A dispatch received at 11 o'clock this evening from Montceau les Mines says that about 50 men were in the mine at the time of the exclosion. Of those taken out only two were uninjured. The number of lives lost is now given as 46. The bodies of 21 dead miners have been taken out of the pit at Montceaules mines, and eight have been taken out alive. All of the latter were injured.

President Faure has donated 2,000 francs toward the relief of the families of the sufferers.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE LONDON, Feb. 4.—The Queen's speech on the occasion of the opening of Parliament tomorrow was read at the Ministerial banquets tonight. It refers to continued efforts to promote peace between China and Japan; the conclusion of a treaty with France with regard to African Hinterland, and the prospect of an early settlement of the question of the Russian boundary line in Asia. The speech also expresses regret at the Ar-menian outrages, and asks for an increase of the financial provision for strengthening the navy. The bill programme makes no reference to the veto power of the House of Lords. The Irish is placed before the Welsh Church Disestablishment Bill.

THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS. TOKIO, Feb. 4.-At the meeting of the plenipotentiaries of Japan and China on the 2nd inst., Count Ito, in an address to the Chinese plenipotentiaries, pointed out to them the defectiveness and insufficiency of their powers. He gave them positive assurances, how-ever, that whenever China manifested a serious and sincere desire for peace by confiding actual full powers to the Chinese officials of such a nature and scope as would render it certain that the terms which might be agreed upon would be confirmed by the Chinese Government and would actually be carried out in good faith, Japan would be prepared to enter upon new negotiations The contents of the credentials of the Chinese are known to the officials of the Japanese legation here, but they de-cline to talk about the matter further than to say their powers were simply ad referendum and not plenipotentiary.

THE EASTERN CONFLICT. LONDON, Feb. 4.-A dispatch to the Central News says the Chinese Gen. Sung is encamped outside of New Chwang with 50,000 men. Gen. Sing reports having lost 500 men in trying to recapture Kaichow. The Japanese are within ten miles of New Chwang. It is expected they will take the foreign settlement and then march to New Chwang. A dispatch from Tokio says: Admiral Ito reports that in consequence of severe snow storms and heavy gales, which prevailed since Jan. 31, the Japanese fleet has been obliged to take shelter at Yung Cheng, leaving only a small squadron to watch operations at Wei Hai Wei. The cold is intense, the guns of warships being covered with ice. British, French, German and Italian warships are watching the fighting at

A dispatch form Hai Cheng, dated Jan. 27, states that the Chinese have cavalry at Paochawtsu; 15,000 troops at Tienchuangtai and vicinity, and 7,000 near Shanhaikuan. Of southern troops there are over 7,000 in New Chwang. These troops are under the command of Gen. Tong. In Tien Tsin the Viceroy has levied 10,000 Hunan and 10,000 Chili troops. Tien Tsin has a regular garrison of 15,000 besides.

TOKIO, Feb. 4.—At present the situation in Manchuria is briefly this: The first Japanese army holds the main part of the Chinese forces imprisoned in the mountains northward of Feng Wang, and the whole of Southern Shinking, as well as the coast road to China proper are guarded by an isolated force of between 20,000 and 25,000 men. Twenty ships can easily close it, and they need not be ships of war. Good swift ships with o couple of guns aboard will probably serve the purpose.
To China the blocking of the port would be a very serious matter. Before the days of steamers Pekin used to procure its supplies of rice and salt by the Grand Canal, an inland route secure against interruption by a foreign enemy. But for the past 25 years the capital has depended upon communication by sea and by the Pecho River, and its plight would be emphatically embarrassing were the Gulf of Pechili

A Child Supposed to Have Been Murdered and Cremated.

BERLIN, Ont., Feb. 4.-Considerable excitement prevails in the northern part of the riding, and the people of the village of Linwood and vicinity are at present in a feverish state of mind. On Saturday afternoon two strangersa man and a woman-were seen passing through the village, accompanied by a child, traveling in a southerly direction. were observed to enter the woods about two miles from the village, where a fire was kindled, it being a very cold

Here they remained for some time, when they left and wended their way to a farmer's by the name of John Wilcox, on the 13th line, where they sought and obtained shelter. It now transpires that the child was not with them after they left the bush, and a search was instituted, with the result that what appeared to be parts of human bones were found in the ashes where the fire had been kindled.

Acting on this circumstantial evidence, the village constable was ordered out, and is now tracing the fugitives in order that a solution may be effected. TODAY'S DEVELOPMENTS.

BERLIN, Ont., Feb. 5.—The only development in the supposed Linwood child murder case so far is that the constable is out in pursuit of the suspects this morning. They are described as being about 25 years old each. Several of the villagers whose suspicions had been aroused visited the place where the fire had been made and kicked the ashes around more or less. As a result when Dr. McEachern visited the place he had in gathering up any of the supposed remains. In an interview he said the cluster he secured was composed of ashes, snow and other substances, but he would not swear that there were any remains of human

There is a conflict of statements regarding the alleged child, some saying they had a child with them, or that they think they had, while others say they saw them in the neighborhood for a few days, but did not notice the presence of a child.

The Church Boards Meet and Appoint a Committee.

The Trus'ees Anxious That the Congregation Shall Not Scatter,

And Will Endeavor to Find Temporary Quarters Large Enough, Regardless of Expense.

A joint meeting of the quarterly and trustee boards of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church was held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Salvation Citadel to consider ways and means to cope with the position in which the church is placed owing to the disastrous fire of placed owing to the disastrous fire of Saturday night. The venerable Dr. Sanderson occupied the chair, and among those present representing the church boards were Thos. McCormick, church boards were Thos. McCormick, Geo. Robinson, Dr. Eccles, D. C. Han-nah, S. McBride, Geo. T. Mann, W. M. Spencer, Chas. Barnes, A. B. Powell, S. Abbott, Thos. Hobbs, Mr. Watson, H. Abbott, John Green, Saml. Glass. R. J. C. Dawson, T. R. Parker, Mr. Bur-gess, Mr. Irwin, Rev. Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Orme, Mr. Dickinson, John E. Boomer, and others. A delegation consisting of the pastor, Rev. E. B. Lanceley, Wm. Bowman, C. J. Beal, A. Keenleyside, A. Bradford and Col. Lewis, was present from the Dundas Center Church.

Rev. J. R. Gundy, Rev. Joseph Ward and Rev. Benjamin Clement were also present. The latter made a very feeling prayer, alluding particularly to the recent visitation. A SAD MEETING.

