ALLIED COUNTERS THROW HUNS BACK; HEAVY LOSSES ARE INFLECTED ON FOE

French Smash Into German Lines Along
Whole Front, Ourq to Marne, Make Progress and Break Up Attacks.

FRENCH TROOPS ARE VICTORIOUS
AT MANY POINTS OF LINE

British Make a Slight Gain in Flanders Operation, Taking
Several Hundred Prisoners—Enemy Fails in Another Assault Against Rheims.

With the French Army in France, June 3.—The enemy now holds the northern bank of the Marne for a distance of about fifteen miles. A further advance in this section seems to have been prevented, although the Germans may feel out the opposite bank of the river by making efforts to cross at various points. The principal object of the enemy, however, appears to be to make some progress westward as it is possible before he is compelled to accept battle on a grand scale.

Paris, June 3.—The French held the Germans everywhere last night. The enemy losses were heavy. The French took prisoners, the war office reports.

The French counter-attacked along the whole front between the Ourcq and the Marne and made progress at several points. A violent German attack on both sides of the road between Chateau Thierry and Paris was broken up by the French.

The statement follows:
"Our troops continued their counter-attacks during the night along the whole front between the Ourcq and the Marne and gained ground at several points. A violent German attack, delivered on both sides of the road between Chateau Thierry and Paris, was broken up by the French fire southeast of Boresches. Everywhere else the French maintained their positions.

"The losses suffered by the enemy in these actions were heavy. The French took hundreds of prisoners."

BRITISH GAIN GROUND.

London, June 3.—The British last night gained ground slightly in a local operation on the northern side of the Flanders salient, the war office announces. Nearly 200 prisoners were taken.

The statement follows:
"Successful local operations were carried out by our troops last night in the neighborhood of Vieux Berquin and Merris. Our line has been advanced slightly at these points and 193 prisoners and a number of machine guns and trench mortars have been captured by us. Our casualties were light.

"Successful raids, resulting in the capture of 20 prisoners, 3 machine guns and a trench mortar were carried out by us also southeast of Arras, northwest of Lens, and west of Merville.
"A hostile raiding party was repulsed south of Villers-Bretonneux."

TOOK FORTIFIED FARMS.

With the British Army in France, June 3.—By the Associated Press.—In their location operation last night on the northern side of the Flanders salient the British wrested two fortified farms in the neighborhood of Vieux Berquin from the Germans after a brief engagement. About 150 prisoners were taken, including three officers. The British casualties were slight.

The British during the night carried out several successful raids, and also repulsed an enemy raiding party south of Villers-Bretonneux. The German artillery bombarded the section south of the Scarpe with a heavy fire, and also turned their guns on Villers-Bretonneux.

RESISTANCE STEADILY GROWING.

With the French Army in France, Sunday, June 2.—By the Associated Press.—With every step taken by the Germans the resistance of the Allied troops is growing. All along the front facing Paris the reserves of the Allies are beginning to make their presence felt.

The Germans having crossed the Dormans-Rheims road, along the eastern side of the salient, the town of Ville-en-Tardenois, which was the object of a serious attack some days ago with large masses of German artillery, has been evacuated. Engagements are reported south of the town.

GERMANS DOUBLE ADVANCE.

With the French Army in France, Sunday, June 2.—By the Associated Press.—The Germans have accentuated their movement to the south of the forest of Villers-Cotterets and in the valley of the Ourcq, and at the same time are attempting to push forward further to the north, between the Aisne and the Oise Rivers. This is indicated clearly by their concentrations of troops. The enemy is able to command the portion of Chateau Thierry, which lies on the northern bank of the Marne, but the Allies still retain the southern portion.

AWFUL RESULTS HAD ANTI-TITLE ELECTION PASSED

No Bars, Garters, Medals For
Borden's Brother, Secretary and Aides.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 3.—A fortnight ago Sir Robert Borden threatened to resign if his followers persisted in voting for a motion calling for the abolition of all civilian titles. On the same occasion, Sir George Foster delivered an impassioned speech in defence of titular distinctions, declaring that he himself had been made a better citizen through the rank which the King had been pleased to confer upon him. Incidentally, the movers of the anti-title motion and amendment were sharply rapped on the fingers for their temerity. This morning, it is announced that Sir Robert Borden's brother and Sir Robert Borden's former private secretary, stock broker and real estate vendor, have been honored by the King, while Sir George Foster has had "an additional star added to his medals," and in addition two good old party workers and staunch champions of the Tory faith, Hon. J. D. Hazen and Governor R. S. Lake, have had the title "Sir" prefixed to their names.

An Awful Thought.
Had the anti-title motion passed these things could not have been. Sir Robert Borden's brother (who was superannuated recently from the position of assistant in the military department after several years had been added to his service), would have remained unhonored. A. E. Blount, Sir Robert's former secretary, "etc.," would have remained just a plain citizen. Sir George Foster's energies on behalf of the nation and of the Empire as a whole might have flagged for lack of commendation. Sir Douglas Hazen would have been left unrewarded for his gallant action in retreating from the political arena in favor of Hon. Frank Carroll, and Hon. A. S. Lake would have remained a plain, unadorned, unadorned gentleman.

In this connection it may also be remarked that Sir Hermonde Laporte, member of the House of Commons, a commission (and very strong Conservative), would have continued to give his services "free of charge."
All things considered, there may be some who still believe that Sir Robert Borden's unflinching attitude during the session was entirely justified. Undoubtedly the announcements made this morning will bring some solace to the hearts of those who are anxious about the war situation. One thing is certain. The list, as it appeared in the morning papers, was approved by Sir Robert Borden, for did not Sir Robert Borden's cabinet pass an order-in-council more than a month ago, recommending that in future no title should be conferred without his approval. The world is safe for democracy.

