

Provincial Parliament.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

FREDERICTON April 3.

M'Adam's Bill to suspend the grant of £1,100 to King's College, was now committed; to which Mr. Allan moved as an amendment that the Bill be postponed 3 months.

M'Adam, Smith, Fisher, Tilley, and others strongly opposed the amendment.

The hon. Secretary could see a desire to get the Government into difficulties rather than to improve the College.

Wilmot Gray, Kerr, Steadman, Lawrence, M'Phelin and others supported the amendment.

The Surveyor General approved of the spirit of the amendment but could not vote for it as it would only be keeping the subject unsettled another year.

The Attorney General wished progress reported as he had an amendment in the shape of a Bill, which he would submit as his own next day.

Smith opened the treasure house of his wrath on Fisher in an instant. Told him he was only trying to defeat M'Adam's Bill as he did last year.

Minister Bowlin writes hopefully of satisfactory arranging the difficulties with Paraguay.

M'Adam referred to Parish Schools, and was prepared, if he stood alone, to vote for direct taxation for Schools; he thought each denomination should have their seats of learning under their own control.

Gillmour was determined, he said, to throw the responsibility on the Government; they should have dealt with it before; for his purpose he would support Allan's amendment.

The division was finally taken on the amendment, and decided in the negative—18 to 22.

M'Adam's Bill, Fisher's Bill, and one cut and ready if all else fail by Tilley are forthcoming. Stirring times are anticipated. Very likely the galleries will again be cleared before the House prorogues.

McLellan from Committee respecting Provincial Map reported—Map has cost £1582 already, being £232 more than granted by Legislature; aggregate cost of £2000 copies when completed will be £3,239, Government retaining copyright, plates, &c. Committee recommended its immediate completion.

Gray's Bill providing for compensating families of persons killed by accident was postponed for 3 months.

M'Phelin's Bill to change Constitution of Legislative Committee and discussed, not, however, with much spirit, the feeling evidently being that it was too late in the Session. The Elective principle was generally agreed in. Several members commented severely upon continued absence of so many members of Legislative Council—11 now absent; it was stated one or two sick, but most of them attending to private business.

Progress reported.

C. Perley's resolution for Address respecting Bridge at Woodstock rejected 8 to 12.

First section College Bill passed. To second section Smith moved as amendment a bill similar to that of M'Adam. Amendment lost and section passed 21 to 11. To third section moved amendment that lands, buildings, &c, may be sold and University discussion amendment was negatived 7 to 21. Section then passed, 23 to 14. Progress reported.

Steadman, from Committee to which was referred certain petitions from parties who had sustained railway damage to property, reported generally favorable to petitioners.

House adjourned to 6.30.

April 8.

Bill relating to assessing and collecting rates in St. John agreed to, and several other local bills were disposed of.

At 12 o'clock the discussion of the College Bill was resumed. 4th and 5th sections passed without amendment. To 6th section Mr. Smith moved addition that the person appointed to visitatorial powers in place of Governor as visitor shall be appointed by the Governor in Council, and shall be a layman—agreed to. 7th section passed without amendment. On 8th section, which contains a number of paragraphs, a warm discussion arose which occupied nearly the whole of the afternoon, and which resulted in nothing. Much feeling was evinced, and Mr. Smith moved a postponement for three months; this was negatived—12 to 23.

Progress reported at 5.50.

Supposed that prorogation will be about the first of the week.

Railway Committee expected to get thro' to-morrow.

Committee to which was referred the petition of Hatheway & Small recommend that bond be cancelled, and £54 of duties be returned. House adjourned at 6.

Nicaraguan Affairs.

A despatch from Washington says:—Advices from the commander of the James-town confirm the recent report of events in Nicaragua. Our Government has nothing from an official source later than the 25th of February relative to the treaties, when that of Ouseley, of remembrance, navigation, and transit, had been ratified, with an additional article to the effect that Nicaragua surrendered none of her rights over Mosquito. The Mosquito treaty was at that time pending and the Cass-Yrisari treaty had not been acted on. Our Government will accordingly await further reliable intelligence before it can act decisively.

