MAY CURB PURSUITS OF CIVIL SERVANTS

Municipal Office Not Desirable
Sir Wilfrid Thinks They Should Devote Whole Time to Their Work

Opposition Leader Agrees With Premier Although Different Views Are Expressed—Mr. Emmerson Sees Hardship in Some Cases.

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—It is not unlikely that in the near future, and particularly the outside civil servants, will not be allowed to sit for city and municipal councils but will be required to devote all of their time to their government jobs.

The question of civil servants holding municipal offices was brought before the House today by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He stated that John Gibbons, who was paid the small fee of $150 a year for service as preventive officer on the docks at Halifax, had been elected to the Halifax county council but had found himself debarred by a regulation of the department which forbids officers from holding municipal offices.

Weymouth Bridge Pulp Mill Burned
Campbell's Plant Entirely Destroyed—Small Insurance—Many Men Thrown Out of Work.

Weymouth, N. B., Jan. 23.—Fire broke out at 9 o'clock last night in Campbell's pulp mill, situated a few miles up the river from Weymouth bridge, totally destroying the entire plant and throwing 180 men out of employment.

How the fire started is a mystery. Mr. Campbell keeps a watchman on duty and had always used every precaution against fire, but it being Sunday night very little attention was available, so far out of town, until the fire had gained considerable headway. The insurance is small and the loss a heavy one, as a lot of new machinery had recently been installed.

HAZEN AND FLEMING SPEAK AT MONCTON

MacLennan, who composed the Conservative ticket at the last election, and W. B. Dickson, M. P. of Albert. The provincial secretary spoke about an hour and a half and was followed by the premier in more than an hour's speech. Both devoted their attention to the criticisms and resolutions of the present and late government. A vote of thanks moved by E. W. Seely and seconded by W. F. Humphrey was extended to the speakers. After the meeting the premier and provincial secretary were tendered a complimentary dinner at the American hotel by the Conservative club.

TRAGIC SHOOTING OF NEW YORK NOVELIST

David G. Phillips the Victim
Riddled by Six Bullets by Former Harvard Student, Who Later Suicides—Assassin, Who Was a Socialist, Was Evidently Demented.

Canadian Press.
 Toronto, Jan. 23.—In a ten minute speech before the Canadian Club this afternoon, Hon. Arthur L. Sifton, prime minister of Alberta, set forth the views held by the three western provinces regarding the condition of the natural resources of the natural resources of the provinces.

He emphatically stated that unless the three western provinces received the same treatment as the other six provinces of the dominion and were allowed to spend their own money in whatever way they saw fit, there would soon be a great demonstration at Ottawa.

Mr. Sifton dwelt upon the great natural resources of the three provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, including asphaltic and bituminous coal, minerals, vast tracts of land and water power. Much money was required to develop the natural resources, but the dominion government spent the money while the provinces were forced to provide the revenues. "This condition of affairs," said Hon. Mr. Sifton, "cannot last much longer."

The people of the west, he declared, deserved the same treatment as the people of all the western provinces and of British Columbia, so far as the spending of their own money was concerned, and if they did not get the same treatment they would very soon demand it.

 Ottawa, Jan. 23.—A return presented to the commons today in reply to an address moved by Hon. George E. Foster, shows that the cost of the senate for the fiscal year 1909-1910 was $311,006.90, as against $288,847.83 in 1908-1909.

An analysis shows that while the indemnity paid to senators in 1906-1907 amounted to $147,800, it was $229,645 last year. The traveling expenses of the senators last year amounted to $3,892, as compared with $18,835 in 1906-1907, but in the latter year there were two sessions, and the venerable gentlemen had not then renewed their annual passes, which they now enjoy.

