ASKED TO MAKE HIMSELF A FOOT BUT MR. MARTER DECLINED

The Member for North Toronto Tells Why He Twice Voted With the Government—"In the Name of Heaven What Are the Matters of Policy?"

There has been a great deal of discussion in political circles during the last few weeks, especially when the Legislature was in session, as to the attitude of G. F. Marter, M.L.A. for North Toronto, with regard to the Conservative party and the leader of that party in the House, Mr. J. D. Whitney. It was well known that Mr. Whitney did not greet Mr. Marter with the same cordiality and affection that he exhibited towards the other members sitting at the left hand of the Speaker, and Mr. Marter was no more genial towards Mr. Whitney, than the two leaders sat at the same desk. Mr. Marter, moreover, on two occasions during the session, voted with the Government against his Conservative friends.

Mr. Marter Intervened.
To ascertain from Mr. Marter his version of the differences existing between himself and Mr. Whitney, a World Reporter waited upon him yesterday afternoon.
During the last session that has just closed, Mr. Marter said, he voted against the Opposition on two important questions. The first was the vote on Mr. Boyer's amendment on the beet sugar factory question, the leader of the Opposition conceding that the Government did not care enough for its proposals and that the farmer ought to reap the benefit of the country's generosity towards this industry. Mr. Marter considered that to develop the industry it was necessary to give a bounty on the manufactured sugar, and that when the industry was started the price given for the beets should be raised to the benefit of the growers themselves. The promoters of the industry would have to pay the farmers a fair price for the beets, and Mr. Marter considered the proposal of Mr. Boyer unnecessary and altogether a foolish proposition.

Declined to Be a Foot.
"It was a question if I should make a

TO FORM A NEW PROVINCE

Conference to Be Held With a View of Giving the Northwest Territories a Provincial Status.

CONFERENCE ON THE SUBJECT.
Mr. Sifton Has Given an Indefinite Promise to Mr. Hamilton, Premier of Territories.

Ottawa, April 22.—(Special)—The Government will shortly enter into conference with representatives of the Territorial Council at Regina, looking to the admission of the Northwest Territories to the status of a province. Under date of March 21, 1901, Mr. Sifton, according to a return published in the House today, wrote Premier Hamilton of the Territories as follows: "Without at the present moment committing myself to any positive statement, I am prepared to say that the time has arrived when the question of organizing the Territories on the provincial basis ought to be the subject of final consideration."
He added a suggestion for a conference on the subject between representatives of the Territorial Government and a committee representing the Government at Ottawa.
Mr. Hamilton, in reply, writing on March 23, expressed his satisfaction at Mr. Sifton's expression of opinion on the subject, and announced his readiness to accept of the Minister's suggestion of a conference. He pointed out, however, that the Legislative Assembly had been summoned for May 2, and as it would be impossible for him to be absent from Regina during the six weeks of the session, he suggested that the conference should be advanced as far as possible before that date.
Evidently, however, the conference will take place after the sessions of Parliament and the Legislature.

His Majesty is deeply grateful for his faithful Parliament of Canada for the loving tribute which their address bears to the memory of her late Majesty, and he will hope and endeavor, relying on their loyal co-operation, to justify their confidence in his ability to maintain undiminished the glorious and beneficent results of her late Majesty's reign."

A MAN'S WIFE WAS BURIED ALIVE

Strange Circumstances of Her Supposed Death Cause Authorities to Open the Grave.

Richmond, Va., April 22.—J. H. Vaden, Christianburg, charged with the murder of his wife by giving her poison, the woman's supposed death occurred early on Sunday morning, April 7, and she was buried the next day under such circumstances that the coroner and Commonwealth's Attorney determined to make an exhumation.
The officials found that Vaden was in the room at the time of his wife's supposed death. He summoned a neighbor and his son, who found Mrs. Vaden apparently dead. They were surprised, as she had been known to be well up to that night. They were not alone when they arrived. It is said, they were refused permission to perform the usual office.
Vaden said his wife had complained of great pain in her stomach, and got up on great pain in her stomach, and had a rash on her face, which she had applied to her breast. She then sat on the edge of the bed, and had died while in that position. Vaden's brother lived not far away, but he was not notified of her death, and the next day friends and neighbors removed the body to the morgue.
Vaden's home, and buried it.
Physicians declared the child had not taken place when Mrs. Vaden's body was placed in the coffin. They testified that the woman had been buried while in a comatose state, caused by narcotics or poison, and had died in the coffin. Her stomach was removed for analysis by a chemist.
Vaden was arrested and locked up with his wife. His wife testified that his treatment of her had long been cruel and heartless.

THE DISMISSAL OF MEN FROM HON. MR. TARTE'S DEPARTMENT

The Minister Told of His Troubles, and Why so Many More English Than French Were Dismissed—Every Minister Has to Watch His Political Interests.

Ottawa, April 22.—(Special)—When the House in committee was discussing estimates to-night Dr. Spruille brought up the matter of Mr. Tarte's dismissal of 70 employees, as reported in the newspapers Saturday.
Mr. Tarte's explanation was that a large number of men were employed around the buildings. When there was plenty of work more men were required; when work fell off, men had to be dismissed. "When I came into the department I found in my room a secret list of names. I had taken down the names of the men who were dismissed. I was sorry for it. Oh, oh!
Mr. Tarte: Yes, I am; I find I cannot get out of my department but I am followed by men looking for work.
"How many were dismissed the other day?" Dr. Spruille asked.
"Two or three," answered Mr. Tarte, rashly.
"The papers say 70," said Dr. Spruille.
"Oh, well, my hon. friend should not believe all the papers say. They mean well, but they are not always well informed," answered Mr. Tarte. Then he went on to say some of the men had been in the service for 25 years, and he told how sorry he was for them, and how he wished to have somebody else had been made

EFFRONTERY UNPARALLELED

The Famous Statue of St. George in the National Museum, Florence.

England is not alone in celebrating today her patron Saint, St. George. The dragon-slayer is also supposed to be the patron saint of the United States. St. George's Day is the anniversary of the death of the mysterious man whose name has been suggested by some authorities in order to have left us, three thousand years, the mass of heroic myth which now surrounds his name.

He is said to have been born in Cappadocia in the third century, and the scene of the slaying of the dragon is held to have been either Selene, in Libya, or Beyrut, in Syria.
The daughter of the King of the city (whichever was) had been claimed by the dragon one year as his annual victim, but she was saved by St. George, who struck the monster to the ground, and led him captive to the city gates. Then, having reassured the populace of the city and despatched it in the presence of a rejoicing multitude.
St. George is said to have been martyred by the Emperor Diocletian for refusing to sign the edicts of the Emperor. He was killed by the Emperor's soldiers, and his body was buried in the city of Lydda, in Palestine.
In England the anniversary of his death is celebrated as the day of St. George's Day. In the United States, the day is celebrated as the day of St. George's Day. In the United States, the day is celebrated as the day of St. George's Day.