So far as Great Britain is concerned, if it shall appear that Ouseley has transgressed or violated his instructions, a formal request will be made of England to disavow his acts, if she shall not do so voluntarily. It is thought, however, she will carry out in good faith the understanding between the governments of Great Britain and the United States relative to the settlement of the irritable question growing out of the different interpretations of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

Should Nicaragua ratify the British treaties and reject ours, Minister Lamar will probably be withdrawn, and Gen. Jerez, the Nicaraguan Minister at Washington, be tendered his passports. Such is the position of the question, according to the best available information; but much depends on the character of further official advices from Nicaragua.

Our vessel will, it is said, be concentrated at the most exposed points for the protection of the persons and property of American citizens within their reach. To proceed to the interior of the country will be an act of war, which will not be committed; but there is no doubt, from what has recently transpired, that the President will exert to the utmost extent all the powers conferred upon him by the Constitution and laws.

Minister Bowlin writes hopefully of satisfactory arranging the difficulties with Paraguay.

The Standard

ST. ANDREWS, APRIL 13, 1859.

It has frequently been asked, "what have our Legislators done for the benefit of the Province during the past Session?" and the response has as often been, they have done nothing except filling their pockets from the public chest, running the Province in debt, and receiving their "pay." Now in common fairness such sweeping charges should not be made without giving the subject a careful and dispassionate examination. Much time has not doubt been taken up in bunkum speeches by some of the members who desire to appear well, and to set themselves right before their constituents—as they term it. Still several bills have been passed—a few acts repealed—and considerable information obtained politically and socially. Notwithstanding the efforts of some of the ultra politicians in the House of Assembly we are happy to notice that the principal Institution of learning in the Province,—King's College,—has not been destroyed; the Attorney General's bill has passed—and Mr. Steadman's resolution defeated by a majority of 24 to 9! The Railway Committee, after their protracted sittings, will, it is rumoured, bring in a Report—no doubt of it; but will the Report contain the information sought for; we do not believe it will.

The Court of Common Pleas and General Sessions of the Peace, was opened here on Tuesday. His Worship Justice Hatheway, presiding. There were no cases entered for trial. The Grand Jury are examining the County Accounts and other matters connected with the County.

We beg leave to direct the attention of the Street Commissioner, to the unsafe and dilapidated state of the bridges at a number of the crossings.

On Wednesday last, the Rev. W. Q. KETCHUM, A. M., was inducted Rector of this Parish.

HORRIBLE MURDERS.—We are informed that a man named Potter, at the village of Lac, about 50 or 60 miles from Calais, murdered his mother, two brothers and a nephew, last week, and burned their house in order to cover his diabolical conduct. He was traced to within a short distance of St. Stephen, arrested and we understand taken to Bangor for trial.

ANOTHER NEW GUN.—A gentleman of the name of Warry, of the Royal Engineers, has invented a gun which throws that of Sir William Armstrong's into the shade. The new gun like its rival, is a breech-loader and rifle, and as it is supplied with ammunition it will continue to pour forth a torrent of shot, shell, or case, at the rate of one discharge every three seconds or 1200 rounds per hour. In precision it equals any gun that has yet been tried, and it has this great advantage over Sir William Armstrong's that whereas his, being made of wrought iron, is necessarily very expensive, Warry's invention can be applied to all our existing ordnance of whatever calibre, and at a comparatively trifling cost—a very important fact, considering that there are some 15,000 guns in the British navy. The Warry gun was tried on Monday at Chatham with the terrific missile Dromahair, which vessel was waterlogged at sea. Capt. C. reports Jan. 9th, lat. 54 40, long. 18, fell in with British barque Dromahair, from Quebec for St.igo, waterlogged and took off the survivors of the crew, seven in number, the other five having perished through starvation, having been 21 days on the wreck with only half a biscuit a day and what water they caught when it rained.

Shipwreck and Loss of Life.

The ship Centurion, Captain Caulkins, from Glasgow, Jan. 3d, arrived at New York on Wednesday morning last. She had on board two of the crew of the British barque Dromahair, which vessel was waterlogged at sea. Capt. C. reports Jan. 9th, lat. 54 40, long. 18, fell in with British barque Dromahair, from Quebec for St.igo, waterlogged and took off the survivors of the crew, seven in number, the other five having perished through starvation, having been 21 days on the wreck with only half a biscuit a day and what water they caught when it rained.