"I meet you today," said Dr. Sander-son, in a tremulous voice, "with a some-what saddened heart. I join my somewhat saddened heart with your saddened heart, for I fancy, though we have a great deal to be grateful to God for, yet we feel a degree of sadness as we think of the house where our fathers worshiped being laid waste. While we think this there cannot but be a sense of sadness resing upon hearts that would be grateful to God and would have faith in him at present and through the future. God has been very good to us, and we are especially very grateful to him, notwithstanding saddening circumstances under which we gather together. We cannot but re-member the praise due to Almighty God for the kindness that he has manifested during the past 40 years in connection with the church that has now been laid waste. The hundreds, and hundreds, and hundreds that have been soundly and savingly converted to God-the hunds. and hundreds, and hundreds more who have been built up in their bme in Ottawa East on Sunday. H faith as they have attended the services of the sanctuary. We cannot but GRATEFUL TO GOD for the triumphal flight of many who have passed through death triumphant home, and who perhaps but for the sanctuary that is now desolated might have wandered on in paths of sin until their lives were spent and their unprepared souls passed into the unseen world. But, brethren, we have a good deal to be thankful for, and we should all have strong faith in that God who has been with us in the years that are passed. May God increase our love to him and increase our love to his cause, and increase our faith, and while he lends us breath may we labor and offer all our works to God."

Mr. Sanderson then explained the object of the meeting, which was to make suitable arrangements for the services of the next Lord's Day, and he prayed that they would come to a wise and judicious conclusion.

OFFERS OF AID. Mr. A. B. Powell was elected secretary. He proceeded to read the written offers of aid from St. Andrew's congre gation. Rev. E. B. Lanceley, on behalf of Dundas Center, extended the use of their school rooms.

Mr. Powell read the following letter: FEB. 3, 1895. "To the Trustees of Queen's Avenue Methodist Church: "Gentlemen,-After consulting with the church wardens, I beg in my own name and in theirs to offer you for the services of your congregation the use of Bishop Cronyn Hall until you are abse to make more suitable arrangements. I regret that we can only include in this offer the Sunday congregational services, as during he week the hall and committee rooms are in constant use. The Bishop Cronyn Hall is seated for 600. Allow me to assure you that in the destruction of your place of worship you have the most sincere sympathy of our church community.

"I remain, gentlemen, yours faith-ully, GEO. M. INNES, dean." Mr. Powell read an offer of aid from the Hill Street Mission. Verbal offers were made on behalf of the King Street Methodist Church, the Y. M. C. A., First Presbyterian Church, W. C. T. U. and the Salvation Army. THE DISCUSSION.

Mr. Spencer announced that the Sunday school comprised 50 classes and a membership of over 500. He dwelt on the great necessity of keeping the scholars together, and said that the Opera House and City Hall had been suggested, but he did not favor either.

"No," said Mr. McBride, "a circus on Saturday night and a prayer meeting on Sunday would not do.

Col. Lewis spoke of the Mechanics' Institute, and someone else suggested the Princess Rink. While the offers were most kind it was generally conceded that the worst possible calamity that could happen would be to have the congregation scatter. This was more to be feared than any pecuniary loss. It was pointed out that definite arangements would have to be made for at least a year, and that it would be better to incur any expense in hiring a suitable place of worship than to lose their congregation for want of room.

Mr. Thomas McCormick said that a wrong idea had gone forth that the Queen's Avenue congregation wanted to get rid of their old building, anyway. That was a mistake. The old church would have done for many years to

THE MANAGER'S REPORT.

The following report was presented to the advisory board: Ladies and Gentlemen,-It is with gratitude to God, and a deep sense of our re-sponsibility in the work for newsboys, that this report is respectfully submitted to your thoughtful consideration. It is sufficient to say with regard to its history that the Newsboys' Hall was organized on the 26th day of last December as a mission Sunday school and a place where the boys of the street could be sheltered and fed, and could be mentally, morally and physically employed and kept from vagrancy, and thus eventually drift into crime and violence as a means of getting a livelihood. It is the purpose of the founder of the hall to take vagrant boys, street waifs, bad boys, tough boys, and so handle them as to make them almost completely self-supporting, while teaching them lessons of economy, sobriety, honesty and Scott also testified to the great benefit she herself had derived from the use of generally means to pauperize them three boxes of Pink Pills, and declares at the same time. It is an easy matter that they would not be without them in to inculcate what has been aptly termed "the work habit" into boys who have been decently educated and well trained at home, but imagine what must be the task to give this habit to a boy who is absolutely illiterate, and knows not what it is to have a decent, comfortable home; who hates work and would rather beg or steal; whose refectory has been garbage, buckets at the rear doors of hotels and restaurants. Place such a boy into an average charitable institution, where he gets food, decent clothing and a warm bed, for which he is form should be avoided. not compelled to render any service in return, and what is the result? Does he become fitted to go out into the world and become a respectable, self supporting citizen? No. He "knows a soft snap when he gets it." He becomes a pauper. Although the founder met with hostile sneers whose time is employed, attending prayers, singing, Gospel talks, military drills, messenger service and manual labor. We have inaugurated a perfect messenger service, and it is our purpose to add a kindling wood department, clothes cleaning and pressing department, etc. The object sought is to keep the boys so busy that they will have no time for mischief. A newsboys' hall savings bank was instituted on the 1st inst., it being the intentien to teach these boys something that will render them independent and ground them in habits of thrift. The Sunday school has had an average attendance of 28 boys. Since January 21 287 meals have been given, 103 of which have been free or taken in, clothed and fed and sheltered, and have proven themselves worthy of the hospitality of the hall. One boy has been sent to the hospital. Five boys are nightly sheltered. Boys are assisted from time to time with clothes and provisions which have been donated by kind friends. Ten per cent of the food consumed has been donated. God has wonderfully supplied their wants in the way of shoes and clothes. Discipline is maintained by a court of inquiry, which passes sentence and watches over the conduct of the boys, and a correct record is kept of their daily deportment. Their habits are so scrutinized by our "secret service" department that we know just what is going on in our absence. In cases of truancy we immediately communicate with the child's parents and also report cases to the truant officer. Minor cases and petty offenses which can be settled between the boys themselves by apology do not come before the court. As a rule the boys are very forgiving and charitable. The run-ning of the hall thus far has been conducted on a total receipt of $140 90, $79 96 of which has been advanced by Mr. S. Grigg out of his own personal funds. The balance represents donations from outsiders and receipts from kitchen, etc. If the practical results of only five weeks uphold me and appeal to your Christian sympathy, then in the name of blighted, unhappy and crime-claimed childhood, in the name of our dear city, in the name of law and order, in the name of your own dear ones and of the Savior who commanded that both your happy children and the outcast children of the streets should be suffered to come unto him alike, I beg you to give this, the Lord's work, your hearty support, and he will add his blessing.

