

Przemysl Has Fallen to the Huns--- Russians May Fall Back Again--- Wilson and Von Bernstorff Conferred

PRZEMYSL HAS FALLEN TO AUSTRO- GERMAN ARMIES

Archduke's Army Has Entered Into the City—Bombardment Has Demolished Outer Ring of Forts Altogether.

Special Wire to the Courier.
 Vienna, June 3.—The great Austro-Germanian fortress of Przemysl, situated between Lemberg and Cracow in the province of Galicia, was captured by the Russians on March 22 after one of the longest sieges in modern warfare. In eight weeks which have elapsed since that time, however, the Austrians and Germans have made every effort to re-take the fortress, large forces being diverted to this purpose from the other great fronts to the west, Cracow.

London, June 3.—The days of Przemysl, as a Russian fortress, apparently, are numbered, according to despatches from the front. The action to capture the five forts on the north front have been mentioned in official despatches. Austrian 10-inch mortars and German 10-inch mortars now are sounding away at the forts hastily improvised on the west and south fronts of the fortress. The besiegers already within storming distance of the works on the east.

FIVE FORTS CAPTURED.
 Capture of the five forts in the northern sector brings the besiegers to the intermediate girdle of field fortifications, which the Austrians have been attacking since the interval between the second sieges and which the Austrians then have strengthened. This girdle makes use of all qualities of the rolling, hilly terrain, but it is believed here will be broken after only a brief resistance. There is still a third line of defence in the inner girdle of redoubts provided with guns, machine guns, wire entanglements and concrete bomb-

FURTHER SIFTING OF THE EVIDENCE REGARDING CRUCIFIED SOLDIER

Sgt. Jay Mott is in England, Pte. Williamson Accounted for—Mystery of Sergt. Elliot is Not Yet Cleared Up.

Following the despatch of yesterday telling of a Brantford soldier being crucified, and the detailed information as to the man who had left Brantford for medical service, of which the Courier has had exclusive information, further details have developed, which will relieve the anxiety of relatives in the city.

SERG. JAY MOTT.
 It was made public in the city last night by a local daily that Pte. Jay Mott might be the dead soldier, and, with scanty details to substantiate the story, considerable anxiety was caused friends and relatives throughout the city. The Courier has a position to affirm that it would be a matter of impossibility for Sergt. Mott to be on active service, as the men of the Canadian Medical Service undergo a very stiff preliminary training in the base hospitals in England before leaving for France, coupled with the fact that he is only in that country a matter of three weeks, and not at all on the date concerning the crucifixion of a soldier in France. It is hoped, therefore, that relatives and others concerned will be relieved of their anxiety by the publication of these facts. A little forethought and investigation would have revealed the impossibility of the assumption of his being the person concerned in the atrocity.

LATER INFORMATION.
 This morning the firm of Robertson & Co., druggists, received a wire from Sergt. Mott, announcing that he was well and would write later.

PTE. JAMES WILLIAMSON.
 Following up the case of Pte. Williamson, it can be concluded from the evidence produced that Williamson is not the man. In an interview with his father, who resides at 140 Cayuga, the following details eliminate the gallant young "poutice-wallah" (service name) from the tragical occurrence. Pte. Williamson on the 14th of April was at St. Martin's Place, Shorn-

PRZEMYSL HAS FALLEN

VIENNA, June 3 --- via London, 3. p.m. --- Przemysl is again in Austrian hands, according to official announcement made here to-day.

BRITISH COALITION GOVERNMENT OPENS ITS INITIAL SESSION TO-DAY IN HARMONY AND FINE LOYALTY

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 London, June 3.—The first assembly of the coalition British parliament to-day had no features striking to the eye. Premier Asquith was absent and Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the Exchequer was at Nice conferring with the Italian financial authorities, while A. Bonar Law, secretary for the colonies, and Arthur J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, and other members of the new cabinet from the Unionist side, could not take place on the front benches until passage of a bill permitting them to take office without re-election to membership of the house.

GERMAN TRANSPORT IS SUNK BY A BRITISH SUBMARINE

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 LONDON, June 3.—3.14 p.m.—A British submarine operating in the Sea of Marmora torpedoed a large German transport in Panderma Bay yesterday morning. This announcement was given out officially in London to-day, as having been received from the Vice-Admiral in command at the Dardanelles. It is also announced that this submarine was one of several operating in these waters.

KING GEORGE AT FIFTY

To-day the King and Emperor celebrates his fiftieth birthday amid circumstances that have not been paralleled in the history of the British monarchy. King George is a direct descendant of Edward the Confessor, one of the greatest British monarchs of the pre-Norman period. He is, therefore, the scion of the oldest monarchy in Europe, though a democrat in practice and temperament.

PRZEMYSL COST HEAVILY IN GUNS AND MEN

Enemy Has Forced the Fortress After Awful Expenditure in Men and Shells—A Three Week's Task.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 London, June 3.—After a siege of three weeks the fortress of Przemysl in Galicia, has fallen to the Austrians. The Russians were in possession a little over seventy days. This news was received in London with a certain degree of surprise. While it has been well known that the Russian position at Przemysl was serious, to say the least, and that the artillery fire of the German allies was daily becoming more terrific, the announcement from Vienna of an Austrian victory was not expected so quickly, in view of the official state-

WILSON HELD A CORDIAL CONFERENCE WITH BERNSTORFF

As Result of Lucid Explanations the President Has Opened Way For Better Understanding—Von Bernstorff is Pleased.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 Washington, June 3.—President Wilson following his conference with Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, was going ahead to-day with the preparations of the American Government's response to the German Government's reply to the last American note, concerning the sinking of the Lusitania. The communication is being penned by the President himself and it will go forward before the end of the week.

INTEREST HEIGHTENED.
 Interest in the conference was heightened to-day as further details were coming to light. One important result, it can be stated upon high authority is that there would be no alteration in the administration's plan to ascertain whether the German Government will abide by international law or follow its own rules of maritime warfare.

CORDIAL AND FRIENDLY.
 The conference was cordial and of a friendly nature. The intensity of feeling in the United States over the Lusitania incident and other violations of American rights on the high seas was emphasized by the president. He also impressed upon the ambassador that the United States would insist that Germany adhere to the accepted principles of international law as they affect neutrals.

U. S. WON'T OBJECT.
 The President, it is believed, informed the ambassador that the United States would not object to the German submarine warfare provided it could be conducted in such a way as not to jeopardize life and property of neutrals. He is also said to have explained that the exercise of the right of visit and search would be insisted upon when submarines encounter unarmed merchantmen or vessels which do not resist capture.

