COBB DENIES THAT HE WILL RETIRE

Detroit Manager Replies to Report in Sports Paper.

Johnny Evers at Second Base Again—Two Thousand Athletes Gathered at Franklin Field for Sports Carnival—The 1,000 Guineas Race.

(Canadian Press.)

St. Louis, April 28.—A report printed in a St. Louis weekly sports paper that Ty Cobb's days as a manager, and player as well, were numbered, was emphatically denied by the Detroit star last night.

"It takes time," he added, "to mould a winning team out of one that has been so unfortunate as the Tigers. I am doing all in my power to get a winning combination. As to quitting as manager here's nothing in it."

New York, April 28.—Stiff-fingered fielding by the Quakers and the incisive pitching of their moundmen enabled the Giants yesterday to take the fourth and final game of the series at Philadelphia, 10 to 5.

The Cubs rolled into the Cardinals at Chicago and with timely hitting, notably that by Grimes, won the first of the series from St. Louis, 6 to 4.

Cincinnati took a free-for-all hitting game from the Athletics, 5 to 3, and at Boston the Brooklins pounded three Brave pitchers for sixteen hits and twelve runs, while the Bostonians, with Rube Marquard was batted to the showers by his former team mates.

Washington had an easy time defeating the Athletics 9 to 3, and the Indians tied the White Sox, 6 to 6, in Cleveland. In the absence of E. Collins, with an injured hand, Johnny Evers performed at second and the Sox and displayed some of the old-time enthusiasm that made him famous.

Army of Athletes.

Philadelphia, April 28.—One of the greatest armies of athletes that ever participated in an athletic event in America was here today for the annual "day carnival" of the University of Pennsylvania at Franklin Field. The teams from sections of the U. S. and Canada, more than 2,000 of them, representing 338 colleges and schools.

Newmarket, Eng., April 28.—The one thousand guineas stake, run here today, was won by W. Farr's Silver Urn, by Juggernaut, out of Queen Silver. Sir Edward Hulton's Soubriquet was second and Marshall Field's Golden Coia was third.

Twenty horses ran. Mysia, ridden by Archibald, was unplaced. The betting on Silver Urn was 10 to 1 against, on Soubriquet 100 to 15, and on Golden Coia 5 to 1 against.

Boston, April 28.—The Braves faced the Giants today in the first game of their series without Captain Southworth. Trying to catch a fly yesterday, Southworth fell while running at top speed, landing on his outstretched hand. His fingers were sprained so badly that doctors said it would be some time before he could play again.

FRANCE WILL NOT TALK REPARATIONS AT PRESENT TIME

Paris, April 28.—The proposition to hold a meeting of the allied supreme council in Geneva, advanced by Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, is regarded in official circles here as disposed of, the French cabinet having indicated clearly that it was in perfect agreement with Premier Poincare that the question of reparations and penalties could not be properly discussed by the allies at present.

France's position is that such discussion cannot take place until the reparations commission gives notice that Germany has defaulted.

The French government, moreover, is firm in its position to resist any attempt to bring the question before the economic conference at Geneva.

Hope was still expressed in official circles here today that a non-aggression agreement might be adopted at Geneva, but the utmost pessimism prevails concerning the prospects of any kind of a satisfactory understanding with Soviet Russia.

Reports received at the foreign office from various sources regarding alleged annexes to the Russo-German treaty appear to have made an impression. According to information from these sources the annexes are declared to include a clause pledging Russia to support Germany in claims for her former colonies, or at least to the mandate for them. Another clause is asserted to provide for a military understanding in case the Geneva conference fails to realize the mutual desires of Russia and Germany.

TWO SCHOONERS ADD TO NUMBER OF LOST ANCHORS

Halifax, N. S., April 28.—Scores of anchors and thousands of fathoms of chain are strewn over the bottom of the North Atlantic fishing grounds, where every year, they are lost by the fishing fleets.

The schooner Alois reported at Lunenburg that she had to let her anchor go when it caught in an Atlantic cable one day this week. The fresh fisherman Dorothy Earl came into Halifax yesterday minus an anchor and fifty fathoms of chain which she lost in a heavy blow Monday night.

Bennie Swim Is Sentenced To Be Hanged on July 15

Woodstock, N. B., April 28.—Chief Justice McKeown at 12.45 today sentenced Bennie Swim to be hanged on July 15th between the hours of 5 in the morning and 5 in the evening, for the murder of Olive Trenholm on March 27th. In pronouncing sentence the judge was very much affected. Swim maintained the same calm demeanour that has characterized him all through the trial.

HOWAT, FORMER MINE LEADER, TO RETURN TO JAIL

Pittsburg, Kan., April 28.—Alexander Howat, deposed union miners' president, was arrested last night in Columbus. In his pocket Howat carried his own commitments to re-enter the Columbus jail to complete a six months' sentence, of which he has served 130 days, for the calling of a strike in violation of the industrial court law. He was released when he filed an appeal, but he withdrew his appeal this week and declared he was ready to finish the sentence.

SCHOOL QUESTION IN THE OLD LAND

Matter Comes Up in Parliament on Presentation of Reduced Estimates.

London, April 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Mr. H. H. Fisher, minister of education, had a difficult task in introducing the department of education estimates. He had to show the educationalists that in getting along on £6,000,000 the education system would not be wrecked towards the Geddes economy recommendations. There was no organized attack from the economists that no further savings were possible.

The discussion which followed suggested that he had succeeded, for H. H. Asquith, former premier, congratulated him on the attitude he had adopted towards the Geddes economy recommendations. There was no organized attack from the economists that no further savings were possible.

A noteworthy feature of Mr. Fisher's statement was a warning that economic causes might bring about a revival of the problems connected with the position of the voluntary schools. There were heavy arrears of necessary repairs and improvements in the case of voluntary schools, whose managers could not raise funds and the local authorities could not spend money for improving them.

"The dual system," said Mr. Fisher, "is up against hard facts and unless some seasonal settlement is accomplished between the two systems, which have clustered round it, it is found we shall find ourselves in a position of intolerable embarrassment before many years. If an agreement on religious questions in schools is not reached, I feel that the force of economic circumstances will compel a solution."

ONTARIO TO TAX RACE TRACK BETS

Treasurer Calculates That the Government Will Receive $2,500,000.

Toronto, April 28.—Provincial treasurer Hon. Peter Smith announced in the legislature last night the proposal of the government to impose a tax of five per cent, on the total amounts wagered on the race tracks. The government presumed, he said, that the resultant revenue would be $2,500,000.

"The money," he said, "will be easily collected, without expense. If a man wins he will pay a portion of the tax but if he loses he will not have to pay anything."

The treasurer announced that during the year the government would find it necessary to raise approximately $45,000,000 by bond issue.

ATLANTIC SUGAR STATEMENT SHOWS A HEAVY LOSS

Montreal, April 28.—Concerning the immediate future of Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd., whose annual statement shows a loss of more than $5,000,000, the Gazette says:—"The immediate problem facing the company would seem to be to arrange for the disposal of their bonds, now held as collateral securities, so as to pay off bank and other loans. If this can be successfully accomplished, the business of the company would seem to indicate that it has a good chance of meeting its other obligations."

Produce Prices. Hartland Observer:—Potatoes this week are forty to sixty cents per barrel. Hay, $2.01; oats, sixty cents; eggs, twenty to twenty-five cents; butter, thirty cents. There is a fair prospect for lambs and swine, but of course prices will be lower by far than in 1919-1920.

CRISIS TODAY IN THE NEWSPRINT PAPER INDUSTRY

New York, April 28.—A crisis in negotiations to avert a general strike in the newsprint paper industry of the U. S. and Canada will be reached today when labor delegates will reply to the manufacturers' demand that unskilled labor be left out of any contract for an international wage scale.

Although the mill men's demands left room for a one-word answer, yes or no, it was predicted that the labor men would seek to split the issue by offering counter proposals.

As Hiram Sees It

"I see," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "you have been taking part in a mistletoe show at your age and with your record as a pillar of the Settlement. What did you see?" "I see," said Hiram, "you old fool, if you want to go on 'er a good time with them Rotary fellows I won't say a word agin it—fer I believe they mean all right." "Hanner aint forgot the good old days we had when we was young an' she used to act the part of an old maid—er I was hanged around to see she didn't get to be one. Mister Man—little fun is better'n a lot o' medicine. If the good Lord hadn't intended for us to laugh He wouldn't give us a bump of humor. Me an' them Rotary fellows had more fun than the folks that was lookin' on—an' I'll bet them Rotary fellows knows one another better, likes one another better—they'll work together better—because they laughed an' joked an' sung songs with one another for the last month—Yes, sir."

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME NEAR AT HAND

The Railways Will Adhere to Standard.

Much Diversity Throughout the Dominion in Dates Selected for Putting Clocks Ahead—Reports from Provinces.

(Canadian Press.)

Toronto, April 28.—On Sunday night next there will begin in Canada the annual and more or less popular sport of "putting" the various time systems of the dominion. Sundry cities will at various dates during the next month set their clocks forward one hour to "daylight saving time," while neighboring cities, towns and countrywide, will stick to the time regulated by the orderly and methodical course of old Mr. Sun. Railways and other cross country services will stay by standard time, and thereby hang the perennial tales of much confusion and inconvenience.

The properties to be visited are the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Company, the Republic Iron and Steel Company, Lacksawanna Steel Company, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, Inland Steel Company, Brierley Steel Company and the Steel and Tube Company of America.

About fourteen independent manufacturers whose companies represent an aggregate dollar value of $600,000,000 of the country's biggest independent steel manufacturers, who have contemplated a merger that would produce an organization second only to the United States Steel Corporation will leave here on Sunday night on a tour of inspection of these companies.

The division of trade will be arranged in such a way that the countries participating in the consortium will have the opportunity of dealing with the sections of Russia situated nearest them. For example Great Britain would be given the opportunity to trade with Northern Russia through Archangel and the Baltic ports while the southern countries would be given advantages in the Black Sea province.

In thus laying their cards on the table, the Allied leaders hope to put an end to the present uncertainty and clear up the Russian question. The document, the result of deliberations participated in by the British minister, by M. Barthou, for France; M. Schacht, for Germany; M. Jary for Belgium and Baron Hayashi, for Japan.

As the draft of the note to Russia was still being considered by the committee, the meeting of the inviting powers and the neutrals, scheduled for seven a. m. was postponed until four p. m. on Monday.

Moscow, April 28.—The first incursions of German troops since the signing of the Russo-German treaty are announced by the newspapers. At Pskov a German named German has undertaken to complete unfinished buildings; improve the tramways and repair the sewer and water supply systems in return for lumber concessions and building lime. The council of labor and defense has returned plans for the organization of a 1,000,000 share company, capitalized at 1,000,000 rubles, with an equal number of shareholders from the Hirsch group and the Russian government.

The foreign office announces that the Norwegian government has agreed to guarantee a credit for fish purchases in Norway by which the Soviet government will pay one third in cash and the remainder in two years. The amount will be twenty million kroner.

Genoa, April 28.—Louis Barthou, head of the French delegation to the Geneva conference, is expected to leave tomorrow for Paris, to confer with Premier Poincare regarding developments at the conference, according to the Havas agency. He will return from Paris next Wednesday.

Genoa, April 28.—Dr. Walter Rathenau, German foreign minister, addressing the press representatives last evening, spoke in commendatory terms of Lloyd George's address to the British and American correspondents at the conference. He asserted that Germany would extend heartfelt support to Lloyd George in furthering a non-aggression pact and declared that the premier would be given the applause and support of the whole world in this commendable effort to restore the happiness of the war-torn peoples.

