Armed Operations By Austria Against Montenegro

EUROPE DISTURBED

Demonstration of War Ships Likely to Turn Into Actual Attack—Ambassadors Recalled to London—An Ultimatum Issued From Vienna

Berlin, March 22—Armed operations against Montenegro may soon be begun by the Austro-Hungarian squadron now cruising off the Montenegrin and Albanian coasts, according to information which reached the German foreign office today.

The Austro-Hungarian government today addressed a strongly worded note to the Montenegrin which was a nature of an ultimatum. The note reiterated even more sharply than before the demands made by the Austrian minister at Cetinje on March 20.

Paris, March 22—A despatch to the effect from St. Petersburg says that a report is in circulation there to the effect that Count Thurn, Austrian ambassador, is about to be recalled home and that his has made a deplorable impression on Russian opinion and in diplomatic circles.

The formal disclaimer of the ambassador by the Vienna government is the second of a series of moves which would be a political scandal making the presence of an Austrian ambassador at St. Petersburg somewhat untenable, and the government would be unable to place any reliance on his word.

The correspondent says while the Austrian embassy in the Austrian capital formally denies that the ambassador has been recalled or that there has been a disagreement between him and the foreign minister, he learns from a Russian diplomatic source that the ambassador gave Austria's admission to the guarantee concerning the southern frontier provinces, led for by the Russian foreign minister, M. Sazonov, without even previously consulting Vienna.

BOULEVARDING OF KING STREET PROPOSED

Paving Hold-up Was By Real Estate Owners Numbering 113

The most important part of the city's paving programme has been cancelled through the action of 113 citizens who protested against paying their share. The number of names signed to the various petitions is: Charlotte, King to Queen Squares, 29; Union, Chapman Hill to Waterloo, 20; Union, Waterloo to Brunel, 11; South side of King Square, 11; Germain, King to Union, 7; Germain, King to Princess, 7; Princess, Germain to Charlotte, 7; Paradise Row, 17. Mayor Frink has been omitted by two property owners in King street with a proposition that the city undertake the boulevarding of that street. They, and others, would be willing to contribute their share, basing their proposition on what it would be if the street were the same width as Charlotte street. The idea is to have a plot of green in the middle of the street and on each side of the street with ornamental trees planted at intervals. If carried out it would make the street one of the finest and most attractive in the city. It is probable that the sentiments of the other property owners will be ascertained.

MISSIONARY RETURNS TO FIND LONDON PAGAN

Other Religious Leaders in Agreement With Him

THE MARCONI MATTER

Sir Rufus Isaacs May Not Get His Promotion to Post of Lord Chief Justice—Views of Some Newspapers on the Matter

(Times' Special Cable) London, March 22—Dan Crawford, a missionary, says Sunday is not Sunday in London. He has returned after twenty-three years' absence in Central Africa, has aroused some discussion by declaring that in noting changes that have taken place during his absence, the blackest fact is that London has become frankly a pagan city. The Londoner has ceased to read his Bible.

Rev. R. J. Campbell of the City Temple, partly agrees. London, he says, is less religious, but not less moral. He says London has advanced morally and advanced its civilization, but the absorption of the average man today in purely materialistic concerns unites him for caring much for the transcendent.

The Salvation Army chief of staff says there is a general forgetfulness of God, due in the form of letters, addressed to his cousin Winston Churchill, outlines his scheme for Blenheim Park as follows.

"So far as I am concerned, I mean to make an effort to show that in my locality it is possible to grow corn and vegetables for suitable markets. The park which you know so well and on which a brigade of yeomanry has been trained, will no longer be offered as a training ground for national defence, but will be employed for the purpose of producing food for a national food supply. A thousand acres or more will be under the plough, and a greater number of laborers employed.

"When I have succeeded as I mean to do, I shall then have given a lead to my farming neighbors. I shall be a captain in a different kind of an army from that which I have previously had the honor of commanding in Blenheim Park, but it will be an army quite as useful and quite as necessary to the welfare of the state."

GERMANS SHY AT THE COST OF IT

Armament Programme Is Not Popular One

SEE TOO HEAVY TAXATION

Figures Show That Talk of Ruling Houses Submitting to Paying Their Share Really Does Not Mean Much in Total Required

(Canadian Press) Berlin, March 22—A fortnight has passed since the rough outline of the government's military plans became known but no more details are available. In a general way, the estimate of 1,000,000 marks (250,000,000) additional expenditure and 200,000,000 marks additional yearly running expenses is confirmed, but the government as yet withholds the details, although it has contradicted a number of reports and surmises regarding the probable armaments.

Signs are not lacking to show that a considerable proportion of Germans are beginning to ask themselves whether the proposed increases are justified, and how the expense will be met. It is, of course, impossible to say accurately whether the majority of the nation is in favor of the plan or not, but there is no question that the plan fails to find the enthusiasm expected at first.

People Like Warm. It must be remembered in the first place that more than a third of all Germans are socialists, and that the socialists are bitterly opposed to further armaments. Certainly a considerable part of the remaining two thirds are lukewarm and incredulous of the promise that the 1,000,000 marks will be raised by taxing the big estates.

A feature of this taxation was to be the voluntary submission of the various ruling houses to taxation and much was made of this. It is now clear that the ruling houses will be but a drop in the bucket.

A look just issued by Rudolf Martin, a statistician, discloses the fact that the ruling houses and shows that they are inconceivable, especially in relation to the income of the princes.

The combined wealth of the twenty-two reigning houses of Germany does not exceed 200,000,000 marks, of which less than 400,000,000 marks will be available for taxation. At the rate of 4 per cent, the highest rate that is suggested, no more than 16,000,000 marks could thus be realized. The income of the twenty-two dynasties is about 20,000,000 marks, but no suggestion has been made that the princely income should be taxed.

Regarding altogether the question of the minimum estate to be taxed and the rate of the tax necessary to produce a billion marks, the assessment of fortune tax, the assessment of the German states, have a general property tax, and hence no assessment rolls or other basis for levying the proposed armament tax, or for collecting it.

One True Medicinal Whiskey

Beware of Imitations While substitution is not a part of modern merchandising, it is still practiced to a greater or less degree by a few merchants who haven't the courage to compete with their fellows along legitimate, fair, lines, or who do not care for their customers' health, but their own profits only.

Substitutes Are Dangerous And any merchant who practices substitution is unworthy of the public's confidence.

