THAW'S HEARING AT COLEBROOK, NEW HAMPSHIRE, IS ON TODAY

Harry Issues a Statement to the World About His Case.

New York Spending All Kinds of Money to Get Him Back.

[Canadian Press Despatch] COLEBROOK, Sept. 12.—The next legal battle in the case of Harry K. Thaw will likely be at Concord, N. H., before Governor Felker. The fugitive's lawyers learning to-day that an extradition warrant from Acting-Governor Glinn of New York, was on the way to the New Hampshire capital, decided to defer arranging Thaw's appearance in court here and to demand a hearing before he acts on the matter of extradition.

The representative to Concord to confer with Felker and reinforced their appeal by telegram. Thaw in the meantime is here in the custody of Sheriff Deane of Concord in a Colebrook hotel. He was to have been arraigned at 10 o'clock this morning, but his counsel after trying vainly to persuade William Travers Jerome not to seize Thaw instantly should the warrant from New York be honored at once, deterred bringing him into court on the ground that a preliminary hearing would bring no good results. In fact it might mean his liberation with incident possibilities of his seizure. Counsel for both sides were in conference at noon, after which it was announced that by mutual consent of counsel the hearing had been put over till to-morrow morning.

COLEBROOK, N. H., Sept. 12.—Surrounded by ten of the twenty special guards sworn in by Chief of Police Kelley, Harry K. Thaw was to be arraigned to-day before Judge James E. Carr on a complaint setting forth that he was wanted in the State of New York on a charge of conspiring to defraud Justice by escaping from Mattawaen asylum for criminals inane.

The scene of the hearing was a busy office the time as set yesterday, 10 a. m. Thaw slept well during the second night of his detention in the Monadnock House. Four armed men, at just outside his door, throughout the night, others paced about the corridors and around the building. Talk of plots and counter plots to kidnap him were still in the air to-day and every time an automobile whizzed down the street with muffler open the guards tightened their grip on their automatic pistols. The pro-Thaw Canadian contingent which followed him over the border after his sudden deportation via Concord, N. H., was somewhat depleted to-day although more than a dozen were waiting the outcome of the court procedure. While residents of Colebrook are evincing great interest since they have taken no open stand either for or against the fugitive, shortly after rising this morning and before going to the barber shop to be shaved, Thaw issued a formal statement summarizing his case and pointing the fact that New York state was spending so much money on him.

Thaw's Statement
The statement follows:
"I think the people of my own state would like to know by what warrant of law or common sense the money of the people of the state of New York is being squandered like water by many more thousands of dollars than are available to me in these persistent and unscrupulous efforts to return me to Mattawaen.

"If I am sane then certainly I don't belong to Mattawaen, if I were sane then the laws of New York state itself make it compulsory that I be deported from New York to my home state, Pennsylvania.

"The statutes of New York require that insane persons from another state who are sent to Mattawaen or to any other New York public asylum not charged with crime, and I am acquitted man stand exactly in this class, be reported to the state board of deportation and promptly sent out of the state back to the state of my residence.

"The New York law is so anxious to get rid of alleged insane persons from another state that it provides that doctors and nurses, if needed be supplied to get rid of them.

"The United States courts had adjudicated me a resident of Pittsburg and reaffirmed this fact within three months.

"Now why does any New York official squander New York money to return me?"

Walter Mitchell Stung; Bee Case in Police Court

The Bees of William Grieve, Dufferin Avenue, Said to be Busy Little Bodies and Can't Behave Themselves.

"Are honey bees which continue to fly over the neighbor's fence and sting the neighbors, a public nuisance?" This is the question which Magistrate Livingston was called upon to decide in police court this morning when Walter Mitchell, Dufferin Ave. appeared as complainant against Wm. Grieve, charging that his bees refused to stay at home and continued to fly over the fence, bothering the neighbors with their stings.

Counsel for Grieve's claimed that the bees had never stung the complainant and endeavored to place the blame on a nest of wasps, but Mitchell declared that he knew a bee from a wasp and was sure it was the bees that were to blame. The plaintiff declared that he had been stung a dozen times.

Magistrate Livingston expressed the opinion that bees should not be kept in great numbers inside the city. Grieve stated that the bees were never going into their hives for the winter and he promised there would be no more trouble. The case was allowed to stand until Monday.

TWO ARRESTS IN OTTAWA MURDER

Both Sheet Writers at Local Tracks and Are Well Known.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Nathan Shapiro, bookmaker and Henry Dreyfus, sheet-writer, well known on all Canadian and American race tracks were arrested in Montreal to-day on request of the Chief of Police of Ottawa.

The New York law is so anxious to get rid of alleged insane persons from another state that it provides that doctors and nurses, if needed be supplied to get rid of them.

The arrests were made by Chief McCaskill of the provincial police, Detectives O'Donnell and Lavigne of the local force, and Detectives Hunting and Joliet of Ottawa.

Shapiro was arrested in the Windsor Hotel, and Dreyfus was taken into custody in his room at 214 Mountain street.

Neither made any statement, but went quietly with the officers. They will be taken to Ottawa on the afternoon train together with the two colored women, Lottie Brangman and

Tecumseh's Remains Said to be Buried Near Brantford

CHATHAM, Ont., Sept. 12.—The sessions of the Ontario Historical Society are proving very interesting and educative. The distinguished delegates include Prof. L. F. Grant, of Queen's University; Q. Gilmore, of McMaster; William Houston, M. A., of Toronto, and Dean Starr, of Kingston. Last evening an address of welcome was given by Mayor Dunn, followed by speeches of welcome from Dr. T. K. Holmes, Thos. Scutard, J. W. Plewes, John A. Walker and W. E. Park. Peter H. Bryce's paper on the history of the American Indian in relation to their health was read by the secretary in the absence of the doctor. Dr. Mitchell contributed an excellent paper on the Baldpate settlement. This morning Mrs. Brown of Hamilton gave a talk on Tecumseh, intimating that she had information that proves that the grave of the noble Indian warrior is near Brantford. Secretary Fraser pointed out that he had paid six hundred dollars for a rifle supposed to be Tecumseh's gun, but from reports that he has since received he believed that Tecumseh had several rifles.

Taylor Occupies the Same Cell as Joe Kennedy Did

Consequently Authorities Watch Him Closely — He May Attempt Suicide — Dreadful Case is Practically Closed Now.

James Taylor, the self-confessed murderer, occupies the same cell at the county jail as Joseph Kennedy did when the latter committed suicide by hanging himself with his bed clothing. Not for this reason particularly, the jail authorities are keeping a close watch on the prisoner. Jailor Brown said this morning that they are watching his moods particularly, rather than his actions. Taylor, it is feared, may become despondent and take his own life, although the hope is entertained of a life sentence, may hold him up there.

The work of the police is practically closed now. The prisoner was admitted at the inquest Monday night, but it is not expected that it will take very long. In the meantime, the community has got back to its normal state again.

There is no change in the attitude of James Taylor, the murderer of the Dawson boy, who now awaits trial in the county jail. He sleeps and eats well. This morning, when Turnkey Hogan visited him, he found the prisoner snoring away, and he had to wake him for breakfast. He does not discuss anything with his keepers.

"Unadultrated Nerve" This Surely Proved

During last night or early hours of the morning some person or persons possessed of an extraordinary abundance of unadultrated gall went to the chicken coop of W. E. Green, 37 Church St., and picked out two fine chickens and hung their necks.

The uninvited guests then went into a summer kitchen and sat down and plucked one of the chickens. When the fowl was plucked the chicken bunters went out into the yard, broke up a wooden box and then returned to the summer kitchen and proceeded to roast Mr. Green's chickens.

They were evidently looking about for some bread to make dressing as when Mrs. Green's woken she heard a door slam. Mrs. Green's awoken her husband, who arose and turned on the lights and went to investigate the cause of the noise.

The self invited guests then departed taking with them the roasted chicken and one of Mr. Green's coats. The other chicken was left on the table wrapped in a newspaper.

"They certainly had a lot of nerve and made themselves at home," said Mr. Green, with a laugh to-day.

CITY OFFICIALS TO BE FULLY ARMED

They Get Notice to Appear at High Court Next Week.

City Treasurer A. K. Bunnell, City Clerk H. F. Leonard and City Engineer T. Harry Jones were served with notices this morning to appear at the next session of the High Court of Justice to be held in the Court House on Tuesday next at 10 a. m. in connection with suit of the municipality of the city of Brantford vs. The Grand Valley Railway and the Brantford Street Railway for non payment of taxes.

They are to have there on the said date all tax collector's rolls, and assessment rolls and tax bill assessment notices; assessment of the properties of the Defendant Railway Company since 1907. All letters of the Mayor, City Treasurer, City Clerk and City Engineer to and between the officials of the road from 1902.

OSHAWA HAD BAD EXPLOSION

One Man Killed When Boiler Exploded at Noon To-Day.

OSHAWA, Ont., Sept. 12.—The boiler at the gas works recently purchased from the town of Oshawa by the Seymour Gas Company, exploded this morning at 9.30. Thomas Buckley was instantly killed and Daniel Anderson was so seriously injured that at the hospital it is not expected to recover.

The self invited guests then departed taking with them the roasted chicken and one of Mr. Green's coats. The other chicken was left on the table wrapped in a newspaper.

"They certainly had a lot of nerve and made themselves at home," said Mr. Green, with a laugh to-day.