Moscow, April 28.—The Lavra asserts that the "decision of the French council of ministers to occupy the Ruhr region in Germany" will tend not only to the breaking up of the Geneva conference but to disruption of European peace and the threat of a new war, which the French "are provoking by throwing sparks in the powder magazine."

The Soviet government has sent a wireless message to Foreign Minister Tchitcherin in Geneva embodying a resolution of approval of the Russian delegates' policy at the conference and giving instructions that no concession be granted the allies which would interfere with the rights of or the political freedom of the Russian workers.

Genoa, April 28.—Dr. G. Motta, head of the Swiss delegation to the economic conference, and Premier Branding, head of the Swedish delegation, announced on behalf of the neutral countries that they completely agreed with the conciliatory efforts made by Foreign Minister Schacht of Italy.

Genoa, April 28.—The Rev. Don Luigi Surzo, secretary of the Italian Catholic party, generally known as the Popular Party, arrived in Genoa today to witness the work of the economic conference.

He is the "man behind the scenes" in Italian politics. Indeed, he has become a kind of dictator, whose will is law, as was proved when during the last ministerial crisis he vetoed the return to power of former Premier Giolitti, who would a short time ago was the most powerful statesman in Italy.

THE COTTON MILL. Weavers and fixers of the York cotton mill, who walked out recently in protest against a reduction in wages, say that about fifty hands are still out. Officials at the mill, when asked today to verify this, declined to discuss the matter.

FINAL PLANS OF ALLEES FOR RUSSIA

Definite Proposition Ready by End of Week.

Italian Press Gives Indication of the Proposals—Russian Industrial Concessions to Germans Reported—Other Phases of Genoa Conference.

(Canadian Press Cable)

Genoa, April 28.—Plans for Russia's reconstruction were being finalized here today upon the conference sub-committee on Russian affairs and the indications were that a definite proposition would be laid before the Russian delegation by the end of the week with the suggestion that the proposition be either accepted or rejected without further discussion.

The Italian press today gives indications of what the allied proposals are. First, it is asserted, no loan will be offered to Soviet Russia. It is suggested that an international consortium be formed to finance trade with Russia through combinations of firms and individuals of the various countries represented. Germany will be included in the consortium, it is declared, and provision made that the U. S. may join.

The plan contemplates the economic colonization of Russia with guarantees that the autonomy and sovereignty of the Soviet government will not be infringed upon.

The division of trade will be arranged in such a way that the countries participating in the consortium will have the opportunity of dealing with the sections of Russia situated nearest them. For example Great Britain would be given the opportunity to trade with Northern Russia through Archangel and the Baltic ports while the southern countries would be given advantages in the Black Sea province.

B. of the A. U. C. by some Halifax sportsmen. He will be asked to substitute it for the one already drawn up. CRITIC OF CANADA EXPLAINS MOTIVE Called Dominion 'Narrow and Parsimonious' with Friendly Intentions.

Toronto, April 28.—"Narrow and parsimonious," according to Prof. Alfred E. Zimmerman, of Oxford University, in a recent article, was Canada's attitude toward the League of Nations.

In further elucidation Prof. Zimmerman on these two points said:

"When I said that the attitude of Canada at the League of Nations was 'narrow and parsimonious,' I felt that it was right to do so, and that I was in the independent position to say so. But when I read the article, I was reminded of my own attitude toward Canada and Australia. It was hardly the thing I have since apologized for calling Canada parsimonious, as I learned she had made a magnificent contribution to the funds to fight typhus. The smaller countries which could least afford to pay did not take the economy attitude that Canada and Australia did."

"That refers to the parsimonious, but why call us narrow?"

"My feeling was that the attitude of Canada at the League was too much as if the only object of the league was the arbitration and consolidation of international disputes. We all ought to pay more attention to the causes of war, and try to remove them. The secretaries of the league can do a great deal in removing the causes with the co-operation of the various nations. The criticism I made was all most friendly criticism."

CROWD CHASED POLICE.

Recaptured Seized Liquor From Revenue Officers.

Brookville, Ont., April 29.—In the east end of Cornwall inland revenue officers and provincial police seized 200 bottles of liquor at the premises of Napoleon LeFave. As they were about to arrest LeFave, he bolted, and, although shots were fired after him, disappeared. A crowd of nearby residents gathered, forcing the officers to an upper storey of the house and captured the liquor which the officers had seized.

Many Women Need More and Better Blood

ALL SEEKING HEALTH SHOULD READ MRS. EPLETT'S LETTER.

It is a fact proven by thousands of grateful letters that Hood's Sarsaparilla is remarkably beneficial to young or older women.

The most common ailments of women drain and weaken the system and sometimes result in anemia, nervous weakness, general break-down.

"My Weight Ran Down" from 160 to 105 lbs. in two years. consulted physicians, who treated me without benefit. I was told I had liver troubles, and enlarged spleen.

"Something I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla, the straightforward way in which its story was told, induced me to try this medicine.

"It was evident something must be done to stop the loss of flesh and strength. I could not walk a quarter of a mile nor sweep the floor. After eating I would have palpitation of the heart upon the slightest exertion.

"The effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla was soon noticeable, in better appetite, return of strength and increase in weight, and so I continued to take the medicine about a year.

"At this writing I can do a great deal of work without palpitation or exhaustion, and have recovered my weight so that now I tip the scales at 145 lbs.

"Thin, Poor Blood seems to be entirely gone. I am usually very grateful for this medicine." Mrs. Susan M. Eplett. Better get Hood's today.

At This Season a Good Tonic and Blood Purifier is Needed

Women overworked by family duties or overtaxed socially find they can't stand anything.

Their nerves are all unstrung, faces pale, appetite impaired, sleep not sound nor refreshing.

Hood's Sarsaparilla gives the blood more vitality and better color, makes stronger nerves, and contributes to the length and enjoyment of life.

It is agreeable, pleasant and convenient to take, and it embodies a long-acted and tested blood-purifying and tonic.

ADVENTURE IS LURE FOR GIRL OF TODAY

Her Horizon is Wider Than That of Savant of 1800, Says Mrs. Speer.

The horizon of an intelligent girl of eighteen today is wider than that of the savant of 1800. Mrs. Robert C. Speer of New York City, president of the national board of the Young Women's Christian Association, said in presenting the report of the board to the national convention of the association in Hot Springs, Ark., last week.

"Notions are out of date," she said. "Girls are beset with complex interests; a Pandora's box of new emotions and experiences fills the air with thrills and stings for them. The sense of adventure, of something lost beyond the ranges, something calling for us, summons them out of the high place of the past into the excitement of the present. Unless they are led aright there may be weary years of wanderings in the wilderness.

"There could be no greater challenge. We are interpreters of life for young women. The negative of sinal no longer has power with a world where curiosity is the dominant force. Our place is not with the tables of stone, but with the followers of the Master who sat on the hillside of Galilee and told the listening crowds where the satisfactions of life are to be found. It was voted to adopt the social ideals of the churches to use our resources in preparing women for responsible citizenship and after studying social and economic conditions affecting women to see how these conditions could be helped by legislation, pleading ourselves to work for legislation as might promote the welfare of young women.

"Science now reinforces what common sense has always said, that where the girls lead the boys will follow, and the race in turn will grow. It was this commonplace of present-day thinking that made the governmental authorities turn in 1917 to the Young Women's Christian Association as a woman's organization that could be trusted with the responsibility of the nation put millions into our hands, not primarily to help the girls, but that the girls might not hinder the boys in their task. With 1919 the welfare of young women died out of the heart of the average American, but abated and did not mean decreased need. Girls did not go back to the accustomed life at home.

"In addition to the fact that it has grown up since 1914, in years when older men and women were preoccupied with attempts to salvage civilization, this generation is the first to feel the impact of many new forces in the world's life.

The camera and the illustrated paper have brought the world to the girl's door. The morning paper brings her the world's politics and scandals. The movie, with its crude lights and lines, tends to destroy the line of imagination, or would, if God had not made resilience one of the attributes of youth. Modern science pours into the cup of young people great stores of treasure, along with the alloy; why should they want to try everything, explore all the avenues of life?"

SOLVING MYSTERY OF SIGHT.

Most Wonderful Part of Eye is "Sensitive Plate" at Back of the Eyeball.

One of the problems of the human body which have long puzzled scientists is the exact means whereby "sights" are carried through the eyeball and the nerve to the sight-centre in the brain. In other words, how do we see?

The eye is the most remarkable camera. It is a roundish ball made opaque for five-sixths of its surface, but transparent in the one-sixth which bulges out in front, says Tit-Bits.

Like a Camera. There is a delicate curtain which hangs over the transparent "window" or pupil in front, and forming the iris, behind it is the crystalline lens, which can be altered by fine muscles so as to focus itself for any distance. Other muscles and tendons are attached to the lens to rotate it in the direction we want.

How We See. But the most wonderful part of the eye is the "sensitive plate" at the back of the eyeball. A semi-transparent membrane, which we call the retina, lines three-fourths of the interior of the eyeball (which is filled with fluid), and it is particularly developed at one spot, the real seat of distinct vision. On this yellow spot in each eye the rays of light form an inverted image of the object at which we are looking.

It is generally suspected that color-vision is connected with one or more fine chemicals which may be lacking in "color-blind" people. However, that may be, the nerve-layer closes up at the back of the eye and, as the optic nerve conveys the images of things in some way to the conscious centre.

What precisely travels along the nerve we cannot say, but to imagine that an image or picture is conveyed it to imitate children who think that words travel along a telegraph wire.

SPECTACULAR SUICIDE.

Farmer Hangs Himself Over Blasting Wood Pile.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 28.—Charles Edmonds, 55, a Denmark farmer, killed himself in an unusual manner at the home of his sister, Mrs. Cornelia Otis. Edmonds went to a barn in the rear of the house, saturated two new automobiles with gasoline, covered a wood pile with gasoline also, climbed atop of it after setting fire to the pile and hanged himself. The barn burned to the ground, the cars were destroyed and only ashes were left in place of the wood pile. The sister discovered the fire, but it was too late to save anything.

DON'T INFECT MOSQUITOES.

Commenting on printed reports on mosquito control in such diverse countries as Spain and the Dutch Indies, the U. S. Public Health Service calls attention to the fact that the government authorities who are trying to free a certain region in Spain of malaria refuse to allow sufferers from that disease to remain in the region over night lest they infect the malaria-bearing mosquitoes, which feed only at night. Few white people live in the region; and most of the sufferers come from considerable distances and seem to have contracted malaria while working there in previous years. Their blood is examined and they are provided with sufficient quinine to last them for two weeks and are told to go home at once and to report back at the end of that period for another two weeks' supply. The theory is, of course, that if mosquitoes cannot find a malarial patient to bite they cannot acquire malarial germs and therefore cannot pass them on to well persons. In other words, if men do not infect mosquitoes, mosquitoes will not infect men. Incidentally, the Service notes that the

A LOCAL STORY OF A LOST MONKEY

Two Animal Tales That Point the Moral of Animal Week.