A Record of Good Work Done by the The Deposed Queen of Hawaii Will

ish Protection. WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—It is learned that the Hawaiian Government is seriously considering the advisability of putting to death the Royalists who were prominent in the recent revolution against the Republic. It is already known that Queen Liliuokalani will be banished, and that it is not impossible that she will arrive in the United States on an early steamer. Congress has been persistent in demanding from the Administration the fact regarding the participation of English subjects in the revolution, and has at last passed the Pitt resolutions asking for the names of British conspirators. The fact that the representative of England at Honolulu had demanded immunity for these Englishmen who had been guilty of treasonable practices has whetted the appetites of patriotic Congressmen for all the facts in the possession of the State Department. There are under arrest in Honolulu 164 persons, including half-breeds and natives. Of these 30 were taken in the field engaged in actual hostilities against the Government; 75 were arrested on the charge of conspiring against the Government, and the remainder are suspects held for investigation. A majority of the foreigners under arrest claim the protection of the British flag.

Hope for Those Suffering From Nervous Prostration, Weakness and Low Spirits.

(From the St. Marys Argus.)

The accumulation of evidence is what convinces. A man bringing a case before a jury without evidence to convince them of the justice of his plea has a poor chance, but when witness after witness is produced to back up his plea, then the jury easily find a verdict in his favor. This is the case with one of the greatest life-preservers known to the world at present. The evidence of hundreds and thousands of witnesses has been published testifying to its priceless value, and the jury—the public are being convinced. St. Marys has many witnesses who could bear golden testimonials. The Argus gave recently a remarkable case in the cure of Mr. Gideon Elliott. Again we present another. Miss Mary Scott, daughter of Mr. John Scott, had become completely prostrated; was pale, nervous, low-spirited, and in such a condition as to alarm her parents and friends. She had not been able to leave her bed for over six weeks. Doctors' medicines were not helping her. Mrs. Scott had been reading of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and some acquaintances recommended them. She purchased three boxes, and before the first box was finished an improvement was noticed, and continuing the use of the pills, Miss Scott was soon able to perform work about the house, and is now enjoying better health than for years. #### PROTESTS CONSIDERED.

The Water Commissioners Confronted by a Number of Objections

Against City Water Rates-A Fixed Charge Should be Made to Factories,

The water commissioners, at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon, were waited upon by a number of citizens, who protested against the charges for city water. Mr. C. J. Beal and Col. Lewis appeared in behalf of the trustee board of Dundas Street Center Methodist Church. Their case came up at the last meeting of the commissioners, and Engineer Moore reported that the average amount of water consumed during the last six months was 52,000 cubic feet, Mr. Beal held that the church was being taxed too much for their services. They had made previous payments under protest, claiming that the meter was not working properly. The commissioners had held then found it was all right, but now they had found from their own evidence that it was not working correctly. Chairman Cowan-What evidence is

Mr. Beal-Your engineer will tell you that. Mr. Beal showed that the quarters had varied greatly. Several pupils used the pipe organ in practice, and had to pay for the water consumed while they were thus engaged. The parent of one

"Who was being robbed?" asked Mayor Little, "the pupil or the church?"
"The pupil," laughingly replied Mr.

As regards the meter, Engineer Moore stated that it was not working properly on Oct. 13 last—it did not measure all the water consumed. Mr. T. H. Smallman and D. S. Perrin

& Co. objected to being charged such high rates. They did not believe their meters were out of order, but they would like to get a reduced rate—the same as other factories had. Both parties stated that they had an unlimited supply on their premises, and could pump it at a very small expense. John Ferguson and J. A. Ross also appeared against their rates.

"The only way I can see out of this," said Mayor Little, "is to make a fixed rate for all parties using over a certain quantity of water each quarter." "I think one factory should be given the same privilege as another," said

Chairman Cowan. "So do I," quoth Commissioner Judd.
The board will consider the appeals, and a special meeting may be called to discuss the levy of a special rate on all factories.

l'aine's Regions

Mr. James W. Davidson, who went with Lieut. Peary to the Arctic regions, was recenly interviewed, and made the following statements:

"Yes, indeed, I have not only heard of Paine's Celery Compound, but have used it, and have every reason to remember it. When I was selected by Lieut. Peary to accompany him on his trip to the Arctic regions to try and find the North Pole, it was partly befind the North Pole, it was partly be-cause of my strong, healthy constitu-tion, and his belief that I could endure the fatigue and danger incident to the trip. I had been associated with him as his business manager in his lecturing tour, and was on terms of the greatest intimacy with him.

"When the ship Falcon left New York on her trip northward it had, among the stores, several cases of Paine's Celery Compound. The reputation of that medicine was so well established that it was the most natural thing in the world that the members of the company, and they comprised men from nearly every walk in life, from common sailors to men of science, should desire to use it.

"The record of our perilous trip to Camp Anniversary is too well known to need repetition. to need repetition. Once in camp we naturally took an inventory of our pos-sessions, and I was exceedingly glad to find the Celery Compound. The medi-cine chest was open to all, and we were free to take from it what we thought was advisable. I, in company with several others, selected some of the Compound, taking a bottle of it to the cabin, knowing it would be handy when wanted. Nor was I mistaken, for the excessive cold weather soon had its effects, and I began to be troubled in a number Compound, and, of course, found relief.

'One thing noticeable in the Arctic alread region was that the cold weather made us all exceedingly nervous. We became irritable and cross. The slightest thing would cause angry words to spring to our lips, and it required the greatest care to guard against our ill-temper getting the best of us. We had to watch one another to avoid getting into a passion. Our nerves were all unstrung and naturally affected our health. I talked the matter over with some of the others and made up my mind that possibly the Celery Compound would be beneficial, for I knew that it was used for nervous, disorders at home. Well, sir, we ried it and I must say that it helped every one of us, so much so that I might say it was a peacemaker among us.

"When the long night of six months came on and we were in darkness, we found that the effects were very depressing. Imagine, if you can, living for six months in darkness, and you can readily understand how we were situated. It is a wonder that some of us did not go mad. We had not very much to divert our attention, and the effect was something like solitary confinement in

"I have used Paine's Celery Compound for a dozen ills such as a person is liable to have at any time, and especially in this desolate country. It always helped me and I should be pleased to have more of it should I go north again.

"I do not know of any one thing that I can speak more highly of than Celery Compound. It certainly is a great medicine, and I am an advocate of it."

In the Great and Glorious Gospel Harmony.

'As We Have Therefore Opportunity Let Us Do Good."

Rev. Dr. DeWitt Talmage Descants on the Theme, "Opportunity."

