from that time on, until after I started on Tanlac, I kept going down hill at a steady rate. I finally got so I couldn't walk a couple of blocks without having to stop and rest and I was so nervous that often I sat up in a chair all night long. "Tanlac has made a new man out of me, my stomach is as sound as a dollar and I feel fine all the time. I am a firm believer in Tanlac because I know it delivers the goods." Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Cutting Tigers' Nails.

Elephants Have Their Feet Filed. Animals in captivity do not get enough exercise to keep their claws or feet in order. This is particularly the case with tigers and leopards. In the wild state these creatures select a tree on which they sharpen their claws, just as a town cat will do on a chair or post, but when they are caged their claws are apt to grow inwards. If left, a bad wound is made, which may result in the death of the captive. To prevent this sort of thing from happening the claws must be cut at regular intervals. Usually the leg is roped and drawn through the bars of the cage, but sometimes, when the animal is too big or fierce, it is necessary to chloroform it. This is done by stealth, a chloroform-soaked pad being fastened to the end of a stick and pushed under the nose of the creature while it is asleep. Then the chloroform bag is slipped over its head, and its paws are neosed and tied. Elephant's feet need a great deal of attention. The ordinary manager of an elephant that walks along the road from one town to another is all right, but those that are confined do not get enough exercise to wear down the soles. The sole of an elephant's foot is a mass of gristle about eighteen inches in diameter, and this gristle should not be more than an inch in thickness. If it increases beyond this thickness, a manicurist has to get to work with a trimming knife, rasp, and file. Elephants whose feet are not well trimmed pick up all sorts of things, and from the feet of a big elephant which is kept in the New York Zoological Gardens there were removed at different times part of an iron teaspoon, the handle of a penknife, several nails, as well as pieces of earthenware and stones.

WINTER GOLF. I'm a wonder when the ground is white with snow. I'm a marvel by the grate fire's ruddy blaze. All my drives are straight and true and I give you a perfect follow through. When it's winter time my body never sways. Be it dream or reality, when the course is miles afar And the snowflakes lie between us, I shoot the round in par.

I'm a wonder in the middle of November. I'm a champion on any winter night. I can mashie to the green with a stroke that's firm and clean. For it's then that every club is working right; Just get me by my fire-side when the weather's rough outdoors, And I'll show you just how easy I can make a string of fours. I'm a wonder when the nights are dark and long, In the winter I am certain of my skill. I am always home in two, and there's nothing I can't do. With a mid-iron and that little rubber pill; But the trouble is, in winter all the golf nuts are the same, In this fire-side conversation no one's ever off his game.

He Felt Justified.

Sir Francis Towle, the managing director of the Gordon Hotels, told a good-after-dinner story the other day. It concerned a guest at a certain hotel—not he, was careful to explain, one of theirs—who appeared unexpectedly in his pyjamas at the reception clerk's desk and demanded a thick but firm tones that his room be changed. "I'm sorry," the clerk humoured him, "but all the rooms are taken." "Might have 'nother room," insisted the guest. "What's the matter with the room you have now?" "Well, if you must know," explained the dissatisfied tenant, "I'm on fire."

Civic Commission.

WEEKLY MEETING.

The weekly meeting of the Civic Commission was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Morris presided and Councillors Vinnicombe, Peet, Jackson, Collier and Hallett were present. After reading the minutes of the previous meeting, the following matters received the attention of the Board:

A letter was read from the Newfoundland Board of Trade suggesting a conference between representatives of the Council and a deputation from the Board, to discuss matters in connection with the watering of ships. It was decided to meet the deputation on Monday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock.

J. A. Colbourne and Edward Downey drew attention to the condition of Gear Street. The City Engineer was directed to attend to this matter.

P. J. Kerravan, on behalf of the residents of Larkin Square, referred to the necessity of placing a light in this locality. A light will be placed there.

The application of G. H. Andrews for a share of printing work was granted.

L. G. Harson, Secretary of the Memorial Committee, referred to previous interviews had with the Mayor and Council, with regard to the grading of the street in front of the monument, and the building of same. It was thought that it was rather late in the season to undertake this work, but the Engineer will interview the Committee on the matter.

Mr. George Williams, Bond Street, referred to his house, which was not newly painted, was very much discoloured by the smoke from the steam roller. Road Inspector Conner is to be asked to report.

Solicitor Carter reported as follows: (1) With reference to the application of the G.W.V.A. that all service men liable for the poll tax be exempted from same, the Council, under the Act, had no power to grant such exemptions; (2) There is in connection with Mr. E. Collins' letter, asking the Council to guarantee debentures of his Company, in the proposed scheme for bettering of existing housing conditions, he thought it would be well for the Council to consider the financial aspect of the question.

R. Hopkins applied for permission to lay concrete sidewalk, fronting Controller's Department, Duckworth Street. This was granted, subject to the approval of the City Engineer.

With regard to the application of the Shelgrove to erect a dwelling at the Barracks, the Health Officer, advised that no further building permits be issued for this section, until arrangements can be made for the provision of proper water and sewerage connections for this neighbourhood.

The following plans were submitted to the Board:

W. J. Malone (temporary shed) over Street; Mr. Lester (extension garage), Currier Street, passed, subject to the Engineer's approval.

The Street Railway Company is to be communicated with, and asked to send a deputation from the Council, to discuss the matter of further extension of street railway system.

Orders of Messrs. Edstrom & O'Grady, to install plumbing fixtures, according to specifications, was accepted.

Tenders for the supply of five tons of pipes were awarded Messrs. Heap & Co. and Walter Clouston.