DRAW CONCILIATORY REPLY.
 Speculation continued to-day as to the effect of the conference. It was believed by some officials and diplomats that it would be beneficial and draw from Germany a conciliatory reply to the American note.

FEELING OF HOPEFULNESS.
 A feeling of hopefulness pervaded the German embassy where the conference was regarded as satisfactory. The ambassador himself expressed belief that the communication which he had sent to his government—conveying the viewpoint of the president himself—would enlighten the German Foreign Office accurately as to the American government's viewpoint and pave the way for a better understanding.

NO DERBY DAY AT EPSOM THIS JUNE— RACING IS BANNED

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 London, June 3.—The first Wednesday in June has been devoted for generations to London great racing carnival, the Derby at Epsom, and its omission this year brought home to the citizens of the British capital with peculiar emphasis the serious crisis through which the nation is passing. Derby Day always has been the most popular sporting event of the year. The race was witnessed by the late King Edward every year from 1855 until 1909, except when he was kept away by mourning.

NOT ALL APPROVE.
 The decision of the government to abandon all race meetings during the war, except that at New Market, does not meet by any means with universal approval. Quite apart from persons interested in racing because it is their occupation or means of livelihood, large numbers are of the opinion that such a drastic closing down of race meetings not only is needless, but inimical to horse breeding. They point to the fact that racing is going on as usual in Germany and contend that its prohibition in England probably will be regarded by her enemies as a signal of weakness and nervousness.

GREAT PRESSURE.
 Great pressure has been brought to bear on the jockey club to obtain some ameliorations of present conditions in the interest of the large number of persons dependent upon the turf for their livelihood. The jockey club held a meeting yesterday afternoon at Derby House to consider the situation. Those present included Lord Derby, Lonsdale and Durham. The session was executive, but some announcement of what was decided upon is expected to-day. According to unofficial reports, however, the Stewards Club decided to maintain the present embargo.

STRONG SENTIMENT.
 There is strong sentiment in favor of at least transferring the Derby, which has been run without intermission every year since 1780, together with the Oaks and Home Ascot races to New Market. Should the jockey club's decision be adverse to such a step the agitation, it is expected, will be continued.

BOTTOMLEY BUSY.
 A meeting of protest called by the National Sporting League held in a Holborn restaurant last night, was presided over by Horatio W. Bottomley, widely known as an owner of race horses. Resolutions were adopted deprecating the government's prohibition and urging reconsideration. Speakers denounced the jockey club for yielding to governmental pressure and pointed out that both Germany and Russia are continuing racing, while France and Belgium have given special permission for French and Belgian horses to come over for the English races.

Mayor Spence Discusses the Gas Situation

Mayor Spence, while in Dunnville on an arbitration case, states that he was informed that in the neighborhood of 125 gas wells in the Selkirk district are at present out of use by the Dominion Gas Company. He ventured the opinion that if these wells were turned on Brantford could be easily supplied with a better article instead of the Tilbury sulphuretted variety.

He was further informed that the Miller Company, who had a franchise of Hamilton, have an arrangement with the Dominion Company to deliver their gas to them at the Hamilton border. This would mean possession of another big supply of gas.

At the time he was seen by a Courier man, the Mayor stated that he had not received any word from the Dominion Gas Company in reply to his letter of May 31st pointing out that the time was up for the furnishing of a better article. He stated that his next step would be to consult with the City Solicitor as to what action could be taken. Personally he was in favor of the municipality taking the franchise away.

OPENING OF NEW BUILDING

Word was received here to-day that Hon. Mr. Casgrain, Postmaster-General, will be in Brantford on June 17th for the formal opening of Brantford's fine new public building.

OFFERED HIS SERVICES.

Paris, June 3.—King Victor Emmanuel of Italy has offered his services as an intermediary in the adjustment of territorial questions which have arisen between Russia and Roumania, according to the Milan Secolo.

ST. THOMAS BEAT OTTAWA THIS MORNING

Mr. Jordan came east to attend the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Williams of Toronto. He leaves Toronto to-night for home. Mr. Jordan is looking well and is liking Winnipeg. He is organist in a church having a membership of sixteen hundred. Mr. Jordan reports that times have been good in Winnipeg until a couple of months ago, since which business has fallen off very much.

Mrs. Yates, lady president of the Golf Club and Mrs. H. Reville, vice-president, presided over a most successful bridge yesterday afternoon at the club house. The floral decorations were very pretty and dainty refreshments were served. There were seven tables and many others dropped in at the tea hour. The prize winners were Mrs. Mabon and Miss Large. On Saturday afternoon there will be a putting contest at the links, proceeds to be devoted to the "Hospital Day" funds. Brantford has the honor of entertaining to-day and hearing to-night, one of Canada's most gifted sons, Professor Stephen Buller Leacock, B.A., Ph.D. who will give one of his celebrated "talks" from his well known humorous works in Victoria Hall. He comes here as the guest of the Women's Patriotic League, entirely without fee or expense, the proceeds of the evening going to the Belgium and Red Cross funds. Professor Leacock has had a most distinguished career. He was educated at Upper Canada College and at Toronto University, of which he is a graduate. He took his Ph. D. degree at the University of Chicago, was Master at Upper Canada College from 1891 to 1899 and is at the present time head of the department of Political Economy at McGill University. He made a tour of the Empire 1907 to 1908 giving lectures on Imperial organization under the auspices of the Cecil Rhodes trusts. As an author, he has an international reputation. Amongst his publications are "Elements of Political Science," "Baldwin and Lafontaine," "Literary Tapes," "Nonsense Novels," "Sunshine Sketches of a Little Town." He is undoubtedly Canada's greatest writer of refined humor although equally at home in the higher walks of criticism and research. As an essayist too, he ranks very high indeed. It will be a big treat, that Brantfordites will have this evening in hearing such a distinguished man.

The session was opened at ten o'clock, and adjourned at five, with an intermission, of course, for lunch. Although considerable business was transacted, there was nothing of great importance. It was merely routine work.

A deputation from the St. George Continuation School asked for aid beyond the statutory grant made by the County on account of the Government grant being reduced.

Another deputation waited upon the Council in the person of Mr. J. Leslie Axford, who represented the Children's Aid Society. He requested the Council to amend the Juvenile Offenders Act, and bring it into force in the County.