"Well Handled" Says Slemim

Chief is Home But is Still Enjoying Much Needed Rest.

"Very well handled. I am certainly well pleased," was the only statement which Chief of Police Slemim had to make regarding the handling of the Taylor murder case when-spoken by a Courier reporter this morning.

The chief has just returned from Toronto where for the past few days he has been enjoying his vacation but he will not report for duty for some time yet.

While absent from the city the chief followed the Brantford murder case through the columns of the press with the greatest interest and it was a great relief to him when he was informed that the mystery had been cleared up so speedily and so well.

Liverpool City Will Accord Civic Honors to the Remains.

The Baltic Arrived at Queenstown Port This Morning.

[Canadian Press Despatch] LIVERPOOL, Sept. 12.—Arrangements were made to-day by the Liverpool authorities to render full civic honors to the body of the late mayor of New York, William J. Gaynor, who died on Wednesday afternoon on board the steamer Baltic, while that vessel was several hundred miles off the Irish coast, on the arrival of the steamer this afternoon at this port. Plans had been made to have the body lie in state in the town hall, guarded by a detachment of police, until the time arrived to take the casket on board the Cunard Line Steamer Lusitania for shipment back to the United States. The Lord Mayor of Liverpool took charge of the arrangements.

His Belief in Himself

LONDON, Sept. 12.—"His power lay in his belief in himself," is the Westminster Gazette's comment this afternoon on the late Mayor Gaynor. "His term in office," the newspaper says, "has shown what a strong, determined man can do under difficult conditions. The best we can hope for New York is that it will find a successor capable of carrying on his policy with the same self-reliance and with indifference to the opinion of the party machine."

New York Mourns Him

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—New York has a day of mourning to-day for the late Mayor Gaynor. The city flags flew at half mast, and public buildings, the city hall, police headquarters, the municipal building—were draped in black.

The board of estimate, called together by Arthur L. Kline, the mayor's successor, was scheduled to meet this forenoon to arrange for a public funeral, to be held shortly after the arrival here of the Mayor's body aboard the Steamer Lusitania, which sailed to-day from Liverpool, and is due here a week from to-day, Monday, Sept. 22, has been suggested as a tentative date.

There were also to be meetings of the dead executive's cabinet-commissioners of various city departments—and of the board of aldermen to pass appropriate resolutions on the death of the chief executive and to take in hand the reins of the city government, confided by the mayor's sudden taking off.

The recent resignation of John Purroy Mitchell, now candidate for mayor from the presidency of the board of aldermen, and the sudden elevation of Mr. Kline, vice-chairman of the board to the mayor's chair, has left that body without a chief.

The new mayor, a Republican, who will serve until a successor to be chosen at the coming November election is inaugurated on January 1, intends, he has announced, to carry out the policies of the Gaynor administration, "insofar as I know them," and to make no changes in appointive officials. None of these officials, it was believed to-day would hand in their resignations.

Messages of condolence from all parts of the country continued to pour in to-day at the office of Robert Adanson, the mayor's secretary and at the Gaynor country home, St. James, L. I., where Mrs. Gaynor and her children, are reported to be bearing their loss with fortitude.

The dead mayor's friends recalled to-day a paragraph he wrote in a letter to his sister soon after the attempt on his life three years ago. It was this:

"I was not a bit afraid to die if that was God's will of me. I said to myself, just as well now as a few years from now. No one who contemplates the immensity of Almighty God and his universe and his works, and realizes what an atom he is in it all, can fear to die in this flesh, yes, even though it were true that he is to lose his identity and be dissolved forever into the infinity of matter and mind from which he came."

Peculiar Fatality.
MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—A peculiar fatality occurred on Craig street last night, when a painter by the name of Daly, fell from a ladder upon which he was standing to paint the cornice of a building. He had a rope tied around his waist for safety, but as he fell the loop tightened, the appliance intended to save the man's life in the event of falling, caused his death. He died before he could be got into an ambulance.

THE PROBLEM OF THE UNMARRIED.

Considerable prominence has been given in various publications to a statement made by an American writer, Mr. E. E. Rittenhouse, in his attempt to account for the fact that in the United States, as in Canada, thirty-nine of every hundred men of marriageable age are without wives.

"Making due allowance for the impunctual, the aged and the mentally and physically unfit, it is safe to say that five million of these single men are capable of assuming the responsibilities of married life. The major portion of these men have a wholesome respect and reverence for the married state, and many of them will enter it, but there are an enormous number of men who lack the moral fibre and courage to marry and take a man's part in human affairs. While an army of single men are lavishing their earnings and affections upon themselves, and many of them developing extravagant and often vicious habits—an existence which they prefer to an orderly, economical married life—another great army of young women, is forced to toil in factories and business houses for the necessities of life. This is an unfortunate and unnatural state of affairs."

Mr. Rittenhouse is on undisputable ground when he observes that "from the ranks of the unmarried comes humanity's heaviest contribution to immorality and crime." Bacon sagely remarked, "He that hath wife and children hath given hostages to fortune," and added with equal truth, "Certainly wife and children are a kind of discipline of humanity." But when he places all the responsibility for celibacy on the masculine portion of the race we think that he rather oversteps the mark. We believe that the present day young women are as much to blame as the men. There is no blinking the fact that we are in an age of revolt against domesticity on the part of our women. The majority of our girls refuse to take an interest in household work. They scorn economy and the quiet life. They want a "position" in the city. They have expensive tastes. Their bean ideal is a young man with plenty of money, an automobile, and a never-ending capacity for giving them a "good time."

LESSON FROM TRAGEDY

The Stratford Beacon comments as follows editorially on the Brantford tragedy: "There is much in human nature of good and it is held by some that no man is so depraved but there are no elements of good in him. Yet it is hard to think that men so degenerate as Taylor, the cruel murderer of Charlie Dawson, near Cainsville, in Brant County, and August Chatelle, the murderer of Jessie Keith in this county some years ago, had any good left in them. Both tragedies resemble each other in that satisfaction did not seem to come to the murderers with the death of their victims. A madness seems to have come upon them which was not satisfied with anything but the horrible mutilation of the bodies of those whom they had slain. Yet there were once elements of goodness in these men, bad as they were. Had other influences been brought to bear upon them they might have been useful citizens instead of what they were, one of them filling a felon's grave, and the other will in all probability do the same. The necessity of careful parental training and example is again emphasized. Children will go astray at times despite the best training and example, but these are exceptions, and yet there are parents, good decent members of society themselves, who seem utterly indifferent to the moral development of their children. They are not trained at all, but like Topsy in Uncle Tom's Cabin, grow up. If a harvest of shame to their parents is reaped it is only a natural one.

BUSINESS PARLIAMENT

There is an apparently well-founded impression abroad that Parliament will not meet until after Christmas. It is to be greatly hoped that such will be the case, for the history of many sessions shows that the weeks before Christmas are almost always barren of legislation. There is no sound reason why this should be so, beyond the fact that the prospect of a Christmas recess near at hand makes members incapable of settling down. We hope to have a very much more businesslike Parliament next year than we have had so far. The new rules should not only shorten debate but improve its quality. There will be less of the dreary leisure which work is done in the early part of the session and less also of the wild rush with which bills are put through towards the end. It will also be possible for the Cabinet to map out their time with some degree of certainty and thus prevent the wastage of time on unimportant matters.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

From now on there is a fine chance of there being a really live municipal situation in Brantford. Science is indeed travelling some when it is announced by scientists that the dead can communicate with the living.

It looks as if Canada's Immigration law fills the gap of an imperfect extradition treaty between the United States and Canada.

South Bruce, Chateauguay, East Middlesex and South Lanark will have bye-elections in November for the Dominion House.

It is announced that a change is to be made in the Brantford Industrial Commission and it is hoped that the office will achieve more results in the future than in the past.

Brantford parents might well believe that there was something intrinsically good in the old curfew bell ringing after the occurrence this week.

Rev. Ben Spence, secretary of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, says for publication that East York was lost by the Liberals and Prohibitionists because they had a weak and unsatisfactory candidate. This statement is infinitely more creditable to Spence than it is to Chamberlain.

The death of William Jay Gaynor, Mayor, New York, removes a picturesque figure from American politics. His fearlessness and integrity were never questioned. He was an able man who got his start in life in newspaper life. With Gaynor gone, Tammany will probably walk away with New York.

It is not generally known that despite the action of the Canadian Senate, the three warships promised by the Dominion are in the course of construction and it is only a matter of time before Canada will take over the same although the action of the Laurier senate prevents Canada paying for the ships at present.

The suggestion of City Engineer Jones that the city should keep equipment and material on hand for the repair of its pavements wherever defects are shown, is a sensible one. Investigation shows that the life of a pavement can be preserved by having attention paid to it, and that there is no pavement which is not likely to show signs of wear and tear in a short time where traffic is heavy.

Says the Hamilton Herald: James Taylor, the horrible degenerate who killed the boy Charley Dawson in order to conceal a crime not less revolting is not fit to live. And yet he should not be hanged. It is very doubtful if he was responsible for his crime when it was committed. He is a moral pervert, a victim of abnormal impulses which becloud his reason. He should be safely locked up for the rest of his life.