It has been said that the first attribute of a gentleman is kindness. That goes for the ladies, too.
This is Animal Week—a notable anniversary of the first organized effort to bring about kindness to dumb brutes. And, thank you, there are more real gentlemen and ladies in the world today than when the movement started.
Let me tell you two tales of them at least; two citizens of this city—we don't know their names, but that doesn't matter—who have happened to be exemplars of kindness to animals at this auspicious time.
Last Saturday night the merry-faced little pet monkey "Jenny" of Kris Pedersen's hothouse on the Sandy Point road got loose and there was a terrible ado. Monkeys last about as long in this Canadian pneumonia season as lemon pie on a boarding-house bill of fare.
So the whole flower-tending crew of the plant (no gas intended) scoured the mile and half towards town hunting for the mischievous runaway. It grew dark, lanterns were brought out, but still no "Jenny." The last heard of her was that she was perching on the ice-house steps at the back entrance to the park. Now, what a place for a tropical monkey to hang out!
The Pedersen workers returned heavy-hearted and footsore to their quarters. Their little ring-tailed chum was given up for lost. It was gathered that children playfully chased her in an adventurous endeavor to trap her—serious stuff, I suppose. And so they went to bed assured that "Jenny" was by this time plucked with pneumonia and dying somewhere.
Next day one of the men, hopeful still, mended about the roads and finally discovered that "Jenny" was safe and sound in the home of a man who had faith enough in even foreign animals, faith enough in his own eyesight and sobriety to realize that he really did have a jungle denizen as a guest. He couldn't just figure it out, but there she was chattering and grinning behind the stove.
Even the budding blooms burst forth when "Jenny" landed back in the glass houses of Mid-Africa heat. So much for kindness to animals, strange and half-wild though they be at times.
And now the other case. This is

BETTER THAN HARD COAL

Soft coal so free from soot that it does not make a smoky fire, does not clog pipes and does not mat or cake when burning, is far better than Hard Coal for general household use. Quicker to light, takes less to make a fire, cheaper in price and can also be used for open fires and small heating stoves. Such a coal is Broad Cove soft coal. The main thing is to insist on getting the genuine article. No other soft coal burns just like Broad Cove. You will know it by the above characteristics.

So now, this Animal Week, let's all make a new resolve to be steadfast in our kindness towards our dumb friends, how can we expect kindness of a Higher Being if we treat our lower-being creatures so that they suffer needlessly? Support the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty, the Animal Rescue League, with its hospital and painless death-chamber in Courtenay street, this city; assist and forward the movement of kind dogs of the lower-beds in the squares, for they will only be impounded and perhaps executed. Furthermore, it's law and order.

LIVING COSTS AND HOUSING.

The report of the labor department for March shows that the cost of food has declined a little more in Canada. It is noted that "the average cost of 29 articles on the food-price index was $10.54 in March for a family of five, as compared with $10.61 in February, $13.23 in March, 1921; $15.08 in March, 1920, and $7.68 in March, 1914."

PICARDIE-APRIL, 1918.

The poplar trees of Picardie are tall against the sky. Above the roads of Picardie white clouds are floating high. The still, white roads of Picardie with few folk passing by.

The poplar trees of Picardie are bent beneath the blast. And through white clouds of Picardie grim, shrieking death has passed. Black are the roads of Picardie with folk who hurry fast.

They leave the roads of Picardie for the rocky road of chance; They flee from death in Picardie, but even backward glance you will find. For the poplar trees of Picardie grow nowhere else in France.

ANOTHER NEW IDEA TO PREVENT THEFT

An Electrical Device Made So That It Would Tax the Ingenuity of the Most Practiced Thief.

Inventions designed to prevent automobile thefts are being perfected so they will also facilitate detection of motor car thieves.

Only a short time ago inventors had been devoting their genius to preventing theft of motor cars. But the "art" of automobile stealing has progressed to such an extent that preventive mechanism only delayed the thief in his operations.

The result has been that a new class of automobile locks is being produced, and, failing to prevent theft, will cause detection almost instantly.

One of these is an ingenious contrivance being perfected by Deputy Police Commissioner Joseph A. Faurot, of New York and Lieutenant J. S. Slocum of the New York Police Training School. It is called a Faurot-Slocum, and is welded on the left front fender.

First models of this invention, which is now going through a process of several tests and corrections, consist of an electric mechanism showing a circular disc when the car is driven by its rightful owner, and a diamond-shaped disc when it is left unattended.

The diamond disc is locked into the mechanism so that it cannot be taken off without causing an automobile alarm to be sounded.

While this disc is attached, the motor is shut off, and cannot be started if the disc is unlocked and the circuit is substituted.

Should a thief manage to hammer off the whole mechanism, which he would find quite difficult, he would leave tell-tale holes in the mud-guard, and would the motor power shut off. At the same time he would incur the danger of finding the automobile alarm.

Another kind of invention which automobile insurance experts say helps detection of a stolen machine is one which locks the steering mechanism so that the front wheels cannot be steered. It is attached to the steering post just below the wheel.

It consists of a scollar arrangement with teeth which fit into holes so that a slight turn of the steering wheel will engage the teeth and make the wheel immovable.

The only way a car with such mechanism attached can be stolen is by use of a wrecking machine. The front wheels would have to be lifted off the ground, so that the car could be towed off, and a wrecking car moving an apparently damaged automobile would look suspicious to a policeman.

WHY MEN SHOULD REFORM CLOTHING

Hygienists Point Out That Poor Ventilation Results in Chronic Heat Poisoning—Women Have More Sense.

Hygienists are coming out strongly for reform in the clothing of men along hygienic lines. They declare that in this respect women have displayed far more intelligence than men, pointing out that where direct efforts failed to accomplish much in the way of getting women to wear sensible clothes the appeal of fashion had an almost instantaneous effect.

Attention has been directed to this subject in a serious manner by the knowledge gained by investigation and study of industrial hygiene, more particularly the causes of minor illnesses among various classes of factory workers. It has been definitely determined that "many of the ill-defined ailments observed in certain trades are nothing in the world but chronic heat poisoning." In other words, they are due to a lack of proper ventilation.

It is maintained, therefore, that as the mass of workers suffer from poor factory ventilation, so also does the individual suffer from poor bodily ventilation—hence the necessity for reform in the matter of his clothing.

"If industrial hygiene has brought forth one incontrovertible fact, it is that there is a direct relationship between the ventilation of the work room and the efficiency of the worker," says The National Health. "Physiologists have determined that the reason that most warm temperatures reduce efficiency is because of the difficulty in those situations in which the atmosphere is stagnant. Conversely, those who live and work in an environment approaching that of the outside air are not only more useful workers but they also lead longer, healthier lives."

Chronic Heat Poisoning.
The reason is not far to seek. Man gets rid of his excess heat by perspiring, and this physiological process is as necessary to his well-being as is panting to that of a dog. Unless this perspiration is evaporated and heat loss produced thereby, he is surrounded by an envelope of moist air, an excellent non-conductor of heat, and, in consequence, a greater or lesser degree of heat prostration results. These facts are well recognized and factory laws in general require that work-places shall be well ventilated.

"It is curious that this principle has not been more generally applied to the clothing of men, i. e., that steps have not been taken looking to the improvement of the body of the individual."

"Man possesses enormous powers of resisting cold; yet there seems to be a deep-rooted antagonism to working and living in a temperature much below 68 degrees Fahrenheit. We are taught from childhood to be afraid of taking 'cold,' but it would be far more logical to teach the danger of taking 'heat.' The modern house is so constructed that it almost duplicates the climatic conditions of the shady tropics, and out-of-door games and other artificial exercises are necessary to keep health a body which normally should be maintained by the struggle to obtain food."

Hampered by Clothing.
"The clothing which is worn by the average male is a little to the bad ventilation of the body, and by reason of its many constructions, it reduces the exercise of the musculature very considerably."

"The feet are incased in stockings which hold both heat and moisture and over this layer are shoes made of leather and canvas, and rendered almost water-tight by an outer coating of wax or enamel. They bind the feet to deformity

Launder Your Silk Underwear This Gentle Way It Will Last Twice As Long

Your fine silk things should be laundered immediately after every wearing, and in the very best way. The acids in perspiration attack the fine silk threads and ultimately rot them. Leaving a vest slightly soiled even a single day will cause injury.

Careful cleanings with Lux will make your silks wear twice as long and they will keep their silken sheen, their soft, fine texture.

To launder your dainty silk underthings

Whisk one tablespoonful of Lux into a thick lather in half a bowlful of very hot water. Add cold water until lukewarm. Dip garment up and down, pressing suds again and again through soiled spots. Do not rub. Rinse in three lukewarm waters. Squeeze water out. Do not wring. When nearly dry, press with a warm iron—never a hot one.

Coloured Silks: Lux won't cause a colour to run if pure water alone won't do so.

and its muscles are atrophied by non-use. The leg is constricted by stocking and garter, outside which is a pair of trousers which bind the knees, thighs, and hips.

"The thighs are incased in drawers which may extend to the ankles, binding calves and knees still more and tightly buttoned over the hips and around the waist. In the case of breeches, motion is still further restricted by their being buttoned from the knee downward, and this is accentuated by puttees, either of stiff, unyielding leather or a bandage of wool tightly applied. Trousers or breeches tightly encircle the waist, and to make sure that the abdominal muscles shall be thoroughly crippled a belt of leather or non-elastic cloth is worn."

Further Interference.
"An undershirt of cotton or wool envelops the body from the neck almost to the knees, and perhaps from the shoulders to the wrists. It may interfere with respiration, and over it is a shirt with constricting bands of stiff material which bind the neck and wrist. In the case of the dress shirt, a collar is pushed down."

"A stifflly starched collar which impedes the use of the neck muscles and a necktie of no imaginable use whatsoever top off the shirt. A snug vest of cotton or wool tightly cinches the thorax, only to be covered by a coat which restricts the shoulders, arms and trunk. All to this a heavy overcoat or raincoat and a hat which tightly encircles the cranium and the costume is complete, unless a cane, which is necessary in order that this poor beavarded male may walk, be included."

"Women have displayed far more intelligence in reforming their clothing along hygienic lines. A man's clothes average about nine pounds in weight, a woman's usually less than five, and it is a well-known fact that a girl in an evening gown can dance a man in a dress suit to death."

"The solution of the problem lies, of course, in the reform of men's clothing. The innumerable failures to reform women's dress by direct methods and the accomplishments of fashion to that end point out a general line of attempting this. The improvements which have been brought about in female garb were not too difficult to produce because the fashion of women's dress is in a constant state of mutation, and if a woman can be shown that a certain thing is stylish, she will eagerly adopt it."

"Not so with man. He fatuously cleaves to the necktie, a vestigial remnant of the Middle Ages; he demands a ribbon for his hat for no other reason than the floppy headgear of Louis XIV. which once supported a sword belt still adorn the back of the cutaway of the armament era and three or four buttons at the cuff are fossilized relics of the days when men used to roll up their sleeves. Men cling conservatively to uncomfortable, unhygienic garments and they will stiff-neckedly resist a change unless there is a subtle appeal to their vanity."

"Changes are coming slowly; underwear is being improved; the soft collar and the sports shirt are steps in the right direction; the war popularized a shoe which somewhat approaches the shape of the foot, but, unfortunately, there remain to be worn out a lot of puttees. It still is impolite for a man to appear in his shirt-sleeves; walking without a hat is frowned upon, and the man who attempted to traverse Fifth Avenue in really hygienic clothing would continue his journey in a patrol wagon. Yes, the ideal is still a long way off."

"A pair of sandals and a loincloth would be about right," Carlyle has pointed out, such a garb would detract from the dignity of the courts, so it must be said that the one-piece dungaree which automobile mechanics wear is about the best to which we have attained at this stage of our sartorial development."

that same morning to bring some American people who had come on the train with him. He met Walter Humphrey, Campbell, and Stanley Humphrey. He asked Walter to row him across. Humphrey did row him across to the Strait Shore side. Witness went immediately to the station. He saw several people there and was told that the Amherst people had already left by way of the ferry for his house. He returned to his home between 4.30 and 6 o'clock that afternoon. He said he stayed around his home that evening.

He had no moustache on August 4. He mowed some hay for Mr. Stackhouse, his landlord, on August 5. He went to work hauling ashes on August 6. Afterwards he went to Grand Bay fire-fighting.