When a remedy has been before the public for more than half a century, has been prescribed, and used by the best doctors and in prominent hospitals, when it has carried the blessings of health to so many thousands of homes of the sick as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. Be sure you get the genuine.

Little Beauty Chats

By BLANCHE BEACON

A Neck Defect

THE greatest trial for the woman whose years are beginning to show is her neck. It is here that the minute lines and cross-wise creases first appear, showing that the spring of youth is over. However, these tiny furrows do not make a woman look as old as does the chunk of fat that disfigures the nape of the neck. I defy any woman to wear young and attractive if every time she holds her head correctly—which means thrown well back—the pretty line of the nape of the neck is lost to view beneath a lump of fat.

If you happen to be possessed of the beauty ill, then hasten to treat it harshly as mild measures are of no avail.

What must you do? Why sleep and pound the obnoxious fat every day of your life. This may sound too strenuous, but if you are somewhat of a Spartan I think you will wage this fat-reducing war to its happy ending.

Now, attention! Dampen the palm of one hand with spirits of camphor, then lift your hand high in the air and bring it down with a decided thud on the nape of your neck. Again raise hand, and again slap the chunk of fat with emphasis. Continue thus for three minutes then moisten the palm of the other hand with camphor and proceed, in turn, to smite the back of the neck with it for a period not exceeding five minutes.

Be sure you will obtain not the slightest result from the treatment unless you slap your neck hard enough to bring tears to the eyes.

Don't fear, if you follow my directions, that the back of your neck will be covered with black and blue spots, as the flesh can stand a great deal of punishment without becoming discolored.

When you have slapped and pounded your neck until you are weary, you should bandage it snugly in thin rubber, and donning a high necked blouse, go merrily about your day's work or play. At the end of two hours, remove the rubber bandage and rub the flesh off with alcohol, else you may take cold.

Do this daily until the back of your neck will rapidly lose its unwanted ounces of fat.

SPRING BLOOD IS WATERY BLOOD

How to Get New Health and New Strength at This Season

Spring ailments are not imaginary. Even the most robust find the winter months most trying to their health. Confinement indoors, often in overheated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms—in the home, the office, the shop and the school—saps the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery and is clogged with impurities. Some people have headaches and a feeling of languor. Others are lowered and nervous. Still others are troubled with dizziness, pimples and skin eruptions, while some get up in the morning feeling just as tired as when they went to bed. These are all spring symptoms that the blood is out of order and that a medicine is needed. Some people take purgative medicines in the belief that this is a serious mistake. You cannot cure yourself with a medicine that gallops through your system and leaves you weaker still. This is all that a purgative does. What you need to give you health and strength in the spring is a tonic medicine that will enrich the blood and soothe the impure nerves. And one medicine is liable to do both these things. It is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills not only banish spring weakness but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anæmia, nervous debility, indigestion, rheumatism and neuritis. Due to bad blood, Miss Lillian Howe, Portland, Ore., says: "A little over a year ago I was in a very bad condition, suffering from most of the symptoms of that trouble. Often spent sleepless nights, and felt as though I did not care whether I lived or not. In this condition I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after the use of ten or twelve boxes I was restored to the blessing of perfect health. I feel, therefore, that I cannot say enough in praise of this medicine. If you are ailing this spring you cannot afford, in your own interest, to overlook so valuable a medicine as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CHILDREN'S EASTER SONG

(Lily Larcum) Breaks the joyful Easter dawn, Clearer yet and stronger; Winter from the world has gone, Doing shall be no longer. Far away good angels drive: Night and sin and sadness; Earth awakes in smiles, alive With her dear Lord's gladness.

Roused by Him, from dreary hours, Under snowdrifts chilly, In His hands He brings the flowers, Bringing the rose and lily, Every little buried bud Into life He raises; Every flower of the wood Chants the dear Lord's praises.

Open, happy hours of spring, Through the sky glad voices ring. Little children dear, look up, Towards His brightness pressing, Lift up, every heart, a cup For the dear Lord's blessing. —Christian Nation.

GRAY HAIR TURNS ITS NATURAL COLOR AFTER APPLYING SAGE TEA

Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens Beautifully and Takes Off Dandruff.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-made product—called "Wyleth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own but it's usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyleth's" which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is the best remedy for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and to stop falling hair.

Folks like "Wyleth's Sage and Sulphur" because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly, says a well-known downtown druggist. You choppen a sponge of soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This requires but a few moments, by morning the gray hair disappears and silver another application or two is restored to its natural color and locks even more beautiful and glossy than ever.

WOULD SHAME CANADA

"The issue is responsible government versus obstruction," says the St. John Standard, referring to the situation at Ottawa.

This is not an exact statement of the case. The issue is responsible government versus ship money, or tribute.

The statement that there are 133 Conservatives and 81 Liberals at Ottawa, and that the majority must rule, does not settle the question.

Moreover, the government was not placed in power as a result of a campaign on the naval question. The people have not had an opportunity to pronounce upon what amounts to a very radical departure from the principles of responsible government.

Mr. Borden has received no mandate from the people to abandon this policy and adopt one which strikes at the roots of Canadian autonomy as understood by himself in 1909.

But does some one argue that there is an emergency calling for special action? If so the highest authorities in England have not heard of it.

If there were an emergency $35,000,000 is not enough for Canada to contribute. The Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King recently gave an effective answer to the emergency cry when he said:

"Does Great Britain need the money? What has she been doing the past seven years? She has wiped out $300,000,000 of her national debt. Now we are asked to borrow $35,000,000 from her and give it back to her to save her. Do you wonder why the government sits dumb? Do you wonder why the government sits dumb? Do you wonder why the government sits dumb? Do you wonder why the government sits dumb?"

Speaking of the Coderre scandal the Montreal Witness says: "We do not envy a member whose pathway to parliament is marked by such degrading accompaniments as have been revealed in this case. There are few things in which parliament is so untrue to its dignity as in the things it cheers. Here was a man, who, according to a letter of his own, laid before the House, had boasted himself to find public berth for supporters whom he knew to be perjurers, and here was parliament returning to examine into conduct so derogatory to its honor, and then cheering a member's escape from investigation."

Mr. Wm. Pugsley, in an interview in the Daily Telegraph, reviews in a very interesting way the recent struggle at Ottawa, pointing out the gravity of the situation and exposing the high handed methods resorted to by the government in its attempt to prevent free speech.