THE WAR SITUATION

The Germans have carried their submarine warfare to American shores and are attacking ships sinking shipping off the American coast. Submarine attacks were reported this morning from the New Jersey coast and a number of craft were sunk. The Germans have carried their submarine warfare to American shores and are attacking ships sinking shipping off the American coast. Submarine attacks were reported this morning from the New Jersey coast and a number of craft were sunk.

Although able to push back the French line between Soissons and Noyon on the Germans have been unable to break it and, while continuing their strong attacks there are making most violent attempts from the line of the Marne to the north of Ourcq. The intention probably is to outflank the northern sector by forcing back the sector south of Soissons to west of Villers-Cotterets. Heavy fighting continued all day Sunday east of the Cotterets, and the forest of the same name east of the town. Late Saturday the French had retaken four towns in this region. Under the enemy pressure the French again were compelled to take to the hills about three miles southeast of Villers-Cotterets.

French Tactic Initiative.
Assuming the initiative of Neuville St. Front, the French recaptured Passy-en-Vallée, southeast of Faverolles, and 163 nearby. Chateau Thierry was taken and the French moved on to the Marne at Chateau Thierry were repulsed.

The Germans have not crossed the Marne and apparently have not made much progress to do so. They are holding a greater part of Chateau Thierry with the French maintaining a foothold in the western part of the town.

On the eastern wing the Germans who crossed the Dormans-Rheims road and took Villers-Cotterets. Around Rheims the situation is unchanged. The German probably hoping that the advance from Villers-en-Tardenois will outflank the Allied troops in the Rheims region.

In seven days the Germans have driven a dangerous salient in the Allied line and have taken some 10,000 prisoners. In attempting to link the new salient to the one driven toward Amiens in March, in addition to their other captures, the Germans took a huge amount of Franco-American stores at Frelencourt, the booty including 500,000 shells, much material and 1,000 vehicles.

LONDON SERGEANTS OF NO 3, VICTORIA HOSPITAL GRADUATE, DIE IN HUN HOSPITAL RAID

VICTIMS OF HUN RAIDS

Three Local Casualties Reported as Result of Aerial Bombardment.

SECOND REPORTS IN WEEK

Sergeant-Maj. Ward, Sergeant. Bob Wallace of London, Nursing Sister of Paris Killed.

DIED OF WOUNDS.
Nursing Sister Mary Baldwin, Victoria Hospital graduate.

Sergeant Robert G. Wallace, 534 Dundas street.

SERIOUSLY WOUNDED.
Sergeant Dispenser Harry C. Keeler, Chatham.

German frightfulness and the continued bombing of Canadian hospitals overseas has again been brought home to London, for the second time within a week a graduate of Victoria Hospital has been reported killed and London boys dead from the effects of the aerial raids of the Huns. This time the blow comes harder for it was at No. 3 Canadian Stationary Hospital, raised in the district and commanded by Lieut.-Col. MacDonald Reason, D. S. O., that the fatalities occurred.

Nursing Sister Mary Baldwin of Paris, a 21st graduate of Victoria Hospital, Sergeant-Major Charles Ward of Worley Road and Sergeant Robert Wallace both of No. 3 have died of wounds, and Sergeant Dispenser Harry C. Keeler of Chatham has been reported seriously wounded. Other casualties to the personnel of the Western Front have also been reported.

On May 19 the nursing sister K. H. MacDonald of Brantford, and a graduate of Victoria Hospital, training school for nurses, was killed, after two years' service, as a result of the German organized drive on allied hospitals in the British Isles. Pte. Clifford Reason, former treasurer of the Majestic Theatre, and a son-in-law of Utilities Commissioner F. G. Mitchell, was killed in the same raid.

Causes Anxiety Here.
No. 3 Hospital was mobilized in London during the war, and since then doctors, nurses, n. c. o.'s and men and the reports of its bombardment and the results casualties have caused considerable anxiety here. Col. Evans Davis, C. M. G., now in the city on furlough, was in command of the unit in France until Lieut.-Col. Clifford Reason took it over. It is not known by relatives whether Col. Reason is now with the unit or not, as he was operated on for appendicitis in England on April 27.

The news of the death of Sergeant Robert Wallace was received by his father, J. J. Wallace of 534 Dundas street, this morning. The father was in the official message was May 30.

Left in April, 1915.
Sergeant Wallace was with No. 2 Unit in April, 1915, celebrating his 21st birthday on board ship. He was stationed at Enghien, later going to the Isle of Lemnos. From there he moved with the hospital to Alexandria, Egypt.

He was with his unit for two years, where he had been since.
The last letter received from Sergeant Wallace was written on his fourth birthday spent away, on April 27. He mentions the different places where he had been on his other three birthdays, adding that his next one would be spent at home. The letter was written when he was in good health. No particulars have been received as to how he was wounded. He was with his unit, Charles McGarry, at the time of the latter's death in No. 3 Hospital last week.

Dr. Harry Reason, brother of No. 3's commanding officer, received a long-distance telephone message from Chatham this morning reporting the third known casualty to No. 3. C. Keller of Chatham was notified that his son, Sergeant Dispenser Harry C. Keeler, was suffering from multiple wounds as a result of the raid.

CHAPLIN IN TRAINING FOR AERIAL SERVICE?

Montreal, June 3.—Charlie Chaplin, the famous comedian, is said to be training in a Canadian aviation camp, and has been invited to a local fair by Lady Wilmot-Taylor. Unless military services interfere, he is expected to lend his assistance to "l'Alde la Patrie" in raising funds for the French war sufferers and for the purchase of comforts for the Canadian expeditionary force.