The barque Tanaro, Capt. Plumley, arrived at Quarantine yesterday morning, and reports Feb. 11th, lat 35 08, long. 40 41, fell in with French ship Bengal, of Bordeaux, Captain Hignou, from Martinique for Bordeaux, waterlogged, took from her the capt. and crew, 11 in all, and brought them to this port. Capt. M. reported that on the 21 February took a gale from S.W. which swept the decks, carrying away, galley, lost the cook, and sprang a leak.

The Dromahair was from Quebec bound to St.igo in Ireland, with a cargo of timber. Had experienced a succession of heavy West and North-west gales, until December 26th, while lying to in a tremendous gale, was boarded by a sea which swept the decks of everything—houses, bulwarks, falls, stanchions, wheel, with the main, and sprung a leak, kept pumps going and got her free, but the gale continuing, she became perfectly unmanageable, every sail set having been blown from the yards; was in this situation for 21 days, subsisting for 14 days on half a biscuit per day, and what water they could catch running down the masts, the other 7 days they lived on small strips of salt pork only. During these 21 days three of the crew died of exhaustion and two others died after being seen by Captain Caulkins of the Centurion. Those surviving were Captain Hutchinson, Mr. Elliot, chief officer, the second mate, steward, and three seamen, all of whom except Mr. Elliot and one seaman were transferred Feb. 21, to the ship Magellan from Boston for Swansea, having perfectly recovered their health and strength, and having been on board the C. 45 days.

When Captain Caulkins of the ship Centurion hoisted his ship, to under the lee of the ship Dromahair it was blowing a gale, but notwithstanding, he lowered his boats and went to the disabled ship. On arriving, a scene was before them such as is seldom presented to man,—the dead and dying were there intermingled. They were carefully lowered into the boats of the Centurion, and when on board that ship every care and attention which one sailor could give, and which were rendered. Mrs. Caulkins, fortunately accompanied her husband this voyage, and the rescued speak in terms of the highest praise of her gentle and unceasing exertions for their benefit. The Centurion lies at the foot of Wall street.

Two seamen rescued from the Dromahair, and who were brought to this port, state that the ship sailed from Quebec on the 20th of November, with a crew of thirteen men, and no passengers, laden with timber.

On Saturday, Dec. 18th, about moon, a very heavy northwest gale sprung up, which occasioned some of the boats to give, and at 1 o'clock the ship was hoisted. About seven in the evening shipped a tremendous sea, which capsized the long-boat, and were obliged to break it to pieces to save a small boat inside it from destruction. The ship then sprung a leak, and all hands were put at the pumps, where they continued to labor until about 5 o'clock Sunday morning, the sea running higher and the leak increasing. At that time they shipped another tremendous wave, which swept the deck of everything movable, carried away the bulwarks and stanchions, split the covering board, took away the cockpit house, stove the companion way, and swept away the wheel, together with the man at the helm, named George Macintosh, who was not again seen.

The little boat hanging at the starboard davits was also swept away, with a large portion of the standing and running rigging. All the sails were at this time blown from the yards. At the time the wave struck all the men were at the pumps. They jumped for their lives, and when the water cleared off, they found themselves jammed into corners about the deck. One man found himself high up in the rigging. The wave swept as high as the main-top. The water ran in to the cabin, stove the bulk-heads, and flowed into the bread-room destroying all the bread in it. They had only one barrel of bread left after this calamity, which happened to be stowed away in a spare locker.

From this time the weather began to moderate, and the men worked at the pumps as much as they could dodging into the cabin to prevent being washed away by the heavy seas.

About 8 o'clock on Sunday night, the pump gave out and they were not able to get it in operation again until 1 o'clock Monday morning, at which time there were thirteen feet-water in the hold. Pumping was then resumed, and by Monday noon, all the water was worked out. They cleared the wreck, and attempted to get on canvas which occupied them until 8 o'clock Monday night, when another furious gale arose. The sea rushed over the ship fore and aft, and the men were compelled to abandon the pumps. The storm continued all night; and Tuesday morning water had risen above the cabin floor, and the sufferers were compelled to abandon it and take their chances in a small house on deck which had been so built in that it had not been washed away.

The ship was now completely waterlogged and nothing more could be done. There were thirty or forty pounds of bread, but no water. The house on deck stood well until the bulk-heads of the cabin were washed away. After that the men were liable to be deluged at every lurch of the vessel.