On Sunday afternoon, at the New Many years ago a clergyman was on a sloop on our Hudson River, and, hearmage took as his theme "Opportunity," the text selection being, Galatians vi., 10. At Denver, Colorado, years ago, an audience had assembled for divine worship. The pastor of the church for whom I was to preach that night, interested in the seating of the people, stood in the pulpit looking from side to side, and when no more people could be not on a sloop on the Hudson River seven years before. The reply was in the ahymn was being sung, at every stanza the word began to enlarge, and while a hymn was being sung, at every stanza the word "opportunity." Immediately that word began to enlarge, and while a hymn was being sung, at every stanza the word "opportunity" swiftly and mightily unfolded. Never since have I read or heard that word without being thrilled with its magnitude and momentum. Opportunity! Although in the text to some it may seem a mild and quiet note, in the great Gospel harmony it is a staccato passage. It is one of the loveliest and awfulest words in our language. "As we have opportunity, let us do good."

What is an opportunity? The lext-cographer would coolly tell you it is a contact of the church of the clergyman said: "You have spoken against my best friend, Jesus Christ."

Seven years after, this same clergyman said: "You have spoken against my best friend, Jesus Christ."

Seven years after, this same clergyman was on his way to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Philadelphia, when a young minister addephia, when a young minister addephia, when a young minister was the affirmative. "Well," said the young man, "I was the man whom you corrected for uttering that oath. It led me to think and repent, and I am trying to atone somewhat for my early behavior. I am a preacher of the Gospel, and I am a preacher of the General Assembly." There are good people who can always be depended upon to say the right thing at the wrong time. Do not rush up to a man in the busiest part of the day, and when half a dozen people are waiting for him, and ask: "How is your soul?"

When a soul is in bereavement is the best time to talk of Gospel consolation and heavenly reunion. When a man has lost his property is the best time to talk to him of heavenly inheritances that can never be levied on. When one is sick is the best time to talk to him about the supernatural latitude in which unhealth is an impossibility. When the Holy Spirit is moving on a community is the best time to tell a man he ought to be saved. By a word, by a smile, by a look, by a prayer, the work may be so thoroughly done that all eternity cannot undo it. As the harp was invented from hearing the twang of a bowstring, as the law of gravitation was suggested by the fall of an apple, so something insignificant may open the door for great results. The officer used profane language while in the cage going down. language while in the cage going down. As they were coming up again out of the mine the profane officer said: "If it be so far down to your work, how much farther would it be to the bottomless pit." The Christian miner responded:

First, it is very swift in its motions. Sometimes within one minute it starts from the throne of God, sweeps around the earth and reascends the throne from which it started. Within less than sixty seconds it fulfilled its mission.

In the second place, opportunity never comes back. Perhaps an opportunity very much like it may arrive, but that one never. In yonder third gallery you sit, a man of the world, but you wish everybody well. While the clerks are standing round in your store, or the men in your factory are taking their noon spell, someone says: "Have you heard that one of our men has been converted at the revival meeting in the Methodist Church?" While it is being talked over you say: "Well, I do not believe in revivals. Those things do not last. People get excited and join the church, and are no better than they were before. I wish our men would keep away from these meetings."

The door of the palace of God's mercy is wide open. Go in. Sit down, and be kings and queens unto God forever. "Well," you say, "I am not ready." You are ready. "Are you a sinner?" Yes." "Do you want to be saved now and forever." "Yes." "Do you believe mercy already. You look changed. You are inside the palace door of God's mercy are ready." THE NEW OFFER.

The new offer of the London Street Railway Company should form a basis for the amicable arrangement of the electric railway difficulty. There are yet one or two points upon which the City Council and the company may have some dickering, but the amended offer, embracing as it does the principle of speedy transit, cheap fares, the tenhour work day for the employes, and the maintenance of the track by the company, goes a long way in the direction of the public demand.

May we suggest that the whole of the details should be arranged in committee, and mutually agreed to by the contracting parties, before the question of routes is again broached? The streets along which the electric railway shall be taken, in addition to the main lines already operated, can easily be named after the other points are settled. We may rely upon it as a preliminary assurance that the company will be willing to run lines wheresoever the traffic will be sufficiently large to make it worth while.

-The New York Sun has an article praising very highly the quality of Canadian mutton. Nor can anyone allege that the praise is undeserved. Not alone does this country produce the best mutton, but the best beef, pork, cheese, eggs, wheat, barley, etc., to be found in the world. Why should the Dominion not be prosperous?

PROSPECTS IN LONDON.

In all probability, Mr. Hyman will be re-elected M. P. for London by at least 300 majority. The outseat in 1892 will be avenged by the electorate at the ensuing election.

PAYING TITHES. Not in Wales only is the compulsory payment of tithes for the support of the Established Church objected to by those who attend and help to maintain other places of worship. In Wales, there is some prospect of seeing all religious bodies put on an equality at an early day, an earnest of this being the introduction into the House of Commons of a bill for the disestablishment of the Episcopal Church, which is the church of only a small proportion of the people. The bill may not pass, but its discussion will give a powerful impetus to the movement for placing all the religious

SPREAD OF SMALLPOX.

The promptitude with which the Port Stanley Board of Health vaccinated the venturesome young men of the place, who had gone in the neighborhood of Elgin county where smallpox has broken out, is to be commended. Probably the germs of no other disease are so easily disseminated by the movement of persons who have been in the region of contagion as is smallpox. This fact was recently strongly emphasized by Dr. Montgomery Ward, superintendent medical officer of health to the Rathmines Commissioners, Dublin. He has just expressed his conviction that one potent factor in the spread of smallpox and other infectious disease in that city is the action of nursing sisters from the various nursing institutions. He complains of their indiscriminate mixing with the healthy in the course of their attendance on patients suffering from disease of an infectious nature, as by traveling in public conveyances, frequenting public thoroughfares, places of worship and amusement, and the like. He strongly recommends that the management of these institutions be asked to frame rules against this sort of thing, while also enacting adequate disinfection of the clothing of the nurses under the supervision of the sanitary authority.

The Canadian authorities will do well to carefully note this opinion of an expert. Nothing short of complete isolation of the patients and their attendents, and the prompt vaccination of every one living in the neighborhood, can meet the public needs. To the careless, almost invariably, is the spread of smallpox from one place to another to be traced.

WHERE FIREWORKS FAILED.

They tell us that while Solicitor-General Curran talked to the farmers at Chatham, a large portion of the audience gradually left the hall, The farmers can no longer be confured into the belief that high taxes put money in their pockets, and all the oratorical fireworks that can be set off will not keep them in line for the policy of trade restriction.

The old adage that "talk is cheap" is nonsense. Talk, pure talk, inflammatory and inane, has kept the citizens of New York from getting improved rapid transit, for several years, at a cost to their convenience and progress that has eaten up the millions. We are citll wondering when this talk will defistill wondering when this talk will definitely come to an end in favor of practical action.-New York Sun.

The people of this city have had a similar experience. The talk of some people is dear, shockingly dear.