That is to say, the need of the navy at the present moment is men, and Mr. Borden proposes to give aid by providing—not men—but three more Dreadnoughts to be manned. We cannot do better than quote here the comments of the Toronto Globe on the Borden proposals:

"If Canada is to become a real factor in naval defence she must do what Australia is doing. She can only add a new centre of naval strength to the Empire by laying aside the idea of hiring British seamen to fight for her because they are cheap, as Mr. Peilester argues, and by raising, drilling, and maintaining her own men. Little Newfoundland, with half the population of Toronto, has many hundreds of well-drilled naval militia. In Canada unable to do what Australia and Newfoundland are doing? Is she to remain in the same class as Malaya, which has the money to build warships, but not enough white men to supply crews? The Liberals at Ottawa will continue to press the attack against a policy that proffers money to the richest country in the world and withholds men at a time when, as Mr. Chivers, ill says, 'all our manning resources are strained to their utmost limits.' But it is further argued that Canada could not do very much in establishing shipyards in less than four years. The example of Australia answers this contention, and had the Laurier policy been carried out Canada would already have been more than a year embarked on the policy of establishing shipyards at St. John and elsewhere. When will this country be in a better position to begin than now when she has $35,000,000 available for the purpose?"

But again we are told that Mr. Borden will bring down a Canadian naval policy at some future time. He has not definitely said so. He has said on the contrary that he stands for one fleet. What does that mean? There is no reason at all to doubt that it means a continual policy of tribute, supplying money to make profits for shipbuilders and armament makers in another country, and offering England more ships to man and maintain at a time when she needs more than anything else such men as Canada could train for naval service.

The Borden naval policy is not only condemned by the majority of the people of Canada, but the liberty loving people of the mother country, who do not wish to see Canada deprived of the smallest measure of its hard won autonomy, are not in sympathy with that policy. They can see, as the Liberal leaders in Canada see, that such a policy cannot make for closer imperial unity, since it involves questions of representation which would be fruitful of discord and strife. The question is to be discussed in the British Commons, on a motion protesting against the action of Mr. Winston Churchill, and a Canadian Associated Press cable says that "a large and influential group of Liberals (in England) feel that the policy of contribution, as proposed by Premier Borden, instead of uniting and securing a loyal Canada, will rather lead to disunion and disintegration."

The policy of the Liberals at Ottawa is therefore justified. The principles at stake are too great to be abandoned. The Borden proposals are at variance with the principles of a responsible government. They imply that the Canadians are an inferior race. They would sacrifice Canadian interests for the benefit of shipbuilders in another country, and convey to the world the impression that Canadians have no faith with that Commonwealth, after agreeing to the fleet unit policy suggested by the Admiralty, and after Sir Wilfrid Laurier had begun to give effect to that policy, which Australia is now loyally proceeding to carry out.

All Canadians join in wishing a pleasant voyage to their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia, who sail from Halifax tonight for a visit to England.

Congressman John J. Lantz says there will be substantial reductions in the United States tariff, and expresses confidence that under President Wilson there will be a very extensive and substantial house cleaning in that country.

Speaking of the Coderre scandal the Montreal Witness says: "We do not envy a member whose pathway to parliament is marked by such degrading accompaniments as have been revealed in this case. There are few things in which parliament is so untrue to its dignity as in the things it cheers. Here was a man, who, according to a letter of his own, laid before the House, had boasted himself to find public berth for supporters whom he knew to be perjurers, and here was parliament returning to examine into conduct so derogatory to its honor, and then cheering a member's escape from investigation."

Mr. Wm. Pugsley, in an interview in the Daily Telegraph, reviews in a very interesting way the recent struggle at Ottawa, pointing out the gravity of the situation and exposing the high handed methods resorted to by the government in its attempt to prevent free speech.

That is to say, the need of the navy at the present moment is men, and Mr. Borden proposes to give aid by providing—not men—but three more Dreadnoughts to be manned. We cannot do better than quote here the comments of the Toronto Globe on the Borden proposals:

"If Canada is to become a real factor in naval defence she must do what Australia is doing. She can only add a new centre of naval strength to the Empire by laying aside the idea of hiring British seamen to fight for her because they are cheap, as Mr. Peilester argues, and by raising, drilling, and maintaining her own men. Little Newfoundland, with half the population of Toronto, has many hundreds of well-drilled naval militia. In Canada unable to do what Australia and Newfoundland are doing? Is she to remain in the same class as Malaya, which has the money to build warships, but not enough white men to supply crews? The Liberals at Ottawa will continue to press the attack against a policy that proffers money to the richest country in the world and withholds men at a time when, as Mr. Chivers, ill says, 'all our manning resources are strained to their utmost limits.' But it is further argued that Canada could not do very much in establishing shipyards in less than four years. The example of Australia answers this contention, and had the Laurier policy been carried out Canada would already have been more than a year embarked on the policy of establishing shipyards at St. John and elsewhere. When will this country be in a better position to begin than now when she has $35,000,000 available for the purpose?"

But again we are told that Mr. Borden will bring down a Canadian naval policy at some future time. He has not definitely said so. He has said on the contrary that he stands for one fleet. What does that mean? There is no reason at all to doubt that it means a continual policy of tribute, supplying money to make profits for shipbuilders and armament makers in another country, and offering England more ships to man and maintain at a time when she needs more than anything else such men as Canada could train for naval service.

The Borden naval policy is not only condemned by the majority of the people of Canada, but the liberty loving people of the mother country, who do not wish to see Canada deprived of the smallest measure of its hard won autonomy, are not in sympathy with that policy. They can see, as the Liberal leaders in Canada see, that such a policy cannot make for closer imperial unity, since it involves questions of representation which would be fruitful of discord and strife. The question is to be discussed in the British Commons, on a motion protesting against the action of Mr. Winston Churchill, and a Canadian Associated Press cable says that "a large and influential group of Liberals (in England) feel that the policy of contribution, as proposed by Premier Borden, instead of uniting and securing a loyal Canada, will rather lead to disunion and disintegration."

The policy of the Liberals at Ottawa is therefore justified. The principles at stake are too great to be abandoned. NEW MAN FOR THE VICEROY'S CHAIR

Declared a Fact, That Aberdeen is to Leave Ireland

MATTER OF SHORT TIME Demand for Change Has Become Insistent, Says London Correspondent of Times—Lord Ashby St. Ledgers as His Successor

(Times' Special Correspondence) London, March 5.—Although the official announcement, made the other day, that the Earl of Aberdeen would cease to be Viceroy of Ireland has met with a prompt official denial, behind the political scenes it is known that the statement was well founded, and that the present lord lieutenant will resign his post in the course of the next few months—and possibly weeks—and be succeeded by Lord Ashby St. Ledgers, who has been paymaster-general since 1910.

