DEBENTURE SHORTAGE

The councils of Rear Yonge and Escoff and the Village of Athens met in the township hall on Tuesday evening for consultation regarding the shortage that would result from the sale of the 4½ per cent H. S. debentures. The matter was discussed by Reeve Ferguson, Reeve Holmes and members of both councils, but no conclusion was reached as to how the shortage should be made good to the Trustee Board.

It was pointed out that owing to the unexpected stringency in the money market, and consequent decrease in value of municipal securities, the best offer received for the H. S. $6,000 debenture issue was $5,100, and there seemed no indication of profit to be gained by longer deferring the sale.

Reeve Ferguson, speaking for his council, said that in discussing ways and means of providing for the shortage he wished it understood that he was not thereby admitting the township's liability in the matter. Both councils were agreed that temporary provision for the shortage could be made now and the amount levied next year.

At a subsequent meeting the village council passed the following resolution: Moved by E. Taylor, seconded by W. H. Jacob, that the offer of $5,100 for the High School debentures and accrued interest made by S. A. Hitsman be accepted and that the Reeve and Treasurer be and are hereby authorized to make the transfer of said debentures.—Carried.

PLOTS THAT FAILED

He saw Clarence Neville stop abruptly, and turn white as death as he gazed at a handsome victoria among the crush of carriages which he had to permit to pass before he could reach the other pavement.

Following the direction of his gaze, the actor saw that the vehicle contained a beautiful, fair-haired young girl. It needed but this one rapid glance to disclose her identity to him. From her marked resemblance to his actress wife, Clarence knew that she must be Barbara Haven, the girl who had been so adroitly separated by law from the young husband who idolized her so madly, and whom the treacherous cousin who had planned such a desperate scheme and had carried it through to a successful finish was soon to win.

The actor thanked his stars that he was on the ground to see what would occur, thinking it might mean more money in his pocket.

Clarence Neville had stopped short, his handsome face pale as marble, gazing straight into the approaching vehicle.

It was the first time that he had beheld her since the night he had saved her life at the opera house fire, though she knew not of his heroic deed or his presence there.

A longing, strong as the life that pulsed in his veins, seemed to urge him to try to attract her attention toward himself.

"If I could but speak only one word to her," he breathed, hoarsely—"only one word, I would go on with the desolate life ahead of me with less bitter heart pangs.

"Bab loved me once; she will not refuse me one little word, even though she is soon to marry Rupert Downing. God pity me; I must speak to her, here and now!"

CHAPTER LVII.

As the carriage containing Bab drew up abreast of him, Clarence Neville sprang forward with a thrilling cry. But, alas! how true are the words of the old proverb: "Man proposes, but God disposes."

At that instant a hoarse cry from a dozen throats drowned his voice. Ere any one could take a leap forward to prevent the catastrophe, a fractious horse in the midst of the crowd of vehicles suddenly reared toward the backward, crushing heavily into the victoria containing the beautiful, golden-haired young girl.

In an instant a veritable pandemonium reigned, and in the midst of it a young man, fighting his way through the crowd like a demon, gained the spot where the ruins of the vehicle lay, in the midst of which was the slender form of the young girl.

The man was Clarence Neville. No one else would have dared brave death from the heels of the terrified horses that had been attached to the carriage.

Whether Barbara was dead or dying Clarence knew not as he caught her unconscious form up in his strong arms and bore her through the struggling crowd to the pavement.

At that moment he caught sight of the face of the "doctor," whom he had but just left in India's home.

"Attend to this lady, quickly, doctor, for the love of Heaven!" he cried. "Tell me quickly, is she—she alive—or—"

He could not utter the last terrible word. It seemed to stick in his throat and choke him.

In an instant every eye in the throng was directed toward the man whom he indicated, and who seemed to be doing his utmost to break through the crowd and get away.

This fact was clearly obvious to a tall man who stood on the outskirts of the gathering, looking interestedly on. His keen eyes swept over the "doctor" as he passed, and an exclamation of intense surprise broke from his lips, and he muttered, slowly:

"The fellow is in disguise. There is something evidently suspicious here. And as to being a doctor, as this young man has called him, to my certain knowledge he is nothing of the kind; at least he is not a Boston physician. I will investigate him as a suspicious personage."

The gentleman was one of Boston's noted detectives, and stepping forward, he laid a heavy hand on the "doctor's" shoulder.

"This is the first time that I ever saw a doctor flee from an emergency call like this, my friend," he said. "Why are you trying to get away? Don't you see the lady is either dead or dying—at least, in a very bad way. See what you can do for her, as you seem to be the only physician in the crowd. That is my advice."

"Keep your advice to yourself," retorted the other, angrily. "Every man is supposed to know his own affairs best. I must catch a train; a dying patient is awaiting me elsewhere."

"And a dying one awaiting your immediate attention here," responded the other, sternly, adding, "I have advised you courteously to come and attend to her. Now I put my request in your peril, as a demand. Refuse at your peril, sir."

The other's teeth rattled, and his eyes almost bulged from their sockets in terror, a fact which did not escape the keen gaze of the detective, who added, slowly, and in a significant whisper, in the other's ear: "It is my opinion—privately expressed—that you are no more of a doctor than I am, my friend."

With a terrible impatience on his lips the "doctor" attempted to wrench himself free from the other's hold, but the steel-like grip of the detective closed down upon him the more firmly.

"Will you attend the lady?" he asked, sharply.

"I don't know what to do for her, curse you!" returned the other. "You were right, I'm no doctor. The young fellow over there, as do you yourself, simply took me for one. I'm not responsible for that, am I?"

"What about the patient who was awaiting you?" queried the detective, grimly.

"I was merely carrying out my impression," replied the man, trying to laugh lightly.

Meanwhile, Clarence Neville was calling on the "doctor" in the greatest of agony to come to the young girl at once, as each instant might be her last, for her heart beat faintly.

Another physician—this one a well-known Boston doctor, who was passing, and attracted by the crowd, had stopped—instinctively proffered his services.

Thus the attention of the crowd was instantly directed away from the former "doctor," or they would have seen that he was quietly marched away by the heavy-set man, whose grip had never left the other's shoulder. Nor did they hear the detective remark:

"We will investigate as to who and what you are at police headquarters, my friend. Raise a fuss or come along quietly, just as you choose."

The next instant the two men were lost to sight around the nearest corner.