Up to the first day of September there had been forty-one homicides in Detroit in 1913. Only seventeen were reported in the whole of Canada in the same time. There have been three, however, within the last few days. Detroit is situated in a state where capital punishment has been abolished and those who believe in that will not find any argument to fortify their position. It is not so much because many of the United States have no capital punishment for murder that murders are greater in number in proportion to the population there than they are in Canada, but because so many escape punishment altogether.

Sad Fate of Captain

Officer who Became Ranker and Rose To a Commission. An Army career of singular interest was tragically closed on Tuesday, when Captain and Ridingmaster Charles Menzies Lang, of the 5th Dragon Guards, was killed on the South-Western Railway near Surbiton.

The mutilated body was found by the fireman of the 4.25 a.m. train from Hampton Court to Waterloo lying by the side of the metals about seventy yards from the station. Near the rails at the end of the platform a walking-stick was found, and a hat was discovered about a quarter of a mile distant. A first-class ticket from Aldershot to Surbiton was found in his clothing.

A pathetic aspect of the tragedy was the fact that during the day letters were delivered from Captain Lang to each officer of the regiment at Aldershot wishing them good-bye. His wife also received one dated "2.30 a.m., Kingston-on-Thames."

Captain Lang was about fifty, the son of a former vicar of Bentley, Hampshire. His first commission was in the Manchester Regiment, and as a lieutenant he took part in the famous march from Kabul to Kandahar. While serving with his battalion in India he was the victim of circumstances which are said to have altered the whole course of a brilliant career, for he lent a large sum of money to a fellow officer, who died without redeeming his loan, and Lang resigned his commission.

Still young, and with great ambition to distinguish himself in the Army, he joined the 14th Hussars as a private under an assumed name, and was at present at the relief of Ladysmith. His gift in training horses, combined with splendid horsemanship, led to his being sent to Canterbury, where he quickly qualified as a ridingmaster and was given a commission of lieutenant and a ridingmaster of the 6th Dragon Guards on Oct. 4, 1902. He then gave his correct name. Last October he was gazetted hon. captain.

Captain Lang was personally congratulated by the King during his visit to Aldershot in May for the admirable jumping display by the recruits of the 5th Dragon Guards, which he organized and carried out. "It was very popular among the officers and met of the regiment at Aldershot."

He had been somewhat strange in his manner of late, but not enough to cause any apprehension. He could have retired on a pension if he liked. On Monday he left the barracks in a taxi-cab to catch the midday train for London. He leaves a wife, but no children.

With the gift of a motor ambulance from the Duchess of Hamilton to the Hamilton centre of the St. Andrew's Ambulance Association, the usefulness of that association has been greatly extended.

With Edged Tools

By Henry Seton Merriman, Copyright, 1894, by Harper & Bros.

Then she rose from her seat, and, standing in the middle of the room, faced him with a sudden gleam in her eyes. "I do not see what it has to do with me," she said; "I do not know anything about Maurice's business arrangements and very little about his business friends."

"Then let me tell you, Jocelyn—well, then, Miss Gordon, if you prefer it—there you will know more about one of his business friends before you have finished with him. I've got Maurice more or less in my power now and it rests with you."

"At this moment a shadow darkened the floor of the veranda and an instant later Jack Meredith walked quietly in by the window. "Enter, young man," he said dramatically, "my window—center."

"I am sorry," he went on in a different tone to Jocelyn, "to come in this unceremonious way, but the servant told me that you were on the veranda with Durново, and"—

"He turned toward the half breed, pausing. "And Durново is the man I want," he said, weighing each word.

"Durново's right hand was in his jacket pocket. Seeing Meredith's proffered salutation, he slowly withdrew it and shook hands.

The flash of hatred was still in his eyes when Jack Meredith turned upon him with aggravating courtesy. The pleasant, half cynical glance wandered from Durново's dark face very deliberately down to his jacket pocket, where the stock of a revolver was imperfectly concealed.

"We were getting anxious about you," he explained, "seeing that you did not come back. Of course, we knew that you were capable of taking care of yourself."

He was still looking innocently at the tolltale jacket pocket, and Durново, following the direction of his glance, hastily thrust his hand into it. "But one can never tell with a treacherous climate like this what a day may bring forth. However, I am glad to find you looking so very fit."

Victor Durново gave an awkward little laugh, extremely conscious of the factory clothes. "Oh, yes; I'm all right," he said. "I was going to start this evening."

The girl stood behind them, with a flush slowly fading from her face. There are some women who become suddenly beautiful, not by the glory of a beautiful thought, not by the exaltation of a lofty virtue, but by the mere practical human flesh. Jack Meredith, when he took his eyes from Durново's, glanced at Jocelyn, suddenly becoming aware of the presence of a beautiful woman.

The crisis was past, and, if Jack knew it, so also did Jocelyn. She knew that the imperturbable gentlemanliness of the Englishman had conveyed to the more passionate West Indian the simple, downright fact that in a lady's drawing room there was to be no raised voice, no itching fingers, no flash of fiery eyes. "Yes," he said; "that will suit me splendidly. We will travel together."

He turned to Jocelyn. "I hear your brother is away?" "Yes, for a few days. He has gone up the coast."

Then there was a silence. They both paused, helping each other as if by prearrangement, and Victor Durново suddenly felt that he must go. He rose and picked up the whip which he had dropped on the matting. There was no help for it—the united wills of these two people were too strong for him. Jack Meredith passed out of the veranda with him, murmuring something about giving him a leg up. While they were walking round the house Victor Durново made one of those hideous mistakes which one remembers all through life with a sudden rush of warm shame and self contempt. The very thing that was uppermost in his mind to be avoided suddenly bubbled to his lips, almost, it would seem, in defiance of his own will. (To be Continued)

"Enter, young man," he said dramatically, "my window—center."

Acquitted of Murder

Friends Cheer Union Secretary in Glasgow High Court—Plea of Misadventure.

Albert Wade French, an official of the Union of Seamen and Firemen, was acquitted, at the High Court, Glasgow, on Saturday, of the murder of James Martin, a member of the British Seafarers' Union. French was alleged to have shot Martin during a union dispute on June 18. The jury were absent just over an hour, and on their return to court Lord Guthrie dismissed the accused man from the Bar amid a chorus of cheering from the friends in court.

The indictment stated that on June 18, in Clyde-place, Glasgow Harbour, French discharged a six-poum-pull magazine pistol at James Martin and killed him.

The tragedy, it was stated, was a sequel to a long course of rivalry between the local branches of the National Union and the British Seafarers' Union.

The accused pleaded not guilty, and a special defence was lodged which Lord Guthrie told the jury amounted to this, that what had occurred had happened through misadventure.

Giving evidence on his own behalf on Friday, French described the encounter between the crowds of National and British men. He said he found himself cut off from help, and face to face with men named Stinwell, Wylie, Ward and McKinley, one of whom cried "kill him!" He was struck, and one blow on the head dazed him. He pulled a revolver from his pocket, and, getting a knock on the arm, instinctively grasped it. To his surprise the pistol, which he thought was locked, went off. Questioned as to his relations with Martin, French said that Martin was the only man of the whole crowd who had said one kind word to him since the breakaway from the National Union. They were friends and belonged to the same lodge of Freemasons.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children In Use For Over 30 Years Always bears the Signature of J. C. Watson

PRETTY WOMEN OF MEXICAN ARMY CAN FIGHT AS WELL AS MEN.

Mexican women are taking an active part in the present disturbance in Mexico. The women seen above waiting guard on the destruction train are known to have fought desperately at their husbands' sides. Another picture shows two Mexican women on horseback. They are also collected with the constitutional army and have won high merit for their bravery. Another view shows the Mexican National Railway bridge near Durango. The abutments were blown up with dynamite by the constitutionalists and the railway work was interrupted.

THAW'S HEARING AT COLEBROOK IS ON TO-DAY

(Continued from Page 1) himself into a physical struggle of who would get Thaw first. Counsel for New York would consent to a hearing before Governor Felker on the matter of his setting the extradition warrant with five days respite in order to give time for suing out habeas corpus writ should the governor decide that the prisoner must be surrendered to New York. Lawyers were thringing this out at 10 o'clock and Thaw was still in his room at the hotel.

Ex-Governor Stone of Pennsylvania, arrived to-day and joined the Thaw battery of counsel. With him was Charles D. White of Sherbrooke, Que., one of Thaw's late Canadian counsel.

A despatch telling of the death of Mrs. Harold Jarvis, wife of the well known tenor, at her home 39 Atkinson Avenue, Detroit, was received in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Jarvis was received in and worried over the death of her son Harold Reginald Jarvis in Germany, three years ago, and a year and a half ago she fell ill. She never recovered her health and her condition was such that death was not unexpected by her husband and her relatives. The deceased was well known in Brantford.

Pleasant Event

Corn Roast at the Farm of Norman Edmondson Last Night.

Last night about 25 young people from the city journeyed to the grove on the farm of Mr. Norman Edmondson, Park Road, and enjoyed a corn roast. The trip to and from the grove was made in one of those large wabs the wheels of which seem to take pleasure in locating every large stone. However, the bunch got safely there and back. A few went out by automobile. The Edmondson brothers were very kind, and did many acts which helped to make the roast a success. Mr. Gordon Edmondson, motor-cyclist, and camera fiend, was chief of the noble band, and to the chief great credit is due for the way he handles "the heap big event."