A strong section of the Liberal party has been demanding Lord Aberdeen's official head for some time. The renewed agitation over the crown jewels scandal which under his lord lieutenantship has been persistently screened from the searchlight of a public investigation, has served to strengthen this demand, likewise the fact that Lord Aberdeen's years now total sixty-six whereas the man who is scheduled as his successor is only forty. In fact, it is the warm personal friendship that exists between Lord Aberdeen and the Prime Minister Asquith has kept the former in office for so long. There is, of course, a strong bond between them in the fact that an engagement existed between the prime minister's daughter, Miss Violet Asquith, and Lord Aberdeen's son, the Hon. Archie Gordon, who was killed in a motor-car accident a few years ago.

His Career. The career of the Earl of Aberdeen, who has been Viceroy of Canada as well as twice that of Ireland, who is a Knight of the Thistle and a brigadier-general of the Royal Company of Archers, as well as an LL.D. of no end of universities, is too well known to need anything like a lengthy recapitulation. To some extent, of course, his lordship has been overshadowed by his gifted and energetic wife, author, lecturer, philanthropist and exponent of the International Council of Women to whom he became engaged under such romantic circumstances.

The story goes that Lord Aberdeen, then aged thirty, was staying at a Highland lodge and, while out shooting alone, chanced to cross the boundary of the estate next to his host's. The owner, Lord Tweedmouth, happened to meet him and told him that he was trespassing. Lord Aberdeen was overcome with confusion and handed his card to the stranger. He was promptly invited to lunch and at Lord Tweedmouth's hospitable board met his daughter, Miss Marjorie Gordon, and promptly fell in love with her. In due course she became Lady Aberdeen.

Distinguished now as one of the few surviving intimates of the late William Ewart Gladstone, the Right Hon. John Campbell Hamilton Gordon, seventh Earl of Aberdeen, to give him his full title, was born on August 3, 1847. He succeeded to the title on the death of his brother in 1870, and entered the House of Lords as a Conservative. Later on, however, he disagreed with the Tory policy and in the debate on the Afghan war he voted against the Beaconsfield government. In 1888, having become recognized as a leading member of the Liberal party, he was appointed lord lieutenant of Aberdeenshire, and in 1887 lord lieutenant of Ireland with the mission of carrying out the home rule policy of the government. He was Governor-General of Canada from 1893 to 1898, and became viceroy of Ireland again in 1905. He owns chased away over time. It's wonderful!

Gains New Complexion By Peeling Her Skin. (Julia Orr in The Queen). "Keep still, and heart, and cease repining, behind the clouds is the sun still shining." I was forcibly reminded of these lines when, after months of fretting over my ugly complexion, I found how easy it was to remove the cloudy, mottled skin and bring forth a bright, new complexion. I got an ounce of ordinary microbeled was at my druggist's and used the like cold cream every night for two weeks, washing it off mornings. Lo and behold! That old skin had all peeled off! The healthy young skin underneath gave me a complexion as pure, white and soft as any young girl's. I experienced no discomfort, the skin came off so gradually and gently. Several friends having been similarly benefited, I'm sure anyone whose skin is solid, withered, blotchy, pimply or freckled, can acquire the loveliest complexion imaginable by using this remarkable treatment. Another treatment that brought more sunshine was one to remove wrinkles. A face bath made by dissolving 1 cc. powdered salicylic acid in 1 1/2 pt. witch hazel, soon chased away every line. It's wonderful!

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN HERE MONDAY

Beginning with a matinee on Monday at 2.30 p.m., and continuing on Monday and Tuesday evenings, the City Cornet Band will present the grandest production of the ever favorite Uncle Tom's Cabin, at the Opera House. Particular attention has been given the stage effects both in costume and scenery, and the play will be given a first class interpretation. Besides the dramatic there will be a forty minute prologue in which all the elements of a meritorious vanderbilt programme will be seen. The management of the band feels that this is its most successful event in public entertainment, and so effort has been spared to make the entertainment an unusually attractive one. The sale of seats, which is sure to be large, opens at the box office today.

NICKEL'S MONDAY PROGRAMME 1--Selig's thrilling wartime drama in two reels, "Fantine Chevalier, The Federal Spy." 2--Madame L. Dyke-Read, Concert Soprano, in the lyric, "Who's My My Law-sunder?" 3--Comedy picture of current release date. 4--Brown and Jackson, laughmakers, and witty conversationalists.

This is a bill of first-class entertainment that will satisfy the most exacting patron, even those who have been refraining from amusements for over a month past. The new specialty team are bright, clean and snappy performers, with a whole lot of new witlings. Madame Dyke-Read is a charming little English vocalist who will surprise the most critical by her excellent technique and voice value. The feature film is a melodramatic thriller of the warlike type, based upon an historical incident in the American civil strife. It is heralded as a striking advance upon anything of the kind yet turned out by the house of Selig.

The Charge of the Bargain Brigade Half a league, half a league, Half a league onward, Quick to the harness and ready, Rushed the Six Hundred. Forward, female brigade, "Charge the dress goods," she said. To the department store Surged the Six Hundred!

"Forward, female brigade, Was there a sound dismayed? Hopeful, but yet not dismayed, To make the counters were plundered. Theirs not to make reply, Theirs not to dress and fly, Theirs only but to try To get their first or die, Quick to the bargain sale Tore the Six Hundred!

Silks to the right of them, Gingham to left of them, Linens before them, Floor walkers were red! Quizzing the tired clerks (You know just how it works), Paving with frantic jests, Remnants all sundered. Bravely they rushed and well, Hither and yon, pell mell, Without a breathing spell Crazy Six Hundred!

Flashed fingers here and there Snapping up bargain rare, Each seeming not to care That the clerks wondered. Right down the line they broke, Grabbed remnants--oh! smoke! Bargain sales are a joke. Every one blundered, Fought for the choicest goods, Frantic Six Hundred!

What a cleanup they made At that wild bargain raid! "Will the goods be sold or laid?" Each woman wondered. Honor the nerve displayed Over each nine-inch sale! Whether 'twas charged or paid, Tired Six Hundred!

GREATER CAPACITY. "What do you mean by getting drunk when I send you out with a prospective customer?" asked the merchant. "You told me to take the man's measure," explained the profligate son. "This man had a greater capacity than I had." --Buffalo Express.

