

BODY FOUND IN CRIPPEN'S HOUSE IS BELLE ELMORE'S SAY POLICE

Strong Evidence Obtained by Expert Investigation to Show That the Mutilated Remains Are Those of Woman.

[Associated Press Cable.]

London, Aug. 11.—It is reported today that the authorities have discovered a clue to the certain identity of the body unearthed in the Hilldrop, Crescent home of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, now under arrest in Quebec, awaiting extradition on the charge of having murdered an unnamed woman.

The police have contended all along that the bits of flesh found were parts of Belle Elmore, the actress-wife of Dr. Crippen, but their identification as such has been a matter of much doubt. It is generally believed that the case of the crown rests on a positive identification, and the greatest importance is attached to the latest developments.

The hopeful clue was obtained during an exhaustive examination of the body made by Professor Pepper, the home office expert who had previously given many hours to the problem.

Is Woman's Body.

During the five hours that he worked Professor Pepper obtained conclusive evidence that the body was feminine. He then continued with the purpose of determining the manner of death, having in mind the possibility that poison was used. The analysis so far as the poison theory is concerned was not completed today, but it was reported that the physician found evidence that at some period the woman had undergone a surgical operation. If this can be established the authorities claim that they will have gone a long way in proving that the victim was Belle Elmore.

The inquest will be resumed on Monday, and as that day approaches interest in the case is revived. It is doubtful, however, if anything beyond the scientific evidence is brought to light before the return here of Dr. Crippen and Ethel Clare Leneve, who is jointly charged with him with guilty knowledge of the woman's death.

CRIPPEN WILL SAIL ON TUESDAY NEXT

All Formalities Relating to His Extradition Have Now Been Completed.

Quebec, Aug. 11.—Official announcement was made yesterday afternoon, that Dr. H. H. Crippen and Ethel Clare Leneve will sail for England on Aug. 16, all the formalities relating to their extradition having been completed.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS FOR PORRIDGE LOVERS

Middlesex farmers are harvesting what promises to be the heaviest yield of oats for several years. Although the recent high winds, coupled with the weight of the heads, in some districts have tangled the straw to some extent, it will almost all be safely harvested and will pan out well at threshing time. Even if the western crop may be smaller than usual, we may still be reasonably certain of enjoying our pan-drieds for breakfast.

FIREMAN--E-ARL DEAD AT LONDON

[Associated Press Cable.]

London, Aug. 11.—Augustus Arthur Perceval, eighth Earl of Egmont, died today. He was born in 1856. Before succeeding to the title of the Earl of Egmont he was in such financial straits that for several years he earned his living as a member of a London fire brigade. He was the caretaker of the Chelsea town hall when the death of a distant cousin gave him the earldom. In 1881 he married Kate, the daughter of Warwick Howell, of South Carolina.

MISS ELKINS WILL NOT MARRY THE DUKE

Her Father Gives Strong Denial to Story Published Yesterday.

New York, Aug. 10.—These frequent reports of an forthcoming marriage of my daughter and the Duke of Abruzzi are becoming amusing," said Senator Elkins today, referring to the recent report by a news agency that the engagement was about to be formally announced.

"So far as the marriage story goes," he remarked, "you can say positively from me that it is absolutely without foundation. It is a foolish rumor and nothing more, and I am glad to deny it emphatically."

CAPT. SCOTT'S SHIP IS LONG OVERDUE

[Associated Press Cable.]

London, Aug. 11.—Considerable anxiety is felt for Captain Scott's Antarctic expedition ship, the Terra Nova, now eleven days overdue at Cape Town.

The vessel has not been spoken with since she left Madiera June 27.

Captain Robert F. Scott, commander of the British expedition, which set out on June 1 from London for the South Pole, is not yet aboard the Terra Nova, but left July 16 to join the vessel in New Zealand. The Terra Nova stopped at Cardiff to coal, and proceeded on June 15 to Madiera, from which port she sailed twelve days later for Capetown. She should have reached Capetown not later than Aug. 1.

Lieut. E. R. Evans is second in command, and the other officers and scientists number 28. The crew of the steamer consists of 27 picked men.

Driver Takes Tumble.

While driving a rig for Hobbs Hardware Company on Ridout street this morning, Mr. C. Blyth in some way lost his balance, falling off the wagon. His head was cut and he was badly bruised. It was thought for a time that his skull was fractured.

"FEELING FINE" SAYS MR. GAYNOR

New York's Wounded Mayor Puts in Good Night.

Has a Substantial Breakfast and Inquires About Duties at City Hall.

[Associated Press.]

New York, Aug. 11.—All reports this morning from the bedside of Mayor William J. Gaynor were of an encouraging nature, and the indications were that the distinguished patient in St. Mary's Hospital, Hoboken, suffering from an assassin's bullet, was well fortified for what might prove to be a crucial day. At 7 o'clock this morning the following official bulletin was issued:

"Mayor Gaynor spent a comfortable night. Temperature 100 1-5; pulse 76, respiration 17. (Sgd.) Wm. J. Arlitz, M. D.; George W. Stewart, M. D."

No Bad Symptoms.

Dr. Stewart, who remained at Mayor Gaynor's side all night, made the following announcement:

"The mayor awoke at his usual hour this morning, after his usual comfortable night's sleep. His temperature, pulse and respiration are normal. There are no unfavorable symptoms."

Mayor Gaynor's wound was dressed at 8 o'clock this morning, following which the following bulletin was given out shortly before nine o'clock.

"The wound has been dressed and looks well. He conversed cheerfully and the situation is encouraging. (Sgd.) Wm. J. Arlitz, M. D.; George W. Stewart, M. D."

No further official bulletins will be announced until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

A Real Breakfast.

Mayor Gaynor had the luxury of a breakfast this morning. It consisted of broth and coffee, with the addition of an egg, the first substantial food that has been allowed the mayor since his injury. The patient seemed to relish the nourishment, and to Secretary Adamson, who visited him shortly before 9 o'clock with Doctors Arlitz and Stewart, he reiterated his statement of yesterday that he was "feeling fine."

Secretary Adamson said that the mayor's temperature was lower than yesterday. "I think it is the lowest yet," he added. The mayor wanted his secretary to go over to the city hall and look after the affairs of the office. "There must be some work to do there," the executive said.

Dr. Stewart left the hospital after the 9 o'clock bulletin was issued.

The mayor's secretary, Robert Adamson, made this statement today:

"As I understand it, the bullet, although it travelled among various important vessels, and skated over thin ice, so to speak, lodged in no dangerous place. The question as to why the surgeons do not operate seems to me very simple. They hold, I believe, that as the bullet rests in no vital spot, an operation at this time would be only a sort of irritation."

"The operation, according to what the doctors tell me, would be very simple. In the case of President McKinley, the bullet lodged in the abdomen, where the circulation is not so active and there is a good deal of tissue. But this is an entirely different case."

"One of the eminent surgeons has been quoted as having said that there is little danger of blood-poisoning from a wound in the neck. The circulation is very active there, and the wound is washed freely by fresh blood."

"Mayor Gaynor could get up and walk right now, but it would not be advisable because of the possibility that a blood vessel might be ruptured should he do so."

ROBERTS SEEN AT WOODSTOCK MASQUERADING AS A WOMAN

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Woodstock, Aug. 11.—Roberts, the London convict who escaped jail there with another prisoner, is masquerading in the garb of a woman. Yesterday morning a former resident of Ingersoll saw Roberts, whom he knew, with another man in the vicinity of the C. P. R. station at 5:30. Roberts had on a blue skirt, a large hat with black plumes, and a short lady's coat. The partner bought a paper off a C. P. R. train, and both walked west to the river. Nothing more was heard of them.

A LUCKLESS INDIAN LOVER TAKES LIFE WITH DYNAMITE

Caughnawaga Man, When Rejected, Takes Unusual and Desperate Means of Ending His Sorrow.

Montreal, Aug. 11.—Because his proposal of marriage was refused, Tom Smith, a Caughnawaga Indian, last night blew himself to pieces with dynamite. His remains lay on the road all night and most of the morning, the people fearing to touch it before the arrival of the coroner. Smith went to Lachine yesterday afternoon and purchased the explosive for use in the quarries where he works. He returned to the village and called on the girl to whom he had been paying attention for some time, a Miss Douglas, a member of the tribe. It is said that he proposed marriage during the evening, but was not accepted. He left the house and on the road fell against a rock, exploding the dynamite. It is believed that he threw himself against the rock on purpose to destroy himself. His head and limbs were blown off and various portions of his body have been found scattered about a three-hundred yard radius. The remains were discovered shortly afterwards by persons living nearby, who heard the explosion. The parents and friends of the unfortunate man, who was 24 years of age, were instructed to take the body away. They refused to receive it into their home and were then told that it might be placed in the lock-up. They refused to touch the remains, however, and the body lay in the open all night and until instructions were received from the coroner MacMahon.

HARVESTING ON IN THE NORTH GOOD CROPS IN PERTH COUNTY

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Stratford, Aug. 11.—The Advertiser man has had a hurried run through parts of Perth, Waterloo and Wellington Counties, and would report harvest operations well on the way, particularly in the vicinity of the Classic and Royal cities. The oat crop appears to be below the average in Perth and Waterloo, but fairly good in Wellington. The corn looks particularly well, and the dry, warm weather of early July no doubt gave this crop a good start. It has not been better for years. The apple outlook is by no means satisfactory, but on the whole orchard and field will do well for man and beast.

