ALL HANDS LOST!

The Entire Crew of a Propeller Drowned.

Including the Stewardess, from Aymer, Ont.—Names of the Victims.

TOLDO, Ohio, Oct. 16.—The crew of the propeller Dean Richmond, which foundered off Dunkirk Saturday, was made up of the following persons, all of whom were lost: G. W. Stoddard, captain; George Boisen, second mate; Samuel Meadows, wheelman; E. Wheeler, lookout; Frank Earnest, lookout; A. D. Secord, cook; James Evans, chief engineer; Jacob Erues, deck hand; William Seinh, deck hand; George M. Schilling, porter, all of Toledo; Walter Goodyear, first mate, Ottawa Lake, Mich.; J. E. Brady, wheelman, residence unknown; Mrs. Retta Ellsworth, stewardess, Aymer, Ont.; Frank Hilton, second engineer, Port Huron; Herman Beathan, fireman, residence unknown; William Sargent, fireman, residence unknown; Frank Patten, deck hand, residence unknown; unknown man, deck hand, shipped at Buffalo.

Capt. Stoddard leaves a wife and family; Boisen a wife; Mrs. Ellsworth is a widow and has children; somewhere in the west; Frank Hilton was the sole support of a mother and sister. The chief engineer, J. H. Hogan, who left the boat before she sailed, is at the World's Fair. He is part owner of the old steamer.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The Dean Richmond was the first of the larger steamers which mark the coming of the present style of marine construction on the lakes. She was 1,257 net tonnage, and was built in Cleveland in 1884, but was rebuilt in 1888. She was owned by Bottsford and others, of Port Huron, and was valued at $45,000. It is believed that she was fully insured. The Richmond for several seasons past has been chartered to the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City line, and ran in the general merchandise trade between Toledo and this port. She carried no passengers on the present trip. Her cargo consisted almost entirely of flour from St. Louis and other southwestern ports.

Agent Hyde said to-day that he supposed the Richmond became disabled in the gale of Saturday and rolled over the side in the trough of the sea. The crew remained on board with the hope that the steamer would ultimately go ashore, but this was not to be realized, and they were forced to make a fight for life without a chance to take to their boats. Had the beach been a sandy one, some of them might have survived, but there was little hope for any survivors on the rocky shore at Dunkirk.

Fourteen Men Drowned in the Neighborhood of Port Burwell—Steamer Wrecked Off Longue Point.

PORT BURWELL, Oct. 16.—The heaviest gale of the season was experienced here Friday night and Saturday last. A steam barge, the Woodcock, of Cleveland, Ohio, sank about fifteen miles east of here Saturday evening. Fourteen of her crew took to the boat, but she capsized and all perished. The remainder, three in number, were taken from the rigging yesterday afternoon. The fishing interest here and along this shore was very much damaged.

PORT DOVER, Oct. 16.—The steamer Whitaker went ashore at Longue Point Saturday evening during the gale. The crew are safe here after having rowed eighteen miles.

Those taken from the rigging by the life boat are Jas. P. Saph, J. A. Rice, of Cleveland, and Robert Crowding, of Delaware.

Louis Guthrie, of Chicago, and Seaman James Cousins had been on board. The bodies of the two men were found floating in the water. They had been badly injured by the flying wreckage.

ONLY ONE SURVIVOR. DUNKIRK, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Only one man escaped from the lost Dean Richmond, and he was found on the beach near Van Buren Point to-day. His haggard face and sunken eyes told a story of terrible suffering. He was aimlessly wandering up and down the beach and when spoken to burst into tears, and said he was looking for his dog. He was questioned and said he had been washed off the Richmond, and was unquestionably the only man saved. He said his name was C. L. Clarke and he shipped in Toledo just before the Richmond sailed. "There were nineteen in the Richmond crew," he said, "besides Capt. Stoddard, his wife and three children. We left Toledo at 6 o'clock Friday night and sailed along all right until we got into the gale on Saturday. The waves ran over our decks and everything movable was swept overboard. The captain's wife and children were locked up in the cabin for safety, and the crew was working for their lives on deck. An hour later we had lost a mast and smokestack. Then we continued to drift along at the mercy of the wind and waves. About 7 o'clock in the evening the wheel house was washed away. The rudder and wheel were broken and we were badly crippled. The captain had made up his mind to run for the shore fifteen miles away from here, but he was made fair headway with a hard fight, and I began to get things ready to get out in the yawl boat with the captain's wife and children. I went back to see the captain and just then he reached him. He was struck and I was carried overboard. I kept sight of the Richmond's lights for some time and saw her drifting down the lake turning and twisting in the wind and waves. I lost consciousness and did not know anything until I found myself lying on the beach near Silver Creek."

Thousands of Temperance Women at the Fair.

Second Biennial Conference of the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union—Miss Willard Early Missed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—"For God and Home and Every Land," was the password of the thousands of women that as early as 8 o'clock this morning commenced to climb the steps of the art palace and to enter the portals of the hall of Columbus. It was the second biennial convention of the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union, and the women it had brought together represented not only this continent, but many others.

A general sadness pervaded the assembly while it was getting, however, owing to the absence of the world's president, Frances E. Willard, who for some time past has been at an English health resort and was absolutely forbidden by her physicians to cross the water for the memorable event of the present week.

Lady Henry Somerset, who had journeyed especially from England in her capacity of vice-president at large of the organization, to represent Miss Willard, called the opening session to order. A brief period was occupied in devotional exercises. The audience then rose and joined in singing a hymn, "Christ, for the World We Sing," after which welcome was extended by Judge C. C. Bonney for the World's Congress Auxiliary; Senator T. H. Palmer for the Columbian Exposition; Mrs. Chas. Hendon for the women's branch of the auxiliary, and Rev. Joseph E. Strong, N.D., in behalf of the Evangelical Alliance. Five-minute responses to the welcome were in order after the gathering had joined in the chorus of the temperance hymn, "Some Good Day." Mrs. Ella Williams spoke for Canada.

Among prominent workers present were the venerable mother of Lew Wallace; Mary H. Hunt, of Massachusetts; Mary A. Woodbridge, of Ohio; Mary T. Lathrop, of Michigan; Emily Stitzereva, of San Francisco; Miss Julia Coleman, of New York; Mrs. (Judge) Merrick, of Delaware; Mrs. Frances K. Barnes, of New York; Miss Lucy Anthony, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Ole Bull, the famous mother of Ole Bull, of Litchfield, Ohio; Dr. Kate Bushnell and Jessie Ackerman, the all-around-the-world missionaries.