About the 1st of January, John McInnis died of hunger and exposure. The same night Harry Frost became deranged, and went over the side, hanging only by his hands. Some of the men tried to pull him in, but he was soon washed away.

Next day James McGrail was washed into the cabin and drowned, Samuel Coffren and John Murray, a boy, died on the 9th just as the ship Centurion bore down to take off the survivors.

John Hutchinson the captain, John Elliott and Hector McNaughten, were alone unable to stand when rescued. The names of the others saved are:—Hector Munroe, William Henderson, James Henderson and Dagal Campbell.

All but Elliott and McNaughten were placed on the Magellan, bound for Wales.

Winter in the Fraser River Country. A correspondent of the San Francisco Alta California, writing from Fraser River under date of the 2d of February, says:—

Journeing downwards from the southern confines of the Canoe country, and passing several camps, containing in all about fifty persons, a few only of whom were attempting to work. I arrived at the terminus of the Lillooet trail, below which a greater portion of the population were employed, though working under conditions and with results very like those above. From two to eight dollars per day seemed to be what they were making—four would, perhaps be a high average. At most of the bars along the district passed over extensive claims have been taken up by companies who, having barely time to construct ditches, sluices, &c. before the cold weather sets in, were now only waiting relaxation to begin operations. Several of these parties had already worked their sluices some days, and in a few cases weeks, before the winter came on, making ten dollars per day to the hand. A French and Italian company, located two miles below the Fountain, had done even better, having cleared, as they assured me, fully an ounce a day to the man every day they had worked, which amounted to more than two months. They have sufficient dirt, equally good, to last them for years—their claim consisting of a high flat, five or six acres in extent, formed by debris from the mountain. Like preparations, consisting of ditches for conducting off wheels for raising water, have been made at the most of the important bars along the river, and at all of which active operations will, in a few weeks, be going on, with results, if not so flattering as the foregoing, at least satisfactory to the proprietors.

Two Steamboats sunk by a Collision! Forty-three Passengers Lost! Loss of Property $300,000. Cincinnati, March 28th.—The steamer St. Holmes, bound from Pittsburg to Saint Louis, with one hundred and fifty passengers, mostly emigrants to Pike's Peak, and tied with the steamer David Gibson, bound from New Orleans to Cincinnati, with a cargo of sugar and molasses, opposite Aurora, Indiana, last night. Both boats sank, and the cabins floated off. Fifteen or twenty persons are supposed to have been lost on the St. Holmes, and indeed one account says that only one hundred of her passengers were saved.

The David Gibson had but a few passengers, who are all supposed to have been saved but two or three of the crew are missing. She was owned here, and valued at $18,000, and insured for two thirds of that amount. The St. Holmes was owned in Pittsburg, and valued at $10,000.

No lives were lost in the David Gibson. The St. Holmes had eighty-six passengers, forty-three of whom were lost. The survivors lost nearly all their clothing and $15,000 in money. The total loss on both boats and their cargoes is about $300,000, and the insurance $175,000.

A rather singular scene was presented to the observation of the residents of a part of Jarvis Street a short time before noon yesterday. A respectably dressed woman was observed walking on that aristocratic thoroughfare at the time mentioned, and was seen suddenly to pounce upon and grasp the neck of a gentleman whom she had apparently put herself in the way of meeting. Preserving a tight clutch of his necktie with one hand, with the other she planted rapidly and violently a number of blows on the face of the gentleman, evidently to his great discomfort and injury. Not satisfied with the punishment inflicted by her clinched hand, she also applied her foot, and caused an ugly-visaged dog that accompanied her to exercise its biting powers on the legs of the unfortunate masculine. Of course the affair attracted the attention of persons in the vicinity, and soon quite a crowd was collected. The woman having pummeled the countenance of her antagonist until she was almost breathless with the exertion, suffered him to release himself, and the manner in which he forthwith made the ground fly under his heels was somewhat astonishing to behold. Various were the surmises as to the cause of the unfeeling attack, and fruitless the efforts to fathom the mystery. It subsequently leaked out, however, that the woman, who is the wife of a proprietor of a fashionable saloon, had demanded the liquidation of a debt contracted by the gentleman. This he had refused to do, and she thereupon took the method above described of obtaining satisfaction.—Toronto Colonist, 29th ult.