WENDING IN AUTO TO AVOID LYNCHING

It is reported Wendling tried to escape.

Gaynor For President

DOUBLE JOB SCHEME AT DOUBLE SALARY

How Some Toronto Firemen and Constables "Work" the Political Pull.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—A large section of citizens and ratepayers are beginning to realize the purpose of the political machine in municipal politics. The municipal offices are largely held by Conservatives, who are used in provincial and Dominion politics. Pull seems all that is necessary to secure a lucrative position.

The latest demonstration of the grafting propensities of the political element was witnessed yesterday, when the fire and night committee of the city council decided to grant William Crawford a pension from the firemen's benefit fund of $32 16 a month for the remainder of his life. He secured this on the report of his friends that he "was physically unable to perform his duties as a fireman."

Some time ago Capt. Crawford was given a position by the Ontario Government as inspector of public institutions in the province, at a salary of $1,500 a year, with "prospects." This reward followed leave of absence from the fire hall for two or three months at full pay to try the new job as a servant of a grateful province. Crawford liked it, and became at once physically incapable of doing fireman's duty. His salary and pension will give him over $5 per day.

On the list of the works department many Conservatives who are in receipt of pensions from the firemen, the policemen and other funds, are to be found in the army of civil employees in case berths at big salaries. The climax is reported to have been reached when two of the city policemen obtained leave of absence from the city force and put in the time as special constables for the Grand Trunk during the strike at $3 per day. During the exhibition a number of employees of the city hall and parliament buildings may be seen working the double job scheme at double salary.

RED FLAGS FLOAT IN MINERS' PARADE

Springhill Strikers Celebrate a Year of Idleness.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 11.—Hundreds of red flags floated in the air in the mining town of Springhill today, where the striking U. M. W. miners were celebrating fifty-two weeks of idleness. The idle workmen formed a procession and marched through the principal streets in the business section to the picnic grounds a mile from the town, where a great demonstration was held. There were many little children in the procession and they all carried red flags.

Fully a thousand men have been on strike in Springhill for a year and have been living on strike funds. Business in the town is at a standstill and the civic finances are in a deplorable state. The soldiers are still guarding the loyal workmen and the output is daily increasing.

AFTER BIG NAIL WORKS.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 11.—Among the rumors today, although not confirmed, was one to the effect that the Dominion Iron and Steel Company is negotiating to secure control of the Federal Nail Works here. It is said this would probably mean an extension of the business and would give the steel company the largest nail works in Eastern Canada. It is thought to be the intention, should the deal go through, to ship rods from Sydney to St. John to be manufactured into nails at the plant here.

HAIL CUTS THE CROPS BY HALF

Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars Damage Around Leamington.

TOBACCO MEN HEAVY LOSERS

Leaves of the Corn Cut to Ribbons in Most Destructive Storm in Country's History.

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]

Leamington, Aug. 11.—From later information it develops that the hailstorm which swept the Leamington fruit and vegetable belt yesterday afternoon changed the farmers' prospects for this year very materially. It is estimated that the peach crop was reduced to half the value of a few days ago. The melon crop also will be reduced to a half crop. The corn crop is very badly damaged, the leaves being cut into ribbons, but the heaviest loss will be felt among the tobacco growers. The tobacco crop within the storm-swept district will be a total loss, nothing being left standing but the stems. Estimates from reliable sources put the damage in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Great losses were sustained by greenhouse owners. Old settlers report the storm a one of the most destructive they ever saw in the country.

The storm yesterday did considerable damage in the adjoining townships. In Westminister Township the grain, which has not yet been harvested, was seriously damaged by the high winds and rain. In Nissouri one barn was struck by lightning and destroyed with serious loss.

GRAND ENCAMPMENT ELECTED OFFICERS

R. J. Faulkner Elected an Officer of Patriarchs Militant

Toronto, Aug. 11.—Grand encampment officers of the I. O. O. F. are as follows:
Grand Patriarch—R. Meek, Kingston.
Grand High Priest—J. R. Thompson, Windsor.
Grand Senior Warden—E. Clapp, Toronto.
Grand Scribe—J. A. McDonald, Toronto.

Grand Treasurer—E. Belts, London.
Grand Junior Warden—R. H. Ketchison, Belleville.
Grand Marshal—W. J. Graham.
Grand Sentinel—M. J. Walsh, Walkerville.
Grand Outside Sentinel—R. McCalm, Carleton Place.

In his report, E. B. Morrey, of Ingersoll, the grand patriarch, commented upon the many changes that had occurred in the patriarchal branch of the order since the encampment met six years ago in Toronto. Last year there were several regrettable deaths, including that of the grand scribe, M. D. Dawson, of London, whose place had been filled by the executive appointing Joseph Powley, of Toronto. The increase in membership was not as great as he had expected. Joseph Powley, the grand scribe, reported a gain in membership during the year of 219, which brought the total membership up to 6,024.

E. Belts, the grand treasurer, reported that, including the balance of 1908, the receipts for the year amounted to $4,574.44. The expenditure amounted to $3,417.18, so that there was a balance of $1,156.78 at the close of the financial year.

The members of the Rebekah assembly met in Albert Hall, Bathurst street, when the following officers for the year were elected:
Miss Ruby Brady, Ottawa, president.
Miss C. Edwards, Bridgeburg, vice-president.

Mrs. Louisa Brandt, Berlin, warden.
Mrs. Ida Moore, Ottawa, recording secretary.
Miss Nellie Dodson, Chatham, treasurer.

It was reported that eight new lodges were appointed during the year, meaning an increase in membership of about 1,200. The total membership now stood at 6,656.

The annual meeting of the Patriarchal Council, held at the corner of College and Yonge streets, when officers were chosen as follows:
Col. W. S. Johnston, Toronto, president.
Major J. B. Squance, St. Thomas, vice-president.

Capt. W. J. Foster, Toronto, secretary.
Lieut. Col. E. W. Barton, Toronto, treasurer.
Arch Militant council was held last floor of the day.

Major G. C. Mortimore, Toronto, officer of the guard.
Major R. N. Ketchison, Belleville, sentinel.

Capt. G. Powers, Ottawa, picket.
Chev. F. W. Martin, Picton, aide.
Major Mortimore and Capt. Hermiston, auditors.

A pleasing feature of the above assembly was the presentation of a beautiful jeweled medal to Col. W. S. Johnston by all the cantons in the department of Ontario. The medal, which is the highest decoration of the order, was presented by Col. L. B. Cooper, of Belleville, who remarked that it was in token of the splendid services he had rendered as colonel of the first regiment of Ontario.

The Veterans' Association held a reunion today at Hanlan's Point, when a long programme of addresses will be delivered. Drill competitions will also be held in the stadium under the auspices of the various encampments. The home canton, however, will not compete.

The grand lodge of the order opens today in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

METHODIST PROFESSORS MAY TAKE A PLEDGE

To Be Asked to Subscribe to Certain Great Truths of the Church.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—Another red-hot battle of words over theological teaching in Methodist colleges is expected to be unavoidable at the general conference of the Methodist Church in Canada, which opens next week in Victoria, B. C.

It is feared by those who hope for a peaceful session that such another stormy controversy as was waged at Toronto Methodist conference in June is on the tapis. Therefore they are already planning to prevent it. The scheme talked of among Toronto Methodist preachers now is to draw up a general statement of doctrine to which all professors in Methodist training schools will be required to subscribe.

Only the Great Truths.
"This will be a definite method of settling the stormy discussions that have been going on for years now," said one prominent local Methodist minister today. "The statement which professors will be asked to sign will contain only great evangelical truths, to which the Methodist Church has always held fast. Most of us refuse to take the view that college professors and preachers and church members must not be allowed to do their own thinking, and must not dare to give voice to their thoughts. You can't tie a man down entirely. But there are certain fundamental truths to which Methodists must be tied down. If they refuse—well, the world is wide. They can join other churches or found sects to suit themselves."

Dr. Carman's Future.
Another knotty problem that the general conference must face is the fate of Rev. Albert Carman, the veteran general superintendent of the church in Canada. While Dr. Carman is getting to be a very old man, there is no doubt to the loyalty to him felt by a large proportion of the church members. While many do not agree with all his views, there is a feeling that the church should retain him as long as possible. The suggestion will, no doubt, be made that his work should be eased by the appointment of an assistant.

The probability is that the gray-haired superintendent will not be asked to retire, or defeated in the election. It is pointed out that the Pope of Rome is never deposed. He rules till death removes him. So do Anglican and Roman Catholic bishops and archbishops. So do the Methodist bishops in the United States.

It is expected that the coming conference will be the most eventful held in the history of Canada. The prediction is made that almost all the clergy will be there, and that 90 per cent of the laymen elected to go will be in Vancouver for it.

The stomach and liver must be restored to a healthy condition and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets can be depended upon to do it. Easy to take and most effective. Sold by all dealers.

PRISON INMATES MAKE BOGUS COIN

Secret Service Men Bore Methods of Massachusetts Prison.

