evaluating Prices for Potatoes
in New Brunswick Discouraging to Farmers

LITTLE DEMAND
The Very Best Product Gets No Higher
Offer Than 80 to 70 Cents a Barrel

Asked about the prices of potatoes Mr. Clements said that whereas $1.50 was being paid last year the price
this season was only sixty cents a barrel. The decline in price was, he said, due to the fact that the farmers in Ontario, Quebec and the western provinces had large crops of potatoes this year. He added that the shippers here were looking to the Cuban market to take a large quantity of New Brunswick potatoes this year, but at the present time it would only be worth the effort to make any forecasts about the probable quantity which could be disposed of in the Cuban market.

5 in Maine.
In this county there is only one
barrel here—$1.15 a barrel.

Dealers County.
Dealers are today
getting 60 cents a barrel for the best of potatoes, and the farmers are struggling over the market conditions.

Two dealers today offered farmers
a large barrel delivered in the city for $1.15. Taking into consideration the difference in the size of the barrel and freight charges, the farmers would be off by taking 60c. or 70c. a barrel.

Charlotte County.
At Rolling Dam
a few miles from St. Andrews, the best offer for potatoes is 70 cents a barrel.

Produce News has the following:
The potato market showed a marked improvement in the price of the crop which promises to continue. An increase in the price of the crop is probable when the sharp increase in the price of the crop is considered.
Maine has practically disappeared from the market. The price of potatoes has been reported to be higher ground than has been reported. Since the rains have been so heavy, the potatoes are not getting a good start. The market is expected to be 90 per cent of the best and the rot which is expected to be 10 per cent of the crop.

American League Champs Slight Favorites in Betting

Managers Silent About Who Will Do the Twirling Today

“Rooters” to See the Hub Team Off—Mayors Gaynor and Fitzgerald to Occupy Same Box to “Root” for Their Respective Sides.

New York, Oct. 7.—Like two armies on the eve of a battle the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox slept on their arms tonight dreaming of victory tomorrow. They are ready for the big engagement that means for them fame and money. It will be the ninth meeting of the pennant-winning teams of the National and American baseball leagues, and the winner will break a tie that exists between the two leagues.

Late reports from the rival camps show that not a regular will be missing from either team for the first time in the series. The Giants had their final workout at the Polo grounds this afternoon, their last before they start their series in Boston. The Red Sox had their final workout at the Polo grounds this afternoon, their last before they start their series in New York.

ROB MAIL POUCH OF $200,000

Package of $10,000 Bills Stolen on Way from Cuba to New York

New York, Oct. 6.—Post office inspectors of two countries, secret service men and the W. J. Burns detective agency are investigating today the mysterious disappearance of a registered mail package containing $200,000 consigned from Havana to the National Park Bank of this city.

The loss was discovered last Wednesday at New York when the registered mail pouch from Havana was opened in the New York post office. When and where the package disappeared, whether in Havana, aboard the ship, or in New York, is still a matter of conjecture.

Boston, Oct. 6.—Within a few hours of the departure today of the Red Sox for New York, where they will cross bats tomorrow with the Giants in the first contest of the world's series, hundreds of Boston and New England baseball enthusiasts followed in their wake.

Starting in the late afternoon with the “Royal Rooters,” who went 300 strong in a special train, accompanied by a band, the migrating continued throughout the night. Even the accommodations at the crowded morning trains were largely exhausted by the reservation of baseball enthusiasts.

WAR STILL IN THE BALANCE IN THE BALKAN STATES

Powers Have Agreed on Joint Action to Send Collective Note to Turkey Requesting Reforms in Macedonia and Other Places, But Are Skeptical About the Outcome With 1,000,000 Troops Facing Each Other—Sultan's People Are Clamoring for War and Preparations Continue.

Paris, Oct. 7.—The tension in the Balkan situation, it is thought tonight at the foreign office and among diplomats, shows a slight slackening. It is a hard fact, however, that the danger from martial enthusiasm remains, and it is realized that the crisis will persist as long as a million troops, awaiting for a fight, continue to be in the field.

Over optimistic hopes, a discouraged mood, and it is pointed out that Russia and Austria when really willed can go far in the Balkan states. There appears to be solid ground for the belief that the governments of Turkey and the Balkan coalition, though not necessarily their peoples, are still amenable to pressure from the European powers.

Amherst Coroner's Jury Finds Vaughn Tower Was Accidentally Shot by Companions of Sunday Hunting Party.