NEWFOUNDLAND GOVT.
SUPPRESSES NEWSPAPER

St. John's, Nfld., June 3.—The Government on Saturday, under the authority of the war measures act, suppressed the Daily Star newspaper on the charge of printing articles calculated to hamper the operation of the conscription act.

The newspaper instituted proceedings against the police officers who carried out the Government orders, for unlawful entry upon its premises. The case came before the supreme court on Tuesday next.

RUSSIA ASKS FRANCE TO FREE RUSS TROOPS

Moscow, Wednesday, May 12.—Russia has protested to France against the further retention of Russian troops on the French front. The protest declares that Russian neutrality makes it imperative that Russian soldiers be immediately removed from France.

A division or more of Russian troops have been in France since 1916. The Russians, however, never took a very active part in the fighting, and have not been mentioned in official reports recently.

AFTER TRANSPORTS HUN SUBMARINES HUNT THE AMERICAN WATERS GETTING MANY SHIPS

Steamships, Schooners, and Other Vessels
Reported Torpedoed Or Sunk By German
U-Boats Operating Off Northern Atlantic Coast of America.

SUBS DRIVEN FROM WAR ZONE
CARRY WAR ACROSS THE OCEAN

New York, June 3.—Two more American vessels, the Hattie Dunn and the Samuel L. Hathaway, have been sunk by German submarines. This makes five vessels definitely known as lost in the German submarine raid off the United States coast.

New York, June 3.—One steamship, one schooner and two or three other vessels have been sunk off the Jersey coast by a submarine.

One of the ships sunk was the Edward H. Cole, a sailing vessel. It was asserted, according to circles that it was possible that as many as six additional vessels were destroyed, not including those known to have been sunk.

ATTACKED DURING NIGHT.
The ships were attacked some time during the night, according to information which was received here. Details were not immediately available. The port authorities barred the departure of outgoing shipping this forenoon.

It is presumed here that the submarine or submarines are now being dealt with by American destroyers.

MAY HAVE SUNK FIFTEEN.
New York, June 3.—Information received at the Maritime Exchange here indicated as many as fifteen vessels have been sunk by submarines off the United States coast.

The presence of German submarines off the American coast have been current for the past two weeks, the reports telling of one or more having been sighted in southern waters.

AFTER THE TRANSPORTS.
The attack upon American shipping almost at the very entrance of New York Harbor is taken to mean that Germany has at last inaugurated a submarine campaign to break up transport of troops to France.

Within the last week a South American ship, arriving here, brought reports of the presence of two German submarines in the vicinity of Bermuda. The reports that fifteen vessels had been sunk seems to indicate the presence of a number of submarines, and that this enemy has inaugurated an attack in force.

TRYING TO STOP FLOW OF TROOPS.
Washington, June 3.—Naval officials said that up to the time Associated Press dispatches, telling of destruction of American shipping off the New Jersey coast by German submarines were received in Washington the navy department had no information of the presence of enemy raiders in home waters.

The subs undoubtedly were looking for American transports. Having been checked in the war zone the German admiralty apparently has concluded to carry the submarine warfare to the doors of America, in hope of stopping the flow of troops which will turn the balance against the Central Powers on the western battlefield.

NONE SUNK OFF NANTUCKET.
Boston, June 3.—It was stated at the office of the commandant of the first naval district today that there was no truth in the report that a vessel had been sunk by submarines off Nantucket Shoals. The office investigated thoroughly a report that a transport had been torpedoed.

BOSTON PORT CLOSED.
The port of Boston was closed at noon today. Narragansett Bay had been closed earlier and every protection against the appearance of German submarines on the northeast coast was taken.

THIS SAYS SUB CAPTURED?
Boston, June 3.—Among the many reports received here today was one that a German submarine, after sinking four vessels off the New Jersey coast was captured and was being taken into New York. Local navy officials denied any definite knowledge of the matter.

WASHINGTON REPORTS THREE SUNK.
Washington, June 3.—Besides the Edward H. Cole the names of two other ships sunk have been reported to the navy. They are the schooners Jacob S. Haskell and the Isabella D. Wilkey.

A navy department statement announcing the sinking by submarines says:
"The navy department has been informed that three American schooners have been sunk off this coast by enemy submarines.

"The steamship Bristol, arriving at New York this morning, reported that the four-masted steamer, Edward H. Cole, was sunk by submarines at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, 50 miles southeast of Barnegat, N. J., and that the Bristol rescued the crew and brought them to port."

"It also rescued the crew of another sailing vessel which was sunk. The Bristol reported that she encountered a submarine 38 miles off Barnegat at 4:20 p.m. Sunday, and that two submarines were operating in the area."

"The steamship Grecian reported that the schooner Jacob S. Haskell was sunk by gunfire by a German submarine in the same general vicinity at noon Sunday. The crew was rescued."

"It was also reported that the Isabella D. Wilkey was shelled by submarines."

Captain Newcomb of the Cole stated that his vessel was attacked by a German submarine which boarded him, took away his papers, and placed bombs on board. The captain and crew took to the boats. Captain Newcomb stated that the submarine which attacked was about 200 feet long and carried two large guns, one forward and one aft, and a smaller gun amidships.