Meanwhile, Dr. Bowdoin, who had recognized Barbara at once as being the daughter of his very old friend, Karl Haven, was doing everything that was in his power for the girl, who had by his direction been carried into the nearest drug store.

"I assure you the young lady has sustained no injury whatever, save a severe fright, which caused her to faint," he declared, smiling into the young man's anxious, perturbed face. "An hour from now she will be as good as new. I promise you. My brougham is close at hand," he added, "and I offer my services to convey her home. It would be much better, and cause her less of a shock to return to consciousness amid familiar home surroundings, than in the midst of this curious, gaping throng, Mr. Neville."

"You know me?" exclaimed Clarence, wonderingly.

"I think I ought to," laughed the old doctor, "for it was upon my face your eyes first rested when you made your advent into this pleasant world."

Clarence shook hands with the doctor with much agitation.

"From the edge of the immense crowd I saw your heroic rescue of this young girl," continued Dr. Bowdoin, "and I say: Bravo! my lad, it was bravely done. But for your timely rescue this fair young lady would have been killed outright; she has you to thank for her life."

In the excitement of the moment Clarence quite forgot to pledge the doctor to secrecy in the matter.

He saw the doctor lift Bab's slender form in his ragged arms, and he followed to the coach door, seeing her safely deposited therein, his lips trembling with the intense emotion which was almost mastering him, realizing as he did that, though he loved her better than his own life, he had not the right to kiss her pale lips nor touch one of the little white hands, though one of them had, for one brief hour, borne his wedding ring.

That episode seemed almost more like a dream now than a reality.

As the coach rolled away, Clarence Neville turned back among the throng, which was quickly dispersing, now that there was nothing more to be seen, and at that moment he discovered that he had lost his watch; it had been wrenched from the chain. His grief over this episode was great, for it was the timepiece that his father had presented to him on the day he became of age; his monogram was on the cover, with the date it had been given. An inside case contained the portrait of his father and mother, and because of this he prized the timepiece beyond rubies.

His first step was to hurry to the police station, in the vicinity of which he had met with his loss, to acquaint them of the fact, and his willingness to pay a large sum for its recovery.

Arriving there a few minutes in advance of him, dear reader, we learn that the "doctor," whom the detective had just brought in, had asked permission that certain people might be made acquainted with his plight, and both telephoned for to come to his assistance quickly.

This request was granted, and the sergeant was no little surprised to hear him call for two well-known society people—Mr. Rupert Downing and Mrs. India Neville—also Clorinda, a favorite variety actress, demanding imperatively that they should come to him at once.

He would make no statement when a jimmie and three gold watches were found in his possession, together with a bunch of skeleton keys.

"The friends whom I have sent for will answer you," he declared, doggedly. "Until then, I propose to remain silent."

At the self-same moment when Rupert Downing received the telephone message that a friend at the police station, who was in trouble, required his presence there, he was raging like a tiger over a letter he had just received from the Princess Enlalie, declining his offer of marriage with thanks.

"And to think that I threw Bab Haven, the heiress, over for her," he groaned. "That Spanish girl was only making a fool of me in leading me on. By George! the next best move is to make up with Bab, and marry her at once. Delays are dangerous."

CHAPTER LVIII.

"Yes," reiterated Rupert Downing, "I might have known that the beautiful Spanish princess, the peerless Enlalie, was leading me on to break with the girl to whom I was to be married in order to get the chance of refusing me. Any one could see that from the cutting sarcasm of her brief note. She need not have added injury to insult, however, by concluding with the sentence: 'Do not make any attempt to see me; should you do so, I will promptly invoke the aid of the police against you!'"

Bearing the note up into a thousand shards, he cast them from him, muttering:

"It will not be so easy to win Barbara Haven's consent a second time; for she dislikes me so intensely as it is, India must help me in my dilemma. I can do nothing without her aid. Her relations with Bab and her father are a little strained on account of her recent sensational marriage with the feeble old banker, but for all that, she can regain the old, hypnotic influence over Bab, if she chooses."

Drawing a sheet of paper toward him, he took the time, ere he answered his friend's urgent call at the police station, to write and send the following note to India by special messenger:

My Dear Mrs. Neville.—Some few days ago you expressed amazing surprise at the abrupt termination of my betrothal to Barbara, brought about by myself, declaring it seemed to you little short of the act of a madman, considering all the trouble you and I had undergone to bring it about.

"Your surprise is quite correct, it was a madman's act, and now I'm regretting it heart and soul.

"It does not matter why I did it—all that will interest you is that I must, as my first duty, establish myself upon the same footing with Bab; that is, a new engagement must be entered into. She must become my wife. I am desperately in need of her fortune—I must have it.

"You must aid me in bringing it about, and pave the way for me to call upon Bab, and talk the situation over with her. I know you will not refuse, India—you dare not, for you are residing that would be bringing down the sword which hangs suspended by but a single thread upon your pretty head.

"Moreover, I wish to ask a loan of you, of not less than a hundred thousand dollars in cash, which you must send me to-day.

"Refuse, and the next edition of every paper in Boston will contain the following: 'An actress brought to justice as a madman.'"

"The column which will follow will be the story of the life of the beautiful French girl who figures as the widow of the late millionaire banker, Mr. Neville. It will contain the full account of the life you have led from childhood to womanhood—having the dupes around the gaming tables in Paris where I first met you; of how you wedded an old nobleman for his fortune; and how he died mysteriously less than a fortnight after. Again and again you wedded aged men of fortune, until at last I Paris was aroused by the feeling against you, whom they called the most beautiful as well as the most dangerous fiend in all Paris, the wickedest city on earth, where crime preys boldly abroad under the dim, flickering light of the stars. Your wealth came easily and went as easily. You lived like a queen—nay, a goddess—while it lasted.

"Your last matrimonial adventure did not turn out so luckily; you married a young man this time, supposing he was possessed of a fortune. When you found he was but a poor poet, you tried to dispose of him in the same way, and it is your belief that you succeeded, though you shook the dust of France from your pretty feet ere you could know.

"Let me inform you, clever India, that

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Spread on Limbs, Red and Inflamed, Became Sores, Had to Tie Hands While He Slept, Well, Thanks to Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

St. Ceaire, Quebec.—"My child was scarcely two months and a half old when his face and arms became covered with little red pimples which a little later spread on his limbs. The pimples were very red and inflamed. They were known as 'milk spots' and soon became a little larger and raised up. There were four or five together. These pimples caused him to scratch so that we had to tie his hands while he slept. The itching made him suffer so much that he cried part of the night, waking up most of the people in the house. The pimples became sores and were very painful.