Boston, Aug. 11.—How three inmates of the state prison at Charlestown were able to construct a counterfeit half dollar has been discovered by secret service officers. Ever since July 21, when the state prison officials discovered that counterfeit half dollars were in circulation in the prison, and that some had got outside, an investigation has been in progress. At that time it became known that Patrick Hanley, of Lynn, who is serving a 25-year sentence as an habitual criminal, was involved.

Tonight it was announced at the office of the United States district attorney that two other prisoners, whose names were withheld, had been found to be accomplices of Hanley, and that the cases of all three would be presented to the federal grand jury next fall.

The counterfeiters obtained from unknown sources some scraps of tin and lead, a jeweler's crucible and some plaster of paris. One of the trio has a knowledge of electricity, and it was he who devised the means of melting the metal. He cut in on the electric light wires in Hanley's cell, attached two pieces of carbon and placed them on a small sheet of iron covered with fireproof cement. On the white-hot carbon the crucible was placed, the metal was melted and the coins were manufactured in a plaster of paris mold. It is suspected that there was an accomplice outside the jail who assisted in the distribution of the coins and the supplying of material for their manufacture.

SOME TRICK TO WING MAN BIRD

Gen. George W. Wingate Says
Riflemen Would Be "Up Against It."

New York, Aug. 11.—General George W. Wingate, of Brooklyn, for 25 years president of the National Rifle Association of the United States, has been making a detailed study of chances which an aeroplane would have in time of war against a corps of skilled sharpshooters. He sums up his conclusions in the following statement:

"In shooting at an aeroplane moving with a rapidly increasing speed, and darting up and down and suddenly changing its course in much the same fashion that a swallow flies, a rifleman, must accurately determine its distance, direction and speed."

"This is so different from ordinary rifle shooting that only those riflemen who are familiar with the use of shotguns know how a rifle should be aimed to hit an object moving in the air, and the sighting of a military rifle is so absolutely different from that of a shotgun that very few of those who actually know what they ought to do are able to do it with any certainty. While I myself have often fired with a rifle at large birds flying, I can recall but one hit."

"The army is introducing shooting at moving objects, which when carried out will work a reformation in this respect. But even then, and assuming that the sights on the military rifles are simplified so as to permit it to be done rapidly, it must be some time before any large number will become proficient."

"The ordinary soldier, however, skillful he may be in shooting at a mark with the fine sights which he is accustomed to use and in doing which he takes his time, would become helpless when undertaking the sort of firing necessary to bring down a man bird."

VIOLINIST HELD UP

Made to Play and Fatally Beaten
When He Stopped.

Buffalo, Aug. 11.—Because he stopped playing his violin in a vacant lot late last Sunday night, Jacob Kizozo was so battered and kicked that his injuries today resulted in his death.

The police, seeking his assailants, gave out the story today. Kizozo, who was a laborer in the daytime and a dance hall violinist at night, was crossing a vacant lot, homeward, after midnight, when held up by several men, who ordered him to take out his violin and play.

Kizozo played softly at first, many popular airs, then louder, hoping to attract the attention of some passer-by. Pausing a moment in the wild night, he was brutally pounded and knocked down. Then, yanked to his feet, he was ordered to continue. He played until exhausted. Further blows were rained upon him, and he was left helpless.

It was morning before he was discovered and removed. His skull was fractured. He told of the assault and described his assailants, who are supposed to have been intoxicated.

MARITIME BY-ELECTION.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Aug. 11.—The by-election in the Canigian district of P. E. I. yesterday for the Provincial Legislature, resulted in a victory for J. A. Dewar, the Conservative candidate, over H. Wilson, the Liberal standard-bearer, by a majority of 30.

The result leaves the political situation in the island unchanged, the standing of the parties being: Liberals 16, Conservatives 14.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Moving Pictures Show.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
In reply to the statement made in your Tuesday's paper about the state of affairs in the moving picture shows of London:

I, as manager of the Unique Theatre, feel it my duty to contradict Mr. J. W. O. Rogers' statement as to the national standard of Old Glory, which was exhibited here Aug. 3 and 4. It was not only educating, but instructive, and very much appreciated by the many who saw it, and I hope in the near future that some enterprising Canadian will manufacture a film of historical and allegorical pictures that will tell the story of the birth of the Canadian flag and its triumphs and progress, and we will be only too proud to show it on our canvas.

It needs but a glance at the crowds hourly pouring into or out of our city moving picture shows to impress on the thinking man or woman that the acting picture has a mission.

Its popularity makes it the best vehicle for instruction along many lines. Without it how could thousands of landmen be brought to realize the life on a battleship or be shown the actual work of forging a shaft too big to be swung in a circus tent and unsafe even for unnecessary workmen to watch in the real process, let alone inviting curious spectators or even earnest students to flock to the real work?

All films shown in the theatre have been passed by the national board of censorship, which is composed of clergy of every denomination, lawyers, doctors and judges.

FRANK MEYERS,
London, Aug. 9. Unique Theatre.

THE NICKEL SHOW.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
A gentleman known as J. W. Oscar Rogers, has been offering some rather harsh criticism to the nickel shows through your columns.

I understand Mr. Rogers is a stranger here and has, indeed, only very recently left the tall timbers; in all probability he has not become used to city life yet. He has seen a nickel show on two different occasions to my knowledge. The excitement in one of the shows last Saturday was too much for him, for he has been talking like a "fish hook" ever since.

I understand that Mr. Rogers will soon depart for "the old home" and his native woods. If ever he sees city life again I would advise him to seek the companionship of someone who has reached years of discretion. In spite of his two visits to "show-land," he is hardly fit to criticize yet. Funny the effects motion pictures have on the young, green minds.

HAND PAINTED HATS FOR SMART SET

New Fad Very Popular Among the Society Leaders of London.

London, Aug. 10.—Ostrich plumes—always an expensive item of woman's millinery—are gradually growing more and more valuable. During the last three years the price of these feathers has risen 50 per cent, is the information imparted by a west end merchant. A feather that a few years ago cost only $50 is now worth $75.

"The ostrich feather is the most fashionable feather this year," he said, "and very few other varieties are worn. More ostrich feathers have been sold than ever before, and in consequence the ostrich farmer is prospering. Double the number of feathers are now being sent into the market, and many of the large plumes are so much sought after that several feathers have to be used to make a plume of the required length, thickness and width."

"We are making one form of feather nearly two yards long in some cases. I can arrange to have the crown of a large hat. Other large plumes are sold in sets of three. The most fashionable colors are shaded greys, chin-chilla, which will be worn on chin-chilla toques in the winter, and blues, from royal to navy. But the large plumes are so much sought after that several feathers have to be used to make a plume of the required length, thickness and width."

"As for the reason of their popularity and increased cost, ostrich plumes have had a great vogue this summer in Paris, and, of course, Paris rules in the fashion of millinery modes. Moreover, more women in England wear feathers than in former years, and now the ostrich feather trade is not confined to the best milliners. There has been a great increase in the demand for the cheap feather of the small tradesman."

"American women, too, have helped to make plumes more expensive. At the April auction one-half of the whole quantity put up for sale was purchased by American buyers to take over to the United States. Fewer feathers therefore were left for the English market, and the demand now being greater than ever, ostrich plumes are bound to become even more expensive. However, many ribbon and flower trimmed hats a woman possesses, she must have plumes on the crown of her hat, as that is recognized as the correct wear for smart occasions."

Hand-painted hats are also becoming something of a fad with the smart set. They are made in soft white felt, with beautiful flowers and foliage, feathers or any other kind of ornamentation painted on them. Oil colors are used, and, according to Heath's, the Oxford street hatters, the headgear is to all intents and purposes indestructible.

"We have one," the manager said, "which is covered with great red decorative poppies, and they are painted so realistically that they really look like freshly-gathered flowers. An ordinary flower-trimmed hat can only be worn a short time by the well-

THE GAYNOR AFFAIR.

The New York papers say that Mayor Gaynor's assault was not discharged for any particular reason of incompetency, but was dismissed from the dock department with many others for whom there was no work. These men had been living at the expense of the taxpayers because they belonged to the following of some politician of influence.

Gaynor was the victim of the vicious system which he undertook to reform. The men who lost their places were also sacrificed to it because they had been taught to look to Tammany as their provider. Every department of the city service had been overruled by Tammany, as a means of rewarding and maintaining an army of supporters. His duty to the taxpayers obliged Mayor Gaynor to purge the padded pay rolls of the city, with the result that thousands of men were thrown out of employment, or their pretence of employment. Many of these men are to be pitied, but they could not be protected if the city was to have clean government. The Tammany looters are responsible for this hardship, and they share the guilt of the man who attempted Gaynor's life. Neither are the citizens of New York blameless. Of their own free will they have been ruled by Tammany for many years, except during two or three brief periods. The crime against Gaynor was a crime against good government, but the shame of it is the shame of the city, which has time and again, with its eyes open, chosen evil rulers. The mayor has nearly lost his life, and the lives of other city officials are threatened, because they have attacked abuses which the majority of the citizens have tolerated and encouraged. If there is a remnant of civic conscience in New York it should feel the reproach, as all thoughtful Americans do.

THE LAW AND THE AIRSHIP.

When aeronauts threaten to go on strike against Government regulations, as was the case in Germany a few days ago; when the question of "rules of the road" in the air is receiving attention in various European countries, and when it is deemed necessary to call an international conference to consider the framing and enforcement of aerial laws common to all countries, the man on terra firma is forced to the conclusion that the airship, aeroplane or dirigible, is no longer a toy, but is about to take its place with the motor, the telephone, and wireless telegraphy.