Mr. Schuyler, District Agricultural Inspector, requested that a grant of $200 be given him, to assist in purchasing an automobile for county travelling purposes. He stated that $400 had already been saved by him for the machine.

The communication from D. L. Squire, asking that the Council grant him a meeting to discuss the question of the Prison Industrial Farm, was received and filed.

The communication of Sheriff Westbrook, re the appointment of Mr. John Cook to the position of Turnkey at the Brant Gaol, and of the appointment of John Cook to the position of matron, the former to receive a salary of $700 per annum, and the latter to receive a salary of $250 per annum, said appointments having been accepted, were received and filed. The treasurer was instructed to pay these officials their respective salaries.

The communication from the Clerk of the Assize, enclosing a copy of the presentment of the Grand Jury at the Spring Assize, was received, and received and the Clerk is instructed to forward copies of the presentment to the various bodies affected by the recommendations mentioned.

The communication from the clerk of Oxford County enclosing a copy of the resolution, asking the Government to amend the Election Act so that elections should be held once in two years, was received and the Warden authorized to send it to the Government on behalf of the Council.

The communication from the London City Council, enclosing a copy of the resolution asking the Ontario Government to amend the Colonization Act to encourage the settlement by immigrants of the unsettled parts of Ontario, was received and filed.

The communication from the clerk of the County of Brant, enclosing a copy of the memorial passed by that council asking that foreign automobile fees be reduced one half where the same privilege is accorded residents of the province, was also received, and the Warden authorized to sign a similar memorial on behalf of the council.

The communication from the secretary of the Ontario Provincial Winter Fair to the County of Brant prizes at the exhibition was filed, as was that of the secretary of the Women's Hospital Aid of the General Hospital, and of the honorary secretary of the hospital.

The communication from T. W. Standing, P.S.S., re the increased grant towards travelling expenses made to him by the council, was received and filed.

The communication from the county boiler inspection company, as to the condition of the county boilers when inspected on March 30th, was also filed.

THE SITUATION

The news with reference to Przemysl indicates that this fort is likely to change hands once more even if it has not already done so. All the weeks of siege and the men sacrificed by Russia in its capture have evidently gone for naught. The situation in this section of the theatre of war is again far from reassuring.

The Italians are reported to be going ahead in excellent fashion and have captured many Alpine summits. News from the Dardanelles is that the Turks still continue to fight very stubbornly and are sustaining heavy losses. If Bulgaria would only enter the fray, that move would be of far reaching and immediate consequences at this point.

In the Western field the British and French troops continue to push forward slowly. It is announced that Sir John French was so impressed with the work of the Canadians at Langermark that he at once sent word to Lord Kitchener that he would like to have more of them sent from the training quarters in the Old Land.

Note—Since the above was written, it has been officially announced that the Austrians have re-taken Przemysl.

GERMANY'S LOST TRADE.

"It should be emphasized," says a correspondent of The Scotsman, "that whilst Germany has lost or is in the process of losing 990,000 square miles of territory outside Germany, and trade with her own colonies of approximately £12,000,000 annually, her loss does not end there. In harbors, roads and railways she has sown lavishly and well in some of the wildest lands of the world. She was laying a foundation for the future, and laying it rapidly and thoroughly. She was not content to struggle through the surf on wild seaboard with the cargoes of her ships, and to continue that costly and slow process for years. She did not keep her administrators worried by incessant demands for trade, whilst compelling them year in and year out to pick their way by native bush paths to wretched hovels in the hinterland of native territories. She built harbors and jetties, she made roads and railways and she built the best towns in the tropical lands for her representatives. The trade would have come in due course. There was in sight in not a few cases the end of the preparation period, with its calls upon imperial subsidy. Her merchants and her merchant captains were winning all along the line in her own and the territories of other nations in Africa. There were times when she failed with the native people, but she was acquiring the capacity to handle the natives. Her trade was going up by leaps and bounds for no other reason than that she brought to the trading thoroughness, eagerness, efficiency, adaptability and an unflinching willingness to meet conditions rather than a stupid insistence that all conditions should be regulated to meet her particular shipping arrangements. The German skipper would come for your cargo. There was no mystery about the extraordinary success of Germany in the securing of the trade of West Africa, British included. The secret of her success was that she was in earnest."

KING'S BIRTHDAY.

George Fifth celebrates his fiftieth birthday to-day under circumstances of Empire strain such as no other British ruler has been associated with. It was on May 8th, 1810 that he succeeded to the throne, so that he last month entered on the sixth year of his reign. The four previous Georges have not been very much to boast of. George I. was a native of Hanover, and he married the grand-daughter of James I. of England. He couldn't speak English, and Lord Granville was the only one of his ministers who could converse with him in German. He and Walpole used to interchange views in bad Latin. He was willing to let his Ministers do as they liked, content to get as much money as he could out of the Government and to spend all the time he could in Hanover. George II. married Caroline of Ansbach, a woman of great force of character and attainments, who exercised great influence over him. He was a bad lot and tried to interfere with state affairs more than did his father. However, under Walpole and Pitt, the Empire made great strides. George II. was the last of the British sovereigns to be active on the battlefield. He showed excellent courage at the battle of Dettingen.

George III. had not a drop of British blood in his veins, but he was a typical Englishman in his habits. He was pious and a pattern of the domestic virtues. His mind gave way several times and he finally died insane.

George IV. was a man of many vicious habits and had few redeeming points. George V. has earned for himself the name of a most conscientious and thoroughly painstaking ruler, observing his constitutional restrictions in absolute style. In habits and home life his example is of the best, and he pays close attention to his duties to an extent which makes him one of the hardest worked men in his kingdom. The peoples of the Empire can well afford to utter the prayer "God Save the King."

cliffs, and expected to leave for the front soon after that date. He is 29 years of age, and would look considerably older than the body which Hun bayonets had violated. His father also stated that later word had been received from France, in which the card said "all's well." This had left France on the 15th May, and was received only the other day. This, then, would ensure for the time being that Pte. Williamson was safe at his base on orderly duty.

SERG. THOMAS ELLIOT.

No further word was received to-day from the front or Ottawa regarding the fate of this sergeant, whose appearance and the description of the dead soldier would appear to coincide. Word is eagerly awaited for as a result of enquiries being made at Ottawa. At present anxiety is keenly felt, and the news when received will allay much anxious foreboding.