Arriving at the grove, there was the usual difficulty in getting a fire started, and the cooking operations under way. However, the noble band soon had the water hot and the victims weiners and corn in the boiler, and it was not long before all were sitting around the life enjoying those hot dogs, corn, coffee, etc., and pumpkin pie.

Of course there were the usual pranks and games played, and all joined in singing the popular songs. Gordon Berry's wonderful voice being heard to good advantage.

Shortly after the watches registered 1 o'clock, and the merry bunch left the scene of a pleasant evening for their homes.

seventh inning when Steen developed a sudden wild streak, forcing in a run after Henry had singled with three successive passes. Culllop was substituted and passed the next man, sending over another run. Blanting relieved Culllop, and he, too, was wild. A walk, error and single gave Washington five more runs. Score—Washington 7, Cleveland 3.

PHILADELPHIA BEAT ST. LOUIS

Hopper, a Recruit Pitcher, Was Batted All Over the Lot ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—Philadelphia pounded out an eight to two victory over the Cardinals yesterday afternoon. Hopper, a recruit pitcher, worked for St. Louis, and was hampered to all quarters of the field, while Seaton, on the mound for Philadelphia, held the Cardinals safe. Score—Philadelphia 8, St. Louis 2.

BLANKED ST. LOUIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—As if they had taken a tonic, the New York Americans played fast ball at the Polo grounds yesterday and applied a coat of whitewash to the St. Louis Browns 4 to 0. Martin McHale, the former Tersey City pitcher, occupied the box for the Chance men, and his work was superlative. He allowed only three singles, two of which were scratches, and did not issue a base on balls. Score—New York 4, St. Louis 0.

Soft Ball

Next Saturday afternoon the G. S. & M. and Ham and Nott teams will play the final game in the second series of the soft ball league. On the following Saturday the winning team will play off with the Beavers, who captured the first series.

As both teams are playing good ball, and the fact that they have each won 4 games and lost 2, there should be a loyal attendance of soft ball fans at Recreation Park. Either Stuart or Wright will pitch for Ham and Notts and either McQuinn or Appel for the G. S. & M.

The soft ball game is very popular in the eastern end of the city, so much so that when a league game is played at Recreation Park, the crowd is hard to manage, inasmuch as they cannot be kept back from base lines. Spectators too often interfere with the players, and a couple of burly men should be secured to keep the crowd back for the next two games. The following is the standing of the league:

Table with 3 columns: Team, Wins, Losses. G. S. & M. 4, 2; Ham & Nott 4, 2; Beavers 3, 3; Duffs 2, 4.

The Rev. Dr. Fisher, of Morning-side Parish Church, has been appointed one of the Chaplains-in-Ordinary to His Majesty in Scotland.

Mr. Andrew Mackie, mathematical and science master, Blairgowrie High School, has been appointed to a similar post in Tain Royal Academy.

BUFFALO BEATEN BY THE LEAFS

Lush's Pitching Helped Toronto Take First Game of Series.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—In a snappy, well-played game, Toronto defeated Buffalo at the Island yesterday afternoon. Lush, a recruit pitcher, worked for St. Louis, and was hampered to all quarters of the field, while Seaton, on the mound for Philadelphia, held the Cardinals safe. Score—Philadelphia 8, St. Louis 2.

PROVIDENCE BEAT ORIOLES.

Fast Fielding by the Grays Was Responsible for the Orioles' Defeat. BALTIMORE, Sept. 12.—Providence played a wonderful fielding game behind Bailey yesterday, and defeated the locals in the opening game of the farewell series 4 to 2. McIntyre pulled off the day's feat when he took Corcoran's liner off the left field fence with his bare hand. Score: Providence 4, Baltimore 2.

Cricket

The following team will represent Brantford in a Western Ontario League cricket match at Paris on Saturday afternoon. W. H. Walsh, (Captain), F. W. Hutchins, G. Whitwill, F. W. Derbyshire, H. Whitton, J. Bryden, G. Bailey, H. Elliott, C. Wilkins, A. Bland, E. J. Wynyard and F. W. Stewart. Umpire, G. Richards; Scorer, Albert Houghting. They will travel on the Grand Valley Car leaving here at 2 p.m.

Baseball

The Eagle Place Stars will play a double header at Agricultural Park to-morrow afternoon. The Stars will meet the champions of the Paris City league. O'Connor and Dowling will be the battery for the first game.

The Alerts will oppose the Stars in the second game and Manager Fisher of the Stars requests the following players to be on hand: Berry, Dowling, Plonte, Woolman, O'Connor, Littish, Bowers, Brown, Paterson, Sears, Bradley and Fisher.

SOME BALL TEAM

Frank Chance Getting Together To Fit for $25,000 Manager to Lead

Frank Chance has been showing the American League "something different" on his last swing around the circuit. With Maisel, his $18,000 third baseman, and Williams, the hard-hitting first baseman, the "Peerless Leader" has an outfield, which, with seasoning, will compare favorably with any in the league.

Chance has Roger Perkinpaugh, the ex-Cleveland shortstop, who is playing a wonderful fielding game and hitting the ball opportunely; at second is Jack Knight, the elongated ex-Athletic, who was chased to the minors from the Yankees, only to be recalled by Chance, and Knight is playing a wonderful game these days.

The real Yankee star, however, is Maisel, whose work at third, coupled with his batting, reminds old-timers of the days when Jimmy Collins was third-basing in a class by himself. Maisel is one of the brightest stars picked up in years and Chance has ceased worrying about the difficult corner.

On first base, Chance has Cy Williams, a big fellow, who looks as if the only thing he needed was experience. Williams covers lots of ground and is a whale with the swatstick.

Rollie Zeider is the fifth infielder, and Rollie is at home anywhere from first to third, although naturally a third baseman. Just now he is playing first, not because Williams was not doing well, but Chance figured that a veteran would steady the kids, a job which before Zeider's banishment was removed fell upon the shoulders of Jack Knight alone.

The new engineering laboratory at University College, Dundee, is to be opened on October 14 by Sir Alexander Kennedy, London.

Football

The first round of the Courier Cup series will be played to-morrow afternoon when the different football teams will be hard at play at the different public playgrounds.

The city league players are all in the pink of condition, and the teams are all eager for the fray. The teams that did not get away to a good start in the city league series have no excuse to offer now for not being in condition, and the games should be fine exhibitions of football.

The game has become very popular here this season, and the games on the different play grounds are all ways well attended.

The Scotchmen

The above teams will meet on Mohawk Park to-morrow evening. The car leaves for Mohawk at 5.20, kick off 5.45 prompt. The Scots team—McGill, Morrow, McGrattan, (capt.), Malloy, Forgie, Ormiston; Maich, Conochan, Taylor, Ramsay, Stewart, Reserves, Little, Putella, Marti; Hurst, Lynn.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

A good game of football will be seen at Tutela Park next Saturday between the Tutela Park and Y. M. C. A. teams. The game is a cup-tie, being the first round for the Courier cup, and will be a good game. S. Harrington will not be fit for Saturday's game, an injury secured two weeks ago in the game with the

"Tutes" still giving him trouble. E. Roberts will be on the job this week. The team will be as follows: S. Tigwell, F. Holland, F. Mason, B. Palmer, E. Roberts, A. Clark, Hilsley, T. Hamilton, J. Holland, C. Poynter, F. Fisher. Reserves: T. Robertson, F. Goodred. The players are specially requested to be at Tutela Park at 5.15 for the game will be called at 5.30 sharp.

Tutela Eleven

The following players will represent the Tutela team to-morrow—Goal, Stanley; backs, N. McLeod and Cooper; half backs, F. Wright, A. X. Other, Vining; forwards, Usher, I. Kingley, Gore, H. Kingley, P. McLeod. Reserves, A. Usher, T. Wright.

Brant Dragons.

The Dragons and All Scots meet on Saturday next at Mohawk Park in the first round of the Courier Cup. The 25th will play their regular team which is requested to be on the ground ready to kick off at 5.30 p.m. sharp. The Grand Valley car leaves the station at 5.10.

The Cocksbutt Team.

The Cocksbutt United team will meet the Holmedale Tigers in the first round of the Courier Cup Tie, on the O. I. B. grounds, Saturday, Sept. 13 with the kick off at 5.30 p.m. sharp.

Players are requested to note that all games have been called half an hour earlier by the Football Council to avoid the darkness, and should be on the field not later than 5.15 p.m. The Cocksbutt team will line up in the following order:

Goal, H. Carey; backs, A. Maich, C. Stubbs; half backs, W. Maycock, T. Robertson and J. Gonick; forwards, R. Plant, A. Paul; G. Richardson, R. Richardson, W. Richardson; reserves, J. Anderson, F. Leaming, A. Hepper; referee, Mr. G. Elliott.

Duffs' Notes.

The following players will represent the Dufferin Rifles in the first round of the Courier Trophy, the S. O. E. being the opponents. Played at Agricultural Park to-morrow. Kick off 5.30 p.m. sharp. Knowles, D. Cook, Taylor, Harris, Bissett, Biggs, Coale, Hutchinson, Drake, Mercer (Capt.), Alexander, Reserves, Myring.

All players and reserves are requested to report at the armories no later than 5 p.m.