The French Aero Club has already laws of the air, regulations as to passing and proposals for a system of numbering and registration. Premature though it may seem, the club is also making an attempt to secure the illumination of high buildings as guides and danger posts to those who fly at night. In Germany flying has actually become a matter of police regulation. Only recently the courts fined an airman, who made a flight across Berlin, as a common nuisance, a possible danger to the lives of those beneath. It was in that country that the English airman, Latham, was arrested when descending in the dark for flying without a light. It would seem that while an airman may have a right to damage himself if he chooses, he must not endanger the lives of other people. The suggestion has been made that to fly over a thickly populated area should be regarded as reckless driving, and punished as a criminal offence.

There is also a civil as well as a criminal law side to the question. What is above and below a man's property, technically speaking, belongs to him as much as the ground itself. The subterranean side of this maxim receives frequent illustrations in England. It was the subject of negotiation at the time of the building of London's tube railways, and a frequent service of workmen's trains was made the consideration for which the companies received their right of passage some hundreds of feet down in the subsoil. Greater difficulties are presented by the aerial aspect of it. In Germany and Switzerland the right to the air above private property is restricted, and the owner cannot sue for trespass at such a height as can cause him no material injury. The opinion of the best English authorities is that trespass cannot occur above a certain reasonable height. The dropping of ballast, however, or damage caused to cultivated ground when landing, is the subject of frequent payments; but as claims are almost always admitted by aeronauts, and there is thus no need to go into court, there is as yet no judicial decision on the point.

The purpose of the coming conference is to deal with the international regulation of aerial navigation as it relates to military operations, customs and excise. The possibilities of espionage and the smuggling of dutiable goods over land and sea frontiers to elude revenue officials, will likely be taken into consideration. How far the present laws against contraband would cover operations by the air is a difficult question. In France, landed balloons are asked whether they have anything to disclose; in Russia the right to fire at any balloon crossing the frontier is claimed and exercised, while in England the wide powers given to the police to meet suspected smuggling should be sufficient to protect the legal rights of customs officials. Possibly the international conference will be able to suggest some means of unifying the practice of administration in this respect.

NOT A TARIFF-MADE EMPIRE.

The Victoria Colonist professes to think that a change in the fiscal policy of Great Britain would be good for that country, but it chides British tariff reformers who pretend that the permanence of the empire is involved in the question. The Colonist says:

"We can profess to speak only for Canada and for this part of Canada especially, when we say that the attachment of the people to the empire is not based upon the existence or non-existence of commercial advantages in the markets of the mother country. The very great majority of Canadians want the people of the United Kingdom to do whatever they think is best for themselves. * * *. If they (the British tariff reformers) really desire to preserve unimpaired the integrity of the British Empire, they should cease now and for all time to come to couple the maintenance of the loyalty of the over-seas dominions to any fiscal policy whatever by the mother-country. On the general proposition of reciprocity with the United States our position is that it is not necessary; for we can get, by exercising a little patience, all the advantages of such reciprocity as our neighbors are likely to give us, without our having to give anything in return; but we insist that no scheme of reciprocal trade between the two countries that can be devised would weaken Canadian loyalty to the empire in the slightest degree. Those who think it would simply do not know upon what that loyalty rests. They also lose sight of the teachings of Canadian history, for it is a fact, which cannot be disputed, that the reciprocity treaty of 1854 completely killed every semblance of a desire for annexation among the people of the British North American provinces." The Colonist is more sane and far-sighted in this matter than some of its contemporaries, British and Canadian. The British tariff reformers have a party purpose in trying to foster the belief that the empire will disintegrate without tariff ties, but Canadians owe it to their self-respect not to encourage this notion, which implies that Canada's adhesion to the empire is a favor to be purchased. The British empire, unlike the German, was not cemented by tariffs. It will be held together by the moral influences that have welded its component parts into the greatest political fabric in the world.

Laurier's western tour is putting some of our Conservative contemporaries sadly out of temper.

For some weeks Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been the most deputationized and petitionized politician on earth. Also the most lionized.

Where there is lax enforcement of the law, there is widespread disregard for it. One unfailing symptom is a readiness to resort to the revolver or the knife.

The Liberal Government in Prince Edward Island has a majority of two. Experience shows that this state of affairs is more promising for an Opposition than an administration.

The masses and bricklayers on the parliament buildings in Regina have struck because the contractors have labor troubles at Montreal. From Montreal to Regina is carrying the sympathetic strike rather far.

The newshoys of Hamilton struck because they could not buy two papers for one cent. Half a cent a copy would not pay for the paper and ink. A newspaper is the only commodity which many persons expect to buy regularly at less than cost. Too many publishers have encouraged the notion.

Mr. Stuart Lyon will succeed the late Mr. Ewan as associate editor of the Toronto Globe. Mr. Lyon is not new to his duties. He first made a name for himself as municipal reporter of the Globe. Later he was city editor, and for some years past has been news editor, with an occasional turn as a special correspondent and editorial writer. He wields an incisive pen, and is a mine of information on subjects political and economic. His Scotch Radicalism is in keeping with Globe traditions. Mr. Lyons will be succeeded as news editor by the present city editor, Mr. Wm. Banks, junior, a clever writer and all-round newspaper man.

SLAP ON THE WRIST.
[Chicago News.]
Tightwad—Did you ever notice, my dear, that nearly all these misers reported in the papers are single men?
Mrs. Tightwad—Yes; but that's only natural. Married misers are too common to be worth mentioning.

HIS LUNGS WERE SOUND.
[Louisville Courier-Journal.]
"I'm looking for a doctor. Can you answer a hurry call?"
"If it comes within my province," said the physician. "I'm a lung specialist, you know."
"The boy's lungs seem to be all right. It's a green apple specialist I want."

RURAL SYMPATHY.
[Saturday Evening Post.]
The rural free delivery reaches its flower of perfection in Vermont. "Mr. Carrier," said a lady who was summering among the mountains. "I have a letter, received several days ago, saying a package had been sent to me by mail. I have not received it yet. Have you seen anything of it?"
"A package?" asked the rural free deliverer.
"Yes, sir."
"What kind of a package?"
"Why, a small package—a box, in fact—covered with paper, containing some of my property."
"A small box; pasteboard, probably?"
"Yes."
"Let me see," pondered the rural free deliverer. "A package? Oh, yes, I guess that was your package I delivered to Mrs. Brown, down in the foothills a few days ago. She hadn't any mail for a long time, and I kind of felt sorry for her."

BARGAIN RATES.

HOME RULE FOR SCOTLAND.
[London Correspondent New York Sun.]
Now it is Scotland that demands home rule. This week 21 Liberal members of Parliament from Scotland issued a manifesto declaring that the time had come when that country should be ruled by the Scotch people. Scotland's particular grievance is that the Scotch are often legislated for as an afterthought. The Scots said that Parliament gives no adequate time to the discussion of Scotch affairs; in other words, that the country gets short shrift in matters of vital importance. They now demand that they be permitted to manage their own affairs in their own way, instead of being managed from London as at present. The manifesto declares that Scotland is getting tired of being governed by absentee legislators. What the demand will receive consideration at the hands of the ministry remains to be seen. Probably the question of home rule for Ireland is about as much as the Government cares to take up at this time. Scotland will probably have to wait until the ancient Irish grievance is settled one way or the other.

WATERPROOF.
[Life.]
Mother—In all that wild storm your sister Maggie went out with her throat all bare and exposed.
Brother—Rain won't hurt her. She's got a rubber neck.

EXTREME SLOWNESS.
[Kansas City Star.]
"Harold is very slow, isn't he?"
"Yes, he always was backward. Even as a child he never got the summer complaint until in the winter."

WONDERFUL DANCER.
[New York Evening Telegram.]
"I saw you dancing with Jones just now. Is he good?"
"A wonderful dancer! He never touched the floor."
"How do you mean?"
"He danced on my feet!"

DOWN IN THE JUNGLE.
[Lippincott's.]
There was once a funny old Hindoo. Who said, "I make clothes mighty thin do!"
Fact is, in July.
When the mercenary's high, I often make my old skin do!

THE AGE OF FRATERNITY.
[Hamilton Spectator.]
In the days of the past the dominant force in human society was the individualistic struggle for existence. In certain eras of the evolutionary process it was doubtless necessary for men to strive singly against each other in order that particular faculties might be fully developed. But whether a necessary part of the cosmic scheme or not, it is quite certain that such struggle has been a prominent part of human life and a characteristic feature of all action.

But new days dawn. New eras open. Necessities change with the change wrought in human life. Self-seeking individualism is no longer the quality most needed or most rewarded. More and more it becomes apparent that selfishness is suicide, that individualism is isolation, that to stand alone and fight alone is to run every chance of failure.

AN EASY TRICK.
[Lippincott's.]
A female lion tamer, young and fair, beckoned to a big lion, and it came and took a piece of sugar out of her mouth.
"Why, I could do that trick!" exclaimed a gentleman in the front row.
"What! You?" retorted the fair performer.
"Certainly—just as well as the lion!"

MARTIN'S AMBITION LED TO HIS DEATH

Fatal Accident to Sarnia Fireman at Kelly's Siding Investigated.