He swore he did not cross the river on August 2 or 3. He was not in St. John on August 1, 2 or 3. He was not in Riverview Park on August 1, 2, 3, or 6. He denied that Mrs. Calvin or Alice Brown saw him in Riverview Park on August 1 or 6. He was never in the Park when Hattie Lavigne was there.

He swore he did not cross the river with Walter Humphrey on August 3 and he denied that he ever had any such conversation as Humphrey had alleged had taken place between them on August 3 on the trip across.

He had been taken before Hattie Lavigne two or three times. He had no moustache, he said, when he was taken before her previous to his being taken to Truro.

He swore he never owned a khaki shirt in St. John. He had no khaki pants with leggings and he had no riding breeches. He had no brown coat or black bow tie last July or August. When he returned from Truro he was wearing a blue suit. He denied the testimony of McDonald and Humphrey regarding his alleged attempt to borrow $2 from McDonald.

Judge Berry at this stage asked the prisoner whether he knew of any reason why John McDonald should frame up a story like that without any foundation. The prisoner replied that there was a reason. The judge asked the counsel to bring it out. Mr. Vernon asked Paris to tell the court any jury.

Prisoner's Explanation.
"To the best of my suggestion," Paris replied, "a man who will pay other people to go around and steal things off people's cars and rob people's cars, it certainly is a fact he will sell a man's life for $1,000." Asked by the court if he thought that was the reason, Paris said he was positive it was.

Perfect Bread
ASSURED WHEN YOU USE
WHITE STAR YEAST

Asked by Mr. Vernon whether he knew of McDonald's having stolen things off people's cars, Paris replied that he did not, but that he knew of other people who had stolen and that McDonald had gotten the stolen goods in Truro.

He denied that he had ever made any statement about killing a man or holding up a man. Paris laughed and said "No" when Mr. Vernon asked him whether he had ever killed a man in Nova Scotia. He never had anything to do with any murder or any rape, he said.

Cross examined by Mr. Byrne, Paris said that when he swore at a previous trial he did not know where Riverview Park was, he meant he did not know exactly at what spot off the avenue the park was. From what he had heard in court he thought it was off the right hand side of the avenue. Of his own knowledge he did not know where the park was.

He did not remember saying at the last trial that the gasoline was stolen in Truro on July 26. He could not remember whether his defence at the time of the trial for the theft of the gasoline was an alibi.

The cross-examination of the witness was interrupted by the adjournment of the court until 10 o'clock this morning when Mr. Byrne will continue his examination of the prisoner.

PARIS ON STAND IN OWN DEFENCE

The defence opened and the prisoner was put on the stand yesterday afternoon in the trial of John Paris, charged with the murder of Sadie McAuley. Detective Sergeant Power and Detective Hiddiscombe were the witnesses for the prosecution. Their evidence was practically the same as at the other two trials.

The Defence.
Mr. Vernon then opened the case for the defence. At that stage it was not necessary for him to discuss the weak case of the prosecution, for whether Paris was in St. John or not did not prove him guilty of the murder of Sadie McAuley, he said. He would produce witnesses who would prove that it was impossible for Paris to commit the offence because they would prove that Paris was continuously in Truro from the morning of July 24 until the evening of August 3. His witnesses belonged to a class in whom the jury should have greater confidence than they would have in the class of witnesses who were brought over by the crown from the west side.

Paris Gives Evidence.
Mr. Vernon then put Paris on the stand. Paris said that he left St. John on the night of July 23 for Truro, that he arrived in Truro the next morning, July 24, and that he remained continuously in Truro until the evening of August 3, when he took the train for St. John, arriving here on the morning of August 4.

The witness gave a detailed account of the time he said he had spent in Truro, telling of his actions, where he had gone and the people he had met. Witness said he boarded the train for St. John on the night of August 3 and arrived in St. John between six and eight o'clock on the morning of August 4. He had not been in St. John from the night he left on July 23 until he returned the morning of August 4.

After his arrival he talked with some people. Later he started out for his home in Water street, West St. John by way of Main street and the Strait Shore road. He cut down by Saunders' scow and whistled across the river to Willie Sweet who came over in a boat and rowed him to the Carleton side. He left his home about 11 o'clock

A Glimpse of Young Ideas Freed In Paris

The Freedom of the One Who Led the Assault On Civilization in America Looks Oddly Like "Bondage" After All

Edmund Duffy in New York Evening Post

When you arrive in Paris, if by any chance you have friends already resident on the left bank in the Quarter Latin, the first excursion after your luggage has been deposited in a pension (which, by the way, is always as near to the junction of Montparnasse and Raspail as possible) is a tour personally conducted by the knowing friends to the Cafe Rotonde.

You enter the portals of the famous cafe, which has been recently remodelled in a desolate, heavy, sandy-floored air to a golden-oaked duplication of the lower regions of the Brevoort. It then occurs to you that although you have been eight or nine days on boat, trains, etc., you are really to all intents back home. All the old habits, soft-shirted, short and long haired denizens of Greenwich Village are before you. You sigh and decide to see it through.

If your French is good, you sit down and order a demi; and with the first sip, which takes on the glamour of a sacred rite, you become "one of us."

For a few days the fascination of Paris has you in its grip; you lounge about the cafes; you visit the Louvre, the Musee de Cluny, the river, the book-stalls; the dance palaces occupy your evenings; in fact, you do everything but work. And then, if you do not enter into the spirit of things and become a brother in large and expansive talk with your fellow expatriates, it occurs to you that in the cold, clear light of reason your new-found companions and old ones, too, have aspects that make them decidedly amusing.

How do "Psychologists" Live. At the moment the ex-Villagers are sharply divided in two classes; the news writers of the Paris editions of the New York Herald and Chicago Tribune, and the psychologists. The latter literary gentlemen of the Herald and Tribune receive usually 300 francs per week and are able to live, with an occasional loss from the cafe patronage, in comparative comfort. But the psychologists—just how they live will forever remain a mystery, for it may be truthfully stated that they have no outward visible means of support. And let it be said now that it occurs to no man in the Quarter Latin to discuss the matter.

On occasion, however, an indication of some vague connection in the States is apparent when, in the Rue de la Doune, is sister rendezvous, one of the more prominent intellectuals, with a few articles in the higher-thought publications of New York to his credit, may be seen actually at work, with paper and ink supplied by the cafe, a bottle of Bordeaux at his elbow, and a towering pile of little saucers, accumulated in the early inspirational heat of the opening paragraphs, completely covering the table top.

Like all great geniuses, they have their whims. One, an ex-Rhodes scholar, deserted Oxford cruelly because the bells of the tower clocks disturbed his slumbers. He doesn't go to bed at all now.

Can This Be Harold? Another, the foremost objector to American civilization, who recently edited a bulky volume on the subject, and who has vowed never to return to those oppressive shores, refuses to send back any of his writings of protest, regardless of publication dates, on any but the very largest mail-carrying boats. Although on an average two boats leave France weekly with mail for the States, nothing under 28,000 tons will do.

This, however, is but one indication of the idiosyncrasies of this particular great young man. His is a truly guarded, if not an actually cloistered, existence. Although the escape from America was made with intent and purpose to unshackle his trammelled mind and sensitive nature, Paris seems not to have proved to be the desired haven.

In Paris, you are told, one is quite free from the depressing American routine. Your American man of letters works only to escape from America—in self-defence, as it were. In America he shrinks from contact with the callous and unympathetic, off to his little garret, and there labors feverishly at his keyboard, literally tearing the final sentences from his typewriter as the garret walls close on him with fiendish psychological oppressiveness.

But, alas! what happens when he gets to Paris is evidently not so different. The intellectual in question spends some six or seven of his working hours daily at the copy desk of the Paris Herald—which would indicate that the escape is not quite complete.

It's a Grand Place to Talk. As for the mornings, who wants to create before lunch? After lunch one must discuss life and letters, for it is a cardinal principle in the Quarter that discussion is absolutely necessary as a stimulus to creative work—discussion, moreover, on a much larger and lengthier scale than is possible here. Fortunately, one is never at loss for a topic or an aggressive listener, which leaves the hours from five to seven open for actual creative labor, but even then if one works in a cafe one cannot be assured of a complete detachment—cafes are prone to have visitors.

The conviction that America is no place to live in is firmly shared by all. Spending an evening in a cafe, you may learn of the harrowing effects on a sensitive intellect of a sanitary shave in a New York barber shop. You may listen, between drinks, to a patronizing dissertation on the utter hopelessness of a country that allows its brainless politicians and Sunday school workers to annihilate the cocktail hour. The utter lack of comprehension and appreciative perception existing in editors and publishers, as a class, will be graphically described to you by an author who has just had a paper on "The Relation of De-De to See" returned. In short, they can see no early reason why any creative being should for a moment, live any place but in Paris and only the approved sections of Paris will do.

Back to Philistia. It is some little time, however, before you arrive at a definite conclusion about the little group. For, after all, life on the Quarter is to a large degree enjoyable. Early rising is taboo, and breakfast in front of the Rotonde, with the sun shining, the colorful procession parading the Boulevard, and the complete assurance that the waiter will come near you only at your beckon—for the art of rattling dishes after you have been seated but four minutes and have ordered only one drink is still unknown to French waiters.

But fortunately on returning to America, after a week or two at the most, the feeling that there is really some hope for this much-despised country grows on you. In your absence you find a number of good pictures have been painted, a host of good drawings in pencil, and not a few worth-while new books have come out, all indicating that at least a few creative sparks have not been extinguished by civilization in America.

PUPILS' AID ASKED IN FIRE PREVENTION

Two Hundred Medals to be Awarded to School Children for Essay on Subject.

Boys and girls in the New York public schools are to have an important part in this year's campaign of education on the subject of fire prevention. Their reward for the best essays submitted will include 200 gold medals. These gifts have been provided by co-operation between the fire department and the New York Board of Fire Underwriters. In an official announcement of the regulations to govern the contest, Fire Commissioner Thomas J. Brennan said in part:

"The loss of life and property in New York City, due to preventable fires, has reached such proportions that we are turning to the youth of our city to assist in checking the tide of destruction. A large number of fires occur in apartments, tenements and dwellings, due largely to carelessness and ignorance. The fire department has little or no jurisdiction to enforce fire prevention methods in these buildings. Therefore it is our conclusion that to overcome dangerous and hazardous conditions a thorough system of education along fire prevention lines is most urgent and necessary."

The conditions of the contest, as announced by the fire commissioner, provide that the essays of the high and intermediate school pupils shall contain not less than 600 and not more than 600 words, the essays of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth-grade pupils to contain not less than 300 words and not more than 300 words. The high school department and the heads of the intermediate schools and the district superintendents are to choose the best essays and forward them to the Fire Prevention Bureau in the Municipal Building.

The essays are to be submitted not later than June 30.

$18,000,000 TO FIGHT PEST.

Nation, States and Counties Join in Fight on Cattle Tick.

There seems to be little question that the time is approaching when there will be no more cattle tick pest in the United States. The Department of Agriculture at Washington, which adds that the department, in co-operation with states and counties, is gradually cleaning up the infested territory and releasing it from quarantine. Large amounts of money have been spent, but when the benefits are considered the cost has been extremely low, says the department.

Since 1905, when the work of eradication began, the department has spent about $3,000,000; the states have used about $2,400,000 for the purpose and the counties have paid out about $10,700,000.

"At the first glance this seems like expensive work," says the department, "but when these figures are considered in connection with the results in beef and dairy products, it would appear to be justified. In the time this money was being used, from 1906 to 1921, 523,837 square miles of territory, once the domain of the tick, was freed from quarantine.