"I used without success several remedies which were recommended to me. I then used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, giving him a bath every morning with the Cuticura Soap, and then applied a thin layer of Cuticura Ointment on the parts affected. They gave great relief with the first application. After using one box of Cuticura Soap and a little more than one cake of Cuticura Soap my child was completely cured. The Cuticura Soap and Ointment my baby is perfectly well, and I shall always have them at hand." (Signed) Mrs. N. Jobin, Jan. 4, 1912.

Laughs With Joy! No More Indigestion

Montreal Man So Ill Thought He Would Die of Stomach Trouble.

Found a Simple Remedy That Has Kept Him Well Ever Since.

The experience of Mr. Larose is one very common to-day: "I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous pills. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. Your grateful servant, D. R. Larose, 338 Joliette street, Montreal, P. Q.

All who have weak stomachs, and those who suffer with indigestion, headaches, biliousness, can be perfectly cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, at drugstores and storekeepers, or the Catorrhoez Co., Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N. Y.

THIBET STUDENTS.

Party of Youths to Study in Great Britain.

The people of Thibet are the least traveled people in the world. For the first time in history a party of Thibetans has left the native county for a visit in England.

The visit received the sanction of the lalal lama. The party consists of six persons—four Thibetan boys, whose ages range from 11 to 17 years, and a Thibetan army officer and his wife. The travelers are attired in their native costumes, but have adopted the English shoes, finding them more comfortable for travel than those of Thibet.

The boys will attend school at Aldershot, England. None of the party has ever traveled before. They always have lived in an altitude of 10,000 feet. It has taken them a month to travel 300 miles across the mountains of Thibet. They saw a railway train for the first time when arriving at Darjeeling. At Marseilles they saw an aeroplane and had their pictures taken.

They have taken with them to England a small, square, red box which contains a portable shrine, images, and cloth blessed by the dala lama.

THE TORTURES OF RHEUMATISM

Driven From the System by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The sufferer from rheumatism who has not gone about curing himself in the right way must expect a return of the torture with every change in the weather that causes the rheumatism, but it does start a deep-seated disorder of the blood. You cannot possibly cure it with outward applications or hot fomentations as so many people in their ignorance of the real cause of the trouble try to do.

Rheumatism can only be driven out of the system by driving out the poisonous acid in the blood. This can only be done by making the blood supply rich, red and pure. It is in this way that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure rheumatism, even after other remedies have failed. These Pills make rich, red blood; they go right to the root of the trouble, and the pains and aches are driven from the system and will not return if the food supply is kept pure. That is the whole secret of curing rheumatism, and if you are a sufferer begin to cure yourself to-day by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among the many sufferers from rheumatism who have been cured by this medicine is Miss Mary D. Kelly, South Dumfries, Ont. Miss Kelly says: "Some time ago I had a very bad attack of rheumatism. At times I would be confined to bed for a couple of days and would seem almost paralysed with the intense pain in my back and legs. At such times I could not walk, and my joints were stiff and swollen. I consulted different doctors and took their medicine, but could not get more than temporary relief. At this time a neighbor advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got a supply. After taking a few boxes I found they were greatly helping me, and I continued their use until the trouble completely disappeared. Can you really recommend this medicine to others who suffer as I did from the pains and tortures of rheumatism?"

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STRIKES BREED POVERTY. (Chicago Tribune)

This tendency toward anastomosing haphazard and uncalled-for strikes should be encouraged. For while it is true that poverty breeds strikers, it is equally true that strikes, especially those called for trivial reasons, breed poverty. It often requires months for the family of a workman to recover from the loss of a single week's wages.

"Head Feels Fine Breathe Freely Now"

Improved My Voice, Strengthened My Throat, Cured Me of Hacking and Spitting.

Miss Emma E. Lorton Gives Great Praise to "Catarrhoez."

"I just wish I had known years ago about the wonderful effect of CATARRHOZE," writes Miss Norton, from her home in Georgetown. "My nose and throat were continually stopped up, and I was seldom free from a gag in the throat. I coughed and hacked and often at night couldn't sleep. Just a few breaths from a Catarrhoez inhaler and my head was cleared right up. My throat trouble is well and I haven't a single vestige of catarrh. Catarrhoez made a perfect cure."

As the only way to reach catarrh is by inhaling medicated air, it follows that the healing balsam of Catarrhoez can't fail to cure. It is purely vegetable, cathartic, soothing and heals wherever it goes.

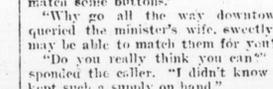

The germ-killing vapor is inhaled at the mouth and instantly spreads through all the breathing organs. Easy ease of bronchitis and catarrh is rooted out, and such health and strength is imparted that these troubles never again return.

Complete outfit, sufficient for two months' use, price $1.00, including the inhaler and liquid for filling, smaller trial sizes 25c. and 50c. All druggists and storekeepers, or the Catarrhoez Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

A 'CROSS COUNTER TALK

Customer: "What constitutes good paint?"
Dealer: "Good paint depends on the materials used, the processes of manufacture, and the skill of the paint maker—no more, no less."
"Sherwin-Williams Paint, Prepared, is good paint—the best paint, in fact, that can be made. No care or detail is lacking in its manufacture. The materials employed are of the highest quality and are properly put together by experienced paint makers. The linseed oil—the vital part of paint—used in S.W.P. is made especially by The S.W. Co. in their own mill. The pigments are selected with greatest care and scrupulously tested. The tinting colors are products of the Company's own dry color works. And the mills used for grinding and mixing are designed and made in the machine shops of the Company. They embody the most advanced ideas in paint making. With such high quality materials, such care and attention, S.W.P. must be and is good paint all the way through."

A. H. S. FIELD DAY

The Field Day exercises of the Athens High School, held on Friday last, were in every respect highly successful. In the forenoon on the high school ground and in the afternoon on the race track a first-class programme of athletic events was run off under competent management. The different classes were all well filled and the competition was most keen. In the open events representatives of Brockville Collegiate Institute and others entered, but all the premier tickets remained with the A. H. S. students and Athens boys. The boys demonstrated their fitness of form in a way to make records, and the girls, in their seventeen events, made it plain that they pay due attention to physical as well as mental development. Perhaps they did not shine as ball-throwers or nail-drivers, but in other lines their grace and agility evoked rounds of applause.