A REASONABLE PLEA FOR THE STOMACH

If Your Stomach is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do its Work

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestine, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives. Chemical Laboratory, Telegraphic address, "Diffindo," London. Telephone No. 11029 Central. 29 Cullum St., Fenchurch St., E. C.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., 86 Clerkenwell Road, London, E. C. 4, and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adaptable for the purpose for which they are intended. (Signed) John R. Brooke, F.I.C., F.C.B.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dizziness and kindred diseases originating from improper digestion and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and powerful remedy. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't. Ask your druggist for a fifty-cent box.

ROYAL PARTY IN ST. JOHN TODAY

Duchess Stood Journey to St. John Well

CITIZENS GREET THEM

Duke and Princess Come to Car Platform and Acknowledge Reception—Eight Cars in Special Train Bound to Halifax

Eight cars of a special train from Ottawa reached this city this morning about six minutes after nine o'clock, bearing Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and Princess Patricia to Halifax, whence they will embark on the steamer Empress of Britain for the old country. They were accompanied by all the members of the vice-regal staff, and on their arrival here they found about a hundred or more citizens assembled in the depot to greet them. Colonel Levesley, aide-de-camp to His Highness, who will accompany the party only as far as Halifax, said that the journey thus far had been most comfortable and pleasant and that the duchess nor the princess was in the least fatigued.

When the train pulled into the depot the distinguished visitors were engaged in eating breakfast. The duke and duchess and the princess being seated about the table in their special car just about finishing their meal a few minutes later His Royal Highness appeared on the platform at the end of the car and was given three rousing cheers by the gathering assembled, while the princess, who also joined him a few moments afterwards, was also given a hearty reception. The train remained only long enough for the engines to be changed, probably about twenty or a few minutes more, and then moved on the way to Halifax. At Moncton and Trois Rivières will be changed again, and these will be the only delays of the latter part of the long journey. As the train left the depot this morning the duke again appeared on the platform and waved his hat to the crowd about, who waved theirs in return.

There was no official recognition of the party's visit this morning presumably because of the fact that the departure was considered only temporary, for even at Ottawa there was no formal farewell given, although Premier Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the cabinet ministers were assembled at the depot to see them depart. It is thought that they will be absent until about May, although no definite time has been stated.

BRITISH MONEY TO INVEST HERE

Mr. Storey Brings Good Word From England

BUILDING OF HOMES

Matters of Calculation Which Enter into the Project—Mr. Storey Paid Visit to Brother While in Old Country

There are excellent prospects that a large English syndicate will be formed to purchase and develop land and erect dwelling houses in and around St. John. While in England John K. Storey, of this city, had an interview with a prominent firm of solicitors, Austin & Barnard of London, who represent large amounts of capital, and laid before them the opportunities for investment which St. John affords. He was well received and the solicitors informed him that if the prospects were borne out by investigation these would be no difficulty in finding the necessary capital for the undertaking.

Since his return Mr. Storey has received a letter from the firm confirming their previous statements and asking for the information which they would require.

They already have been concerned in companies formed for the purpose of land development within the United Kingdom to the total extent of more than $250,000 and they say that they have found that a fair basis to rely upon as to the success or otherwise of the development of land is whether there is an annual capital available from the inhabitants of the surrounding locality for investment in purchasing and developing property equivalent to six shillings and eight pence per head of total population of such surrounding locality. In other words, taking the population of St. John at 60,000 there should be at least $60,000 annually available for investment in the purchase of real property in or about the city.

English capital would be easily available for the purpose of development, they say, but they would consider it well to the scheme the speculative probability that, after a period of years, their estate would be sold and the capital freed for investment elsewhere.

They inquire regarding the proportion of working people to the total population, indicating that if the working population is less than the fair proportion the per capita wealth is above the average and the prospects of the syndicate would be correspondingly good.

Regarding industrial development, the solicitors make the point that factories are not regarded as being of substantial benefit to the community unless they are located locally and the profits remain in the city thus adding considerably to the per capita wealth of the community.

Other matters regarding which they ask for information include the regulations regarding the laying out of streets, building bye-laws, and the government and the prospective demand for the properties both by tenants and purchasers.

As the conditions in St. John will measure up well to the requirements laid out in their letter it is believed that there should be no difficulty in completing the arrangement of the syndicate and securing the co-operation of the English investors in helping to solve the housing problem arising from the congestion due to the rapidly increasing population.

Mr. Storey returned on Thursday after a most enjoyable trip to the old country. He appears to be in splendid health and is greatly improved by his vacation. The trip was primarily on business but he found time to spend a week with his brother, Doctor Storey of Dunstable, England. On the east bound trip, which he made on the Allan liner Granpian, Mr. Storey acted as chairman at a concert given by cabin passengers. As one souvenir of the trip Mr. Storey has brought back with him an Irish thrush.

SIGNS OF SPRING AT INDIANTOWN

River Ice Reported Fast Breaking Up

WORK ON THE STEAMERS

Lumber Mills Getting Ready to Resume Operations—Mill Man Gets Ice Plunge—Personal and Other Notes

Reports received at Indiantown indicate that the river ice is fast breaking up, and if present conditions continue, it will be only a matter of a short time when the steamers are getting to the up-country sections. The heavy rain of last night is expected to advance the finishing of the work of breaking up the ice, which has been very weak in some spots. The main river was reported on Thursday last to be open as far as Hampstead, but after the mild spell and the rain, clear water is likely to be seen much farther up than that.

Matters are quiet at present about Indiantown. Crews are engaged on some of the river steamers in the work of generally overhauling the machinery, painting, and giving them a thorough renovation. It is the expectation that the service will be even better this year than in other years, and it will be that from present indications the steamers will be started on their routes much earlier than in other years.

Alfred Parry, of Main street, who, with Joseph Williams, engineer, was in the states recently for the purpose of purchasing a new river steamer, did not close arrangements whereby one would be brought here, it is freely reported about North End, that he has about decided on one of a modern type in a New England port which would prove a valuable addition to the present fleet. Mr. Parry will again visit the states in a few days, and it is said may close negotiations for the purchase of the steamer.

The very open spring is inducing lumber operators to resume operations a little earlier than at first intended. Next Saturday will see a start made in the "big mill" at Indiantown, which has been under repair. The company's mill on the opposite side of the river also will be started by next Saturday, and these will give employment to about 300 men. The other mills in the neighborhood, and those along Strait Shore will start for probably ten days or a fortnight, and some of them for a longer period, but the thought that all will be full of work after the year than has been the case in other seasons, when the spring was more backward.

