

A BRITISH VICTORY.

Capture of Important Boer Camp in Front of Ladysmith.

General French Surprised the Enemy, Who Were Routed With Much Loss.

No Answer Yet Received to Canada's Offer of a Second Contingent—General Buller's Latest Move—Disquieting Reports—Sailing of Largest Troopship in the World—Cruiser Terrible Under Full Speed for Durban.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—A belated despatch from the British camp at Ladysmith, Natal, adds little information regarding Monday's fight, except the estimation of the Boer losses, which are now said to be 85 killed and 200 wounded, mostly victims of the artillery shells, which have wrought such great havoc that it is said that Gen. Joubert, the Boer commander-in-chief, has written a letter to Gen. White, the British commander, protesting against the use of lyddite.

According to all accounts, the presence at Ladysmith of the long-range naval guns and the splendid shooting of the blue jackets, have materially improved the position of the British. A temporary armistice was declared Monday evening to allow the collection of the dead and wounded.

A despatch from Kimberley, dated Oct. 29, says all the wounded are doing well. Small bodies of Boers, about a hundred strong, were seen frequently near the camp. They apparently came from Mafeking for the purpose either of assisting in the attack of Kimberley or resist the advance of reinforcements. The absence of water caused the Boers to continually move their camps.

While the wires at Ladysmith are cut, the optimism of the war office officials yesterday evening in refusing to believe that Ladysmith was completely invested or Colenso captured appear to be justified, as this morning it was asserted that the railroad is still open, though traffic has been conducted with the greatest caution.

What, however, was only a rumor yesterday evening, may, it is claimed, be reality at any moment, as General Joubert, with a large and mobile force, is expected to detach several thousand and make a dash at the railroad.

Rumors of all kinds are springing up here. It is even asserted that Gen. White has been ordered to fall back on Pietermaritzburg, leaving his wounded behind. Probably such rumors have their origin in the recollection of the ominous silence which preceded the evacuation of Pietermaritzburg.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Despite the strict censorship concerning the movements of the troops in Africa, it is evident that a strong column is forming at De Aar Junction for the relief of Kimberley. The 1st Munster Fusiliers, the 2nd Berkshire and half of the 2nd Yorkshire Light Infantry are known to be there, numbering nearly 2,000 in all. The Munsters have been converted into mounted infantry. It was originally intended to send an entire army corps this way, but the critical position of the British in Natal necessitates diverting the reinforcements as soon as they arrive at the Cape.

said no information had been received there of fresh Boer movements at Colenso or elsewhere, and it was added the officials were not aware if the railroad to Ladysmith was intact or not.

PARIS FOR THE BOERS. PARIS, Nov. 3.—The municipal council today passed resolutions offering its entire sympathy to the Boers, "who are struggling for independence," expressing regret that the European powers had not intervened to prevent the conflict, and hoping that peace would be speedily secured.

CAUSTIC GERMAN COMMENTS. BERLIN, Nov. 3.—The statement of the British secretary of state for war, the Marquis of Lansdowne, at the Cutlers' Feast in Sheffield yesterday that the military preparations in the Transvaal could not be kept abreast of the diplomatic negotiations, has evoked severe comment on the part of the German press.

QUEBEC, Nov. 3.—Although no definite information to that effect has been received at the brigade office, several newspapers are now quoted as announcing that the offer of a second Canadian contingent had been accepted by the British war office. Since then Lieut. Col. White, acting D. O. C., has received a great number of applications from volunteers wishing to form part of the detachment, which can be readily filled here.

CANADA'S OFFER

OF A SECOND CONTINGENT NOT YET ACCEPTED. OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—The announcement that communications are passing between the dominion and imperial authorities, with a view to Canada furnishing the second contingent for service in South Africa, is eagerly canvassed here. Judging from inquiries being received from all over the country, there are hundreds of men ready and willing to be enlisted in the service of the Empire. Up to a late hour tonight no reply had been received from the home authorities, beyond the intimation that the communication of the Canadian government had been referred to the officials of the war office. A reply is anxiously awaited.

Should the second contingent from Canada be accepted by the imperial government, it is believed it will represent different arms of service, instead of going simply as an infantry battalion, and that the permanent force will be largely represented. Artillery would go as well as infantry, but there is some doubt whether any cavalry would be taken, owing to the difficulty in transporting horses, and no trained horses could be secured in South Africa for unmounted cavalrymen sent from Canada.

Some horses will be taken for the artillery, but they would not require anything like the accommodation which cavalry horses would necessitate. Officials of the militia department today were resting on their arms, so to speak. They are waiting word from the privy council office, and until an affirmative reply is received from England nothing can be done.

TO RELIEVE KIMBERLEY. NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—A copyright cable message to the Journal says: LONDON, Nov. 3.—Despite the strict censorship concerning the movements of the troops in Africa, it is evident that a strong column is forming at De Aar Junction for the relief of Kimberley. The 1st Munster Fusiliers, the 2nd Berkshire and half of the 2nd Yorkshire Light Infantry are known to be there, numbering nearly 2,000 in all.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The war office this afternoon, replying to inquiries, said no information had been received there of fresh Boer movements at Colenso or elsewhere, and it was added the officials were not aware if the railroad to Ladysmith was intact or not.

PARIS FOR THE BOERS. PARIS, Nov. 3.—The municipal council today passed resolutions offering its entire sympathy to the Boers, "who are struggling for independence," expressing regret that the European powers had not intervened to prevent the conflict, and hoping that peace would be speedily secured.

CAUSTIC GERMAN COMMENTS. BERLIN, Nov. 3.—The statement of the British secretary of state for war, the Marquis of Lansdowne, at the Cutlers' Feast in Sheffield yesterday that the military preparations in the Transvaal could not be kept abreast of the diplomatic negotiations, has evoked severe comment on the part of the German press.

QUEBEC, Nov. 3.—Although no definite information to that effect has been received at the brigade office, several newspapers are now quoted as announcing that the offer of a second Canadian contingent had been accepted by the British war office.

Welsh Fusiliers, and son of Minister Dobell, will accompany the Canadian contingent as a special service officer. Capt. Dobell is stationed at Hosieng, and a cablegram has been sent him notifying him to proceed at once to South Africa.

