GLADSTONIANS STILL GAINING.

LONDON, July 18.—The following returns have been received:

Worcestershire, North division—Hingley, Liberal, majority 2,148. In 1886 the Liberal Unionist candidate was unopposed.

Denbighshire, Vale of Clyde division—Roberts, Liberal, majority 2,333. In 1886 the Liberal Unionist candidate was unopposed.

Tipperary, Middle division—McCarthy, Anti-Parnellite, majority 2,397. In 1886 the Nationalist majority was 1,987.

County Cavan, East division—Young, Anti-Parnellite, majority 4,664. In 1886 the Nationalist candidate was unopposed.

WITHOUT CHANGE.

Returns from the following districts show the election of candidates of the same political faith as previous incumbents.

Londonderry County, North division—Conservative.

Norfolk, North division—Liberal.

Waterford, East division—Anti-Parnellite.

The Situation Summarized.

LONDON, July 18.—At 3 o'clock this morning the total returns received show the election of 311 supporters of the Government and 347 members of the Opposition. The aggregates of the polling up to the present time are: Unionists and Conservatives, 2,118,533; Gladstonians, 2,375,337. It is officially announced to-day that as a result of the visit of Lord Salisbury to the Queen at Windsor Castle the Conservative Government will meet Parliament on Aug. 4.

THE TORY VIEW OF IT.

LONDON, July 19.—The Standard says: The Government must meet the new Parliament and leave it to Mr. Gladstone to ask the House of Commons to vote no confidence in the Ministry, but it does not follow that he will succeed in carrying such a vote in the address. The Nationalists may move an amendment to his resolution that the House refuse to withdraw confidence in Lord Salisbury till it can repose confidence in Mr. Gladstone, and it cannot do this until it knows the course Mr. Gladstone intends to pursue in the event of his accession to power. Such an amendment would raise the whole question of the particular measure of home rule Mr. Gladstone is meditating, and it is instructive to the anti-Parnellites quite as much as the Parnellites, who would then be enabled to compel him to make in the House the disclosures which he so far refused to make to the country. This would be a natural, logical, and legitimate piece of tact, and the Parnellites will be wanting in deference to Mr. Parnell's memory and obedience to his counsels if they do not adopt it. They have several wrongs to avenge and cannot be expected to support Mr. Gladstone until they know something more about his plans. If Mr. Gladstone refuses to be frank and candid, they can refuse to vote for him, and he will be beaten on his own plan, and will fail to carry a vote of want of confidence, or will carry it by so small a majority as to make accession to office anything but certain. If he consented under the threat of nominal adherents to tell the House what sort of Irish Parliament he wishes to create, he would immediately find himself in this practical dilemma. Either the plan would dissatisfy the Nationalists or it will dissatisfy the moderate section of his English and Scotch supporters. This is what renders it doubtful whether Mr. Gladstone can carry a vote of want of confidence, if at all, by more than a light majority. It would then remain for the Government to decide whether to resign or to continue to hold office till such a time—necessarily not remote—when it could reappeal to the country. The Government, therefore, must stand its ground and invite Gladstone to do his worst.

THE LIBERAL VIEW OF IT.

The Daily News commenting on Mr. Balfour's "ignorant" statement that no home rule is worthy of the name unless it includes the right of levying separate customs, and power to endow a church reminds him that the legislature of an American State is not subservient to the National Congress, but in its own sphere is absolutely independent, and yet no American State can indulge in the luxury of ecclesiastical establishment or impose duties on the admission of goods for other States.

WILL TAKE THEIR TIME.

The general impression is that the Liberals will not rush the Home Rule Bill. If constrained to give it precedence they will not accept its rejection by the House of Lords as necessitating an immediate dissolution, but will proceed with measures tending to strengthen the Liberal vote throughout the country. Mr. Gladstone will move a simple "no confidence" amendment to the address, instead of one alleging specific reasons, and will thus be enabled to limit the scope of the declarations of his own policy. He has as precedents the fact that in 1841 the Melbourne Ministry was thrown out on a vote of "no confidence," and in 1859 the present Duke of Devonshire's "no confidence" amendment turned out the Derby-Disraeli Government.

DILKE'S RETURN.

A most striking indication of the power of Sir Charles Dilke was seen in the manner of his reception at a demonstration of 35,000 miners at Derby yesterday. A number of members of the House of Commons were on the platform. Mr. Bayley, M.P., who presided, maintained that the working classes would reinstate Sir Charles Dilke in the important position which he formerly held in Parliament, and the assemblage gave Sir Charles an ovation when he told them what they liked to hear in regard to eight hours, employers' liability work, workmen's state suffrage and other subjects.

INDIA HEARD FROM.

The Carre community of India, chiefly Bombay merchants, has sent £28,000 sterling to Mr. Naoroji, member for the Central Finnsbury district division of London, as a defender of Indian interests in Parliament. To this amount an Indian ruling prince adds £10,000.

HON. E. BLAKE ON SHIPBOARD.

The correspondent of the Toronto World, describing the life of Hon. E. Blake on crossing the ocean to his Irish constituency, says: "Mr. Blake is a regular early riser, that he duly takes his 'constitutionals' on the cabin deck, that he has never been known to visit any other part of the ship, that except on rare occasions he 'keeps himself to himself,' that the affairs of Ireland and the lighter affairs of poetry and the heart, as set forth in the limited Parisian library, occupy much of the statesman's attention. He is abstemious at the table, he does not smoke, nor doth he apply strong waters to his blood. Mr. Blake's eye this morning has more than its accustomed luster, his countenance is bronzed, his step as lightsome as that of his vivacious son and fellow-voyageur.

THE COALITION GOVERNMENT.

The Pall Mall Gazette says a rumor is in circulation that the Queen will not summon Mr. Gladstone to form a Ministry, and that a coalition Government under the Duke of Devonshire is possible. The Pall Mall Gazette connects the rumor with the visit of Lord Salisbury, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain and the Duke of Devonshire to Windsor Castle last week. The best informed Liberals ridicule a Devonshire coalition as outside of all possible contingencies imparting the acceptance of home rule by the Liberal-Unionists and their return adhesion to Mr. Gladstone.

SIR PRYCE JONES ATTACKED.

LONDON, July 19.—Sir Pryce Jones, who contested the Montgomery district in Wales in the Conservative interest, and who defeated Handsary Tracey, the Liberal candidate, visited Lanidloes yesterday in company with his wife. They were set upon by an infuriated crowd, who stoned them and otherwise maltreated them. Sir Pryce was hit on the head with a stone and severely bruised.

CABINET SPECULATIONS.

LONDON, July 19.—Mr. Gladstone will return to London at the end of the week. He has accepted an invitation to reside temporarily at the House of Mr. Stuart Rendel, the member-elect for Montgomeryshire, at Carlton Gardens, prior to resuming his official residence in Downing street. Mr. Gladstone's first conference on the formation of the new Ministry occurred at Dalmeny Park, the residence of Lord Rosebery. Before he started for Braemar he summoned Mr. John Morely to meet Lord Rosebery and Sir George Trevelyan. Sir William Vernon Harcourt will be First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader in the House of Commons under Mr. Gladstone's direction, and Mr. Henry Fowler will be Chancellor of the Exchequer. Mr. Morley does not desire to be Chief Secretary for Ireland. He wants the Secretaryship of the Colonial Office, but influential pressure has been brought to bear on Mr. Gladstone to appoint Mr. James Bryce Colonial Secretary. The best-informed Liberal forecasts of the Ministry assign Lord Herschell to the Lord Chancellorship, Earl Spencer to the Viceroyship of Ireland, Mr. George Shaw-Lefevre to the Chief Secretaryship for Ireland, Sir George Trevelyan to the Secretaryship of the Home Office, Mr. Henry Campbell-Bannerman to the Secretaryship of State for War, Lord Ripon to the First Lordship of the Admiralty, Mr. John Morley to the First Secretaryship for India, Mr. James Bryce to the Secretaryship of the Colonies, Lord Rosebery to the Secretaryship of the Foreign Office, the Earl of Kimberly to the Presidency of the Council, and Mr. A. J. Mundella to the Presidency of the Board of Trade, while Mr. Gladstone will take the sinecure of the Chancellorship of the Duchy of Lancaster. These constitute the Cabinet.

The leading posts outside the Cabinet are assigned as follows: Mr. Francis A. Channing as president of the Board of Agriculture, Mr. Sydney C. Buxton as president of the Local Government Board, Mr. Henry Labouchere as Postmaster-General, Mr. William A. Hunter as Secretary for Scotland, Sir Charles Russell as Attorney-General and Mr. Rigby as Solicitor-General. When Sir Charles Russell's early elevation to the bench occurs he will be succeeded in the Attorney-Generalship by Mr. Rigby, and Mr. Herbert A. Asquith will become Solicitor-General. The Radical Press puts forward Messrs. Benn, Stewart and Causton, three favorites with the London Progressives, as entitled to office. Other aspirants are Mr. Dyke Acland and Sir Walter Foster, and Mr. Burt, who probably, as the best representative of the Liberal Laborists, will fill the place of Mr. Broadhurst, the Under Secretary in the Home Office in the last Gladstone Ministry. The present whips, Arnold Morley and Cyril Flower, will receive peerages. Herbert Gladstone will become chief whip. Mr. Edward Majoribanks would vacate his whipship for the position of Secretary for Scotland, but he is too useful in his present capacity. Among the chief court officers Countess Spencer will be Mistress of the Robes; the Earl of Cork Master of the Horse, and Lord Carlington Lord Chamberlain.

GLADSTONE'S MAJORITY 42.

LONDON, July 19.—There have now been elected 667 members of the House of Commons out of the 670 composing that body. With the result of the North Kerry election due to-day, the polling in Tipperary which takes place to-day and the polling in the Orkney Islands, which takes place next week, the contests will be over. The parties now stand: Conservatives, 314; Opposition, 353. The three remaining districts are certain to return supporters of Gladstone, so the latter's majority in the next House will be 42.

LATEST RETURNS.

LONDON, July 19.—The following returns have been received:

County Monahan, South division—Drysdale, Anti-Parnellite; majority, 3,228. In 1886 the Nationalist majority was 3,706.

Staffordshire, Lichfield division—Darwin, Liberal-Unionist; majority, 7. In 1886 the Liberal majority was 633.

Unchanged elections—County Cork, West division—Anti-Parnellite. Durham, Middle division—Liberal. Staffordshire, Handsworth division—Liberal-Unionist. Derbyshire, High Park division—Conservative. Cheshire, Rothwick division—Liberal.

SEXTON ELECTED.

Thomas Sexton, Anti-Parnellite, has been elected to the House of Commons for the North division of county Kerry by 2,023 majority. His opponent was H. Burke, Parnellite, who received only 771 votes.

DEEDS SPEAK LOUDEST.

Jarvis Street Baptist Church Shows Its Faith With Its Funds.

TORONTO, July 19.—The following letter has been received by City Treasurer Coady:

R. T. Coady, City Treasurer:

Dear Sir,—Inclosed you will find our check for $468 75, being first payment of taxes for 1892 on Jarvis Street Baptist Church property on a valuation of $75,000 at 12½ mills on the dollar. I have no means of arriving at the correct amount of exemptions apart from the property owned by the city, but computing it at two mills, the same as last year, will make our rate 12½ mills. The church decides voluntarily to pay the tax on its property so exempt on this basis, making the amount $937 50, of which the inclosed is one-half, as stated above.

In making this payment I, on behalf of Jarvis Street Baptist Church, formally protest against exemptions and especially against the exemption of ecclesiastical property as contrary to the principles which should govern the relation of the civil authorities to religious bodies, and to request that the corporation should use its influence to have the law amended so as to abolish such exemptions.

Fatal Accident to a Distinguished Canadian.

NIAGARA, Ont., July 18.—Alfred Patrick, C. M. G., well known as the first clerk of the Canadian House of Commons, fell while ascending the steps of the platform during the celebration here on Saturday, sustaining serious injuries to his head. He died at 5 o'clock this morning.

Fatal Fencing Accident.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 18.—While Prof. Castaldi, of Newport, was giving Dr. C. C. Terry his usual weekly lesson in fencing, the button on Castaldi's weapon broke, and before it was discovered the steel cut the mask on Terry's face, the blade entering his right eye, penetrating the brain. Dr. Terry, after lingering about three hours, died without recovering consciousness.

Demonstrated.

Sometimes it costs hundreds of dollars to convince a man; very often less is required, but in the case of Polson's NERVILINE, that sovereign remedy for pain, 10 cents foots the bill, and supplies enough Nerviline to convince every purchaser that it is the best, most prompt and certain pain remedy in the world. Nerviline is good for all kinds of pain, pleasant to take, and sure to cure cramps and all internal pains. It is also nice to rub outside, for it has an agreeable smell, quite unlike so many other preparations, which are positively disagreeable to use. Try it now. Go to a drug store and buy a 10 cent or 25 cent bottle. Polson's Nerviline. Take no other.

Russia's Distressed Condition.

