your business to attend to the affairs of someone else? That is what the Old-Fashioned Executor often had to do. To appoint a friend as executor used to be risky. Many estates suffered from unavoidable neglect by their executors.

Nowadays to appoint an individual is also unfair. Telegraphs, telephones, railways and postal facilities have served only to increase the scope of a man's own business and its pressure upon his time.

Asking a friend to be your executor has become unnecessary. Trust companies render a service more complete and no more expensive than the most able and conscientious personal executor supplies.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 10.

Butter Would Not Melt in Their Mouths.

A cat lapping cream is an unruly member of society compared with a ber of foreigners who make their railway magnate trying to talk the American public into putting fresh the confederation. What Switzerland sepital into railway securities. He imply purrs. When a number of them get together they are more genteel than colonial dames at a high tea. Lately they gathered together for a little experience meeting to which the general public was invited. President mith, of the New York Central, spoke behalf of the railways as tho he were pleading for the African mistions. He suggested something in the way of voluntary tithing for the re-Hef of the roads. Buying railway securities might not. he admitted, be a brewd investment for business men. but they should do something for sweet charity. Brother Smith, with a break in his voice, explained that the roads lacked money, and then sweet-In added:

The practical way to supply this lack is for business men to lay aside a certain definite proportion of their surplus revenues to be in-vested in railroad securities.

Some irreverent member of the con regation may have suggested that if cailway securities were such a good thing why did not the present security ders take a little more? At any nte it became the painful duty of Brother Williams, of the Wabash, to coplain that the people already in He said that if the roads borrowed fresh money at 8 per cent. they would eve to pay considerably less than 6 per cent to the present holders of their capital issues. Under the Esch-Cummins law no road is allowed to retain more than a 6 per cent. net return on its capitalization, and Mr.

Williams, not without emotion, told his hearers that:

There can be no doubt that such progressive reduction would spell mankruptcies, receiverships, and probably government ownership; the latter the worst disaster of all, but perhaps not undesirable from selfish point of view of mere the owners of railway stocks and posed to be having the time of the porting as neutrals and then exporting to Germany. No doubt a great deal of money was made, but no doubt Dutch bankers and traders find themselves loaded up with German paper money and German war oonds, which have gone to a discount near the disappearing point. Sweden, also sympathetic with Germany, finds she has parted with real money in xchange for almost worthless German currency and securities. Finally, we are told that the Swiss govment finds itself almost bankrupt as a consequence of the war.

In the case of Switzerland, however, we must remember that a country may be rich while its govmment is hard up, or vice versa.

Taxation up to this time has been light in Switzerland, and has fallen scarcely at all upon the large numhomes in Geneva and other cities of is probably suffering from more than anything else is the falling off in the tourist trade. Before the war, Switzerland, to borrow Sir George Foster's phrase, "exported scenery" on a gigantic scale. The "grand tour" always included the Alps, and many wealthy people | must have gone there every year. The transatlantic tourist came in force, and was a shining mark for the inn-keepers, the shopkeepers and the guides. This golden stream no longer flows thru the Alps. Indeed, the European tourist brings no gold with him at all. and his paper money is only accepted at a ruinous discount. There is scarcely enough traffic to justify bringing on an avalanche, and the man that used to be rescued every night by the St. Bernard dogs finds himself without an occupation.

Remarked in Passing.

The Republican victory cost the party $6,250,000. Let's hope Harding make a good president at that price.

The "mere owners of railway stocks and bonds" are selfish enough to desire government ownership. At least we were so told by Brother Williams amid groans and cries of "shame" from Brothers Gorman, of the Rock Island; Bryan, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; Budd, of the Great Northern, and Julius Kruttschmidt, of the Southern Pacific. The stockholders have more faith in Uncle Sam than they have in Uncle Julius. Sam than they have in One of the bounds, how the permit, how this and ing protests for a party who wanted to erect stables in a not the strenuous German the efforts of the strenuous German the "pull" is down and out every time. Justice. the permit, notwithstanding protests naturally inquire, who wants to hold on to the railways if the owners are willing to turn them over to the national government? We doubt if the magnates have any money invested. Private ownership means for them the continuance of good jobs, but it spells uncertainty and risk for the stockholders and bondholders of the roads. One thing apparently admitted by all RUGS IN DEMAND to be true is the impossibility of the roads keeping on as they are. They must, (1) greatly increase their already high rates, (2), get big cash subventions from the national trea-October sury, (3), sell fresh capital issues on a big scale to the public, or, (4), be taken over by the government.