CHAMPIONSHIP MEDALS
Sr. Boys—A. Murphy.
Jr. Boys—D. Johnston.
Sr. Girls—D. Hawkins.
Jr. Girls—F. Moore.
Boys' Three-legged Race and Boys' Combination Race will be run off this week.

In the evening the students and their friends partook of refreshments in the town hall, served most gracefully and attentively by boys of the school. Then followed an entertainment in the main auditorium, which proved to be an overflow gathering. At 8 o'clock the standing room only could be obtained, but before the concert opened the ushers, who had been zealously caring for patrons, procured chairs and finally nearly all were seated.

The chairman of the High School Board, Mr. A. W. Johnston of Oak Leaf, presided, and in his opening remarks spoke in high terms of the school—its teaching staff and students—and the high standing it had attained among the educational institutions of the province.

The programme which had been prepared on very short notice, proved to be highly interesting. It consisted of

Chorus by the school led by boys

Recitation—Miss M. Bottomley.

Presentation of Medals—Rev W. G. Swayne to the senior champion girl, Miss Dany Hawkins; Mr Arnold to the junior champion girl, Miss Frances Moore; Mr W. G. Parish to the senior champion boy, Ambrose Murphy; Mr S. A. Hitsman to the junior champion boy, Douglas Johnston. All these gentlemen spoke in high terms of the morale and work of the school and warmly commended Field Day as an event that had won its right to the cordial support of all well-wishers of the school.

Piano Solo—Miss O. Russell.
Vocal Duet—Misses Willson and Wiltsie.

Club Singing—Miss Pearl Quigley.

Vocal Solo—Miss B. Morris.
Topical Song—About twenty-seven pupils from Lyndhurst and vicinity.

Miss Quigley's club-singing was especially commendable, her rhythmic, intricate movements being very pleasing. And the Topical Song by the Lyndhurst bunch (Beg pardon—we mean the Lyndhurst bouquet)—it was a hummer. The teaching staff and popular students of the school received attention in this song, but it was all pure fun with no trace of a sting in it. The curtain fell amidst a storm of applause, and when it was raised the singing of the national anthem closed a delightful evening.

PHILIPPSVILLE

Glen Davidson of Brockville is spending his holidays with his grandfather, W. B. Phelps.

Mrs Julia Downey is at Lansdowne Front nursing.

I. C. Laishler will spend the winter with his grandfather and will go to school.

The friends of Miss Lillian Blackburn will be pleased to learn that after spending eight months on a bed of sickness in the General Hospital, Montreal, she was able to be moved from that institution by her cousin Miss Verna A. Davison to the home of her aunt Mrs H. C. Davison, Brockville, on Saturday last. She stood the trip fairly well.

Once more we have been called upon to part with another of our aged citizens in the person of the late Ambrose Lockwood. He and his wife, Mary Jones, moved onto the farm one mile west of this town in 1841, when most of the farm was a virgin forest. With the assistance of his noble wife, he cleared the land and erected thereon a set of fine buildings with many other improvements.

Mr Lockwood managed the farm until old age compelled him to give the care of the place into other hands.

Some years ago Mrs Lockwood's health began to fail and they needed someone to lean on in their declining years. Their daughter, Mrs F. Chisholm, with her husband came to the homestead and gave them the best of care in their declining years. Mrs Lockwood passed away two years ago and now the husband and father has gone to meet her at the ripe old age of 94 years, 4 months. He leaves to mourn, one daughter, Mrs F. Chisholm; one son, Hiram of Westport; one adopted son, Chester on an adjoining farm; two brothers and one sister, Miles of this town, Hiram of Elizabethtown, and Mrs Margaret Wilson of Smith's Falls.

A BIRTHDAY GIFT

Phillipsville, Oct. 16—"Willow Dale," Phillipsville the home of Mr and Mrs A. Willows, was the scene of pleasant gathering on Thursday evening, October 16th, when the choir of the Methodist church assembled on invitation from Franklin Willows, one of their number, to spend a social evening. The members of the choir felt they could not let this occasion pass without showing in a tangible form their regard for him, and accordingly a complimentary address was read by Mrs E. A. Willows while at the proper time Miss Lillian Halladay presented Mr Willows with two well bound books of poems, by Scott and Wordsworth on behalf of his fellow workers in the choir of the Methodist church who, on his birthday, very heartily welcomed him back among them after a long and trying illness, and who eulogised highly his high character and his services in the choir and in the church services. The address which was exceedingly well worded, was signed by Mrs E. A. Whitmore and Miss Lillian Halladay concluded by wishing him a future rich in influence, wealth and spiritual power and many sunny birthdays.

Mr Willows though taken by surprise replied in appropriate terms. After the presentation refreshments were served, and an evening of music, contests and social intercourse much enjoyed.

WOODEN CANNON.

Crude but Effective Weapons Wound With Strips of Rawhide.

Any one familiar with the construction of modern weapons of warfare and the high explosives used in them would naturally suppose a cannon made of wood would be of little or no value as a weapon.

Wooden cannons have been used with considerable success nevertheless in recent revolutions in Cuba, in Haiti and in the Dominican Republic. The wood used in the construction of these crude weapons is a very tough variety, having a twisted grain that curls about the log in such a way that to split the timber with the ordinary means is almost impossible.

The best trees are selected, and a piece of the log five or six feet in length and about one foot in diameter is cut. After the bark has been removed and the log made perfectly round it is swung up on a crude crane, and a hole is burned into it from one end. The log is wound with strips of rawhide cut from the skin of a steer. When the cannon is covered with the strips of hide another layer is wound on, and this is continued until the weapon has increased several inches in diameter.

After the log is covered and the bore is finished the weapon is treated to a hot draft, which tends to contract the hide binding, which becomes almost as strong as wire.

These crude cannon have been used with success in a number of instances, and it is astonishing the number of times they may be fired before they burst or become otherwise disabled.—Harper's Weekly.

THE CURIOUS TURTLE.

Neither Fish, Flesh Nor Fowl, With Characteristics of All Three.

According to Macdonald, a Scotch naturalist of wide repute, the turtle is the strangest of all living things and the most unfathomable. It can live in the water as well as out of it and can seemingly go for indefinite lengths of time without air or food or light. It is neither fish nor fowl nor fowl, and yet it has the characteristics of all three. As for its eating, it seems quite superfluous, for it can remain shut up in a barrel for a number of weeks and emerge the worse for the lack of food and light and air.