PARLIAMENT MEETS. Lord Rosebery, the Liberal British Premier, presented a bill of fare to the Imperial Parliament at its opening today, which, if adopted within the next six months, as it ought to be, would materially advance the interests of the people. First on the list, because the most pressing, is the measure dealing with landlords and tenants in Ireland, and having in view the relief of the tenants evicted because unable to pay the exororbitant returns demanded by the landlords. Then comes the local option bill, which is largely on the lines of the Ontario License Act. Provision will be made for a municipal popular vote on the question of reducing or increasing the number of licensed houses in a given locality. The abolition of plural voting is a distinctly democratic measure. Here again the Imperial authorities follow the example set by the Liberal Administration of Ontario. They recognize that it is the man, not the property, that votes, and that "one man, one vote" times because he has property in as many places worth in the aggregate $12,-000, why should a man owning property of that value in one place not have twelve votes in that place, while his less wealthy neighbor would have but one? The provision for relieving Parliamentary candidates of the expense incurred by returning officers is also a proper one. The people, as a whole, and not the candidates alone, enjoy the conveniences provided by the returning officer and his staff, and they should foot the bill. Because this large expense and other costs have hitherto been placed upon the candidates, many good men of moderate means have been debarred from serving their fellow-citizens in Parliament. It is not a good thing to make it impossible for every man who is

This we take it to mean that, as in Canada, so in Great Britain, rage by which he was deprived of his the era of the electric trolley, in country as well as in town, has set in. It will do much to improve conditions in rural life. For the workers there is the notification that a bill will be brought in to promote the principle of conciliation in trade disputes. Lord Rosebery should be at home in drafting a bill of this sort. His good services in the great coal miners' dispute proved him to be a man of wide sympathies and of abiltries, are to be improved, and Scotland and legislation to improve the condition of the crofters, or small farmers. This is certainly a comprehensive legislative programme. But it includes nothing in reference to the proposed reorganization of the House of Lords. Doubtless, the debate on the address, which some believe will imperil the existence of the Administration, and force a general election, will reveal the reason why. The omission is undoubtedly intentional. With so small a majority at bodies on an equality in the eyes of the its back, the Government does not desire to raise so important a constitutional question until such time as it has had opportunity to promote its principal measures to a forward stage. This programme, of course, does not meet with the approval of the Conservative Opposition, which threatens to adopt obstructive tactics until such time as the Administration defines its position on the question of the amendment of the hereditary chamber. Mr. Hume Elliot, son of Judge Wm. Those who did have love enough for the sport to stand around for about two hours in the cold, witnessed a very interesting, clean game of hockey. "I can state," said a Londoner after the match, "that the more we play with such teams as Stratford the more we see what we do not know of the game. The Stratford team plays an excellent combination game, and as for gentlemanly players—well, they cannot be surpassed. It is a delight, even though we lose, to play with such a team as that."

The Street Railway Company Make a Proposal.

To Do Their Own Paving and Supply the Material.

Give Seven Tickets for a Quarter, With Eight for Workingmen.

The Offer Very Favorably Received by the Aldermen.

No Grant to the Mechanics' Institute-Schemes to Give Labor to the Unemployed-L. and P.S. Workmen May Be Paid.

One ticket in 25 cents' worth is practically all that stands between the present horse car system and an electric road for the city of London. With a promptitude which shows plainly a desire on the part of the company to meet the city at least half way in the matter, Manager Break placed a revised proposal for the franchise in the hands of the city clerk yesterday. Thus the matter was dealt with at the very first inaugural, of the council of 1895. The offer is by far the best yet made, and was very favorably received. Seven tickets are offered for quarter, and probably the only thing that prevented the offer from being practically accepted last night was the fact that the aldermen want eight tickets. As it is the offer includes eight tickets for workingmen during certain hours. The company made a most important concession in agreeing to do all paving and furnish the material. The matter of routes was left to be settled later, the company signifying its willingness to electrify any reasonable route. The whole matter was thoroughly discussed and then sent to No. 1 committee.

The members present were: Mayor Little, Ald. John Heaman, J. H. Pritchard, O. E. Brener, J. W. Jones, Stephen O'Meara, A. B. Powell, Robt. Carrothers, Wm. Hea-man, Wm. Skinner, Geo. W. Armstrong, A. Callahan, Henry Dreaney, Jonathan Ardill, John Nutkins, Ed. Parnell, Ed. Weld and J. W. McCallum.

One of the very first acts of the council was to offer to the congregation of Queen's Avenue Methodist Church the free use of the City Hall for purposes of worship.

MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR. Mayor Little sent in the following communication:

"Gentlemen of the Council,-I deem i my duty to call your attention to the want of an adequate provision for the safe-keeplonging to the city, and now distributed amongst the various offices in the City Hall. Ald. Carrothers moved that the proposition be sent to No. I committee, and that all the aldermen be supplied with a copy. Mayor Little suggested that the aldermen might express an opinion on the vital points of the offer. He pointed out that in it the company agreed to supply all material and do the paving. This was quite an important consideration. Another important point was that of fares. The balance of the offer dwelt on minor details, which could be arranged satisfactorily. Ald. O'Meara thought that the expression of the opinion of the people, as represented by the Trades and Labor Council and similar organizations should be re-

Mr. Parnell said that an early consum mation of the deal would give work toa great number of unemployed men.

Ald. Pritchard reminded the council d the action of many of last year's aldermen in relation to the extensions. He wanted those men to pledge themselves that they would not insist upon the same extensions. Ald. Armstrong agreed with the other speakers on the importance of the question and the great need of the electric road. He wanted the company to strike out the ten hour a day phrase and insert "60 hours a week" in place of it. Then he wanted a clause inserted that in case of a future agitation for Sunday cars the company will not be able to run the cars on Sunday without danger of forfeiting their franchise. Ald. Brener said that the aldermen would talk until next September at the way they were going. It was clear to everyone, he said, that the people want the electric road. Ald. J. W. Jones said the basis that they had submitted was pretty near what they had been fighting for for the last three years. If the matter could be consummated -and it could be done in 30 days, if not less-they would give the poor men work and set money in circulation.

Ald. O'Meara said the question could be settled in one week, by holding a specia meeting. A mass meeting of citizens could also be held to indorse the proposal.

Ald. Powell said that the paving offer was a very important concession. Cheap fares was a burning matter, and he was heartily in favor of eight tickets. He scouted the idea that there was enough electric railway interests on earth to in duce the citizens of Lendon to vote for Sunday cars. London wanted an electric railway from a business standpoint, from citizen's standpoint and from the working man's standpoint.

Ald. Skinner rather thought the citizens living in the center of the city, who did not ride on the cars, would get the worst of the deal if cheap fares were adepted. He wanted the matter sent to No. 1 com Ald. Weld thought that the question of routes was the rock on which the other proposals foundered and where this proposal would probably be killed. Before the vote was taken Ald, Dreaney and O'Meara expressed the opinion that the adoption of Ald. Parnell's amendment would bind the council to the proposal. The amendment was lost on the follow-

This amondment was also lost. The original motion to refer the matte to No. 1 committee then prevailed. COMMITTEE REPORTS.