FELL BENEATH WHEELS

Was Climbing Over Car in Order to Learn Something About New Engine.

"That the deceased, Edwin J. Martin, came to his death on the morning of the 9th instant, by falling from the top of a box car at Kelly's Siding. The remainder of the crew of the train are exonerated from all blame in the matter."

The above verdict was returned last night by the jury, which, under Coroner Ferguson, investigated the death of Edwin J. Martin, of Sarnia.

The ambition of the two young firemen to learn all they could about engines seems to have been indirectly the cause of the fatality at Kelly's Siding on Tuesday morning, in which Martin lost his life.

Fireman Hawthorne's Story.
Fireman Hawthorne, of Windsor, was the principal witness. He told the jury that he had been ordered to take a dead engine to the Stratford shops, and that his duties were simply to see that the machine got there in good shape. After calling thoroughly he went ahead to the locomotive which was pulling the train and got Engineer Gray's permission to ride with him. Soon afterwards he asked if he might be allowed to fire as far as St. Marys as he had never had a chance to work on a Mogul. Meantime Martin seems to have made up his mind to go back and see the dead engine which was of another type, for after asking the brakeman about the car and without saying anything as to what he was going to do, he took the brakeman's lantern and started back. There were four cars between the tender and the dead engine. The third was a large box car, and immediately following one of coal. Brakeman Hall said he saw the lantern several times when he looked back, but could not see Martin, as it was a very dark night. He did not, however, think of anything being wrong. The car of coal, he said, would be about six feet lower than the top of the box car. Martin left the lantern standing at the end of the running board, and it is believed was endeavoring to make his way around to the car of coal when he lost his hold and fell under the wheels. The lantern was found just as he had left it at the end of the running board. When the train pulled into St. Marys the crew missed him, and started back with a handcar. Brakeman Hall said that it would be a difficult matter for a man to climb around the end of the box car to the coal gondola.

No Rules Broken.
A jurymen asked if Fireman Hawthorne was breaking any rule of the company by leaving the dead engine and going forward to the freight engine, and he said no.

Engineer Gray, who was in charge of Mogul 678, said Hawthorne introduced himself at Thorndale, and was permitted to fire.

Dr. Armstrong, of Thorndale, who conducted the post mortem, said Martin's skull was fractured at the back, and that his right arm was torn off. Death was due to these and other injuries.

The evidence of Conductor Porter, Brakeman Hall and Brakeman Westman was also taken.

CONVENTION OF THE VEGETABLE GROWERS

Annual Gathering of Provincial Association To Be Held On September 14.

The sixth annual convention of the Provincial Association of Vegetable Growers will be held in London on Sept. 14.

It is expected that representatives of every association in the province will be present, and the sessions promise to be most interesting. There will be three meetings, one in the morning, another at 2:30 in the afternoon, and the last at 7:30 in the evening, the latter to be followed by a banquet.

Arrangements are being made to have prominent American agriculturists address the convention. Last year the president of the American Association was present, and it is anticipated that a number from the United States will address the assembly. There will be several prominent Canadian agriculturists present.

A discussion will be held on co-operative societies, and this question will be thoroughly debated.

NEW COMET LOCATED.
Boston, Aug. 11.—The discovery of a new comet was announced at the Harvard College Observatory today. The discovery was made by the Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, at Burlington, Vt. The comet was in the following position: Right ascension, 16 hours, 11 minutes 22 seconds, declination, plus four degrees 52 minutes and 51 seconds.

Prof. E. C. Pickering, at the Harvard Observatory, upon receipt of the news of the discovery from the Rev. Metcalf, directed that photographic plates be exposed to the region, where the comet was reported to be. Upon examination of the plates today the comet was found and the discovery positively established.

The comet was found to be moving in a northwesterly direction. It could not be definitely stated this afternoon as the observatory whether the comet is nearing the earth.

A MIGHTY WELCOME FROM CITY OF EDMONTON

Fifteen Thousand Turn Out to Greet Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 9.—It was the most impressive scene of the tour, numerically and in the magnificence of midday, Alberta's provincial welcome at the central corner of the main thoroughfare, where a temporary elevated stand was erected. The street was canopied with streamers, and the business blocks were ablaze with foliage and bunting. Probably fifteen thousand cheering people blocked the streets from every direction, waving greetings from the balconies, and shouted from the roof tops. The music of three bands and the brilliant scarlet uniforms of the Fusiliers and Mounted Police enlivened the mammoth function. Sir Wilfrid's appearance was greeted with a tumult of western enthusiasm. As he took his seat on the platform crowds in every direction cheered and cheered again. The Premier rose, doffing his hat. Suddenly he paused, and, gazing out over the seething mass of humanity, pointed to the upper window of a block diagonally opposite, where a tiny child was seated on the ledge swinging her feet over the thoroughfare below, and anxiously inquired: "Is that little one safe?" Amid all the display and acclaim the Premier's eyes were for the child in danger.

The Premier visited Edmonton on the occasion of the formation of the province five years ago, and saw a little scrappy town with unpaved streets and wooden buildings. Last night he saw a city of beautiful avenues and crowded metropolitan thoroughfares. Five years ago a modest five thousand people greeted him. Last night five thousand citizens welcomed him at the station and ten thousand more lined the route of the carriage which brought him through the streets.

A Believer in Free Trade.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier has also received a delegation of Indians from the Kibbema Reserve, near Weta-Kwin, introduced by Peter Gunn, M.

Midsummer Love

By Beatrice Fairfax.

I wonder how many captains will bring their little ships safely home to port these midsummer days.

Girls may dress the winter season very few girls can go through the summer without at least one sentimental episode.

It's a sort of midsummer madness which gets in the blood.

Many of you, my girls, will fall in love this summer.

With some it will be the great and abiding love of your lives; with others it will be but a passing infatuation; but with all it will be real enough, while it lasts. And, in either case, it should be looked upon seriously.

If it is real love, may God bless you and help you to steer your little boat of happiness into a safe harbor.

If it is imitation love, may God grant you sense to distinguish between the false and the true, and to avoid the worst fate that can befall any girl—a loveless marriage.

A moonlit summer evening puts a great glamor on commonplace things. It can glorify a flirtation into a very good imitation of real love.

Try to keep your wits, girls, even when your hearts are pounding madly and the whole moonlit world is singing of love.

Ask yourself if what you feel is love, or some mere physical attraction which quickly wears off.

When you fall in love, you want it to be the love of your life, for you know, dear, this falling in love is a strange, perplexing sort of joy, as troublesome as it is sweet.

There are doubts and fears, as well as joys.

I once heard a woman say: "Thank goodness, I am married to John. I love him devotedly and hope to all my life; but I could not stand falling in love with him over again. It nearly killed me."

Despair as Well as Bliss.

"Werren't you happy?" I asked, in surprise.

"Yes, of course, I was; but I was also miserable. One day in the heights of bliss, the next in the depths of despair—now I am in a heaven of peace. I love him and he loves me; all we have to do is to hold each other's love."

During the summertime a girl meets many strange men. She goes away on visits or a vacation; she is among strangers and compelled to judge these men friends by herself—that is, without the guidance of her mother's opinion.

There is one infallible rule to follow, girls, and that is: The instant a man gives you the slightest reason to doubt his honor and sincerity have nothing more to do with him.

Remember, also, that men, as well as girls, suffer from midsummer madness. A man may lose his head over a pretty girl and pay her many attentions, but it does not always mean that he wants to marry her.

gether they sometimes make a sad picture of things.

So, once more, little friends, if you are drifting into that sweetest of ports, keep your eyes open and be sure that the steady beam of your true love lights you on your way.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

Bride Chooses the Minister.

Dear Miss Grey: Does the bride or bridegroom select the minister to marry them, and who pays him?

—A. It is customary for the bride to choose the minister who will marry them, but the bridegroom is supposed to pay the marriage fee, which usually goes to the minister's wife if he has any.

Who Rings Off First?

Dear Miss Grey: When two friends are telephoning, who should be the first to ring off? This has been a serious debate on this question, so please settle it for the parties.

—E. AND J. A. For the benefit of the many who have written me with queries, I will impress upon all users thereof to make their conversation brief and to the point. The one who calls up first is the first to say "Good-bye," unless something very urgent calls the other person away, when she should ask pardon for her haste. Telephone invitations are permissible in these days of haste and long distances; in fact, telephone dinners and luncheons are often very delightful affairs. A hostess I know, when she is very anxious to make up just a certain party, will "phone to find out if they are disengaged for the evening she wishes, then she sends a note or card by post to remind them of the day, date and hour, so there will be no mistake.

When Bathing

The woman who swims is not as particular about the appearance of her coiffure as she who only jumps up and down and shrieks daintily in the waves; but even the swimmer does not enjoy the tiresome hour which must often be spent in rinsing and drying the hair after the salt water bath.

The best protection for the hair is the ordinary rubber diving cap, which may be purchased for half a dollar at any shop where swimming supplies are sold; and even this closely-fitting rubber cap must be reinforced with a kerchief, or a soft satin ribbon may be tied around the edge of the cap and knotted securely at one side in a smart bow. This equipped the bather may swim, float, and even dive without the least danger of wetting her hair; and the cap is so easily adjusted that it need not be put on until just before one enters the water.