Mrs. Alice Gordon Gullik, president of the Women's League of Spain, was there; also Mrs. Shaffer, of China, a young Englishwoman, who has for several years devoted her time to the spread of the work in the Celestial Empire; Mrs. Mary Love, of Australia; Mrs. Judge Steadman and Mrs. Judge Foster, respectively president and vice-president of the union in the Dominion; Mrs. Wallace W. Turnbull, New Brunswick; Maz Pro Tap Mazoomdar, represented India; Ivo Nevato and Sen Tauda were there in behalf of Japan; his delegates from France, England and Germany.

Terrible Experience of Two Youths With an Old Rifle.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 16.—To-day a young son of Donkin Buchanan, of Kings county, discharged an old rifle that kicked so badly that it dislocated his shoulder.

An older son then said he could fire it off without kicking, and as he was driving a cartridge home it exploded. The bullet went into the ground, but the cap of the cartridge penetrated the young fellow's neck, inflicting a wound from which he bled to death in a few minutes. Deceased was 19 years of age.

WOMEN WORKERS.

Annual Meeting of the Middlesex W. C. T. U.

An Enthusiastic Indorsement of Prohibition—Will Work for the Prohibition—Election of Officers—Stirring Addresses.

The county convention of the W. C. T. U. in Middlesex was held Friday in the commodious Baptist Church at Mount Brydges, about 30 delegates from London being present. Six unions were represented: Mrs. Dunlop, of Napier, the president, was in the chair. The morning session opened with devotional exercises, after which reports were read showing all departments to be in a flourishing condition. After a few words by Mrs. Thornley, London, and prayer by Mrs. Carrothers, Strathroy, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Dunlop, Napier; vice president, Mrs. Winters, Napier; corresponding secretary, Miss Gordon, Strathroy; recording secretary, Miss Thomas, Glenora; treasurer, Mrs. Darch, London.

Mrs. Thornley led in the noonday prayer and the convention adjourned to meet at 8 p.m. The executive met at 1 p.m., and the following superintendents of departments were appointed: Scientific temperance in schools, Miss Greely, Strathroy; narcotics, Mrs. Childs, London; literature, Mrs. Carrothers, Napier; evangelistic, Mrs. Winters, Napier; literature, Mrs. D. H. Williams, London; fair work, Mrs. W. J. Saunby, London; temperance in Sabbath school, Mrs. Anderson, Strathroy; juvenile work, Miss Thomas, Glenora; flower mission, Miss Arnold, Parkhill, untermitted wine, Mrs. Harrison, Melbourne; Woman's Journal, Mrs. Higgins, London; press, Mrs. Bryden, Burwell road.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Praise service, led by Mrs. Harrison Melbourne, and Mrs. McGladay, Parkhill, opened the afternoon session. The following reports of superintendents of departments were read and adopted: Narcotics, literature, franchise, Women's Journal, juvenile work, press, fair work, evangelistic and scientific temperance.

Mrs. Jones, London, read the report of the resolution committee, which was adopted as a whole. The plan of work report was presented by Mrs. Thornley, Napier, and also adopted.

An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Sutherland, Mount Brydges, and the response by Mrs. Humphries, Parkhill, was read by Miss Gordon, Strathroy.

Mrs. Wm. Henderson, London, gave a recitation, after which Mrs. Carson read a paper on "The Duties of a Corresponding Secretary."

Mrs. Williams gave a paper on "Literature and its Distribution," which was well received; the committee requested that it should be printed.

Mrs. Thornley took charge of the question box and answered the questions in an able manner.

Rev. McKay (Woodstock), Wilson (Napier) and Jackson and Anderson (Mount Brydges) were introduced to the convention, and each spoke a few earnest, encouraging words.

After votes of thanks to the ladies of Mount Brydges for their hospitality, and to the pastor and trustees of the Baptist Church and the committee on decoration, Rev. Mr. Jackson offered prayer, and the convention closed.

EXERCISING SESSION.

The town hall was well filled in the evening, notwithstanding the heavy rain-fall. The chair was occupied by Rev. Mr. Vert, Delaware. Rev. Mr. Anderson led in prayer. In his opening remarks the chairman spoke of the idea some people have that the revenue obtained from the liquor traffic is of benefit to the country. He showed that more than the revenue derived from this source had to be expended in keeping up hospitals, insane asylums, poor houses, jails and penitentiaries to accommodate the victims of strong drink.

Dr. McKay afterwards illustrated this point by a story of a wealthy but peevish Scotchman, a bachelor, who on one occasion dropped a shilling down between the lining and woodwork of his carriage. He ordered his coachman to drive to the nearest shop to pick up the shilling, which was done and the shilling restored. Some time after he received a bill: To extracting 1 shilling from carriage, 21.

Dr. McKay, of Woodstock, gave a most earnest and stirring address on our duty in the coming plebiscite. Although engaged for one-quarter of a century in this work, Dr. McKay felt that we have now come to the most important crisis in the history of temperance reform. The consequences of the vote being against prohibition will be disastrous in the extreme, as our mouths will then be closed on this subject for the next few years. But by exerting effort and sacrifice on our part for the next few weeks we shall roll up such an overwhelming majority for prohibition that the Government must recognize the voice of the people. Dr. McKay gave four reasons why we should vote for prohibition as against license: 1. Because license is wrong in principle. It permits, sanctions and protects a traffic which has not one redeeming feature and makes the liquor seller the agent of the voter. There is no greater curse in the land than bar-rooms, and the bar-room is what the law makes it; the law in what the legislature makes it; the legislator is what you make him; therefore, the bar-room is what you make it. 2. License has been a failure in application. The first license law appears upon the statute books of England in 1550. Since then over 400 different license laws have been made, thus showing how ineffective license has been in checking this great and growing evil. The history of our own and other countries shows that the evil is assuming gigantic proportions. It also has tremendous political powers. 3. Prohibition is right. God says to every wrong doing, "Thou shalt not," and the State has a right to protect itself. The State has a law to prohibit a man from selling tainted meat, and if it be right to prevent a man from selling bad meat, why not a law to prevent the sale of bad drink? 4. Prohibition is effective in practice. Dr. McKay read the utterances of the different churches on the question of license. All agreed that there can be no sanction of the liquor traffic without sin, and that the traffic is contrary to the word of God. Cardinal Manning holds that by protecting the liquor traffic we are partners in the crimes caused by it, and Sir Oliver Mowat states that from one-half to three-quarters of the crime in our country is caused by strong drink. The lecturer showed the inconsistency of Mrs. Henderson gave a recitation during the evening, and the choir led in two hymns. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Jackson, and the London delegates reached home by a late train in the midst of a heavy rain storm, which, however, did not dampen their enthusiasm nor lessen their determination to do their share towards helping to bring about the desired result—prohibition.

CANADA'S GREAT CRICKETER.

A Sketch of Rev. F. W. Terry, late of the London Ayr Club—His Cricket Career.