The Lord Advocate of Edinburgh has introduced important bills dealing with the law of entail and redemption of casualties.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Railway Detectives Take Former G. T. R. Employee Into Custody BRIGEBURG, Sept. 12.—One more arrest, with several more expected, was the result of another day's activity by several railroad detectives here and by Provincial Police Officer T.W. Delaney, who has been detailed by the department to aid the railway men in the rounding up of the gang of car thieves who have been operating in the railroad yards here for the past six months. Earl Sensabaugh, 24 years old, was the man taken into custody to-day. He is a Grand Trunk employe and at one time was night yard master of the Fort Erie yard.

PLEASANT EVENT

Corn Roast at the Farm of Norman Edmondson Last Night.

Last night about 25 young people from the city journeyed to the grove on the farm of Mr. Norman Edmondson, Park Road, and enjoyed a corn roast. The trip to and from the grove was made in one of those large vans the wheels of which seem to be taking pleasure in locating every large stone. However, the bunch got safely there and back. A few went out by automobile. The Edmondson brothers were very kind, and did many acts which helped to make the roast a success.

Mr. Gordon Edmondson, motorcycle and camera fiend, was chief of the noble band, and to the chief credit is due for the way he handles "the happy event."

Arriving at the grove, there was the usual difficulty in getting a fire started, and the cooking operations under way. However, the noble band soon had the water hot and the victims weiners and corn in the boiler, and it was not long before all were sitting around the life enjoying those hot dogs, corn, coffee, etc.—and pumpkin pie.

Of course there were the usual pranks and games played, and all joined in singing the popular songs. Gordon Berry's wonderful voice being heard to good advantage.

Shortly after the watches registered 1 o'clock, and the merry bunch left the scene of a pleasant evening for their homes.

seventh inning when Steen developed a sudden wild streak, forcing in a run after Henry had singled with three successive passes. Cullop was substituted and passed the next man, sending over another run. Bland relieved Cullop, and he, too, was wild. A walk, error and single gave Washington five more runs.
Score—Washington 7, Cleveland 3.

PHILADELPHIA BEAT ST. LOUIS
Hopper, a Recruit Pitcher, Was Batted All Over the Lot

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—Philadelphia pounded out an eight to two victory over the Cardinals yesterday afternoon. Hopper, a recruit pitcher, worked for St. Louis, and was hammered to all quarters of the field, while Seaton, on the mound for Philadelphia, held the Cardinals safe.
Score—Philadelphia 8, St. Louis 2.

BLANKED ST. LOUIS
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—As if they had taken a tonic, the New York Americans playing fast ball at the Polo grounds yesterday, and applied a coat of whitewash to the St. Louis Browns 4 to 0. Martin McHale, the former Jersey City pitcher, occupied the box for the Chance men, and his work was superlative. He allowed only three singles, two of which were scratches, and did not issue a base on balls.

Score—New York 4, St. Louis 0.

PROVIDENCE BEAT ORIOLES.
Fast Fielding by the Grays Was Responsible for the Orioles' Defeat.
BALTIMORE, Sept. 12.—Providence played a wonderful fielding game behind Bailey yesterday, and defeated the locals in the opening game of the farewell series 4 to 2. McIntyre pulled off the day's feature when he took Corcoran's liner off the left field fence with his bare hand.
Score: Providence 4, Baltimore 2.

Soft Ball

Next Saturday afternoon the G. S. & M. and Ham and Nott teams will play the final game in the second series of the soft ball league. On the following Saturday the winning team will play off with the Beavers, who captured the first series.

As both teams are playing good ball, and the fact that they have each won 4 games and lost 2, there should be a loyal attendance of soft ball fans at Recreation Park. Either Stuart or Wright will pitch for Ham and Notts and either McQuinn or Appel for the G. S. & M.

The soft ball game is very popular in the eastern end of the city, so much so that when a league game is played at Recreation Park, the crowd is hard to manage, inasmuch as they cannot be kept back from base lines. Spectators too often interfere with the players, and a couple of burly men should be seen to keep the crowd back for the next two games. The following is the standing of the league:

Team	Won	Lost
G. S. & M.	4	2
Ham & Nott	4	2
Beavers	3	3
Duffs	2	4

BUFFALO BEATEN BY THE LEAFS

Lush's Pitching Helped Toronto Take First Game of Series.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—In a snappy, well-played game, Toronto defeated Buffalo at the Island yesterday afternoon by a score of 4 to 1. Brilliant fielding stunts were pulled off by McConnell in the fourth and fifth innings. The Toronto infielder set the crowd wild when he robbed Murray of a hit in the fourth and threw the latter out at first. Roach was also the victim of McConnell's dazzling work in the fifth. Hanford also came in for praise by capturing Hugh Bradley's long hit in the seventh.

Lush pitched a good game, and the visitors' only run was the result of a walk in the opening inning. Manager Lersey City pitcher, occupied the box for the Chance men, and his work was superlative. He allowed only three singles, two of which were scratches, and did not issue a base on balls.
Score—Toronto 4, Buffalo 1.

Cricket

The following team will represent Brantford in a Western Ontario League cricket match at Paris on Saturday afternoon. W. H. Walsh (Captain), F. W. Hutchins, G. Whitwell, F. W. Derbyshire, H. Whittin, J. Bryden, G. Bailey, H. Elliott, W. Kings, A. Bland, E. J. Winyard, and F. W. Stewart. Umpire, G. Richards; Scorer, Albert Houghting. They will travel on the Grand Valley Car leaving here at 2 p.m.

Cricketers are deeply grieved at the departure from this city of Mr. H. S. Leach of the Bank of Commerce Staff, he having been transferred to Sherbrooke, Quebec. Mr. Leach has proved himself to be one of the best cricketers that has been in this city, excelling both with the bat and with the ball. He will be greatly missed in cricket circles.

Baseball

The Eagle Place Stars will play a double header at Agricultural Park to-morrow afternoon.
At 2:30 the Stars will meet the champions of the Paris City league. O'Connor and Dowling will be the battery for the first game.

The Alerts will oppose the Stars in the second game and Manager Fisher of the Stars requests the following players to be on hand.
Berry, Dowling, Plonte, Woolman, O'Connor, Littish, Bowers, Brown, Paterson, Sears, Bradley and Fisher.

SOME BALL TEAM

Frank Chance Getting Together Team Fit for $25,000 Manager to Lead
Frank Chance has been showing the American League "something different" on his last swing around the circuit. With Maisel, his $18,000 third baseman, and Williams, the hard-hitting first baseman, the "Peerless Leader" has an outfield, which, with seasoning, will compare favorably with any in the league.
Chance has Roger Perkinpaugh, the ex-Cleveland shortstop, who is playing a wonderful fielding game and hitting the ball opportunely; at second is Jack Knight, the elongated ex-Athletic, who was chased to the minors from the Yankees, only to be recalled by Chance, and Knight is playing a wonderful game these days.
The real Yankee star, however, is Maisel, whose work at third, coupled with his batting, reminds old-timers of the days when Jimmy Collins was third-basing in a class by himself. Maisel is one of the brightest stars picked up in years and Chance has ceased worrying about the difficult corner.
On first base, Chance has Cy Williams, a big fellow, who looks as if the only thing he needed was experience. Williams covers lots of ground and is a whale with the swatstick.
Rollie Zeider is the fifth infielder, and Rollie is at home anywhere from first to third, although naturally a third baseman. Just now he is playing first, not because Williams was not doing well, but Chance figured that a veteran would steady the kids, a job which before Zeider's banishment, was removed from upon the shoulders of Jack Knight alone.
The new engineering laboratory at University College, Dundee, is to be opened on October 14 by Sir Alexander Kennedy, London.

Football

The first round of the Courier Cup series will be played to-morrow afternoon when the different football teams will be hard at play at the different public playgrounds.
The city league players are all in the pink of condition, and the teams are all eager for the fray. The teams that did not get away to a good start in the city league series have no excuse to offer now for not being in condition, and the games should be fine exhibitions of football.
The game has become very popular here this season, and the games on the different play grounds are always well attended.

The Scotchmen

The above teams will meet on Mohawk Park to-morrow evening. The car leaves for Mohawk at 5:20, kick off 5:45 prompt. The Scots team—McGill, Morrow, McGrattan (capt.), Malloy, Fergie, Ormiston, Maich, Cochohan, Taylor, Ramsay, Stewart, Reserves, Little, Putella, Marti, Hurst, Lynn.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

A good game of football will be seen at Tutela Park next Saturday between the Tutela Park and Y. M. C. A. teams. The game is a cup-tie, being the first round for the Courier Cup, and will be a good game. S. Harrington will not be fit for Saturday's game, an injury secured two weeks ago in the game with the

Tutela Eleven

The following players will represent the Tutela team to-morrow: Goal, Stanley; backs, N. McLeod and Cooper; half backs, F. Wright, A. X. Other, Vining; forwards, Usher, I. Kingley, Gore, H. Kingley, P. McLeod, Reserves, A. Usher, T. Wright.

Brant Dragons

The Dragons and All Scots meet on Saturday next at Mohawk Park in the first round of the Courier Cup. The 25th will play their regular team which is requested to be on the ground ready to kick off at 5:30 p.m. sharp. The Grand Valley car leaves the station at 5:10.

The Cocksbutt Team

The Cocksbutt United team will meet the Holmedale Tigers in the first round of the Courier Cup Tie, on the O. L. B. grounds, Saturday, Sept. 13 with the kick off at 5:30 p.m. sharp.