VISIT FROM PROMINENT MOOSE

John P. Lenta, a United States congressman from Columbus, Ohio, was in city yesterday and left last evening for Truro where he will address a meeting in the interests of the Loyal Order of Moose, of which he is a prominent member.

Speaking of the political situation at the border, Mr. Lenta said that the election of Woodrow Wilson would result in a downward revision of the tariff, which he believes will continue. He regards the present political situation as the result of a revolt of the great mass of the people against the privileged classes.

He is making a tour of Canada in the interests of the Moose, and in this connection mentioned that at Moosehart, Chicago, a technical school is being established by the order which will give instruction in industrial work, agriculture, domestic science and similar lines to several thousand children of members of the order.

Frank Beauchene Says Take Dodd's Kidney Pills

He Suffered For a Year and After The Doctor Failed Found a Quick and Complete Cure

Stoke Centre, Richmond Co. Que., March 21—(Special)—Those who are sick, weak, nervous and irritable, will be interested in the case of Frank Beauchene, a well-known resident of this place. For a year he was in just that condition. Today he is a well man. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. In a statement given over his signature Mr. Beauchene says:

"I was sick a year with cramps in the muscles, backache and nervousness. I was always tired and irritable and my sleep was broken and unrefreshing. The doctor treated me, but it was five boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills that made me a new man."

Mr. Beauchene suffered from a complication of complaints but they all sprang from the same root—the kidneys. With the kidneys out of order the impurities are not strained out of the blood. That means poison all over the body. It means weakness, irritability and pain. The cure is to cure the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the kidneys.

THE SUBURBAN RAILWAY

The announcement that in a short time steps will be taken to put into effect the offer to purchase the stock of the St. John Railway Company was made by John R. Graham in an interview in Bangor yesterday.

Mr. Graham said that for the Suburban Railway Co. surveys would be placed in the field within a short time. He expected that four or five miles of the road will be built this summer. Power will be secured from the New Brunswick Hydro-Electric Company, whose plans call for the erection of three concrete dams on the Magaguadavic River giving a total head of 80 feet and developing a maximum of 11,000 horse power. One dam, developing sufficient power to supply the Suburban Company probably will be built this summer.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON'S LEADERSHIP IN THE PITCHER'S CROWD OF 1913

THE PINCH HITTERS

By CHRISTY MATHEWSON, of the New York Giants

When fiction writers reach the climax of their stories, I have observed, they always speak about the "rush of expectancy" before introducing the big third act scene.

In nearly every Big League ball game, which is at all close, there comes a time in the affairs of either home or visiting club which, if taken at its flood, leads on to victory.

Oh, let's get away from the watery conversation and back to baseball talk! Managers do not talk about a flood at all, but speak of the "break" of the game, as when that boss of the Big League club will frequently beckon to some player, huddled up in the corner of the bench, and he will strip off his sweater and start to paw over the bat.

HALL, RED SOX

man in Manchester, N. H., and they say up there he is a good one. He managed minor league baseball clubs and basket ball teams until a few years ago, when he returned to his old home in Manchester, where he got a job as policeman because he felt he was wearing out as a manager.

Credit Goes Elsewhere

"A pinch hitter" cry the fans. Then, "Can he make good?" If he does make good, he gets a brief cheer and returns to the bench while the pitcher gets the credit in the morning papers, or perhaps, the manager for his adroit generalship and strategy.

My first recollection in baseball was "Phonon John" Smith, who got me my first lucrative job in Norfolk, Va., and was instrumental in sending me to the Giants later. In my heart I have always had a kindly feeling for "Phonon John" because of the advice and assistance he gave me.

"Never feel badly if you are replaced by a pinch hitter. He will save many a game for you, and you will get the credit for the victory. One good pinch hitter is a great thing for a ball club."

Since then I have discovered that "Phonon John" was right. Now, to reply to the inquiring fan about him, the man who shunted me in to the Big League is at present a policeman in Manchester, N. H.

the official pincher of the club. If they can get in there and deliver one poke at the right time, they are worth the money.

That Dubious Thirteenth

When "Rube" Marquard stepped out to win his thirteenth consecutive game last season, he stepped out against the Chicago Cubs, with Richie in the box. The strain was beginning to tell on "Rube," he was worried about the thirteenth feature, and was approaching what was then recognized to be the standing record for long-distance pitching events. Fourteen straight, as piled by Chesbro and Reulbach, was supposed to be the standing record to be broken by the thirteenth game of the season.

"Let's see. Today is the twentieth of the month," answered Marquard. "If I work against the Cubs tonight, I'll be on the thirteenth on the thirtieth of the month."

"If you don't work today, you'll start tomorrow," said McGraw. "I'm not picking any spots for you."

"Then start me today," replied "Rube." "You're right," said McGraw. "I'm not picking any spots for you."

There is another feature of the lack of fidelity support. Most ball players are still fairly superstitious, but your Uncle Jerry. If a man gets losing continually, and the club constantly hounds him, he is soon whistled from one player to another in the clubhouse, pain to mouth:

Even so great an authority on affairs in general as Napoleon believed that certain things were unlucky and followed by him, although he did not put it that way. Napoleon made it a rule to decline the services and avoid the companionship of unlucky men.

Pinch Hitters Short-lived? Pinch hitters are like pitchers. They come and go, but even more rapidly. Most of them cannot sustain a high level of performance for long.

No Cheers For The Victor Did Shaffer get any of the credit for the victory? His name was mentioned incidentally in the newspapers the next day.

He had great assurance in himself. His confidence had been restored. But he did not think of the waiting Shaffer, who had stepped up and grabbed a base on balls when Marquard himself had gone to the bat, he would undoubtedly have been out. Shaffer fools a pitcher. When he walks to the plate he looks sleepy and easy, but he has the greatest batting average of any one on the club.

McGraw employed two pinch hitters regularly last season. These were Harry McCormick and Arthur Shaffer. It depended upon the condition of the game which one he sent to the bat. When a base on balls is needed to use the opposing pitcher, it is Shaffer, but, if a couple of men are on the bases and one or two out and nothing will do but the good old walk, then McCormick is the selection.

It is more apt to tear off a hit for extra bases than any other man on the club, but unfortunately he has allowed up so much lately he is of little value in the outfield any more. Therefore he is carried along especially for the times he can walk into a game and take a wallop at the ball. One day he is a hero in the eyes of the great American public and the next a dud, according to the rise and fall of his batting average.