Care should be taken to rinse out the rubber cap thoroughly, not allowing the salt water to dry on it, else the rubber will stick together and the cap soon go in holes.

HILMA

William Tillinghast Eldridge.

"That's one thing I admire in you," he answered. "You are not afraid of the purpose of my call, and get at the 'good'."

"He leaned back in his chair, tilted it against the rail and lighted another cigarette."

"How do you expect to have a ghost of a show in this thing without those documents?"

"So it was, after all, the papers he had called out. They might even now rest in his pocket as they had once in mine. Possibilities lurked in the air; but I asked indifferently."

"Do you refer to the contents of the envelope which you said was not in your possession?"

"I'll not beat about the bush if you do," Heinrich replied promptly. "I've got the envelope that Von Metcalfe gave you, and you in turn gave the counters—you know I have. For my own reasons I haven't opened it. It's the 'Pepper Box,' but—and we learned across the table and took the cigarette from his mouth, looking at it with interest. Had I only known then how much a knowledge of his plan would help, and, too, in no brief a time, I would have spent the day studying it from every vantage point of the lake."

"When we got back to the inn there was just enough time left to reach the princess's by five o'clock."

"Our first adjustment was a quiet affair, for we both felt that Hilma could not agree to Heinrich's terms, and so, as we had been at any time."

"Failure was a new thing to me. I had glared up that which I had wanted, but to strive and not accomplish made me angry, and when I grew angry I was very apt to grow sulky and moody. And to add to that state of mind, I had not even a single pleasant prospect before me."

"We crowned the princess. I would go my way—have to go my way. If we failed, think you I would for one moment feel like the right to press my claim, when the condition making such a thing possible had come through my failure."

"Such a mood hung over us both even when we reached the castle, and I, for the first time, felt disappointed to find Karl and Hilma alone, and the princess not yet returned."

"If we were both glad, Karl and Hilma were both glad. He had just seen the Duke of Alvermark again, and that worthy had good news as to the feelings among many of the grand dukes."

"But what's that to us?" Karl demanded presently. "The evidence is what we need."

"What is it to us?" demanded the general with a look of keen surprise on his face. "It's not more than all I've got now. I have felt Zergald had the duke with him, body and soul. Now we have one of them, besides the duke's self, who will lead. What could I do but follow?"

"If I supported the princess alone, I was charged with the duty of personal guard. Already he has a dozen others, more than Hilma would need to come to our aid. If they can be assured that they will be safe from Zergald's wrath."

"(To Be Continued.)"

MIDDLESEX PIONEER

PASSES TO HIS REST

Mr. Charles Laughton, of Ekfrid, Dead

After Long Illness.

On Wednesday, Aug. 3, another of the pioneers of Middlesex passed to the great beyond in the person of Mr. Charles Laughton, of Ekfrid. About four months ago Mr. Laughton was stricken with a fatal illness, and despite all that medical skill and faithful nursing could do, he gradually sank until the end came. He was the second eldest of a family of seven brothers and sisters, and was born on April 23, 1835, on lot 25, con. 8, London Township. His parents were English, having come to Canada about 1825 from Nottingham. About 1853 the family moved to lot 3, con. 14, Township of Middlesex, where the subject of this sketch continued to reside for nearly forty years. In 1892 he took up his residence with his son, Edward, on lot 9, con. 4, Ekfrid, where he resided until his death. Early in life he united with the Baptist Church on the Lobo and London town line, and although living six miles distant, was a rare thing to see his place vacant on the Sabbath Day. On coming to Metcalfe, there being no church or minister of the Baptist persuasion conveniently near, the Laughton family, along with some others, invited the late Rev. Wm. Savage, a Methodist, to start holding services in that community. The result was that a large Methodist congregation sprang into existence, with which Mr. Laughton united, and to which he remained a faithful and consistent member to the last. In 1856 he married Deborah Thompson, a native of Halton County. Four years ago they celebrated their golden wedding, there being a number present who were also at their marriage 50 years before. Besides his aged widow, who survives him, he leaves to mourn his loss his three sons, viz., John E. and Edward A., of Ekfrid, and Samuel C., of Metcalfe, all of whom were at his bedside when he died. He had reached the ripe age of 75 years, 3 months and 11 days. He was a Liberal in politics, and had been a constant reader of The London Advertiser for 35 years.

On Friday, Aug. 5, his remains were interred in the Springfield cemetery, which is situated on the old Metcalfe homestead, on which he lived so many years. A large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends followed his remains to the grave.

THE WHALE HUNTERS.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 10.—Bound for the South Atlantic on her annual sealing expedition the schooner Beatrice L. Corkum sailed this morning. This is becoming a very important industry, yielding large returns to the owner and Nova Scotians. The men who inaugurated these South Sea expeditions have been very successful in their ventures, having made a lot of money last year.

COCHRANE FIRE LOSSES.

Toronto, Aug. 10.—No report has been received here regarding the fire losses in Cochrane. Local fire insurance companies, however, estimate the loss will be between $50,000 and $70,000. The companies have about decided to cease accepting risks in the far northern towns, on account of the small amount of insurance carried and also because of poor fire fighting appliances. The rates are almost prohibitive, being 10 per cent of the risk for the year.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Heinrich had been quiet but a few minutes when Karl came stamping out to the balcony. I was so absorbed with my thoughts, however, that I neither heard him open the door nor cross the room, and his hand fell on my shoulder before I realized he was there. I tried to get up, but he merely threw himself into the chair Heinrich had just vacated.

"Do you want that envelope again?" I asked indifferently.

"Oh, no, certainly not," he replied with a bitter laugh. "Not after the way it slipped through our fingers when we had Heinrich here and dry. Curse Zergald for getting out of those ropes. I thought I'd tied him fast."

"Well, I think our search has brought some results, even if we missed the documents," I answered.

"What then, pray tell me?" Karl demanded in some disgust. I hope there's a loophole somewhere, for this Alvermark following is mighty lukewarm, to my way of thinking."

"I believe we can still get the papers." "What chance is there?" he asked, glancing at me carelessly, his tone full of disgust at the turn affairs had taken. "A pretty good chance, and I can do it."

"What?" Karl exclaimed, coming to a sitting position with a jump. "What do you mean?"

Then I told him of Heinrich's call and the terms demanded, though even to him I said nothing of the money consideration. I hoped if the princess were willing to accede to the other terms, to beat Heinrich's cash price down much lower, and meet that part personally, for I knew the princess's fortune would not allow her to consider for a moment the offer, if the cash consideration were mentioned.

"His nerve is not lacking," Karl replied as I finished.

"True," I agreed; "but shouldn't the offer be explained to the right Highness? I suppose it is for her to accept or decline."

"Beyond a doubt," Karl agreed. "She has an appointment with Karl about five, and we could see her then."

"Yes," I said, looking at my watch and then at the late shining so invitingly before us. "We've lots of time. Let's get a boat and have a sail."

We found a small "cat" moored by the wharf at the foot of the gardens, and were soon under way. We sailed up the lake, close to the left shore, a fine breeze behind us, then worked back high from the rocks to the right shore. It was my first view of them, and I was naturally much interested. Karl put the bent about so that the shining under the walls of Zergald's castle, and while it differed little from the other, I looked at it with great interest. Had I only known then how much a knowledge of his plan would help, and, too, in no brief a time, I would have spent the day studying it from every vantage point of the lake."

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR OF WORLD UNITED

Concordat Established Between Governing Bodies in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—The resolution unanimously adopted here today, establishing a concordat between Knights Templar governing bodies, is said by Masons to be the most important step taken by the conclaves for many years. The concordat establishes amicable relations between the knights of England, Ireland, Scotland, Canada and the United States, and is an event which has been crystallizing for many years.

Its consummation is said to be the chief object for which the Earl of Euston, pro-grand master of England and Wales, visited the thirty-first conclave.

The election of officers for the conclave of 1913 will be taken up tomorrow morning.

The competitive drills, second only in interest to the parade of yesterday, began early today, and are to last through tomorrow. The prizes will be awarded tomorrow night. Detroit commandery No. 1 was first on the field today. Sixty men in black uniforms, topped with the white-plumed chapeau, marched and counter-marched, ending with the saber salute to the grandstand.

Detroit commandery No. 1 was called to the headquarters of the United States this evening, and after many laudatory remarks by the chairman of the drill committee, was presented with a magnificent silken banner, the regulation United States army flag. This was a recognition of the beautiful work done in the exhibition drill, under command of Acting Captain-General L. D. Harris.

Captain-General John H. Hanna, of Detroit, put Damascus drill team of fifty men through a stiff two hours' drill at the Esplanade this morning in preparation for the exhibition to be given at the National League Park Thursday morning by invitation of the grand commander. The men are in fine trim.

Capt. James B. Gowen, B. E. Ingram and James S. Young, jun., officers of the United States army, who acted as judges in the drills, late today announced that Raper commandery, No. 1, of Indianapolis won the first prize, a silver libation fountain and cups.

Warehousemen friends of Henry J. Leonard, of Detroit, gave the women of the party a 48-mile automobile ride about the parks and boulevards.

Fred J. Ottinger, of Chicago, and Assistant Prosecutor Charles Crane joined the Damascus party at the Lexington today.