The baby turtle seems also just as indifferent to its surroundings as its parents are. As soon as it comes forth from its egg it scuttles off to the sea. It has no one to teach or guide it. In its brain seems implanted the idea that until its armor becomes hard it has no defense against hungry fish. And so it seeks shelter in gulf weed and feeds unmolested until its armor gets hard.

By the time that it weighs twenty-five pounds, which occurs the first year, it knows that it is far from all danger, for after that no fish, however hungry or well armed with teeth, can interfere. The turtle immediately withdraws its head into its neck between the two shells, and all intending devourers struggle in vain to impress it.—Exchange.

Chopped Meat.

"Once when you asked for chopped meat," said a housewife, "the butcher cut off a chunk, laid it on a block and chopped it on the spot, using one in each hand, a pair of cleavers. There were not a few butchers who could make ragtime music with the cleavers and even suggest the classical. But now?"

"When you want chopped meat you may find it ready chopped if you will take it so. But if you want some special part the butcher will cut off a piece for you, but he won't put it on the block and play you tunes on it with a pair of cleavers. He chuckes the meat into the hopper of a machine, presses an electric button, and b-z-z-z-z goes the motor, while your chopped meat pours out of the spout."—New York Sun.

Greenland's Glaciers.

Nearly all the Greenland glaciers and tongues from the internal ice cap terminate in vertical faces from 100 to 1,000 feet high, presenting facilities for investigation. The vertical faces reveal pronounced stratification on the basal ice, even earth materials in the bases carried by the ice being arranged in layers. Fine laminations were seen twelve or twenty to an inch. The layers are sometimes twisted and contorted and even "shoved" over each other. The glacier movement at the ice border is a foot per day to a foot per week.

His First Experience.

"So your boy Jim has decided to be a dentist, eh?" said Mr. Blithers, meeting Uncle Silas at the postoffice.
"Yaas," said the old farmer.
"How did he ever discover that he had a liking for it?" asked Mr. Blithers.
"Oh, he useter help me pull'n stumps out o' the caw pasture," said the old man.—Harper's Weekly.

She Knew Without His Asking.

Tramp—It is needless to ask the question, mum; you know what I want. Mrs. Workhard—Oh, yes, I know what you want; but I've only got one piece of soap in the house, and we're using it. Come again tomorrow.—London Stray Stories.

Advice.

"My cup of joy is very full," sings a poet. Well, let it be, gentle one. Don't try to chance places with the cup.—New Orleans Picayune.

RATHER GREWSOME.

In Fact, the English Hunter Was Sure It Was Quite So.

In the Nairobi club I met a gentleman with one arm gone at the shoulder. He told his story in a slightly bored and drawing voice, picking his words very carefully and evidently most occupied with neither understating nor overstating the case. It seems he had been out and had killed some sort of a buck. While his men were occupied with this he strolled on alone to see what he could find. He found a rhinoceros that charged viciously and into which he emptied his gun.

"When I came to," he said, "it was just coming on dusk and the lions were beginning to grunt. My arm was completely crushed, and I was badly bruised and knocked about. As near as I could remember, I was fully ten miles from camp. A circle of carrion birds stood all about me not more than ten feet away, and a great many others were flapping over me and fighting in the air. These last were so close that I could feel the wind from their wings. It was rather grewsome." He paused and thought a moment, as though weighing his words. "In fact," he added, "with an air of final conviction, 'It was quite grewsome.'"—Stewart Edward White in American Magazine.

TURKISH STOICISM.

A Very Poor Shot and a Perfectly Good Natured Target.

An incident that occurred in the experience of an English officer is told by the London Spectator to illustrate the calmness and indifference to death and bodily danger characteristic of the Turkish soldier.

The officer, accompanied by a guard of Turkish soldiers, went to the edge of a cliff overlooking the sea to shoot at a seal that he saw sporting itself in the water below.

He fired a good many times, and the last shot had gone very near the bobbing mark when one of the soldiers came to him and politely asked, "Do you not think, sir, that you have fired often enough at Sergeant Yussuf?"

The supposed seal was indeed the sergeant. Presently the sergeant came ashore, put on his clothes and came up the cliff smilingly. The officer apologized handsomely and blamed himself freely. But Yussuf, like his companions, did not think there was much to be concerned about. After all, the mark had been very small. It was natural to fire at it, it was unlikely that the officer would hit it, and he (Yussuf) had not minded it at all.

When You Are Weary.

Are you weary? Breathe more, eat less. Active exercise will not rest you from mental work.
"When you are tired with mental work," says a well known physician, "do not think you must take active exercise. That will make you more weary. All you need are rest and more air in your lungs. Sit down quietly and comfortably and breathe deeply twenty-five times. Rest a moment and repeat."
"This air forced into the body removes the waste material which makes you weary."
"Don't eat all you want."
"Food not needed for support of the system is so much extra work for the body and requires more air to dispose of it."
"This regimen will diminish your grocery bill and save your shoe leather."—Chicago Tribune.

Age of Westminster Hall.

Westminster hall is quite five centuries old, possibly more, for Richard II, who is credited with its building, was really little more than a repairer of "Rufus' roaring hall," as Pope described it. The hall, so intimately interwoven with the history of England, has, according to Fuller, the distinction of possessing "cobwebless beams." They were, so a popular tradition affirmed, of Irish oak, in which it was impossible for spiders to live and spin their webs. Cunningham tells us that the roof "is of chestnut and very fine, the finest of its kind in this country." It was the meshes of the law, if not spiders' webs, one might have looked for here of old, for during long centuries England's courts of law were held in Westminster hall.—London Chronicle.

Bigger the Steel, Smaller the Crime.

The Manx law of old times had many oddities, but none, surely, quaint-er than to make the greater the crime the less, because of the impossibility, within the narrow limits of the Isle of Man, that the bigger thief should be successful.

"If a man steal a horse or an ox," so ran the law, "it is no felony, for the offender cannot hide them, but if he steal a capon or a pig he shall be hanged."

"I fear you do not really love me," said the young doctor.

"Why do you say that?" demanded the girl.

PORTLAND CEMENT CANADA

This label has no "second grade"

THERE'S only one quality of Canada Cement. It is the highest quality that can possibly be made with modern equipment, scientific methods and rigid inspection by expert chemists.

The Canada Cement you buy for a garden walk is the same cement that is sold by the trainload for great dams, elevators and bridges. The engineers in charge of these great works have ample facilities for testing the quality of cement.

Canada Cement
comes up to their most rigid requirements.