I had a contest which I was pitching against the Cincinnati Reds last season toward the end of the year when I was going very well. I had been beaten in Pittsburgh the week before and my peace of mind was none too good. While my pitching lost many a game for me last season, I had an unlucky year in fielding. Most of the contests which were kicked away by the Giants were booted behind me. Often I have heard fans say: "Mathewson is lucky. He gets the best support of any pitcher on the Giants."

A Real Benefactor

I wish that some of these persons who think this would look over the games I pitched last season. However, I never looked at the box when I was working my head off that day, and the boys had been kicking them very liberally over my head. Three Giants got on the bases and two got out, which was not a very nutritious situation.

Speaking of certain pitchers not getting the support, there is an opinion which prevails among the public that "Rube" Marquard is not so good as he is reported to be. I have always received the most sensational support of any pitcher on the team because a pitcher will get to me and my hard luck continued throughout the year and up through the world's series. It will often break this way for a pitcher.

Take "Rube" Marquard for example, when he first went to the Giants he was extremely nervous every time he started a game, and, if any twirler on the club needed to be steadied it was "Rube." But his feeling of nervousness seemed to spread to the players, when he pitched, and they would make more errors behind him than any other twirler that season.

The situation often results in trouble on the team because a pitcher will get to me and my hard luck continued throughout the year and up through the world's series. It will often break this way for a pitcher.

It is a heart to heart talk. Oftentimes the substitution of a pinch hitter for a regular player will get the out-of-hand man. When Devore was batting in a pinch, for him whenever it looked as if the properly delivered punch would bring home the runner, Devore got so that in a half-hearted sort of way and looking to McGraw to see if he were going to pinch him out of the game. He was doing this one day when McGraw blew up. He approached Devore from the coaching lines and said:

"Aren't you going to bat?" "I wouldn't if it were going to put any more on me," replied "Joak."

"That ain't your business," said McGraw. McGraw's writer then braced after this heart-to-heart talk. But, as a rule, players do not feel as if it were a reflection on them when they are taken out of a game by McGraw to let some other man bat for them. They are used to his methods, and they make many changes according to the style of pitching and other conditions prevailing at the moment. They all know he is playing to get his full strength into the game regardless of who is taken out. None of the boys should feel humiliated about this.

McGraw is absolutely square with his players, and he plays no favorites. He eliminates a player from his club which will run any team. The players understand this. Devore devoted his time this winter when McGraw was appearing on the stage in New York, to motor back and forth to the vaudeville theatre. Devore knew he had absolutely no chance of carrying favor by doing this. He never entered his box.

"Devore," I complained Devore to me one day, "here I am carrying 'Mac' back and forth to the theatre every day, and he would just as soon bench me if some one better comes along next season as not."

McGraw was present and heard him. "I hired you for a ball player and not a chauffeur," "Joak," he said with a smile. "Remember the New York club is paying you, and I am not."

In shifting the team about and putting pinch hitters into the game, it requires a skilled hand in managing men. It is used to be that the manager seldom used a pinch hitter to substitute for any player

CHIEF BENDER

"How do you do it?" asked the newspaper man. "I swing my bat where the ball is coming," replied Chief Bender. That is all that could be said of him.

"Dode" Cris, formerly of the St. Louis American League, was a great pinch hitter. He was the Crandall type. His walls were usually long and went for extra bases.

McGraw and Griffith and managers of their type are great men to employ pinch hitters at every available opportunity. McGraw believes that, if his club is behind, it will remain behind unless he does something to rectify it, and he usually gets it.

In shifting the team about and putting pinch hitters into the game, it requires a skilled hand in managing men. It is used to be that the manager seldom used a pinch hitter to substitute for any player besides the pitcher, but McGraw innovated the practice of sending a man to bat for any one in the team if he thought his substitute would have a better chance of making a hit. That was before pinch hitting became the important branch of the profession as it is today. It was then in its infancy. Other managers began to see that McGraw was getting away with it and started substituting hitters for any weaker player, themselves. For a long time this last season, McGraw used Devore and Becker in most every game that the Giants played. Neither was a very strong hitter, and so the Giants' boss would start Devore or keep him in the game until a situation rolled around that looked promising. Then he would send either Shaffer or McCormick or Crandall to the bat, according to the needs of the situation, and put Becker in left field for the rest of the game. In this way he got a strong hitter into the contest for one time at least and kept both Devore and Becker on edge in the competition for the job.

In inserting a pinch hitter, a great deal of jockeying frequently results. The Giants were playing St. Louis at the Polo Grounds one day last summer, and Sal Salie was evidently preparing to hit Salie anyway and had merely waited for him to pinch against Devore because of his effectiveness against this particular player. As soon as Brasaban saw Crandall picking out his bat, he signalled Salie to call it day, and motioned Harmon, a right hander, to come into the box from the outfield where he had been warming up. McGraw was again back by the bench from the coaching lines. He stood there with the umpire had announced the change in pitchers so that Harmon was officially in the game. Then he sent McCormick to the bat, this getting a left-handed batter against a right hander. McCormick hit the first ball for a double and won the game.

Devore is notably weak against left handers and particularly against Salie. "No," replied McGraw, "let Crandall hit for you."

His idea was to get a right-handed batter into the game against a southpaw, the right handers being more effective. Cold Settled On Lungs.

LEFT THEM IN VERY WEAK STATE.

A cold, however slight, should never be neglected, for if it is not treated in time it will, in all probability, lead to bronchitis, pneumonia, asthma, or some other serious throat or lung trouble.

Obtain coughs and colds yield to the grateful, soothing action of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, containing as it does all the lung healing virtues of the Norway Pine tree.

Mr. G. G. Rhyan, Mill Village, N.B., writes:—"I have had occasion to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and can say that it is certainly a good medicine. About a year ago I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs, and I was in a very weak state. The cough racked me terribly, and I was in despair, until a friend advised Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I took five bottles in all, and it cured me of my cough, and left my lungs strong and well."

CONSTIPATION Can Be Cured.

You cannot expect to be well if you allow your bowels to become clogged. It is necessary to have a free motion of them every day, and to keep things in this condition all the time if you wish to be strong and healthy. If you don't sleep tight open the system will become clogged up with poisonous matter and produce constipation, headache, dizziness, bad blood, etc.

Keep the bowels in good condition by using Burdock Blood Bitters; the remedy that has built up an unrivaled reputation, during the past thirty-six years, as a cure for all troubles arising from a congested condition of the bowels.