AT FREDERICTON. A despatch from Ottawa this evening to the officer commanding No. 4 Regt. depot here, announcing the governor's offer to the imperial authorities of the permanent corps and Mounted Police for service in the Transvaal, caused considerable excitement around the barracks. The men here are all anxious for an opportunity to service their country. Several applications for positions have already been made by members of the 71st on the strength of the rumors that a second contingent may be formed.

NEWFOUNDLAND CHIPS IN. ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 3.—The Newfoundland government has proposed a proposal to form half the colonial police into a company for service in the Transvaal. The Canadian government will be requested, it is understood, to inforce their compliance with the second Canadian regiment, Newfoundland paying a proportionate share of the expenses.

The colonial police, being like the Royal Irish Constabulary, a semi-military body, armed, well drilled and fully equipped, could take the field at once. The scheme meets with general popular approval.

TORONTO MILITARY MEN. TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Military men here think the imperial government will not accept a second contingent. They point out that the acceptance of a second contingent would be looked upon as evidence of weakness, for the contingent would be regarded as a fighting force, whereas sending the first was meant as an indication of the unity of the Empire.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The report that communications had been received with Ladysmith turns out to be erroneous. It now appears that only belated despatches are coming through.

QUEBEC, Nov. 3.—Although no definite information to that effect has been received at the brigade office, several newspapers are now quoted as announcing that the offer of a second Canadian contingent had been accepted by the British war office.

VETERANS' OFFER. TORONTO, Nov. 3.—At a special meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, held last night, the secretary was instructed to notify the colonial secretary that 500 veterans and their sons living in Toronto were able and willing to serve in the Transvaal.

LATEST NEWS

LONDON, Nov. 4.—At Plymouth it is rumored that the Channel squadron will be ordered to the Cape, where a great force is to be collected with a view of establishing the corridor from the mouth of the Orange River to Delagoa Bay to prevent the landing of supplies for the enemy and with a view also, if necessary, of landing guns to assist the British forces.

LADYSMITH IN DANGER. LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Daily Mail publishes the following despatch from Ladysmith, dated Wednesday morning: "Matters today are quiet. The Boers are apparently mounting more heavy guns to the north and northeast, which are likely to give us trouble. A Boer contingent 1500 strong and clearly visible from the camp, is streaming away to the south. The inhabitants of Ladysmith continue to leave the town."

REPORTED BRITISH REVERSES. LONDON, Nov. 4.—Paris and Berlin continue to supply statements of British reverses, the latest being that Mafeking has fallen.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A special despatch from Ladysmith, dated Nov. 2 (morning), says: "During the night the Boers moved closer to the British positions and mounted guns in fresh places. Meanwhile the naval guns have been moved to more favorable positions, near the town and commanding some of the Boer batteries."

BASUTOS HAVE RISEN. LONDON, Nov. 5, 3 p. m.—According to a special despatch from Cape Town it is reported that the Basutos have risen against the Orange Free State Boers. The government has received no information on this point.

REPORTED SURRENDER OF WHITE. LISBON, Nov. 5.—Persistent reports are in circulation here that Gen. White, British commander in Natal, has capitulated to the Boers.

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 2 (delayed in transmission).—The Cape Argus has received the following from Ladysmith: "On the suggestion of General White the women and children were sent south last evening. A large number of men went at the same time. Some of these behaved badly toward the women."

Buller's forces enter the Orange Free State, but the latter cannot be far on his way for at least three or four weeks, and even then Gen. Joubert may not decide to intercept the British on the Free State open veldt, which would suit the British admirably.

PRISONERS PLAYING FOOTBALL. CAPE TOWN, Nov. 2 (delayed in transmission).—A despatch from Pretoria, under date of Tuesday, says Col. Mosier, who commanded the British Hussars captured by the Boers, declined, on being interviewed, to give the details of the misfortune, but praised the treatment he and his men had received at the hands of the Boers. The British prisoners were playing football at the time their

Two trains have just arrived here from Ladysmith. When near Pietersburg Station they were fired upon by the Boers, but were not in serious danger. The train guards report that Nordenföldt quick-firing guns were used in addition to Mausers.

The Boers continue to shell Colenso and Fort Wylie, but thus far the firing is futile. They have placed heavy guns in position, but their shots are all falling short.

BOERS TO EMPLOY PRIVATEERS. PARIS, Nov. 5.—The Temps corroborates the statement of the Secair that the Boers have decided to employ privateers and says:

There is an immense fleet of transports now at sea carrying troops. The Transvaal government cannot seriously threaten these, but there is no doubt that it has issued letters of marque in Europe and the United States, and British commerce may suffer, even if the transports do not.

THE LOSS AT FARQUHAR'S FARM. DURBAN, Natal, Nov. 2 (delayed in transmission).—The official roll call shows that 443 members of the Gloucestershire regiment and of the Royal Irish Fusiliers are missing as the result of the engagement on Farquhar's farm.

Thirty-two members of the Gloucestershire regiment, ten members of the Royal Irish Fusiliers and two members of the Tenth Mountain battery were found killed. Between 70 and 100 escaped and returned to Ladysmith, while 150 wounded have been brought.

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 5 (delayed in transmission).—Another despatch from Ladysmith says the Boers have proclaimed the upper Tugela division of Natal annexed to the Orange Free State.

ROUTED BOERS AT BESTER'S HILL. LONDON, Nov. 5.—A special despatch from Ladysmith describing the engagement at Bester's Hill, says the Boers were completely routed and suffered heavy loss. Their entire camp was captured. The correspondent goes on to say: "An artillery duel is in progress. A British shell struck a Boer 40-pounder and completely wrecked it."

NOT CONFIRMED. BRUSSELS, Nov. 5.—The Belgian newspapers continue to publish telegrams from Amsterdam and Berlin reporting the capture of Ladysmith, but no such information has been received at the official residence of Mr. Leyds.

The members of the Transvaal agency declare that the only knowledge on the subject is that derived from the newspapers. They decline to divulge the whereabouts of Dr. Leyds, but say he is neither in Brussels nor Berlin.

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 2 (delayed in transmission).—A despatch from Stormberg, Cape Colony, south of Burgersdorp, says that trains have ceased running between that point and Alwal North, on the Cape Colony side of Orange River.

DEATH DEALING HOWITZERS. LONDON, Nov. 5.—Transports have just been received for the Woolwich Howitzer brigade, which will be hurried to the Cape. The brigade has ten thousand rounds of five-inch lyddite shells awaiting it. According to the estimate, a single shell, falling into a compact body, will kill 300 men. It was demonstrated in the battle of Omdurman, which destroyed the army of Khalifa Abdullah, that large numbers of Arabians were killed by suffocation, while hundreds of vultures and eagles fell upon the battlefield from the same cause.