The Toronto Globe of Saturday contains a handsome photograph of Rev. F. W. Terry, the great cricketer whose achievements as a member of the London Ayr team first brought him into prominence on the Canadian scene. A brief sketch of his career is also given as follows:

"Rev. F. W. Terry was born at Frome in Somersetshire, England, in 1861. After passing through the usual course at school he matriculated at Oxford University, becoming an undergraduate of Merton College.

"From his earliest years he evinced a great liking for cricket, and long before he went to school he had imbibed that love for the noble game which he has shown at all times since then. At Oxford, during his first May term, he played in the Freshmen's match and distinguished himself by some good scoring. He never actually played for the University vs. Cambridge as a batsman, but he represented his University in several of the trial matches. He was, however, chosen as twelfth, or spare man during the second summer that he was in residence, and through that was enabled to wear the dark blue colors. He was chosen as a member of the Somersetshire county team shortly after he went up to Oxford and has done much good work for his native shire. He is particularly quick behind the stumps, and a wicket-keeper it would be hard to find a better man—the redoubtable Blackham, perhaps, excepted. He left Oxford in 1886 and was in that year ordained by the Bishop of Chichester.

"He now has a host of admirers, and after two years of laborious work in England his health gave way, and he was advised to give up all clerical work for a time. In 1889 he came out to this country and resided near London, but after spending a couple of years in the western part of the Province he visited Toronto with a cricket team from the Forest City, and attracted local cricketers by a well-made score of 45, not out, against a team of Toronto players.

"The game was played on the old Bloor street cricket ground, and the whole score put together by the London men in this match was 77. Shortly after this visit from this source had to be expended in keeping up hospitals, insane asylums, poor houses, jails and penitentiaries to accommodate the victims of strong drink.

agitation to Secure Better Weights on Shipments of Cheese.

There were comparatively few cheese ordered at the cheese market here on Saturday last, and the attendance of buyers was small. The price of goods seems to be going up as the season is looking for something like 125 cents a pound for September and October cheese.

Whether they will attain their desire or not is hard to say, but the indications are that most of the fall goods will bring considerably over 11 cents.

Quite a little excitement was created among the factorymen when a notice of motion was given by one of the buyers to have a resolution passed that in all transactions between buyers and sellers on the London market one-half pound extra be given above the weight of cheese marked on the box at time of shipment, to take effect at the beginning of 1904. This motion will come up for discussion on Oct. 28, and will no doubt bring forth strong opposition from some of the factorymen. A few of the factorymen look upon it as a scheme on the part of the buyers to secure a little more cheese from them. They seem to come to this conclusion without considering fully the facts of the case and without weighing carefully the arguments on both sides and the effect that such a resolution would have in prejudicing the old country dealers in favor of Western Ontario cheese. The buyers complain that they do not get sufficient weight from many of the factories in the west, which makes it very difficult for them to give the best satisfaction to their customers in the old country, who are becoming somewhat prejudiced against sending their orders here, and prefer to send them where they can get better weights.

All Canadian cheese exported are bought by the British dealer according to the invoice of weights when the cheese are shipped from the factories or local railway points of shipment, and consequently the district or locality which gives the best weight is going to get the preference, providing the quality is as good and other conditions as favorable. In Eastern Ontario all cheese are sold subject to their holding out good up-beam weight in Montreal. In the Eastern States somewhat the same regulation is in force, and all cheese are sold subject to the New York weights, consequently these sections will get and are getting the preference, and the British dealer is sending more of his orders there because he feels that he is getting better satisfaction in weights, and the shrinkage is not so great.

It is not expected that the western factorymen will guarantee weight in Montreal and it would not be fair to demand it, as the distance is so great, but considering the facts that our country districts have made an effort to meet the wishes of the dealers in this matter and that the British dealer is showing a preference to buy his goods in these sections, it does seem reasonable that the factorymen should adopt some means of overcoming this preference and endeavor to retain the present trade and secure more orders for Western Ontario.

The buyers claim that if the salesmen of the factories represented at the London cheese market in Western Ontario will agree to give one-half pound up-beam weight above the weight marked on the box, and have it come in force next year, it will have the wholesome effect of removing any objection that the British dealer may have to sending his orders to Western Ontario, and will make him more favorable towards our western goods if he knows definitely that he is going to get good weight. This claim is not without weight, and so much so that the factorymen as would seem at first sight. Under the present arrangement of full up-beam weight at the point of shipment it often happens that a cheese will go 10 or 15 pounds above the even pound, and this is not as no fraction of a pound is taken. In these cases the extra half pound could be allowed without affecting the weight of the box, while on the other hand a cheese that will just go the even pound would not hold out, and one pound would need to be deducted.

A resolution to the same effect as the one to come before the London market was passed at the Woodstock cheese market last long ago, and this local, if there is any benefit at all to be derived from such a resolution it should be adopted by all the boards in Western Ontario, and it is hoped that the buyers and sellers of cheese will come to something definite in regard to the difficulties connected with the weighing of cheese and adopt such measures as will tend to dispel this one objection that the British dealer has to sending his orders to Western Ontario. If the reputation were once established in Western Ontario of giving good weight at the factories, and the dealer could rely on getting cheese that would hold out weight, no doubt we would be able to get a higher price for our cheese, and what the factorymen would lose in one way they would gain in another.

TRAGEDY NEAR CHATHAM.

A Jealous Man Attempts to Murder His Wife and Ends His Own Life.

CHATHAM, Oct. 16.—In a hut on the Wilson estate, lot 25, con. 2, Harwich township, about two miles from Fergus, a frightful tragedy was enacted yesterday afternoon. Wm. Dodge, an Indian, 30 years of age, attacked his wife with a huge knife, hacked her almost to death and then put a bullet into his own brain. Dodge is supposed to be at the bottom of the frightful crime. The woman was not dead, but her body was horribly gashed in the back, neck and head. Dr. Bray, the coroner, ordered her removed to the hospital.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. L. Kellogg's Dysentery Cereal is with out doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

The English yacht builders must come down to the center-board or keel over when a close race is on. It is noticeable that the man who thinks he is a whole show by himself seldom draws a crowd.

Liberal Tariff Platform.

We, the Liberal party of Canada, in convention assembled declare:

That the customs tariff of the Dominion should be based, not as it now is, upon the protective principle, but upon the requirements of the public service.

That the existing tariff, founded upon an unsound principle and used as it has been by the Government as a corrupting agency, whereby to keep themselves in office, has developed monopolies, trusts and combinations.

It has decreased the value of farm and other landed property;

It has oppressed the masses to the enrichment of the few;

It has checked immigration;

It has caused great loss of population;

It has impeded commerce;

It has discriminated against Great Britain.

In these, and in many other ways, it has occasioned great public and private injury, all of which evils must continue to grow in intensity so long as the present tariff system remains in force.

That the highest interests of Canada demand a removal of this obstacle to our country's progress, by the adoption of a sound fiscal policy, which, while not doing injustice to any class, will promote domestic and foreign trade and hasten the return of prosperity to our people.