The farmer has not these facilities for testing the quality of cement. He must buy a product upon which he can depend for a grade that is always of highest quality, and that therefore does not need to be tested.

You can place absolute reliance upon the quality of Canada Cement. It's always the same and always the best. The large output—which enables us to keep the price down, enables us also to maintain the factory equipment and organization that keeps the quality up.

A Canada Cement label appears on every bag and barrel of genuine Canada Cement. See that it's on the bags and barrels of cement that you buy.

WRITE for our free book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete." It has told a hundred thousand Canadian farmers of the money-saving and profit-making possibilities of concrete.

OBITUARY

Frank O. Knowlton, a former well-known farmer of the township of Bastard, died on Oct. 18 at Dorchester, a suburb of Boston, Mass., where he and Mrs. Knowlton resided with their only child, Mrs. (Dr.) Phillips. The deceased was stricken with paralysis three weeks ago, and never rallied from the shock. He was 69 years of age.

Mr. Knowlton was born and raised in the Township of Bastard, where he spent his life up to the time of removing to Dorchester. He married Miss Lucy Bresse, who with Mrs. Phillips survive in religion Mr. Knowlton was a Baptist.

The body arrived on Wednesday last by the Limited, accompanied by Mrs. Knowlton and Dr. and Mrs. Phillips. Omer Brown of Delta met the party in Brockville, and from there the body was taken to Delta.

THE HORSE COMING BACK

When automobilism was new it clearly had a depressing influence on the horse industry, says the Breeders' Gazette. The decline of the coacher and the lull in the metropolitan interest in the saddle is directly attributable to the coming of the automobile. But to own a motor car is no longer to be distinctive, and the stuff of which horse love is made seeks in vain for gratification in the motor car. The comradeship between horse and rider or horse and driver cannot be found in steering wheel or purring motor; it requires flesh and blood and mettle. Accordingly the horse begins to return to the bridle path and the roadway. The race courses are again crowded. The horse shows were never more interesting. The demand for ponies is increasing; young America and old America are rising to appreciate them both as creatures of beauty and utility. All along the line enthusiasm for good horses is increasing.

Forty Years Ago

The year 1873 does not seem so very long ago, and yet few of those who were then prominent in the business life of the county of Leeds are now living. The Recorder in reviewing its file for that year finds that the following men were then the officers of Unionville Fair: E. D. Wilson, Lyn, D. Blanchard, Greenbush, John Forth, Forthton, B. Loverin, Addison, C. Stowell, Addison, P. P. Pomeroy, John Murray, Brockville; Edward Davis, Horace Brown, Richard Arnold Addison; Geo. Percival, Frankville; H. Manhard, Elizabethtown; George P. McNish, Lyn; S. B. Williams, Farmersville; W. H. Comstock, Brockville, F. L. Moore, Addison.

YOU CAN DEFY HEADACHE!

Yes you can, with a box of ZUTOO Tablets in your pocket or home. Taken when you feel a headache coming on, one little tablet will ward it off—nip it in the bud. Taken later it will cure the headache in twenty minutes. Why then continue to suffer when a box of ZUTOO will make you headache proof. You would be surprised to know how many people, who never before had a headache remedy, are now using ZUTOO Tablets. Why not you?

A Woman of Few Words

Mrs. Harry E. Bye, Main street north, Mount Forest, Ont., writes: "Your remedy for kidney, bladder and stomach trouble has given me great relief. Have taken three boxes and now feel like living and better than I have felt for years and I give you my word."

WORLD WIRELESS

Co-operating Commissions For Many Countries.

Brussels, Oct. 20.—The Provisional International Wireless Commission, at a meeting here to-day, decided on the organization of commissions in all the countries adhering to the wireless telegraph treaty which was signed at London in July 1912, to aid the Governments in extensive wireless observations and experiments. These will be carried out with the object, first, of determining a way to insure constancy and steadiness of wireless waves; second, measuring the variations in signals and atmospheric disturbances at the different stations; third, comparing the intensity of signals. These experiments will be conducted simultaneously on three days of each week, beginning in January. Special meteorological observations will also be made once a month.

Reports of the work of the committee will be made to the wireless conference at Brussels in 1914 with a view to legislation.

Benninger is held at the Monroe County jail, pending developments from Kingston.

HUERTA IS SILENT

Has Not Answered Recent U. S. Note.

Plot Against Felix Diaz Is Unearthed.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Upon the character of the response made by the Mexican Government to communications from the United States expressing disapproval of President Huerta's course in declaring himself dictator and throwing 110 members of the Chamber of Deputies into jail will depend the future attitude of this Government in the Mexican situation. Up to a late hour to-night no response to the American notes has come to the State Department, according to statements made by officials.

Several communications were received at the State Department to-day from Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Charge d'Affaires at Mexico City, but none of these were made public. One of Mr. O'Shaughnessy's telegrams contained the important information that a meeting of the foreign diplomatic body in the Mexican Capital had been called for to-day to consider the present condition of affairs. The Washington Administration is awaiting anxiously news of the outcome of this conference, for it is realized that the diplomatic corps may determine on a course which will amount to a repudiation of the recent acts of President Huerta.

Anything that may be done in this direction by the foreign diplomatic representatives will be subject to the approval of their Governments. However, it is quite likely that concerted action of this character would be sanctioned by the various nations concerned. While officials here do not say so, it is apparent that they are hopeful that the diplomatic corps in Mexico City will endorse the action of the United States Government in declining to recognize as constitutional the general elections to be held on October 26.

Officials said to-day that no line of policy to be pursued in the future had been determined, and that the course of events in Mexico would point the way to whatever action was taken in the United States.

In the face of these statements, however, there is persistent gossip that the Administration contemplates sending the entire Atlantic battleship fleet to Mexican waters. It is said that the Navy Department had given serious consideration to the matter of abandoning the cruise of the fleet to the Mediterranean.

These rumors were denied, and in fact they appeared to be inconsistent with the intention of the Government to avoid even the appearance of entering on a policy that suggests intervention.

MEXICANS AFTER DIAZ.

Havana, Oct. 20.—General Felix Diaz, who is now on his way from Europe to Mexico, is believed to be in danger of assassination on his arrival at Havana. The Cuban Government has received information that a band of Mexican conspirators are planning to kidnap General Diaz, who will reach here on Friday evening or Saturday morning on the steamer Corcovado.

The secret police express hope of arresting the conspirators, and the Government has issued orders that the most precautions be taken to insure the safety of General Diaz.