BERLIN, July 18.—Advices from Russia says the distress in the famine district and the mortality in the cholera stricken cities far exceed anything allowed to appear in the Russian papers. The fact that orders for disinfectants and medicine have been received by German firms, which the trade is unable to meet, adds to the alarm in Russian official circles. One firm alone has received an order for 60,000 kilogrammes of carbolic acid from the Czar's physicians in ordinary, but they have been already exhausted from other parts of Russia.

Dr. Cream Committed.

LONDON, July 18.—Thomas Neil, alias Dr. Cream, was arraigned before Sir John Bridge in the Bow Street Police Court today on the charge of having murdered Matilda Clover by administering strychnine to her. The court room was crowded and a number of extra policemen were on duty. Neill looked well and his face betrayed no trace of anxiety or trouble. He asked to be furnished with writing materials, and when they were given him he made copious notes of the proceedings. C. F. Gill appeared against the prisoner on behalf of the Treasury. He said he would prove the circumstances under which Matilda Clover was murdered, and he asked that the prisoner be committed. Mr. Gill added that he would have to refer to the deaths of three other girls who were killed in a manner precisely similar to the Clover girl.

The court granted Mr. Gill's request, and the prisoner was remanded.

The Vanished Island.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., July 18.—The captain of the steamer Catterthun reports that on June 29 he called at Timor and found there a Dutch steamer that had left Great Sangir Island on June 17. A few hours after her departure the sound of a terrible explosion was heard in the direction of the Sanger group, and this was followed shortly afterward by showers of ashes which covered the deck of the steamer and darkened the whole atmosphere. When the clouds had cleared away nothing was visible on the horizon but masses of vapor that extended for many miles. Great Sanger, which prior to the explosion was in full sight, could not be seen. Six sailing vessels were anchored off the island, and it is thought they must have been destroyed. The captain of the Catterthun also states that the Island of Luson, one of the largest of the Philippine group, has recently suffered greatly from eruptions, the fire from which caused widespread devastation.

Who Took the Bank Notes?

LONDON, July 19.—A story comes from Scotland, the land of conventicles, that must have greatly shocked the truly good people of Edinburgh when they heard it. In Broughton Church, the story goes, two members of the congregation deposited £5 notes in the contribution box, and yet when that contribution box reached the sanctuary where the funds for the diffusion of Presbyterianism are deposited, the notes were missing. It indicates that the deacons were not entirely above suspicion when they were called upon by the church to explain what had become of these particular notes, for very properly as they had passed the plate and handled the cash later, they were supposed to know something about the result of the forage, but they loudly declaimed their innocence, and so the church is in the unhappy condition of suspecting everybody, and what is to the Scotch mind still worse, it is out £10.

Trouble in Best of Families.

LONDON, July 19.—It is announced on seemingly official authority that when the Prince of Wales starts for Homburg in August his beautiful Princess will not accompany him. There has been considerable coolness between the royal couple in the last two years, and, although no effort has been spared to conceal the fact, it has leaked out that they see very little of each other nowadays. It has taken all the Queen's dexterous diplomacy to keep this disagreement from becoming an open scandal. In spite of these afflictions the Queen keeps up her attentions to the King of Roumania, who is visiting the court, and has conferred upon him the dignity of the Garter, dispensing with the solemn ceremonial that usually accompanies the bestowal of this splendid decoration. It is said that she handed it to him as informally as though she was giving him a newspaper, and that was all. Besides this, she has commissioned Angeli of Vienna to paint the King's portrait, and this will soon ornament her private apartments at Windsor. All these attentions have made the King popular here, and he is received everywhere with great empressement.

Wearing Long Hair.

It seems that the early settlers were strongly opposed to the wearing of long hair among the dudish members of their society. In the year 1549 Governor Endicott, Deputy Governor Dudley and seven others said: "Forasmuch as the wearing of long hair, after the manner of ruffians and barbarous Indians, has begun to invade New England, contrary to the law of God's Word, they do declare and manifest their dislike and detestation against the wearing of such long hair as against a thing uncivil and unmannerly, whereby men doe deform themselves and offend sober and modest men, and doe corrupt good manners."

If people do what is right, in time they come to like doing it.—[Ruskin.

THE MERRITTON DISASTER.

No More Bodies Have Been Recovered.

Names of the Dead—The Injured Progressing Favorably.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 19.—There is but little change at the scene of the wreck this morning. The tracks have been cleared and trains are running this morning as usual. No more bodies have been recovered. It now appears that the man Patterson who was thought to have been in the wreck has turned up all right and was not on the train at all. The water was drawn off the mill-race sufficiently to ascertain that no bodies were under the cars that were thrown there. Peter Welch, of Port Dalhousie, who sustained severe injuries, died at the hospital this morning, thus making four deaths in all. The names of the dead are: Sayers Chapman, of Port Dalhousie, engineer of Boyle's train; David Hunt, baggageman on the boat train; A. Vanslyke, of Buffalo, passenger on the boat train, and Peter Welch, brakeman on Boyle's train, Port Dalhousie (who died this morning).

The injured are progressing favorably. The two newsboys, Wolfe and Clarke, of London, are at the hospital. Conductor Boyle has been removed to his home at Port Colborne. W. Spratt, fireman on Boyle's train, whose foot was badly crushed, had it amputated yesterday. The injuries of the rest are not as serious as at first reported. The inquest will be resumed at Merritton this afternoon.

GRAND LODGE GOSSIP.

The board of general purposes of the Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M., met in the library, Masonic Temple, yesterday afternoon, R. Wor. Bro. J. M. Gibson, Q.C., deputy grand master, presiding. The credentials committee were appointed as follows: Wor. Bro. Hungerford, London (chairman); R. Wor. Bro. Roaf, Toronto, and R. W. Bro. Greenfield, Kingston. R. Wor. Bro. Wm. Gibson, M.P., Beamsville, was appointed chairman of the committee on benevolence in place of the late M. Wor. Bro. Otto Klotz, Preston. R. Wor. Bro. Rea, Ottawa, was added to the committee. R Wor. Bro. J. S. Dewar, London, was added to the committee on the condition of Masonry. R. Wor. Bro. DeWitt Martyn, R. Wor. Bro. J. E. Harding, St. Marys, and M. Wor. Bro. James Moffat, London, were added to the committee on constitutional law. The old ballot papers will be used, and the committee will report on a new style of ballot paper, to be used in the next and future lodges. The board adjourned, to meet again at 3 o'clock today.

The sub-committee of the board of general purposes met to-day to prepare reports.

R. Wor. Bro. Mingay, G. J. W., Ottawa, arrived yesterday afternoon.

The new flag floats over the Masonic Temple. The Tecumseh House and Grigg House also fly flags. Why should there not be a general display?

Grand Lodge opens to-morrow at 2 p.m., but registration will begin to-night, and will continue on Wednesday morning.

The favorite for D. D. G. M. for London district so far is Very Wor. Bro. Hess, of St. Thomas.

The Grand Council of the Grand Priory, K. T., met at the Tecumseh House last night and prepared a report to be submitted to the Grand Priory at its meeting to-day.

M. Wor. Murray, Spry and Walkem are already in attendance. It is expected that M. Wor. Bros. Stevenson, Moffatt and Robertson will also occupy seats alongside of the G. M. and D. G. M.

The general committee selected by the city lodges for the reception of the Grand Lodge held a meeting in the library, Masonic Temple last night and completed arrangements. The committee meet again to-night.

Great Priory of Canada.

The Great Priory of Canada, Knights Templar, met in the Masonic Temple this forenoon, Henry Robertson, of Collingwood, supreme grand master, presiding.

In his annual address the grand master said that Templarism in Canada had been more than usually prosperous during the year. One new preceptory has been formed, and there are good prospects that three others will be instituted in the near future. The increase in membership has been greater than for a number of years. There is a balance in hand of $1,017 04. R. E. Frater O. S. Hillman, of Hamilton, had been appointed grand treasurer in succession to the late R. E. Frater David McLellan, of Hamilton, whose death is feelingly referred to by the grand master. The other sir knights who have died during the year are: R. E. Frater S. B. Harman; Edward Mitchell, treasurer of Grand Lodge; G. T. Gunthers, Halifax, N. S.; John Wright, Port Hope. The new preceptory has been established at Yarmouth, N. S. In conclusion, the supreme grand master expresses his belief that the Great Priory is on the eve of an era of progress.

The following officers were elected:

M. E. Sir Kt. E. T. Malone, Toronto, supreme grand master.

R. E. Sir Kt. E. E. Sheppard, Toronto, deputy grand master.

R. E. Sir Kt. D. Spry, Barrie, grand chancellor.

R. E. Sir Kt. Rev. A. W. Richardson, Brantford, grand chaplain.

R. E. Sir Kt. W. G. Bell, Winnipeg, grand constable.

R. E. Sir Kt. A. E. Cooper, London, grand marshal.

R. E. Sir Kt. O. S. Hillman, Hamilton, grand treasurer.

The new provincial prior for London district is R. E. Sir Kt. J. W. Barringer, Windsor.

Grand Council—R. E. Sir. Kts. J. Ross Robertson, W. Gibson, D. McWatt, R. L. Patterson, N. T. Lyon, J. S. Dewar, Geo. D. Adams, Jas. Greenfield, H. Griffiths and J. A. Angell.

Sad Drowning Accident.

WINDSOR, July 19.—News of a sad drowning accident at Port Union, near Mackinac, was received here yesterday. A week ago a young man named MacNider, employed in the Bank of Montreal, Toronto, came to Windsor with his mother, who is a sister of Mrs. Heyward, the wife of the inspector of weights and measures. Young MacNider stopped in Windsor a few days and then left for Mackinac, intending to spend the rest of his vacation there. Yesterday Mrs. MacNider received the news of his death, but no particulars were given. She is a widow and the unfortunate young man is her only son.

The Canadian Holyoke.

The already immense paper mills at the works of the E. B. Eddy Company at Hull, Que., are to be further increased by another "96" Fourdernier machine, which will be placed in the stone building now occupied as a sash and door factory. This building is about 180 feet by 70 feet and is large enough for two such machines. The present one will be placed so that another can be added when required. The tenant houses on the Aylmer road, between the offices and fire hall, are to be torn down and a new stone building, about 200 feet by 80 feet, of the same substantial character as the other buildings of this company will be erected. This building will be used as a storehouse and paper finishing room. Messrs. Black & Richards, who had the contracts to build their indurated fibreware factory in 1887, and their pulp mill in 1888, the sulphite mill in 1889 and No. 1 and 2 paper mills last year, have secured the contract for the alterations, for the new mill and also for the erection of the new storehouse. The E. B. Eddy Company are to be congratulated on the unprecedented success of this new venture in Hull, and judging from the wonderful machinery they have purchased and are employing in the manufacture of paper, cardboards, etc. The reputation of Hull as the lumber center of Canada will soon give place to the Holyoke of Canada. The paper used by some of the leading newspapers is supplied by the E. B. Eddy Company, and speaks in the highest terms of what can be accomplished by the master mind that controls this vast industry.

The Injured Londoners.

Word was received to-day from St. Catharines as to the condition of E. Wolfe and W. Clarke, the Londoners who were injured in the collision near St. Catharines yesterday. Clarke's foot was hurt about the ankle, but not seriously. Wolfe was more unfortunate. The back of his head was badly cut, his right hand was lacerated, he was hurt in the side and otherwise bruised and shaken up. He will soon be himself, however. Both passed a comfortable night in the St. Catharines hospital. Miss Clarke, Miss Wolfe and Mrs. Smith, of this city, relatives of the injured, men are attending them. Mr. Richards, manager of the Railroad News Company here, with which they are connected, and Mr. Fred Hancock, of the same department, accompanied the ladies. It is expected that Messrs. Wolfe and Clarke will be brought home to-morrow. The Knights of Pythias of which they were members, have been very kind to them in St. Kits.

The Wonderful Success

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier entitles it to your confidence. No other preparation has such a record of cures of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Blood Poisoning, or other blood diseases. To try it is to know its merits. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

For a general family cathartic we confidently recommend Hood's Pills. They should be in every home medicine chest. K

Mr. J. W. Dodds, of Melton, Ga., is 61 years old, and has been using the same razor strop 43 years. It is the only one he ever owned, and it is almost as good as new, never having the mark of a razor on it until recently, when, while sharpening his razor, Mr. Dodds cut a very small piece off the strop

"G'long over to F," shouts the driver, and at the same time he points up the alley in the direction of section "F." The motion of the driver's hand is superfluous, however, for Philip knows as well as anybody where "F" is, and he gallops off up the narrow driveway more like an educated canine than the hugh, lazy steer that he is.

There is an interesting coincidence in connection with big Phil's history. His name, unabridged, is Philip D. Armour. This is also the name of the proprietor of the packing house at which the cloven-footed Philip is an important functionary. Driver Murphy, however, blunts the point of the coincidence by his explanation that the steer was honored with the name of his noted owner in order to give the animal a due appreciation of his extraordinary prowess and responsibility.

While Philip has arisen from obscurity to pre-eminence and has become king of his kine, he has also degenerated morally from an innocent and guileless country ox into an arch-hypocrite. The grnesome offices of a hangman fade into insignificance when compared with those of Philip.