French went out with cavalry and field artillery and effectively shelled the Boer laager without effect on either side."

"Our troops are in good health and spirits, and the wounded are doing well."

COLENSBURG, Cape Colony, Nov. 2 (delayed in transmission).—The scout sent out this morning on the report that the Boers were on this side of the Orange river returned this evening, bringing word that the Boer camp is pitched on the Boer side of the river.

"Evidently it is the advance guard that has appeared on this side."

BASUTOS STILL LOYAL. CAPE TOWN, Nov. 2 (delayed in transmission).—Advices from Masuru, Basutoland, say that the Boers are again urging Chief Jonathan and the other Basuto chiefs to rebel, threatening to shoo the officials out of Masuru and Tlhoti, north of Masuru, and to destroy all British sympathizers.

The chiefs, however, maintain their loyalty, and the defence of Masuru has been strengthened by two machine guns, the presence of which inspires confidence among the natives.

Kekewich, in command at Kimberley, reports, under date of Oct. 31st, that all the wounded were doing well.

BRITISH WAR SHIPS ALERT. MADRID, Nov. 5.—A despatch from the Canaries says that a British war ship is exercising a close surveillance of shipping there, being presumably on the lookout for privateers.

The captain of a merchant vessel reports from Vigo, Spain, that a British squadron of six large vessels was seen off Vigo harbor on the night of Nov. 3; that one vessel reconnoitered the harbor, and that the squadron then sailed in the direction of Gibraltar.

JUST LIKE THE SILLY DONS. MADRID, Nov. 5.—A despatch from Bilbao says that a number of influential Spaniards who were attending a banquet there yesterday, on hearing the report that Ladysmith had fallen, sent a cable to the British secretary of state for the colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, saying: "On the occasion of the latest war news, the Spaniards salute you," the allusion being to the speech of the Marquis of Salisbury during the Spanish American conflict, in which he referred to "dying nations."

LONDON, Nov. 5.—At 8 p. m. the colonial office announced that no further information had been received regarding the retirement of the British forces from Colenso, and that the reported rising of the Basutos had not been confirmed.

W. C. T. U.

The Fourth Annual Provincial Convention Opened in Orange Hall.

Addresses of Welcome from Representatives of Different Societies and Responses—Mrs. Rutherford Speaks of the Work.

The fourth annual convention of the New Brunswick W. C. T. U. opened last night in Orange Hall. The delegates were met at the door by a reception committee, consisting of Mrs. S. D. Scott, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Chas. Dearborn and Mrs. E. Manning. The seating capacity of the hall was taxed by the number present. The platform was prettily decorated and adorned with cut flowers and potted plants. On stage were seated the president, Mrs. D. McLeod, Newcastle; recording secretary, Mrs. B. A. Tritts, Sakville; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. R. Atkinson, Moncton; and Mrs. G. D. Scott, St. John, who are the largest givers in Canada, and are now putting out an immense amount of literature in French. Turning to the question of the prohibition of liquor, Mrs. McLeod read a paper on the subject which was read by the president, Mrs. D. McLeod, on Sept. 29, 1898, meant what they voted, they would stand by the cause until it is gained. Prohibition has been made a football long enough. Can the Church in this province do more than the liquor dealers have been called on to do and have done, cast politics aside, organized and worked for the cause? Women have not yet the power to cast their ballots, but while they are waiting for the franchise to go to the W. C. T. U. is, without doubt, the great organization in the temperance movement. "Organized mothers' love," it has been called. No greater moral force has ever been known than to have increased membership and increased power. (Applause.) The meeting was closed with the Doxology.

The first business session of the W. C. T. U. convention was held Saturday morning. Mrs. D. McLeod, the president, called the convention to order, and the report of the executive committee was read by Mrs. S. D. Scott, the secretary. It told of various work done during the year, and contained several suggestions regarding minor matters.

The following committees were appointed: Resolutions—Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Hartley, Mrs. Jordan. Plan of work—Miss Fullerton, Mrs. Troy, Mrs. Hanelpacker, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Weyman, Mrs. Atkinson. Courtesy—Mrs. McAlpine, Mrs. Sargent, Miss McBride. Finance—Miss Lockhart, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Payson. Credentials—Miss Augusta Slipp, Miss Jean Sprague.

A committee composed of Mrs. Hartley, Miss J. B. Scott, and Mrs. Scott were appointed to make inquiries about houses of ill-repute, with a view to their suppression. The report was accepted by the convention without discussion.

Mrs. W. J. Davidson then sang the hymn, "I Am Coming," the ladies joining in the chorus. The report of the treasurer, Miss Jane Lockhart, was then read: Receipts of collections of meetings, $399.05; dues paid, $298.10; total, $697.15; expenditure, $447.02; balance, $250.13.

Objection to the report was made by Mrs. Atkinson on the ground that the reduced rate paid by the Y's had not been considered. Mrs. Atkinson pointed out that it would make a reduction in membership. After some discussion the report was referred back, and the correction asked for ordered to be made.

Mrs. Atkinson, the corresponding secretary, then read her annual report, which embraced in it the reports of the provincial branches, and was generally of a most encouraging nature, showing that the various societies had done much good work in the cause of temperance, that membership generally was on the increase, and that there was also an increase in enthusiasm and enterprise. The membership for the present year was shown to be about 850. The receipts of twenty unions which reported amounted to $8,417.72. There were 123 meetings held by twenty-two unions. Eleven unions had been organized for the year, making a total of 46 of all which took part in the plebiscite. During the year $69,714 pages of literature and 2,000 departmental packets were distributed. There were 794 communications sent out by the local unions by the corresponding secretary. The report was received and adopted. Mrs. Atkinson being thanked for her clear statement.