PORTS WELL PROTECTED.
Washington, June 3.—If the German admiralty expects to find the American ports unprotected because a great force of American destroyers has been concentrated in the war zone, around the British Isles, it is mistaken, naval officials say. While the anti-submarine craft in the war zone are in large numbers, the protection of the Atlantic coast on this side of the Atlantic has not been overlooked, and it is said there are adequate forces in home waters to meet them. Recurrent reports of German submarines on this side of the Atlantic have been closely examined by the naval department during the last week. Reports of a German submarine near the Virginia Capes were current in Hampton Roads Saturday. It was said navy flying boats, submarine chasers and other anti-submarine craft in that district immediately went to sea in search of the raider.

24 PARISIANS ARE
WOUNDED BY BOMBS
Paris, June 3.—The German airplanes which raided Paris on Saturday succeeded in passing over populous districts of the city and 24 persons were wounded by their bombs, the Havas agency says. Some damage was done to buildings.

IS IT HUN PROPAGANDA?

THE ATTACK of Pemberton-Billings, M.P., upon Mr. and Mrs. Asquith, Lord Haldane and others of high position in the old country becomes capable of more than one construction as it is mentally digested. A great many people see German propaganda stamped over the whole thing, a case of the Huns finding the tool with which to injure Allied morale, and after long delay having it brought to public attention by a forced criminal action, at which witnesses are called who introduce in a manner wholly irrelevant to the issue the names of many prominent persons. Even the name of the trial judge is spouted forth by one who claimed to have seen "the book of the 47,000," but who of course can produce nothing more substantial than the statement that the Germans gave him the information.

Whether or not the attack upon the Asquiths and a number of other persons will be proven as a deliberate attempt of the Huns to undermine the confidence of the British masses, the man who brought the matter to public attention by the medium of a sensational paper has a good deal to answer for. But Pemberton-Billings has already proved himself entitled to an examination as to his mental balance, for it will be recalled that it was he who leaped from a gallery in the House of Commons and denounced King George. He also made sensational attacks upon the British air service at a time when it could scarcely be expected that this branch of the army could be properly organized. Pemberton-Billings and his accomplice who was formerly the aide-de-camp of a Prussian prince, might well have their own records examined in a microscopic way. At the present time their charges do not appear to have impressed the British public. The Britishers will recall that Asquith even today mourns the loss of a son killed in France, while another has been wounded. He has been the target for slander before this occasion, but he has never lost his place in the respect of the people he led for many years. The tendency will probably be to regard the attacks as an attempt to sap the morale of the Allied peoples.

NEED FOR INVESTIGATION.

REPORTS of harsh methods used toward drafted men have been received by The Advertiser from a number of quarters, and are being investigated. If some of the stories told are true there is need for carrying the evidence to the highest authorities in Canada and making an example of those guilty which will never be forgotten.

The jackboots of the junker are not often seen in this country, and it will be well that they are never seen. Ill-treatment of any men who are called up for service will find an echo of resentment in the breasts of all the men who have been fighting vicious militarism and all of those who are ready to fight it when their turn has come. The people have willed, according to the result of the last election, that the military authorities may take the body of a man for the service of his country. But that body is not to be taken without legal authority, nor is it to be abused, nor the owner of it to be reviled by those who have the authority to operate the act.

THE TEST OF GOVERNMENT.

AMERICAN WRITERS are urging on the people the necessity of having a Congress of the best calibre available if the war is to be won, and the rules laid down for selecting members are that they should be chosen for their brains, honesty and past record. One wonders whether Canada's Government would stand up under this test. Brains are one essential; even the most rabid Conservative or Unionist hardly will claim that the Dominion has been searched for the most brainy statesmen to fill the Borden cabinet; but brains alone are not enough to qualify for a war cabinet, which calls for honesty and good past record. It is the two latter qualifications that are most noticeably lacking in the Borden Government.

Honesty calls for the keeping of promises made to the electors. One has only to bring to mind the Borden promises to farmers concerning exemption from war service, the Borden promise to have a "50-50" cabinet immediately after the election, the promise of members of the Government to fight and have rescinded the war times election act, and the promise to abolish patronage, and the Government is discredited.

Past record! Unless a record of muddling, of favoritism, of disregard of constitutional rights and of unholy alliances is one of which to be proud, the Borden Government had no claim to be returned to power. It did not point to its record when coming to the people, but avoided all mention of it, showing thereby political sagacity if nothing else. What would happen to it today if it had to be judged by the electors on brains, honesty and past performances?

SCIENCE IN WAR.

MUCH WONDERMENT and surprise were caused by the announcement that the Germans were using a gun to bombard Paris which threw shells over 70 miles. The new war weapon was hailed as a triumph of science, and some of the faint-hearted were encouraged to cry out: "We cannot win against a nation whose scientists can produce such weapons. We have no one to compete with them." As a matter of fact, the making of these long-range guns was a simple problem compared with that set the French scientist-mathematicians who were called on to locate the gun which was shelling the capital. The manufacture of the weapon depended solely on extending, in their proper proportions, principles already in use, while the only guide given the French as a basis for finding the hidden gun were two holes made by one of its shells in an awning. From the story told by these holes, the French mathematicians were able to give their artillery such exact information as to the location of the monster cannon that it was successfully shelled after only a few range-finding shots.

The war has discredited German science to a great extent. The Teutons have invented no weapon to compare with the tanks in effectiveness; they have made no strides in medical science to compare with those made by the Allies in treating the sick and preventing disease; they have not even been able to improve on the discoveries of the Allies when samples were in their hands. The gas which the foe used at Ypres and since that battle was not a new find; it was simply an illegal weapon which others would not utilize until compelled. The only things in which the Germans have outshone the Allies are: Brutality, bestiality, contempt for all international laws and (the one legitimate superiority) an ability to concentrate forces quickly where they are most needed and provide reinforcements.

If science is to be a determining factor in the struggle, the Allies have no need to fear the outcome.