It is expected that General Diaz, who is a candidate for the Mexican Presidency, will remain here owing to the legion guards should conditions so require.

A member of the diplomatic corps made this statement to-night. He also said that the diplomatic representatives had reached a favorable attitude in recent developments at Mexico City.

WARSHIPS IF REQUIRED.

Mexico City, Oct. 20.—The diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, Spain, France, Cuba, Guatemala and Norway at a conference decided that their respective Governments send warships to Mexico for the purpose of affording the matter of Mexico's reply to the United States.

CHRISTENED ROXBURGHE HEIR.

The infant received the names of George Victor Robert John. The joint present of the King and Queen was a silver double-handled cup and cover. Their majesties were represented respectively by Viscount Alendale and the Countess of Minto.

VICTIMS COMING

Two Volturno Rescue Ships Nearing Dock.

Search for Derelict Failed to Show Trace.

New York, Oct. 20.—The Red Star liner Kroonland, from Antwerp, which was one of the ten ships helping in the rescue of passengers from the burned steamer Volturno, was steaming slowly toward port to-day, delayed by an accident to its shaft, but it was expected that it would reach its dock by nightfall and set ashore Captain Inch, of the lost steamer, and 90 other survivors of the disaster, including many members of the crew, who were among the last to leave the doomed vessel.

Wireless advices from the approaching rescue-ship report that among the Volturno's passengers on board are several women separated from their families, and three little children, whose identity is unknown, there being no relative or guardian with them on the Kroonland. One is a five-year-old boy who speaks German, and the other two are girls, 3 and 4 years old, either Russian or Polish. The passengers on the Kroonland raised a fund of $714 for both rescuers and rescued. They are warm in their praise of Captain Inch, of the Volturno, and Captain Kreibohm, for the courage they displayed.

A wireless from C. W. McClure, a passenger on the Kroonland, reports a tragic incident, which, viewed from the Kroonland's decks, appeared to be the carrying out of a suicide pact between a young married couple. The man and woman were seen to take each other's hand and jump together into the ocean. Passengers taken from the Volturno later said that the suicide couple were from France, but they did not know their identity.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—The North German Lloyd steamer Seydlitz, from Bremen for Philadelphia and Baltimore, one of the ships that went to the assistance of the Volturno, and which is bringing nearly forty of the rescued steerage passengers to this port, passed in the Delaware Capes at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The Seydlitz will dock about 6 p. m.

NO SIGN OF DERELICT.

Liverpool, Eng., Oct. 20.—No sign of the derelict hulk of the Volturno was seen by the Myrlic on her voyage across the Atlantic. She arrived here at a quarter to 8 this morning, and her commander reported that she had a circular cruise around the spot where the Volturno had been abandoned, without sighting that vessel or any wreckage.

S. A. LABOR SPLIT

African Leaders Apparently at Loggerheads.

Johannesburg, Oct. 20.—The expected has happened and the extremists of the Labor party have split. Mrs. Fitzgerald, leader of the militant section which represents the Federation of Trades, presided over a meeting of irresponsibles at the Tivoli Theatre. She fiercely attacked Mr. Cresswell, Mrs. Andrews and Mr. Madley, representatives of the Moderates in the South African Labor party. She ascribed their attitude to jealousy, and averred that the Labor party had been turned down to give way to the Federation of Trades during the last strike.

She challenged Mr. Andrews to say anything about the past records of the men committed for contempt of court flinging at her late confederates, who are now apparently her enemies, all sorts of aspersions. She asked where they were when the strike was on, they were conveniently out of the way, but when matters quieted down they came back to dictate terms to the workers.

Mr. Kendall and Mr. Waterston followed in the same vituperative vein. Both expressed the hope that the Miners' Association would refuse the offer of recognition by the mine owners. On questioning several mining men holding various positions as to the re-

BOY SAILOR HERO

13-Year-Old Steers Ship Safely in Storm.

Boston, Oct. 20.—At the age of 13 years, little Harold Delaney, of Allston, has qualified as one of the youngest mariners on the New England coast. During a terrific gale on Thursday he stood lashed to the wheel of the two-masted schooner Robert Pettis, and steered her safely through the storm.

"He's the nerviest little fellow in the world," declared Captain Mutter, when the vessel arrived here from Tusket; N. S. "The mate had to be sent ashore for hospital treatment at a Maine port, and only the boy and I remained aboard. When the storm broke I had to leave the wheel to shorten sail. The boy took his place, and, though great seas repeatedly dashed over him, he worked the craft along with the skill of an old skipper."

W.C.T.U. OFFICERS

Last Year's Staff Mostly Re-elected.

Hamilton Lady Among Those So Honored.

London, Ont., despatch: Mrs. Godron Wright, of this city, was today re-elected to the position of president of the Dominion Women's Christian Temperance Union. This is the fine tribute to the way in which Mrs. Wright's efforts in that position have been appreciated in the last year. The Hon. President, Mrs. Annie C. Rutherford, of Toronto, will likely again fill that position.

The vice-president remains the same, Mrs. L. C. McKinney, of Alberta, being again elected. So also was the recording secretary, Mrs. E. W. McLachlan, of Montreal. The corresponding secretary of the year will be Mrs. Atchison, of Toronto. The treasurer, Mrs. Jeanette Bullock, of St. Johns, Que., was re-elected.

The "V" secretary for the coming year will be Mrs. Grace Boyd, of Toronto, while Mrs. Adah McLaughlin, of Hamilton, was elected secretary of the Loyal Temperance Union. The vice-presidents ex officio are again filling their respective offices. They are: Mrs. Mary Sanderson, of Quebec, Mrs. Hattie A. Stevens, of Ontario, Mrs. M. McWha, of New Brunswick, Mrs. A. L. Powers, of Nova Scotia, Mrs. Duff Smith, of Manitoba, Mrs. L. C. McKinney, of Alberta, Mrs. W. W. Andrews, of Saskatchewan, and Mrs. C. S. Pofford, of British Columbia. Mrs. Margaret Coles, of Ottawa, will fill the position of editor of The White Ribbon Bulletin, the official organ of the Dominion Union.

The reports presented during the session this afternoon included that on the "Work Among the Colored People," the corresponding secretary's report, the press, the treasurer's and the report of the literature depository for the Dominion.