The Projected Invasion of England by Napoleon, in 1804.

The following extracts from 'Thiers' History of the Consulate and Empire' will inform us that the British Government were not deceived in regard to the information which was conveyed to them from France, as well in 1803, as also in the two following years: 'Napoleon had resolved very speedily to execute his grand enterprise. He wished to cross the Straights in the month of July or August, 1804; and if the incredulous, who have questioned the reality of this project, could read his private correspondence with the ministers of marine the infinite number of his orders, the secret communication of his hopes to the Arch-Chancellor Cambaceres, they would no longer entertain any doubts as to the reality of that extraordinary resolution.—Napoleon received at Boulogne the melancholy intelligence of the death of Latouche Treville, commander of the Toulon fleet, at the moment when prepared to embark, August, 1804. With reference to the next year, the same publication proceeds to inform us, that 'Napoleon arrived at Boulogne on the 3d of August 1804; on the very morning of his arrival, he had all his infantry mustered on the shore at low-water mark. These occupied above three leagues, and presented the enormous mass of one hundred thousand infantry drawn up in a single line.'

In the evening he wrote these significant words to Admiral Decres: 'The English know not what awaits them. If we have the power of crossing for but twelve hours, England is no more.' It is at the time when no panic exists that calm reflections on antecedent periods of history may be formed with the best effect; and when we view fortresses once impregnable, now from the progress of art, untenable for a single hour, it well becomes those who are infatuated with destitute of an empire, to consider whether the provisions for national defence have kept pace with the exigencies which arise.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

The steamship Canada, Capt. Lang, which sailed from Liverpool on the 29th ult., arrived at Halifax at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Canada experienced very heavy weather during the passage. Reports 31st lat. 49, long. 27, passed steamship Lebanon, bound West, 2d lat. 46, long. 38, passed American ship Hibernia, bound West. The City of Baltimore arrived at Liverpool at 4 a. m., 24th. The Prince Albert at Galway on the 23d, was considerably damaged by ice off Newfoundland, which prevented her calling at St. Johns.

The City of Manchester is advertised as the pioneer of a new Irish line, which leaves Belfast on the 6th, and Queenstown on the 8th of April. The steamer Lebanon was to leave Liverpool for New York simultaneously with the Canada.

The Prussian Congress.—A despatch from Vienna states that Austria on the 23d agreed to the proposed Congress, and that it would probably meet at Aix-la-Chapelle. All the other powers had previously given their consent.

A Paris letter in the Nord states that the Sardinian cabinet has addressed a communication to the five Great Powers, strongly insisting on being allowed to take part in the deliberations on the affairs of Italy, and the Paris correspondent of the London Post says that in consequence of the representations by Cavour, the French Government consents that Piedmont and the other Italian states shall be represented at the Conference.

It is stated that Austria consented to the Congress, under certain conditions, but they are not of much importance. It is supposed that she would as a matter of course insist on the strict maintenance of the Treaties of 1815, but that she will hardly object to a revision of other special Treaties with the Italian States.

The French journals assume that Lord Cowley's mission to Vienna has had nothing to do with the Congress, and credit Russia with the proposition.

The London Star believes Lord Malmebury has been appointed to represent England in the Congress.

Prince Napoleon personally insisted upon the admission of Piedmont to the Congress, and represented to the Emperor that in the event of Piedmont's not being admitted, Cavour intends to resign. The Prince previously announced to the Piedmontese Government that he would demand admission into Congress, but in that event admission could not be refused to Tuscany, the Papal Government, and the Duchy of Parma; Naples and Modena being naturally excluded. ed. McAdam, Brown, Smith and Connell spoke in favor of the Bill. Tilley, Gray, Fisher and McClellan against it. Progress reported, and House adjourned at 5:50.

Progress was made in McPhelin's Bill to combine the offices of Chief Commissioner of Board of Works and Chairman of Railway Commissioners.

McPhelin's Bill relating to qualification of Judges was postponed for three months.

A resolution moved by Mr. Kerr, for an Address for the appointment of a Commissioner to prepare an Insolvent Law, prior to next Session, passed by the casting vote of the Speaker—division 17 to 17.