BANISHING IDLENESS.

WHILE THE WORLD is shuddering under the horrors of the battle raging in France; while it turns aghast from mental contemplation of the hideous fact that the men of a great and once-honored nation are dropping bombs on hospitals with the intention and hope of slaying the wounded sufferers who occupy the cots and injuring or killing the angels of mercy, men and women, who are living and working to ease the suffering of the patients and bring them back to health, it may be a relief to turn for a moment to some of the good things which will result from this bitter struggle against everything that humanity abhors.

It has been said that war is the world cure for idleness. There is truth in the statement which becomes more evident every day. The old idea that the community owed a living to everyone, worthy or unworthy, has disappeared, and in its place there is a new axiom which says everyone owes his life to the community, or something to the same effect.

In Britain and France, before the war, there were thousands of wealthy idlers whose hardest mental work was the figuring out of how to spend the days and whose most arduous physical labor was the clipping of coupons. All that changed quickly, and idleness became a reproach. If all did not at once do their utmost for the cause, they at least did something. Later came the turn of the moneyless loafer, who had not joined the army. He was forced to do so or, if unfit, to engage in useful occupation.

Canada and the United States have followed the example set by the older countries. There may exist an envy of the financial circumstances of those who do not need to work for a living, but there is no envy of the person who takes advantage of those circumstances; in fact, he who does so has become a criminal in the eyes of the law and liable to imprisonment.

Laws have not been required to force women into useful occupations; their own sense of the fitness of things and the needs of their men overseas have been sufficient. Practically all women today are workers.

This discrediting of idleness cannot be without its beneficial effects in the future. The sin of having "nothing to do" has become impressed on the nations too thoroughly to permit of its again becoming fashionable. The world is going to be more a world of workers and life is going to be better worth living because of the change.

Shure, there's talk of making unlawful meetings illegal in Limerick and Tipperary.

President Wilson says Christ still rules the hearts of men, which puts the Teutons finally outside the scope of mankind.

Wouldn't this be an excellent time of the year to stop garbage collection? Wouldn't the flies hold a thanksgiving meeting?

The cake of soap which was the starting point of the Halifax riot should be preserved as a sample of trivial causes which lead to disastrous results.

Canada is more saving than the United States. The latter held a day of prayer and national humiliation on a week-day, but Canada chooses Sunday so that little time will be lost.

Gen. Maurice is out with the announcement that the present German drive will be followed by another and greater effort. It's just possible, of course, that Gen. Foch may take the initiative before that next attempt is ready.