WORK OF A TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER

If on the German side submarines played the principal part in the naval war, on the British side it has been the destroyer which has maintained an incessant and unwearied activity. writes an expert in the London Daily Mail. The destroyer is a swift light draught vessel, with engines of tremendous power, built originally for the purpose of destroying torpedo boats, whence her name. She is by far the best vessel to hunt the submarine, because of her speed and handiness of gun power, while the fact that she draws only eight or nine feet of water renders her most difficult to injure with a torpedo, which runs best at a depth of fifteen feet, and needs special and awkward adjustments to get hits at shallower levels.

The modern British destroyer is a vessel of 700 to 1,200 tons, long, lean and low in the water, with a lofty bridge forward. She has usually two funnels, but some of the boats have four or even six, and where this is the case the forward one is commonly higher than the others, to keep the smoke clear of the bridge. The later boats are armed with three or four 4-in. guns, weapons of great power for such small craft, firing a 31 pound shell. In this respect they have an enormous superiority over the German destroyers, which mostly carry two 22 pounders, and have proved themselves quite unable to stand up against the British craft. Besides her guns, each of the new British destroyers carries two pairs of 21 in. torpedo tubes. These are fixed on swivel mountings, so that they can be turned and fired on either broadside. The torpedoes which they discharge are of a very formidable pattern. They are 21 feet long and carry in their noses a charge of 380 pounds of high explosive and weigh some 28 cwt. Their extreme range is as much as 10,000 yards, but at that distance it need scarcely be said that a torpedo which moves comparatively slowly, is not likely to hit anything. They are fired with a small charge of gun cotton, which gives the torpedo a push and shoots it from the tube clear of the destroyer, when its engines propel it through the water toward the target.

WORK IS ARDUOUS

Their work is the most arduous and responsible that can be conceived. They nupt unceasingly for the sight of periscopes on the surface, and if a periscope is seen, they set to the business of destroying the craft which shows it. The more destroyers at sea the fewer enemy submarines would escape. It is because in the years before the war the British destroyer programs were heavily reduced that the German underwater boats have been able to achieve a certain measure of success. Destroyers guard the transports; and destroyers form the van of every battle fleet. In this war they have twice been heavily engaged, in the Blight of Heligoland and in the battle of the North Sea; and in the Blight they did not hesitate to stand up to German light cruisers. The experiment was not a success, for the light cruisers did more harm on the British destroyers than they sustained from them, but that it was attempted shows the high spirit of our officers and men.

PRZEMYSL COST

When the Russians starved out the Austrian garrison at Przemysl an operation which brought them into the fortress on March 22, they did it slowly and systematically, conserving the lives of their men as much as possible. The method which the Austro-Germans have been employing recently to accomplish the same end has been entirely different. Their expenditure in men and ammunition has, perhaps, outdone anything in this war, not even excepting the German rushes for Calais and the terrible struggles along the Yser River. Another feature of the fighting on the western front is the new attack on Waraw. Neither the Russian nor the British newspapers are able to say whether the renewed battering of the Russian lines between Pilica and the Vistula is a serious effort to break through to the Polish capital, or a move intended to prevent the Russians from rushing reinforcements to their hard-pressed troops in Galicia. But whatever the motive, the assault has been violent and in force along a front of about 25 miles, the hardest pressure being brought to bear on the Russians along the Bura and the Rawka rivers.

To-day is the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of King George, but because of the war no special celebrations are being held. The new government meets parliament for the first time to-day. Aside from the formality of passing the bill to obviate the ministers in the new cabinet from seeking re-election, chief interest centered in the promised speech of Premier Asquith in the House of Commons on the new coalition government and the entry of Italy into the war.

SAME NAME In the casualty lists there are the item: "13th Battalion, Cockshutt, wounded." It was thought that Lt. George Cockshutt this city had transferred to France but a subsequent telegram states the injuries had been sustained "Private George Cockshutt" was enlisted at another point.

GAME OFF After indefinite postponement Brants and Hamilton game was off at four o'clock because of the rain. The last game of the series in the city did not come off. The result in the fact, being known that a double header was played behind the dyke, the next game was postponed.

ONE TRIED AND LOST. Things were quiet at the art last night one Englishman attempting in an appearance and he rejected. Notwithstanding that the new battalion is to be commanded by Brantford officer, is not at present, any doubt indeed, most of the enlistment from the ranks of the Duff and a great percentage of the countrymen who rallied to the support of the call for enlistment a few months ago. No appointments have been made so far for staff positions of Major Balladley, accepted, has been awaiting sanction for several days.

HAS ARRIVED SAFELY. The following brief note was received by Mrs. Prowse, 252 De Street, from her son, who left the second day of Brantford. "I have arrived safely in France. I am quite well. This is quite a relief. We saw the Gurkas, a good hands with some of the men were marching through their ranks. What do you think of the Germanifying Canadians at the front? Yes? Never mind we'll make it look sick before we are through. They haven't much use for our rifles since we have them that lie in the Neuve Chapelle trenches. Arthur Prowse, 8th Battalion, C.E.F. France."

THE PROBS

Toronto, Ont., June 3.—Heavy rain has fallen since yesterday morning in Alberta and southwestern Saskatche- wan and also in southwestern Onta- rio. Elsewhere in the Dominion the weather has been fine.

FORECASTS: Moderate to fresh easterly winds, a few local showers, but mostly fair and warm. Friday, fair and warm.

NEW SIGNS. The new signs were placed over each section in the circulation depart- ment of the Library this morning. They are painted black with gold lettering and make it very easy for a stranger in the Library to obtain the required volume.

RECEIVED BALANCE. A cheque was received by Township Clerk J. A. Smith this morning from H. Watt, secretary-Treasurer of the Social Service League, being the bal- ance due the Township in connection with the sewerage works on the river- dyke early this spring.

A PRESENTATION. A social evening was held by the Y. W. C. A. girls last night in honor of the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Beyer for England. They were presented with a fine steamer rug, which they will greatly appreciate while on the water. They leave this week.

FINE EXHIBITION. A splendid exhibition of work was shown yesterday at Dufferin school. In spite of the awful weather, the attendance was very satisfactory. The exhibit was arranged in the regis- ter. The best of the academic work was displayed, and the teachers of each grade remained in their room to explain the work and meet the par- ents. It could easily be seen by a casual observer that the work was very satisfactory, both to the parents and teachers, by the pleasure they took in examining the same. The teachers deserve great credit for the excellent exhibition and result of their teaching. The art exhibition was dis- played in the kindergarten, and great interest was taken in the hundred ex- cellent designs shown.