Players are requested to note that all games have been called half an hour earlier by the Football Council to avoid the darkness, and should be on the field not later than 5:15 p.m. The Cocksbutt team will line up in the following order:
Goal, H. Carey; backs, A. Maich, C. Stubbs; half backs, W. Maycock, T. Robertson and J. Gonick; forwards, R. Plant, A. Paul; G. Richardson, R. Richardson, W. Richardson; reserves, J. Anderson, F. Lanning, A. Hepper; referee, Mr. G. Elliott.

Duffs' Notes

These following players will represent the Dufferin Rifles in the first round of the Courier Trophy, the S. O. E. being the opponents. Played at Agricultural Park to-morrow. Kick off 5:30 p.m. sharp.

Knowles, D. Cook, Taylor, Harris, Bissett, Biggs, Coale, Hutchinson, Drake, Mercer (Capt.), Alexander, Reserves, Myring.

All players and reserves are requested to report at the armouries no later than 5 p.m.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Raylaw Detectives Take Former G. T. R. Employee Into Custody
BRIGEBURG, Sept. 12.—One more arrest, with several more expected, was the result of another day's activity by several railroad detectives here and by Provincial Police Officer T.W. Delaney, who has been detailed by the department to aid the railway men in rounding up the gang of car thieves who have been operating in the railroad yards here for the past six months. Earl Sensabaugh, 24 years old, was the man taken into custody to-day. He is a Grand Trunk employe and at one time was night yard master of the Fort Erie yard.

this season Cincinnati nosed out Boston, taking the second game of the series by the score of 12 to 11. The Reds took an early lead, and were never headed, although Stallings' men made a great finish, getting nine of their runs in the last three innings. Score: Cincinnati 12; Boston 11.

BROOKLYN BEAT CHICAGO

Reulbach Pitched a 6 to 5 Victory Over Former Team Mates.

Score: Brooklyn 6, Chicago 5.

GRASSHOPPERS BEAT ROPE

It Breaks and Workman Falls From Scaffold.

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Sept. 12.—A swarm of grasshoppers that alighted on a rope supporting a scaffold and cut through the strands nearly caused the death of a workman. Daniel Laughman, a carpenter, aged seventy, was working on the scaffold thirty feet from the ground while building a silo on the farm of Jesse Mohler. After the grasshoppers had feasted on the corn near the site they gradually collected on the rope supporting the scaffold, and suddenly one end lurched downward and Laughman was severely bruised by his fall.

Jersey City Gets Two Players

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The New York American club last night released two of its young pitchers to the Jersey City club. The pitchers are George Shears, a left hander, and Paddy Martin, both of whom joined the Highlanders last week after finishing the season with the Lawrence New England team. Shears was with the local Americans for a good part of the 1913 season, former Manager Wolverton procuring him from the Paris Club of the Blue Grass League.

Trip From Banff Thro' The Rocky Mountain Section

The trip from Banff through the Rocky Mountain section of the C. P. R. from a scenic standpoint cannot be surpassed in the world. From an engineering standpoint it is one of the great feats of the world. One marvels at the sheer audacity of the men who thirty years ago pierced these lordly Rockies and joined the Prairies to the Pacific. The building of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern—the "Bill and Dan" railway as it is called everywhere in the West, after the two men who virtually own it—Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Dan Mann—is a mere pink question compared with this projection of the pioneer road. Through what was then an unproductive country, a perfect wilderness, at infinite cost of bringing up men and material the steel ribbon of rail was laid along the tumbling waters of the rapid rushing Thompson and Fraser rivers, along the sheer sides of the mountain with precipices yawning hundreds of feet below. Bridging here and tunneling there the road eventually was carried successfully to Vancouver.

And as a result the little wooden fishing hamlet of some 30 years ago has become an up to date city of 300,000 people or so with boundless prospects for an ever expanding future. Some people there are who predict that Vancouver will become the second city of the Dominion. Montreal at the head of navigation for the Atlantic seaboard; Vancouver at the Pacific end, occupying the ended frontier of one and two in the race for Canadian metropolitan supremacy; Vancouver of course unlike Montreal, has the advantage of being an all round year port. Navigation never ceases. Hugh freighters and passenger boats for the Orient and other ports come and go incessantly. Then, too, the opening of the Panama canal will be of undoubted advantage to the Pacific port. It will swing the pendulum of ocean transport surely and ever increasingly her way. But whether this prophecy, of secondary supremacy, in the years to come, comes true or not Vancouver to-day is already one of the handsomest cities in the Dominion. She has laid her foundations truly and well for future growth and expansion. The streets are broad, the buildings substantial whilst along her waterfront she is inaugurating a system of docks, which will eventually be surpassed in the world.

Residentially, too, Vancouver has much to commend her. The climate is equable, the situation of the city superb. Charming residences abound everywhere. Recently the Shaughnessy Heights district has been opened up and this will be the fashionable suburb in the years to come. Architecturally the homes on the Heights are not to be equaled perhaps in Canada. Vancouver at the present time is feeling the financial pinch which has been so world wide to a particularly unpleasant extent. There can be no question that there has been much over-inflation, much discommodating the future. Choice locations in the business section of Vancouver have been sold as high as $6,000 and $8,000 per foot and it takes a lot of business to pay rents on buildings occupying such expensive sites. Many cover will have to mark time for the next two or three years. But there can be no question of her ultimate future. It is absolutely assured. She is the Queen of the Pacific and she is destined to be a very great city both from a marine and mercantile standpoint.

A pleasant sail of some six hours to the south east corner of Vancouver Island brings the traveller to Victoria, the capital of the Province of British Columbia. Many globe trotters claim that Victoria ranks with the finest residential cities in the world. Certain it is for situation, for climate for almost tropical growth of brush and tree and flower. It has a beauty and grace incompatible. Many people from all parts of the Dominion, fortunate enough to retire from the stress and strain of business, make Victoria their permanent home. It has also for many years past been a favorite residential city with a well to do class of Englishmen.

Victoria is one of the older cities of Canada. It is "well groomed" both down town and up town. Its parliament buildings, erected in 1899, are architecturally a treat to the eye, in this respect, a pleasing contrast and relief to the hotel-patch conglomeration which does service for the Province of Ontario in Queen's Park Toronto. In the Empress Hotel, surrounded by beautiful rose gardens, the C. P. R. has one of the finest hosteleries in the world. There are fine bank buildings galore—by the by, all through the West the financial institutions have been very prodigal with their shareholders' monies—there are, well, equipped shops and there are many and very fine churches and sumptuous city and country clubs.

If the West is British, and it undoubtedly is British, notwithstanding the so-called American invasion, British Columbia, true to the prefix of her name, is ultra British. Victoria might be a Bonnevillennet or Eastbourne on the south coast of England, as regards its people, their dress, their customs and their habits. Why, in driving and motoring they even keep to the left in British Columbia. And if that is not being loyal to English standards and traditions, I don't know what is!

A visitor to the coast, by all means should leave the main line of the return and swing round. The trip through the Arrow Lake district well repays the extra day or so spent in making the detour. The ten hour sail in a comfortable C. P. R. boat through mile after mile of glorious lake and mountain scenery, is not an easily forgettable experience. Then an hour's run to Nelson by train and another boat and another ravishing vista for some hours of blue lake and mountain and Kootenay Landing is reached. Here again train is taken, and for another day the mountains are traversed through Field and Frank and other well known mining towns. Once more a night on the train and the traveller wakes up at Medicine Hat, to find the scene completely changed. No longer the cloud veiled pine topped rugged mountains, but the rolling prairie. And the prairie, too, in full harvest. Hundreds of acres of golden grain upon hundreds of acres, as far as the eye can reach to the tip of the horizon beyond. And for hour after hour, the train thunders through this scene of plenty—this gathering in of the sheaves which means so much not only to the farmer on prairie and plain, and the whole life of the West, but to the business interests of the East as well. Many never-to-be-forgotten sights are to be seen on a trip through Canada from coast to coast, but nothing perhaps to equal this golden harvest scene on the Alberta and Saskatchewan prairies. And that's harvest this year, thank Providence, for all concerned, is a bountiful one. It has been garnered in two weeks earlier than usual, and has escaped all blighting frosts. It will mean the circulation of over $200,000,000 in money among the agricultural interests of the West. It will relieve the financial strain throughout the Prairie Provinces immensely, and the strain has been painfully acute. It spells relief from present ugly money burdens, and renewed hope for the years to come.

MANAGER DENEAU IS ALREADY BUILDING UP TEAM FOR 1914

Has Signed Up a Third Baseman and Two Outfielders for Next Season—Is Out to Win Pennant Next Year or Die in the Attempt.

(London Advertiser)

Although the 1914 Canadian League season is so far ahead in the future that it is hardly worth worrying over at the present time, Manager Rube Deneau, of the London baseball club, has already started to sign up some promising material for next season's team. Rube returned to his home in Windsor last evening after a two-days' stay in the city, and before he went he stated that he had already signed up a third baseman and a couple of outfielders for London next year.

Some Promising Youngsters

Rube has been doing a lot of scouting ground Detroit since he left London a little over a week ago, and as a result has unearthed two or three youngsters who look good enough for Canadian League company. He has not announced the names of these players as yet, but states that he will have them in London bright and early next spring, when the training season opens for Canadian League ball players. Rube is out to get the pennant next year or die in the attempt, and he believes in starting right in now to gather the team together.