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 7.—Coroner Arvid held an inquest this evening in connection with the death of Vaughn Tower, who was killed in today's Telegraph. After talking to the evidence of the boys who were present at the time of the shooting, the jury, with H. E. Hewson as juror, brought in the following verdict:

“That the boy, Vaughn Tower, came to his death by means of a shot accidentally fired from a gun in the hands of Floyd Fields and Wellington Farrow while in the woods shooting on Sunday last. This jury deploras the fact that young boys are permitted to go shooting regardless of age and experience and would recommend that stringent measures be taken in the town to prevent the sale of firearms to minors.”

INTERESTING AGRICULTURAL FEATURES FOR OUR COUNTRY READERS

STOCK THE FLOCK IN FALL

Breeding Ewes Require Good Care Before Mating and Wintering.

At this season flock owners should devote particular attention to selecting breeding ewes for next year and getting them in a strong and vigorous condition for mating. It is not best to make a hasty selection as soon as the lambs are weaned, for some of the best ewes are reduced in flesh condition that they develop one as being cut. All of the unproductive ewes that produce lambs that are weaned, for some of the best ewes are reduced in flesh condition that they develop one as being cut. to become pregnant or having lost her lamb, one will often find that such ewes are well worth another trial. This season the supply of pasture grass is becoming short and low in nutritive value. Some kind of supplemental forage is better than concentrated grain foods, however, a light grain ration is indispensable in bringing the ewes to the best possible condition for mating. For a grain ration there is nothing better than oats and peas mixed with bran and corn. Such a ration is easy to make up at this time of the year on the average farm. If no suitable forage is available, clover or alfalfa hay will make a good substitute. In fact, many flock owners begin feeding quantities of dry fodder early in the season to counteract the dangerous influences of too much frosted grass and forage upon the ewes' system. It also makes a change from the grass and forage to fodder and grain more gradual when the ewes are put in their winter quarters. Ewes are one of the best crops for fall grazing, within reach of many of the farms. The great advantage of this is a forage crop for sheep is the fact that it affords excellent feed during the late fall and winter months. Ewes which have stopped growing, and again in the early spring before other forage is ready for use. Sheep are very fond of rye, and if unable to use it all for pasture, it can be utilized very profitably. Rape is without doubt the best kind of forage for sheep during the fall months. Rape thrives on a good soil. It can be sown with great ease and after they are harvested it will come up and furnish a large amount of good grazing for the sheep during the fall. It is a saving in grain feed and after weaning the lambs until they are ready to be mated it is possible to effect a saving in grain feed and after weaning the lambs until they are ready to be mated it is possible to effect a saving in grain feed.

are really responsible for the success that is steadily being achieved. When a boy I visited a Short-horn herd of which many noted prize winners had appeared. What sort of cows, think you, formed the basis of this herd? According to the owner, they ought to have been models of beef form. They were anything but that. The matrons that reared big, heavy calves could afford the final test. The Short-horn cows were big, roomy, wide-jumped, sparsely-fleshed individuals and the udders that they carried showed that they were not of the best stock. That bunch of cattle gave me the best job lesson in breeding that I have ever had.

heard it reported that two successful breeders and exhibitors of dairy cattle have been led as the result of their experience to the conclusion that no prize should ever be awarded to a dairy heifer under two years old. They don't put out according to the rating of the show-ring. Nothing has done so much to shake the confidence of the old standards for dairy cattle as the performance tests at exhibitions and the Record or Performance and Record of merit tests extending over longer intervals. Few things are doing so much to bring us back to a business basis in estimating, as breeders and producers, and commercial as the basis of the food given. It is the best thing that has happened since Prof. H. S. Arkell, in Canadian Farming.

manes. The hens have either been overfed, have been given too much fat-forming food, or have lacked inducement to scratch for their grain. Overfeeding and too little exercise, and too little scratching, are equally likely for those that are run loose termed pullets.

The yearling hen that has trouble in coming to lay is often a victim of overfeeding. She does not soil the egg for either forage or exercise, but the feeding value is quite naturally lessened if the leaves and stalks are badly frozen.

Outing the Corn-Special machines called corn harvesters are manufactured by various agricultural implement companies, and, where considerable areas of corn are grown, will be found practicable and economical. The farmer who grows only a few acres would not find it to his advantage to invest in such a machine. The corn may be cut with hand sickles or a blower. The chain elevator cut box will cut from three-quarters of an acre to an acre and a quarter in a ten-hour day, using one of the above small tools. With a corn harrow, for instance, a man with a good team, can cut from four to six acres, according to condition of the corn. Making and Preserving Dry Corn Fodder.—Where no silo is at hand to use in storing and preserving the corn, very satisfactory results may be expected by drying the crop for fall or winter use. To preserve this way, the corn should be bound into sheaves 8 to 12 inches in diameter and five or six of these made into an open but firmly built shock, the tops being bound together with a few strands of strength. These shocks, if well built, may be expected to stand as long as it is desired to leave them in the field. In fact, some farmers haul them in as needed in winter.

