HOLD UP AND MURDER

A Long Island Farmer Killed After a Desperate Struggle.

New York, July 2.-Held up by a highwayman on, a lonely road near Richmond Hill, L. I., a man supposed to be Christopher Braas, a farmer, was murdered and robbed early today while driving home from market. Braas lived in Jamaica. Evi dences along the roadside showed that the farmer had made a desperate fight for his life, and that the highwayman finally shot him. One of the pockets of the dead man was turned inside out, and only one dollar which the robbers had evidently overlooked was found on the body. A paper on the body showed that the man had been paid thirty dollars for produce delivered at the market last night.

Another farmer says that an attempt was made to hold him up early today by three men, but that he

A PILL FOR GENEROUS EATERS—at There are many persons of healthy appetite and poor digestion who, after a hearty meal, are subject to much suffering. The food of which they have partaken lies like lead in their stomachs. Headache, depression, a smothering feeling follow. One so afflicted is unft for business or work of any kind. In this condition Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will bring relief. They will assist the assimilation of the aliment, and used according to directions will restore healthy directions.

MODERN THEORY OF OLD AGE

Foreign Scientists Suggest That Senility Be Treated as a Disease.

London, June 30.-In the "Dollver Romance," a novel cut short by the grim destroyer of men, Nathaniel Hawthorne dealt with that fascinating subject, the possible prolongation of human life beyond the limit set by nature and the sacred canons. But was not moved by an unselfish desire to benefit the race at large; his untiring search for the elixir of life was purely personal, and his dread of death was the constant spur to renewed action.

The same subject was dealt with more fully in "The Inner House," a novel written by the late Sir Walter Besant. This story, powerful both in conception and execution, has met with a strange neglect from the multitude of strange readers, who know the author's other works almost by heart. Perhaps the treatment of this really fascinating tale was at once too scientific and too subtle for the average novel reader of the day.

Golding First to Reach Park. Suddenly there was a stir in the center stand and again a voice shouted, "Here he is." And sure enough, there he was. It was Golding, the long-winded Englishman, of the Toronto Central Y. M. C. A., looking strong and determined as he ran along in front of the stand to the little gate which leads into the ring. He was the old man in his fragment of fiction greeted with a mighty cheer, and a hundred or more people, many of them Toronto friends, wanted to hug cr shake hands. He kept right on going, however, shaking hands with those who cared to follow him.

When he saw that he could take it easy, Golding rested up, and walked around the ring once, but on the last lap he spurted in grand style, while the crowd cheered its approval. It was 5:22 when Golding came through the stands to complete his race on the track, and it was 5.40 when he was proclaimed the winner.

On the slopes of the mountain and in all parts of the island one finds the French-Canadian and his family luxuriating among scenes of natural grandeur and beauty; operated upon by the purest and most elevating of external influences; simple, joyous, contented, devoted to one another. Perhaps that, after all, is the greatest charm and the chief asset of the French-Canadian-the calm and settled security of family life; deep and touching attachment for each other that buttresses the moral character and home-bred virtues. Indeed, what Washington Irving said of the best English peasantry many years ago may well be applied to them today. It is a pleasant sight on a Sunday morning, when the bell is sending its sober melody across the quiet fields, to behold the peasantry in their best finery, with ruddy faces and modest cheerfulness, thronging tranquilly along the green lanes to church; but it is still more pleasant to see them in the evening, gathering about their cottage doors, and appearing to exult in the humble comforts and embellishments which their own hands have spread around London, July 1.-An exciting arrest in connection with the great robbery of the Wertheimer jewels has been effected in a small street off Clapham For weeks the police had been baffled in their attempts to elucldate the mystery, and it was not until four days ago that they were placed in possession of information that at last put them on the right scent. A young man, Italian in ap- the only ones who know what I am main for about two or three months, pearance, was found to be living near doing with my machine, and I decline but the days and the weeks grew into Clapham common, and it was known that he was in possession of at least a portion of the stolen property.