The boys' exhibition of manual training was made in the regular man- ual training department. The special teachers in charge were Misses Mac- Nally, Shannon and Mr. Styles.

AMERICANS INCLUDED IN HATRED

German Soldiers Show Signs of the Latest Hate.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, June 3.—The Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant's correspondent with the German forces on the French front says:

"The ill-feeling of the German soldiers towards the United States is shown by the change in the treatment of American newspaper representa- tives visiting the German lines. For example, I visited a battery of howitzers, and, as was my custom, passed around a handful of cigars to the ar- tillerymen. To my astonishment, every man refused them. This was a thing unheard of before, but I put it down to shyness until I learned a few hours later that they had mistaken me for an American.

"At headquarters there were several American newspapers. The corps com- mander invited us all to dinner. One of the Americans sat next to a major, with whom he discussed the war throughout the dinner. When they arose from the table the major said he wished to give the American a small souvenir of their meeting. Thereupon he carefully took from his pocket two splinters of an American shell, which he presented to the cor- respondent without comment."

Heavy Bayonet Fighting

By Special Wire to the Courier. Petrograd, via London, June 3.—An official statement issued last night at the headquarters of the Russian gen- eral staff was as follows:

"In the Shavli region on Monday we repulsed successfully several at- tacks of the enemy, who had captured the village of Trawliany.

"On the Narew front, on the left bank of the vistula, the enemy on Tuesday delivered several attacks which he repulsed.

"In Galicia Monday between the Vistula and Przemyśl stubborn fight- ing developed, our troops gaining somewhat important successes on the left bank of the Lower San taking several villages, some with the bay- onet. On the right bank of the same river we were successful near the village of Kalukoué, taking a base south of the village, capturing 1,200 prisoners including 22 officers and eight quick-firing guns.

"Przemyśl was bombarded with heavy guns up to 16-inch calibre and the enemy delivered his principal at- tack against the north front in the region of forts 50 and 51, in which the Austrians had almost com- pletely demolished before the sur- render of the fortress.

"When we repulsed these attacks the enemy succeeded in taking sev- eral of our guns which had bombard- ed the enemy's columns until the lat- ter were close to the muzzles and the last shell was spent. According to supplementary information we took two hundred more prisoners and eight quick-firing guns.

"There has been no change between Przemyśl and the great marsh of the Dniester.

"Between Lysmenitz and Stry the enemy, who had concentrated his heavy artillery and reinforcements, achieved some successes in the course of the night by stubborn attacks with large forces. The fighting continued yesterday morning.

"On the right bank of the Bzura we took part of the enemy's position and made 150 prisoners."

Children's Choir Dismissed for the Summer

The children's philharmonic choir held its last session on Tuesday at the Y. W. C. A. A splendid attend- ance was recorded, and a number of youngsters had their voices tested and accepted for the new session in September. The choir will be over 200 next term. The following displayed their ability: Piano, Eva Downs and Mabel Hart- ley 13 points each. Louise Clement, Phillis Moore and Bessie Beer, 14 each. Evelyn Dick and Dorris Small, 15 each. Singing—Dorris Tarrant and Jean- ette Duffie, 14 each. Elmor Parke, 12 points. Elocution—Dorris McHutcheon, Phillis Hills, Marion Sovereign and Marion Broadbent, 10 each. Leola Farris, Lowla Sterne and Eva Lunsford, 12 each. Lillian Hobden, 14 points; Rosa Farr, 15 points.

A keen competition is being shown for the 1915 gold medal, and the boy or girl who wins it will indeed be clever.

Ottawa Wins Another Extra Inning Game

Ottawa, June 3.—London and Ottawa clashed in another exciting game at Lansdowne Park yesterday. The Senators winning by 5 to 4 in ten innings. Whitscraft's liner, an error by Rooney, and the squeeze play by Amy gave London a lead of one run in the tenth, but Ottawa tied it up on Miller's single. Bullock's bunt and Shaughnessy's sacrifice fly, winning when Smykal drove Rooney home with a clean single to centre. Ross struck out ten men. Score: Ottawa 5, London 4.

Smith returned to the box in the second game after several weeks layoff, holding the visitors to six hits, three of which were bunts in the first, when an error by O'Mara with an easy double play ahead paved the way for two runs. Score: Philadelphia 3, Brooklyn 2.

St. Louis, June 3.—Two singles, a double and an error scored Bezel and Butler in the eighth inning and enabled St. Louis to win from Cincinnati, 5 to 4, here yesterday. Score: St. Louis 5, Cincinnati 4.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Two more footballers have played their last game and shot their last goal. They were both named and honored last night at the meeting of the Brantford and Paris Football League when resolutions of condolence were passed to their relatives by the executive.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Boston, June 3.—New York and Boston played ten innings to a tie in shivering weather yesterday. The game was called owing to darkness. Six New York runners actually crossed the plate, but one run was lost in an unusual manner. Burns, from third base, had raced for home when Moran caught Doyle's fly. The Boston outfielder threw the ball towards the home plate, but Captain Doyle of the Giants intercepted it at first base. It was his contention that the ball was too late to catch Burns at home. The umpires ruled that his interference retired the base runner and the score was lost. Score: New York 5, Boston 5.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago, June 2.—"Ty Cobb was responsible for Chicago's defeat yesterday in the final game of the series, Detroit winning over Chicago by 4 to 1. Benz pitched a good game until the seventh, when Cobb singled. He worried Benz until the latter became unsteady, and Crawford, Kavanagh and Young bunched hits, forcing Benz to retire. Score: Detroit 4, Chicago 1.

HOW ITALIANS ARE OPERATING AGAINST AUSTRIANS

Manfalcone is being bombarded by the Italian forces, which crossed the Isonzo River near its mouth, and another portion of the army, proceeding south from Terzo, has occupied Grado. At the same time Italian hydro-aeroplanes have attacked the coast railroad to Trieste near Nabresina and, it is believed, interrupting the line. While these operations are going on along the Austrian frontier an Italian force has been landed on the Island of Rhodes, possibly to co-operate with the Allies against Smyrna or the Dardanelles further north.