Special to The Telegraph.
 Ottawa, Jan. 23.—The commons today talked of a multitude of things which were of interest to members from various parts of the country. The list included the Prince Edward Island tunnel, the condition of the admiralty court, the bank and the Farmers' Bank. In this matter Hon. Mr. Foster charged the finance department with negligence, while the prime minister assured the house that the record of the government was clean on this matter and that a motion given would be made on the return of the finance minister to Ottawa.

MORGAN MAKES A RECORD TRIP

Whirled from Washington to New York, 224 Miles, in Less Than Four Hours.

Philadelphia, Jan. 23.—What is believed to be the fastest railroad trip ever made between Washington and New York, occurred today when J. Pierpont Morgan, the financier, was whirled from one city to the other over the Pennsylvania railroad in the unparalleled time of three hours and fifty-five minutes. All the way the special train on which Mr. Morgan made the trip averaged more than a mile a minute.

The distance between the two cities is 224 miles and express trains make it in five hours. The special train was ordered in a hurry and the purpose of Mr. Morgan was not made known to the railroad officials.

GARDNER FEARS FOR GLOUCESTER FISHING INDUSTRY

If Duty is Taken Off Salt Fish Congressmen Says the Americans Will Be Put Out of Business.

Washington, Jan. 23.—If the present duty on salt water fish from Canada, which is three-quarters of a cent a pound, is taken off or even reduced greatly, the Massachusetts fishing industries cannot survive, said Representative Gardner, of that state, today.

So carefully have the secrets of the treaty been kept that Mr. Gardner said he had not been able to learn positively what the change in the duty on fish was to be although the best information he could gather was that all duty would be taken off. He said this would be ruinous, and that, while he hated to oppose the general principle of reciprocity for which President Taft was fighting, he would be obliged in this case to do so.

GENERAL EXPERIMENTAL WORK

Progress in All Departments of Agricultural Effort.

Results of cooperative experiments in Ontario during 1910 and in past years were in a number of reports at the recent convention of the Ontario Agricultural and Horticultural Union, held at Guelph, Ontario, Jan. 17-19.

Prof. S. F. Edwards gave an interesting review of the results of cooperative tests in seed inoculation with legume bacteria. He outlined the work of bacteriologically testing seeds, the increase and benefits derived therefrom. The reports that had been made from experiments tried and tested, warranted the continuation of this great work in the experiments with seed inoculation.

One of the subjects that most interested the union was Prof. C. A. Zavitz's address on cooperative experiments with cereals and legumes. He went into this matter thoroughly and demonstrated what the results had shown so far. He was followed by W. Squibb, B. S. A., who outlined the work of a different variety of grain, buckwheat, emmer and speltz, winter wheat, winter rye, field peas, field beans and corn. He went minutely into the results of all these grains, giving yields of straw and grain, comparative strength of straw, etc., and bringing out clearly why, according to statistical results, were the results of these different grains for the farmer so good.

The results of cooperative experiments in 1910 with potatoes, sweet corn, field peas, grasses, clover and alfalfa, were outlined in an address by Prof. C. A. Zavitz. That the work has been productive of much good was shown in the information given. Greater results are possible in the future than in the past if the present system is continued. "Although it is twenty-five years since the cooperative experiment idea was started in this province," said the professor, "the work has only begun."

WORK OF SEED GROWERS.

In a paper on "The Work of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association," contributed by T. G. Raynor, of the Seed Branch, Ottawa, all farmers in Canada were advised to join in the work of seed and plant improvement. The main object of the association is to encourage the production of high-class seeds, and the keynote to success is selection.

AGRICULTURAL PROBLEMS DISCUSSED AT CONVENTION OF ONTARIO EXPERIMENTAL UNION.