We have little doubt as to what will happen. The cry that the roads be "turned back to their owners" was humbug. The owners were the stockholders and bondholders who did not want them back at all, and are more than ever anxious to lay them down again on the doorstep of Uncle Sam. The general public, gulled into believing that government administration was responsible for increased cost of operation, are coming to their senses. The Esch-Cummins Act is confessedly a makeshift which encourages prodigal expenditure and discourages economy and thrift. A final clean-up cannot be long delayed, and we believe 'this settlement and clean-up will be complete federal railway nationalization. The magnates talk blandly, but the Bay for talking is gone by.

In considering the condition of Europe and the ability of Europeans to buy our products, including wheat, we are apt to overestimate the financial credit and resources of the small nations that remained neutral during the big war. Your Telephone

THE value to you of your servant, the telephone, may never be measured by your individual use of it. Nor can it be measured by the amount you pay each month for its service.

Perhaps the greatest value of the telephone is the use that others make of it with resulting benefit to you.

In the far north-west of Ontario is Sault Ste. Marie. Down in the centre of the Niagara* Peninsula is Welland. Far away to the east in Quebec is Levis.

The telephone at your elbow brings all points in and around this big triangle within reach of your voice.

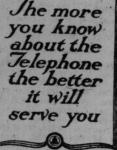

We use the telephone so often and for so many trivial things that sometimes we forget the bigger things it can do.

We forget sometimes that this big city is fed, clothed, housed, kept warm, supplied with its necessities, comforts and luxuries by a modern system of quick supply and distribution that is largely made possible by the comprehensive, communitywide service of the telephone. The greatest value of the telephone is in the use we all make of it. We ask your co-operation in our endeavor to make your telephone of the greatest value not only to you, but to the whole community.

Dried milk contains, he says, instead of millions of baccilli to the cubic centimetre, fewer than thousands. With fresh milk the organism has a chance of multiplying from the time it reaches the towns, but by the process of dry-ing there is no opportunity for the organism to grow, and to a very large extent it is killed. Furthermore, there is quite as much nourishmen in dried milk, and certainly much less chance of sickness and disease. Usually in the warm weather we have a good deal of diarrhoes, which can to a large ex-tent be attributed to fresh milk. This is partly due to contamination at the source, partly to its contamination during transit, and also to the condi-tions under which fresh milk is kept in many houses. in many houses.

MOURNING FOR A CANARY.

MOURNING FOR A CANART. Wearing mourning for his dead canary, whose funeral took place with great cere-mony, Emidio Russmanno again took up the burden of his ordinary work in his little cobbling shop at No. 5 Boyden street, Newark, N.J. He declare dthat Lorenzo and Maria, Jimmy's parents, hopping about in their cage, plainly missed their departed offspring. More than 10,000 persons, including those who followed the hearse and the accompany-ing band, and those who hung out of tenement windows, displayed an interest in the obsequies. Carrying a book, later found to be a copy of "The Life of Washington," a friend of the bereaved byrd-lover marched after the hearse, and later, at the tiny grave, he read extracts as Jimmy's casket was lowered.

BEER is a beverage of the most remote antiquity. The Egyptian God Osiris is said to have taught mankind to make a drink from barley.

But if Osiris of Mythological times could taste O'Keefe's beers of the 20th century, the old pagan would acknowledge that someone has beaten him at his own game.

O'Keefe's brews may not be known as "Nectar for the gods" but they are just right for thirsty humans, and our Imperial Ale, Lager and Stout take the palm for snappy, invigorating beverages which are relished at all seasons.

You can't buy Nectar, but you can get O'Keefe's at any cafe, hotel or restaurant.

Sold at all hotels, restaurants and cafes, and in case lots by your grocer.

This sought to bring out not only the ideal-ism of fatalism and self-sacrifice which actuated the people of a bygone era, but also an insight into the customs of that era. It was the tale of great self-sacrifice of Matsuo, chancellor of Tokihira, and his wife, who, in order to appease higher authority for past disloyalty, gave their only son as an offering.

The failure of their candidate was a live topic yesterday among those connected with the campaign of James Higgins; the defeated Labor nominee in the Northeast Toronto riding. One voter, who had himself supported Lewis, attributed the fail-ure of his associates to excessive preaching of the doctrine of class consciousness. The position of the laboring man was at present, he pointed out, sufficiently sensative to class struggle urgings, and he was, therefore, easily attracted to the Con-servative party, which had as the principal plank in its platform the constructive program of hydro de-velopment.