College bill committed. Attorney General moved an amendment to substitute for McAdam's bill a bill similar to that moved by Mr. Tilley last winter. Smith, Gilmor, Connell, McAdam, Spenser and Botsford spoke in favor of the bill. Gray, Waters, and Fisher spoke for the amendment.

On question to substitute amendment—Yeas—Tilley, Fisher, Waters, Kerr, Road, Gray, Wallison, End, McClellan, Lawrence, Allen, McPhelin, W. E. Perley, Montgomery, DesBrisay, McIntosh, Seville, Wilmet, Vail, Chandler, Gilbert—22.

Nays—Spenser, Brown, Connell, Smith, Lawrence, McMillan, Mitchell, Steadman, Botsford, McAdam, Ferris, Hamilton, McLeod, Gilmor, Wright, Cullip, C. Perley, Tibbitts—18.

200 copies of Fisher's bill were ordered to be printed. Progress reported. Smith gave notice that he would fight the bill section by section.

House adjourned at 6:10.

An Address to Her Majesty relating to the Navigation Laws was submitted by Mr. Mitchell, from the Committee, and adopted unanimously.

The bill to amend the Law relating to interest and usury was agreed to, with an amendment exempting Banks.

Read called the attention of the House to a Communication in the "Freeman," signed "Spectator," which he characterized in strong language as false. He said that since the present Postmaster General came in, the postal arrangements were much more satisfactory than before, and the present Government had done Gloucester more justice than any former Government. End said in 73 lines of the Communication there were 9 lies. He said infernal lies.

McAdam gave notice of a resolution calling upon the Executive to withhold the warrant for the £1100 to the College.

Tibbitts' resolution for a delegation to Canada relating to railroads, and Mitchell's amendment, were both negatived. The bill to incorporate the Asphaltum Mining Co. agreed to, with amendments.

House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

Speculative Philosophy.

If all mankind could wink at the same moment, the muscular effort exerted would be sufficient to jostle the earth out of its orbit.

If all the oaths uttered in the United States were required to be printed, it would employ all the presses in the country; day and night to perform the labor; and if a tax was levied on them of one cent each, one year's revenue would be sufficient to transport all the mails, lay a double track railroad to the Pacific, and pay the public debt of every State in the Union.

The cigars consumed throughout the country in one year, would make a worm fence six feet high around the District of Columbia; and the air expelled in smoking them would drive the Japan squadron around the world, with enough over to do the windwork of all the patent medicines.

If all the ejected tobacco quids were from this time to be dropped on the dome of the Capitol at Washington, the hall of Egypt would be no comparison to the pelting storm and the edifice would be buried deeper than Nineveh, before the next meeting of Congress.

No DOUBT OF IT.—There is an Eastern story of a person who taught his parrot to repeat only these words: "What doubt is there of that?" He carried it to the market for sale, fixing its price at one hundred rupees. A Mogul asked the parrot: "Are you worth one hundred rupees?" "What doubt is there of that?" The Mogul was delighted, and bought the bird. He soon found out that this was all it could say. Ashamed now of his bargain, he said to himself: "It was a fool to buy this bird."

The parrot exclaimed, as usual: "What doubt is there of that?"

A certain Irish attorney threatened to prosecute a Dublin printer for inserting the death of a living person. The menace concluded with the remark that no printer should publish a death unless informed of the fact by the party deceased.

On a tombstone in the West is the common inscription: "Prepare to follow me," under a wag has written: "To follow you I'll not consent, Until I know which way you went."

Though good actions diminish our time here, yet they lay up for us a happiness in eternity, and will recompense for what they take away by a plentiful return at last.

SHERIFF'S SALES.

to take place at the Court House.

Real estate. M. R. Fisher, June 18. Do. Pa. H. Hewes, August 27.