At the convention of the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union, held at Guelph early in January, many problems were discussed that were of the greatest importance to the agriculturists of all Canada. President Henry discussed the high prices for foodstuffs, the decrease in the agricultural population, the decrease in the consequent decrease in production. As a consequence contributing to these, Mr. Henry mentioned labor-saving devices, which had been labor saving to the workman, but migration to the West, which latter fact, he asserted, was too often lost sight of. Some blamed the tariff, but the president was not unmindful of the value of the home markets. He did, however, criticize the school system, which tended, he declared, to educate the boys off the farms, and he thought rural school courses should be remedied so as to produce an opposite effect. Mr. Henry thought that high prices for foodstuffs simply meant that the farmer was coming into his own. He declared that farmers had for long been regarded by city people as hewers of wood and drawers of water and that they must now realize that a new order of things had arisen. Mr. Henry made a strong plea to his hearers to realize the dignity of their calling and he also pointed out to them the greater pecuniary value that would arise by doing everything possible to raise the standard of production.

Need Enlarged View.

Dr. Creelman of the Ontario Agricultural College, indicated that he thought that what the people of the cities needed was a change in the social and political attitude and an enlarged view of things. The curse of country life, in Mr. Creelman's opinion, was the isolation of the people and the general indifference of the great numbers of our farmers to take advantage of the different opportunities for enlightening themselves. Three things he suggested as a needed remedy. First, touch with the city through the Young Second, teaching of principles to young people in schools and clubs, systematically in open discussion, thoroughly threshing every subject taken up. Third, preparation of the growing minds of the young.

Application of Principles.

At one of the sessions, addresses were delivered by Hon. Sydney Fisher, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, and Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Hon. Mr. Fisher referred to the work and progress of the O. A. U. and stated that development in the future depends upon the actual application of the principles taught to the work of the farmers. The farmers of Ontario who were making most money today were graduates of the O. A. U. As he continued, they soon would see the movement from the farm to the city cease.

Mr. Fisher said he did not know anything about intensive farming in Canada. To learn, we must go to China and to European countries. If our farmers would do as well as they know how, they would not be so cheaply run as they are at present. From 32,000,000 acres of arable land in Canada, the value of farm crops this year, which was a poor one for some production, was $87,939,000.

STOCK PROFIT IN HOGS

Methods of a Prince Edward Island Farmer.

For ten years I have been raising bacon hogs, and I find that there is money in them. I prefer to have my litters come about April 1, so that they can get on the grass with their mothers by May 1, or about that time, according to the weather. From the time they are able to eat, they have a trough for them by themselves, feeding skimmed milk and boiled potatoes. I do not wean them until they are about eight weeks old. When they are about seven weeks old, they are kept on pasture, fed skim milk, potatoes, and a little shorts and wheat bran, either scalded or soaked for 12 hours. I have fed rape for some years, but it does not give up so well as I consider peas and oats sown together, two parts peas and one part oats, cut green and thrown into the pasture twice a day, better fed than rape. New clover makes the best pasture, as the hogs eat it off clean. This feeding is kept up until they are four months old. They are then fed crushed grain, such as the farmers of Prince Edward Island generally grow for feeding purposes—barley, oats and peas, mixed with boiled potatoes while hot, and made soft with run out of the pail.

Most Important Factor in Successful Poultry Raising.

The great majority of farmers that raise poultry do their own hatching and keep their own chickens. Too many of the flocks are allowed to mate up haphazardly, little or no selection being practiced. In some instances the best cockerels are outside country, there are many brooding and Christmas dinners instead of being saved for breeding purposes the following spring. The best young stock should be kept, and every year the same should be practiced.

SELLING THE PIG CROP

The best time to market the pig crop is usually in the early part of the season, and it seldom pays to hold them for an advance in the market. There is no little expense connected with holding the pig crop, and the market declines in many instances the market declines instead of advances. When pigs are being fed in outdoor lots they should not be kept in the sty, but they should be used short, but loaded into wagons and hauled to a separate lot in uniform bunches and assorted as to size and condition. It is not wise to keep a pig in the sty more than a few days, but it is well to have them in a separate lot or keep them away from the better fitted hogs.