An eastern psychologist who devotes a good deal of time to practical applications of his theories declares that hens have a sense of humor. He says they would lay more regularly if properly amused. Unfortunately he fails to suggest the forms of amusement that hens could be expected to appreciate. Of course roller skates are out of the question, and so are Teddy bears and paper dolls. A hen might learn to play hopscotch and tag and blind man's buff, but that would be about the limit. Of course the comic supplements could be hung around the coop and the "Lays of Ancient Rome," and other entertaining pulchrum might be mixed in with the daily pan of mush. But it's all experimental. Hens are so different. There have been hen owners whose whiskers alone were funny enough to prompt a hen to crawl into the hay mow and lay a hatful of eggs. Yet they never do. Cainsville News

At the morning service, Rev. Mr. Plyley preached a very uplifting sermon, founded on the first clause of the verse found in John 3:31. "He that cometh from above is above all." A duet, "Oh it is wonderful," was very capably rendered by Miss Smith. Rev. Mr. Bowers, B.A., delivered an excellent sermon in the evening, his text being taken from Numbers 9:29-32. The morning service will be withdrawn next Sabbath, owing to the absence of the pastor, who will be attending conference. The league service held on Monday evening was especially interesting. The reports read by the convenors of the different departments showed marked progress during the past year so that the new staff of officers are greatly encouraged at the prospects for the coming year. Miss Addie Norrie sang a solo very sweetly. It was decided that Miss Gladys Woltz be the representative of the league at the summer school to be held in Oakville during the early part of July. Arrangements for a ten cent social to be held on the lawn of Mr. J. D. Norrie on Monday evening, June 21st were also made. The adult bible class will hold a social evening in the church parlors on Tuesday evening, June 8th. Mr. A. Yule, of the B. E. N. A., was here spending a two weeks holiday at Lincoirt, New Jersey, returned to resume his work on Monday. Mr. Newton, who was acting in the capacity of manager during the farmer's absence, left for Hamilton on the same date. Mr. George Woltz, Cayuga, paid a flying visit to his home on Wednesday evening. Mr. S. Harold Brantford, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Jas. Clarke, on Saturday. Mrs. G. Robinson and her youngest daughter, Violet, spent the week-end with friends at Caledonia. A SUNDAY SERMON BY PASTOR RUSSELL

CROWNS OF GLORY RICHES OF GRACE God's New Creation Purposed Before Foundation of the World.

The Lord Jesus the First Member of the New Creation—Steps to the Glory Plane—The Church Called to Follow Him—Real and Imitation Christians—Preparations For Appearing in the Presence of Jehovah—Cleansing Our Garments—Garments Spotted and Garments White.

San Francisco, Cal., May 30.—Pastor Russell is here, in attendance upon the I. B. S. Convention, which is being assembled at Oakland. He spoke in our city to-day, from the text, "All things are yours; and ye are Christ's, and Christ is God's." (1 Corinthians 3:22, 23.) The Pastor spoke in part as follows: The Apostle Paul tells us that before God created the world, in His infinite Wisdom He purposed in Himself to have a Church, and arranged the terms and conditions upon which membership in this New Creation was to be offered specifically to certain created beings. As the Father wished that in all things His Son, the mighty Logos, should have pre-eminence, the first offer was made to Him. This new nature was to be the highest of all creation. To gain this prize the Logos must demonstrate His love and loyalty to the Father. God does not wish any will. So He voluntarily left the Heavenly glory and humbled Himself to take a human form—not a sinful form, but perfect human nature.

neither know what Christianity is nor manifest its spirit. But God knows who are tares and who are wheat. When the wheat class are changed in the First Resurrection, the tares will be burned—destroyed as tares, not as human beings. In the parable our Lord explains that the field is the world—neither the wheat nor the tares are the children of the kingdom. The seed of Error dropped into the earth has brought forth children of error, children of the Devil, the great source of error. They should neither think themselves Christians nor be imitation Christians. All should know that there are but two classes, real Christians and the world. According to the Bible God desires only 44,000 members in the Body of Christ. He sends forth His Message, and it reaches only those for whom it is designed. All others will have their opportunity during the New Creation, of which Jesus is to be the Head, and the Church the Body. When we begin to see this, our minds gradually open; for God begets us with His Holy Spirit and, as the Apostle explains, we receive a spiritual enlightenment enabling us to understand the deep things of God, which we could not understand before we became members of God's family. It is one thing to enter into a covenant, however, and another thing to keep it. Some have very fallen flesh, and others very noble flesh. But God is not proving the flesh; He is trying the spirit. (Deuteronomy 10:3.) What counts with Him is the real sentiment of the heart, the desire. Do your best to strive against sin, and earnestly seek to put away all the weaknesses of the flesh. God will not allow you of the called to fall. Only those who are not sufficiently loyal and who fail to develop the right character will be rejected.