"Concrete evidence of the benefits of the tick eradication is to be found in all parts of the infested country, many of which are now producing large numbers of cattle of both types have been imported into this region from other tick-free states to improve the native cattle. When the tick was still on the job it was practically useless to bring in new blood. Southern cattle were inbred and from year to year became less productive.

"Fifteen years ago dairying as an industry was practically unknown in the south, but in many sections, many of the farmers supplying whole milk to the New Orleans market, which means that good methods are being used, the state produced $18,000,000 worth of dairy products, a striking increase over the total four years earlier, when the value of butter, cheese and milk was only $750,000.

"From 1907 to 1920 the increase in the number of dairy cows was more than fifty per cent. During the same period the increase for the entire United States was only 18.8 per cent. Statistics compiled by the Department of Agriculture show that in this time the actual number of dairy cows in nine southern states increased from 2,220,000 to 3,428,000, a gain of 1,198,000.

"While the increase in the number of cows has been large, the improvement in quality is thought to be of even more importance. Pure-breds have been shipped in each year in large numbers, and there is great interest in pure-bred sires and in bull associations of which there are

$100,000,000 FOR BUTTONS.

The United States Consumes 10,000,000,000 a Year.

The people of the United States pay an average of $100,000,000 a year for buttons and have sent $16,000,000 worth abroad since the beginning of the war. The history of the button in the United States, since the war cut off our chief source of foreign buttons, drawn principally from Germany and Austria-Hungary, is, says the National City Bank, one of great activity both in home production and exportation. In the year before the war the value of the button production of this country was $20,000,000, while a census statement recently announced shows the value of the output of button factories in 1919, the latest census year, $43,000,000, and experts in that industry estimate that the sum paid by the "final consumer" in the United States was about $100,000,000. The total number of buttons turned out by the factories of the United States in 1919 is stated by the census at 69,323,000 gross, or equivalent to practically 10,000,000,000 buttons.

"Besides this big total of more than $40,000,000 worth of buttons supplied to the home market by our manufacturers," continues the bank, "they have rapidly expanded their sales abroad. Prior to the war the value of the buttons exported from the United States averaged a little more than a half million dollars a year, but with the chief European button manufacturers, Germany and Austria-Hungary, cut off from the outside world, the foreign demand upon the United States was greatly stimulated and the value of our exports of this class of manufacture jumped from a little over a half million dollars in 1914 to $1,000,000 in 1915, $2,000,000 in 1916, $2,000,000 in 1918, $3,250,000 in 1919 and nearly $4,000,000 in 1920.

"Of this big production and exportation the once despised 'mussel' existing in enormous quantities in the rivers of the United States and especially the Mississippi, furnishes an important part of the material used in the manufacture of pearl buttons, and the score of button factories which line the Mississippi in Illinois and Iowa turn out millions of dollars' worth of pearl buttons, the exports alone of that particular group, 'pearl buttons' having amounted to nearly a million dollars in 1920. In fact, a little over one-third of the buttons turned out in 1919 were 'fresh-water pearl or shell,' the total number in that year being 25,000,000 gross out of a grand total of 69,323,000 gross.

"The whole world has apparently learned the attractiveness and value of the United States button. Of the pearl buttons alone exported in 1920 direct sales were made to no less than sixty countries and colonies, and the $3,000,000 worth of buttons other than pearl distributed went to over eighty countries and colonies. To Europe alone the 1920 exports of pearl buttons amounted to $300,000, and all other buttons $200,000, making the 1920 exports of buttons to Europe, formerly the great button manufacturer of the world, over a million dollars, while the remainder of the nearly $4,000,000 worth exported in 1920 were distributed to North and South America, Asia, Oceania and Africa.

"The capital now invested in the button manufacturing industry of the United States is approximately $30,000,000, and the sums paid in wages in the last census year over $10,000,000. Of the 437 button factories in the United States in 1919, 248 were in the State of New York. Japan, always alert in recognizing new developments in world needs, has also tremendously increased her button output in recent years, and especially that of pearl buttons, as is illustrated by the fact that she sent to the United States in 1920 5,000,000 gross of pearl buttons, valued at $1,947,000, while the pearl buttons drawn by us from all other countries amounted to less than $30,000."

ELIMINATES BATTERY IN NEW RADIOPHONE

U. S. Government Invention Replaces Undesirable Storage Unit With Electrical Power.

Washington, April 27.—Elimination of the storage battery, the most expensive part of the home made radio receiving set, is now possible, according to the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce.

The receiving sets which are now used in receiving radio signals, music and the like over distances of perhaps hundreds of miles require a storage battery to light the filaments of the electron tubes. The battery must be charged from time to time, it is bulky and heavy, the acid in it is a source of danger and damage to the household and altogether it constitutes a drawback to the general use of radio sets.

The receiving set developed by the bureau connects with the ordinary electric lamp socket. The set may be used with any type of antenna, and by special means of connection it is even possible to use the electric light wires themselves as the antenna. The set consists essentially of an amplifier with minor auxiliary parts. It is described in a paper which will be published by the Bureau of Standards about May 1.

The amplifier will utilize a sixty cycle current supply for both filaments and plates of the electron tube, thus eliminatinating much of the interference met in an ordinary amplifier circuit.

"This interference," an announcement says, "has been practically eliminated by balancing resistances, grid condensers and special grid leaks of comparatively low resistance, telephone transformer in the output circuit, and crystal detector, instead of electron tube detector."

"In the final form of the amplifier there is only a slight residual hum, which is not objectionable. The amplification obtained with alternating current supply was as good as that obtained with the same amplifier used with the direct current supply. The complete unit is light, compact and portable. For the reception of damped waves, the amplifier as constructed worked most satisfactorily for wave lengths was determined by the working range of the radio-frequency transformers used.

"By using suitable radio-frequency transformers it is expected that the amplifier will be effective for the reception of damped waves and undamped waves as long as 10,000 metres."

Peoria, Ill., April 27.—If science can discover how the lightning bug's sending apparatus flashes light waves, present day radio science may be superceded, E. G. Shalkhauser, professor of physics and radio science at Bradley Polytechnical Institute here, said. He believes that the firefly can send out an electric magnetic wave, but its source is still a mystery and this he is investigating.

"If we could find this source, I think we could throw away all our antennae, audion bulbs and other apparatus, because in my belief the lightning bug may have a little power plant of his own more highly perfect than any fruit of radio science," said Professor Shalkhauser.

"It has been proved repeatedly that the wave transmitted by the bug is a cold light wave. The light wave, heat wave and radio wave are the same in a sense, because they have the same frequency. It may be possible to tune down to a sufficiently low wave length to discern the bug code."

SOUGHT BY POLICE, LEAPS TO DEATH

Man Supposed to be Wanted in Chicago Commits Suicide—Identity in Doubt.

New York, April 27.—Detective Edward Doyle of the West Thirtieth street station went to the Hotel Pennsylvania seeking a man who was wanted by the Chicago police for abandoning his wife. Doyle told House Detective Coffin that headquarters here had received information that the wanted man, Randall Graham, had registered at the hotel about two weeks ago as Robert Gardner of Pittsburg.

Ascertaining by telephone that Gardner was in his room on the third floor, the two detectives went up and knocked on the door. There was no response. Again they knocked, and loudly demanded admittance. Getting no response, they forced the door. The room was empty. One window was wide open. Doyle wandered to window and gazed downward. On the roof of a one-story extension, twenty-five or thirty feet below, lay the body of a man.

"It's Gardner, all right," said Coffin. Dr. Nute of Bellevue Hospital said the man had been killed instantly.

The police are not sure now that Gardner was Graham. The description given by the Chicago police does not tally exactly with the appearance of Gardner. His fingerprints and a photograph have been forwarded to Chicago. Gardner, who was about twenty-eight years old, registered at the hotel on April 6 and had been living there since. A pawn ticket for a watch and a pocket-book containing one cent were among his Sandwich police took Salzenstein to Hotel Dieu. Hoffman escaped without a scratch. The two men just missed being killed outright by a few feet, as a little farther along Sandwich street the base of the embankment consists of huge blocks of concrete.

FRENCH GOWNS GO TO PERU.

Carefully guarded by two New York modistes, who three days before returned from Paris, forty trunks of feminine finery left New York last week on the Grace liner Santa Elisa, bound for the west coast of South America, via the Panama Canal. The guardians explained that the trunks contained the very latest gowns from the French capital, in some cases so daring in design and treatment as to render them a bit hazardous for the New York trade. Peru and Chile, however, were expected to snap them up.

NEW BRUNSWICK MEMBERS SPEAK FOR THE PROVINCE

Ottawa, April 27.—Maritime members put the claims of their provinces in the matter of public works before the house tonight in the discussion on the main estimates of that department. There have been drastic cuts this year in public works all over the Dominion and the Maritime provinces take some of it in common with other provinces. However, the cut although large from the estimates, is not so large from the actual expenditure last year as last year's estimates exceeded what was spent. In New Brunswick the main estimated expenditures this year are: St. John, quarantine station, Partridge Island, repairs and improvements, $85,000; Sussex public building, improvements, $6,500; and general LaSalette, repairs and improvements, $7,000. All these estimates are with amendments and another $88,000 for the Maritime provinces, in general for Dominion buildings, in which New Brunswick will get its share.

Mr. Hanson (Conservative, York-Suburby) made an appeal for the town of Edmundston, expressing regret that here had been no appropriation for a school. The town, he said, was going ahead rapidly and there was nothing adequate in the way of government funds. Plus Michaud backed this request and the minister promised consideration at the first opportunity. Mr. Hanson contended that New Brunswick is entitled to more than it is getting. Mr. Hanson wanted to know who was in charge of public buildings, etc., in New Brunswick and if Mr. Waterbury had been relieved. The minister said Mr. Waterbury had retired and that no appointment had yet been made. If Mr. Hanson had a recommendation he would glad to hear it. Mr. Hanson promised a recommendation to the amusement of house.

R. W. Grimmer (Conservative, Charlotte) said the people of St. George's, Charlotte county, had been promised a school previous to the war. They were willing to wait till the war ended now they asked that the promise be held out and a post office and customs use be erected.

Dr. Murray MacLaren (Conservative, John and Albert) said he was satisfied that the needs of Edmundston were urgent and he supported a request by Mr. Hanson and that by Mr. Grimmer. The minister said that consideration could be given to both projects. T. W. Caldwell (Progressive, Carleton-Victoria), also supported Mr. Hanson's plan for a post office at Edmundston.

The item of $28,784 for New Brunswick passed with little discussion. R. B. Hanson (Conservative, York-Suburby) asked Mr. Stewart to consider the removal of a band of Indians now occupying a reserve in the heart of the village of Devon which prevented its development. The Indians were agreeable to locating elsewhere.

The vote of $3,938 for Prince Edward Island passed without discussion.

MINSTRELS HAD HAPPY REUNION

Went to Bond's after the Performance and Cut Loose for an Hour.

Another crowded house greeted the Rotary minstrels at the Imperial last evening. It was a most appreciative audience, and laughter and applause were continuous. The minstrels were more thoroughly at home on the stage, amusing by-play was more in evidence, the local hits went over in good style, and choruses were sung with more vim, and there was not a dull minute. There was also a good house at yesterday's matinee.