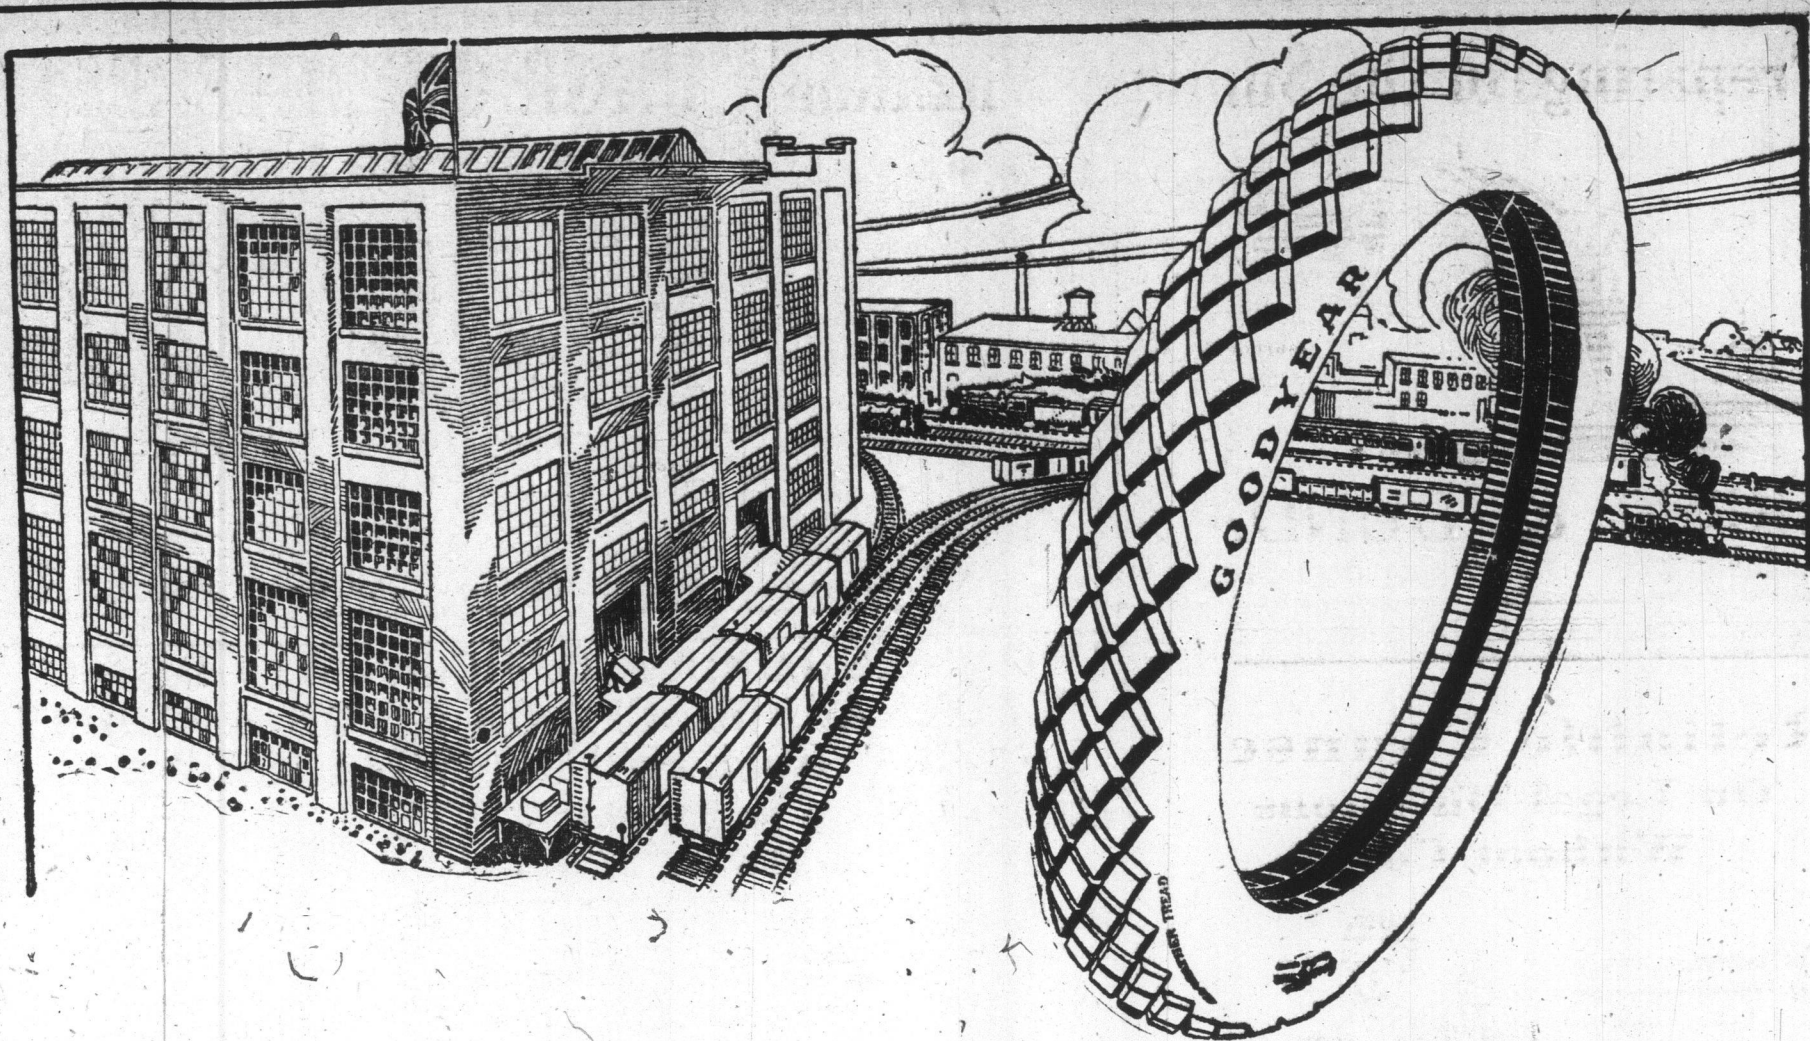

With the date of general registration settled and all arrangements under way, is it not time the country was given some definite information concerning its objects and what the Government proposes to do with the knowledge it receives?

EGGS, TWO FOR A QUARTER.

[Toronto Telegram.]
Toronto Globe almost rushes out an extra with the thrilling news that Peter McArthur was called upon to pay twenty-five cents for two boiled eggs.
The scene of the crime was the riot act to Sir Robert Borden at Ottawa. The truth that Sir Robert read the riot act to the excursionists is a detail. Details have no place in the picture. X marks the spot where the buffet car porter separated the refrigerator from two eggs, and Mr. McArthur separated himself from twenty-five cents. The Globe may apply for a recount to decide whether the porter found the goose that lays the golden eggs or whether the goose was the sinister passenger who bought eggs at two for a quarter.

AN ENTENTE QUESTION.

[Boston Free Press.]
Great Britain is moving first for its own protection; but it also is moving for the protection of its Allies, including the United States. The Irish question in its Sinn Féin ramifications is no longer exclusively a British question, any more than the defence of the west front is exclusively a French question. The minute it became tainted with pro-Germanism, it became a general Entente question, for its Allies just as the United States is responsible to its Allies for the handling of Teutonic plots within its territories. We should always remember, we should keep it clearly and vividly before us, that the plots of the Sinn Féin in Ireland are plots with America's enemy, Germany; and are plots against the interest of America, and against the safety of America.

Volume That Means Value

ONLY through vast production can a quality product be sold at a moderate price.

Eight years ago Goodyear No-Hook Tires commanded a much higher price than popular brands. For Goodyear production was small. Each year since then Goodyear Tires have rendered increased service to motorists.

The motorists of this continent were not long in appreciating that Goodyear Tires are manufactured on a basis of high ideals. Their appreciation has been expressed in a demand that to-day makes Goodyear the largest selling tire of the world.

This gigantic volume allows a saving in Goodyear products that insures a measure of value impossible to achieve through any other means.

Bits of Byplay by Luke McLuke

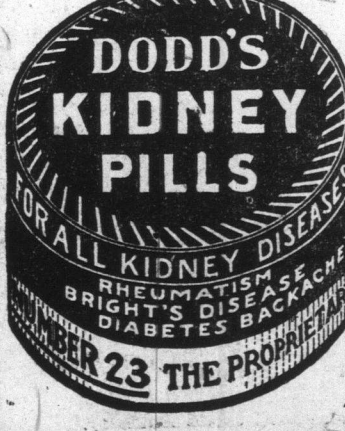

Let's Go, Fellow!
We'll whip the Huns we all abhor.
And this is not a case of guess.
Though we are not prepared for war,
It didn't take us long to dress.