That to that end, the tariff should be reduced to the needs of honest, economical and efficient government.

That it should be so adjusted as to make free, or to be as lightly as possible upon the necessities of life and should be so arranged as to promote freer trade with the whole world, more particularly Great Britain and the United States.

We believe that the results of the protective system have grievously disappointed thousands of persons who honestly supported it, and that the country in the light of experience is now prepared to declare for a sound fiscal policy.

The issue between the two political parties on this great question is now clearly defined.

The Government themselves admit the failure of their fiscal policy, and now profess their willingness to make some changes, but they say that such changes must be based only on the principle of protection.

We denounce the principle of protection as radically unsound and unjust to the masses of the people, and we declare our conviction that any tariff changes based on that principle must fail to afford any substantial relief from the burdens under which the country labors.

This issue we unhesitatingly accept, and upon it we await with the fullest confidence the verdict of the electors of Canada.

VERY, VERY LOW.

(Ontario Free Press.)

Meredith's stock appears to be very low just now. A few days ago an attempt was made to nominate a Conservative candidate for the Provincial Assembly in Prince Edward county, but nobody could be induced to stand. On Saturday Messrs. A. E. Campbell, George Marter and A. M. Campbell, followers of Mr. Meredith, went to South Westport, put a man in the field against Mr. Nicholas A. Wray. Mr. Campbell represents East Algonia just now, but does not propose to seek re-election there, and so the Western Conservative nomination had to lead the forlorn hope in their riding. But Mr. Campbell would not accept. The gentlemen who were defeated in 1896 and 1898 also refused to stand, and the convention adjourned without doing anything.

OUR BEST MOVE!

On the Commercial Checker-Board was when we permanently planted "COLWELL'S POPULAR MUSIC HOUSE" in the Union Block, at 189 Dundas Street—only a few doors East of the old place. These handsome premises were secured at great expense and trouble. But the change is so very satisfactory that we are all delighted with it, and feel confident our patrons will appreciate the wonderful improvement.

We now have a larger and better store—nicer location—greater facilities, and decreased expenses. Our stock of Musical Instruments, Strings, Flutes and Music Books is abundant and well selected. Experience and money does it. The Piano parlors are up-stairs—away from street noise and dust. This desirable departure will commend itself to all lovers of music—particularly intending buyers.

As usual, we make a specialty of the GENUINE Heintzman & Co. Pianos, Emerson Pianos, Godrich Organs and White Sewing Machines. The Repairing and Tuning Sections are in full swing, and all work promptly and carefully attended to.

In the various Departments our Prices and Terms are always reasonable, and quality unexcelled. During the next three months special inducements will be offered to each layer. From old and new friends we solicit inspection, correspondence and patronage.

Fairy tales are often told, and as MISTAKES sometimes happen, please make none in our new address, or the right name of the Pianos so successfully handled at C. P. M. H. Telephone, 97 or 87.

British Cables To-Day.

It is in many respects a strange spectacle which is absorbing the attention of Europe—a nation has found a friend, and in the extravagance of its joy is both childlike and resentful. For many years France has been isolated among the peoples of the earth. She has entered into a peculiar attachment which she has at last formed with an abandon altogether her own. The expression of her feelings has been begun with a good taste, gracefulness and refinement which make a wonderful combination of the prodigality of the ancients with the best resources of modern civilization. The festivities at Toulon have been, according to all accounts, ideal in every respect. When Paris herself during the next two weeks bedecked herself in honor of her guests and offers them the finest welcome which the capital of gayety can give them, we shall see in de siècle hospitality in its most enchanting exemplification.

It is the most gorgeous of modern merry-makings that the nations are watching in the Franco-Russian celebration. It is a demonstration made ostensibly under the direct auspices of peace. The question on the lips of all Europe is what are the chances of peace? It may safely be assumed that no indiscreet word or act in the official programme of the next two weeks will contain a hint of menace or war.

An Alleged Plot Discovered.

The French authorities pretend to have discovered a plot, of Italian origin, for inciting a popular anti-German and anti-Italian demonstration during the festivities at Toulon. It is alleged to grow out of Italy's desire for war on account of the insecurity of the present government of that country. Few believe that any such scheme exists. At all events there is little danger of its execution. In all the capitals of Europe careful comparisons are now being made relative to the strength of the various navies and armies.

In this connection a somewhat startling revelation was made yesterday in the Independence Belge, the principal journal of Brussels, by the same writer whose disclosures three years ago caused the reorganization of the British Admiralty. He states the latest official declaration of the strength of the British navy as compared with that of France and Russia combined, and denounces it as false. The Lords of the Admiralty reported to Parliament in August as follows: British force, 34 battleships; France and Russia, 31. British armored cruisers, 20; France and Russia, 17. British ordinary cruisers, 112; France and Russia, 58. These figures, the writer declares, are much more than a year old and altogether false. He gives the names and rating of all vessels of the three navies, showing, presumably, that Great Britain is by no means mistress of the seas against the two new allies. This situation he regards as a great menace to European peace.

Poor Italy!

A Rome correspondent sends important information about the military and financial plight of Italy. One of the general directors of the Ministry of War tells him it is impossible longer to maintain the army on the present annual expenditure of 246,000,000 lire. He said the situation in Europe had become critical, France is augmenting its armament on the Alpine frontier.

Trouble for the Company.

Government by a chartered company is rightly regarded with distrust of late years in England. Most people will be surprised if the chartered company of South Africa settles its difficulty without calling on the Government to fight its battle. The British forces invading the Matabele territory comprise 1,400 white and a large number of native allies well armed with rifles. Lobengula has 15,000 warriors without firearms. They are even more expert with the assegai than the Zulus.

Think War Imminent.

Except, of course, in official circles, men as moderate and practical as Robert Mitchell do not hesitate to express the opinion over their own signatures that the peace of Europe is not worth 4 pence. "I believe it near at hand. It will break out unexpectedly and perhaps against the wishes of those who brought it about," Mitchell thinks the responsibility will devolve on Italy. Germany is keeping remarkably cool amidst this sanguinary talk. Its significance is fully appreciated by the Berlin press, but there is little in the line of entry retort. The St. Petersburg papers also faithfully persist in emphasizing the pacific nature of the visit of the Russian fleet and deny, perhaps, a little too strongly any warlike significance.

Suing Her Ball Partner.

Two so who bewail the disappearance of masculine partners from ballroom floors will soon have reason to complain more bitterly if the action brought by an English woman succeeds. She had the misfortune a few evenings ago to fall and break a leg while dancing at a suburban ball. She has sued her partner for damages. She alleges that the fall was due to the clumsiness of the gentleman. It would not be polite, of course, for him to set up contributory negligence on the lady's part, so he is wondering what the penalty will be. All eligible masculine partners in England are watching the case with the greatest solicitude.