At the close of last night's performance John Bond invited the whole troupe to his upper dining hall. They went, black faces and all, and until midnight cut loose with an impromptu programme that put even the stage performance in the shade. What they thought of their director, A. U. Brander, was shown when they looked him up on the top of the table sang at him, cheered him and gave such a demonstration of affection as must have warmed his heart. Dr. Spangler, whose year as president has just closed, was treated in like manner, as were Dr. Barton, the new president, and Canon Armstrong, the new vice-president. W. C. Clarke, A. L. Foster, W. K. Haley, R. H. L. Skinner and H. Mont Jones, of the committee of management, all in turn had to get on the table, as well as Palmer Kinsman, the interactor Otty Fraser and W. B. Putnam, District Governor Paterson, A. M. Belding, and finally John Bond, whose generosity was acknowledged in behalf of the minstrels by Harry Champolovier. R. G. Schofield was borne to the table and forced to lead in a lullaby, in honor of a recent event. The ladies and gentlemen of color, delegation, whether the minstrel or not, will go to Fredricton some weeks hence when the Rotary Club there gets its charter. District Governor Paterson is off to Yarmouth today to join a large Halifax delegation in assisting to form a Rotary Club in that town.

PARIS ON STAND ALL MORNING

Cross-examination by Attorney General Byrne.

Court Adjourned at 1 O'clock With Prisoner Still on the Stand—Some Features of Evidence.

John Paris, on trial charged with the murder of Sadie McAuley, was under cross-examination by Hon. J. F. Byrne, attorney-general, during the entire session of the circuit court before Mr. Justice Barry this morning. The prisoner remained unperturbed during the entire examination and while the story he told at trial remained unchanged, there were several circumstances which he did not remember, although he said that he had told of them at the last trial.

Amongst the spectators in the court room this morning was Mrs. Ronald Macaulay, mother of the little girl out of whose murder the case arose. Paris was still on the stand at 1 o'clock when the court adjourned.

On August 2, Paris said he picked mushrooms in the morning, went to John Byard's house and then went up to town, arriving there around 11 o'clock. Between the times he was at William Byard's and John Byard's he was at Oscar Clyke's house. He did not now remember going to Talbot's house.

He said Dr. McCurry was at the Clyke house when he arrived. He saw the doctor arrive in a car. He had some words with the doctor regarding James Clyke who was sick. He could not remember to whom he sold the mushrooms. He said he did remember at the last trial but had forgotten. He did not remember if he went to town on a bicycle or not. He said he saw the Chautauque parade of children in the morning. In the afternoon he received some money at the Eastern Hat & Cap Co. office.

To several questions as to his actions after he arrived in town Paris said he did not remember, although he acknowledged telling of them at the last trial. Cross-examination of Paris was resumed by the attorney-general, Hon. J. F. Byrne.

According to his own statement, Paris said, Walter Humphrey was a thief. He said that he preferred to sit while giving evidence, as he did not get sufficient to eat to allow him to stand for four or five hours.

The prisoner identified a photograph of himself shown by the attorney-general. He said he left Truro on the night of August 2 and arrived in St. John on the morning of August 8. He last was in St. John on July 28.

He did not think the crown witnesses were a good class of witnesses. He thought Stewart Fraser who gave evidence in the defence in the first two trials was in about the same class. He did not know if Fraser would be present at this trial.

He said he did not remember if he bought a ticket when he went to Truro on July 23—he said his memory was not as good as at the second trial when he swore his memory had been improved since the first trial. He thought he paid the conductor; he gave him $10 and got $4.80 or $4.90 back.

Coming back on August 8, he said he paid $2 to $4 to the conductor, saying he did not have any more. Paris said he had $7 to $9, but he said he did not tell the conductor a lie, although on the last trial he swore that he told a lie. "I told him that is all the money I had to pay him," he said.

He did not remember telling the conductor he had $5.

Prisoner identified Conductor Capson as the man in charge of the train.

Paris said he was at the home of William Bayard on the night of August 1 from about 8 or 9 o'clock until about 12. He then left and went to a summer house in the garden for about twenty minutes, going back into the house.

"This seems to be a different story you told at the last two trials," remarked the attorney.

Prisoner said he would not be surprised if Norman Green did not give evidence at this trial on account of the way he was treated at the last trial.

John McDonald being called forward, Paris said he knew him and knew that he (McDonald) received stolen goods from a car which went over the falls.

He said the evidence given by Mrs. Calvin and Alice Brown that they saw him in the park was untrue. He said these two witnesses were not reputable. "Why?" asked the attorney.

"Mrs. Calvin does not live with her husband," said Paris.

"That is getting quite fashionable," remarked the judge.

To the attorney, Paris said he had never stolen anything, although he said Walter Humphrey was a thief.

Paris said he fixed the events of August 2 from a record, that of Easter Hat & Cap Co., Stanley Nichols and Leslie Jordan. He said he did not now use the date of the Chautauque parade to fix the date.

DESCHANEL, FORMER FRENCH PRESIDENT, DEAD

He Had Been Prominent in the Life of His Country for Years.

(Canadian Press Cable.) Paris, April 28.—Paul Deschanel, former president of France, died today.

Paul Eugene Louis Deschanel, tenth president of France, entered upon a seven-year term in that office on February 18, 1920, after having been chosen by the National Assembly the preceding January by the biggest majority since the election of Thiers, the first president of the present republic. Statesman, author and one of the most brilliant public speakers in France, M. Deschanel's political triumph marked the retirement from public life of former Premier Georges Clemenceau.

On May 24, 1920, a few months after taking up his residence at the Elysee Palace as the successor of Poincare, President Deschanel when on his way at night from Paris to Montbrison to dedicate a monument, fell from a moving train while attempting to raise a window to his sleeping compartment. He was supposed to have been only slightly injured. Thereafter, however, the press of France expressed almost daily solicitude for his health. After passing weeks of convalescence in Normandy, he returned to Paris in June to preside at the Council of Ministers. Later it was announced that he had suffered a complete breakdown and that his resignation was inevitable. The following September the president sent a letter of resignation to Premier Millerand, together with a message to the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, which were soon followed by the election of his successor.

For nearly forty-five years, M. Deschanel had been in French public life. He was president of the chamber of deputies when elected to the highest post as first citizen of France. Previously he had been head of the French Parliamentary Commission on Foreign and Colonial Affairs. Among his first acts upon assuming the presidency were his signing of a decree naming "honorary" to study French living costs and another banning alcoholic drinks from the Elysee Palace.

M. Deschanel was born in 1857 in Basle, to which city his father went after being exiled from France, in 1851, for having published a pamphlet entitled "Catholicism and Socialism." When he was two years old, the boy returned to France with his father, who was pardoned by an act of amnesty, following a recantation of his views. The young man was educated in Paris and when only twenty years old he entered the public service. In 1883 he was elected member of the Chamber of Deputies. In 1896 he was named vice-president of that body, and two years later was elected president, a position he held until 1902 when he was defeated for re-election. In the midst of his political and public labors, M. Deschanel found time to write works on political and social problems.

Madame Deschanel was formerly Mlle. Germaine Brice, daughter of Rene Brice, member of the Chamber of Deputies for Ile-et-Vilaine.

Money back to every patron who feels he or she did not get money's worth.

SUSSEX ALSO TALKING HYDRO

(Sussex Record.) It will be gratifying for our citizens to learn that in the near future Sussex is to have a new industry—an up-to-date tannery and shoe pack factory. The promoters of the new company are local men of push and energy, all of whom have made good themselves. The factory and tannery will be built on the site of the old cheese factory, which was not harmed in any way by the fire, and is in as good condition as when put down. It will be a two-story wooden building, and the tannery and shoe packs, that hydro-electric will be a reality in Sussex and that power will be obtained from this source to run the different machines which will be installed. The tannery is to be under the supervision of C. W. Camp, who has had a very wide experience, having engaged in this line of work in leading tanneries of the United States and Canada and is a master workman.

It is expected that a start will be made on the erection of the building next month and that it will be rushed to completion. The new industry when fully equipped will employ quite a number of hands and will be a welcome addition to the town's industries. There is room for more industries and with the advent of hydro, it is to be hoped that Sussex will be favored with an industrial boom.

THE LESSON OF THE ST. JOHN ELECTION

(St. Croix Courier.) On the surface is one issue, but beneath it was a deep public sentiment ardently sought to meet the desires of the public, and in the outcome is a pronounced message for all other public utilities. For instance, the New Brunswick Telephone Co. might give early heed to unpopular long distance tolls, and in a matter of just local concern might ponder on the wisdom of the annoying toll demanded for communication between St. Stephen and Calais.

Bitten by the wanderlust bug, which is causing so much restlessness among athletes of the present day, Walter Hagen, America's most notable home-bred golfer, and Joe Kirkwood, the Australian trick shot specialist, have formed a team to make a world's tour which will keep them traveling by water and rail for the greater part of the next twelve months.

They will then return to America for the championship tournaments, and for a series of exhibition matches, after which they plan to go to Honolulu for two or three matches and then proceed to Japan. Other countries on their itinerary are the Philippine Islands, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, France, Spain and Great Britain. The trip will be an epoch-making one, so far as golf is concerned, for it will be the first world's tour ever attempted by two golfers.

SAW METEOR DIVE INTO THE OCEAN

Coast Patrol Only Witness to End of Fiery Ball That Lighted Up Jersey—Other Meteors Reported.

Lost alike to the examination of astronomers and the gaze of the merely curious is the meteor which splashed across the heavens near the Northern New Jersey coast on Sunday night.

The testimony of a coast guard must remain as that of the only eyewitness to the finish of the visitor which swept across the sky in a fiery ball trailing an iridescent tail, and ended its career with an explosion that was heard for many miles and caused mild tremors.

A lonely beach patrol from the Coast Guard station at Toms River just after 9 o'clock on Sunday night saw a starry sky suddenly glowing as though from a prolonged lightning flash.

Search Parties Out. Search parties which scoured along the Atlantic coast and the back country in the belief that the meteor had struck somewhere near Barnegat, Tom's River or Brown's-in-the-Pines, gave up after a few hours' vain hunt.

A woman telephoned to The Times that at about the hour the New Jersey meteor was reported, she was standing in front of the Columbia University library, at 118th street, with a woman companion.

Some scientists were disinclined to be positive about the nature of what others observed. Dr. E. O. Hovey, Curator of Geology at the American Museum of Natural History, said that while reports of the object indicated that it was a meteor, the present available facts did not justify a positive decision that it was a meteor.

"We have no way of determining exactly what the fiery body was," said Dr. Hovey, "since it is believed to have fallen into the sea. Undertaking to find it in that case would be hopeless. If it exploded before striking the sea, fragments may possibly be found."

Professor Hovey pointed out that August and November are the most common months of affinity between lone stars and Mother Earth. During those months, he said, this planet annually whirls through a meteoric zone where, like a squad of distance runners, millions of unattached celestial wayfarers huddle together in a dash toward eternity.

Drawn Toward The Earth. In rolling through this nebular mass a few thousand of the stars invariably come under the influence of earth's gravity and are drawn toward the planet at a speed of many miles a second.

Seldom does one of them reach the earth, however, according to Professor Hovey. The earth's air cushion, countered from forty to fifty miles up, acts as a friction break, and fires them to an incandescent heat. It is in them they make their appearance to the astronomers and, on some occasions, to the naked eye of the awed human who witnesses the descent.

Professor Hovey expressed a belief that both the Los Angeles and the Asbury Park meteors exploded before reaching the earth. The historic hunt by the Coast Guard patrol at Tom's Island probably was that of the heated gas which formed the "ball of fire" being immersed in the ocean, he said.

THE QUESTION OF COLD STORAGE

A Local Criticism and an Ottawa Estimate of Value of System.