Paw Knows Everything.
Willie—Paw, what is a necessary evil?
Paw—That's what some women think clothes are in hot weather, my son.

While He Waits.
His nerve is gone; he cannot smile.
The bright gay world no more enchants.
He's sitting in a back-room while
A two-bit presser irons his pants.

Has a Flock of Children.
"It says here that a French-Canadian has the largest family in the world," said the Old Fogey.
"That's wrong," said the Grouch.
"Satan has the largest family in the world."
"How's that?" asked the Old Fogey.
"Satan is the father of lies, isn't he?" demanded the Grouch.

Too Late Now.
If Hindenburg had studied the Infantry Drill Regulation Manual issued by the army he might have saved a lot of men and a good beating by avoiding that big drive. Paragraph 560 of the manual reads as follows:

"Combats that do not promise success of some real advantage to the garrison should be avoided; they cause unnecessary losses, impair the morale of one's own troops and raise that of the enemy."

Why Love is Blind.
Her face would scare most any mutt.
But Jones says she's a beauty, by gad;
She has a poor complexion, but
She has a very wealthy dad.

Mighty Useful.
"The vermiform appendix is a useless thing, isn't it?" said the patient.
"Useless!" exclaimed the surgeon.
"Why, I don't know how we surgeons could get along without it."

Same Old Story.
Soon commencement time in this fair land.
Sweet graduates will bless;
She'll spend two hours on her essay.
Two whole months on her dress.
—Luke McLuke.

Working in Cabots?
Ed Busse claims that in Yard, Kansas there is a two-story frame building on the main street. The upper floor is occupied by Dr. Slep and the lower floor is occupied by Philip Graves, an undertaker.

Our Joe Miller Contest.
C. V. S. claims that the oldest joke is the one about the boy whose father had just whipped him and whose grandfather came along while the boy was crying. "What happened?" "Nothing," happened," replied Johnny. "Paw did it on purpose."

There is Nothing in a Name.
Dr. Swindler of Logansport, Ind., is treasurer of the Cass Oil Company.

Names Is Names.
Cash County lives in New Orleans.

Our Daily Special.
Experience! Something You Buy for a Dollar and Can't Sell for a Cent.

Luke McLuke Says
Some men are so inconsistent that they will denounce gambling as sinful and then they will go and buy a second-hand automobile. And if that isn't gambling, what is it?

A modern boy will not think of going swimming unless he has a dollar and a half bathing suit in a rubber bag. What has become of the old-fashioned boy whose bathing suit consisted of a wad of cotton in each ear? Them was the happy days.
Did you ever notice that when a man comes out of a saloon he always looks in one direction and then starts off in the other direction?

Love is something that makes a young man feel like a girl's eyes are microscopes and he is an insect.

And the honeymoon is over when Love would rather shovel grub into his face when he gets home than hold Dovey's hand.

The man who eats but one meal a day at home misses two family rows per day. All the family rows seem to start at the table.

Some men put in half their time being good-natured to strangers and the other half in being mean to their families.

Any time you see a boy wearing familiery hair and monkey clothes you can bet that his father isn't the boss in his household.

When a Friend Husband comes in after midnight and tells Friend Wife twelve things he did do and one thing he didn't do, she knows that he didn't do the twelve things that he said he did and did do the one thing he says he didn't do.

The reason father gets so mad at the children because they are not learning anything at school is because he was so dumb that he had to stick in the same grade for three years when he went to school.

A thin girl doesn't mind being that way, because she knows that she would always have Jacob's Ladders in her stockings if she had a corn-dred shape.

The Suffe who wanted everything that man has already acquired, ledw the mistakes and are now acquiring that man has have already acquired bald heads.

A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis, when their youngest daughter, Anna Bertha, was united in marriage to D. Ellis Tennent, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Tennent. The young couple, who were unattended, were married under an arch of flowers and a bride and groom. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked pretty in a taupe silk gown, with hat to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and fern. After a short wedding trip to the young couple will reside on the groom's farm near Hyde Park.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, when Miss Mary McKean was united in marriage to Sergeant Valentine Hogan, returned war veteran. After a short wedding trip to Mr. and Mrs. Hogan will reside in this city.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Hoffman, Craig street, when their youngest daughter, Lorna, became the bride of Harold Rowntree, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rowntree, Stanley street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Dougal, beneath an arch of palms and ferns. The bride entered the drawing-room on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, played by Miss Georgina Hoffman. The bride was daintily gowned in pink crepe de chene, wearing the conventional bridal veil, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom was supported by Allister Hoffman, brother of the bride, while little Gertrude Hodder made a charming flower girl. After the ceremony the guests adjourned to the dining-room, where a dainty luncheon was served. The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome presents, including several checks. Out-of-town guests were present from Walsley, Levisville, Stratford, Dorchester and Detroit.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.
Copyright 1917 by George Matthew Adams.

JIMMY COON'S TALK STIRRED UP THE HUMANS.

Now, these three ladies in a fainting spell on the floor of the bedroom of the new neighbor's house, and Jimmy Coon got very anxious about the safety of his mother, Mrs. Coon, and her two friends, Mrs. Pessum and Mrs. Skunk. Jimmy and Teddy Pessum did not dare to enter the house, for Jimmy Coon said the house was haunted.