His daily labor is to entice the innocent cattle from their pens by his peculiar magnetism, and lead them in a wild dash to their death. As the drivers swing open the gate of a pen and rush a drove of frightened, trembling steers out into the driveway. Phil gallops boldly up, and, swinging in ahead of the herd, assures his bewildered country brothers that he is master of the situation; that he has come as their deliverer, and that if they will follow him they will be browsing in clover fields and drinking from spring-fed brooks before the sun sets.

The unsuspecting cattle instinctively fall in line as soon as their eyes fall upon the handsome and intrepid Philip. The herd troops away down the alleys, following closely every turn of their leader as he dodges in and out among wagons and sheds and heads straight for the broad "shoot" which leads up to the capacious slaughter pen. When Phil approaches the shoots he has urged his followers into a mad stampede. Quick as a flash the leader whirls to one side at the foot of the approach, and the herd, carried on by its own impetus, charges madly up the ascent and into the waiting-room of death. Philip has sent another hundred of his kin to their doom. The big gates close behind his victims and they are led into the slaughter-mill one by one, almost as fast as one can count them, to come out flayed, drawn and quartered for the butcher's block.

Philip knows no pity, no remorse. His conscience is seered and callous. As he avoids the slaughter-pen by an adroit turn and sends his followers to their deaths he drops his head between his knees and seems to chuckle with ghoulish delight as he listens to the clatter of his victims' hoofs as they clamber pell-mell up the fatal "shoot."

To stay the butcher's knife from his own neck Philip has betrayed 100,000 fellow-creatures which looked to him for guidance. Perhaps it was through deference to the consummate villainy of such a beast as Philip that old Beelzebub took to wearing cloven hoofs.

BRANT.

At Paris on Friday two horses belonging to Patrick Cassidy, teamster, wandered up the side of the embankment at the Dundas street bridge and fell into the river below, a distance of 50 feet. One of the horses was killed and the other is very badly injured, and it is doubtful if it will recover. Both horses were blind and were pasturing when the accident happened.

The Brantford Courier says: The township is liable to come in for a crop of suits over the 'bus accident on the river road. Messrs. Hunt & Coulter will bring action for the loss of the rig and damage to one of the horses. Miss Foreman has instructed Harley & Sweet to enter suit and Mr. Brewster has five cases—three on behalf of the Myerscough sisters and one each on behalf of Messrs. J. Burtch and T. James. Others are also spoken of and will in all probability be entered in a day or so.

BRUCE.

Chas. Astley, of Walkerton, who for seventeen years has so efficiently filled the position of deputy registrar for the county of Bruce, has retired.

The statement is made that there is a big row among the members of the salt combine, and a law suit is the outcome. Last December the salt manufacturers formed a trust, and they all stuck to it until a few days ago, when a Kincardine firm gave notice of withdrawal. The other members of the trust obtained an interim injunction from the county judge of Huron restraining this firm from breaking the combine, and the injunction will be fought out at Osgoode Hall in a few days.

ELGIN.

At the Aylmer Division Court, F. Charlton, photographer, sued Joseph Leverton to recover $60 damages for breach of warranty of a horse, or for the return of the animal. The case was tried by a jury, who ordered the horse to be sold within a week and the sum received to be applied to the judgment, and the balance to be made up by the defendant.

John Campbell, miller, St. Thomas, has shipped 25 barrels of flour to the St. John sufferers.

A gasoline stove exploded at George T. Clair's residence, St. Thomas, on Saturday, painfully burning Mr. Steen, a plumber, who was making some repairs.

Four sheep belonging to D. Campbell, River road, Southwold, were killed by lightning on Friday. Near Lawrence on the same day four calves in Mr. Huntley's barn were killed and the barn set on fire. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

A tramp set fire to the barn owned by Rev. Mr. Brown in West Lorne on Wednesday, and then made a tour of the neighboring houses in search of valuables. Two dollars were secured at Wm. Clark's, but other visits proved unsuccessful. The same evening J. B. McGugan's residence at New Glasgow was entered and some old clothes stolen, and an attempt was made to set fire to the house, but Mr. McGugan's timely appearance frightened the firebug.

ESSEX.

John English, while assisting at a barn raising at Tecumseh last week, was severely injured by a brace which fell upon him.

The Sandwich Baptists are having some trouble over a lot and a fence. They own some property there. On one lot they have their church and another half acre is vacant. One Henry Christian took it upon himself to surround this half acre with a fence. Mr. Moxley, one of the members, objected on behalf of the church, and tore the fence down. Christian put it up again, and it met the same fate at the hands of Bro. Moxley. Friday morning the fence builder again started to work, and was hammering away when he was surrounded by Moxley and a half dozen others—men and women—who pulled the boards off as fast as they were nailed on. The women carried the boards away and piled them up. A big crowd gathered, and there was lots of sport. Mr. Christian finally gave up his job, and now the case will go to the courts.

HURON.

A gun in the hands of Sam Curran, of Goderich, a boy of about 14 years of age, was accidentally discharged the other day. A great part of the shot took effect under Curran's arm, and a portion of it hit another lad, William Sproule, on the neck. Both will recover.

Mrs. Clara Wilson, who, some time ago, pleaded guilty to being too intimate with Alexander Bossenberry, both parties being from Zurich, and who has been in the St. Clair county (Mich.) jail since awaiting sentence, was taken before Judge Vance at Port Huron Saturday morning, when he suspended sentence, providing she would return home with her husband. She gladly accepted the alternative.

KENT.

A petition has been largely signed in Blenheim asking the mayor to appoint the 10th of August as the civic holiday. It is understood that date has been agreed upon.

The Mechanics' Institute of Blenheim is doing good work this year, a fact recognized by the Government giving them the highest possible grant—$250.

MIDDLESEX.

Miss Jessie Cook, sister of Rev. Mr. Cook, Presbyterian minister, Dorchester Station, was made the recipient of a gold watch and chain and a purse of money Friday evening by the congregation of the church. Miss Cook goes to Chicago shortly, thence to Edinburgh, her native home. Mrs. J. Durand and Mrs. James Wilson displayed great taste in the selection of the watch and chain.

The Lucan Record says a young man living on the 6th concession Biddulph has been the victim of a huge joke, or else the victim of absent-mindedness. This young man and his employer were engaged in digging a well on the farm near the bush. On Friday morning they commenced work as usual, and the young man was lowered into the well by his employer, who almost immediately after went up to the house, where he remained until the afternoon.

The finance committee of Tilsonburg Council have instructed the clerk of that town to advertise $10,000 worth of local improvement debentures for sale—$9,000 worth to run twenty years, and $1,000 to run eight years, drawing 5 per cent. interest.

Tilsonburg's civic holiday will be on Aug. 4.

WATERLOO.

Death has removed another of the old residents of Waterloo in the person of David Kuntz, who died after an illness of a few months, aged 73 years. David Kuntz was born in Dreisbach, Baden, on June 30, 1819. He emigrated to Canada in 1845. In 1853 he went to Waterloo, where he resided until the day of his death. Mr. Kuntz was the largest owner of real estate in Waterloo.

How to Get Rid of Ants.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

I see from to-night's paper that some poor heartbroken lady is pestered with ants—real black gents, I presume, or the same "sui generis," red. Well, if she will simply get some borax, make a strong solution of same in rain water (not city water), and sponge her cupboards, etc., no more ants, sisters or cousins insects will ever put in an appearance. Put this in or leave it out—it is infallible. Yours respectfully, C. H. BROWN.

London, July 16.

PRESS AND PEOPLE.

TRUSTS AND UNIONS.

"When capital organizes itself in trusts it cannot blame labor for organizing itself in unions. And to lock out skilled and faithful workers because they stand together for the right to have some voice in fixing their wages, and to invoke the aid of the militia in breaking down their organization, is an arrogant attitude having no warrant in law or justice."—[New York World.

PATRIOTISM BEFORE PARTY.

"The People's party has ended sectionalism, and for that alone is entitled to the gratitude of the people. The campaign will be one of principle, and not of vilification and blackmail, like those of the great campaigns of the old parties for many years. The principles of the party are summed up in the declaration that patriotism had a higher place than party."—[Hon. Ben Terrell, of Texas, at Omaha.

FREE PASSES KILLED THE BILL.

In return for free passes from the railway companies a large majority of our Federal representatives refused the boon of cheap travel to the general public by defeating the amendment to the Railway Act, fixing the maximum rate per mile for passengers at 2 cents. A contemporary sarcastically says in this connection that if members' passes were withdrawn they would not be able to vote fast enough the other way.—[Montreal Echo.

THE LION AND THE LAMB.

"When all immoral and vicious methods of self-aggrandizement shall have been overthrown, and we shall have a triumphant democracy where Christ, instead of Carnegie, is king; when the lion of capital shall lie down with the lamb of labor, and there will be no Pinkertons to destroy or harm."—[Rev. Mr. Thompson, in the Homestead Methodist Church after the recent riot, the preacher's brother having been one of the mill hands engaged in the thick of the battle.

DIVIDE THE BOUNTY.

"If Carnegie and his associates have been in partnership for years past with the Government, as is assumed by the protective system, and have entered into this alliance largely for the purpose of benefiting those in their employ, then clearly the public who have contributed to augment the large incomes which these employes have received, have a moral right to demand that their workmen shall be paid wages in proportion to the protective bounty granted to the employers."—[Boston Herald.

FALSE PHILANTHROPY.

"Men spend thousands of dollars for their own pleasure, and yet do not give their workmen living wages. What they save from their workmen they give to charity. They build colleges, establish libraries, endow seminaries and do it all in the name of philanthropy. David saw through the plans of such men when he said: 'Their inward thought is that their house shall continue forever, and their dwelling places to all generations; they call their lands after their own names. Nevertheless,' concludes David, 'man being in honor, abideth not.'"—[Rev. J. F. Carson, New York.

PERSISTENT EFFORT.

It is good policy to strike while the iron is hot; it is still better to adopt Cromwell's procedure, and make the iron hot by striking. The master spirit who can rule the storm is great, but he is much greater who can both raise and rule it. To attain that grand power, one must possess the brave and indomitable soul of activity which prompted Edmund Burke to exclaim to his constituents in his famous speech at Bristol, "Applaud us when we run, console us when we fall; cheer us when we recover; but let us pass on—for God's sake, let us pass on."—[E. L. Magvon, in the Humanitarian.

CARNEGIE CANNOT IMPORT LABOR.

There is no doubt that if Carnegie and his associates insist upon their abstract right to keep their establishment closed to their old workmen and to employ new ones, they will be protected in so doing—not by Pinkerton hirelings—but by the citizen soldiery of the state, acting under lawful orders. But if it be their purpose to exact their pound of flesh, let them not draw one drop of blood. They must keep strictly within the letter and the spirit of the contract labor law. If they insist upon it, and can get free workmen in this country to take the places of the locked-out men, they have that right under the law, but they have not the right, as has been done often in the past by protectionist barons, to scour Europe with a view of obtaining cheaper men to take the places of those they refuse longer to employ.—[Detroit Free Press.

The Outlook.

—The wheat crop in France will probably be below the average; estimates already range from 90,000,000 to 105,000,000 hectolitres (255,420,000 to 297,990,000 bushels), averaging about 95,000,000 hectolitres or 269,610,000 bushels, but it is too early to judge of the outcome, though if either estimates should be realized, France will have to import considerable wheat the coming season.

—Aug. 1 will soon be here. How many farmers have remembered to pay their dollar to the secretary of their local agricultural fair? A dollar paid before Aug. 1 is worth $1 50 to the society, while $1 paid after that date is worth only 100 cents, because for every member reported before Aug. 1 by the secretaries, the Ontario Government grants an additional 50 cents. The carelessness of its friends has crippled many a society. Make your money count for one-half more than its face value.

The Apiary.

—Many men have many minds, and many bee-keepers have different styles and systems of managing bees. One makes a discovery in a certain branch of apiculture, and another in something else, and so on; and if they would exchange their thoughts and inventions, they would benefit themselves and all interested in apiculture greatly. One could easily write enough to fill an ordinary bee paper, but this is not the way to do; the views of any person are too one-sided, and the public may tire of them. What is needed is variety, and the more the better. Let every bee-keeper give his opinion on that branch of apiculture that he is proficient in.

—Above all things keep your colonies dry. Thousands of colonies perish every year by leaking covers. Whenever moisture from without is added to the general moisture or evaporation from the bees within, a damp and chilly atmosphere is the result, which generally proves fatal in frosty weather to the bees. Tin roofs well painted, with ventilating holes in the gable ends, are a sure preventive. A cushion made of coffee sacks, the size of the hive, and filled with wheat chaff, is an excellent absorbent of moisture. Such hives as will not admit a cushion within, can be aided by having a ventilating aperture on top two inches square, covered with wire cloth and a cushion without. Such a cushion must be made of "duck," impermeable to rain, or oil cloth, so cut as to go over the outside of the hive, and with a drawing-string of twine run through the edge of the cloth so that it can be fastened tight to the hive. Chaff is put into it, and it is then drawn over the hive and tied.

Road Building.

—Col. Albert A. Pope, a prominent American writer, says that "good roads cheapen the cost of transportation by saving time, reducing the wear of draught animals and of vehicles, and thus lessen the cost of material to the producer and consumer. The modern development of 'slums,' the wretched outcome of life in tenement houses, can be laid largely to the bad roads existing in the farming districts, which in certain seasons of the year prevent social intercourse, making country life cheerless, isolated and narrow."