A trap was accordingly laid and arty for the purchase of four of the missing snuff boxes. He was to meet the purchaser on the common. Inspector Fowler and Detective Sergeant Ebbage were lying in wait in a shop doorway, and as the man passed he was seized and handcuffed. The police had been warned that he might be carrying firearms, but none was found upon him. He was taken to Brixton police station and charged miles an hour. I admit that I am only with the robbery. In his pockets were found four of the stolen snuff boxes.

On being questioned he gave his name as John Smith, which is no doubt an assumed name. He refused to give an address, but that was already in or more feet. the possession of the police. He declined to give any particulars concerning himself, and later he was removed to Brixton jail. Later the police went to the house where he had lived, and made a superficial examination of the rooms which he had been occupying. There they found nearly all the stolen property. Two miniatures studded with gems and the pictures by Gainsborough and Reynolds are, however, still missing, but the police hope that they may be able to place their hands upon these treasures before long. Mr. Wertheimer was informed of the recovery of the jewels by the police.

Next to them partly severed from the right hand bottom corner of its frame was another picture by Sir Joshua Reynolds-a portrait of Mrs. Froude. It was not, however, seriously injured. In addition to the pictures the eighteen gold eighteenth century French snuff boxes, beautifully enameled, now recovered, and two fine miniatures, were taken. The thief effected an entry into the ouse by climbing the column of the portico over the front door and pushing back the window of the smokingroom, which adjoins the room in which the treasures were displayed. This was proved by the finding of a number of red berries which had been mocked from the shrubs in the boxes outside the smoking-room window.

Soon after the robbery was discovered Mr. Wertheimer offered, through ir Edward Henry, the commissioner f police, a reward of £1,000 "for inrmation that shall lead to the apprension and conviction of the thief or hieves, and the recovery of the proprty, or in proportion to the amount such property recovered."

What an OXFORD GAS RANGE The Orford Range is fitted with our new adjustable gas valve, which Will Do for You

A gas range used to be a makeshift for the warm days. You put up with its shortcomings because of the relief it gave you from the heat of a coal fire, the heavy work of a coal range and the dirt of the ashes. Any gas range is a relief from this drudgery. But the Oxford Gas Range is also a wonder of efficiency.

It bakes, roasts, broils cooks a large dinner in a most satisfactory manner with the least possible work and worry. The Oxford oven has an extra corrugated steel lining and air space at the back, and is lined throughout with asbestos millboard. You thus get the full benefit of all the heat generated. none is lost. The oven is scientifically ventilated, so that the fumes of the cooking and all excess moisture is drawn up the chimney.

The oven racks are of pressed steel, practically unbreakable. A cover plate in the bot-tom of the oven permits of the examination of the burn-ners, which may be removed for cleaning.

Toronto and Hamilton Men Clean Up in the Athletic Meet at Queen's Park

Events—London Boys Get Share

It is approximately seventeen years since an athletic meet approaching in magnitude yesterday's big affair at Queen's Park has been held in London, and that the people of this city love good clean sport was amply proven when over 6,000 of the Forest City's citizens journeyed to the fair grounds to witness the events.

With one or two exceptions all the events were well filled, and the competition in every contest was decidedly keen.

The non-appearance of the famous Longboat was a severe disappointment to many, but everybody got a good run for their money, nevertheless It is rather difficult to state which of the numerous events on the programme was the best, for all were thoroughly exciting and caused much en-

The work of the Toronto Central Y. M. C. A. delegation was the feature of the day. The contingent numbered four athletes-Golding, Smith, Galbraith and McDonald-and they carried off no less than eight prizes in the open events, including first in the Marathon. The Hamilton contingent also carried away a good share of the prizes, three of them being firsts.