A correspondent writes to the Times: "In reading your account of the election and of the corporation nuisance, I think there is one greater than the N. B. Power Co., and that is the cold storage. One has only to go through the so-called city market and see what is placed on sale for people to buy and eat, and see if the statement is not correct. Are the people who are being paid to make the life of the little grocery store-keeper unpleasant barred from the market? Let us get at the health of the cold storage babies-to-be, and let the milk question rest for a while."

In regard to cold storage a circular issued on April 17 by the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, says:—

"Cold storage should need no defence. Domestically it is valuable, and commercially it is invaluable. Anybody who uses a refrigerator in the summer months will recognize this. What it does for the household on a limited scale, it does for the trader on a wholesale scale. It preserves whatever food is entrusted to it for future use. While this is an undisputed fact, there is, as the Dominion Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner says, more or less prejudice against the system in the public mind. If the quality of certain food appears to have deteriorated, there is frequently a declaration that it has suffered from cold storage. Of course there may be some reason in the supposition, but experiments have abundantly proven that if a substance is placed in cold storage in a fit and wholesome condition, provided the temperature is kept right, it will remain in that condition for a great length of time. Cold storage in a commercial way leads to and maintains a well-balanced state of supply. It enables unseasonable goods to be placed on the table in seasonable condition. It permits goods to be shipped for long distances. It enables districts that cannot produce certain lines of food to enjoy the lines produced in other and possibly far off districts and climates. In short cold storage has become indispensable to modern life, and while it may at times lend itself to certain abuses, these are not such as cannot be regulated. "While in other countries cold storage on a large scale had years before become a recognized factor in the meat business, it was not until 1894 that the first warehouse with mechanical refrigerating machinery was established in Canada. This occurred in Montreal, and gave an immense impetus to the system. Prior to that there were a few small warehouses in which the cooling process was confined to gathered ice, and where the storage was of a very limited nature. A quarter of a century later, or in 1919, according to data furnished by Commissioner Riddick, there had been 256 installations of mechanical refrigeration in cold storage warehouses, abattoirs and other manufacturing establishments; nine warehouses equipped with the gravity bring system, and forty-seven small freezers, mostly for fish, where ice and salt were used as a refrigerant; altogether a total refrigerating space of 33,247,774 cubic feet. During the past two years further additions have been made, and how Montreal through its harbor commission, has on the verge of com-

Fredericton, April 27.—(Special)—In accordance with the custom established several years ago, the graduating class of the University of New Brunswick will have a special address delivered to its members at the convocation on Thursday, May 18. Dr. C. C. Jones, chancellor, announced that Hon. Walter E. Foster, premier of New Brunswick, will deliver the address. Hon. Mr. Foster is the first provincial premier to deliver this address.

Y. M. C. I. CLASSES IN ANNUAL REVIEW

The Y. M. C. I. annual review and gymnastic demonstration of classes was staged last evening in St. Vincent's auditorium in Cliff street. The display was an unqualified success and the large audience showed its appreciation of the various items on the programme by spontaneous bursts of applause. The various classes and drills were under the able direction of W. E. Stirling, physical instructor of the Y. M. C. I., ably assisted by P. Pemberton, H. J. L. Nixon and Miss N. Dunnachie, and the work of the members of the classes showed the results of their careful instructions.

The first item was a free hand drill under the direction of the physical instructor, who led a class of between fifty and sixty boys under twelve years of age through the exercises. The boys played a smoothness and rhythm that seldom seen in junior classes. The high school girls' class put on a gymnastic Highland fling which was a charming feature.

A tumbling troupe then occupied the stage and their stunts were snappy and clever and drew a great hand from the audience. The wand drill and dance by the school girls' class followed and the way the little girls went through the intricate figures of the drill was a revelation to the spectators. They also went through the step dance in an excellent manner.

The seniors then went in for pyramid forming on the parallel bars and other various stunts in which their team work showed up to advantage and the act passed off with quickness and dispatch. The Irish jig was danced by members of the high school girls' class and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The school boys' dumb bell drill was a splendid example of training, as the large class followed the movements of the instructor with machine-like precision. Every member of the class moved in unison until it looked like a single action.

The high school girls gave a special club swinging exhibition with clubs attractively decorated with the colors of the Y. M. C. I., maroon and white. This exhibition was exceptionally well carried out and was heartily applauded. Eight school girls followed, all dressed in Highland costume, and gave an interpretation of the Highland fling.

The sword dance was put on by eight members of the senior class, in which all the dancers showed great dexterity in carrying out the intricate motions of the famous dance. They were all dressed in Scottish cadet costumes.

A charming solo was sung by Miss Nettie Dunnachie and she was compelled to respond to an encore before the audience was satisfied.

One of the features of the evening was the work on the horizontal bars by members of the senior class. Pyramid forming and other daring stunts in mid-air showed one another in rapid succession and the audience was kept on the alert following the movements of the actors. An amusing touch was added to the scene by the appearance of a clown, whose comic antics convulsed the spectators with laughter. He finally showed great cleverness himself on the bar and was in the midst of an exceptionally daring exhibition when the fastenings gave way, but the clown proved equal to the emergency and, jumping clear, he turned and caught the saing bar.

The school girls' class put on a Peggy O'Neil dance in which eight members appeared in charming green costumes and, led by Miss Margaret Flood, who also sang one verse of the popular song of the same name, went through the steps of the dance with a swing.

The closing item on the programme was a sailor's hornpipe, which was danced by fifteen girls from the high school class in white middie suits with sailor hats to match. Miss Mary Crozier sang "The Lads in Navy Blue" during the dance, which added still further to its attractiveness.

The stage managers last evening were T. L. Killen and T. K. Sweeney. Miss Vera Campbell acted as accompanist for the various drills and dances.

IO DE JANEIRO'S FOUNDERS. One of the landmarks of Rio de Janeiro has been a hill about 800 feet high in the heart of the city, called the Morro do Castello. A chapel crowned the top, and there was the tomb of Estacio de Sa, with his brother, Salvador de Sa, shares the title of founder of the city. Salvador was drowned at sea, so Estacio could be entombed. Near the chapel on the hill was a stone something like a milestone, bearing the date 1567 and called the foundation stone. On January 20 Rio de Janeiro celebrated the 355th anniversary of its founding. As it had been decided to raise the hill and so make available valuable land, on that day the ashes of Estacio were taken from their long-time resting place and carried in an army wagon to a monastery of the Capuchins at the ginning of the ascent of the mountain. In another wagon was the foundation stone, followed by a long procession composed chiefly of Catholic religious bodies. After the ground where the hill was is properly prepared a monument to commemorate the founding of the city will be erected in the same place, and the ashes of the founder and the foundation stone will be put there.

THE REAL ORATION OF THE EVENING

Baltimore Newspaper's Comment on St. John Woman's Address - A Reporter Gives His Impressions.

The following extract from the report of the final formal session of Pan American conference of women in Baltimore is taken from the Baltimore Sun of April 24, and will be read with interest in New Brunswick: "Tribute was paid to famous women of all the Americas last night at the final formal session of the Pan-American conference of women at the Hotel Bellevue, with Miss Helen M. Gardener, United States civil service commissioner, presiding, and the official delegates to the conference telling briefly of the famous women of their several countries. Informal sessions will continue through this week. Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, of Canada, delivered the real oration of the evening in telling of her country women." In her address, Mrs. Smith spoke of the early pioneer women of Canada and the United Loyalist women. She referred to Jean Mance, founder of Hotel Dieu, Montreal; Madeline Vercheres and Lady LaTour, and closed with a fine tribute to the Canadian nurses who played so heroic a part in the great war, and to Mrs. W. E. Sanford, president of the National Council of Women of Canada.

Another Tribute. The following paragraph is taken from the Baltimore American of April 24: "Mrs. Atherton Smith, of Canada, would make an excellent reporter. Mrs. Smith went down in the elevator from the twelfth floor to the lobby of the Bellevue with a reporter who was endeavoring to secure a story from her. Whether she wanted to tell the story is not known, but before the lobby was reached, Mrs. Smith knew all about that reporter and could have written his 'bit' without the slightest difficulty."

Harrison returned yesterday, following a conference with the Minister of Militia at Ottawa, in which they urged the claims of this city to remain as headquarters for a special military command as at present. The local officers were supported in their stand by members of the commons and the senate, headed by Hon. A. R. Copp. The proposal to do away with M. D. No. 7 and to have military matters directed from Halifax was opposed on the ground that it would hinder efficiency, that recruiting would be hampered, that officers would lose direct touch with their men and that by cutting the service here as great a saving could be made as by transferring headquarters to Halifax. The minister said he recognized the force of some of the arguments and would consider the matter thoroughly.

COFFEE AS A STIMULANT

An English Writer Says That Tea Drinking is Less Beneficial.
Is coffee a stimulant? Many careful experiments have been conducted with the object of discovering the influence of coffee upon mental and bodily activities. It is a correspondent in The London Daily Mail. According to one investigator, coffee is "an accelerator of fatigue," but this conclusion has been repeatedly contradicted by the evidence of numerous pharmacologists.
It is found that no general rule can be laid down, but there is ample proof that the caffeine—the alkaloid contained in coffee—is a true stimulant for many persons. The belief in the restorative or stimulating properties of tea and coffee is widespread and justified, the writer says. Caffeine is to coffee what alcohol is to wine. Alcoholic beverages diminish the temperature of the body; coffee increases it. Caffeine in moderate quantities imparts energy in a number of instances, though not invariably, investigators say.
"Some constitutions resist alcohol, and the same may be said for caffeine," he says. "The effect of coffee is well marked in most persons. The pulse is slightly quickened and there is freer action of the kidneys and the skin. In large doses coffee may cause overaction of the heart and hinder digestion. Sufferers from digestive trouble may be advised to dispense with black coffee after dinner and to avoid coffee containing a high percentage of chicory."
"The medicinal use of coffee is well shown when it is employed as an antidote to certain poisons and in acute alcoholism. As a daily beverage coffee has fewer risks to the nervous system than the digestive organs than tea. There is less tannin in coffee than in tea, and for that reason it is not so likely to retard digestive processes. The action of coffee upon the brain and nervous system causes disturbed sleep or actual insomnia in some instances."
"A Spanish physician who was drinking strong black coffee with me at 11 in the morning laughed at the idea that coffee interferes with slumber. 'If it did,' he said, 'my countrymen would be nation of insomniacs.' But in Spain coffee is one of the principal beverages, and those who use it freely become habitual drinkers of strong coffee late in the day that causes disturbed slumber, whereas habitual indulgence renders the system proof against the anti-sleeping effects. No doubt excessive coffee drinking injures the digestion and nerves. Donetti, the musical composer, who drank fifteen cups of black coffee in the course of a few hours' work suffered from caffeine poisoning. My own experience shows that coffee is both a brain and muscle stimulant, and

ST. JULIEN; YPRES
(Montreal Gazette.)