So Jimmy got brave Mr. Coon, his father, and Mr. Pessum, and Mr. Skunk to go and brave Mr. Skunk led the way, for he had firearms, and Mr. Coon and Mr. Pessum followed. And when the three gentlemen reached the bedroom they were horrified to see the three ladies, Mrs. Coon, Mrs. Pessum and Mrs. Skunk, all lying on the bedroom floor still in a fainting spell. And as the ladies lay there, they revived, they helped their husbands to bring the parents and the six children to life again. They pinched them, and rubbed their hands and gave them "First Aid to the Injured," but they couldn't make them show any signs of life.

"They're as dead as doornails," spoke up the wise Mr. Coon. "Let's go home and have something to eat. I am very faint from lack of food. Oh, no wonder, in the excitement, we forgot to eat our breakfast." And all scurried downstairs to eat their forgotten breakfast. And what do you suppose they found when they got home? Why, Jimmy Coon and Teddy Pessum had eaten up everything in the three houses, and hadn't left a crumb, and they had gone off to hunt, still being hungry.

And all winter those eight bodies of their new neighbors hung up on the wall of their bedroom, with their heads hanging down, and their feet fastened up near the ceiling. But no one dared to enter the house for Jimmy Coon had started the story that the house was haunted.

But all winter long neighbors would climb up the fire escape and look into the windows of the bedroom, and when they saw the eight bodies still hanging up on the walls, they ran away screaming in fear.

And Jimmy Coon said: "Why, they look just like imps, with their puggy heads, and their awfully big ears."

They look just like imps, with their puggy heads, and their awfully big ears.

And Teddy Pessum said one night to his mother when she was undressing him for bed: "Mother, you stay with me until I go to sleep, for I'm afraid those Hobgoblins will come and eat me, who are hanging up by their feet against the ceiling, while their heads still hang down all winter long. I can now see their little snapping eyes looking at me, as they peer at me from under those woolly eyebrows."

And poor little Teddy Pessum shuddered, from the longest whisker on his little nose, to the last hair on his rope-like tail.

Tomorrow: Jimmy Coon Makes a Great Discovery.

The "Hello" Girl In France

It seems a simple thing to say "hello!" But the time and the place sometimes combine to make even that simple thing rather difficult. To say "hello!" and all that implies in either French or English and as a member of the signal corps in France is something of which to be proud. Gen. Pershing who asked for a force of women telephone operators in France, specifying his need of three chief operators at $125 a month, nine supervising operators at $72 a month, 24 long-distance operators at $60 a month, 50 operators at $50 a month, all with the allowance of army nurses and uniforms. The contracts specified service as long as the war lasts.

Montana and Louisiana were considered promising locations, and in answer to advertisements in French papers about four hundred women applied. Of all this number only six could be considered. A general result resulted in 2,400 applications, from which were selected 25 experienced operators and 25 possible eligibles. So far 7,000 applications have been sent in and 100 operators have been sent to France. Another 150 are in training and there is a reserve list of 400 anxious for training.

The group of 100 already over was sent in three units and is made up of French-born who had migrated to America, or of American girls who had lived in France. New York leads in the list, with California and Massachusetts a close second. Seventy-two per cent are Americans, 28 per cent either French, Belgian, Canadian, English, Swiss or Dutch East Indian. The operators were given the same psychological tests that are given to officers, and no stone was left unturned to ascertain motives for applying for service and assurance of loyalty. The latter points were investigated by secret service agents. During training the women are given military drill and lectures are given on the duties and traditions of the signal service corps. Practice in military camps familiarize the girls with military terms. Women surgeons also deliver talks on personal hygiene. Strict health examinations were demanded, also inoculation and vaccination. The girls achieved not a little distinction in the very start by standing the inoculation ordeal without

MARY PICKFORD in "M'Liss"

At the popular Majestic today, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

MAJESTIC

Mary Pickford, the Sweetheart of the Screen, at the Majestic Today, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday (4 Big Days).

The scenes in "M'Liss," Mary Pickford's newest Artcraft photoplay, were filmed in the highest part of the San Jacinto Mountains, in Southern California, and during the making of the production, work was interrupted several times by severe snowstorms. There was another interruption when the little star made an automobile trip to Camp Kearney, San Diego, where she reviewed the United States troops, an event never before conferred upon any woman. The affair ended with a regimental ball, "Our Mary" and Col. Farness, the commanding officer, leading the grand march. After the ball, Mary Pickford laid aside her evening gown and riding habit, for the ragged gingham dress worn by "M'Liss." In this picture none of the beauty of Bret Hart's marvelous story has been lost by Frances Marion, the scenarist, or Marshall Neilan, the director. "M'Liss," which is an exceptionally strong mountain play of the days of the gold rush of 49, will be seen at the Majestic Theatre today, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. In Miss Pickford's support appear Theodore Roberts, Thomas Meighan, Tully Marshall, Helen Keefe, Winifred Greenwood, and other notable film players.

ELDER WILLIAM FLIGG IS GOING TO MICHIGAN

About 75 friends gathered at the home of Elder William Fligg, 631 Dufferin avenue, on Friday evening to bid him farewell on the eve of his departure to Michigan.

The church choir, with the assistance of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints in Michigan, presented to him, with an illuminated address, on behalf of the congregation of the local church.

The presentation was made by Elder Frank Gray, and the address was read by Elder J. Mottash.

Elder Fligg, replying, thanked the members for their token of affection.

He regretted that he could not be present at the local church, where he had spent so many years, but the call was so plain that he felt it could not be refused.

Several others of the congregation expressed in brief addresses their regret at losing Elder Fligg.

He has been an enthusiastic worker in the London church for over twenty years.

He is undertaking missionary work in Michigan, with headquarters at Port Huron.

A short program, consisting of instrumental and vocal selections, was enjoyed by those present.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program.