—One of the interesting results of the awakened popular interest in roads is the pending proposition to establish a special department of roadbuilding at the approaching World's Fair. The intention is to give the thousands upon thousands of visitors to the Fair an object-lesson in roadbuilding, the lesson being reinforced by an exhibit of roadmaking machinery, which once learned they will reduce to practice in their respective commonwealths. Not a few thoughtful and experienced men who have turned their attention to the road problem are inclined to believe that its solution is largely conditional upon the co-operation of the National Government. Who hold to this view point out that in the early part of the century not less than 60 acts of Congress were passed after a full discussion of the constitution and repair of natural roads, while of late years, however, nothing has been done at Washington for roads and practically nothing by state or local authorities. The suggestion for Federal aid has taken shape in a bill which provides for the appointment of a National Highway Commission. This commission is to consider the feasibility of co-operation by national, state and county authorities in a general system of road construction; to devise and formulate plans for the establisment of a national school of roads and bridges; to procure the exhibition at the World's Fair of the best methods and appliances for roadmaking, and to provide for practical instruction in the art free of cost, and collect and disseminate general information regarding roads and their improvement. There are a number of other provisions in the bill, but these are its main features.

BEECHAM'S PILLS cure Bilious and Nervous ills.

No wonder a man often has a subdued look in his eyes, when the eye is always "under the lash."

In China they tie a red cord around a baby's wrist, so that it may grow up quiet and obedient. This may do in China, but the only sure way in enlightened lands to secure quiet and obedient offspring would be to tie both wrists and ankles.

London, Tuesday, July 19.

THE United States immigration returns for the year ending June 30, 1892, have just been published. They show a total immigration of 691,320 as against 555,456 in 1891, an increase of 63,824. From Germany came 130,622; Russia, 84,269; Italy, 60,944; Sweden and Norway, 57,153; Ireland, 55,381, England and Wales, 50,182.

THERE must be a substantial Canadian colony in Denver, Col. From Aug. 8 to Aug. 13 next the Knights Templar hold their conclave in that city, and R. F. Hunter, president of the Maple Leaf Club, notifies the ADVERTISER that the former Canadian residents there have formed a club to help to entertain all Canadian visitors to the great gathering. Their headquarters will be at rooms 5, 8 and 9, Boston building, right in the heart of the city. There all mail matter for visitors may be addressed, and a full bureau of information will be attached. Exiled Canadians always have a warm spot in their hearts for those they left behind them. A welcome such as is promised will give added pleasure to the pilgrimage to the city that is set upon an hill.

THE Island of Sangir, which has been destroyed by a volcanic eruption, is one of the 1,200 small islands of the Philippine group, in the Indian Archipelego. It lay midway between the islands of Celebes and Mindanao, in latitude 3.28 north, longtitude 125.44 east. Its length was 30 miles and its average breadth 10 miles. The surface was mountainous, and the volcano which destroyed it was in the center of the island. The whole population, it seems, were either overwhelmed by the lava, or were swept into the sea, which captains of passing vessels report to be filled with debris and charred human remains. The dreadful catastrophe, by means of which probably over 12,000 human lives were destroyed, has not awakened much interest, as the island was inhabited by Malay Indians, who have little intercourse with civilized nations.

PROPOSED LIBERAL CONVENTION.

A proposal is made to hold a convention of the Liberal party of Canada at an early date, to consider questions of vital importance to those who give their adherence to the principles of Liberalism. The idea is a good one. There has not been a national convention of either of the great political parties for nearly ten years, and many things have happened since then. A gathering of representative men in a political party, to honestly consider what is deemed best for the welfare of the country, and how to promote it by the agency of principles which they hold in common, cannot fail to have beneficial results. It clears the atmosphere; it keeps side issues in their proper place, and it secures a concensus of public opinion which it is difficult to obtain by any other means.

If there is a Liberal convention it is to be hoped that its time will be devoted to the transaction of business. There is no occasion for banquets, for long-drawn-out periods of eating and drinking, that merely afford time to a few men to talk and talk and say but little that is important or pertinent to the convention. A business convention, made up of earnest, thoroughly representative men, devoting their time to business first and pleasure afterwards, is what is required.

THE BATTLE GOES TO PARLIAMENT.

There is now no doubt that Lord Salisbury will meet Parliament on Aug. 4 as leader of the Government. Though it is apparent that his Government has been thoroughly discredited, he will refuse to go out until he is kicked out. That is the declaration of the chief Tory organ, which also more than hints that every expedient possible will be resorted to in order that the party may obtain office.

Gladstone, we believe, will be a match for them. He is an old hand at the business, and he has shrewd parliamentary associates. In some quarters it is asserted that an attempt will be made to compel the Grand Old Man to show his hand before the parliamentary game begins—that is, before the address is adopted—and thus, if possible, bring him embarrassment.

Why should Gladstone not defeat the Administration on the Speakership, and thus baulk his unscrupulous opponents? It has not been usual in recent years to turn a Ministry out of power at Westminster on the election of the Speaker, but it has been done in Canada again and again, and if Salisbury takes the course laid out for him by the newspaper organs the Liberal leader would be warranted in protecting the rights of his followers at the earliest possible moment.

SIR OLIVER AT NIAGARA.

The question of Canada's future is one of those ghosts which decline to down.

People discuss it on public platforms, in the press, and in private conversation.

Some desire whatever they understand by Imperial Federation.

Others, like Mr. Myers, advocate the reunion of the English-speaking people of the North American continent.

Others advocate the Independence of Canada.

No one, so far as we know, believes that things can remain as they are.

There is nothing like free discussion. The exponents of any of these views have equally the right to untrammeled utterance. The 100th anniversary of the establishment of responsible government in Ontario was taken advantage of by Sir Oliver Mowat to demonstrate his own right to free speech on the subject of Canada's future.

Of the four possible futures—(1) to remain as we are; (2) Imperial Federation; (3) Independence; (4) Continental Union—Mr. Mowat waves off the two solutions first mentioned.

Of the latter, he prefers Independence to Continental Union.

Sir Oliver is a little morbid on one point, namely, the "hatred" which, in his opinion, the people of the United States have for the people of Canada.

We hope Sir Oliver is misreported.

We do not believe the people of the United States, with the exception of a section of the Irish people, have any strong feeling against Great Britain, and even the feeling of this section has been modified much of late by the noble efforts of the greatest of living Englishmen to give local self-government to Ireland.

The truth is, the bulk of the people of the United States are not even thinking of Canada and Canadians, being too much absorbed in their own prosperous affairs. The fulminations of an occasional loud-mouthed vote-seeker south of the lakes must not be taken as more representative than they really are. One might as well take a fire-eater like Col. Denison as representative of the feelings of Canadians toward the United States. Only the other day the largest international conference the world has ever seen, composed of the cream of the youthful population of all North America, met in New York. Nothing could exceed the goodwill mutually manifested.

It is nonsense to say the Americans and Canadians "hate" each other—certainly the nearly 2,000,000 of Canadian-Americans in the United States are not in the hating business—and until we have further evidence we decline to believe that Sir Oliver Mowat has given utterance to an expression so impolitic, so unfounded, so unchristian.

Mr. Mowat is so sensible a man in many respects—he has been so careful a steward of Ontario's rights and property—that it is the more to be regretted he should have this Jingo bee in his bonnet. Perhaps in this only is he unrepresentative of the people of Ontario.

UNITED STATES TRADE EXPANSION.

The chief of the United States Bureau of Statistics has just made public a statement of the foreign commerce of the neighboring country for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1892. It shows that the extent and value of this trade for last year was unprecedented in the history of the country. The aggregate value of the imports and exports of merchandise attained its highest point, amounting to $1,857,726,910, as against $1,729,397,006 during the fiscal year 1891, an increase of $128,329,904, and an increase of $370,193,883 since 1889. This is also a very large increase over the average annual increase for the ten years from 1882 to 1891, which was $25,421,517. The value of imports of merchandise during the last fiscal year was $827,391,284, as against $844,916,196 for the fiscal year 1891, a decrease of $17,524,912, but an increase of $114,979,606 over the average annual value of imports for the past ten years. There was an increase of imports of coffee, raw silk and sugar, but a decrease in the imports of tin plates, manufactures of silk, wool and tobacco, and vegetables, fruits and textile grasses. The value of imports admitted free of duty was $458,001,145, an increase of free imports over the fiscal year 1891 of $91,759,793. At the same time the value of dutiable imports was $369,390,139, a decrease of $109,284,705. The value of imports of merchandise free of duty during the last fiscal year exceeds like imports of 1889 per cent. of free imports of the total was 34.81. In 1892 it was 55 88. In 1889 the average ad valorem per cent. of duty on all imports, free and dutiable, was 29.69; in 1892 it was 20.65. It will be observed there has been not only a very large increase in the value of free imports over prior years, but a large reduction in the average ad valorem per cent. on imports, and the lowest since 1861. The total value of exports of merchandise during the fiscal year 1892 was $1,030,335,626, as against $884,489,810 during the fiscal year 1891, an increase of $145,854,816. This is the first year of the commerce of the United States when the exports of merchandise have reached $1,000,000,000. The average annual value of the exports for the past ten years has been $754,345,844. The exports of the last year exceeded that average annual value by $275,982,782.

Professor David P. Todd, of Amherst College, will describe in the August Century an ascent of Fuji-san, the sacred mountain of Japan. His expedition was one of several which have been made possible by the bequest of a wealthy and eccentric Boston gentleman, who left a fortune of $200,000 to a board of trustees, with discretionary power to employ it in establishing and maintaining an astronomical observatory on some mountain peak. The fund is now managed by the Harvard College Observatory, and experimental research has been conducted at high altitudes in different parts of the globe in order to show the precise nature of the improved conditions of vision, and to ascertain the best location for the mountain observatory.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY RIVALRY.

It is now apparent that London will have, in due course, an electric railway, rapid service, and cheap fares for working men morning and evening. The aldermen have to settle how it will be brought about, but brought about it will be as soon as the offers of the old and new companies are considered. Very properly, the aldermen resolved to hold a special meeting to discuss the whole question. It will be held on Wednesday evening. The civic concern is to have its interests conserved for the future, whether the franchise of the streets is granted to the old or to the new company, and the citizens look to the aldermen to make the best possible bargain. It is not a matter of sentiment, but of business.

A NECK-AND-NECK RACE.

[Montreal Star.]

It is "nip and tuck" whether the late session of Parliament created or committed the greater number of crimes.

NO COUNTING-IN JUDGE OVER THERE.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]

Mr. Gladstone ought to be able to wriggle along with a 700 majority when politicians in this country, who are not statesmen, hold their seats in Parliament by virtue of the returning officer's certificate or a partisan judge's warrant.

[Windsor Review.]

The St. Thomas Times says Gladstone was returned by "only 700." It's hard to suit some people. The Times was satisfied when John Carling was returned by Judge Elliot.

THE WIARTON EPISODE.

[St. Thomas Journal.]

Some boys hung out an American flag in Wiarton on Dominion Day, and by the time the reeve of the town had proved his loyalty and his authority by ordering it down, and 65 of the free and independent electors had testified to their loyalty and want of common sense by tearing it to fragments, and an unscrupulous correspondent had shown that his respect for the old flag didn't interfere with his power as an unadulterated liar, there was a very pretty row ceated out of an incident that should never have been given a second thought. The spectacle of five-and-sixty of her Majesty's subjects howling like dervishes on the streets of Wiarton, the while they tore to pieces the flag that the boys had unwittingly thrown to the breeze, must have been exhilarating as an evidence of Canadian sanity, and of the patriotic ardor and bad whisky which fills a portion of the populace on Dominion Day.

Queen Victoria's Private Cars.

The two cars provided for her Majesty's railway journeys were constucted and furnished in Belgium. Their external appearance is not very different from that of other saloon cars. They are connected by a short corridor, forming a suite of small apartments. In front is a box for the Scottish Highlands man-servant attending on her Majesty. The drawing-room for the Queen and Princess Beatrice is furnished with a sofa, two armchairs, and footstools of Louis XVI. style, all covered with blue silk, with yellow fringes and tassels. The walls are hung with silk, which is blue for the dado and pearl gray above, brocaded with shamrock, rose and thistle in pale yellow. The curtains are blue and white. The small table is of a pale-colored wood. A dark Indian carpet is spread on the floor. There are four lights in the ceiling; in the center is a ventilator cut out of brass. The saloon leads to the dressing-room, which is hung in Japanese style, with bamboo round the floor. The toilet table is covered with dark red morocco leather, relieved with white metal ornaments and nails. The basins and all the toilet service are of the same metal. Two fairy lights stand on the table. The royal ladies' bedroom is decorated in gray and light brown colors. The larger of the two beds is for the Queen, the other is for the Princess Beatrice or whoever travels with her Majesty. Beyond the bedroom is a sort of luggage room, where the maids sleep on sofas. Her Majesty on the road takes her meals in the saloon, which is lighted at night by four oil lamps fixed in brackets on the wall, and by one or portable lamps. No electric lighting is adopted, but electric bells are fixed to call the servants. The bedding is the Queen's own, and she takes it away on leaving the train.