TO BE SOLD at Public Auction at the Court House in the Town of Saint Andrews on Saturday, the 18th day of June, at 12 o'clock noon—

1. A certain tract of land, parcel of land in the Parish of Saint George below the First Falls of the Magdalen River by the western side of the said river called the Gully Factory, beginning at the centre of the said gully by the said Falls near the head of the indentation running through said gully a ways keeping the centre of the main course of a yellow birch tree on the land of the said gully and the true bearing nearly N. 81° E. 1/2° (82°) degrees West from the centre of the entrance of the said gully a distance West from said tree or stone to a stake and stone about twenty five (25) feet above the flowage of the first dam; thence Easterly along the course of the bank of the gully down a beam past the land in the occupation of the heirs of the late Joseph Milnes to the lower side of the road that leads from the lower bridge to the mouth of the Magdalen River; thence along the lower side of said road to a stake and stone about one hundred and four feet from the Milliken House; thence Southerly within five feet of the Cannon Hole to a street line so as to clear the Cannon Stone to the water; thence along the shore and over the rocky point following the course of River up stream to the place of beginning—with a road two rods wide from the shore near the birch stump along the side of land recently owned by one Stoen, to the cross road in front of land owned by Thomas Cusack. Also the right of way from the road which leads to the mouth of the said river to the street laid out in front of the premises of the heirs of the late Joseph Milnes, and extending up the hill and over to the base of the saw-gully; thence along the said bank to the road first mentioned from the birch stump to the cross road. With all and singular the mills, privileges, watercourses, dams, piers, booms, sluices, houses, stores, wharfs, with all the appurtenances to the said lands and premises in any way belonging—and excepting thereout the premises sold by William W. Fletcher to Daniel Gilmor and Isaac W. Bradbury.

ALSO—all that certain tract of land situated and being in the Parish of Saint Patrick, bounded and described as follows:—Beginning on the Easterly shore of the Digdigash River at the mouth of Outer Crook; thence East sixty-six chains to the South-West corner of a lot granted to John Leckery, thence at right angles North two hundred and forty chains to the Southerly line of the Digdigash grant; thence at right angles West by the said grant about one hundred chains to lands granted to the late John Campbell; thence Southerly at right angles by the East line of the said grant to Catherine Campbell to the Cannock Brook at the shore; thence following the different courses of the shore round by the Mills to Outer Crook; the place of beginning—containing by estimation two thousand acres more or less. The same having been granted to one Captain Thomas Farrell, and by him conveyed to one John Curry, and by the said John Curry sold and conveyed to James McMaster and Patrick McMaster, in their life time together with all the mills, buildings, erections, and improvements thereon, with every privilege and appurtenance thereof belonging—and save and except thereout so much thereof as was sold and conveyed to Thomas Anderson, and which contains about two acres. The same having been seized and taken by virtue of an execution issued out of the Supreme Court at the suit of William Sweeney and Simon Page against Moore R. Fletcher, endorsed to levy £430 6s. 2d. besides Sheriff's fees, &c.

May 26, 1857. J. W. STREET.

The Great Panacea for Nervousness, Relaxation and Exhaustion.

DR. DE ROOS' GUTTEE VITÆ, or LIFE-DIGEST, is the great remedy for Spina-torches, Excession, Nephritis, Debility, Aversion to and Incapacity for Society, or Business, Shaking of the Hands and Limbs, Indigestion, Flatulence, Shortness of Breath, Asthma, Consumptive Habits, Dimness of Sight, Headaches, Pains in the Head, Eruptions, Sore Throat, Pains in the Arms, and all those diseases for which mercury, strychnia, &c. are so often employed, to the utter destruction of health. Their almost marvellous powers must be felt to be believed. Hundreds of apparently hopeless cases have been cured, and thousands almost miraculously relieved, when every thing else had failed—and they must sooner or later supersede all these questionable remedies which have hitherto been the sole reliance of English medical men.

Price 11s., and four times the quantity at 23s. per bottle. Of the Agents below. The £5 packages containing twelve 11s. quantities, (by which £11s. are saved,) will be sent from the Establishment only, on receipt of the amount per draft on a London house or otherwise.

CAUTION—Sufferers must guard against the recommendation of spurious or other medicines by unprincipled vendors, who thereby obtain a larger profit. The words WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON, are printed in White Letters on the Stamp affixed to the above, by order of HER MAJESTY'S HONOURABLE COMMISSIONERS, to protect the public against fraud, as without this notice can be genuine, and to imitate which is a felony.

Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Gout, Disease of the Kidneys and Bladder, Stricture, &c.

DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL REMEDY for the above dangerous complaints, Discharges, and Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs generally. Possessing tonic properties, they agree with the most delicate stomach, improve the health, and in three days effect a cure when opium, cubeba, and all such dangerous medicines have utterly failed.