CARE OF BROOD SOW

It will hardly do to feed the sow that is kept for breeding purposes as you do the rest of the pen. She requires different materials from hogs that are simply fattened for the market. It is a mistake to think that a sow that is kept for breeding purposes should be fed on the same as the rest of the pen. It is a mistake to think that a sow that is kept for breeding purposes should be fed on the same as the rest of the pen.

with the ration given that sow. Just as you had been feeding her I do not know, but it is a fact that a sow with pigs needs a good variety of feed. Her appetite must be satisfied at every point. To begin with she should have plenty of milk with green feed. And then feed to build muscle, bone and vitality must be furnished. This may be gotten from shorts, ground peas, oats and wheat bran, with plenty of vegetables and some sweet fruit if in season. Milk is, of course, always in order, and so is plenty of fresh water. Such a ration as this will almost always put sows in such a condition that they will not want to eat their own pigs.

POULTRY CAREFUL SELECTION

Most Important Factor in Successful Poultry Raising.

The great majority of farmers that raise poultry do their own hatching and keep their own chickens. Too many of the flocks are allowed to mate up haphazardly, little or no selection being practiced. In some instances the best cockerels are outside country, there are many brooding and Christmas dinners instead of being saved for breeding purposes the following spring. Lice may be found in the bodies of fowls at all seasons of the year. They multiply very rapidly in warm weather, and it is then that the greatest harm is wrought.

should never be used, as the alkali in them is likely to injure the fowl. A thorough scrubbing of the poultry houses with kerosene emulsion to which a little crude carbolic acid has been added, will prove very effective against the mites if done every week. Ordinary matted lard is good in destroying lice on the bodies of fowls and chicks, but should not be used to freely.

DAIRY MISTAKES OF THE PAST

Should Teach Lessons for the Betterment of Dairying

Inasmuch as the dairy industry has attained a renewed interest, and much more valuable time and consideration is being bestowed upon this important department of agriculture, it is with natural instinct that we look back upon the several methods practiced in the past, and in so doing there is little doubt but that we may draw much valuable material from the detrimental methods practiced during the last fifty or more years.

When setting hens it is never advisable to apply any grease to their bodies but they may be dusted with flowers of sulphur, while the nests should be sprinkled with powdered lime or sulphur. As soon as a sitting hen has come off, the nest should be burned out and fresh material supplied. At all seasons of the year it is a good plan to burn all nests every four or five weeks.

THE SPRUCE MARKET IN OLD COUNTRY

Farworth & Jardine's annual timber circular dated Liverpool, Jan. 2, has just come to hand. In the general remarks on the spruce trade during the year 1910, it says: "The import to the Mersey and Manchester canal during the past year considerably exceeded that of the previous year with season viz., 33,330 standards, compared with 28,000 in 1909, and the heaviest consignments continued throughout the season, being 60 per cent. Liverpool, Birkenhead and Garston about 40 per cent. The season opened with moderate stocks and values for consignments continued remarkably steady throughout, being practically the same at the end of the season as at the opening of navigation. For liner shipment, however, arising about the Christmas holiday, and forced on unwilling buyers, lower prices had to be accepted. The demand was fairly steady though not brisk and the delivery of the spruce property was not so good as last year. The arrivals, but importers have had to face strong competition from Riga, etc. Whites—in which a large business has been done—stock of which nearly two-thirds is held in Manchester, is fairly moderate, but inadequate."

The stand taken was in opposition to the project on a variety of grounds set forth in a memorial presented to the International Waterways Commission. It is satisfactory to know that the result of the opposition manifested by other public bodies as well as our own, has been to prevent the project from being authorized, and from proceeding to the stage of construction.

CHANCELLOR JONES ON FORESTRY EDUCATION

Head of U. N. B. Emphasized the Need of More Popular Literature on Forest Conservation Suitable to the Needs of the Small Timber Holder.