A 10-year-old boy in an Arkansas town has been detected in stealing letters from a postoffice box by means of a string and grasshopper. The grasshopper was tied to the string and let down into the box through the aperture. When the insect got a letter into its pincers he hauled it up and took the letter.

There are no poisonous or venomous plants or reptiles in any part of Clatsop County, Oregon, and one can tread the path or deepest jungle of the vegetable growth without the slightest fear of being bitten or poisoned by anything animal or vegetable.

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." ④

WIVES AND DAUGHTERS

FOR JULY.

This month's issue of the above bright and wideawake ladies' journal is without doubt the best number yet published, which speaks volumes in its favor. As a woman's paper it has no peer and few equals in the world. It is chokefull of the choicest reading on general household topics, fashions, etc. The many departments are compiled with especial care, and even excel the usual standard. Among the special features are a review of the chief events of the past month from over the world, a digest of the articles of some of the best literary writers known; a synopsis of the W. C. T. U. Convention recently held at Ottawa; an essay by Mary E. Mumford on "Women on School Boards"; editorials on "Dorothy Stanley," "Lady Somerset," "The Summer Evil," referring to the tendency of gossiping at holiday resorts; "The Fashion of Wearing Mourning," from a common sense point of view; "The Gentle Art of Appreciation," and the usual quota of pointed paragraphs; "A Queen's Servant in Carglen" is the title of an excellent story; "Aunt Barbara" tells how to overcome sleeplessness during the tired season. Every wife and daughter should subscribe to this excellent journal; always full of information for all.

In 1862, at the battle of Fair Oaks, he was stricken with typhoid fever, and after a long struggle in hospitals, lasting several years, was discharged as incurable with Consumption. Doctors said both lungs were affected and he could not live long, but a comrade urged him to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before he had finished one bottle his cough began to get loose, the choking sensation left, and night sweats grew less and less. He is now in good health and cordially recommends

Railway Rivalry.

Conflicting Claims of the Two Street Railway Companies

Presented Before the Board of Aldermen.

The Proposals Made by the New Organization.

The Present Company to be Restrained From Making Extensions.

An Additional Grant of $500 to St. Johns Sufferers.

Lengthy Meeting of The Council—Consideration of the Railway Matter Deferred—A Petition From Dundas Street Merchants — The Educational Estimates—Committee Business.

There was a larger attendance of citizens than usual at the City Hall last night. The aldermen had an important question to handle—one that promises to be more complicated before it is disposed of.

THE STREET RAILWAY PROPOSITION.

The proposed new street railway company submitted their proposition in its amplified form. No one could say that it was lacking in detail this time; the solicitors had evidently "got it down fine." It was submitted with the report of No. 1 Committee, and Chairman Gartshore pluckily undertook to read it through. Apart from the less important propositions the company in substance agree to do the following:

They agree to establish the trolley system of electric locomotion on the streets named in the bylaw.

They will commence work within 60 days of the passage of the bylaw provided they will not be required to start between Nov. 1, 1892, and March 15, 1893

They agree to deposit $5,000 with the city as a guarantee that they will carry out the agreement.

They agree to pay the city annually $100 a mile for all single tracks laid on the streets as specified in the agreement, and $200 a mile for double tracks, providing the gross revenue does not fall below $100,000 a year. They also agree to pay the city the following percentages of gross receipts: From $50,000 to $100,000, 5 per cent.; from $100,000 to $125,000, 5½ per cent.; from $125,000 to $150,000, 6 per cent.; from $150,000 to $175,000, 7 per cent.; all receipts over $200,000, 8 per cent.

They will extend their lines on any streets provided two-thirds of the council decree it. They will not be liable to the mileage rate unless the new lines are paying ones.

They will build and complete five miles of railway within a year, the balance of the road to be built and cars running within two years. The five miles to be built within a year will be on the following streets: York, from river to Rectory; Rectory, York to Campbell; Campbell, Rectory to Egerton; Egerton, north from Campbell to Dundas; Dundas, Egerton, east to city limits; Wellington, north from York street to Central avenue; Central avenue, east from Wellington to Waterloo; Waterloo, north from Central avenue to St. James street; St. James, west from Waterloo to Richmond; Richmond, north from St. James to city limits; Dundas, west from Richmond to Talbot; Talbot, south from Dundas to York.

They ask that the agreement extend until Dec. 30, 1913. At the end of that time, after six months' notice, the city may assume ownership of the road, the value to be determined by arbitration. If the city does not desire to do so, then the same option may be exercised at the end of each succeeding five years.

Their cars will run from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m., as often as the council may require.

They may collect a sum not exceeding 5 cents; children under 5 years accompanied by parents free, provided they do not occupy seats; children between 5 and 12, 3 cents. Workingmen's tickets will be issued eight for 25 cents, good from 6 to 8 a.m.; 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and 5:15 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Police to be carried free.

They ask exemption for ten years from taxation and all municipal rates and the income derived by shareholders, and at the end of ten years a further exemption for the same period.

Mr. Ivey, one of the solicitors of the new company, was first heard. They wanted privileges, he said, and were willing to pay for them. It was almost impossible in this advanced age for any city wishing to keep pace with the rest to get along without an electric street railway. It had been said that their proposition was a mere dodge. Indeed, some people had gone so far as to say that it was blackmailing the old company, and the biggest piece of impertinence charged against them was that they were willing to pay for their privilege. Their proposition meant $5,000 a year in the city's pocket, whereas the present system now cost the city $5,000 a year. Whatever was in the interest of the city was in the interest of the street railway. If a three-minute service was required, a three-minute service it would be. The council would be the judges. The assertion had been made that their intended route would entail the crossing of railway tracks in five or six places. This was not the case. The only places they crossed the Grand Trunk were on Clarence and Rectory streets. On the Wortley and Wharncliffe roads they would go underneath and overhead. As to the crossing of the C. P. R. on Waterloo street they had already taken steps to secure plans for an overhead construction. The only other crossing was the Fort Stanley track on Rectory street. Mr. Ivey said it was "money that talked," and that the new company meant business was shown by their willingness to deposit $5,000 and start the work right away if the bylaw were passed. Taking it at the minimum, if they were successful, the city would be the gainer. The city percentage alone would be $2,500 a year if the receipts were $100,000 in addition to the mileage.

Mr. Cronyn, president of the London Street Railway Company, was invited to speak. Mr. Cronyn said he had come on a totally different matter—that of extending the tracks on Dundas and Rectory streets. He had nothing to say on the subject.

Mr. Hellmuth spoke for the new company. He contended that the London Street Railway Company had no right to open up Dundas and Rectory streets at the present time. The amplified proposition of the new company, in which the right to traverse those streets was asked, had been sent to the council before the work of breaking up Dundas street had commenced in the morning. The purpose of the old company was very plain. They desired to nibble off the portions which would serve the new company as feeders. The extensions on Dundas and Rectory streets were not parts of the present street railway system but merely ends. This was not a matter of sentiment but of business. He asked that steps be taken to restrain the old company from continuing this work of extension. Mr. Hellmuth hints that if the old company were allowed to operate on these portions the new company would not be able to pay the same amount to the council.

Mr. T. G. Meredith, city solicitor, explained the circumstances that led to the old company being notified to stop work on Dundas street. Epitomized his argument was thus: The new company had no right to traverse streets already occupied by the old one. If the latter completed the extensions on Dundas and Rectory streets the only privilege the new company would have would be that of crossing them. They had the word of Mr. Hellmuth that if the new company were deprived of the occupancy of these streets it would affect the amount which that company would pay the city. It was a question as to whether the council, in view of the advantage to be derived by the new company operating in these portions would be justified in spending a few hundred dollars in order to ascertain the city's rights in respect of the matter, or whether it was of so little importance that it was better the old company should utilize these streets.

Ald. Parnell asked if the notice sent by the council to the old company could be considered as a legal notice.

Mr. Meredith said he had already expressed the opinion that it was invalid.

In reply to Ald. O'Meara he said the bylaw passed by the town of London East regarding the street railway was perfectly good and was not affected by the amalgamation.

Mr. Cronyn said he wished to address himself merely to the extensions. The old company gave the usual ten days notice to the city; it was not a thing sprung on Saturday night. He went to Toronto Saturday and received the written notice to stop the work on Monday. Out of courtesy to the mayor's letter he telegraphed a compliance. A street railway was necessarily a growing thing, and when they found a hostile company proposing to cut off every extension that the old company could possibly make, they acted in self-defense. If they did not so act and the new company's proposition were accepted the present street railway would be cramped forever within its present limits. As for electricity, he was prepared at once to make an offer to establish that system, and probably to have it partially in operation for the fair.

Ald. Judd—Will you give us the same advantages on Dundas street as the new company?

Mr. Cronyn—We have nursed the road when it was not paying till we brought it to its present state. We don't propose giving up what we have paid for. I don't say we are not willing to make any reasonable concession the council may desire, and we would be glad to meet a committee to confer. We received a letter from the council prohibiting us from changing our motive power.

Mr. Ivey—Will Mr. Cronyn allow matters to remain in statu quo pending the negotiations?

Mr. Cronyn—No. We are told by the best counsel that we are in the right, and we will go ahead unless restrained by an injunction.

Ald. Parnell—I move that the further consideration of the new company's offer be deferred and taken up at a special meeting. Carried.

The date was fixed for Wednesday.

The council then went out of committee.

Ald. Judd moved that the city solicitor enjoin the London Street Railway Company from tearing up Dundas street east, from Richmond to the river and from Egerton to the city limits; and Rectory from Dundas to the Hamilton road. Ald. Judd explained that the reason the council notified the street railway company not to change their motive power was that by permitting them to change it the city would forego the possible advantage to be derived from the new company's offer.

The motion carried, and the matter was dropped until Wednesday.

THEY WANT A DOUBLE TRACK.

Previous to the above a petition was read, signed by the merchants on Dundas street east of Richmond, asking that the street railway bylaw be amended so that the company could lay a double track on that portion of the street instead of a single track as was now being done.

Mr. Magee appeared for the petitioners. He pointed out the inconvenience of a single track which would necessitate the waiting of cars on the street.

Ald. Judd asked what return the company would give the council for the franchise.

Mr. Magee said he had nothing to do with that.

Mr. Cronyn said the street railway company could only lay a single track there under the present bylaw. If the double track was to be laid it should be done at once while the work was proceeding.

Of course the matter was shelved for the time being by the council's subsequent action.

The other clauses of No. 1 Committee's report were unimportant comparatively. Progress was reported on a number of leading questions—L. and P. S. R. lease, Free Library, advertising the city, etc.

THE SCHOOL TRUSTEES' WANTS.

Secretary A. S. Abbott, of the Board of Education submitted the estimates of that body for the current year. The board required $75,292 64 for school expenditure for the year, $46,000 of which was to be raised by debenture. Sent to No. 1 Committee.

NUMBER THREE COMMITTEE.

No. 3 Committee's report, submitted by Chairman Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald, recommended the appointment of the city engineer as building inspector; that the hide inspector be given notice to vacate his present premises; that Mr. Healy be compensated for his loss during the erection of new weigh scales by a rebate of rent, and several other minor matters. All these clauses carried. A recommendation was also made that the fire limits bylaw be amended so that its provisions would not be open to difference of opinion. Carried.

THE BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Connor submitted No. 2 Committee's report. It recommended that Mr. W. E. Saunders be given permission to construct a drain in rear of lots on Central avenue from his residence to the Wellington street drains; that the engineer be empowered to have 1,000 copies of boulevard bylaws printed, and that a tile drain on Piccadilly street, commencing 100 feet west of Colborne, and extending to Maitland street, be advertised. They all carried. A clause asking that the City Hall arcade iron gates be granted to the fair board was struck out. The proposition of the Bell Telephone Company was submitted. A portion referring to the polls was sent to No. 2, and the financial portion to No. 1.

CONDEMNING THE PAVEMENT.

The city engineer wrote condemning the block pavement on Dundas street from Wellington to Ridout, particularly that part west of Richmond. He recommended that it be torn up and relaid. No. 2.

$500 MORE FOR ST. JOHNS.

Ald. Yates moved that $500 additional be granted toward the St. Johns sufferers. Mayor Spencer said he had forwarded $1,000 in cash and had more than $150 on the second thousand. The aldermen were asked to hold plates at Victoria Park gates Tuesday evening at the benefit concert. Ald. Yates' motion carried.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Ald. Wm. Heaman reported for the Board of Health, recommending a drain on Thornton avenue to Oxford street, thence to Maitland. Carried. The draining of water off the south end of Clarence street and the graveling of Oxford street had been attended to.

Ald. Judd's report from the Court of Revision (already published) was adopted.

INQUIRIES AND MOTIONS.

A number of inquiries were hurled at the engineer and committee chairmen.

Ald. Garratt moved that portions of Queen, Wellington and Adelaide streets be advertised. Lost.

Ald. O'Meara—That the engineer be instructed to report on the condition of Victoria bridge and breakwater. Carried.

Ald. Connor—That No. 2 call for tenders for an abutment at the end of Richmond street. Carried.