The president's annual address was read by Mrs. McLeod. After welcoming those present, the report dealt with many of the great events of the past year. The president referred to the happy state of affairs existing between the two English-speaking countries, and also referred to the peace conference. She regretted that while the conference for universal peace was hardly concluded, war should have broken out in Africa, and that our own Canadian young men should have been despatched to fight in a far-off country. Referring to the prohibition plebiscite, the president said that while the victory at the polls was gained, there was no legislation given. Since the liquor traffic was protected by law, the fight against it must be made in the halls of the legislature. Members of the union throughout the land were urged to keep up the good fight against the use of liquor, and also optium and tobacco. There were causes for thankfulness to the Heavenly Father for mercies bestowed on them during the past year, but there were other conditions of affairs existing that perplexed the Christian. In the Philippines the natives had a natural horror of liquor. The American soldiers were allowed credit to the extent of half their pay at the canteens, and soon after their arrival Manila was filled with rum shops. The fight against the liquor traffic must be waged fiercely, yet with due regard for the strength of the enemy, for his forces were strong and his outposts were in every city. They must have the help of God in this campaign.

The following were appointed delegates to the Dominion convention, which begins at Halifax on Thursday next: Mrs. Nugent, Miss Annie True-man, Miss Augusta Slipp, Mrs. Thos. H. Bullock.

A message of greeting from the Nova Scotia convention was read, and on motion a response was ordered to be sent. A telegram from Miss Wiggins stating she would arrive in the evening, was heard with applause. Letters of regret at the absence of Mrs. Burpee and Mrs. McWha, were ordered sent to these ladies.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At half-past one the secretaries and treasurers of the local unions held a conference in Union hall. A school of methods was opened at 2.15 in order to exemplify the proper methods of conducting the business of the unions. Mrs. Rutherford conducted the school. Mrs. McLeod read an excellent paper on systematic giving. It was discussed by Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. G. A. Hartley, Mrs. E. W. Logan of Moncton sent in a paper on Impure Literature, which was read by the secretary, and was discussed by Mrs. Brewster, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Hanelpacker, Mrs. Chandler, and others.

An open parliament was held, discussing the necessity of a national paper such as the Women's Journal. The discussion was opened by Mrs. Atkinson. She believed that such a paper was absolutely necessary for the growth of the temperance movement and the individual members.

Mrs. Fullerton spoke appreciatively of the Journal. Mrs. McLeod failed to understand how it was that some workers did not understand the necessity of the Journal. Mrs. Rutherford, the editor of the Journal, spoke at some length in regard to the paper. She and her husband had undertaken its management, and for the 15 months that had elapsed since its publication she had expended $2,000. Delinquent subscribers delayed the work, and some of the papers' advertising patronage had been withdrawn at the time the former editor had resigned.

The afternoon session closed with a question box conducted by the dominion president. At 3 o'clock a mass meeting of children was held in Centenary church. A service of songs was led by Mrs. W. Davidson, and Madame Barakat delivered an exceedingly interesting address to the children. All of them in this country, she said, ought to be good. It might be impossible for them to go to the mission school in their own land, but there was work here in the Sunday school while they were young, and by casting their votes in the right way when they grew up. But first of all they must have the light of God in their hearts, and the desire and will to live for Him.

EVENING SESSION.

There was quite a large attendance at the evening session in Orange hall. On the platform were seated the officers of the provincial union, Mrs. Rutherford and Madame Barakat. After a short devotional service, the president introduced Rev. C. B. Phillips of Portland, Me., who brought greetings from that state in the name of its temperance workers to the elect ladies present. Maine and Maine law had been the subject of many a discussion, and he had heard of the enforcement of the latter that he had seen more drunkennes in one day in Boston than he had seen in his twelve years of life in the border state. Only the other day two white ribbons had been seen in Portland, and he intended to enforce the law that the liquor traffic should be driven out entirely. Let New Brunswick and Maine go hand in hand in this great work and the liquor traffic will be suppressed.

Rev. J. P. Smith and Mr. Miller were introduced and sang Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight? Mrs. R. B. Phillips of Fredericton, superintendent of the department of children, speaking of the extension of the franchise to women, said that in a manufacturing establishment it is reasonable to expect good results, but if the workers are ignorant and that unsatisfactory the engineer looks about for the trouble. There is something wrong with the machinery that makes our laws, and it is growing more and more so every day. Investigations have shown that the law manufacturer that all are made by a part, a fact that results in narrowness and one-sidedness, so that there follows dissatisfaction and injustice. Within recent years we have had a plebiscite enacted, and the voice of the people was to decide. From six provinces came the response clear and strong, "We want total prohibition," but we can't get it because our province has said "No." One province must not be a party to the law. The women of the world are to be free, and the vote should be given to them. At the last session of the local legislature a Sabbath observance law was passed. In Fredericton this was enforced very well for a time, but now you would not know there was such an act on the books. A minor's protection act has been passed, yet today hundreds of boys and some girls smoke so many cigarettes that you can't decipher the law. If the mothers had the right to vote, the matter would be looked into. That is all that has been done. The laws have been failures, and it is shown that one part cannot legislate satisfactorily for the whole. The women of the world are to be free, and the vote should be given to them. When Christians broke the bread of the communion they pledged their bodies to Christ. Dare they defile their hands thereafter by casting a ballot to legalize that which destroy the bodies and souls of men? They have a covenant with God. They have a covenant with God. Three years ago the speaker was on Mount Lebanon, where a massacre had once occurred—the killing of six hundred young men. Eighty were afterward got by treachery into the Mohammedan barracks and offered their lives if they would cause Jesus and embrace the Mohammedan religion. They died to a man, and the speaker's hand, left its imprint on the wall, the sign of his covenant with God.

After dwelling upon the binding force of the Christian's covenant with God, Madame Barakat said she believed with the other white ribboners in the value of education and temperance teaching, but that only out of one branch of the evil, whose roots ran deep into the past, would come the good of God. They preached prohibition, but they recognized that the only reformatory for the drunkard was on his knees at the feet of Christ. Christians must keep their hands clean from the defilement of the ballot that legalizes the liquor traffic. Woe to the church if it does not ring the gospel bells wide and near. Woe to pulpits eloquent if it does not preach against greatest evil that threatens the world, its beautiful to love Jesus, but more beautiful to live Jesus. The world is starving for a practical Christianity. It is needed in the street, in the office and at the ballot box.

The speaker quaintly observed that before she came to America she believed all the people were Christians just like the missionaries. She found however, that politics, not the churches, ruled here. Politics must be swept away and we must have the rule of Jesus, when the saloon will be swept away. Madame Barakat urged all to enter upon a covenant with God for the sake of home and every land. Politics was behind the saloon, but behind the reformer was a greater power—God himself.

The audience heartily applauded the speaker, and after the singing of the doxology Mrs. McLeod, president of the N. B. union closed the meeting with a brief prayer and the benediction.