In her report on the press Mrs. B. Johnson, of Ontario, paid a tribute to the newspapers. "They are," she said, "a means of spreading temperance literature that is of great value. They go where out-and-out temperance literature is barred." Mrs. Johnson urged her hearers to write articles for publication in the papers of their different cities.

The treasurer's report showed the sum of almost $50,000 to have been collected during the year. While a good balance remains on hand, most of this money has been expended in one or other of the different branches of the Union's work.

For Those Entombed in the Welsh Mine.

London, Oct. 20.—The wedding presents for Prince Arthur of Connaught and his bride are to be exhibited at a charge of 25 cents admission, the proceeds to go to the aid of the families of the Welsh miners who lost their lives in the Sengenydd colliery disaster.

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 20.—All hopes of rescuing more of the miners entombed in the Universal Colliery, where a great explosion occurred yesterday, has virtually been abandoned. The report that a party of 29 had been found alive in one of the galleries has proved to be erroneous, but a large number of dead bodies were encountered to-day.

No official reports have been issued, and this has caused much comment. Fire broke out anew this afternoon, and is still raging. There are no further signs of life in the pit.

Up to a late hour to-night 49 bodies had been recovered, while 389 miners were still entombed. The shift which went into the mine yesterday numbered 931.

QUELPH LAWYER IN TROUBLE.

Quelph despatch: Mr. J. B. Fisher, well-known in legal circles in this city, and who frequently is the defender of prisoners in the Police Court, was before the magistrate in an altogether different role this morning. He was the defendant in a charge laid by Mr. L. Loree of having obtained the sum of $100 unlawfully and under false pretences. At the request of Col. MacDonald an adjournment was granted until next Thursday.

TRAPPED BELOW, 90 PEOPLE DIED

First Explosion on Volturno Killed Great Throng.

A BRAVE OFFICER

Second in Command Proved a Hero.

New York, Oct. 20.—Between eighty and ninety passengers on the steamship Volturno were trapped in compartment No. 1 by the first explosion on the vessel Thursday morning last, and either perished at once or were burned alive. This news was brought to port to-day with the docking of the steamship Grosar Kurfuert bearing 105 survivors of the disaster. It came from the lips of Waldron Disselman, third officer of the Volturno, one of the rescued.

The Grosar Kurfuert docked in Hoboken shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. Committees of the Red Cross, Jewish organizations and friends and relatives dead and living waited her coming. Ten automobiles and an ambulance were on hand to bring the unfortunate to places of temporary refuge in Manhattan.

In broken English, Disselman, a quiet-mannered man of about 35, told of his experience during the 18 hours he was aboard the fire-swept vessel, and gave some points that were not covered in previous despatches. The cause of the fire he established as an explosion of a drum containing chemicals or oils in the forward part of the vessel.

EFFECT OF EXPLOSION.

"I was just going to the bridge," he said, "when the first explosion occurred. The ship trembled as if she had been struck by a heavy shell. Almost immediately other drums began to explode. There was a rapid fire of explosions that sounded like cannonading. I heard him shout out to man the lifeboats. The passengers came running in panic to the davits. A gale was howling and the seas were sweeping in great rollers around us. The passengers crowded to the rails, so that the saloons had difficulty in lowering the boats. Meantime the small drums and cases of chemicals were exploding by the dozen every minute. No one thought the ship could last five minutes.

"We had been working the wireless for nearly an hour. Finally we got word that the Carmania was coming, full speed to help us. I ran to the passengers, who were huddled aft. Some of them were praying, some laughing. I shouted to them at the top of my voice that the Carmania was coming. Most of them fell to their knees. The panic among them was ended.

LLOYD SHOWED GREAT COURAGE.

During the fire Second Officer Lloyd of the Volturno displayed great courage on several occasions. When the foremast threatened to topple he climbed to the top of the wireless plant and mended it so that communication could be maintained with the other ships. Descending, Lloyd fell twenty feet, wounding his forehead. This was before he took his crew of four and entered the Volturno's last boat. Third Officer Arthur Pinsch was another hero, refusing to desert the flame-threatened engine-room until he got orders from Captain Inch to do so. Then Pinsch donned his best uniform, pocketed his mariner's certificate and five sovereigns and jumped overboard. He was rescued.

At shelter homes, where they had been fed and clothed, the survivors to-night declared almost in one voice that many of the Volturno's crew were guilty of cowardice. They told of having seen sailors rush to the sides of the burning ship, push women and children aside and leap into lifeboats and lower themselves, thinking only of their own safety, while helpless passengers remained on the decks and prayed to be saved.

$300,000 FOR YEAR

Is Estimate of Presbyterian Foreign Missions.

Toronto despatch: The Presbyterian Foreign Mission Board completed the final session of its semi-annual meeting yesterday, when estimates for next year, covering all the fields, were struck, the amount totalling approximately $300,000.

It was agreed to grant the request of Principal Wilson, of the Indore Theological College, for a seminary to cost $25,000 for Central India, the money for which he will try to collect while on furlough.

L. D. S. Coxson, of the East Side Y. M. C. A., New York, was appointed business missionary to India.

Rev. Dr. Ferguson, of Formosa, addressed the board on the new hospital in Formosa, which he declared is equal to any upon the island.

PORT HOPE'S BLIND PIG.

Port Hope despatch: Chief of Police Gummerson and Constable Royce raided a house near the foot of John street and found a "blind pig" in full operation. The proprietor is a Russian and in the Police Court this morning told the magistrate through an interpreter that his wife sold the beer and that a quantity had been obtained to celebrate a Russian holiday. The magistrate said it made no difference who sold the liquor, as long as it was sold on the premises, and fined the Russian, whose name is Wasyl Hrybnychi, $100 and costs, or three months in Cobourg jail. The fine was paid.

Domestic Model B Easy to Operate

To the Ladies of Athens and vicinity:
I have taken the exclusive sales agency for the

Domestic Vacuum Cleaner
acknowledged in the United States as well as Canada to be the superior of all vacuum cleaners.

The Domestic has ball-bearings throughout and runs so easy that a child can operate it.

It has three powerful bellows with more suction power than any other hand-cleaner made.

Its many points of superiority can best be appreciated when seen, and you are invited to inspect it at our store, or, if interested, we will demonstrate in your home.

The Domestic is operated like the ordinary carpet sweeper and is made in three sizes. It can be supplied with brush attachment for taking up hairs, threads, lint and heavy surface dirt; also with a hose and nozzle attachment for cleaning upholstered furniture, mattresses, draperies, etc.

No home should be without a Domestic Vacuum Cleaner.