BYLAWS.

Bylaws were passed to construct a cedar block pavement on Adelaide street, a tile drain on Stanley street, and an artificial stone walk on Dundas street. The third reading of other bylaws was laid over.

The council adjourned at 11:40 p.m. There were present: Mayor Spencer, Ald. Connor, Heaman, Yates, O'Meara, Moule, Judd, Jones, Gartshore, Hannah, Garratt, Fitzgerald, Bartlett, Jones, Parnell, Shaw and the city clerk.

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED!

And the Result Was a Shocking Railway Collision,

In Which a Number of Lives Were Lost,

A Dozen Persons Injured, Two Engines Wrecked and Many Cars Smashed—Two London People Among the Victims—Several Persons Missing.

TWO LONDONERS AMONG THE INJURED.

It is learned that the relatives of two Londoners have been sent for — Willie Clark and E. Wolfe Both were newsvendors on the Buffalo express and are well known in the city.

Mr. E. Richards, of the G. T. R. news department (London), received the following dispatch from St. Catharines in the afternoon:

"Clarke's ankle slightly hurt. Wolfe badly hurt, but not seriously. He would like his sister to come. Both in hospital."

(Signed.) S. J. McDONOUGH.

An Associated Press telegram says: "Wolfe and Clarke, two news agents on the Buffalo train, were injured. Clark not seriously; Wolfe badly cut about the body and head, but will probably recover."

HOW IT HAPPENED.

ST. CATHARINES, July 18.—The collision this morning on the Grand Trunk Railway occurred on what is known as the Black Bridge, crossing the raceway near the concession leading from the Lincoln Pulp Mills to the Hartzell road just outside the city limits of St. Catharines. It appears that the boat train was late, and Conductor Boyle's train left St. Catharines station on his regular time. The boat train, it is said, should have waited at Merritton until Boyle's train arrived, but instead it started down for Port Dalhousie. At the spot where the collision occurred there is a slight bend in the road, and when the engineers saw each other it was impossible to check the speed of the trains. The Erie men jumped and both were unhurt, but Si Chapman, of Boyle's train,

STUCK TO HIS POST

and was instantly killed. His brakeman, Patterson, is not yet accounted for. The scene at the wreck beggars description. The engines lie on the north side of the track a mass of scrap iron. The Erie smoking car pitched into the millrace and it is under this car that it is supposed there are yet some dead bodies. The water has been shut off the race-way, and the full extent of the casualties will soon be known. The other cars lie piled up in great heaps of kindling wood, and how a soul escaped is most marvelous. The coach on the Erie train next to the smoker shot over the bank without its trucks and hangs there,

SUSPENDED IN MIDAIR.

No one was seriously hurt in this car. The news of the wreck soon spread, and the hands from the Lincoln paper mills, spoke factory and other establishments flocked to the scene. All went to work with a will, but little could be done until the water was shut off.

The officials of the Grand Trunk applied to the Niagara Central for permission to use the latter's track between St. Catharines and the Bridge. This was cheerfully granted.

Another Account

THE SCENE OF THE WRECK.

MERRITTON, Ont., July 18.—One of the worst railway accidents which has ever happened here occurred this morning about 10:40. The mail train on the Welland division of the Grand Trunk Railway from Port Dalhousie bound south and the accomodation train from Niagara Falls bound north for the steamer Empress of India met in collision a short distance north of this station at a particularly unfortunate point. A short wooden bridge crosses the water power raceway and the engine on the boat train had just crossed it when the trains met. The two first coaches on the boat train were thrown from the track over the bank, plunging into the race stream which flows rapidly past. The engines were demolished and thrown over the opposite bank of the stream.

THE VICTIMS.

Three bodies have been recovered at this hour—noon—Si Chapman, driver of the mail train; David Hunt, fireman of the boat train; and a passenger named H. Vanslyke, evidently an employe of the King iron works, Buffalo. Hunt is from Niagara Falls, Chapman from Port Colborne.

The injured are: Conductor Boyle, severely cut about the head and leg and arm bruised.

Brakeman Peter Welch, injured badly internally.

Baggageman Wm. Spratt, leg ladly lacerated.

Postoffice Clerk E. O. Boyle was cut out of his car after being imprisoned half an hour, slightly injured in the head.

SPECULATION AS TO THE CAUSE.

It is hard to arrive at the cause of the collision, but this much is known, that trains usually cross at Port Dalhousie, and it is supposed the train for the Empress of India, under the the control of Conductor Peckham, being late at Merritton, endeavored to make St. Catharines before meeting the mail.

CONDITION OF THE WOUNDED MEN.

ST. CATHARINES, July 18.—Three of the wounded are at the hospital and are doing well. The rest who are not very seriously injured were carried into houses near by and were taken care of by the neighbors. Among those seriously injured is Peter Welsh, of Port Dalhousie, baggageman on Boyle's train, injured internally and suffering from concussion of the brain. He is rallying, however, and will probably recover. The others (Wolfe and Clarke) are doing well.

NARROW ESCAPES.

Fireman W. Powley, of Niagara Fall, jumped from the engine of the boat train and escaped unhurt.

Brakeman James Groom, of the boat train, jumped through the door of the baggage car and escaped unhurt.

SEVERAL PERSONS MISSING.

Fireman Patterson, of Boyle's train, has not yet been found, and it is feared he has been killed. A passenger on the boat train says there were about ten passengers on one of the coaches that was wrecked. Of those only six have been accounted for, and it is feared the rest are killed.

The injured baggageman, Wm. Spratt, had a leg amputated this afternoon and is doing well.

THE INQUEST.

Evidence was given by H. Davis, G.T.R. agent, Merritton, at the inquest to-day to the effect that Conductor Peckham, of the boat train, left Merritton station without any orders to do so and without his (the agent's) knowledge. When it was discovered efforts were made to stop the mail train at St. Catharines, but it was then too late.

James Welsh, baggage checker on Peckham's train, testified that the train was moving about fifteen miles an hour at the time of the collision.

Wm. Jackson, of England, a passenger, claimed the speed was fully thirty miles an hour. The inquest was adjourned till to-morrow, when Conductor Peckham and his crew will be called upon to testify. They were not on hand when wanted his afternoon.

PRESBYTERY OF MAITLAND.

At the recent session of the Presbytery of Maitland held in Wingham the Rev. Mr. Forrest was appointed moderator. Mr. Forrest being absent, Mr. Davidson was requested to occupy the chair. Elders' commission from the session of Teeswater congregation was presented in favor of Mr. John Gordon. Intimation was received from the clerk of the General Assembly that the Presbytery's application in behalf of Rev. Duncan Davidson for leave to retire from the active work of the ministry, and to have his name placed on the list of annuitants in the aged and infirm ministers' fund had been granted. The clerk reported that he had given a Presbyterial certificate to Rev. G. B. Howie, Ph.D., and that Langside congregation is supplied by Mr. E. A. MacKenzie, B.A. The Presbytery resolved to apply to the home mission committee for a grant of $2 per Sabbath for Langside.

A unanimous call from the congregation of Ashfield in favor of Rev. John Rose, of Whycocomah, Cape Breton, N. S., was sustained. Stipend promised is $800 with manse and glebe of ten acres. The Rev. A. Sutherland, of Ripley, was appointed to prosecute the call before the Presbytery of Victoria and Richmond. Provisional arrangement was made for the induction of Mr. Rose. Mr. McQueen was appointed to preside, Mr. Millar to preach, Mr. Murray to address the minister, Mr. Anderson to address the congregation in English and Mr. Sutherland in Gaelic. The date of meeting is to be fixed by the clerk. An adjourned meeting of the Presbytery is to be held at Lucknow on Tuesday, July 26, at 1 p.m. The regular standing committees for the year were appointed and the Presbytery adjourned.

Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., July 18.—Cattle—Receipts about 250 cars; good demand for good fat cattle of all kinds, and good to choice heavy shipping and export steers; prices for these were 10c to 15c higher, especially for good exporters. Fair to medium grades of steers—1,150 to 1,275 lbs—also brought better prices. Common to fair cattle of all kinds in fairly liberal supply and lower. Good to best export steers sold at $4 90 to $5 25, and medium to good heavy shipping steers at $4 40 to $4 85, with light to fair 950 to 1,150 lbs at $3 65 to $4 25; good fat lots of mixed butchers' cows, heifers and light fat steers, $3 50 to $4 per cwt.; common to fair cows and heifers, $2 25 to $3 25; old cows very dull at $1 50 to $2; good fat lots, $2 25 to $3 25. Bulls in moderate supply; oxen, $2 75 to $4; stockers, $2 to $3; feeders, $3 15 to $3 65. There were 15 cars of milch cows and springers on sale; fair to extra fresh, $28 to $45; ruling price, $37 to $40. Calves—There was an over supply of calves of all kinds, 400 head being on the market; inquiry fair, but prices lower; a few picked lots sold at $5 75 to $6, but $5 25 to $5 50 was the general price for the best; fair quality, $3 25 to $3 50; poor ones slow at $2 50 to $3 50.

Sheep and Lambs—Thirty-two cars on sale; market dull; good sheep barely held their own with last week's closing prices, while ordinary and common were slow and lower than last week's closing prices; a few catch sales of choice sheep sold early at $5 65, and one load at $5 75. but after the report came in from New York of an over supplied market $5 50 was an extra price for best sheep and $6 25 to $6.50 for the best lambs, although $6 75 was realized for a few early in the day.

Hogs—The market opened with a fairly steady demand for the 60 cars on sale to-day generally at Saturday's closing prices, packers' extra prime smooth hogs bringing $6 10; Yorkers, generally $7 85 to $8 for lots weighing from 140 to 180 pounds; pigs, $5 70 to $5 75; for good, grassy lots, $5 50 to $5 65; roughs, $4 50 to $5; stags, $3 50 to $4.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Que., July 18.—There were about 250 head of butchers' cattle, 120 calves and 350 sheep and lambs offered at the east end abattoir to-day. Trade was not very brisk, but the prices of cattle were rather higher all round than they were last week, a few of the best selling at from 4½c to 4¾c per pound, with pretty good stock at from 4c to 4¼c per pound. The best grass-fed cattle sell at about 4c per pound, but much the larger number sell at about 3½c per pound, and some of the leaner beasts bring less than 3c per pound. Good calves were in active demand. One lot of fine, good calves were sold for $4 50. Common calves sell at from $2 50 to $5 each. Mutton critters sold a little better to-day; shippers pay 3½c per pound for good large sheep. Lambs sell at from $2 50 to $4 each. Fat hogs are not so plentiful as they were last week, and prices are better, or about 5½c per pound.

The Dairy Markets.

LITTLE FALLS.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., July 18.—Cheese market was strong to-day, and prices show an advance of ⅛c. The sales are: One lot at 7⅞c, 7 lots at 8c, 32 lots at 8⅛c, 8 lots at 8⅜c, 32 lots at 8¼c, 1 lot at 8⅜c, 2 lots at private terms, and 12 lots on commission. Total, 7,906 boxes. In farm dairy cheese the sales were 990 boxes at 8c to 8½c, about an equal amount at each price.

Butter—The butter market also shows marked improvement in an advance of 1c per pound. There were 66 packages of creamery butter sold at 20c, and 22 packages of dairy butter at 18c to 19c.

UTICA.

UTICA, N. Y., July 18.—Cheese market was quiet to-day, but ruling quite active. The ruling price was ⅛c below that of last week. The sales aggregated 13,357 boxes, with prices ranging between 8¼c to 8⅜c, with ruling figures at 8¼c. Transactions same date last year aggregated 13,366 boxes; ruling price, 8c.

Butter—Sales of creamery aggregated 87 packages, as follows: 15 packages at 20½c, 67 packages at 20½c, 5 packages at 22c.

Athletics vs. Olives.

The Athletics of South London and Olives of London North will battle for supremacy on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Albert grounds, London West. As the Athletics have not been beaten this season, and the Olives have been greatly strengthened by the addition of several new members, a good game can be expected. Following are the names of the players:

THE RELIEF FUND.

The following dispatch will give some idea of the sufferings in St. Johns, Nfld., and the immediate necessity of relief:

"The steamship Miranda, Capt. H. E. Leseman, of the Red Cross Line, arrived at her dock off Woodruff's stores, Brooklyn, from St. Johns, Newfoundland. She is the first vessel to bring authentic information of the fearful conflagration that has almost completely destroyed St. Johns. The Miranda made that port on July 10. Capt. Leseman says that when 140 miles out to sea the smoke from the conflagration was so dense that he had to close the windows of the pilot house, and when 70 miles from St. Johns, the flames could be plainly seen.

According to Capt. Leseman's story the burned-out people are only sheltered by some miserable sheds, and are compelled to huddle together like cattle. To add to the horror of this condition, diphtheria is epidemic, and grave fears of a contagion are entertained. The people are suffering from hunger, and the Miranda will carry, free of charge, all contributions of clothes or food to the unfortunate people of St. Johns.

The city fund now amounts to $1,143 70, or with the council's additional grant $1,643 70. Including the first donation of the Board of Aldermen, the total raised in London to date is $2,143 70. It is expected that further contributions and the benefit concert to-night at Victoria Park will swell the aggregate to $3,000. Mayor Spencer, the aldermen and leading citizens will hold the plates at the park entrances for free-will offerings.