INDUSTRIOUS YOUNG MEN. The Sun last spring told of the great work of Francis Braman and Willie H. Jones of Kara, Kings Co. who cut, yarded, hauled on a five mile road and railed 1,005 pieces of spruce, without any assistance. This season they are again at work, having purchased a lot of standing timber on A. D. G. Vanwart's place. They have already cut 500 pieces, and will get altogether 2,000 logs. Herbert L. Jones is working with them, and they will employ three span of horses. The yarding is being done by a heavy team of oxen provided by G. H. Jones. The two young men first named have 300 acres of timber at Pidgeon Settlement, but will not operate there this year. The industry and enterprise they have displayed is worthy of emulation. One of them, W. H. Jones, was employed with Palmer Bros. of Palmer's Point for six months from May 1st, and only lost one day. He and his comrade in industry have proved that it is not necessary to leave their native county to find scope for their energy.

A VERITABLE GARDEN.

A Sketch of Cloverdale, Carleton Co., N. B. To the Editor of the Sun: Sir—While our government is trying to get our farmers, who cannot speak a word of our language, into this country to buy and raise crops, it is neglecting the millions of the population of the United States. Why don't the government encourage our good land and encourage our own people to settle here? Not long ago a prominent citizen of Woodstock, after a visit to the northern part of Maine, stated he found seven-eighths of the population of that State were farmers. How many readers of the Sun have been through or have heard of the fertility of Cloverdale, Carleton Co., N. B. Cloverdale is situated some ten miles back from the river St. John, direct east of the city of Carleton Place, standing on a high bank, with a view of the river. It is an almost perfectly level land, having been leveled over, it is more easily cleared than it would have been in its natural state. But trees are growing up with wonderful rapidity. Here is a chance for any young man to get a farm for himself in a short time, and also an independent standing in Carleton county. Young man, stop and look at a whole farm, without a hitch, with good water, fertile fields, almost every acre fit for a garden without special cultivation, simply a stone's throw from a young man, stay on the west is now full of overflowing, and already crowded with people. The land is worth north into our great Northwest. But here in New Brunswick we have land as fertile as any land on the globe. We have no protracted droughts, with cattle dying with thirst and grain burned up by steady frost. Young man, if you want to start in life, choose yourself a mate and become a man of property in this place of promise, "Cloverdale's garden." Man of mature age with a family, come into this veritable garden and draw yourself a farm. You can do it under the Labor Act. So can your sons, and all your posterity. There is a good road to the first two lots. All people who are willing to work, come to this interval valley and profit by the wealth of nature God has carefully placed here. Men of means, come and settle here. If you can make hundreds from rocky, sterile soil, you can make three as much here, and rest your poor tired back on rock lifting the remainder of your days. The roads leading to Cloverdale are good, all excepting the one to Woodstock, which needs much repair. It is ten miles to Hartland, fifteen miles to Woodstock, 40 miles to Fredericton and 12 miles to Millville. But it needs no Woodstock or Fredericton or Hartland at present as a market for its produce, for the lumbering concerns in the surrounding wilderness consume all the lumber that is a better market price than is paid in the city.

Canada asks to treat as an independent nation with the United States, and urge concessions as if there were entire political and industrial equality between us. Independent of $75,000,000 and a population of 1,000,000.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

We've had with Cousin Jonathan a conference of late. About sticks and stones and mountain tops we tried to arbitrate. And when we found at old Quebec we could not settle the basis of our Friend Jonathan invited us To Washington, D. C.

He wired and dined us handsomely. He spread the best he had. (For when he's not a-bargaining Our Cousin's not half bad.) We could not get a word to work. For both have much at stake; Equality is equity. On that we've got to take.

"Equality is equity?" "No, no, now let us pause Right here," said Cousin Jonathan; "You're starting wrong, because, You see, I'm seventy-five to five, And first you must agree That that's the basis of 'The deal 'tween you and me."

O, Jonathan, dear Jonathan, We've dealt with you before; We know that line ago. You did us up for galore; But now we've got the guiding hand With that old-time love, And he'll sign an even trade for us Or more at all by Jove!

"Our Dad's a pretty straight old man, But just a trifle slow witted. When dealing with a chap like you, We know that line ago. We've made a study of your ways, And even turn that serves Your table game of politics. We're on to all your curves.

For Atlin and Ontario We've tried our best to do. An obvious imitation that Should please be to you; But Lord! since first you knew of it You've made an awful fuss; It seems you don't appreciate Such flattery in us.

Now, Jonathan, we'd like to live On better terms with you; We'd like that men and fish were free To pass between the water and the land. But Cousin, we will get along Without your jealousy in the name. Until with white men you can learn To play a whiter game.

You may cheat the Cuban rebels, Throw the Filipinos down, And on your Democratic head Set up a bigger crown; But when you're caught in the sea, Dear Cousin Jonathan, We think you'll find you're dealing with A different breed of man.

And treat, or treat not, as you will, We think you've said enough. About your seventy-five to five— We don't care to speak one word. We're of a ring that rounds the world, We ring that's all alive. And who would's life us will find The ring comes more than five.

THE COLORS OF THE FLAG.

Frederick George Scott, Quebec. What is the blue on our flag, boys? The waves of the boundless sea. Where our vessels ride in their tamesle pride. From the feet of the winds are free: To the sun and smiles of the coral isles. To the ice of the South and North, With countless tread through tempests' dread. The guardian spirits go forth.

What is the white on our flag, boys? The honor of our nation. Which burns in our sight like a beacon light. And stands while the hills shall stand; Yes, dearer than fame is our land's great name. And we fight, wherever we be, For the mothers and wives that pray for the lives of our sons.

What is the red on our flag, boys? The blood of our heroes slain. On the burning sands in the wild waste lands. And the froth of the purple main: And it cries to God from the crimson soil. And the crest of the waves outrolled. As our fathers' lives in their veins again. As our fathers' lives in their veins again.

We'll stand by the dear old flag, boys. Whatever be said or done, 'Trough the shots come fast, as we face the foe. And the foes be ten to one; Though our only reward be the thrust of a sword. And a bullet in heart or brain, What matters one gone, if the flag float on. And Britain be lord of the main.

Lt. Gov. M. B. Daley of Nova Scotia arrived at Digby on Wednesday as the guest of Major and Mrs. John Daley. His honor will take a hunting trip with the major before returning to Halifax.