son or by reason of temptation from others. Whoever finds a spot on his robe should go to the Lord in prayer, expressing regret and by faith accepting the offer of cleansing through the blood of Jesus Christ. The spot is removed by the asking of forgiveness and the application of the blood. Some one might say, if people realized that they could be so easily forgiven of their sins, they would become very careless. But the tendency is rather in the opposite direction, we reply. Every New Creature in Christ is very desirous of being an honor to his Heavenly Father. Therefore he is very much disappointed when he finds himself committing sin—speaking evil, showing impatience, acting unjustly, etc. As soon as he recognizes his conduct as wrong, he takes it to God and asks forgiveness. Perhaps in a short time he does something similar, and is more disappointed than before. He thought that he had learned his lesson thoroughly. Then he goes to the Heavenly Father again, but finds that it is not so easy to go the second time. Yet go he must, or else the spot remains. By and by he does something wrong again, perhaps in a little different form, and goes again in God's appointed way. These become the most serious times of our lives as New Creatures. But just as sure as he has had such experiences, just so sure he has been faithful to the Lord. Another class of Christian people, however, are different. The first time they get a spot on their robe, they went in the proper way and had the spot removed. But the second time, they said, "No; I cannot go to the Lord. I will not pray to-night." In the morning they brush away all thought of the matter. During the day they are so busy with the cares of life that they forget it. At night, they think of it again, but retire without praying. And so time goes on. Perhaps another difficulty comes up, another bitter word is spoken, another angry word uttered, something done or thought that was wrong. They are getting spots all over their robe. Should their attention be called to the spots, they reply, "Everybody has these. I have made up my mind not to pay too much attention to these things." Meantime their robes are becoming so spotted that it is practically an impossibility to cleanse them. They must be washed. This class is pictured in the Scriptures as a great multitude, who must wash their robes white in the blood of the Lamb. (Revelation 7:13-17.) All these will be washed eventually in the great Time of Trouble such as was not since there was a nation. They will not be counted worthy to escape those things coming upon the world—the Time of Trouble just before us. They have not been walking with our Lord in white, not walking with Him at all.—Revelation 3:4. There is no way to keep our garments white except by continually being in relationship with the Lord. In this way we shall gain the victory over sin. But those who do not remove the spots as they come, cannot walk with Him in white, cannot go in to the wedding, not being a part of the Bride class. (Matthew 25:10-12.) They will miss the promised glory, honor and immortality. But God in His Wisdom has something even for them, for in one sense they are really overcomers. Even when besmirched with sin, they were not in sympathy with sin. In their minds they were fighting against sin, even though not getting rid of it. The Lord will put them in the final test; and if then they deny the Lord, they shall die the Second Death. But if in that test they say from their heart, "Oh, now I see my mistake; I see where I should have done differently. I will now be faithful to the Lord; I will stand ready to die for Jesus instead of denying Him," they will receive the palms of victory. But they will not get the Crowns of Glory; for they did not become "more than conquerors," as did the Bride, the Lamb's Wife.—Romans 8:37; Revelation 19:6-9. "Those of this second company," whose number no man knoweth, the Scriptures declare will serve God in His Temple and before His Throne, while the first company, the Bride class, will be in the Throne and living stones of the Temple. The second company might just as easily, and with much more satisfaction, have attained the glories of the Divine nature had they kept their robes unspotted from the world. The fact that they receive the palms of victory indicates that they finally came off victors; but their lack of zeal hindered them from being accepted as of the "more than conquerors." Thus they fail to receive joint-heirship with our Lord in His Messianic Kingdom. But in His infinite mercy the Heavenly Father has another, though inferior blessing for them; for apparently they will attain a place similar in many respects to that occupied by the angels. Here is the difference between being in the Throne and before the Throne. Each spirit-begotten child of God decides the matter for himself. If we walk with Him in white, we shall sit down with Him in His Throne of glory, honor and immortality. If we do not so walk, we shall have our portion with the other class. Dear Brethren, permit nothing to separate you from the love of God in Christ. If we walk with Him in white, all things shall be ours—things present and things to come. No people in the world should be so happy as we are; no people are so happy. It is worth a fortune to realize that our God is a God of Love and to realize what He has in store for us—"All things are yours; and ye are Christ's, and Christ is God's."

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson X.—Second Quarter, For June 6, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 11 Sam. xi, 22 to xli, 7a—Memory Verses, xli, 5, 6, 7a. Golden Text, Ps. li, 10—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Instead of assigning us a helpful lesson, such as chapter viii, which is briefly touched upon in our last, our beautiful story of David's kindness to the son of Jonathan (chapter ix), the committee has given us in this lesson one of the worst phases of the human heart, which is always and only careful about all things and desperate wicked (Jer. xvii, 9, 10). He who knows and can search the heart has caused this and all similar records to be written that we might see more clearly that all are sinners and that there is none righteous—no, not one—but that Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners and that the greatest sinner may be saved and the greatest backslider forgiven and restored. To find such a development of our sinful human nature in such a man as David after all that the Lord had done for him is truly humiliating and should lead us all to say, "Woe is me!" for who is there to whom the prophet might say concerning him, or some other phase of our sinful nature, "Thou art the man" (xli, 7). When we remember that "the thought of foolishness is sin" and that a sinful look is in the sight of God equal to the sinful act (Prov. xvii, 9; Matt. v, 28) and that, while the child yet lived, David fasted and wept and lay all night upon the earth, for he said, "Who can tell whether God will be gracious to me, that the child may live?" But when the child died and the will of God was known then he said, "Wherefore should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me" (Verses 15-20). What those dear boys are sick and are cannot tell what the will of God is for them and as it becomes us to wait earnestly upon Him for their health, but always in submission to His will. When He has made plain His will, whatever it may be, it becomes us to say, "Even so, Father," for we know that "as for God, His way is perfect" (Matt. xi, 25; Ps. cxviii, 30). In verses 24, 25, we have the two names of Bathsheba's first child, Solomon and Jedidiah. The latter, as in the margin, signifies the loved of the Lord, for the Lord loved him and sent by the hand of Nathan to name him. The Lord called him Solomon before he was born, saying to David, "Behold, a son shall be born to thee who shall be a man of rest." His name also signifies quietness unto Israel in his days (1 Chron. xxii, 9). He said, "His name shall be Solomon," which, according to the margin, means "peaceable." There are just seven men in the Bible story who were named before they were born—five in the Old Testament and two in the New Testament. The others and consider that they give the rest of our time to the very suggestive story of Mephibosheth in chapter ix. When David came to the kingdom, he made inquiry for any who might be living of the house of Saul that he might show them kindness for Jonathan's sake. He found that there was a son of Jonathan who was lame in both feet, his nurse having taken him when he was five years old and took him up to flee with him at the time of his father's death (1 Sam. xiv, 4). His being lame because of the fault of another reminds us that the whole race is lame on both feet, because Adam let us all fall. Here is this time at Lo-debar, which signifies no pasture, and that is where we are, the rest of our time, in the condition of every sinner. David, to where he was brought back by his presence, and Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan, who was lame in both feet and had received the name of the Saviour (that is by faith) from saying, as Peter did when he was lame, "O Lord, I have sinned; have mercy on me, that I may be able to walk." Every sinner who has all we lost in Adam and more, who has fallen back to us in Christ and all that we have lost in Adam, must be restored to his name's sake. How beautiful to see Mephibosheth dwelling in Jerusalem and eating continually at the king's table, though he continued lame on both feet (ix, 13). Every sinner who is privileged to dwell by faith in the City of Peace, and to feed at the good things provided by the Lord, but while we stay in these conditions, we will never get over our lameness, but will have to say to the Lord, "I know that in me—that is, in my flesh—dwelleth no good thing; I have no hope for us." All things are yours; and ye are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

standing quietly in Chilcote's place, he was conscious with a deep sense of gravity of the peculiarity of his position, and perhaps it was this unconscious and unstudied seriousness that lent him the tone of weight and judgment so essential to the cause he had in hand. It has always been difficult to arouse the interest of the house on matters of British policy in Persia. Once aroused it may, it is true, reach fever heat with remarkable rapidity, but the introductory stages offer that worst danger to the earnest speaker—the dread of an apathetic audience. But from this consideration Loder, by his sharp consciousness of personal difficulties, was given immunity.