Why Should the Spirit of Mortal Be Proud? (By Wm. Knorr.) Why should the spirit of mortal be proud? Like a fleeting meteor, a fast-flying cloud, A flash of lightning, a break of the wave, A smother from life to rest in his grave, A leaf of the oak and the willow shall die, Scattered around and together be laid, The young and the old, and the low and the high, All moulder to dust, together shall lie, An infant a mother attended and loved; Another that infant's affection who proved; A husband that mother and infant who blessed, All are away to their dwelling of rest.

There are diseased or wrong bodily conditions that make laying difficult, if not impossible. There seem to be more of these in small flocks, in proportion to their size, than in large, or farm, flocks. The man who has a few hens, and a few yard flocks, tends to such a manner as to be more trouble of the sort than he could have in a large flock. MARKETING DRESS POULTRY. Dressed poultry always pays a good price and as with eggs, appearance goes a long way in securing top prices and the best market. THE BARN-YARD. We are taking more pains in the care and arrangement of our barn-yards than we used to, and we find it pays. When we compare manure with commercial fertilizer, we find that the former is a resource as barn-yard manure merits a measure toward its preservation.

GENERAL CORN FOR ENSILAGE. When and How to Harvest and Place in the Silo. Corn will be ready to cut for silage on the 15th of September, and has begun to green. If weather conditions are favorable, it is cold and wet, it is often advisable to cut before this stage of maturity is reached.

SHOW RING STANDARDS Compared With Breeding Values—Many Prize Winners Good Producers. It would be untrue to state that it would be unfortunate for the impression to be entertained that prize winners in the showing have not proven of real value for breeding purposes. Instance after instance has shown that prize winners are better endowed than themselves to compete for showing honors. The record of the celebrated Clydesdale stallion Prince Edward is a case in point. In his youth he was a great show horse and it need occasion no jealousy for me to say that, as a successful breeding sire, he has had his equal in quality in Canada. It would be fair to do other than acknowledge frankly the value of the ewe. In some cases the quality of the lamb at birth is a poor management of the parent sheep.

The following opinion of the verdict in the Camorra trial in Italy was written by a Neapolitan living in New York and is based on his own knowledge and upon a study of the history of the Camorra in Italy, Customs and Rites, by Ferdinando Russo and Ernesto Serice, which was published in Naples a few months ago.

DECLARES THE C. P. R. IS PLUNDERING THE PUBLIC Tory Toronto World Calls on the Borden Government to Stop the Latest Gift of $60,000,000 to Its Stockholders—Says Company Has Untold Wealth Stowed Away, and is Afraid to Make It Public. Toronto, Oct. 5.—Under the caption, "The richest and most daring robber in the world," the World this morning says: "The Canadian Pacific is rich beyond any company in the world. It has money and other assets in hand sufficient to rebuild its system. It dare not expose the world what the value of its real estate holdings is. It has never put a proper valuation on the securities and shares in other companies that it keeps in its treasury. It can raise a billion dollars tomorrow without going to the money market. And yet today with all this wealth it is delinquent in supplying railway facilities to the country it is franchised to serve. Toronto is neglected, all Ontario is neglected, all the provinces are neglected. It runs sleeping cars about that should have gone to the people of the north. It puts its maintenance of way men out of business because they were organized to improve their welfare. It would have put the telegraphers out of business a fortnight ago if it could. It has men in its employ who have to work seven days a week regularly. And yet it is better in these respects than old roads. Nevertheless it is rich, defiant of the law, arrogant toward the people, reckless as to public rights, and guilty of distributing hundreds of millions of money unjustly and wrongfully among its favored shareholders at the expense of those who say the railway is a public utility. Sir Thomas Shaganessy and his fellow-directors have made this stock exploitation of theirs in the manner they have made it (common stock worth $275,000,000) so that they could put sixty millions of dollars in the shareholders' pockets. And when Sir Thomas Shaganessy says he is 'retiring debenture stock,' 'wiping out fixed charges' and cover up a fraud and a raid on the people of Canada, who have never noted other than justly and generously with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Sir Thomas Shaganessy and his fellow-directors are exploiting the people of Canada financially much more than serving them. And they'll keep on this kind of thing as long as the government and parliament of Canada allow them to do it. This latest act of Shaganessy's will be more pronounced in the west and the east than anything else that we know of. And if the Borden government stand by and allow the plundering must stand in the obliquity thereof as well as in the fact that it had not yet come before the Canadian parliament.