At the Dominion Forestry convention at Quebec, Chancellor Jones of the University of New Brunswick, read a paper on Forestry education. Mr. Jones spoke as follows: In making some consideration of the present status of forestry education in Canada, I am quite convinced that we have sufficient material to extend considerably those parts of the system which are capable of immediate and profitable extension.

Interest the Women. One other possible extension of the popular movement might be mentioned. The current number of the Forestry Journal, an excellent journal, is well known to all those who are interested in the subject.

Regarding the technical training of the professional forester, I am not qualified to speak. One may say, however, that the success of a new profession is largely determined by the esprit de corps of its members.

Perhaps the one question which those interested in forestry education hear most often, is the question of the employment of graduates of the forestry departments of the universities? One may say at the outset that forestry as a profession is yet in the pioneer stage in this country.

Personally he is not disturbed by the argument that the technical education given in our universities is not practical. The practical must be entirely manual, and fortunate that such an idea has not always prevailed.

The educated forester should secure as intimate a knowledge as possible of the practical operations connected with his subject. He should also be given a wide range of the various principles of the movement leading to a proper direction of the spirit of inquiry and research.

It is now no longer a matter of course to refer to elementary education in forestry. The men of the next generation to carry on this movement are now the boys in the common schools of the country.

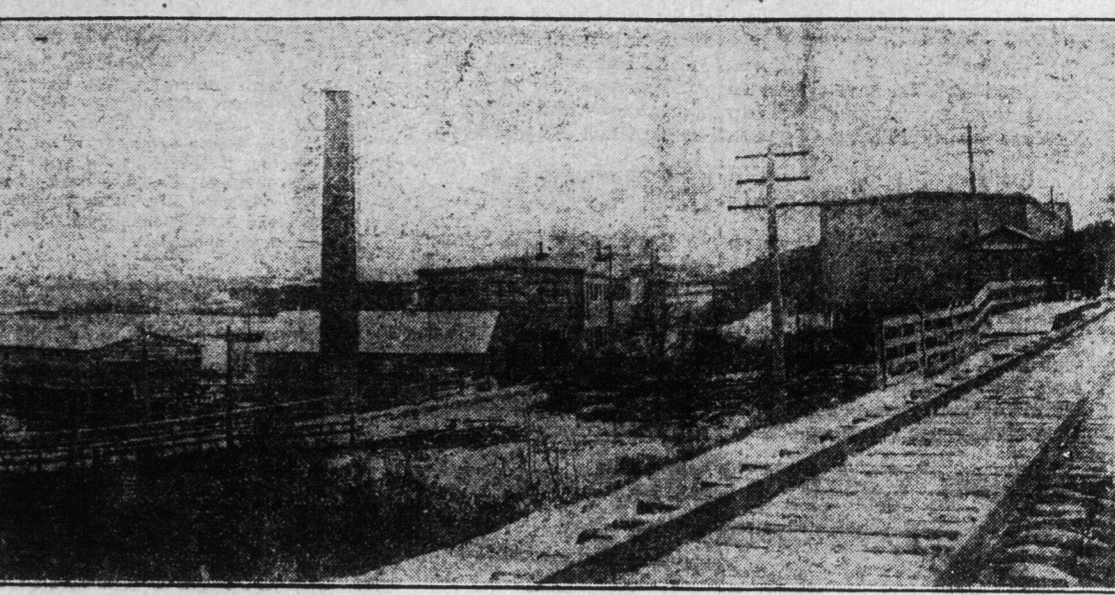

It is possible to say that there never was a time when the forest was so much a part of the life of the people as it is now.

A PROMISING NEW INDUSTRY

Canada Woodenware Company's Plant at South Bay to Be in Operation Next Month and to Produce a Big Output of Pails—How It Was Organized—A Strong Directorate.

These buildings, beginning on the left, are the sawmill, the engine house (back of which is the dry house, the most up-to-date of its kind hereabouts), the factory, and, on the extreme right, beside the railroad track, the warehouse.

