hold.

It is commendable that leading and experienced citizens should aspire to Legislative positions, but I think you will agree with me that it is not alone in the larger towns or in the ranks of but one profession that we should expect to find those qualifications which fit men to represent the varied interests of so important a County as Northumberland.

Having been one of your representative Having been one of your representatives during the past four years, my record is before you, and while making no invidious comparisons. I feel that I can claim to have acted consistently and in such a manner that while conserving the interests of the Province, I have also assisted in securing for my County her full share of consideration in the distribution of public patronage.

It has so happened that I have in the main supported the Government of the day. I did so because I considered that course the best in the interests of the Province as well as of Northumberland, and also because I had no desire to aid in effecting changes of administration simply for the sake of change—and without the prospect of thereby securing either local or general advantages.

It is used both externally and internally; especially for tled over a congregation at Beaumon 17 years. Emigrating to Canada abou years ago he was settled at Spence fille, Ontario, where he remained for 2 years until the union of the various Presbyterian bodies in 1875, when with the view to the consolidation o Presbyterian interests in that place he at a great personal sacrifice resign ed his charge. After laboring as an ordained Missionary in various sections of the Church he was settled a Bass River, in this Presbytery, in October last. Here his ministry gave every promise of being long and fruit ful when it was suddenly terminated by his death at the comparatively earl age of 47 years.

Mr. Taylor, who had been only very short time in the Presbytery, en deared himself to every member by his brotherly disposition, gentlemanl manners and ministerial gifts. Before another issue of the Advocate the electors of Northumberland wil have made their choice of four representatives to serve them in the General Assembly. This selection is to be made from the seven gentlemen whose names have already been mentioned, and as they are all persons of intelli gence, and pretty well acquainted with the interests and requirements of the County, Northumberland cannot but have a creditable representation for the next term. The friends of the different candidates will of course work industriously to secure the return of their favorites, and no reports of the personal popularity of any of the candidates should hall their friends into the belief that the most diligent canvass is unnecessary. In Mr Adams' case, who it is believed will lead the poll, these remarks will per haps apply with more force than to any of the Candidates now in the

In season and out of season, that charge was pressed against the party of Sir John A. Macdonald. Well, look at just one port of the Dominion. In Montreal there have been several elections, and a desperate effect was made by the Ministerialists to win the constituency. The way in which the thing was done, as it was done, may be gathered from the following table the outer costs of the deceased were button-found, and the natural inference would be view, this found, and the natural inference would be that they would have more mud on them than the inner coat and clothing. But 'the reverse is the case, and this fact is so palpable that Dr. Allison concludes the inner coat must have been longer in the water. If M Carthy's body was really taken up from the bottom of the river, as now seen probable, clad in his overcoat, and his se watch, money, etc., put in his pocket, the the agr question arises who could have done this? Certainly this case is opening out some very the Col curious problems.

Hints for Farmers. Recording the orchard should not be omitted. Labels soon become map, or a record by rows, is perman-Old trees may be tenovated by cutting out the crowded branches, manuring, and giving the trunk and larger branches a wash of lye or soft soap, and scraping. A young orchard may be cultivated with manured crops, such as potatoes and root crops, but when the trees come into bearing, they need all the soil to themselves. Injured trees should be looked to at once. If limbs have been broken by accumulations of snow and ice, make a smooth wound and cover it with melted grafting wax or thick paint.

Grafting is best done just as vegetation starts. A tree that produces poor fruit is easily converted into a profitable tree. The operation is a simple one, and any intelligent boy can perform it. Mulching newly planted trees is often highly important; whatever up will prevent evaporation from the soil will answer. In some localities stones are the most valuable mulch. Use bog hay, pine needles, straw, or whatever will cover the surface. By raising the heifers of our best cows the stock will be improved. Every farmer should aim to keep only the best. A cow yielding only eight quarts of milk a day does not pay for the feen, and should be replaced with a better one. We must look upon our live stock as machines, kept for a purpose, and discard unprofitable animals.

A method of ascertaining the weight of hay by measurement in the mow. For the first 8 feet of depth on the top of a largo mow of bav, it will require a cube of 8 feet or 512 enbic feet for a ton; at the botton of a well settled mow, 18 or 20 feet deep 300 cubic feet will make a ton; between the bottom and top the measure for a ton will vary regularly between these figures.

Feeding Young Stock-It is often, but wrongly, considered that any thing is good enough for young stock On the contrary, nothing can be too good for growing animals. Coarse, indigestible, and especially musty food, is very injurious to them. I disorders the digestion, and produces diarrhœa, red-water, and impacted rumen; or paves the way for an attack of " black-leg," or other anthrax dis eases, when the change to green food comes. Plants affected by smut, rust and other fungoid diseases are, when used as food, most dangerous in their effects, and should be most carefully avoided.