Colored Photographs.

Another important step toward photography in colors was shown at the photographic Congress this week. Carefully prepared bromide emulsion negatives, backed by metallic mercury, were exposed, glass side outward, and developed in the ordinary way. Interference pictures were thrown on a screen by means of reflected light, and they showed most beautiful pictures in natural colors. It is necessary, however, that the light fall on them at a particular angle. These results are by Lippmann & Lumiere.

Cleansing a Pest-Hole.

The world's greatest pest-hole is at last to be cleansed. The Sultan of Turkey has resolved to put Mecca into something like a healthy condition. The decision is the effect of an intimation from the British Government that unless the Holy City is cleansed it will take measures to prevent the annual pilgrimages from India. The Sultan has decided not only to cleanse the town, but to erect at his personal expense a great lodging house, capable of containing 6,000 persons.

A Unique Book.

Elizabeth Banks, once private secretary to the British Minister to Paris, will publish in a London daily a series of articles concerning her experiences as a parlor-maid and a housemaid in English families. The title will be, "In Cap and Apron." She recommends domestic service to poor girls in preference to shop work.

Rough Voyage of the Umbria.

The Cunard Line steamer Umbria, which arrived at Queenstown from New York on Saturday, reports that her voyage was prolonged by dense fogs, heavy seas and head winds. Owing to the fog she was compelled to run at half-speed for 28 hours. She passed all the signal stations on the south coast of Ireland without being seen by the observers.

An Ideal Newspaper.

William T. Stead, formerly editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, has at last revealed his long-projected ideal of a daily. He is to be the ideal editor. He proposes that 100,000 persons subscribe 25 shillings each for one year. Before the first issue of the first number he will accord to each subscriber a £1 debenture bond, bearing 5 per cent interest, in case he shall circulate 100,000 copies of his daily, and 10 per cent in case he shall circulate 200,000 or more. Mr. Stead is ready to take twenty of these bonds. He is to have absolute control of the ideal daily, and to have the right to buy up all the bonds, and thus absorb the whole concern into his private fortune any time he may choose.

Humors of a Count.

Copenhagen, in addition to the Czar, has another visitor, who is much discussed. He is Baron Von Fiercks, the husband of a beautiful Hungarian woman who is a circus rider. The Baron goes about, accompanied by a wolf, monkey, a wonderfully tame lion and a herculean negro. The other day the Baron thought a Danish officer paid too much attention to the Baroness. There was a quarrel. A challenge resulted, and a sword duel was arranged. When the officer and his second arrived at the dueling ground they found the negro, who reported that his master was unwell, and he would represent him. The negro whistled, and a wolf began snuffing the officer's legs. The party dispersed. Next day the Baron took offense at a friend in his study. He lectured him a long time, and then opened the door and admitted the lion, while the Baron himself walked out. The animal growled every time the man moved. The tete-a-tete lasted six hours.

Political Movements.

The Tories are showing a degree of activity in the matter of speech-making that is very remarkable and quite unusual at this season of the year. Lord Randolph Churchill has made four speeches within a week, and Mr. Goschen has been equally industrious. Lord Salisbury will address two meetings next week, with the object of showing the House of Lords as a guardian of the constitution and a protector of poor Englishmen against the tyranny of Irishmen. Early next month the Duke of Devonshire will visit Ireland. So far, with the notable exception of Mr. Gladstone's address to his constituents, there have been few Liberal speeches, the leaders being engaged in recuperative holiday making; but Home Secretary Asquith has had something to say, and next week John Morley will join in.

Married Again.

Lord Terence Blackwood, son of Lord Dufferin, and Miss Flora Davis, of New York, who had their civil marriage celebrated on Saturday, were religiously wedded to-day at Paris. The bride appeared in a white satin Louis XVI gown, draped with Alencon lace, which was caught up on each side with a satin knot and orange blossoms. The corsage was covered with similar lace.

Dr. Parker Withdraws His Charge.

The attack made upon the Established Church on Thursday night by Dr. Parker, of the City Temple, created a mild sensation, particularly among the friends of the Right Rev. Frederick Temple, Bishop of London, who was singled out by Dr. Parker as a church dignitary who abused the authority given him by the church, Sunday morning Dr. Parker announced that he withdrew the charge he made against the bishop. The speech charge was that the bishop had forbidden one of his canons to attend a temperance meeting in the City Temple.

A Baird Weds.

The English newspapers have announced the marriage next week of Capt. Edward William Baird to Millicent, second daughter of Col. Stanley Clarke, quartermaster to the Prince of Wales and private secretary to the Princess. But no public mention has been made that this Capt. Baird is the youngest brother of the famous Douglas Baird, otherwise Abingdon, who died in America while backing a prize fight. Meanwhile there are very ugly reports here of forthcoming suits against Abingdon's estate, which may cause great and additional scandals to the many attaching to the late millionaire sporting man's name. At the marriage of his brother next Tuesday the Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York and many of the most notable persons in the nobility will be present, and all the members of the royal family except the Queen have sent presents. The two Bairds were sons of a great Garschelle iron founder.

Chamberlain's Approaches.

S. T. Evans, Welsh member of Parliament, has been seen again as to the reports that Joseph Chamberlain tried to arrange a deal with Welshmen during the last Parliamentary session. The basis of this deal was to be the co-operation of the Welshmen with the Unionists in working up confidence in the Government and the introduction of a disestablishment bill by the new Unionist Cabinet to be formed by Mr. Chamberlain. Mr. Evans says that, despite all denials, there is some truth in these reports. Mr. Chamberlain, he said, had approached the Welsh party before now. Mr. Evans added: "I have been informed by a leading Unionist politician that it has been arranged between the Conservatives and Unionists that the next Government shall be Unionist, and Mr. Chamberlain shall be the Premier." Mr. Evans refused to name his informant, and would not describe the nature of Mr. Chamberlain's approaches.

A Famous Coal Field.

Forty years ago the Walsend collieries were the most famous in the world for quality of coal and extent of output. One of the pits was so full of coal that it had to be carried to the surface by pipes. One of these projected high above the engine house, and the pressure forced the flame, which burned night and day, high into the air and illuminated the country for miles around. The gas made the pits dangerous, but it was the tremendous influx of water which finally caused the abandonment of the workings. A syndicate has now been formed to reopen the pits, and, if successful, each member of it will make a fortune; for it is reliably estimated that in one of the seams there is unworked coal to the weight of 4,668,000 tons, in another 7,700,000 tons, and in a third 9,700,000 tons. Operations have already been commenced on the long disused shaft, and the work is being watched with the greatest interest throughout the north of England.