DR. JAMIESON DEAD.
Detroit, Aug. 9.—Following an illness of several months, Dr. Robert A. Jamieson, one of Detroit's most prominent physicians, died this afternoon at his residence here. He was a member of the medical staff of Harper's, St. Mary's and St. Luke's hospitals. Dr. Jamieson was born in the town of Brock, Ont., in 1843, and graduated from McGill University at Montreal. In 1870 he came to Detroit. He is survived by his wife and four sons.

CANT' REPORT HIM.
Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 10.—The United States justice department has notified the justice department at Ottawa it will not allow the deportation of Jacob Gubitsky into the United States. Gubitsky was convicted two years ago at Windsor for smuggling furs and sent to Kingston Penitentiary. The authorities here had a wish to parole and deport him, but as he is not an American citizen he cannot get entry into that country. Gubitsky lived forty years in New York, but was never naturalized.

SHOOTS TWO MEN IN TELEGRAPH OFFICE

Operator Runs Amuck With Revolver, Scaring Two Dozen Workers.

Detroit, Aug. 11.—Two men were shot and two dozen operators were thrown into a panic in the offices of the Western Union Telegraph Company at Congress and Griswold streets, early last evening, when one of the operators whipped a revolver from his pocket and fired five shots about the room in his rage after a quarrel with two of the men.

John De Laney, of Windsor, who rooms at 102 Lafayette avenue, was the man who did the shooting. One of the two men shot was seriously hurt and had to be taken to St. Mary's hospital. He is Arthur McArdle, a close friend of De Laney, and he was hit with a bullet in the back when attempting to take the revolver from his friend's hands to prevent him from doing more mischief.

Harry L. Schwartz, 117 Baker street, was the other man hurt. The bullet lodged in the back of his neck, but the wound is not serious, and he was able to go home after having the wound tended. Schwartz was the man for whom the shots were intended, but De Laney lost control of himself in the commotion and began to fire at random. The quarrel started when an operator turning over a bunch of duplicates of messages on file happened to tear one of those which De Laney had taken.

De Laney, who was at the Monroe wire, became angry.

"See here, don't you know that I'm responsible for that dispatch?" he demanded.

"No, you're not. I'm responsible," returned the other, and then a few words followed until Schwartz interrupted with, "Go on, bawl him out."

De Laney resented the interference and heated words followed. Schwartz finally jumped up at his desk, but just as he did so De Laney pulled out a 22-caliber revolver and fired at him.

McArdle is a brother of John McArdle, chief operator. He followed De Laney into the hall, when he rushed after the retreating operator, and there threw his arms around him and tried to pull the revolver from his hands. De Laney was about to yield to his friend, when another operator came up excited and pulled the trigger. The revolver's muzzle was against McArdle's ribs. He retired into the rest room and had been there ten minutes before it was known that he had been shot.

A list of forty-five names are mentioned for bravery, including Rev. Father Anatole Martin, chaplain of the fire brigade; Rev. Father Elliott, of St. Patrick's Church; Rev. Canon McNeil, St. Thomas Church; District Chief Arthur Mann; District Chief Oscar Mann.

CLEVELAND MYSTERY.
Cleveland, Aug. 10.—The inquest into the death of Wm. L. Rice, millionaire lawyer and clubman, who was shot and killed near his home in Euclid Heights last Friday, was begun today.

The inquest is expected to throw light on the new theory that Rice had an appointment to meet someone on his way home from the club, which supposition gains credence from the fact that the attorney never before had been known to make the trip unless in company with a friend or servant, and never alone.

THEY GOT THE STOKERS.
Southampton, Eng., Aug. 10.—The steamer Adriatic sailed for New York punctually at noon today, somewhat to the surprise of the striking firemen who were confident that the company would be unable to secure stokers.

The White Star Line officials used a lot of strategy. Office clerks and other shore employees were put aboard to help get up steam, after which the Adriatic quietly dropped down the Solent and picked up a hundred firemen who had been held in waiting off the Isle of Wight. The stokers hold complement was thus made complete and the steamer proceeded under normal conditions.

OTTER FOLLOWS LAKE.
Ottawa, Aug. 10.—It is said to be certain General Otter will succeed General Lake as inspector-general of Canadian militia, as general of Canadian forces, when the latter's term expires.

OTTAWA'S LOAN.
Ottawa, Aug. 10.—A Canadian loan of $7,500,000 falls due in October in London, and will be renewed at 3 1/2 per cent. The old loan was at 4 per cent.

WILL GIVE LOANS TO HELP FARMERS

Socialistic Plan of English Liberals Meets With General Favor.

London, Aug. 10.—The Earl of Carrington, minister of agriculture, announced this week that the Government intends to establish a system of co-operative banks for the benefit of the small farmers. This announcement has created bitterness among the Unionists, who accuse the Liberals of stealing their thunder. The policy was advocated long ago by the Unionist party, and Mr. Balfour in 1909 incorporated the idea in a speech which he delivered at Birmingham. The plan which he set forth then was incorporated in his party's platform.

The Earl of Carrington is a model landlord. He owns 23,000 acres of land. During the last Unionist administration he induced Parliament to pass the small holdings bill, and this law has revolutionized sentiment in the country in favor of the restoration of England to a peasant's proprietary. This was one of Carrington's ideas when he was governor of New South Wales. He has succeeded in reforming the land laws and the consequent dividing of huge farms into small holdings.

It is to be assumed that the credit of the new banks will be arranged along the lines of the Australian plan, under which the Government, with simple and easy conditions, advances as much as $2,500 to clear and fence land, for irrigation, etc.

The loans are repaid in instalments when the country is prosperous. While Carrington's scheme is socialistic, the newspapers of all parties commend it highly.

CLASHING VIEWS OF PASSION PLAY

What Viola Allen and George
Tyler Think of Famous Drama.

London, Aug. 10.—What a difference the point of view makes! Is the famous Passion Play at Oberammergau a great thing or is it not? Look on both sides and judge for yourself.

Whether it is worth while going to see. Miss Viola Allen, a distinguished American actress, left for New York after attending the performance of the Passion Play, and before embarking told me what she thought of it. Just before her manager, Mr. George C. Tyler, started for home, he also confided to me his opinion of the Passion Play. Neither of them knew what the other had said.

"What inhabitants of a little village of 1,500 souls have accomplished in giving with atmosphere, dignity and reverence, a stage performance of the greatest and most sacred of the world's tragedies, is little short of marvellous," said Miss Allen. "It is so well done that my attention was held every minute of the eight hours."

"These mountaineers do not attempt more than they can do well, and are one concerned down to the tiny children, is excellent and earnest. But they have 277 years of tradition behind them, and it has become the life and aim of the village. They are constantly doing other plays, mostly of simple Old Testament stories, to keep themselves in training for the great event which comes once in ten years of their lives."

"In all honesty it should be said," continued Miss Allen, "that in spite of the idealism and the advantage accruing from these performances, the people of Oberammergau themselves do not appear in the least degree commercial. There seems to be absolutely no competition. They all work together for the good of the village, and not for the advantage of the individual."

"A most absurd thing would be to try to compare the stage work of these earnest, simple villagers with professional acting. I would not care to see the Passion Play presented by any other than the people of Oberammergau. Taken away from this mountainous village, the play would lose its uplifting charm."

So much for Miss Allen. Now listen to her manager, who selects her plays for her and the people to act in them: "All my life I have been taught to consider the Passion Play a religious festival, and I approached it with a sincere spirit of reverence," said Mr. Tyler. "Well, I found it the rottenest graft I ever met. Imagine my feelings when I found the representative of Christ selling his autograph for two marks or as much more as he could get."

"It is no more a religious festival than any Bowery 5-cent picture show. They have a stage manager from Vienna and scenery from Berlin, and they play to 20,000 marks a show, and as often as they can, at that. As a money-making scheme promoted by a community of yaps, it is great; as a professionally managed and theatrically mounted production, it is punk, and that's the only word for it."

And there you are!

Zam-Buk Cures Sunburn

Neglect of a sunburn on face, arm or neck often leads to the after-growth of skin which is freckled or coarse, and this is particularly distressing to ladies. Timely application of Zam-Buk will prevent this. Zam-Buk is a herbal balm, which soothes and cools the burned skin, and assists nature to replace the damaged tissue with soft, velvety skin.

Zam-Buk is also good for stings, scratches, heat sores, blisters on hands or feet and all skin injuries. Applied to these it quickly stops the smarting and insures quick healing. As it is free from animal fat and mineral coloring matter, it is particularly suited to the delicate skin of babies, suffering from heat rashes, chafed places, etc. Sold everywhere by druggists and storekeepers. Beware of harmful imitations and see the name "Zam-Buk" on the box before buying.

PUNJABS AND SIKHS TREKKING TO U. S.

Headed for California to Secure
Positions On Police Forces.

[Associated Press Cable.]
Calcutta, Aug. 10.—A remarkable emigration of Punjabs, Mohammedans, and Sikhs, who are making for Hong Kong with the avowed intention of proceeding to California, is engaging the attention of the United States consul-general.

Some of these who are turning their faces toward the new world are taking their families with them, but the greater number belong to the fighting castles and are under the impression that they can get on the American police force. They are confident that they can at least secure positions as watchmen. The emigrants explain that they have relatives in California who have written them saying that they have found a good land, and urging those addressed to join them. Fifteen hundred natives sailed for the west in five ships during the month just closed and many more are preparing to follow.