Some This Year's Team Will Remain

While it is certain that the London club will lose two or three more players in the draft, Rube believes that he will have enough of this year's players left to make a good foundation for next year's team. "Duke" Stewart, Cy Reily, Jack Smith, Ed. Linneborn and maybe Looey Bauer will be back next season, together with Heinie Steiger, Ben Bode and William Boldt. The others are liable to be drafted.

AFTER HAMILTON CLUB FRANCHISE

Canadian League Affairs Due For a Very Severe Shake-up.

HAMILTON, Sept. 12.—The passing of "Knotty" Lee, the founder of the Canadian League, from the organization which he fathered and worked over so hard in order to put on a paying basis, will probably result in the reorganization of the Canuck circuit. For the past couple of seasons it has been reported that the league will drop Guelph and Berlin, the two poorest paying clubs on the circuit, and either form a six club league or take in Toronto and Montreal. The probable purchase of the Hamilton franchise by the Toronto International League club will put an end to any further attempt to place a Canadian League club in the Queen City, and will be a stronger argument for a six club league.

There is little doubt that a six team organization can be made a better paying proposition than the present eight club circuit, and with Ottawa, London, Hamilton and one or two of the other clubs favoring the smaller circuit, the change may be taken up and adopted at the next league meeting. The only objection to a six club circuit is the long jump to Ottawa. With a smaller league the other teams would have to make this jump a couple more times each season, and without a pennant winning club in the capital, this would not be a paying proposition.

Of late, an agitation has been started to bring two American border cities into the league, Niagara Falls and some other place in that section. Past experiences with a league composed of American and Canadian cities such as are mentioned have been costly, and every league heretofore organized with this circuit has been a total failure. The International League of five or six years ago was the last attempt, and this league broke up in the middle of the season. The Canadian towns were supporting it far better than the larger American cities.

It remains for the principals of the different schools to say whether there will be a schoolboys' league or not. This was the decision arrived at, at a meeting of the Public School Board last night. Messrs. Speechly, Rowley, representing the Football Council, waited on the members of the Public School Trustees last night and laid their plans before them. The Football Council proposed to make the Courier Cup the emblem of the City League championship, and to name the present one to the schoolboys' league if formed.

ARE WORTH THEIR WEIGHT IN GOLD

What Jas. Ferguson Says of Dodd's Kidney Pills
Quebec Man Cured of Backache, Rheumatism and Headache, Voice General Sentiment in Regard to Greatest of Canadian Remedies.
SELLARVILLE, Bonaventure Co., Que., Sept. 8.—(Special)—"I can say Dodd's Kidney Pills are worth their weight in gold." In these enthusiastic words Mr. James Ferguson, a well known resident of this place, voices the almost universal sentiment in regard to the greatest of Canadian remedies.

"I have taken Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mr. Ferguson continues, "for backache, stiffness of the joints, rheumatism and headache, and found them as represented."

"I cannot say too much in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and give my full permission to have my name published in regard to them."

People who have been sick and are cured, want to tell of it. They are grateful to the remedy that gave them back their health. They want their friends to know just how their ills can be cured.

That is why, from one end of Canada to the other, people are talking of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cure kidney disease, and kidney disease is the root of the great majority of diseases to which the Canadian people are heir.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure backache, lumbago, rheumatism, gravel, diabetes, heart disease and Bright's disease, because any and all of these spring from diseased kidneys.

DEPORTED THAW AS PLAIN DUTY

Hon. Mr. Doherty Had to Enforce Immigration Act, He Says.

NO LEGAL RESTRAINT

Thaw's Lawyers Failed to Tie Up Machinery of the Government.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—The minister of justice, Hon. C. J. Doherty, who as acting minister of the interior, issued the order directing the deportation of Harry K. Thaw, explained the reasons for his action in a statement today. Mr. Doherty pointed out that as acting minister of the interior it was his duty to enforce the provisions of the Immigration Act. He had done that simply and nothing more. Thaw, he said, had entered Canada illegally and a board of enquiry had ordered his deportation from that order an appeal had been taken to himself. It had been considered and rejected and under the law the fugitive had been deported. That board, as a matter of fact, had completed its work. The board was not leveled at the Minister of the Interior, and he acted through the order for Thaw's production in Montreal on Monday. Mr. Doherty said: "There has been no order or anything purporting to be an order restraining the minister from the exercise of his functions. The order was issued by the immigration department, then in custody of Thaw. By my orders he has been taken in charge of other officers and taken across the border. I saw absolutely no reason for refraining to do my duty and carry out the law, merely because counsel for Mr. Thaw questioned the constitutionality of the act. Of its constitutionality I have no doubt. We will be able to justify, before the courts the action which we have taken."

The Situation in a Nutshell

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—The emphasizing of two or three points will go far towards clearing up the situation as to the deportation of Thaw.

First, the warrant authorizing Thaw's expulsion was issued by the Minister of the Interior, not by the Minister of Justice. Justice Doherty happens at the moment to be filling both posts, and it was as political head of the immigration service that he acted.

Secondly, the expulsion was not effected by those immigration officials to whom the writ of habeas corpus was addressed. It was leveled at the persons who comprise the Board of

Scotia's Songs And Sobs

Edinburgh Mathematical Colloquium the first of its kind to be held in Great Britain has begun a series of meetings in Edinburgh.

Damage to the extent of about $200 was occasioned by a fire which broke out in the stockyard at the farm of Balquhiderick, near Bannockburn.

Three children, playing in a yard in Bridgeton, Glasgow, found a bottle of belladonna and drank some of the contents. They were taken to the infirmary in a serious state, but it is believed they will recover.

A runaway engine caused serious alarm at Irvine, near Glasgow, a few days ago. The accident occurred on the Glasgow and South Western Railway. A goods train from Hurlford to Ardrossan was being weighed at the weighing machine at the Kilnarnock branch at Irvine, when the engine broke the couplings and ran off with the result that the driver and fireman were thrown on the rails. Free of alcohol, the engine gathered speed as it proceeded in the direction of Irvine Station, but when nearing the junction of the main line to Glasgow it jumped the points, and after running a few yards toppled over. The incident was witnessed by a crowd of people, and fears were entertained by them as to the safety of the fireman and driver, as nothing could be seen for escaping steam from the engine. The fears were allayed, however, when the driver came along and explained the nature of the mishap, and that the fireman and he had escaped unhurt.

A camping party, in the Vale of Leven near the village of Luss had a rather exciting boating experience, a few days ago. Some lady visitors from Alexandria arrived at the camp, and while boating was being indulged in one of the boats grounded on a rock, knocking a hole in the bottom of the frail craft. Clothing was requisitioned to stop the leak and at the same time the rowers made for a landing spot, but the boat filled fast. Other boats made their assistance, but the male occupants stripped in readiness for an emergency, and later to lighten the boat jumped into the water, keeping hold of the boat. Others waded in from the shore up to their shoulders, and just as the boat sank the women and children were caught by the swimmers and waders and carried safely to land.

ADVENTURES of the WORLD'S GREAT DETECTIVES

By George Barton

The Clue of the Bamboo Canes

An Episode in the Life of General Trepoff, Chief of Police of St. Petersburg.

COPYRIGHT 1911 BY W. G. CHAPMAN.

(This is one of a new series of stories concerning adventures that have occurred in the lives of the world's greatest detectives. Mr. Barton has gathered his material from real life, but in some cases imaginary names have been substituted for real ones simply as a matter of justice to the innocent descendants of culprits mentioned in the narratives. Permissible liberties have been taken in the construction and arrangement of these fact stories, but in all that is essential, they may be regarded as human documents of unusual interest and value.—The Editor.)

The winter palace at St. Petersburg is one of the largest buildings in the world. There was a time, it is averred, when the wonderful structure housed several thousand persons. Noblemen, attendants, servants and employees of all kinds came and went in swarms. The discipline was lax. Scores of soldiers, detectives, policemen and secret service officials were employed to guard the person of the czar, but their very numbers helped to make them a menace rather than a protection.

In October, 1878, a carpenter, carrying his box of tools on his shoulder, appeared at one of the basement doors of the palace and said that he had been sent to assist in making some repairs to the drying rooms of the czar's winter residence. He was admitted without question and within an hour was at work with other mechanics in the lower part of the great building.

The foreman of that section came lounging along. He noticed a new face among the men. He stopped and said: "What is your name?" "Sergiy Batschokoff."

"My employer?" giving the name of a well-known cabinet maker. "The foreman shrugged his shoulders impatiently. "That is irregular. I am tired of having men put on me in this way." The new carpenter held out his hands pleadingly. "I'm sorry," he said, "but I need the work badly—please overlook the irregularity this time."

"Very well," was the gruff response, "but this will be the last." So his name was entered with the other mechanics, and that act had far-reaching consequences. On the 5th of February, 1880, the czar had arranged a splendid dinner in honor of the Prince of Bulgaria. It was a state affair and all of the details were planned on a scale of grandeur commensurate with the greatness of the Russian empire. Five minutes before the royal guests had assembled in the state dining room there was a dynamite explosion in the imperial palace. The mine had been set in the basement and the explosion pierced the two stone floors and made a gap ten feet long and six feet wide in the dining hall in which the table had already been laid for the dinner. The explosion killed five men of the police guard and injured thirty-five others.