ST. JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 8, 1899.
(Daily Sun, November 6.)
THE SECOND CORPS.

The announcement that the government has offered to send a second corps to South Africa will be received with general satisfaction.

It is understood that at least a part of the second corps is to be made up of the so called permanent force, including the Mounted Police.

The authorized standing army of Canada includes two squadrons of dragoons, one of Toronto and one of Winnipeg.

The Sun is not getting a military advisor to Dr. Borden and General Hutton, but ventures to suggest that it would be possible to secure certain "units" of Canadian troops.

Then if it is true that Newfoundland desires to join Canada by sending a contingent from her provincial constabulary a composite force would be provided.

A military writer in the Montreal Witness reminds us that the Northwest police has been pronounced by foreign authorities to be the finest mounted force in the world.

nesday. This is a heavy loss, for he must have been a splendid officer to have accomplished so much as he did in bringing up his guns.

General Buller is apparently still at Cape Town, despite the report that he had set out for Durban.

The Boers are challenging intently by way of the southern border of the Free State, where they are occupying an advanced position.

A good idea of the sturdy resistance made by White's lost battalions to the enemy in last Monday's fight may be gathered from the report of the losses.

The Gloucester Regiment seems to have suffered the most. Of the dead found on the field, 32 belonged to that regiment.

BURGLARY AN EASTPORT. An Eastport despatch received last night says: "A boarding house on Water street, Mrs. Helen Calder, proprietress, was entered by burglars late Sunday night and a trunk containing between $500 and $400 and a gold watch taken. The trunk was found on a side street Monday morning with the cover torn off. It was evident from the condition of things and the fact that $200 in gold at the bottom was untouched that the burglars were frightened away with their job incomplete."

CAMPBELL NEWS. The Sun's Campbello correspondent writes under date of Nov. 4: In the Campbello news of last week a statement referring to Mrs. John F. Calder being called to Quebec, was a mistake. The place mentioned should have been Lubec, Me.

The steamer Newfoundland was in the harbor last week to attend to the cable between these ports and Grand Manan. Capt. F. Easton accompanied by her two sons and little daughter, left here by Monday's boat for Boston, en route for British Columbia to join Mr. Beaton, who has been situated in that place for nearly a year. The whole family intend to make that far western land their home in the future.

THE REAL WIDOW BROWN. Fun makers of the first rank are always to be found in A. Q. Scampnon's company of comedians. This season they present the famous comedy "The Real Widow Brown". A widow, very much alive. Endless misunderstandings on her account and the masquerade of a gay youth as the widow furnish a most laughable plot. Its rendering is equally humorous and gay songs, bright costumes and excellent acting to the rest. "The Real Widow Brown" is a winner. She will appear at the Opera House Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 13, 14 and 15, with matinees on Wednesday.

BISHOP OF TORONTO Formally Refuses to Endorse the Call to Rev. J. de Souza.

The Bishop of Toronto sends to the Toronto Star a copy of the following letter, in which he briefly states his intention with regard to the appointment of a rector for St. James' cathedral. Since the return of the bishop, several conferences between his brother and the committee of St. James' have been held, and the hope has been entertained that his lordship might see fit to call in with the wishes of the committee regarding the appointment. The letter, over the bishop's own signature, precludes all possibility of the committee attaining their desire.

To the Churchwardens and Lay Representatives of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto: My Dear Sirs—I beg hereby officially to acquaint you that it is my fixed and final intention, as I have intimated to you on previous occasions, to appoint the Rev. Canon Neely to the rectory of St. James' cathedral, I am, yours, very truly, ARTHUR TORONTO.

MEN'S CLOTHING.

Never was a better gathering of Men's Clothing shown than is here to-day. Each year's lessons go to the making of better Clothing. The makers tell us that we are over-particular on many points; that our demands make added carefulness that customers will never know about or appreciate. But we know they will—we know that goodness tells and that nothing makes more lasting friends than Clothing that gives honest good looking service to the buyer.

Men's Suits $8.00 and they are proven of fast color and all-wool texture through chemical tests. There is no guess-work; there is no slight in the making. All-Wool Tweed Suits at $8.00—that is the story and all of it. They are cut on the same careful lines that makes all our ready-made Clothing better and different from the usual.

It is expected that the Central railway will ere long be extended to Fredericton and the Newcastle coal fields tapped by the line.

Mr. Foster had something to say of Mr. Tarte. That gentleman had called a bold man. "I will go further than that," said Hon. Mr. Foster. "Mr. Tarte is the biggest coward in the country. I have respect for a man that stands by his sentiments and in the present circumstances of this country, a position criticised by the English, Irish, Scotch, what does he do? He tries to hide beneath the mantle of a few weeks' residence in this country."

ON TO QUEBEC.

The Railway Journey of the New Brunswick Volunteers, As Told by One of Themselves While the Incidents Were Fresh in His Mind.

That part of the above fraternity whose homes and affections are located in and about Canada's Winter Port, arrived safely at Point Levis late on the afternoon of Oct. 27th, and with frowny looking heads thrust out of the right side of the car windows, gazed across the St. Lawrence, and up to the frowning fortress city, whose grey buildings rose tier above tier, ancient and modern, domed with towers and spire, and higher still to the cannon-girded citadel, where British power asserted itself on that memorable autumn day long years ago.

Our entire route had lain thus far through a country whose citizens had manifested their loyalty and intense enthusiasm for the volunteers by blazing bonfires, suppers, music and hearty farewells at nearly every town and village through which the special passed. Good fellowship prevailed upon the train. Pipes came forth to bacco at its heels, and through shifting banks of blue smoke, yawns were exchanged, songs were belted out and anecdotes related. Magazines and papers of a respectable age filled a box that stood in one of the rear cars, and this was eagerly sought out and its contents critically perused. An old Munsy was picked up by a colossal volunteer, clad in the blue of the artillery. He was, or rather had been smoking, using for that luxury a curly briar pipe, but the tobacco in it had been allowed to grow cold, and a grey crust of ashes now crowned what was left of the weed unsmoked.

Just what took place at tonight's meeting cannot be positively stated. The members of the senate will tell nothing, but from other sources there comes the report that the senate will override the recent decision of the faculty and reinstate the offending students. If such is the case, the University may have to look for new teachers, as it is said that of the professors, Stockley, Raymond and Dixon, will resign if the faculty is not upheld in their decision.