GRAHAM BARES TORY TACTICS IN ONTARIO

Whispered Slanders Against Laurier Misled Many People

EYES OPENED NOW

Electors See the False Canvas Made in Regard to the Ne Temere Decree and What the Borden Government Has Done to Change Conditions—Thousands Hear the Truth at Peterborough, Ont., from the ex-Minister of Railways.

Peterborough, Ont., Oct. 2.—Of almost dramatic significance was the unexpected and frank-spoken developments at the first great overflow meeting to greet Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the Grand Opera House here last night. It was a remarkable occasion. The vast rink, originally designed for the one meeting, was packed to suffocation early in the evening, and thousands of eager people were still outside clamoring for an opportunity to hear Laurier. In haste the Opera House was rearranged and thrown open, and within a few moments was crowded to the doors. Accommodation for further meetings was impossible as the thousands still unadmitted to the Opera House were making their way to the market square.

...instructed to the deputy, who under instructions from the government, read a short statement of about ten lines to the effect that the Ontario government had an special view on one way or the other would be satisfied with the decision no matter which way it went.

Made Them Speak Out.
"In view of your experience with this and other like issues during the campaign," concluded Mr. Graham, "it would urge on every fair-minded man this view of such matters; that when he is approached by an individual who wants to whisper something in his ear he may take it for granted that the thing whispered is something of which the whisperer is ashamed or afraid, and should insist that it be discussed on the public platform of court to listen to it all" (Cheers).

No Conservative to Approve.
"Is there a Conservative present in this great audience who approves of Montenegro, Serbia, Bulgaria, Greece, Rumania, and Albania?" asked Mr. Graham. "Stand up!" Mr. King waited several moments without response.

Former St. John Man and Son in Flag Incident
London, Oct. 6.—What may prove to be an important development in the Balkan problem comes from Constantinople tonight in the form of a statement that the Porte has announced its willingness to put into execution article 23 of the Berlin treaty relating to a greater measure of self-government for Rumania, and Macedonia.

THE POWERS WILL LIKELY INTERVENE TO PREVENT BALKAN CONFLAGRATION

...The J. A. Silver, loaded with coal, was dashed to pieces; crew of four missing.

MONTENEGRO CAVALRYMAN

KING GEORGE OF GREECE

...The Skupshina has been convened in extraordinary session for the reason that the Russian foreign minister, who had just arrived in Constantinople, had accepted the proposal on behalf of Germany and now only awaited a formal word of confirmation from the German emperor. This is also the support of the Austro-Hungarian government.

EUERRY FOR THE PRINCE
England's heir has "No nucleus" of household before entering Oxford.

...The Ottoman government anticipated the verbal representations made by the powers to the Balkan states; although vigorous, did not have the desired effect. There is even reason to believe that if certain conditions were insisted to conform to the recommendations of the powers, the fear of appearing to have violated the agreement reached among them has prevented them from following their inclinations.

LONG LEG BOOTS

ALL DEPENDS ON BRITAIN.
Paris, Oct. 6.—War or peace between Turkey and the Balkan states is in the balance. If anything it might be said that the scales swing slightly today against peace in the sense that every hour's delay in the powers' intervention increases the danger of hostilities.

BIG JACK ZELIG SHOT DEAD ON A NEW YORK STREET CAR

Man Who Provided the Gun Men to Assassinate Rosenthal, the Gambler, Laid Low By a Crook, Who Claimed He Was Robbed By His Victim of $400—The Noted Gangster Was to Have Been a State's Witness in Becker Case.

New York, Oct. 6.—Big Jack Zelig was shot and killed tonight. The East Side gang leader, who was said to have supplied the "gun men" for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, was on a Second Avenue open car when Philip Davidson, who says he is a fire dealer, jumped on the running board and fired the fatal shot. Davidson is said by detestants of the underworld to be "Red Phil," a Boston pickpocket.

...Davidson explained to detectives at police headquarters that after he had been robbed he went to Jersey City, bought a revolver and after making several ineffectual efforts to get his money back, chased Zelig aboard the car and shot him.

LEADING HIM ON.
Lord Avonmore was very apt, from a hasty disposition, to anticipate the tendency of an argument. A celebrated lawyer, whose client had suffered in consequence of this habit, took the following method of reporting it: Being engaged to dine in company with the noble lord, he delayed going so long that his host, who was at dinner when he entered the room, apologized for his absence apparently with much agitation, stating that from a melancholy event he had just witnessed, he was advancing with a beautiful girl across the hall, and was in the habit of anticipating...