The other day one Mrs. Mawhinney asked the mayor to allow her to collect subscriptions among her friends, as there were many who would be glad to contribute their mite towards the fund. She has returned the book to the mayor with the following subscriptions: Mrs. T. O'Hagan, $1; a friend, A. Chalmers, a sympathizer, Miss Wells, Mrs. McCarthy, Mrs. Rason, Mrs. Hayes, G. W. Nevett, W. Dunn, J. Morris, Ed Morris, 25 cents each; Mr. Crow, 50 cents; a friend, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Coles, 25 cents each; Mrs. Smith, 10 cents; Mrs. Crow, 25 cents; Mr. F. LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

Parties leaving the city on their holidays can have the Daily ADVERTISER mailed to any address in Canada or the United States for 40 cents per month.

—The hotel corridors are alive with Masonic delegates.

—Mr. Wm. Wanless, jun., president of the Young Liberal Club, is seriously ill.

—The choir of Dundas Street Center Methodist Church picnicked at "Windermere" yesterday through Sheriff Glass' kindness.

—Hundreds from the city are at Port Stanley again to-day. The Queen's Avenue Methodist Church Sunday school picnic is being held.

—In view of the City Council's decision to issue a restraining injunction the London street railway has stopped work on Dundas street east and west.

—H. R. Abbott, of this city, has been appointed vice-president of the Ontario Dental Society. O. H. Ziegler, this city, is on the committee of membership and ethics.

—Rev. T. H. Slater, pastor of the B. M. E. Church, Princess street, has received a call to London and will leave for that city next week. During the reverend gentlemen's stay of fourteen months in Chatham he has made many friends and the congregation has added a large number to its membership. Mr. R. R. Ball, of Toronto, will assume charge of the church next week, under Elder Hawkins.—[Chatham Planet.

—At the meeting of the Great Priory, K. of T., to-day, Grand Master Malone appointed R. E. Sir Kt. T. J. S. Dewar, of this city, representative to the triennial conclave Knights Templars of America, meeting at Denver in August next.

The Chicago Cricketers Here.

The Chicago cricketers arrived in the city last night and registered at the Tecumseh as follows: W. H. McNaughton, Robert G. Clarke, W. P. Griswold, Alex. Macpherson, F. F. Kelly, D. C. Davis, J. G. Davis, W. Balster, C. L. Shaw, Robt. Edwards, P. F. McDougall, H. C. Wright and J. Warriner.

At 11:30 this morning they faced the London Cricket Club on the latter's grounds in the north end. Chicago went first to bat. Their inning was concluded shortly before 2 p.m., and they had piled up 134 runs. Lunch was then served.

Arrested in London.

While in this city yesterday Detective Cuddy, of Toronto, ran across Charles H. Sims, aged 40 years, who is wanted there on a charge of larceny, and placed him under arrest. Early in April Mrs. Tomlinson, 46 Wilton avenue, Toronto, reported to the detective department that a gold watch and chain and three gold finger rings had disappeared five months previously, and charged Sims with having stolen them. After an investigation a warrant was issued, but he eluded arrest by leaving town. He was brought back together with Dr. Anderson, one of the "doctors" who is charged with fraud.

COMING AND GOING.

Visitors to the City and Londoners Away From Home.

Adam Graeme, of Mossgray.

By Mrs. Oliphant.

"No," said I, stammering and hesitating, for I felt painfully the great event, the era in our lives which had become known to me since I saw her last. "No, Lucy—except what Hew does not need to be told, I hope—that I constantly think of him as of my most dear friend, and that scarcely anything in the world would delight me so much as to see him again."

"I will tell him," said Lucy, "one likes to hear such things sometimes, Adam, even when one is in no doubt of them,—and I will tell him any other pleasant thing you know, to make amends for the sad news I must send him—for I am afraid that is certain now, Adam, which I said before was only possible—we must leave Murrayshaugh."

"Is there no way of averting this calamity?" I exclaimed.

"You know my father, Adam," said Lucy, "he does not trust me as he might do; but I have almost been acting as a spy these few days, and there is no hope I see; for one of the few trials that can really shake his iron nature is this of leaving home, and if there was any hope of averting it, he would try all means before he yielded."

"Lucy," said I, "help me to present my petition to your father—beg him to remember how greatly I am indebted to you all, and entreat him to consider me thus far as his son. If what I have will do, why should he not take it, Lucy? I am a young man—I am ashamed of my own indolence—I will go and seek my fortune like Hew, and will be far happier so than as I am. Lucy—"

"Hush, Adam," said Lucy, stopping me, as I eagerly pleaded with her, "you must not think of this. I cannot suffer you to say another word, and you know my father with his harsh pride would not be indebted even to his own son for such assistance. No, no, he will bear his own burden alone, and so must I—that it is not easy or light is a lesser matter—we must bear our own lot; but, Adam, I am glad you have said this—I am glad," said Lucy slowly, a gush of sudden tears coming to her eyes, which seemed to flow back again, and did not fall. "I am glad you would have done it, Adam. I will mind it when I am heavy again, and sinking—and I will tell Hew."

"But, Lucy, listen to me," I exclaimed. "May I not speak to Murrayshaugh? may I not ask your father?"

"Not unless you wish to make him desperate, Adam. Nay, do not look impatient. To satisfy you, I will mention it to him myself, and even urge it if I can. I know what the issue will be, but I will do you this justice, Adam—are you content?"

I was compelled to be so. I hardly could have dared myself, under any circumstances to offer pecuniary assistance to Murrayshaugh.

We parted very soon. Lucy did not make the slighest allusion to Charlie—there was not even a hint or an inference which I could fancy pointed to him. She was very composed—so much so, as to make it evident to me, who knew her well, that there had indeed been some grievous troubling of those quiet waters, before so dead a stillness fell upon them—but no one who knew her or observed her less could have seen any trace of a crisis past, or a great struggle completed in the grave composure of her manner. Whatever memorials of the storm there might be within, there were none without.

I thought when I left her of an ascending road leading westward of Fendie, which, when you look along its line at night, seems to go off so abrupt and chill into the clear cold sky beyond, that its solitary wayfarers mysteriously disappear there, into the luminous blank of heaven, and you watch them with a feeling of desolate loneliness, as they glide in silence away. I thought of Lucy on that road alone—since then, whenever I recall her memory, I have fancied I saw her slight figure there, traveling away steadily into the cold horizon, unwavering and alone.

CHAPTER VII.

He speired at her mother, he speired at her father,
He speired at her kin,
But he speired na the bonnie lass herael,
Nor did her favor win.
Katherine Janfarie.

Walter Johnstone remained nearly a month at Fendie, During this time he made two or three visits to Edinburgh, but as a new beginner, he was not yet very much cumbered with business. He was the brother of Lilias—I became interested in all his pursuits, and indulgent of all his foibles. We were seldom separate; for if I was abroad with Walter almost all the day, I sat in my especial corner in the Greenshaw parlor all the evening, and that privilege was cheaply purchased by any fatigue or inconvenience. I fancied I began to make some silent gradual progress. I fancied Lilias was scarcely so shy as she used to be in my presence, and I myself began to be a little more rational in my adoration. To the devout homage of the age of chivalry, I endeavored to add a little of that more ordinary and slighter thing, which is called "paying attention." I adopted as much of it as the shyness of my deeper feeling would permit, and almost envied, while I was offended by, the fluent ease of Maxwell, who like myself was a frequent visitor at Greenshaw, but who, unlike me could be quite at ease with Lilias, and ventured to treat her like an ordinary girl. Ordinary girl! what do I say! there was no such being in existence to me. Unapproachable, above all others, was my own queen and lady, but the light of her presence shed a reflection upon them. I owed them all a reverence for her sake.

Maxwell was preparing to go away, he said. I wished him in India with all my heart, and wondered audibly why he delayed so long. Not that I was what is vulgarly called jealous; but while I did feel envious of any sharer in my sunshine, I grudged that it should fall on one to whom it was merely common light. I was angry because he did "pay attention" to Lilias, and I thought meanly of him because, admitted as he was to her society, he could be content with paying "attention." Altogether his presence irritated me, I heartily wished him away.

Walter Johnstone was a pleasant companion—even forgetting, had that been possible, whose brother he was; we became great friends. He was too acute not to perceive how matters stood, and I fancied he had no desire to discourage me. We were out together on the last day of his stay at Greenshaw; he had become very confidential, he told me his circumstances with his partner, his anticipated income, his intention of taking a house in York Place; and finally, the last and greatest of all, his prospect of getting a mistress to the house. I listened with the greatest interest, and congratulated with the utmost warmth—it was impossible for any brother to have been more sympathetic than I—and then, with a sudden boldness of your shy man when he reaches the needful heat, I made speedy conquest of him. Then I was ushered into the well-known parlor, with its forenoon look of quietness and new arrangement, to wait for Lilias.

I returned home in happy unconsciosness of how or where I went. On the way I met Maxwell. I recollect, and was too much elevated about all ordinary things to do more than speak the briefest words of recognition to him, overflowing though I was with the universal benevolence of a light heart; and yet, withal, I remember how some faint ghost of consciousness haunted me that I was not happy enough—that Lilias's consent was sadly mechanical, that it lacked—but no! I was not so profane as that; I could see nothing lacking in Lilias.

I was not to see her again that night—she was engaged at some Fendie party—and so I wandered the evening out by the waters de, flying from less ethereal society. I had half an idea of going to tell Lucy, but, like a miser, I chose to exult over my secret treasure a little longer before I shared the joy of it with any one.

And I remember well what wondrous dreams glided before my eyes, in bright processions, peopling yonder far-away glades and noble trees with groups of fairy figures, more beautiful than ever dream or saw before. I saw her pass over the threshold at Mossgray with her bridal grace upon her. I saw her dwell there in her gracious, growing womanhood, drawing all pleasant things toward her as flowers turn to the sun; and though my heart did indeed beat high with proud gladness, when I remembered that it was my name she shed so sweet a luster on, and that it was I who stood beside her in all the shifting groups of my fancy—even that stood aside, as selfish rejoicings must always do, in presence of the supreme joy I had in herself. That she was—that in our dim world there shone this one especial star, as true, as pure, as gracious as the heavens—whose constant outcoming must be beneficence and love; whose constant meed—too poor a one for her lofty deservings—must be blessings and honor. I could not fathom the depths of my own happiness—I could but float upon its sunny stream.

THE DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH.

A letter sent recently to the press by Wm. Bowes, Pinkerton, for publication, is worthy of a careful perusal. It is as follows:

Having said that farmers are subjected to a severe and unreasonable competition their financial straits follow as a matter of course. It is estimated that one-third of the population in the United States are directly interested in the prices received for their agricultural products, and when such a large number of wage-earners fail to secure full wages, no wonder we have a labor problem and this great social unrest.

From this point it is easy to see where the false distribution of wealth comes in. The farmers are getting more and more into debt, and we are now told that the lands in the United States are covered with mortgages to the extent of $10,000,000,000, and, taking east and west, it would be safe to say that the rate of interest at the present time is 7 per cent., being a payment yearly of $700,000,000. That is surely explanation enough why the rich are getting richer and the primary wage-earner poorer.

But the desire to bring at once and immediately every virgin field into cultivation is not only producing a false distribution of wealth, for the above reasons, but it is producing a false distribution of population. Fancy 5,000,000 people living in one city, and, I am sorry to say, that I hardly dare hint that there is anything wrong in it, because everybody has the tremendously false notion that it is trade and commerce that enriches the world; the fact being that when society lends itself to the commercial idea the largest kind of expensiveness is encouraged, which becomes again an added burden upon the shoulders of the food producers. The railways alone cost for running expenses $800,000,000 a year nearly, while the interest on their cost of construction, together with its watered stock, say at 4 per cent. all over, is $400,000,000 in the United States alone. That the stockholders may get $400,000,000 a year as interest on their stock the farmers have to pay also the sum of $800,000,000 for mere running expenses. If we but had this one Christian idea in our head, that our industrialism exists but for the purpose of maintaining wages, the false idols that we now worship would not lead us into such an expensive dance.