No. 3 committee's report was read by Chairman Powell, and was adopted without discussion. The clause of No. 2 committee's report dealing with the appropriation of $3,000 to furnish work for the city unemployed caused a great deal of discussion. Ald. O'Meara vigorously championed the appropriation.

Ald. Pritchard moved that the clause do not pass.

There was no seconder. Ald. Parnell moved that the clause be referred to No. 1 committee to report funds. The amendment carried on the following

Things Worth Knowing

It is well to know where to for go things you require—but isn't it also well to know where to go for good things?
—the kind that will stand the test of wear and criticism and come out victorious?

CHORUS-Why, yes. Well, it is not necessary for us here to state that ours is the store for good things— everybody in London knows that-but we desire to impress upon the buying public more than the poor kinds at other stores. Now take LIN-ENS for instance. We don't make great ado about it, nevertheless, we have the most complete stock of Linens ever brought to London. For our discriminating patrons we have imported direct from the looms of Belfast, Ireland, where are manufactured the world-renowned and justly celebrated Linens. Such excellent goods as these can now be bought at prices so low that none need be without the best They last longer and look nicer than the poor grades, and don't in the long run cost as much. The assortment is too extensive to enumerate. We have everything in Linens and the prices are right.

THE POET WORDSWORTH.

A Brilliant Analysis of His Words by Principal Miller.

Under the Auspices of the 93 Reading Club in Cronyn Hall-Wordsworth's Merits and Demerits Explained.

Principal Miller last night added to his brilliant series on famous poets by an analysis of the works of Wordsworth which delighted a large audience in Cronyn Hall. He appeared under the auspices of the '93 Reading Club. Rev. M. P. Talling presided, and in introducing Principal Miller, paid a high compliment to the ripe scholarship and high ability of that gentleman.

Principal Miller's lecture was keenly critical, profoundly instructive and couched in the most beautiful language. His arguments were illustrated by happy quotations from the poet.
"While it may be taken for granted that Wordsworth's claim to be a poet is established," said the lecturer, "no claim has ever been tested more searchingly. No English poet is at the same time so weak and so strong as Wordsworth, so dull and inspiring, so lofty and so prosaic. He soars at times to such heights of imaginative splendor as prove him not unmeet to rank beside Shakespeare and Milton and Shelley, but in his many prosaic moments he crawled as never poet crawled before-he crawls, when he does crawl, on all fours. It is not fairly to be asked of a poet that he should never vary his pace or never stoop from high heaven to earth. Even Homer, Horace tells us, has his moments of drowsiness, but Wordsworth stays too long asleep. And this in his case is the pity of it, that, except in his sonnets, he is at his best and at his worst simultaneously, and the many single lines or couplets of rarest poetical beauty-of which more are to be met with in Wordsworth than in any English poet except Shakespeare—are so deeply imbedded in passages of tedious, crawling, prosaic prolixity, that there is no possible process of winnow-ing by which the golden grains of poetry may be sifted from the profitless chaff. The "Excursion," for instance, abounds in lines that are instinct with a beauty that proclaims a true poet's inspiration; but he has so done his work that his divinest and most significant thoughts are not to be detached from their places and shown apart from their sadly in-ferior context. It is the hope of encountering these gleaming occasional beau ties of diction and thought which bears us along over stretches of such a phe-nomenal dullness as would have doomed any less poet than Wordsworth to the ben visiting this portion of Canada dur- limbo of a well merited oblivion. It rebeen visiting this portion of Canada dut-ing January appeared to reach a climax Wordsworth. Though there be much which we might wish to alter, much that we could even wish wholly away, there would be left, notwithstanding, after all our deductions, such a priceless residuum of wisdom and beauty as could not fail to have won and must forever secure to the author a place in quite the foremost rank of those whose names have been inscribed on the walls of the temple of fame." Wordsworth's writings, he said, re-minded him of the Biblical parable of the man who discoverd a treasure in a field, and who straightway sold all he had to buy that field—he had to take the field to get the treasure, and in Wordsworth the field was very large. een more disagreeably cold than last Wordsworth, though one of the chief glories of English poetry, did not belong to the number whose fame was world-The dispatches today indicate that the wide. 'If thou indeed derive thy light from Shine, poet, in thy place and be content."

This spirit remained with him to the ast, when, absorbed with thoughts of God, all his worldly interest died out. Of all the modern poets he demanded more attention from his readers, and he also best repaid it. He lacked the greatest art-the art of blotting. If he had given us less we should possess the Wordsworth's sonnets were in more. Wordsworth's sonnets were in his best style—nervous, sinewy, crisp and compact. Other modern poets had attempted sonnets unsuccessfully. They generally consisted of a single thought stretched over a gaping framework of fourteen lines. Wordsworth's study of Milton appeared again and again in his writings. If Wordsworth had a poetical father, that father must be pronounced to be Milton. Points of difference between these poets there were, but the affinity between them was stronger than the antagonism, and across the gulf of two centuries they might be said to clasp inseparable hands. Both of them looked at the world very much from the same Puritan standpoint; both made plain living and high thinking the rule of life; both were profoundly devout, and both were set apart for song as no other English poets have been. Wordsworth, however, was the poet of the natural, Milton of the supernatural. Ninetenths of Wordsworth's poems were written out of doors; Milton read nature in books. The lecturer also touched upon the peculiar reverence of Wordsworth for childhood. "The grand truth which pervades his poetry is that the beautiful is not confined to the rare, the new and distant—to scenery and modes of life open only to the few; but that it is poured forth profusely on the common earth and sky, that it gleams from the loneliest flower, that it lights up the lowliest sphere, that the sweetest affections lodge in lowliest hearts; that there is sacredness, dignity and loveliness in lives which few eyes rest uponthat, even in the absence of all intellectual culture, the domestic relations can quietly nourish that disinterestedness which is the element of all greatness, and without which intellectual power is a splendid deformity. Wordsworth is most truly a poet of humanity. He teaches reverence for our universal nature; he breaks down the factitious

Wordsworth was the poet and prophet of nature." The lecture was given a bright musical setting by the pupils of Hellmuth nected young man who was arrested at the motive. It appears that subscriptions are College, who rendered solos and choruses between the three sections into which the address was divided. The ensemble numbers without accompaniment were exquisite. Miss Harriet Truesdell and Miss Carlotta Preston sang the solos, and both displayed sang the solos, and both displayed sweet and well-trained voices. Suddenly he stooped and kissed not her lips, but her hand. She looked surprised for an instant, perhaps just a little hurt, then perceived at once the deep emotion, the

Soon after Roderick led his bride, both quite calm now and smiling, to the two carriages waiting below. He and she and the good Reyniers drove through the soaking streets to the damp, empty church, where, strange contrast to his sister's brilliant marriage, they two stood alone, with not a creature of their own blood beside them and heard the old minister in his unimpassioned voice address them as "mon cher frere et ma chere soeur," recommending them to observe "une inviolable fidelite une entiere confiance, et une affection tou-jours plus profonde." Then, having answered the few questions of the Swiss marriage liturgy, simple and Protestant, not unlike his native Presbyterian service, the young bridegroom listened as if in a dream to the final blessing.