Miss Clementina left here this morning for Houlton, where tomorrow she enters upon her duties as primary secretary for the State of Maine Sunday School Association.

Writing from Deadwood, South Dakota, to the Newcastle Advance, John L. Scofield, formerly of this province, protests against so much writing up of New Brunswick as the favorite home of moose, caribou, bear and wild beasts. He thinks it interferes with immigration work. As to our resources he says: "I consider N. B. (and I have had 14 years experience here) for many branches of agriculture, a much better country than Dakota, and in proof of this I will say that I intend to return in the near future and demonstrate this fact by practical operations."

Then hearing the warning, "lights out," they sank down on our beds, and wrapping the same down again as they joined in the chorus of uneasy snores that soon began to resound throughout the building.

The Master of the Administration Trying to Hide Behind the French-Canadians to Hide Behind the French-Canadians Whose Loyalty He Had Maligned.

On Monday evening, Mr. Foster, speaking at a great public meeting in Ottawa, referred to Mr. Tarte's speech of the previous Saturday at St. Vincent de Paul. Mr. Foster is thus reported:

Mr. Foster had something to say of Mr. Tarte. That gentleman had called a bold man. "I will go further than that," said Hon. Mr. Foster. "Mr. Tarte is the biggest coward in the country. I have respect for a man that stands by his sentiments and in the present circumstances of this country, a position criticised by the English, Irish, Scotch, what does he do? He tries to hide beneath the mantle of a few weeks' residence in this country."

Journey of the New Volunteers.

Themselves While the Fresh in His Mind.

A Special Correspondent.

The above fraternity of affections are located in Canada's Winter Port, at Point Levis late on Oct. 27th, and with heads thrust out of the car windows, gazed at the city of Quebec, and up to the towers of the cathedral above tier, ancient domes with tower and spire still to the cannoners British power as that memorable day.

He commented; then other, expressed their joy, and the heights were Boers. Somebody suggested a desecration of three unnecessary to disability of putting this were discharged into the port followed by a general spirit of the first stage.

But he laid him thus farly whose citizens had their loyalty and intense the volunteers by his, suppers, music and is at nearly every town through which the special fellowship prevailed. Pipes came, to the heels, and through of blue smoke, yawns, songs were belted notes related. Men in a respectable age filled good in one of the rear was eagerly sought out and criticized. An old pipe was put up by the in the blue of the ar, or rather had been for that luxury a curly tobacco in its bowl to grow cold, and a whes now crowned what was unsmoked. Some- one caught his earnest lower over the print- press, and at the corner of the page, a full length picture in, in broadcloth and silk front of his own Trans- with his own corrupt over the other and on his furrowed coun- d could satisfaction, greeted his view. Something in Boer's attitude did not over the other and on his furrowed coun- d could satisfaction, greeted his view. Something in Boer's attitude did not over the other and on his furrowed coun- d could satisfaction, greeted his view.

Every body of the en- thusiasm which had prevailed through- out the route in New Brunswick- though it cost the men their sleep. At the Quebec drill shed they had had a smoker, which was very enjoyable, and from their arrival until the de- parture of the contingent no drill was to be done. The only unpleasant incident of the journey was the ston- ing of the cars as they passed some point in the province of Quebec. Fortu- nately, no damage was done.

Among matters particularly of in- terest to the St. John men are the ap- pointments of George Adams as corpora and Fred W. Coombs to be lance-corporal. The latter laughingly said that a lot of men who had not learned the difference between an of- ficer and a non-com. were per- sisting in addressing him as "sir," and appealed to him for instructions upon all sorts of things of which he knew as little as they.

Speaking of the officers, Lieut. Jones, Kaye and McLean, were at the Frontenac. To the regret of all Lieut. Jones was confined to his room from the arrival of the contingent until its departure, owing to a painful injury which he received at the railroad station in St. John. Lieut. Kaye was remarked upon by at least one young lady as 'that handsome officer,' while Lieut. McLean has obtained not only the good wishes but the confidence of all who have met him. There is no fear but that he, the youngest officer in the contingent, and younger probably than any of the men, will give a good account of himself whatever he may have to do, and will maintain the traditions which his predecessors have made for the R. M. C.

An evening in the rotunda of the Frontenac was equivalent to a review of the leading officers of Canada. Gen. Hutton, Lieut. Col. Stone, Lieut. Col. Foster, were down from Ottawa, and nearly every corps within a radius of hundreds of miles had one or more representatives. Names that recalled Ratcho, Sutherland, and Cut Knife Hill were on everybody's lips. The expedition of 1885 had come to give a royal send off to the contingent of 1899. Now were the politicians absent. It was now the speech-making next day, so of course, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was on hand to utter his laud phrases and politic nothings and counterfeit an enthusi- asm which his actions had evidenced he did not possess. The Master of the Administration, outmastered by the loyalty of the people of Canada, and only

The Departure of the Canadian Contingent for the Transvaal.

An Eye-witness Gives the Sun's Readers a Graphic Account.

Of the Historic Incident to Which All Eyes in Canada Were Turned.

On Sunday afternoon, last, looking down from the King's Bastion at the Citadel of Quebec, the spectators at once could see half a dozen little white dots on the Allan Line Wharf. Some- times the dots would move, get into a row, change position, from one end of the row or the other until finally they all moved together and were lost to view somewhere in the streets of Lower Town. What were those dots? Just the white helmets of a few of the South African contingent, de- tailed for some petty duty at the wharf. The contingent, which had come down river to the wharf of em- barkation. And for days every hurrying train was pouring into the city hundreds of people who wanted to see the final march of the Canadian white dots and to wish Godspeed to the men who were about to leave their country's shores to girdle the world in the bonds of a common empire. Yes, from the heights of the Citadel hills they were only moving points in a dis- tant place, but near at hand they were husbands, fathers, brothers and friends. In the streets the people talked of nothing else; in the hotels, clubs and all the meeting places, men there was but the one topic. In the morning thousands had assembled to see the regiment march to the English Cathedral, and all who could ob- tain admission availed themselves of the opportunity to witness the solemn service. At its close the communion service was celebrated, and led by the governor general, officers and men as- sembled around a common altar.