Agents below, or post free on receipt of the amount by Dr. DE ROOS, 10, Berners Street, Oxford-st., London.

The superiority of these celebrated Pills over every thing of the kind is universally acknowledged, and the extraordinary demand for them without precedent.

Many there are, who, from natural diffidence, or fear of discovery, would silently bear their afflictions rather than apply to those for whom they may reasonably expect relief. With the above Pills the sufferer may without the knowledge of a second person, cure himself speedily, privately, and at the least possible expense.

By WALTER DE ROOS, M. D., of the Ecole de Medecine, Paris; Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London; and Lecturer in Midwifery, &c. &c. 18, Berners-street, Oxford-street, London. Digits on Misual consultation daily from 11 till 4, 2s. per session excepted.

WALTER DE ROOS, 10, Berners-street, Oxford-street, London, writes to all the Agents.

From long practical observation of the treatment pursued in the various Institutions of London and Paris for those diseases referred to in the above work, the Author has had somewhat of success in requiring that accuracy of diagnosis, and uniform success, which have characterized his practice for so many years in this country, in which the lamentable neglect of these diseases by medical men generally, and their futile attempts to cure by mercury, copaihu, castoreum, &c. have produced most distressing results. Lending benefit to such cases can only be effectually expected at the hands of the highly qualified medical man, who devotes his chief attention to their removal; and to him only who can show his possession of the necessary qualifications, can confidence be safely extended. Dr. De R. refers with pride to the numbers he has been instrumental in restoring to health and happiness; and to those who are in need of such aid, he offers every assurance of speedy restoration.

PERSONS RESIDING ABROAD can be successfully treated, correspondence, on sending a full detail of their case, with a Bank note or Bill on a London house for £5, in order to have a packet of medicines sufficient to meet the exigencies of the case, sent out by next mail; thus avoiding unnecessary loss of valuable time, and such suffering which might otherwise occur.

THE DEAD

By H. ALFORD.

The dead alone are great While heaven plants abide On the soil of dewless death But when they die, a mourning Comes down and makes their n With odors sweet though!

The dead alone are fair! Before our eyes, and chase away God's light; but let them pale And swell the stores of memory There is no envy there.

The dead alone are dear While they are here, long had From their own forms, and dar! But when they leave us, all the Is round our own sad footsteps And they are bright and

The dead alone are blest While they are here, clouds mar And bitter snow-falls nip their But when the tempest-time is d The light and heat of Heaven's Broods on their land of

THE JEV

A Tale from the Ro

I was a Vienna at four years trying several tables of fate, I self at a hotel in the Jaudenstedt by a select society. Mr. D of this establishment, did its thorough German gravity, extreme and conscientious elated throughout the house.

In the conversation at this there prevailed a tone of good excluded neither save nor pi caustic or indelicate expressions were particularly noticeable to me. The count Muller in which dignity was benevolent, was the baron the young men regulated the influence of Rhine wine or lead them a little too far. He assumed an air of reserve; by she audaciously broke off the conversation into another glance glanced gravely at her daughter out affection or posting, fixed on her plate until the meal.

Ellen Muller was the type of full German faces which I felt because they know not how to she was a happy mixture of a Hanoverian character. A p brown, eyes of inexpressible beauty, complexion, whose rich and silver curls admirably with the serenity of her features and flexible form just expanded hood;—such was Ellen Muller, a councillor of the Court, von Neth, who had resigned the consequence of an injustice to him, several students, whose commended them to the vi Muller, and a few merchants, majority of the habitual guest was frequently increased by artists, men, and artists. After dinner politics, or literature, were of conversation in which Mr. D of extensive acquisitions sense, took part, with a cho sions and an elevation of view have astonished me in a man in any country but Germany.

Sometimes Ellen would sit piano, and sing some of the beautiful melodies in which the gravity, and the piety of a national character seem to mingle veration ceased, every counte profound attention; and as if he were assisting at a re translated the accents of that unage according to his sympathies, and the habitual di ideas.

I was not long in perceiv von Neth and a young student were particularly sensible to and merit. In the baron, man there was a mixture of di ness which betrayed an a struggle between pride and a strong passion. It is betw thirty and forty that the pass empire over us. At that pe character is completely form