CHAPTER X.

A 'flat' at a Richerden terrace, furnished after the true Richerden style, not tawdry certainly, but very solid; solid and ugly. Large-patterned flowery carpets, and curtains to match, there bring just that slight difference in shade which people think of no consequence, but which to others is a daily torment, setting their teeth on edge like an untidy room, or a piano out of tune, or any other of those small avoidable miseries which mkae all the difference between real and sham refinement. But the sense of harmony in color and form, a thing quite in-dependant of riches, and often attainable in comparative poverty, was mostly un-known to, and disregarded by, the wealthy inhabitants of this excellant town. No blame to them, only a little painful to those who happened to be differently con-

"When I look round the room, I feel exactly like a cat with its back rubbed up the wrong way," said Roderick, trying to make a joke of his annovance at finding the sort of home to which he had brought his wife so very different from what he had desired, or even expected. They had been traveling a month abroad, and had begun to weary of hotels, and look forward eagerly to the settled life of dual solitude, which to all people who are truly 'one and one'-with-out need of that 'shadowy third,' which marks, alas! the sad imperfectness of married union-is, and ought to be, the most

And felicity it was—even though theirs had been a sad home-coming—not a soul waiting there to welcome the bride. It was now two days since they had arrived yet not a visit, not a card, not a letter, came to show that anybody remembered there were such people in the world as Roderick Jardine and his young wife.

"We might as well be in the desert of Sahara, only then it wouldn't rain, as it seems always to do here," continued he. "What a change! We left spring, we have come back to winter."

"I don't mind it. And I like the merry crackle of the open fire," said Silence, who was kneeling before it, the blaze brightening her sweet face, upon which had already come the mysterious look which even a week of marriage seems to bring, the deep week of marriage seems to bring, the deep contented calm of a girl who has passed into a woman, whose lot is settled, whose life is filled; and all uncertainty is ended. "Do not vex yourself, dear," she said. "Though, I allow, it might be a prettier salon, or parlor. Is not parlor the word?" "Drawing-room; parlor is not half genteel enough for Richerden," said Roderick, laughing.

"Well, whatever it is, it is very comfortable. I am quite happy in it—with you. And I like our being here all alone, with no receptions. We shall not need to have any,

l suppose?"

"No, 'at home,' you mean? to receive our wedding callers? Apparently we shall have none to receive. Oh, there is the door-

"Just business-Mr. Maclagan, our law "Just business—Mr. Maclagan, our law-yer. He might have written sooner, if only to apologize for finding us such a wretched flat instead of the furnished house I or-dered." And Roderick, looking first dis-appointed, then vexed, was going apparent-ly to tear up the letter, but meeting Schene's eyes, he stopped, and passed it over to her to read. "It is such a comfort to me that I can tell you everything," he said tenderly. "You are sure never to be vexed, or cross, or hurt—oh, my darling!" If she had been either of the three, that last word, and the tone of it, would have healed all. Yet the letter, read aloud, was a little

Yet the letter, read aloud, was a little hard to bear: for both. "Dear sir,' (he used to call me dear Mr. Roderick; he has been our man of business these forty years): 'Perhaps you were not aware that the furnished house you wished me to hire would have swallowed up half of your income in mere rent, so I took the liberty of getting something more advisable, which I hone will please you, during the time that Blackhall is being finished. I forwarded the address, as desired, to your three sisters here, and to Mrs. Jardine in England. My wife will do herself the honor of calling on young Mrs. Jardine. I wonder how the old lady will approve of that?"

"Of my being called Mrs. Jardine, or of "Of my being called Mrs. Jardine, or of Mrs. Maclagan visiting me, does he mean?" said Silence, with her smile of grave simplicity. "It is a pity for the lady to come, if ahe fears to displesse your mother," added she, with a slight sigh, which went to her husband's very heart.

"The lady, indeed!" said he, bitterly. "Oh, my mother does not know her. She does not belong to our set at all. Her celling many my wife is quite unnecessary.

rather a liberty."

"Had you many friends here? Is it I who have lost you them?" asked Silence mournfully, and then looked sorry she had said it.

"My husband, I did not mean to regret; and it is too late to suffer you to regret.

and it is too late to suffer you to regret. We cannot alter anything now."

"We would not if we could," cried Roderick, passionately. "We know, if no other human creature does, how happy we are, how entirely we belong to one another."

"Thank God!"

"I know now, I have found that blessing which my father said was the greatest any man could get, a sweet-tempered wife," cried Roderick, fondly, as they stood together at the window, watching the rain sweep down.

weep down. "Mamma was right. And papa loved her. I mean, not exactly as you love me, because he had loved some one else in his youth; she told me that herself one day. Still, he entirely respected and trusted her; they were very happy in their way. But, oh!"
She suddenly turned to her husband with such a look in her eyes—a look that none but he had ever seen or would ever see. "My first love, my last love! God is good to have let me marry you."

"I am cross to-day, Silence, and I know

"Yes, so do I," she said and smiled. "But if you know it, it is half conquered. Go and tyke a good walk, and walk it off, as in the days when you were in, you know."
"As if those days had ended, or ever would end!" answered Roderick, parting her hair and looking passionately down into her eyes. "My good angel! But don't you see how much of the devil I have in me still? How do you mean to make me good?"

"I mean us to make one another good," she answered. "My mother used to say"— it was strange and touching this way she had now of speaking of her mother, as if not dead, but only absent somewhere, and still mixed up with all their daily life— "my mother said, it is better to use one's feet or hands, than one's tongue, when one is vexed about anything. Therefore go." Roderick went, and his wife stood watching him down the rainy street with eyes he saw not, and a heart that in its deepest depths were, even to him not wholly known or shown. "I think, though you had never been mine," she murmured. "so long as you were yourself, I would have loved you just the same. But, since you are mine—oh, my love; my love!"

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. #### HAS A WIFE-MANIA.

A British ex-Captain Too Easily Married.

Arrested After His Fourth Wodding, He Writes a Confession, in Which He Says He Was Forced to It-A Heartless Fraud.