Members of the Welsh Ladies' Choir are sending home glowing accounts of their kind treatment in the United States. The leader, Mrs. Clara Davies, writes that, even if the choir does no more than pay expenses, they will be quite satisfied with the privilege of having visited so grand a country and so great a people.

"Shorter" Pastry and "Shorter" Bills.
We are talking about a "shortening" which will not cause indigestion. Those who "know a thing or two" about Cooking (Marion Harland among a host of others) are using

COTTOLENE
Instead of lard. None but the purest, healthiest and cleanest ingredients go to make up Cottolene. Lard isn't healthy, and is not always clean. Those who use Cottolene will be healthier and wealthier than those who use lard—healthier because they will get "shorter" bread; wealthier because they will get "shorter" grocery bills—for Cottolene costs no more than lard and goes twice as far—so is both half as expensive.

Dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulence, constipation, etc., etc. Cottolene is the only safe and reliable remedy for all these ailments. It is the only safe and reliable remedy for all these ailments.

Scrofula in the Neck

The following is from Mrs. J. W. Tibbels, wife of the Mayor of McKeesport, Penn.:

My little boy Willie, now six years old, two years ago had a bump under one ear which the doctor said was Scrofula. As it continued to grow he finally lanced it and it discharged for some time. We then began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and he improved very rapidly until the sore healed up. Last winter it broke out again, followed by Erysipelas. We again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla with most excellent results and he has had no further trouble. His cure is due to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has never been more robust, but now seems healthy and daily growing stronger.

HOOD'S PILLS do not weaken, but aid digestion and tone the stomach. Try them. 25c.

THE WHEEL.

ARE CYCLES DOOMED?

This is from the London Ironmonger: A rather formidable competitor of the cycle, I hear, has made its appearance in the Midlands in the shape of a pneumatic road-ski. It has lately been seen in the streets of Birmingham, and, judging from the admiration it excites, is not unlikely, I should think, to find its way soon into all parts of the country. The invention, which was patented a short time ago by a Scotch firm, is evidently derived from the old roller skates of skating rink celebrity; but, whereas the ordinary roller skate has four wheels, the pneumatic skate has only two, placed in line at either extremity of the skate. The wheels are rather larger than those of the roller skate, and instead of solid rubber, are covered with pneumatic tires. The patentees claim for them that one can skate over ordinary turnpike roads with them the same as on ice and at even greater speed, while at the same time they will easily ascend and descend hills. Six or seven miles an hour, however, is the maximum speed accepted in the streets of Birmingham, and that only on smooth roads. One obvious advantage of the pneumatic skate over the pneumatic cycle is that punctured tires may be easily replaced, as the skater may carry surplus tires, or even reserve wheels readily fitted, in his overcoat pocket.

ATHLETICS.

WRESTLER M'NEERY DEFEATED.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The international wrestling match between McNeery, of America, and Cannon, of Liverpool, took place in Liverpool in the presence of an enormous crowd. McNeery put Cannon on his back in the first round, which lasted fifteen minutes. The second round lasted fifteen minutes and was highly exciting. McNeery succeeded in flooring Cannon by the leg, but the latter recovered and got the American fairly down, and Cannon was declared the winner.

CRICKET.

AUSTRALIA VS. CANADA.

ROSEDALE LACROSSE GROUNDS, TORONTO, Oct. 16.—The great cricket match was a legna this morning with the Australians at the bat. When the inning came to a close about 4 o'clock they had made 298 runs, while the Canadians following them at the bat lost five wickets for the modest figure of 41. Less than 100 spectators saw the game.

"Have any of the members of the council seen the trade edition of the Free Press, by which the city was to be advertised?" asked Ald. Searrow of his colleagues at the regular meeting of the council last night. The half-hour's talk that ensued was the liveliest that has been heard in the council chamber at any regular session this year. Even the chairman laughed, and many of the aldermen were at times in serious danger of an attack of apoplexy so hilarious they became. "I received," Ald. Searrow went on to state, "a copy of an alleged trade edition on Saturday, and I would ask the mayor if it was the intention of this council to spend the money which they devoted to this class of work. Personally I think it is a disgrace to those who got it up, a disgrace to the office that published it, and a libel upon the gentlemen (meaning the aldermen) who are represented there. It is also a disgrace to the city at large, and more especially to merchants of the city who have agreed to give a certain amount towards it, expecting to get value for their outlay. I want to ask if that account has been paid."

The Mayor—It has not.

Mr. Searrow—That's all right. I would like to ask if you approve of the copy that was presented to you.

The Mayor—I received a copy at my door in the usual way. I have called in the cuts for fear they will be used in future criminal trials. (Laughter.)

Ald. Stevely—I have not seen a copy. I want to let you know that they have not been extensively circulated.

Ald. Garratt presented Mr. Stevely with a Buffalo Express in the proceeding which the council last year paid several hundreds of dollars and which now rest in peace in the basement of the hall.

Some one gave Mr. Stevely a copy of the Free Press "trade edition," the alderman remarking as he adjusted his glasses, "Well, I did not receive a copy, but I heard some people talking about it very unfavorably, saying that it was not a credit to the city or anybody else."

Ald. Fitchett—I want to know what we will do with them.

The Mayor—When the bill comes in we can do something then.

Ald. Parnell then moved, seconded by Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald, that the copies of the edition be delivered on board World's Fair trains at different stations.

Ald. Taylor—Would it not be well to have some of them placed in the Midway Pleasure? (Laughter.)

Ald. Thon, Jones—Or better still, to have them presented to the grocers and butchers of the city, to do up parcels with. I would not like to see them delivered on the trains.

Ald. Searrow—I am going to object to this council paying that money if I have to get out an injunction to do it. I trust that the council will never pay that account until the Free Press give us 5,000 copies of a respectable published, or at least printed paper. Neither the work nor the paper is it in a state to be advertised.

I will move that these papers be not received by this council, and that the clerk inform the gentlemen who are in charge of it that this council refuse to accept the alleged "trade edition."

Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald—It is not creditable to spend the ratepayers' money and not get value for it.

Ald. Searrow asked Ald. Parnell if he approved of the edition.

Ald. Parnell—I don't want to say. The Mayor—He is moving that they be distributed on trains in order that they be got out of town. (Laughter.)

Ald. Searrow—move in amendment that the supposed "trade edition" received by the city clerk to-day be sent back to the publishers, and that the account be not paid, the edition not being what was promised.

Then the question as to what really was promised came up, and could not be answered. No promises were given.

Ald. Stevely then began a running commentary on the looks of the various aldermen as they appeared in the edition. His remarks were much-provoking.

The mayor referred to Mr. Reid's advertisement as "a bull in a china shop, only you could not tell just where the bull came in." Ald. Stevely's grandfather's clock was intended to represent his shop.

Ald. Cox said that it was not to be expected that a crowd of aldermen's mugs would come out any better.