Mrs. Thomas Calder, East Lower Port Garry, writes:—"I am writing you to let you know what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. I suffered very much from constipation and some of the medicines I took agreed with me. Now I am glad to say that there is nothing like B.B.B. Since taking it I have not been troubled."

The Kidneys Are To Blame WHEN A WOMAN'S BACK IS NOT STRONG. Women are coming to understand that weak, lame and aching backs from which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys. The kidneys are overtaxed—given more work than they can possibly do—then they cry out in protest through the pain in the back. When the back aches and pains it is almost impossible to do her housework, for every move and turn brings a sharp pain. On the first sign of backache Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken so as to avoid all this suffering. Mrs. Harvey W. Brownell, Northport, N.B., writes:—"I now take pleasure in writing you, stating the benefit I received by using Doan's Kidney Pills. About a year ago I was terribly afflicted with lame back, and was so bad at times I could not sweep my own floor. While looking through B.B.B. Almanac, I saw Doan's Kidney Pills were a great kidney remedy, so thought I would try a box or two. I did so and found great relief. Some Boxers Require a Long Time to Develop a K. O. Blow

By TOM ANDREWS

It takes some boxers a long time to develop a real knockout punch and some never get one, while to others it comes as natural as it is for a duck to swim. Kid Lavigne was not a big man, but he had the knack of delivering a knockout punch once he could land on the jaw. Joe Gans was not known as a heavy hitter, still he knew how to hit and he could always put his man away any time he connected with the right spot. Kid McCoy was a slender youth with a hand like a girl's, and still he had the knack of hitting and putting big heavy weights away for the ten count. Jim Corbett was a much bigger man than McCoy, but Jim never tried much for the K. O., as he preferred the McParland style of outpointing his man. The late Jack Dempsey was a small man for a middle weight champion and still he had a terrific punch, because he knew how to deliver the blow. It was the same with John L. Sullivan. The big fellow scored many knockouts in short bouts and most of them came of know how to hit at the right time. Charlie Mitchell was another small man who put many heavy weights to sleep and all because he knew how to hit.

Dave Smith, an Australian middle weight, a few years ago, was considered a very good man, but lacking a knockout punch; in fact in most of his matches he seemed content to win on points. When he fought Jimmy Clabby over the mat in Boston, he landed many blows to the chin, but he never put the Milwaukee boy on his back. When Smith visited the states last year he tasted the sweets of dreamland, having been put out by Eddie McGoorty in short order. It hurt Dave's pride and he began to study the knockout blow more carefully himself. When he returned to the Antipodes he improved on what he had experienced and instead of winning on points, as was usual for him, he surprised the natives by knocking out his opponent, a Frenchman, in real John L. Sullivan style. Then he began to improve still more, and in his next fight with a local middle weight, knocked him cold in half the distance. This will be encouraging to Dave and we may hear more of his championship aspirations now.

Johnny Kilbane, feather weight champion, is another lad who was never considered a hard hitter; in fact, he was always entitled to outpoint his man. However after the critics began calling Johnny a "paper" champion, he got his dander up and soon got next to the real K. O. punch. He cut loose in his bout with Oliver Kirk at St. Louis, and put him away for the ten count, also Monte Attell and George Kirkwood, which goes to prove that boxers can learn to deliver the sleep producer if they care to take the time and study it out.

There were many visitors and spectators on the range and a great amount of interest was taken in the sport. W. B. Darton, representing the Marine Arms Company, who holds the professional championship for indoor trap shooting, was a feature of the day.

The club has decided that they will hold a shoot on each Saturday and holiday throughout the year. The club has five very useful prizes which will be awarded during April and May. The terms of the contests have not yet been decided upon.

T. P. O'CONNOR WRITES OF CHURCHILL

An Entertaining Sketch of the First Lord of the Admiralty and His Meteoric Career in British Public Life

(By T. P. O'CONNOR)

London, March 22.—A final article on the present position of the leaders of the Liberal party must deal with Mr. Churchill.

many legends about Winston as a boy. The statement that once when people were talking to him about the fame and the genius of his father, he replied that in a future time, the greatest glory of Lord Randolph Churchill would be that he was the father of Winston Churchill.

Was Prominent While Still a Youth. This premature self confidence justified itself. He was a soldier while he was still a youth; he had gone through several campaigns before he was thirty; he had become a great war correspondent; he had written several books; he had instructed with success in many parts of the world.

medically after the Boer war, when passion ran high and the office had also to settle the tremendous question of the retention or the dismissal of Chinese labor.

As home secretary he was confronted with the great railway strike; he acted with furious zeal; he had the railway guarded, and he was so active that he very nearly came into collision with the powerful labor party and perhaps even risked his career.

Again there came a transformation in the man. He used to speak frequently on the platform; he used to speak frequently in the House of Commons, but he became absorbed in his department that he rarely appeared either in the one place or the other.

ment which he had the power to shape and to control. Before he went to the admiralty he had belonged to that section of the cabinet which was hostile to large increases in the navy as the admirals demanded and there was a fatal and even terrible moment in the history of the cabinet when it was possible that he or Lloyd George, and perhaps others, might have left and broken up the cabinet on the question.

AFTER LONG SUFFERING

These Two Women's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Read Their Own Statements.

Cheneyville, La.—"Some time ago when in poor health, suffering from feminine ills, I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills.

"I deeply regret that I did not know of your medicine long before I did. Friends often speak of the wonderful change in my health, and I tell them that your medicine did it."

"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache and it has certainly made a new woman of me."

"My mother used it also through change of life and speaks very highly of it. You can use this letter any way you wish. I think it is only fair for one who has suffered as much as I, to let others know of your great remedy."

Three Glasses A Day Will Chase Ills Away!

A brimming wine-glass of Wilson's Invalids' Port taken faithfully just before every meal will nourish, tone-up and gently stimulate the digestive and assimilative organs to healthy action without causing depression or other undesirable after-effects.

Owing to the high percentage of albumenoid and nitrogenous food-properties contained it possesses valuable reconstructive and blood-forming qualities that render it a powerful ally of the disease-resisting forces of the body.

The modern, practicing doctor recognizes in Wilson's Invalids' Port Wine a rational, salutary preparation that constitutes one of the greatest conquests of modern therapeutics, and he sees that it is included in the diet of every patient whose condition indicates a restorative tonic for nerves or tissues or both, because he has personally tested and proved its efficacy, purity and unvarying reliability.