The greatest consternation prevailed. The czar, of course, realized that the Nihilists had been at work, but he was terrified to think that they had gained entrance into the palace and that the explosion which had just taken place was intended to encompass his death as well as that of the members of the royal family. The conspiracy in this case seemed to be widespread and far-reaching. Almost on the eve of the explosion in the winter palace a woman visited General Trepoff, the chief of the St. Petersburg police. She said her name was Vera Zassouli, and called for the purpose of demanding satisfaction of General Trepoff for his tyranny in ordering a political prisoner, named Bogolubus, to be flogged for a slight breach of prison discipline. It seems that for years she had been nursing a grievance against the chief of police. She believed that she was to be the instrument by which Trepoff was to be removed from his position. Her life, it is asserted, was an apprenticeship for one thing—the killing of the czar's chief of police. At the age of seventeen she had been arrested and kept in prison for two years because she had received letters from a revolutionist. After that she passed an examination as a school teacher and was working at book binding. At the end of 1875 she returned to St. Petersburg. Her experience had prepared her for the deed. On the morning in question she presented him with a paper, and while he was reading it fired her revolver and then escaped.

It was soon after this that the czar called upon Trepoff, promoted him to the position of councillor of state and then charged him with the commission of capturing and punishing the man or men who were guilty of the outrage in the winter palace.

Trepoff was a man of remarkable capacity. He was burly in form but singularly nimble in thought. He had the cunning of the fox with the patience and persistence of a well-trained hunting dog. A number of men were arrested on suspicion. That was necessary. It seems to be the practice of the police in all countries to arrest somebody at some time in connection with every crime that is committed. Afterwards, if the person can prove his innocence, all is well, but in the meantime there is a feeling that the police have done everything in their power to capture the criminal. But in this instance those who were acquainted with the redoubtable Trepoff knew that he was not satisfied. A dozen or more men were placed in confinement immediately after the explosion, might or might not be guilty, but Trepoff knew in his own mind that he had not captured any of the principals.

The months lengthened into a year, and still he had not run across the person who was guilty of this great outrage. But the case was never out of his mind day or night, and scarcely a week passed by that he did not invent some new scheme for bringing the guilty man to justice. From time to time persons were arrested for minor political offences, and in these instances he closely scrutinized the evidence in order to form some connecting link with the affair of the explosion at the winter palace.

One morning one of the secret agents informed him that a number of men had been seen in the vicinity of the winter palace carrying bamboo canes. That, in itself, did not seem like a very extraordinary proceeding, but the fact that a number of persons carried the same sort of walking stick made it sufficiently interesting to be worthy of report to the chief of police. The response of Trepoff to this bit of news was characteristic: "Arrest every man of them and bring them before me."

His instructions were carried out to the letter. Some fourteen men were rounded up and brought to the central police headquarters for examination. They were examined, but nothing of any importance was found in their persons. Then the canes were taken and carefully scrutinized. This search brought rich results. Every one of the sticks proved to be hollow and each one contained a sheet of tissue paper on which was printed a call for a meeting of revolutionists. It was the biggest haul that Trepoff had made in many months. The evidence proved that the men were enemies of the government. It did more than that—it paved the way to another discovery which bore directly on the mysterious explosion of February 5, 1880. One of the prisoners, being put to torture, revealed the names of several of his associates.

One of these was a certain Victor Chalturin. He was the son of a peasant, a very energetic agitator and an experienced organizer of associations of malcontents. The police visited his rooms and made a thorough search of the premises. A number of books and pamphlets found on the shelves and in closets indicated that he was a man with Nihilistic tendencies. That, in itself, while interesting, was not very important. The searchers continued at work and finally came to a cabinet with locked doors. It was broken open and in a secret drawer they found a blue print of the plans of the winter palace. It was worn and frayed at the edges, as though it had been carried in someone's pocket for a long while. Most significant of all, the lines indicating the great dining hall were marked with a cross. These facts were promptly communicated to Trepoff, and he sent out a description of Chalturin to every police official in the Russian empire.

While awaiting reports from his subordinates the energetic chief of police made another discovery. It was a slip of paper which was found in the basement of the imperial palace. On it was written these words: "Do not delay any longer. Now is the time to act."

Some bits of paper corresponding and at once began to issue proclamations and pamphlets in order to swell their numbers and strengthen their cause. In January, 1880, their secret printing presses were discovered and seized by the police, and numerous arrests were made. In spite of this, they managed to issue, on the 26th of January, a program in which they declared that unless the government granted constitutional rights the czar must die. The result of this was fresh arrests, banishments to Siberia for some and death on the scaffold for others.

It was at this stage of the game that the Nihilists planned their most daring program. It was to blow up the emperor in his own palace. Its execution, as has already been stated, was undertaken by Chalturin, who was young and fervent and filled with an exaggerated sense of his own wrongs and the wrongs of the people. He was a clever cabinet maker and this enabled him, under the assumed name of Batschokoff, to obtain a situation as a carpenter in the imperial palace. He ascertained that the emperor's dining room was above the cellar in which the carpenters were at work, although between it and the cellar there was a guard room used by the sentinels of the palace. Chalturin lived in the palace for nearly four months, and every night he used a package of dynamite for his pillow. A gardener had been installed in the carpenter's cellar shortly after he began to work there, and this made the introduction of the dynamite exceedingly difficult, and incidentally had delayed the execution of the plot for many months.

It became generally known during the investigation in this case that the winter palace for years had been the refuge for vagabond workmen, friends of the servants, and others. Many of these were without a passport and could not have lived anywhere else with impunity. It seems that there is an old law which gives the right of sanctuary, so far as the police are concerned, to criminals taking refuge in the imperial palace. Naturally, the greatest disorder prevailed there. Discipline was at a low ebb, and the introduction was after all, not such a difficult matter.

In spite of this laxity the authorities were puzzled to know how the dynamite came to be smuggled into the basement of the palace under the very nose of the police. One of the various parts of the country, out of nearly 7,000 deaths in 1910, over 700 or 10 per cent. were caused by tuberculosis. This means 2.24 deaths for every thousand members of communicants. While the percentage of deaths from tuberculosis compared with other diseases is not higher in the churches, according to these figures, than in the country at large, the tuberculosis death rate, as shown by

Like Home Touch. Tired and dusty, a party were returning by rail from a holiday trip. Simkins, a little bald man, seated himself to read, but dropped off to sleep. On the rack was a ferocious crab in a bucket, and when Simkins went to sleep the crab woke up, and finding things dull in the bucket, started exploring. By careful investigation Mr. Crab reached the edge of the rack.

Down it fell alighting on Simkins's shoulder, where it grabbed the man's ear to steady itself. The passengers held their breath and waited for developments, but Simkins only shook his head and said: "Largo, Sarah! I tell you I've been at the office all the evening!"

A Good Score. "What's today at your suburb?" "Forty cooks a year. Last year we had only forty-one."—Exchange.

Evidently an Amateur. "Getting ready for your suburban gardening?" "Yes. I've got a spade, a pick, a hoe, a rake and some garden seed, but I've ransacked the market and nobody seems to have any angle worms for sale."

A Delicate Compliment. "My new gown received a very sincere compliment the other day." "As to how?" "The proprietor of a restaurant I went into asked me to sit near the window. Said it would lead one to his place."

FORTY-FOURTH YEAR

HONOR TO THE DEAD

Liverpool City Pays Tribute to the Late Mayor Gaynor.

Body to be Brought Home on Board the Lusitania.

(Canadian Press Despatch) LIVERPOOL, Sept. 12.—The body of the late Mayor Gaynor of New York was removed from the pool town hall, where it had accorded honors by Great Britain taken to the Cunard Steamship, Lusitania, where it was placed in a special mortuary chapel on the ward between deck for the homeward journey. The Lusitania is due to arrive at New York on Friday, September 19.

A special guard of six police men watched over the body in the hall throughout the night. The body rested on a great faldene, had been brought to Liverpool Westminister Abbey. Early this morning the body was re-embalmed and covered that it was not in contact with the floor of the hall. A death mask of the features of the late mayor of New York taken this morning in accordance with instructions received by cable from Mrs. Gaynor.

The Liverpool City Council heard the Bishop of Liverpool, the Rev. Francis James Chavasse, to co-operate with the civic authorities and they persuaded Rufus Nor to consent to the holding of religious services at seven o'clock morning in the dim light of candles and in the great fog, enshrouded the highway, the Theodore A. Howard, vicar of Matthews, conducted the Church of England funeral ritual over the remains of the dead mayor. The only attention was given by Mrs. Gaynor, the mayor's wife, who accompanied the nurse who accompanied the States consul, and the secret of the funeral was kept until the morning of the ceremony. The ceremony was carried to a horse-drawn carriage by four horses through half deserted streets of the city to the landing stage. It was then ferried to the ships tender and conveyed to the Lusitania, which was lying in midstream.

COUNTY COUNCIL HAVE ARGUMENT

What Does Maintenance Collegiate Mean? Whitewash Case.

There promises to be a very session of the county fathers' Court House this afternoon. The opinion as to what constitutes maintenance at the College Institute exists. The county do not think it should bear the expenses when the walls of the institute receive a coat of white or when a new typewriter is purchased. These are two instances. Mr. John Buskard will appear for the council and make an effort to convince the councillors that the county should bear half of such expenses. Another matter which is of considerable interest is the matter of the county joining hands in the maintenance of the road which leads to the House of Refuge and the Sanitarium. The session is called these special matters.