Some further talk was indulged in, the aldermen coming to the conclusion that, there being no agreement, they would have to pay the grant. The vote on Mr. Parnell's motion to distribute stood:

Those who fail to visit the World's Fair cannot properly appreciate it.

LUCK, OR PLUCK?

"Now you see what comes of going off at half cock," said the farmer. "Lost your expenses two ways, to say nothing of peace of mind."

"I heard one man telling another it," said the other. "What was it?"

"If you believe everything you hear about men and women, boy, you'll be off your course all your life long. Take a good grip on that."

Again Phil went into a brown study, from which he emerged suddenly to say, "I've learned she wasn't engaged, isn't it?"

"You believed it and wrote it at once to me," said the other. "I never knew. I was playing at the piano keys a moment or two, and continued."

"So you have a new clerk, I hope he's also not a mere flitting machine?"

"Quite a fine fellow," said the merchant. "At least he seems to be."

"Is he—have you given him the place you intended to offer Philip Hay?"

"Yes."

"The iron business is real good for a young man to get into, isn't it?"

"Indeed it is, since iron has looked up," said the other. "And that stupid fellow might have had the chance if he hadn't come off home again without even calling to say good-by."

"Oh, I don't want to see him," said Lucia, pettishly. "I'm tired of young men."

"Has a money it is that they don't know it," said her father. "They'd all go off and commit suicide, and then merchants couldn't have any clerks at all."

"Now, papa," said Lucia, with a crash on the lower end of keys, followed by a querulous run, with her thumb, over the shorter strings. "Is the new clerk anybody in particular? What is his name?"

"Philip Hay."

Lucia sprang from the piano stool and almost dashed her father with her slender arms.

"Gracious, Lu!" exclaimed the merchant. "Your mother's family must have descended from a grizzly bear. But why this excitement?"

"Because you're a dear, thoughtful old man, who's always trying to do good," said Lucia. "If I weren't for you that poor young fellow might never have a chance in the world. I think it's real missionary work to help deserving people who aren't able to help themselves. I know it is, for my minister has said so from the pulpit again and again."

said Mr. Traylay to his oldest daughter, as he came home in the afternoon and roamed despondently about the house, after the manner of family men in general when their wives are away.

"She isn't back from her ride yet," said Lucia. "You know the usual drive always keeps her out until about 6 p.m."

"I ought to know it by this time, I suppose," said the merchant, "and I don't begrudge her a moment of it, but somehow the house is never quite the same when she is out of it."

Lucia looked at her father with a little wonder in her face. Then she laughed, and very cheerfully, and said:

"Father, do you know that you're dreadfully old-fashioned?"

"I suppose so. Mayhap it's force of habit," Lucia still wondered. She loved her mother in the instinctive, not over-intelligent way of most young people, but really she could not see what there was about the estimable woman that should make her father long to see her every day of the year and search the house for her whenever he returned.

She had never heard her father make romantic speeches, such as nice married people sometimes do in novels; and as for her mother, what did she ever talk of to her little daughter but family bills, the servants, the children's faults, and her own ailments? Could it be, she asked herself, that this matter-of-fact couple said anything when alone that was unlike what the whole family heard from them daily at the table and in the sitting room?

"Oh, I don't know," said Lucia, dropping upon the piano stool and making some chords and dissonances. "It came into my mind that said."

"Well, I hope that some day you'll find out to your own satisfaction. By the way, I wish you'd get out of that morning gown. My new clerk is coming to dinner."

"Oh, dear! then I'll have dinner sent up to my room, I think. I don't feel a bit well, and it's awful to think of sitting bolt upright in a tight dress for an hour or two."

And Lucia whisked from side to side on the piano stool, and looked forlorn and cross.

"I suppose it would be impossible to dress in a tight dress for an hour or two," said Lucia, pettishly. "I don't feel a bit well; really I don't."

"What is the matter, child?" asked the father, tenderly. "Too much candy?—too few parties?"

"Oh, nothing that I know of," said the girl, wearily. "I'll feel better when real good music comes, I suppose." She played with the piano keys a moment or two, and continued:

"So you have a new clerk, I hope he's also not a mere flitting machine?"

"Quite a fine fellow," said the merchant. "At least he seems to be."

"Is he—have you given him the place you intended to offer Philip Hay?"

"Yes."

"The iron business is real good for a young man to get into, isn't it?"

"Indeed it is, since iron has looked up," said the other. "And that stupid fellow might have had the chance if he hadn't come off home again without even calling to say good-by."

On Saturday Hiram Walker & Sons exported 1,500 cases of whisky to Uclue Sam. An electric street car on Sandwich street west jumped the track just as it got on the Canadian Pacific Railroad bridge at Windsor on Sunday, and brought up against the iron railing, smashing it badly. A man named Williamson, living in Detroit, was standing on the rear platform and was thrown off. He was injured in the back, and removed to his home in the city ambulance.

Miss Eliza Anderson, of Wyoming, was married Wednesday to Dr. A. W. Bell, of Toledo, at the residence of the bride's father, A. Y. Anderson, Rev. Dr. Thompson, of Sarnia, officiating. The bride and groom were assisted by Dr. Mackay, of Seaforth. Guests were present from London, Sarnia, Petrol, Brantford, Markham, Toronto and other places.

Rev. Mr. Waltham, now of Cairo, Mich., recently pastor of the parish of Moore, was dunned about Friday in a state of great excitement. He was having his parish down the river for his Michigan charge, and drove to Sarnia Thursday night. Next day when he attempted to cross the river the boat was barred by Chief Windred, who acted on instructions from the church wardens of the parish, who claimed that the bishop and his did not belong to Mr. Waltham. Mr. Waltham's story is that the goods are his own, having been presented to him by his parishioners unconditionally, while the churchwardens say that the rig was only presented to Mr. Waltham for use in the parish.—Sarnia Post.

Up to last Sunday the Methodist Church in Petrol had received 235 persons for membership since the great revival meetings. And as every service they are received it is expected that many more will get into the church fellowship. Martha, wife has received to date about 30 and Elizabeth nearly as many more.

WELLINGTON.

Adam A. Armstrong started Friday for four of his fat cattle for the World's Fair. Mr. Armstrong showed these animals with great success at the Toronto show, where they were successful in carrying off prizes. They are all in fine condition.—A 2-year-old turns the scales at 2,000 pounds, while another of the same age goes better than 1,900. A 10-month-old weighs 1,400 and a 10-month-old calf goes 800 pounds.

A sad accident happened Friday to John McIntyre, of Exeter, a millwright and carpenter by trade. He was having a large smokestack raised at Wilson's mill. When the stack was nearly in position it by some means caught his right arm, with the whole weight upon it, and nearly severed it from the body a little below the elbow. It was so fractured that it had to be amputated.