The anniversaries of the second battle of Ypres and that of St. Julien have been "remembered" by Canadians with fitting solemnity and appropriate pride. The part the Canadians played in these battles is well known to historians. There are many people to whom the word "Ypres" has a tragic meaning. It was in defence of that fragment of Belgium that a quarter of a million British soldiers laid down their lives. In this herculean struggle, Canadian troops played a gallant part, and those who returned remember "The Salient" as a place of the most difficult endurance, the most desperate courage, and the most terrible suffering. It is our duty, therefore, to recall that bloodshed and that agony so that our natural pride may be awakened. Neither the crest of the hill at Albuera, nor the slopes at Waterloo, saw greater deeds than those accomplished by the unconquerable—even if contemptible—British Army, which again and yet again throughout the pages of history has stemmed the tide of foreign conquest and which at Ypres kept evergreen the brilliant traditions of the Wellingtonian troops. The memory of Ypres comes whispering to Canadians very terrible but still precious things. What Verdun meant to France, Ypres means to Britons. But the fighting round Ypres was on a vaster scale than the grand assault on Verdun. Not one but three battles were fought in the Salient. The first was the climax of the race for the coast in the autumn of 1914, when the worn ranks of French's Expeditionary Force were called on to hold their lines against an overwhelming artillery fire and hordes of fresh troops. After the dreadful winter campaign in which adequate equipment and material were lacking to men who had to stand for many hours together almost up to their waists in bitterly cold water, came the first of the dastardly gas attacks. In the Flanders offensive of 1917 the troops in the Salient achieved and suffered more than seemed possible to men. Not only British evidence but Hindenburg and Ludendorff also agree that the conflicts of the war that Ypres battle was one of the most gruesome to the men in the front lines. When a man is able to say "I was at Ypres," he need say no more. That is ample. It is fitting, therefore, that St. Julien Day should be recalled and honored. The service performed for posterity in that Ypres Salient deserves its memory perpetuated. At Ypres itself a roll of hon-

for breakfast. It is the most deliciously satisfying, hurry-up breakfast you could serve and it is ready-cooked and so easily digested. In addition to real food it contains all the mineral salts the human body needs; also the bran for keeping the intestinal tract clean, active and healthy.

or has been deposited, bearing the name of every soldier who fell in its defence. A hotel which will serve the needs of those who go to Ypres seeking some scrap of Belgian earth is being erected, and its walls will bear the names in divisions of those who fell in action. All honor to the glorious heroes of Ypres. Too often, it is said that the comradeship and good-will of the war will be forgotten. There can be no likelihood of that, because the old spirit of each for all and all for each must be cherished through the quickening of the memories of common service and sacrifice. When can the glory of Ypres fade? Not while the memory of the noble defenders of it endures.

NEWS CAUSED DEATH OF MOTHER-IN-LAW

Mortally Stricken on Hearing Daughter's Husband Had Just Died.

Entering the home of her son-in-law, A. Dubuc, at Iberville, Que., Mrs. Thomas Barriere, sixty years of age, of Mount Johnson, parish of St. Gregoire, died suddenly upon hearing that her son-in-law had just died of typhoid fever. Mrs. Barriere had been sent for by the Dubuc family to aid in caring for Dubuc. Upon her arrival she was informed that Dubuc had just died, and, overcome with emotion, she dropped dead. Dr. J. B. Chevalier, coroner of the district of St. John's, was notified and held an inquest, a verdict of death due to natural causes being returned. Mrs. Barriere had for several years been suffering from heart disease.

los also were sung by David Allan, Master Donald Rice, R. Mawhinney, Mrs. J. M. Patterson and E. C. Girvan. An organ voluntary by Mrs. E. C. Girvan also was a feature of the programme. At the close, the singers were entertained in the vestry by the members of the Epworth League. Rev. J. M. Rice, the pastor, spoke appreciatively of the worth of the choir in presenting the cantata and Rev. Charles R. Freeman and D. C. Clark replied to Rev. Mr. Rice.

Two Slices For One

When you sat down to your soup last night, how many slices of bread did you eat with it?

One?
Try eating two.
Lots of people are only half as vital and well-nourished as they should be, because they are unconsciously cheating themselves by eating only half the bread they deserve. Double your daily bread-eating and you will also double your store of working-health and joy in living. Eat more bread.
There is no food equal to bread, in wholesomeness and nutriment. It is also very economical. You save money from the instant you start eating—
"Two Slices For One."
St. John and Fairville baked Bread is Bread at its Best—always pure, tempting and nutritious.

WOULD BAN DUKE.
Honolulu, April 28—(Associated Press)—Varnish does not mix with an amateur swimming standing, according to the National Amateur Athletic Union, which has just requested the Hawaiian A. A. U. to declare Duke P. Kahanamoku, world's champion sprint swimmer, a professional as the result of Duke's published endorsement of a certain brand of flour and furniture covering. The Hawaiian A. A. U. will consider the national body's request at its next meeting.

AN EASY VICTORY.
Philadelphia, April 28—Geo. Chaney of Baltimore easily defeated Jimmy Hanlon of Denver in an eight-round bout here last night.

CUE TITLE MATCH
DATES SETTLED
Schaefer and Cochran to Meet for 18.2 Balkline Crown in Chicago May 16-18.

New York, April 28—Jake Schaefer and Welker Cochran have definitely agreed upon May 16, 17 and 18 as the dates for their world's championship 18.2 balkline billiard match. This will be the second time that Schaefer has been called upon to defend his title since he won the international tournament at Chicago last November.

This match will be played in the same place and under the same conditions that obtained when Schaefer met and defeated Willie Hoppe last month. They will play a total of 1,500 points in three evening blocks of 500 points each for a purse of $1,000, the net gate receipts and the diamond medal donated by the Brunswick-Balke-Clender Company to be emblematic of the world's championship. The money will be divided 50 per cent to the champion in case of a loss, and 40 per cent to the challenger. Cochran finished third in the international tournament, placing him next in line to Hoppe to challenge for the crown. Just before Hoppe engaged Schaefer in their memorable match, which Schaefer won by thirty-two points, Charles McCourt, formerly a first-class player, had a success. Immediately after Schaefer's victory his championship Schaefer accepted.

This will be the final professional championship match of the season. Prior to this event the three-cushion and pocket billiard titles will be hung in the balance. On May 1, 2 and 3 in his home town of Sedalia, Mo., John Layton, the three-cushion champion, will defend his title against Charles McCourt of Pittsburgh in a 150-point match, three blocks of 50 points each. Following this match the Strand Academy in this city Ralph Greenleaf, the pocket billiard champion, will meet Walter Franklin of Kansas City in a challenge match for the championship. They will play 450 balls in three evening blocks of 150 balls each on May 4, 5 and 6.

UNEMPLOYMENT
AS CAUSE OF CRIME
An Ex-Convict Gives His Diagnosis of the Epidemic of Hold-ups.

(The writer of this article is the author of the excerpts from the burglar's autobiography, "In the Clutch of Circumstances," recently printed in the New York Evening Post.)
Spectacular daylight robberies, bold hold-ups, and daring burglaries are becoming frequent and almost familiar nuisances in the streets and homes of our large cities. The police and the criminal courts seem unable to cope with the unusual volume of crime. The press is crying out for stronger measures to combat the increasing spirit of outlawry.

In the effort to check crime, there is a strong evidence of social hysteria. We see a judge sentencing a highwayman to "life and ninety years after!" In one state the governor recommends the abolition of the Board of Pardons and Parole, in order to make prisoners serve their full sentences. A prison warden, a well-meaning and intelligent man, no doubt, abolishes all educational and physical work in his prison, leaving the men in complete idleness; and for their reaction against this condition of idleness, expressed in offences, punishes them every day until they "come to time."

This hysteria in attempted solutions of the crime problem is dangerous. It leaves the criminal out of account and blocks any understanding of cause and effect.
The principal cause of our present "crime wave" is purely economic, the result of general hard times and consequent unemployment. Since self-preservation is the first law of nature, the man out of work and without money would rather steal than starve. No amount of punishment will ever prevent men from attempting to satisfy hunger. All men, in this sense, are by nature's law of necessity potential criminals.

Furthermore, the man who deliberately sets out to commit a crime, be it highway robbery or the mere stealing of a ham, does not consider consequences. He simply "takes a chance." If he gets caught—well, he feels that there are at least forty-nine chances in a hundred for a clean getaway.
If we turned to the hysterical press and the advocates of "Jersey justice," we should conclude that the swiftest and most logical solution of our crime problem is to cut off the head of every mother's son caught in a hold-up or a burglary. We might even go further and suggest public executions and putting the heads of poisonous snakes on long poles in some public square as a warning to every criminal. But since we are living in an age of enlightenment and Christian civilization, and since public executions are no longer the fashion, we must find some other and less convenient and simply way of dealing with the crime situation.
Our jails and prisons are hotbeds of mental and moral disease, schools for crime and vice, dens which pervert mind and sap the energies of men and boys confined there, places of encouragement of brutality and cruelty both in the confined and the confined. Unless the offender is sentenced to stay

A Few of the Most Delicious Ways To Serve Them

Stewed Raisins.
Cover one-half package of SUN-MAID Raisins with cold water and soak over night. In the morning add a slice of lemon or orange. Place on the fire in the same water in which they have been soaked and allow to cook slowly for thirty minutes. Sugar may be added, but it is not necessary, as Sun-Maid Raisins contain natural fruit sugar. Serve with or without cream.

Sun-Maid Raisin Bread.
3 cups flour.
1 teaspoon salt.
6 level teaspoons baking powder.
1 1/2 tablespoons of sugar.
Sift well together.
1/2 package Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins.
1 1/2 cups milk.
If desired to make bread a little richer, 2 tablespoons of butter and 1 beaten egg may be worked in. Bake 50 minutes. Will make one loaf. Cannot fail.
This recipe makes delicious raisin muffins.

Coffee Cake.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 full cup sugar.
2 eggs, whites added last.
1 1/2 cups milk.
3 cups flour, measure before sifting.
8 teaspoons baking powder.
1 scant teaspoon nutmeg and cinnamon, added to flour before sifting.
1/2 pound SUN-MAID Seeded Raisins (cut).

Raisin Roly Poly.
1 cup SUN-MAID Seeded Raisins.
1 cup flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 teaspoons shortening.
1 teaspoon butter.
1/2 cup milk.
2 tablespoons sugar.
Sift flour, baking powder and salt into bowl, add shortening and rub in very lightly with tips of fingers; add milk enough to make dough to roll out 1/4-inch thick. Cover with raisins, which have been stewed, thickened and sweetened with one tablespoon sugar, roll the same as jelly roll; place in bake pan which has been brushed with a little butter; sprinkle top with one tablespoon sugar and dot with the balance of butter. Bake in moderate oven 35 to 40 minutes. Serve warm with lemon sauce or milk.

Raisin Muffins.
To two well-beaten eggs add two tablespoons of sugar, two tablespoons of butter, melted, one cup each of white flour and whole wheat flour sifted with two rounding teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt and one cup of milk. Beat well and stir in one cup of SUN-MAID Seeded Raisins floured. Bake in greased gem pans in a hot oven twenty-five minutes.

Sun-Maid Raisin Cake.
2 cupfuls brown sugar.
2 cupfuls hot water.
2 tablespoons lard.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 package SUN-MAID seeded Raisins.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
1/2 teaspoon cloves or ginger.
Boll all these ingredients together for 5 minutes after they begin to bubble. When cold add:
8 cups flour.
1 teaspoon baking soda dissolved in 1 teaspoon hot water.
Bake in 2 loaves for 45 minutes in a slow oven. This cake is better at the end of a week or even longer. If "ripens" as does all fruit cake.

Raisin Pie.
1 cup SUN-MAID Seeded Raisins.
1 cup water.
1 tablespoon cornstarch.
1 level teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon sugar (may be omitted).
Wash the raisins, put in saucepan with cold water, bring slowly to a boil; add sugar, salt and cornstarch, which has been mixed with a little cold water; boil 8 minutes; pour in pie tin which has been lined with crust, while hot; cover; brush top with cold milk.

Sun-Maid Bread Pudding.
To a pint of breadcrumbs add a well-beaten egg, a cupful of milk, 1-3 cupful of molasses and 1 cupful of SUN-MAID Seeded Raisins cut in halves. Mix well together, then stir in 1/2 teaspoonful each of cinnamon, salt and soda. Turn into a buttered pudding boiler and cook 2 hours. Serve with the following sauce: Beat to a cream 1/2 cupful of butter and gradually beat into it a cupful of sugar.