Tenders for the supply of hose to Watering Vessels Department were referred for consideration.

Regarding the resolution for increased remuneration for the Mayor and Councillors, which was published some time ago, it was brought to the notice of the Council that Councillor Jackson had been criticised for introducing this resolution. The Council wishes to inform the public that this matter was first spoken of last spring, when the new Charter was in the hands of the Legislative Council. Councillor Jackson, when introducing the resolution, stated he did not intend to continue in office, but that, during his connection with the Board, he appreciated the work and that, which the newly elect Council must give to the Municipality, particularly in view of the many new schemes of civic government contemplated in St. John's Municipal Act, 1921, and thought the present salary of the members of the Board was inadequate.

It was ordered the attention of the Electrical Department be called to a pole on Patrick Street, which was a very dangerous condition.

Reports of various departments were read, the accounts presented were ordered paid, after which the meeting adjourned.

NOTE: For some time past the Council has been giving consideration to weights and measures, particularly to the weight of coals delivered within the city. The Mayor had communicated with Inspector O'Mara, who informed him that he had in all cases found the number of pounds to the ton was according to regulations, i.e. 2240 lbs.

Old Salt Amazed Lawyer.

Not Going to Quiet the Traffic. The little schooner Isma that figured so prominently last summer when she was seized by revenue officer Angus Young at Port Morien and a lot of 26-gallon cask of St. Pierre rum which she had on board confiscated, sailed from this port Saturday, after undergoing an overhauling on the slip says the North Sydney Herald of Nov. 8th. She cleared for P. E. I., where, it is understood, she will take on board a load of produce for this port.
An interesting incident in connection with the little schooner after she was seized last summer happened when the fine was being paid by her skipper-owner. After handing over the money to Mr. Young the latter remarked:
"I hope, Captain, this will be your last venture in this business."
"Well, then," coolly replied the skipper, "it won't be by any means."
"What!" shouted out the amazed lawyer who was acting in the case, "do you mean to say you are going to return to St. Pierre—that this is not your last trip of this kind?"
Lighting his pipe, the old salt looking the lawyer straight in the eye, while a merry twinkle hovered around his own, saluted back:
"Most assuredly not. You lawyer fellows don't abandon the business after you are thru with a client. Well, I guess neither do I," and picking up his hat he walked away.

Procer Who Startled Science.

COLLAGE'S VALUABLE DISCOVERY IN STONES.

A village procer in Kent some years ago came upon some peculiar stones lying about his house. He studied them long and, as a result, succeeded in establishing the age of mankind!
The most people know, our primitive ancestors used tools and weapons which are known under the names of flint, pebble, and paleolithic instruments.
The procer who had made the discovery, Mr. Benjamin Harrison, came to the conclusion that these stones had perhaps thrown some light on the subject.
For fifty years he made collections of samples, and by devoting himself to their study managed to prove that he had collected at least 200,000 years of the stones he had collected were of the same age.
Out of the limelight.

Mr. Harrison was content to spend his life in his native place, seldom venturing more than twenty miles away. When only twelve years of age he started his researches among the hills of the Downs, and on the site of the old Roman camp at Oldbury.
In 1918 his name was included in the Civil List for devotion to scientific work. It was stated that few men have made discoveries of real importance were so little known to communities outside the select circle of specialists.
At the time of his death he had collected five thousand specimens of great stones.

Kitchener Betrayed By a Woman.

REMARKABLE REVELATIONS.

A new light has been thrown on the life of Lord Kitchener by the strange revelations which have followed the announcement in the "Weekly Mirror" of a mysterious attempt to film the version of the life and death of the late War Minister.
The film company responsible—Messrs. Play, Ltd.—state that several Government officials have come forward to apply them with a convincing case in the manner in which Lord Kitchener's death was brought about, according to this allegation, the story of H.M.S. Hampshire, in which Lord Kitchener was travelling, was distorted by the information a German woman spy was given by British agents.
Days after the recent announcement referred to was made, an official closely connected with Lord Kitchener during the war called at the offices, state the film company, and said that he desired to give a more detailed account of the manner of Kitchener's death.
The man agreed to appear in the film and take the part, under his own name, which he played in the actual film that preceded Lord Kitchener's capture for Russia, and his subsequent death en route.

The Betrayal.

From the information he supplied, it necessitates a partial reconstruction of the film, it is argued that actual betrayal of Lord Kitchener was brought about by Elly Boecker, a German woman in the pay of the German Government, who in 1916, when taking of the Hampshire, was detained for a time at Holloway, on what pretext is not known. She was suspected, but there was no evidence against her. She is now in Germany, and has an address at the Wilhelmstrasse. It is said that she received a big sum of money for her information.
After the manner in which this was done, it is stated that the information Kitchener intended to visit Russia, Germany. The Czar was still the Emperor. By code the Government was made to the Russian Government by wireless that Lord Kitchener would pay a visit to that country.
According to secret service reports passed on by the Czarina, the notorious Rasputin (who had influence over her), and he in communicated it to a German who went to Berlin.
After this the woman received instructions to assist in the movements and possible information of Lord Kitchener. According to the film company's information she succeeded, as stated above.

Mystery Explained.

It may be supposed, Miss Cecil said, the woman, golf champion, told many good stories concerning her favourite game.
What she is fond of repeating is that a man, new to the links at a certain watering-place, who resembled the secretary.
"I want to have an allotment of the middle," said the secretary, "do you mean?"
"Yes," said the man, "are you going to the fifth green I saw a man work with a hoe."
"The secretary," that would be the secretary, "that would be the secretary using his niblick."