From Malthus to our day the great terror has been that population would outstrip production, and that black poverty would come upon us all, but to-day the prospects are, that the food supply can be indefinitely produced. This confidence is almost assured when we reflect on the negative forces of the tropical and subtropical regions of the earth, which might easily be converted into fruit-growing regions, and these fruits might easily be of the long-keeping kind. The mower and the binder give us command of the largest area. There is an immediate prospect, it would seem, that one steam engine, or water power, by turning electricity into motive power, will be able to plow many farms at the same time, to say nothing of wind power and its uses for irrigation and other purposes, but magnificent as the prospect is, that the earth will blossom as the rose, and that every man and millions more of us might easily sit under his own vine and fig tree, the pleasing prospect is dashed to the ground by the abominable idea that it is necessary and needful that one man should live upon the labor of another; that we should be losing handler of wealth gathering straws of it. The destructive idea is this, that the rate of interest should be maintained. There can be no progress while that idea obtains. The idea that capital cannot be increased unless it carries a stiff rate of interest is not true, and that is the idea society has as a basis for the present poverty-breeding system—this position is so fundamental and important that it requires all the illustration that is possible. When interest is high nothing is ever done to secure returns that are not immediate; on the other hand, when interest is low, say 1½ or 2 per cent., and no recovery from that rate is expected, then it is possible that capital will be invested for a future and larger return. For instance it is frequently urged that much of our lands should be reaforested with some profitable woods—walnut, for instance. Now, the least reflection shows that such planting would take place with interest low, with no prospect of other investment, with a low rate of interest. India might be almost wholly diverted to grow fruit-bearing trees, and banish its poverty for once and forever. Suppose every farmer held only what land he himself owns, and wages were such as enabled him to save, his wages would then be directed to permanent improvements, whether on the soil itself, drainage or irrigation; superior breeds of cattle, the most economical and enduring implements of husbandry — for the farmer, like everybody else, will always try to sustain his life with the greatest economy of exertion. And what is true of that interest is also true of all the other primary industries which provide shelter and raiment. Not for one moment will they expend energy if by the introduction of a new machine their product can be increased. It will not be, Will this new thing pay us this year for its introduction? but will it pay us eventually? As has been often remarked, when interest is high tools of all kinds, as well as our locks and latches, are made almost to serve the purpose of the moment, which require either constant repair or replacement; so that the capital itself is not permanent; so that it appears that capital would be as sedulously increased in all the primary industries, as it is at the present time, with this important difference, that wages would be much more, the gains of the capitalists that much less.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Mr. J. Poole, of the G. T. R. yard, this city, while swinging at Port Stanley Saturday dislocated his shoulder.

—Fall wheat cutting has been proceeding in Westminster and adjoining townships for some days. The crop is very heavy.

—The contractor who is laying the block pavement on Clarence street is doing good work at the King street crossing by relaying it. The crossings were in bad shape.

—Wm. Martinson, of Lobo, was arrested on Saturday by Detective Graham, charged with giving liquor to Indians. Squire Jarvis remanded the prisoner to Tuesday.

—The creditors of Solomon Weaver late of Kingston and London will get 18½ cents on the dollar. Their claims amount to $33,840 10. Londoners get $160 85 out of $887 25.

—Dr. Jennie Carson, of Strathroy, formerly of London, is still in a critical condition at her home. All hope of her recovery has been given up. Uraemic blood poisoning is the cause.

—Mayor Spencer is flooded with anonymous communications, generally complaints of some kind. The mayor says he is quite willing to oblige anyone who will sign his name, but unsigned letters usually go to the waste-basket.

—Mrs. Edward Blake and family are spending the summer at their seaside residence at Murray Bay. Mrs. Blake will leave for England in the autumn to join the Hon. Edward Blake, whose political duties will now detain him in England.

—Miss Maggie McNeil, a domestic at Mrs. McKinnon's, Albert street, has met with a misfortune. While standing on a chair in the pantry endeavoring to reach a glass she fell, sustaining serious injuries to her spine. She has been removed to the City Hospital.

—J. J. Dyas, formerly of this city, died in Toronto on Saturday. He was the publisher of Books and Notions, but retired some time ago on account of ill health. When in London he took an active part in Oddfellowship, and was a charter member of Dominion Lodge.

—The case of the men charged with destroying fish by dynamite in the River Thames, near Thamesford, was adjourned until Friday at Ingersoll yesterday. Inspector McCann, Len Fitzgerald and Detectives Crawford and Mason of this city were among the witnesses.

—The corporation laborers are completing arrangements for their picnic in Queen's Park on Aug. 1. Numerous promises of donations toward the prize list fund have been received. It was decided that the men should parade from the Market Square to the park, headed by a band, and the aldermen will be asked to walk.

—Last evening a raspberry festival at St. James Presbyterian Church was a decided success, socially and financially. The promenaders were provided with open-air music, while within the lecture room the ladies of the church looked well after their numerous friends in the matter of a liberal supply of raspberries served up with cream.

—At the last regular meeting of Court Hyde Park, No. 7,329, A. O. F., the following officers were duly installed for the ensuing term by P. C. R.'s, Geo. A. and C. Routledge: P. C. R., Daniel Graham; C. R., S. L. Bryant; S. C. R., John Larway; S. W., George Kennedy; J. W., Thomas Mason; S. B., Henry Sampson; J. B., Thomas Johnson; treasurer, George T. Tremeer; secretary, Peter McNames; physician, Dr. D. G. McNeil, and the auditors were re-elected.

—A midnight marauder made an entrance into Assessment Commissioner Grant's residence the other evening. Mr. Grant and his son were aroused and discovered the thief disappearing through a cellar window. They thought of giving chase, but as they had not taken time to dress and the air was cool, the idea was abandoned. The visitor took nothing away.

—If you set a vase of flowers in a current of air, writes a citizen, they will lose their freshness in a very little time. They will also wilt quickly in a hot room. Always keep well sprinkled with cold water during the day, and set them in the coolest part of the rooms and away from the open windows. In the night put them into the cellar and turn an air-tight vessel over them, after first covering them with a thin cloth well moistened. Often when they have begun to hang their heads during the day the treatment during the night revives them. Flowers keep longest in a temperature of from 40° to 50° above zero.

Music in the Park.

By permission of Lieut.-Col. Payne and officers the band of the Seventh Fusiliers will render the following programme in Victoria Park this (Tuesday) evening. Voluntary contributions will be taken for the benefit of the sufferers by the St. Johns fire.

Y. M. C. A. Camp Notes.

July 16.—The experience of the last couple of nights has been a novel one to most of the boys, and was greatly enjoyed by most of them; not so much by others. The terrific rain and wind storm of Friday afternoon and evening seemed inclined to play havoc with the camp for a time, but the tents were well pitched, and with one exception stood the storm first rate. The unsteady one was finally anchored, and then the encampment was in good shape to stand the storm.

But some of the campers thought home a pretty good place in times of that kind.

One of the "Chaff."

An Exiled Middlesex Boy's Reply to Col. Denison's Sneer.

Canadians Who Have Made Their Mark in the States.

Some Reasons Why They Have Gravitated Over the Border.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

On the 30th ult. I reached Ailsa Craig from Omaha, Nebraska, after eleven years' absence from my native county—Middlesex. It is an inexpressible privilege to me to see old faces, many of which begin to show the impress of old time. It is with overwhelming sorrow that I read in the cemetery at Nairn, where I spent fifteen years of my boyhood, the names of teacher (Dr. Henderson), young men and women with whom I went to school, Sabbath school teachers (Mr. Paul Anstie and Rev. Deacon Fraser.) Among these familiar names of my boyish days are Rev. L. McPherson, Frasers, Stewarts, McIntyres, Moores, Carmichaels, McIntoshes, Rosses, etc.

On coming up on the London, Huron and Bruce train Wednesday morning, I bought a copy of the ADVERTISER, with which for many decades I have been familiar. I read your article, "Are the Absent Ones 'Chaff'" in answer to a sneer by Col. Denison, who intimated that the "chaff" had departed and the "winnowed grain" remained in Canada. To one who for twelve years has had an opportunity of observation—six years in Western Iowa and six years in Omaha, the metropolis of Nebraska, with its 140,000 people, without its adjunct, South Omaha, on the south, with its Swift, Hammond and Cudahy immense packing establishments, numbering some 8,000 to 10,000 inhabitants, with the city of Council Bluffs on the east, separated by the Missouri River, numbering some 25,000 people, the sneer is a ludicrous one. In going through Nebraska some seven years ago I met the registrar of the United States Land Office in Valentine, Neb., Mr. McMurrich, who is a graduate in arts from the University of Toronto. In the University of Dakota is another graduate of the same institution, Dr. Sullivan, who for ten years has been bishop of Algoma, occupied a prominent position in the city of Chicago for years, and who ran a very close contest with Dr. Seymour, of Chicago, for the bishopric of Illinois. Dr. Wm. Ormiston, formerly of Toronto Normal School, and Hamilton, etc., occupies a prominent pulpit in the city of New York. The late Miss McIntyre, a graduate from Kingston, filled an important position in the high school in the city of Omaha, paying some $1,800 per year.

If Colonel Denison would compare salaries paid in Ontario with those in the United States, both in the ministry and in teaching, the comparison will be unfavorable for Ontario, so far as the cities and towns are concerned. The principal of the Omaha High School, Mr. Lewis, gets a salary of $2,000 per annum; the assistants from $1,300 to $2,000 per year. The principals in the public schools receive from $100 to $140 per month, ten months being a school year, depending upon the number of rooms in the building, $5 additional being paid for each room. There are some 260 teachers therein employed, nearly all of whom are ladies.

The First Presbyterian Church in the city mentioned paid Dr. W. J. Harsha, who for some fifteen years occupied its pulpit, a salary of $5,500 per annum. He recently accepted a call and entered on his work in a Dutch Reformed Church in the city of New York. Dr. Duryea, formerly of Boston, receives a salary of $5,000 from the First Congregational Church of Omaha. These examples might be multiplied indefinitely.

If Col. Denison were to institute such comparisons between salaries paid in Canada and those paid in the United States, he would find in the better inducements offered in the latter country, in some lines at least, a reason for the diversion from Canada to the United States. He might also find on intelligent examination that while some "chaff" may have drifted southward to the sister country, the tide has carried with it considerable "winnowed grain."

I listened during the month of May, at the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Omaha, to the gifted and brilliant Superintendent Carman (formerly bishop). His speech in response to an address of welcome by one of the bishops of the conference was highly applauded by the press as one of the most masterly efforts during the session of the conference. It was also my privilege to hear a similar address from Dr. Wm. Moulton, M.A., fraternal delegate from England and one of the English translators of the revised New Testament. He presented many topic of a general character in faultless English.

There are magnificent prospects for corn crops in Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois. The fall wheat in Kansas promises an excellent yield. The northern portion of Indiana, through which we passed on our way to the east, is very much like our own Middlesex. The woods, rail fences, fall wheat and other grain crops might remind us that we were passing through Ontario.

GLADSTONE AS A JOKER.

How He Turned a Caricaturist and a Caller Down.

[From the Youth's Companion.]

To be able to make a joke well is a delightful gift; to be able to take one well is hardly less desirable. Mr. Harry Furniss, the distinguished comic artist of the London Punch, recently a visitor to the United States, relates a little incident which shows that Mr. Gladstone can do both.

The "Grand Old Man," it is well known, has a rather long neck, and habitually wears a collar of the kind which has been given his name—a collar snowy, immaculate, extensive and characteristic.

Mr. Furniss, in his innumerable clever caricatures of the great statesmen with which he has enlivened the pages of Punch, has never failed to make the most of this article of apparel, widening the band, accentuating the points and experimenting with all the ridiculous effects of which it is capable.

Sometimes he sketches a collar of such vast proportions that the merest glimpse of the head within it is visible, yet manages so artistically that that glimpse—be it an eye and the bridge of a nose, an ear and an eyebrow, or only the outline of the top of the head — is yet unmistakably Gladstonian

It has long been the custom for the most regular and frequent contributors to Punch to meet at a weekly dinner with the editor, there to communicate their ideas to one another, criticise, suggest and arrange in the most sociable and pleasant manner a rough plan of the next number to be prepared.

At one of these little dinners not long ago Mr. Gladstone was an honored guest, and there was some previous speculation as to how he and Mr. Furniss would enjoy the meeting.

Mr. Gladstone proved equal to the occasion. He came, and hardly was he seated at the table when the company became aware of a change in his familiar personality. A second look revealed its nature. Mr. Furniss stared; somebody tittered. There was a smile, a ripple and then a roar of laughter.

Mr. Gladstone had on the smallest, slenderest and most inconspicuous of narrow, turn-down collars, assumed for that occasion only, and was quietly enjoying the artist's discomfiture.

Mr. Furniss soon recovered himself and appreciated the joke as much as anyone else; but it is probable that Mr. Gladstone, in Punch, at least, will not again make a change in the fashion of his collars.

WHY NOT?
You have corns, warts, bunions, moles or cancers? Why are they not cured? You ask a reasonable question. It demands a candid answer. You have it here: You bought a corn cure. You thought you had Barkwell's, but it was not the genuine; you got a counterfeit. It was no more use than water. We missed the sale of what you wanted. So far, it is your money gone; our money is gone too. You get another and think it is the genuine. You have made a mistake and we are in disgrace. More of your money's gone; more of our money is gone. Your corns are no better; our reputation no better. You make up your mind they cannot be cured. We have lost a customer. You have got hold of the wrong end of the fact. You have got hold of the wrong bottle. Both our moneys are gone. Not only our moneys are gone but our opinions of one another are wrong. We don't know you by sight or name. You don't know us. We think "how dull you are to get an imitation when you might as well get Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure." And you think "what fools the manufacturers of that corn cure are to cheat so." Let's get acquainted with one another. Let's get acquainted with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. The manufacturer is not the unhandsome name you call him by. And you can't help it. Come on. Nobody deals more handsomely. Nobody ever loses a cent by getting Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure, but they always lose a corn. We never had any trouble except by these infernal counterfeiters. Neither do you with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. y