In the afternoon the visitors to the city sought out their friends in the contingent. The New Brunswick and P. E. Island boys were in the Immigration building, the Prince's Louise embarkment. They looked bright and happy, and were, under the circumstances, well cared for. Straw bedding, with sufficient blankets, had been provided, and good fires made the large rooms quite comfortable. The men were kept busy in preparing portions of their outfit as they were issued. When complete the Oliver equip- ment was found to be quite satisfac- tory, though it is doubtful whether our local militia would enjoy an inspec- tion or a field day quite as much with as without it. Every man had to carry a suit of underclothing, with handkerchiefs, handkerchiefs, knife, fork, spoon and other small articles; pair of canvas shoes for wear in the steam- car, extra pair of heavy boots, extra uniform, great coat and service cap, besides rifle and accoutrements. The bag was out of doors, under the broad verandah of the building. The food, at least the soup, certainly did not look very appetizing, but more than that of the St. John boys, while admit- ting it was not up to their standard, answered the complaints of their com- rades by saying: "Oh, well, don't say anything about it. It isn't very good but they're doing the best they can, and this is the spirit of the men to whom the fare was a rude transition from that of their homes. The only grumbl- ing was at a contractor being allowed to sell to the men his store goods, un- like the practice in St. John. Hun- dreds of people were gathered on Champlain street, while some trusted to possible footholds on the almost in- accessible Citadel cliff. Up on Du- rante Terrace the greatest crowd was as- sembled, and the ramparts of the Cit- adel standing out clear against the sky, was manned by eighteenth century soldiers everywhere. On board the ship, just before the embarkation, everything appeared to be in order. The upper deck was almost covered with oak boxes, which had to be provided, while the lower deck con- tained the necessary tables, and where there were no hammocks, burks have been built in two tiers. Over head are life belts for each man to use in case of emergency.

The formation of the troops upon the wharf was weary work for the men, who had had nothing to eat since early in the morning. Then came inspection by Surgeon Lieut. Col. Hutton, the di- rector general of the medical department. Every man had to show his hands and teeth, and about 35 were sent to the rear to await further orders. Then the news got about that the regiment was twenty-nine over strength, and that was to be weeded out until the right number should be reached. It made the hearts of St. John people sink to see a few of their boys in the dou- ble ranks, and to think that they might be deprived, on a very cursory examination, of an opportunity for which they were much better fitted than some who had been unhesitatingly accepted. About four o'clock, how- ever, when all others were on board, it was learned that the general had decided that all should go with the exception of two men. The scene at the wharf was a scene as families and friends parted, perhaps for the last time. Among those in whom New Brunswickers were interested were Lieut. Col. Drury, one of the present 8th Regiment C. A., and Capt. Forester, of the R. C. Dragoons, who spent many years in St. John, and a year ago con- ducted a school of equitation in the city. Sergt. Medhurst and Corporal Baldwin, who were instructors with the R. M. C., were also on the contingent. Sirgesant Charlton, lately physical in- structor for the 62nd Battalion is also on board.

At last the supreme and thrilling moment arrived. The gang-plates had been cast off, and those who a moment before were among us seemed to be away from us. The scene was intensely dramatic, and never to be forgotten. High up on the Citadel floated that flag to defend whose honor the contingent was about to journey half way around the world. Almost every object on which the eye of the spectator rested told its story of the

It was interesting to note how calm Col. Otter remained through all the bustle of preparation and how courteously he received the many who ap- proached him, each requiring some minutes which it must have been diffi- cult to spare. One man from St. John, who hoped to get a chance to go with the contingent, stopped Col. Otter on his way through a hotel corridor and made his request. It had to be refused, but it was refused courteously and pleasantly. It is impossible to avoid wondering whether the manners of the colonel commanding the regiment could not have been imitated at all re- sulting in a much greater success in enlistment as a result.

On Monday morning the regiment, over 1000 strong, marched up to the Esplanade, which is situated just with- in the walls of the city and close to the St. Louis gate. It is about 500 yards long and 100 in width. D'Arteuil street, St. Louis street and the slope of the wall were crowded. Flags were displayed from most of the buildings and, indeed, all along the frontage. The troops passed under the civic arch of evergreen at the City Hall, which bore the inscription: "Quebec vous souhaite bon voyage et retour here- after." Quebec wishes you a good journey and happy return!

One gentleman estimated the crowd at the Esplanade at 15,000 to 20,000. If his judgment was good then there must have been 50,000 in St. John on Wednesday last, and about 500,000 as to enthusiasm. No specu- lative movements of the men were attempted, and in the absence of more training to co-operate in ceremonial matters the men had received no in- struction. This was the first time they were to be seen in their new uniforms. The 8th and 9th Rifles, Quebec corps, turned out in force, and acted as a guard and there were contingents from Montreal. Particularly noticeable were the pipers of the Royal Scots, who thrilled the gathering through and through with "The Campbells are com- ing," when the Montreal company was inspected. A lance in waiting was the governor general and Lady Minto, the premier, Hon. Messrs. Blair, Fielding, Borden, Sutherland and Fitzpatrick, Mayor Parent, of Quebec, and a large number of prom- inent residents of that city and else- where. Among those from abroad were Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Geo. West- Jones, who have been especially active in connection with the contingent from this city. The arrangements were under the direction of Lt. Col. White, who is acting D. O. C. for Quebec in the absence of Lt. Col. Pelletier, who has gone with the contingent.

Prof. MacIntyre, of Moncton College, was also a deeply interested spectator.

After inspection by the general and the governor-general the regiment was addressed by the latter, the premier, and the general. None of the men ex- cept the general, could be heard by the men or the crowd, but in ringing tones Gen. Hutton delivered a brief, emphatic and soldierly address. Above all it was brief. Then came the Mayor of Quebec, who persisted, despite ad- vances to the contrary, in Boering the men by reading a lengthy address both in French and English. At last, after one o'clock, the troops marched around the parade once more, and then proceeded down St. Louis street on their return to the barracks for the last time.

In the afternoon the Allan Line Wharf where lay the Sardinian ship, with every flag flying, was the centre of attraction. Only a few could get near her, however, as a guard was posted to keep everybody off the wharf, except those who had com- manded the contingent. On board the ship, just before the embarkation, everything appeared to be in order. The upper deck was almost covered with oak boxes, which had to be provided, while the lower deck con- tained the necessary tables, and where there were no hammocks, burks have been built in two tiers. The banners of several of the lodges were carried, and the turn out was very creditable one. There were about 500 Orangemen in the parade, and all Sons of England turned out in large numbers.