London Boys' Did Well. The London boys, too, considering the limited opportunities afforded them for active competition in the past, did remarkably well, and finished in the prize list at least seven times. The 100-yard dash, the first event on the programme, had to be run off in two heats owing to the large number of entries. Jack Sweeney, the local crack sprinter, took the first heat in easy fashion in the very good time of 101/2 seconds, but had the misfortune, along with Bricker, of Toronto, to get away badly in the final dash, and fin-

Carry Off Bulk of Prizes in Open TRAINED LESS THAN MONTH; WAS SECOND IN MARATHON

Wallace Chapman's win of second prize in the Marathon came as a great surprise to almost everyone. His success was very popular, nevertheless, as was evidenced by the loud applause with which he was encouraged from the time he came into the track until he had finished the twenty-five miles. Chapman, who is a son of Mrs. Catherine Chapman, of 812 Lorne avenue, entered under the colors of the Seventh Regiment Athletic Association. It was his first attempt at anything like a long run, and the speed with which he covered the distance was no less a surprise to himself, than it was to many of his friends who never expected that he had aspirations to become a runner. Considering the fact that he had only been in training for a month, the power of endurance which he exhibited was simply marvelous. When he finished he was comparatively fresh, and coulu easily have gone some distance farther.

When Chapman started from St. Thomas along with the five other runners, he decided that although his chances of winning were slim he would make his leaders, whoever they might be, travel some. And he did. He stuck to third place all the way to Lambeth, where he fell into second position, as Kerr began to play out. From that on Chapman kept increasing the distance between himself and those to the rear until, when he reached Queen's Park Kerr was the only one who was at all dangerous.

It was by mere chance that Chapman discovered that he possessed the necessary powers of endurance and speed to make a distance runner. Several weeks ago a friend of his, who was not enjoying the best of health, suggested a long run. The pair went to the track at Queen's Park and commenced to do a little "Longboating." Incidentally they kept tab on the distance traveled and the time made, and their surprise was great when it was found that Chapman had been traveling about as fast as most professional runners. He immediately set to work to train secretly and yesterday's race, showed with what success. It also stamped him as one of the most promising of young runners.

Too much praise cannot be handed the East End Athletic Club for the energy and pluck shown in originating and carrying out yesterday's big meet at Queen's Park. The Canadian Club, too is deserving of praise for assisting in the movement, which proved a huge success despite the fact that several hundred people took a cheap advantage of the situation and lined up along the unprotected portion of the fence and witnessed the races free of charge. It is people like those mentioned who help to failures of many a worthy enterprise, and some means should be found to compet them to pay for their fun in the future, or else not witness the sport. There are people possibly who could not afford to pay their way into the gate, but it was noticed that a large portion of the cheap crowd was made up of welldressed persons who should have been ashamed of themselves and who could readily have paid admission had they been forced to do so. THE LONGBOAT FIZZLE.

Nearly every person in London today will scowl if the name of the famous redskin is mentioned in their presence. As late as yesterday morning assurance was given that he would fill his contract with the Canadian Club people. The breaking of the contract and the consequent disappointment of several thousand people deserves a strenuous protest. Canadian Club officials are being urged on all sides to make it warm for the redskin, but whether they will do so or not is a matter of doubt. One thing is certain: if he keeps up the pace he is setting out for himself it won't be very long before he will be one of the has-beens in the running game.

LOCAL ATHLETES TO BE SENT TO HAMILTON.

Physical Director Brent of the Y. M. C. A. stated yesterday that in an probability Jack Sweeney, and possibly, one other local runner would be sent down to Hamilton to compete in the athletic events which take place there in a few days. It takes money, nowever, to send athletes around the country, and local businessmen will be asked to subscribe the necessary amount. Certainly such an investment is a paying one, for no better means of advertising and keeping the city before the eyes of the Canadian public could be devised than by sending good local athletes to compete at all big

Sweeney will be remembered as the boy who took the first heat of the hundred-yard dash and who finished second in the final heat of the same event. He certainly looks to be made of the right stuff, and if he can be given an opportunity for sufficient competition should develop into a great Later, if Amos can be gotten into shape he will also be sent out to some of the outside meets for the distance races. At present he is in very poor condition. As president of the E. E. A. C. he has been so busy receiving entries for the races and attending to other business in connection with the meet that he has not had sufficient time to get into trim. At that he put up a fair exhibition yesterday.

CAPABLE OFFICIALS AT THE RACES.