—Despite the wet weather an immense congregation listened with rapt attention to the address of Rev. J. W. Annis at Queen's Avenue Methodist Church last evening on "The Mummies and Their Mummies." The speaker dealt with the mummy of Ramses the Great Sunday night, and his discourse was pronounced the best of the series. Mr. Annis' descriptive powers are remarkable, and are marked by great plausibility of imagery. The lessons he drew from the mummies were striking and appropriate. The series will be continued next Sunday evening.

"Jane," which is to be given here next Thursday evening, is a comedy that appears to be well adapted for winter and summer audiences alike. It has been played to crowded houses everywhere, regardless of the weather. The piece ran in Chicago last summer without fear of the cold and has been the sensation of the theatre. Mr. Frohman presents his principal New York cast here, with Miss Kitty Cheatham as Jane, and Mr. Robert Cotton in his original character of William "Chum," of the selected New York Herald prize plays, a one-act curtain-raiser, will precede "Jane." Seats now on sale.

Principal Miller, of Huron College, in the evening, giving an earnest and eloquent sermon, with an attentive listening to by a large congregation. The church was beautifully and tastefully decorated for the occasion, and the special music by the choir was well rendered under the leadership of Miss Tibbs, the organist. The harvest home thanksgiving dinner in connection with the above church will be held in the East End Town Hall this evening.

The grade from Eastwood to Woodstock is downward, and owing to the frost on the rails the engineer of No. 417 could not get control of his train in time to avert the collision. The engineer of No. 417 was George Kettle, of London, and the fireman was James of London.

The Late Mrs. (Dr.) Hobbs.
The funeral of the late Mrs. (Dr.) Hobbs, of Toronto, who for nearly 30 years was a resident of this city, will take place this morning at 11:30 from the C. P. R. station to Woodland Cemetery. Deceased had for the last eight or nine years, and since the death of her husband, resided with a son in Toronto, at which place she died on Sunday. There are also left to mourn her loss two married daughters, one of them being Mrs. McAlpine, of Petrolia, and a son at present in the Northwest. Deceased's husband, the late Dr. Hobbs, was widely known, for a number of years having been physician at the Middlesex county jail, which position he occupied until a few years ago, when he resigned. Dr. Hobbs then took up his residence on Ridout street, and there practiced medicine until the time of his death.

The First Chinese Burial Here.
At 10 o'clock yesterday, at Ferguson's undertaking establishment, the funeral of Jung Kai Sam, a Chinese laundryman, took place. It was the first instance of a Chinese funeral in this city, and it was attended by all the Celestials of London. Deceased came to this country from Canton, China, eight months ago, leaving behind him a wife and three children, and took up his abode in London. A few days ago he was attacked with cerebral hemorrhage, which resulted in his death on Saturday. The services at the morgue and grave were conducted by Rev. J. A. Murray, deceased, along with his brethren, having been an adherent of St. Andrew's Church for some time. The services throughout were listened to with marked interest by those in attendance, the remains being interred under instructions from his friends. The grave at Mount Pleasant was marked, after their custom, with Chinese characters.

A Postoffice Employee Dead.
Mr. Robert McNeill, who for the past thirteen years has been connected with the postoffice department here, died rather suddenly Saturday afternoon. Blood poisoning commenced its insidious work upon his left arm many years ago, and about two years since amputation was found necessary. Since then Mr. McNeill had been slowly declining. On the 10th of this month he took to his bed. But his death was not expected so soon. Mr. McNeill was born at Armagh, Ireland, on March 15, 1845. He came to this city with the regiment over which Major Evans, who was a brother-in-law of Bishop Heliouth, had command. Severe his connection with military affairs, he entered the post-office service early in 1880 as a messenger in the inspector's office. Since January 1, 1887, he has been a letter collector. Mr. McNeill, who lost his wife about seven years ago, leaves three daughters and a son to mourn his loss.

Thirty-ninth Norfolk Battalion, No. 7 Company, Port Dover—Second Lieut. John A. McBride, having been reported as medically unfit for service, his name is removed from the list of officers of the active militia.

Ministerial Association's Annual Meeting.
The October meeting of the London Ministerial Association was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms yesterday morning. The following members were present: Rev. Messrs. Clark, Gundy, Clement, Talling, Rigby and Annis. Rev. Thos. Cullen was elected a member of the association. The annual election of officers resulted in the choice of Rev. Jas. Smith as president, Rev. W. J. Clark as vice-president and Rev. Walter Rigby as secretary. Rev. Mr. Talling read a paper on Emerson's teaching which elicited brief comments from the members present. It was resolved to ask Dr. Ansell to read a paper at the next meeting, the subject to be made known in time to notify members. The president and secretary were appointed a committee to provide for a series of papers for the coming winter months.

Had Been There Often.
"Now, you know you're a vagrant," remarked the magistrate testily when Wm. Burris stood before him in the Police Court this morning. "No, sir, I know I'm not," was the firm response. "You have been before me seventeen times—seventeen times. How often have you been in the Central?" "Once." A remand was made until Thursday. Burris, so P. C. Gall, who made the arrest, asserts, was creating quite a furore in his house on Talbot street. The prisoner knocked all the interior decorations into a "cocked hat" and then turned his wife into the street. It was at this interesting juncture that the constable made the arrest. Thomas Mitchell, who said he was a sergeant-major at the Dufferin Military College in 1878, appeared in the dock in his shirt sleeves. He had been found in the possession of a military overcoat, supposed to belong to the Barrack. Crown Attorney Magee said that an inspection of the stock in that institution had not yet been made, and asked that a remand be granted for a week. This was done. "You entitled to a military overcoat, anyway," said Mitchell, as he resumed his seat. Harry Grant, the youth of the numerous firearms and dangerous dirk, was again remanded. Some information Mr. Magee said, had been secured which was at variance with the prisoner's story. A further investigation would be made in the meantime. Wm. Dundas, who was accused of stealing a cornet and several other articles, pleaded guilty. Sentence will be passed on Thursday. His previous character will be investigated.

Prominent Lady of Berlin Speaks

Have great pleasure in recommending "Williams' Royal Crown Remedy" to any person suffering from Lumbago. I myself was a great sufferer for seven months and tried no less than four different physicians for my complaint. I do not wish to expose their names, but whether they understood my disease or not I am not prepared to state; but certain I am they did me no good, and I believed they used the best skill they possessed (and charged well for it). I was at last despairing of relief, when a friend just happened to drop in and tell me about "Williams' Royal Crown Remedy." I took courage, resolved to try one bottle of that marvelous liquid; the very first bottle very much relieved me, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured of this dreadful disease. This being the case, I feel it my duty to speak and let other sufferers know where they may find relief and save large doctor bills. I positively assert that I can recommend it as the best medicine I ever used, and am, dear editor, thankfully yours, L. WIFFER, dressmaker, Berlin. ywt