Pitching his voice in that quietly masterful tone that beyond all others compels attention, he took up his subject and dealt with it with dispassionate force. With great skill he touched on the steady southward advance of Russia into Persian territory from the distant days when, by a curious irony of fate, Russian and British enterprise combined to make entry into the country under the sanction of the grand duke of Moscow to the present hour, when this great power of Russia—long since alienated by interests and desires from her former co-operator—had taken a step which in the eyes of every thinking man must possess a deep significance.

With his usual quiet persistence he pointed out the peculiar position of Meshed in the distant province of Khorassan, its vast distance from the Persian gulf, round which British interests and influence center, and the consequently alarming position of hundreds of traders who, in the security of British sovereignty, were fighting their way upward from India, from Afghanistan, even from England herself.

Following up his point, he dilated on these subjects of the British crown who, cut off from adequate assistance, can only turn in personal or commercial peril to the protective power of the nearest consulate. Then, quietly demanding the attention of his hearers, he marshaled fact after fact to demonstrate the isolation and inadequacy of a consulate so situated; the all but arbitrary power of Russia, who in her new occupation of Meshed had only two considerations to withhold her from open aggression—the knowledge of England as a very considerable power, but also a very distant power; the knowledge of Persia as an imminent, but wholly impotent, factor in the case.

Having stated his opinions, he reverted to the motive of his speech—his desire to put forward a strong protest against the adjournment of the house without an assurance from the government that immediate measures would be taken to safeguard British interests in Meshed and throughout the province of Khorassan.

The immediate outcome of Loder's speech was all that his party had desired. The effect on the house had been marked, and when no satisfactory response coming to his demand, he had in still more resolute and insistent terms called for a division on the motion for adjournment, the result had been an appreciable fall in the government majority.

To Loder himself the realization that he had at last vindicated a justified claim by individual action had a peculiar effect. His position had been altered in one remarkable particular. Before this day he alone had known himself to be strong; now the knowledge was shared by others and he was human enough to be susceptible to the change.

The first appreciation of it came immediately after the excitement of the division, when Fraide, slinging him out, took his arm and pressed it affectionately.

"My dear Chilcote," he said, "we are all proud of you." Then looking up into his face, he added, in a graver tone, "but keep your mind upon the future; never be blinded by the present, however bright it seems."

At the touch of his hand, at the spontaneous approval of his first words, Loder's pride thrilled, and in a vehement rush of ambition his senses answered to the praise. As Fraide in all unconcernness, added his second sentence, the hot glow of feeling suddenly chilled.

In a sweep of intuitive reaction the meaning and the danger of his falsely real position extinguished his excitement and turned his triumph cold. With an involuntary gesture he withdrew his arm.

"You're very good, sir," he said. "And you're very right. We never should forget that there is a future." The old man glanced up, surprised by the tone.

"Quite so, Chilcote," he said kindly. "But we only advise those in whom we believe to look toward it. Shall we find my wife? I know she will want to bear you home with us."

But Loder's joy in himself and his achievement had dropped from him. He shrank suddenly from Lady Sarah's congratulations and Eve's warm, silent approbation.

"Thanks, sir," he said, "but I don't feel fit for society. A touch of my nerves, I suppose." He laughed shortly. "But do you mind saying to Eve that I hope I have satisfied her?" He added this as if in half reluctant afterthought.

Then, with a short pressure of Fraide's hand, he turned, evading the many groups that waited to claim him, and passed out of the house alone. Following a cab, he drove to Grosvenor square. All the exaltation of an hour ago had turned to ashes. His excitement had found its culmination in a sense of futility and premonition.

He met no one in the hall or on the stairs of Chilcote's house, and on entering the study he found that also deserted.

Greening had been among the most absorbed of those who listened to his speech. Passing at once into the room, he crossed as if by instinct to the desk, and there halted. On the top of some unopened letters lay the significant yellow envelope of a telegram; the telegram that in an unformed, subconscious way had sprung to his attention on the moment of Fraide's congratulation.

Very quietly he picked it up, opened and read it, and, with the automatic caution that had become habitual, carried it across the room and dropped it in the fire. This done, he returned to the desk, read the letters that awaited Chilcote, and, scribbling the necessary notes upon the margins, left them in readiness for Greening. Then, moving with the same quiet suppression, he passed from the room, down the stairs and out into the street by the way he had come.

CHAPTER XX.

ON the fifth day after the momentous list of April on which he had recalled Loder and resumed his own life, Chilcote left his house and walked toward Bond street. Though the morning was clear and the air almost warm for the time of year, he was buttoned into a long overcoat and was wearing a muffler and a pair of doekin gloves. As he passed along the street he kept close to the house fronts to avoid the sun that was everywhere stirring the winter-bought town like a gust of young blood through old veins. He avoided the warmth because in this instance warmth meant light, but as he moved he shivered slightly from time to time with the haunting, permeating cold that of late had become his persistent shadow.

He was ill at ease as he hurried forward. With each succeeding day of the old life the new annoyances, the new obligations, became more hampering. Before his compact with Loder this old life had been a net about his feet. Now the meshes seemed to have narrowed, the net itself to have spread till it smothered his whole being. His own household, his own rooms even, offered no sanctuary. The presence of another personality tinged the atmosphere. It was preposterous, but it was undeniable. The lay figure that he had set in his place had proved to be flesh and blood, had usurped his life, his position, his very personality, by sheer right of strength. As he walked along Bond street in the first sunshine of the year, jostled by the well-dressed crowd, he felt a pariah.

He revolved at the new order of things, but the revolt was a silent one—the iron of expediency had entered into his soul. He dared not jeopardize Loder's position because he dared not displease with Loder. The door that guarded his view drew him more restlessly with every indulgence, and Loder's was the voice that called the "open sesame."

He walked on aimlessly. He had been but five days at home, and already the quiet, grass-grown court of Clifford's Inn, the bare staircase, the comfortable privacy of Loder's rooms, seemed a haven of refuge. The speed with which this hunger had returned frightened him.

HAGERSVILLE, ONT., AUG. 26th, 1913.
"I can highly recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' because they did me an awful lot of good and I cannot speak too highly about them. About four years ago, I commenced taking 'Fruit-a-tives' for a general break-down and they did me a world of good. We bought a good many dollars' worth, but it was money well spent because they did all that you claim for them. Their action is so pleasant, compared with other laxatives, that I found only pleasure, as well as health, in taking them. They seemed to me to be particularly suited to women, on account of their mild and gentle action, and I trust that some other women may start taking 'Fruit-a-tives' after reading my letter, and if they do, I am satisfied the results will be the same as in my own case."