St. John does much talking about the desirability of securing new industries. In these days of depression, it is well here in a new industry which, its promoters feel, bids fair to be most successful.

William W. H. Brown and Arthur J. Brown, the first of William Brown & Sons, of Winchendon (Mass.), carrying on a profitable woodenware business there, are very great friends of George C. Wells.

The directors are local men. The board includes: Col. George West Jones, who is interested in the Simeon Jones Brewery Company; a director of the Bank of New Brunswick, and president of the Cornwall & York Cotton Mills.

W. E. Foster is another. Mr. Foster is one of the leading men in the lower provinces. He got a splendid training in the Bank of New Brunswick, and then went into the Vassie & Co. wholesale dry goods business, which he has expanded to a great extent under his very able management.

Others on the board are: Joseph Finley, who has had a successful career and made considerable money in the city of St. John. He is a great admirer of the board by the fact of his wide experience which he has served on the board of the James Pender Company.

Friday, Jan. 20. The reception at the Protestant Orphans' Home last evening was a big success, a very large number attending. The guests were received by the following members of the managing committee of the institution: Mrs. W. H. King, Judge Forbes and the president, T. H. Estabrook, and others.

Only This Can Save Them from Extensive Losses—Salmon River District More Favorable—Mr. Eentley Talks About Conditions.

Office of the International Railway, corner Canterbury and Princess streets, St. John, Jan. 19 '11.

Sir,—In the issue of The Daily Telegraph of yesterday there appeared a highly interesting article copied by you from the Toronto Globe, in which the writer, S. T. Wood, gave a lucid and graphic description of things and conditions, past and present, in St. John and other parts of New Brunswick.

THE INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY

How it Will Open Up a New Region in This Province—Toronto Globe's Significant Comment.

It bears evidence of having been written by a keen observer, and a trenchant writer concerning our city and province. The general spirit of Mr. Wood's letter to the Toronto Globe is calculated to stimulate our people generally, as well as our board of trade, to boom and above all to have full faith in our own homeland in this our western section of the great Dominion of Canada. We should feel and realize more thoroughly that we here in New Brunswick possess the fairest, most diversified and best situated round homelands in Canada (or, as a matter of course, outside thereof), and that as a matter of consequence, we should earnestly induce others to agree thereto. In conclusion, may I be permitted to add that the International railway not only opens up a large timber and game region, where the lumbermen will find their livelihood and the huntmen and fishermen will find their means of livelihood, but will, after the timber is cut off, prove itself admirably adapted for dairying and general farming.

FISHERMEN WANT REDUCTION PLANT IN CHARLOTTE COUNTY

J. A. Belyea returned home Saturday evening from St. George where he had been attending the annual meeting of the Charlotte County Fish Owners and Fishermen's Union, which was held at St. George in the Foresters' hall on Saturday afternoon. The meeting was largely attended and in addition to the election of officers some very important business was transacted. Last season's poor catch of sardine herring was the principal matter discussed and the enquiry into the reason of it brought forth some interesting discussions, which resulted in several resolutions being passed. The supposed motor boat epidemic was debated at length and the general consensus of opinion at the meeting was that the use of the boats was injurious. A resolution was passed to be forwarded to the department of marine and fisheries asking for an investigation and also the passing of legislation making compulsory the use of mufflers on motor boats.

C. P. R. SHOULD DO THE SAME FOR EAST, IT IS THOUGHT

In view of the fact that the C. P. R. has just issued a book giving details of the business changes in the western towns and cities through which its line passes, it has been suggested that the company should do the same for the east. It is felt that by doing so the attention of more people with small capital would be directed this way, and great good would result from this systematic exploitation of the east. The publication in question is the second edition of the C. P. R. book. It contains a list of all the western stations on the line of the C. P. R., and tells of the industries, population, location and business opportunities of each place. The volume is of great value to intending settlers.
