Picked Up Body of Phaeton in Which Aged Couple Were Riding.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 2. - A most remarkable escape from death occurred his cousin, Mrs. Helen P. Laverty, of Scranton, 70 years of age, took an involuntary ride of almost a mile on the pilot of a locomotive. Beyond cuts and seriously injured. They were driving in a phaeton, and in crossing the Ontario and Western Railroad tracks north of this city, the rig was struck by a train going forty miles an hour. The horse was killed and the lower part of the phaeton smashed into kindling wood. The upper part, containing Mr. Dorrance and Mrs. Laverty, lodged on the front of the engine and clung there until the train was stoped, when they were released from their perilous position, hope for a peaceful settlement. "I do not expect the separation will materially influence Swedish foreign relations. Even in separation, the vital nterests of the two countries are too closely linked to enable any power to play either against the other, and, except in some improbable and unforeseeable new combination of international affairs, Swedish foreign relations will proceed as if the ancient bond was still unbroken. It remains none the less a fact that, as far as can be predicted from existing data, no alliance of the two sovereign states is at the present time. As talked of the pan-Scandinavian alliance seems still a mere dream. Sweden will be neutral among states; there is among her people a traditional dread of Russia, and traditional friendship for France.

The Fight Against Consumption

A representative of the Canadian As. sociation for the Prevention of Tuberculosis is to address a meeting in the city Wednesday evening, and a descrip tion of the aims of this organization is timely. There are two forms of work, the general and the local. The work of the general, or Canadian Association proper, is to disseminate information regarding the cause and prevention of consumption, by the circulation of suitable literature and public lectures. The work of the local or branch soci- of the The work of the local or branch soci-of the term "honeymoon" or the way oty includes treatment, as well as it originated. When public attention was first turned to the treatment and cure of consumption an impression went abroad to the effect that the solution of the tuberculosis problem had been found in the erection of sanatoria for consumptives in different parts of the country. Certainly the erection of sanatoria within convenient reach of the great body of sufferers is greatly to be desired, but the association holds that the sanatorium meets only one aspect of the question. Such institutions are available only to those in the early stages of the disease, and of these, only those who can afford the fortunately fully 80 per cent of the pegple cannot do. He dashed breathes a mother's deathless love, and breathless love, and bre the license inspectors, but this has only whetted the appetites of the office-seek ing horde. Mr. Whitney is being put to a severe test. He is in a position, with a preponderating majority in the House, and with the people of the province, regardless of party, inclined to give the new administration a fair chance, to resist the assaults upon the integrity of the civil service. The Laurier Government was similarly beset in 1896, but showed a moderation which should be an example to the present Ontario ministry. The circumstances are identical, the victorious party in each case having suffered a long exclusion from office and patronage, during which the personnel of the federal public service became almost entirely Conservative, and that of the Province of Ontario almost entirely The hopes long deferred of party workers make a serious problem for any new administration, but if the Give patronage system under present condi tions is far from ideal, the evil effect upon politics would be a hundredfold tains in the United States, were allowed to get a footing in this country. Against this Mr. Whitney must be on guard.

distinguished author of "Quo Vadis" is not believed to be rich. His works have brought him more fame than money. While they have been translated into many tongues and published in many lands, they have never yielded him anything like what might reasonably have been expected. Russia's lack of copyright laws makes it difficult for her literary men to protect their work abroad.

When in Oblengorek, Sienkiewicz rises much earlier than in town, spending a considerable part of the day in the open air. He walks, rides and drives a great deal, delighting in exercise generally. Shooting is his favorite pastime, and there are few days in the season when he does not go out with his does not go out with his gun in hand. He is a remarkably good shot, too. A neighbor who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it. I did so and soon felt that I was growing stronger, my headaches and backaches left me, I had no more bearing-down pains, and felt like a new woman. Within a year I became the mother of a strong, healthy child, the joy of our home. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a splendid remedy, and I wish every woman who wants to become a mother would try it."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free to expectant or would-be mothers.

Will Influence the Young-Rev. W.J Clark on "Training of Children."

Rev. W. J. Clark, in the course o sermon on the "Training of Chil-ren." referred to the books of the Public Library, and also to the posters to be seen on the walls of the city. Parents should instruct their children in the law of God. There were other teachers, that they could not control however. These teachers were books. pictures, theaters and such things.

In referring to books, he said the Public Library was doing good work, and was a good institution, but there were many books in it that should not be put in the hands of children.

He also read an advertisement from the papers of the city regarding a show that appeared here last week, characterizing it (the ad) as imbecile. spoke of the female chorus of the show. The question of changing the bylaw has already been broached to Mayor Campbell, who consulted the city solicitor as to the advisability of changing it and making provision for the payment of a cash penalty. Mr. Meredith, however, was not prepared to give a definite answer as to whether such a penalty would be effective. The South Londoners may wait on the council tonight and ask that the bylaw be altered in such a way that the Edward street line will be secured. Turf followers are agreed that this has been an off-year for the thoroughbreds. Of course, Sysonby has been the star, and, while he may be the greatest colt of the century, yet he has had no serious competition. There has not been a colt that could make him stretch his neck any stage of the road. Without him, the rest of the 3-year-olds look like selling-platers, not real stake horses. The "healer" had left for Crediton, funeral will be private. and the parties drove to that place from Exeter. After seeing the socalled healer the Londoners started home. They gave the horses but an hour to rest. Seventy miles' fast driving on such a warm day was too much for the team, and while several miles out in the country, between 4 and 5 o'clock in the morning, one of the horses dropped dead. Much difficulty was experienced in getting the other horse in to the livery.