EXPERIMENTS IN PRUNING. - James Redpath, of Buchanan County, Ia., tried an experiment to determine the time of the year at which wounds made in pruning are covered best and most speedily. A branch one inch in diameter was cut from a tree of Rawle's Janet on the first day of each month in the year, and at the end of five years, when all were healed over they were opened and found to have decayed least in those cut in February and March (or just before the swelling of the buds, and most in those cut in June and July, or during the growing season. ( while the latter had the advantage of being closed one year the earliest. Another simi lar experiment was tried on the Yellow Bellflower, and at the end of four years all were healed over; on opening the places where pruned, the same result was found, except a sligh difference in favour of February and July. In these experiments, the decay from summer pruning was about three times as extensive as from that performed in the winter months. Root pruning for dwarfs always ruined the constitution of the tree.

As an evidence of the great value of a dressing of bone dust upon dairy farms, we have the testimony of an English agricultural writer of high repute, and the author of a Roya Agricultural Society's prize essay This gentleman states that since bone manures have been applied to the Cheshire pastures the product of the soil in herhage and cheese has been greatly increased, in many cases having been 'actually doubled. The increase of stock kept in the locality has been from 30 to 50 per cent., and in one case of a farm of 160 acres the number of feeding stock has been enlarged from 20 cows and 3 colts to 35 cows, 8 feeding beeves, 16 vearlings and heifers, 5 horses and 3 colts. But, at the same time, i is true the quality of the cheese has been to some extent deteriorated, except where the most skilful manage. ment, the richer herbagebeing found to produce milk which requires the greatest care and skill in every step Goods Sold on Commission. Manufacturers. When a new Lining is required it can be put in as in the manner of cleaning; saving the trouble of removing the Oven and Pipes from the Stove every time that it gets cloged with soot, or taking it to the repair Shop to have a new Lining put in.

The above Cut represents the FIRE KING with the Oven Lining partially drawn out as in the act of cleaning or re-placing a new Lining.

I have this season greatly improved my WATERLOO STAR and NIAGARA Cooking States of them, also fitted them with a basket grate of a new pattern for burning coal, so arranged that they will shake or dump. The will burn any kind of Coal or Wood, white could never be done in the old style, ther being no convenient way provided for cleaning the Oven. I now manufacture 60 Different Patterns of Cooking, Parlor, Office, and Hall Stoves. -also, Farmers' Boilers, Ploughs, Ho low-ware, Stove Pipes and Tinware, DOME PORTABLE HOT AIR FURNACES.

Especially adapted for heating Churches, Dwellings, Schoolhouses and all kinds of Public Buildings. Made from the Latest Improved American Patterns, warranted equally as Good, and Lower in Price. I am manufacturing for this year's Sale, THREE THOUSAND OF MY WELL KNOWN

which have given such entire satisfaction on

Machinery for the manufacture of Stoves, making LARGEST AND BEST STOVE FOUNDRY IN THE LOWER PROVINCES. Therefore my facilities are such that I will not be undersold; and no pains shall be spared to fully maintain the high standard and reputation that my Goods have acquired.

MIRAMICHI FOUNDRY, CHATHAM, N. B.

MANUFACTURER OF Steam Engines & Boilers, GANG AND BOTARY SAW MILLS, GANG EDGERS, SHINGLE MACHINES, AND GENERAL MACHINERY.

SOLE MANUFACTURER OF POND'S WISCONSIN Patent Rotary SAW CARRIAGE.

This invention pronounced the "Ne Plus-ultra" of Saw Mills, is destined to sweep all rivals from the ig less coal, giving more heat, lasting for field. Interlocking hook and lever using less coal, giving more neat, lasting for years without repairs, saving the expense of buying tew Grates, Linings, Tops, Dampera, every few months,—also, quicker to boil and a more reliable baker than any other Coal Stove made.

The Oven is Telescopic, and so arranged that the end with the lining may be drawn. that the end with the lining may be drawn back, and by this means, long sweepside ing logs can be sprung straight, and time the lining may be turned first one side to the fire, then the other until all four sides are burned alike, therefore, it will Last as Long as FOUR LININGS log is sawed, the head blocks are run back by friction ready to receive another log as the carriage is returning. The whole of this work is performed by a man who rides on the carriage. This mill has shown itself in actual competition, capable of rivaling one of the best Gangs in New Brunswick, and cutting ready for edging a log per minute.

The right to Manufacture and Sell this mill in the Dominion of Canada, has been purchased by the subscriber, any further information may be had by communicating with me.