LONDON, Feb. 4 .- Mention has often been made of the ease with which the English women of the working class permit them selves to be invelgled into matrimony. This week the confession of a bigamist throws further light upon the interesting topic. The villain in the case was an excaptain in the Fourteenth Hussars, handsome, smart and stylishly dressed. He was brought up before the Reading magistrate for feloniously marrying his fourth victim, Penelope Campbell. Being known by the various names of Douglas Campbell, Arthur Cecil Montague, Arthur Gordon Lennox, Victor Cecil Montague and half a dozen aristocratic cognomens, he chose to be tried under the name of Montague.

His confession took the shape of a letter to his last wife. It was written in a very penitential mood, and set forth in a Montague had in keeping out of wedlock He said his second wife, Miss Emma Elizabeth Griffiths, was unfitted by tast and education to make him happy. When he left her seven years ago in Leamington to go to Birmingham to fill an engagement the fact that his first wife was still alive and in parts unknown so preyed upon his mind that he never returned to Emme Elizabeth. In August, 1889, he made the acquaintance of a Miss Sellich in London This was a case of mutual love at firs sight. Three weeks after they met he married her under the name of Lennox Tiring of Miss Sellich because of incompatibility of temper in 1893, he married Miss Penelope Campbeil at Trinity Church, Eastbourne. Later on he left Penelope, who did not minister to his happiness as successfully as he hoped she would, and advertised for lodgings at Bristol, which he eventually secured with a Mrs. Ford. Mrs. Ford had a pretty adopted daughter, aged 22, and, fearing another matrimonial spell, Mr. Montague made an effort to retire from temptation. Mrs. Ford, however, not knowing he was already plural, pooh-poohed his modesty, and in a few weeks he "found himself" married to the only girl he ever loved. Montague wound up his confession by lachrymoniously admitting and regretting his errors. He said God knew he had been severely punished and that there were might, he thought, entitle his "little mis-takes" to a certain amount of sympathy.

He was committed to trial at the next circumstances connected with the case that assizes. Apropos of matrimonial troubles, Montague is not the only cat in the bag. One Frederick Samuel Glencross, describing himself as an engineer, aged 40, pleaded guilty at the Central Criminal Court to the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The frauds were characterized as of the most heartless kind. Finding himself in need of a little extra lucre Glencross advertised under the name of Gerald S. Gordon that he wanted to open a correspondence with some young lady with a view to matrimony. The first fish to swallow his bait was Sarah Ann with a view to matrimony. The first fish to swallow his bait was Sarah Ann Savery. To Sarah Ann he subsequent-Savery. To Sarah Ann he subsequently proposed marriage, and, explaining that he only needed £100 as guarantee to enter a firm of engineers in Felter Lane, he promptly borrowed of his bride and softly and silently vanished. The next was a widow-there are some people who will not learn by experience-and in a similar way Glencross mulcted her of £190. The widow was followed by a girl in Hampshire who, after some remonstrance, succumbed to the fascinations of the gay Frederick Samuel and gave him her savings of £29. He then left her, calmly writing to her that he had committed forgery and had to make him-self scarce. Glencross was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude. OF INTEREST TO CANADIANS.

A Buffalo Firm Fined $100 for Employing an Alien.

BUFFALG, N. Y., Feb. 4 .- The first prosecution under the new State law (Act of 1894, prohibiting the employment of aliens on public works) was concluded today, and resulted in a decision against the Barber Asphalt Company for the employment of an Italian named Capella, a resident for some time, but not a citizen of the State. The court sentenced the superintendent of the asphalt company to pay a nue or product or serve 100 days in the penitentiary.

The defense questioned the constitutionality of the act, and will carry the case to the Supreme Court. The defense did not seek to evade the issue, admitting that the beau Capella was an alien, and that they had many more aliens in their employ.

The progress of the case has especial interest for Canadians.

At the Grand. Field's Merrymakers made their first appearance at the Grand to a well filled house last night in the funny play "Chicks," and judging from the amount of applause and laughter the audience was well pleased. Mr. Field, as Jeremiah Budd, a much-loved bachelor, in search of s wife, creates a great deal of amusement, as also does Mr. Kussel in his funny tialogue at the end of the second act. A sumber of songs and dances are introduced during the performance, in which all the nembers of the company take part. The Merrymakers will appear again tonight in the great farce-comedy "Old Chums," and no doubt will have a good house.

Funeral of an Esteemed Resident.

The funeral of Mrs. Baker, of 798 Waterloo street, took place yesterday morning, the interment being in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The Rev. D. Robert-son, assisted by the Rev. W. Minton placed on the coffin an anchor from the deceased's three children, Horace, Arnold, Gwladys; a star from the Canadian Order with all the principals of the city schools were present, so that there was not even standing room in the house. Mr. Baker

Off to the Big Convention.

There was an unusually big crowd around the Grand Trunk station yesterday afternoon when the 4:20 east bound train pulled up. The cause of the crowd was the departure for Toronto of the London delegates to the great Liberal convention which opens today. Among those on the platform were a large number who have stood true to Liberal principles in the Forest City for many years. The young blood, however, was in the majority. President James Milne, of the Young Liberal Club, was kept busy furnishing certificates, the following being a partial list of those who went: President Milne, Sam. Stevely, John Purdom, Wm. Tytler, Fred. Hallam, U. A. Buchner, H. C. McBride, George M. Reid, Frank Butler, Dan. Forguson, W. Kennedy, J. D. McCrimmon, Gec. H. Belton, J. Flaherty, Harry T. Smith, A. Talbot and F. T. Trebilcock; Ed. Taylor, representing the Forest City Liberal Club; Wm. Fraser, of the Iderion club; Wm. C. Harris, of Delaware, and J. C. Hegler, of Ingersoli, were among the party. Geo. C. Gibbons, Q.C., Bruce Wallace and J. A. Tune went this morning. Mr. C. S. Hyman, M.P., also went early, having business to transact yesterday.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

CHARLES DICKSON IN "INCOG." "The Sait-Cellar" is the title of a domestic glimpse in one act which will be used by Mr. Charles Dickson when he appears at the Grand Thursday representing "Incog." This little curtain-raiser tells in a humorous manner the experiences which befall a newly-married couple. A salt-cellar inopportunely overturns and upsets all their calculations, for the wife's superstition being aroused by this accident, she immediately insists that a quarrel must ensue, and notwithstanding all the husband's effort to avert it, the harmony of that heretofore peaceful couple became violently disrupted.

"ROBIN HOOD." One of the peculiar qualities of "Robin Hood" (to be presented at the Grand on Wednesday evening) is that it appeals to all classes with equal potency. The cultured musicians rave over the exquisite harmony of its concerted pieces, and the general public over its delightful tuneful-

They are sold at 25 cents a box or five boxes for a dollar. Families will do well to buy them by the dollar's worth.