Due credit must be given the officials of the big meet for the efficient manner in which everything was handled. There were no hitches in arrangements, beyond the non-appearance of Longboat, and all the events were run off smoothly and without the long waits which so often mar occasions of the kind. Beyond doubt the affair will be an annual one from now on. One prominent businessman admitted this morning that he had not thought it possible to keep so many people in the city on a holiday as were present at Queen's Park yesterday. The same party was also of the opinion that it were better that the people did stay at home on a big day, for the money that would otherwise be spent for railroad fares and in hotel and other bills then remained in the city and eventually found its ways to the pockets of local businessmen. The next big event of a similar nature in this city will be held by the Canadian Club on Thanksgiving Day, and its success seems already assured. Incidentally, it might be remarked that another fluke of the Longboat kind will be avoided.

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Tucsday, July 2.

The supply of strawberries was the feature of today's market. The growers claim that today's offerings will be the largest for any one day this season. If that is so, the crop must be small, as the supply today was not half as large as on the big days last year.

The supply of small produce was fairly large, and for which there was a good demand. There was no much change in prices in any line.

Grain—The supply of oats was small, but sufficient for the rather slow demand.

Sufficient for the rather slow demand. Hay and Straw—There were about 20 loads offered; the local packing companies trifle slow, at $12 50 to $13 for inferior and $14 for choicest. Straw sold at $6 per dozen.

Butter and Eggs—Butter sold quickly at 18c to 19c for crocks and 19c to 20c for pound rolls, in basket lots. Eggs were not very plentiful, and sold at 16c to 17c per dozen.

Strawberries—There were about 46 to 50 loads offered; the local pocking companies were early on the market, and purchased all they could secure at 7c per box; the dealers paid 7½c per box, and for a single box &c was most frequently paid.

The supply of poultry was small, and there was no change in prices. The same may be said of butchers' meats.

There were only about half a dozen dressed hogs offered, which sold at $9.50 rer cwt; one car load of live hogs were purchased by Mr. McIntyre at $6.50 per cwt.

Tokio, July 1.—The impression is growing here that the anti-Japanese feeling and demonstrations in San Francisco are the outcome of a deeply laid plan based upon racial hatred. and the recent developments apparently support this impression. The newspapers here, which had special correspondents of American nationality at San Francisco have ceased to receive news from them. An explanation was offered for the discontinuance of bear on the correspondents in San his opponents to the woods.

One of the most humorous events on the card was the half-mile relay for school boys, which was taken in handy fashion by the Rectory street school. Later a 100-yard race for the members of the losing teams was held, and in this contest Walter Beech, of St.

The company hired several score of strike breakers and issued an ultimatum that if the strikers did not return to work today the new men would be put in their places. When two wagons, driven by strike breakers, drove from the company's pier on the East River today, a crowd of men set upon the which finally fell back. Two policemen were then assigned to each wagon. More trouble occurred on Avenue C. when a score of men set upon a driver, but were beaten off by the police.

The ice company declares that the strike is broken and that it can employ all the men needed to fill positions of the strikers. The company says there is no likelihood of an ice famine.

KAISER ECONOMIZING

Cuts Down Stable Staff and Gets Rid of Many Horses.

Berlin, July 1. - Emperor William, who owns horses enough to mount a cavalry regiment, has begun to economize in his stables and carriage houses. In Berlin alone he has 240 horses, and a staff of 800 men, including titled masters of the horse and stable-

He went to the equine department here one day and noticed a group of men loitering about without any particular object in view. He called one to him and asked what his duties were The man answered that he was head plaiter of the horses' manes. "And how many assistants have you if you are the chief?" inquired the inquisitive Emperor. The man replied that his staff consisted of three men and two apprentices. "All engaged in plaiting manes?" asked his majesty. "You and your assistants please take a month's notice and I shall be glad if you find a less exacting occupation." Then he called the master of the horse, and went into matters with this official, giving him a very bad quarter of an hour. In a few days the staff was reduced by a hundred men. Then the DR. JARVIS, Dentist