The consul-general said today that none of the emigrants had visited the American consulate, and in all probability would not be allowed to land in the United States.

BROOKINS HURT IN SAVING SPECTATOR

Aviator Hurls Cra't to Earth
When Crowd Is in Path.

Asbury Park, N.J., Aug. 10.—A serious mishap to Walter Brookins, in which the daring Wright aviator was painfully but not dangerously hurt, marred the opening day of the aviation meet here. Brookins was dashed, stunned, to the earth, when the machine suddenly crashed into the air after he had been forced to swerve the airship suddenly to avoid crashing into a crowd of spectators. Seven other persons, among whom the machine tumbled were injured.

Brookins was pinned under the wreckage and was only half conscious when friends reached him. This started a report that he had been fatally injured. An examining surgeon showed that his nose was broken, and that he had been badly bruised and shaken up, but not seriously hurt.

The mishap was witnessed by the large crowd, and was directly due to the thronging of spectators out on to the field. Brookins, in descending, had no room to operate the machine, and was driven to make a sudden turn to avoid crashing among the watchers. The tricky wind caught the machine and sent it spinning over backward.

In the face of a high wind the aviator had made a successful short flight, circling the field and then descending in a splendid sweep. As he neared the earth he first saw that where he had intended to descend. To avoid it he swerved the machine sharply, and found himself headed straight for the grandstand. Instantly he allowed the machine to drop.

The machine, in its fall, turned over and tumbled amid a crowd of watchers, mostly boys. One youngster was rushed to a hospital, where it was reported that he had sustained a fracture of the skull. Six other youths were less seriously hurt.

Brookins created a world's record for high flying July 9 at Atlantic City, N.J., where he reached an elevation of 6,175 feet in a Wright biplane. For this feat he received a $5,000 prize offered by the Atlantic City Aero Club.

Brookins holds the world's records for high flying at Indianapolis.

WOULD RAISE FUNDS FOR DICKENS HEIRS

Britons Plan to Sell Royalty Stamp to Each Owner of Author's Books.

London, Aug. 10.—The use of conscience money to celebrate the approaching centenary of Charles Dickens is the suggestion of the Strand Magazine. To the great novelist's present-day admirers it is pointed out that Dickens did not live to draw one-tenth of the profits from his books and received no royalties whatever from America. Besides all this, three of his children and his seventeen grandchildren are in comparatively poor circumstances. It is estimated that allowing for loss and the wear and tear of the 24,000,000 copies of Dickens' works that have been issued, two cents royalty on each copy, would realize a half-million dollars. But this is recognized as impossible, and it is therefore suggested that every owner of one of Dickens' books buy a Dickens stamp for each volume, thus certifying that the royalty of two cents had been paid. The stamps would be put on sale throughout the world in 1911. It is proposed that the sum thus raised be handed to the representatives of the Dickens family, to be used as they may see fit. A strong committee will be formed to handle the matter.

Val, papal secretary of state, remained today at his summer villa on Monte Mario. His absence from Rome was construed generally as indicating that no immediate development bearing on the strained relations between the Vatican and the Spanish Government were expected.

It was learned the attitude of the Holy See unchanged. The reopening of official negotiations is considered impossible unless the Government of Spain exhibits not only its word, but through its deeds, a sincere desire to reach an understanding by acting. It is said, as any correct Government would act in the premises. By this it is meant that Spain should withdraw the legislative measures that deal solely with contended points.

NEGRO MASS MEETING DENOUNCES LYNCHING

Attitude of White People Following the Fight at Reno Referred To.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Armed with fiery resolutions adopted at an exciting mass meeting, a committee of prominent negroes of this city today began work on a plan to induce all the negroes of the United States to join in a protest against lynching and race riots in the south, and to demand protection and equal rights in all parts of the country.

Texas was denounced and the whole south was arraigned; the supreme court of the United States was inveighed against, and the newspapers of the country were attacked, amid scenes that at times bordered on a riot. The race war at Palestine, Tex., was the chief cause of the protest. Recent lynchings in Florida and the attitude of the white people and the press following the victory of Jack Johnson at Reno were among the matters most prominently mentioned. No such meeting was ever held in Washington before, and it is looked upon here as the most serious proposition. Among the negroes present were federal officers, many of whom outranked white men in the service, and some of whom had white women as their subordinates.

Those Who Took Part.
Several of the most prominent speakers were negro preachers. Negro lawyers and other leaders of the race took an active part. The meeting was held in the Metropolitan Baptist Church, which was crowded to the doors. The speakers were cheered wildly, and each orator shouted his denunciation, some of them actually screaming in their excitement.

H. A. Clarke, one of the negro speakers, said: "The south again has made herself conspicuous by the recent lynching of innocent and defenceless negroes. In violation of the laws of God and man she has been the principal cause of the blackest epochs in the world's history, namely, the epoch of slavery and rebellion, the period of Ku Kluxism and ballot box stuffing, and the era of lynching, disfranchisement and crowding."

Rev. I. N. Ross, of the Colored Methodist Church, said: "God wants the negroes to get together and take care of themselves. Negroes in Washington, and they are told by the white people to 'run to God with everything.' They are taught to be afraid of themselves. If the supreme court of the United States had put down race rioting and bent all its efforts to stopping mob violence, this Texas slaughter would never have occurred."

Other speakers exhorted the negroes throughout the country to use the ballot, as their most effective weapon, and join in a nation-wide movement. Resolutions to this effect were adopted.

AEROPLANE LOST.

Nancy, France, Aug. 10.—Interesting tests of military aeroplanes pitted against bicycle and automobile scouts for speed and manoeuvring, were held today's interim before the resumption of the cross-country serial race.

The aeroplanes had the worst of the match. The soldier cyclists and automobilists figuratively shot at a range of about 300 feet all of the aeroplanes which attempted to reconnoitre in a given direction. In making their reports of the manoeuvres, the officers in charge stated that the aeroplanists would have escaped if they had kept above the trees, but the woods cut skirted the field of their operations.

'TAR BABY' DOPES IT OUT

Langford Expects to Win and Fight
Johnson—Kaufman is Confident of Victory

[By Associated Press.]

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—With Al Kaufman, of California, and Sam Langford, the negro heavyweight from Boston, in the city, ready to do battle, the six-round bout between the men scheduled for tonight at the grounds of the Philadelphia National League baseball park has been postponed. Weather permitting, the men will meet tomorrow night, but in the event of rain the first clear night thereafter.

While rain fell nearly all day, the decision to postpone the bout was not arrived at until 5 o'clock.

Both Confident.

Kaufman, accompanied by Billy Delaney, his sparring partner and manager, arrived in Philadelphia today and expressed confidence in the outcome of his meeting with Langford. Delaney was equally confident.

He said:

"Al will beat that fellow. He will simply fight the 'tar baby' off his feet."

"Johnson says that Kaufman is the second best man," said Sam Langford, and that is one of the reasons I am going to meet him. I expect to win inside the limit. If I beat Al easily, then Johnson can hardly say I am in the infant class."

COOMBS' ILLNESS A MYTH

Jennings Ordered to Clubhouse by

From Ban B.

[By Associated Press.]

Detroit, Aug. 10.—Harry Coombs, the hero of the 16-inning battle with Ed Walsh, the only major league twirler who holds the honor of pitching five runs and winning it, was not affected by his recent struggle in Chicago as much as reports stated. He demonstrated this yesterday afternoon when he pitched the Athletics to an 8 to 3 victory in the second game of the series.

Reports had the Philadelphia twirler dangerously ill with pleurisy in his side, but he didn't look as though he got up from a sick bed to pitch a game yesterday, and his work was further proof of the fact that he hadn't been in any serious condition.

Coombs had an advantage over Donovan, who opposed him, owing to the fact that the Tiger twirler was pounded for five runs in the first inning and the lead was too much for the Tigers to overcome. On his recent struggle in Chicago as much as reports stated. He demonstrated this yesterday afternoon when he pitched the Athletics to an 8 to 3 victory in the second game of the series.

CRIPPLED BUT GAME, 'MARSE ED'
STILL SMILES AND DRIVES WINNERS

ED "POP" GEERS.

After 30 years behind the trotters and pacers, "Marse Ed," as they call the genius of the Village Farm before turf writers handed him the name of "Pop," is still the greatest teamster of them all.

Geers goes about on crutches just now as the result of a spill a couple of weeks ago. This doesn't interfere with the grand old man's ability to tool a winner, as witness the performance of the Abbe and Dudie in the Chamber of Commerce and M. and M. at Detroit Blue Ribon meeting.

Six times since he started driving light harness horses has Geers suffered from broken bones. The number of lesser accidents are too numerous to mention, yet each year he "comes back" with a string of sterling performers and goes down the big line, "way up in front in the money."

The classic thing in the Geers' string this year, and one of the grandest trotters ever bred, is The world's champion trotting stallion and a worthy successor to the great Crecus.

INSURGENT LEADERS GUESTS OF ROOSEVELT

Garfield and Gifford Pinchot
Spending Night at Sagamore Hill.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 11.—Theodore Roosevelt held a secret conference to-night with James R. Garfield and Gifford Pinchot, who are regarded as two of the most ardent of insurgents. They are spending the night at Sagamore Hill. William Loeb, jun., left Sagamore Hill several hours before they arrived, after a long discussion of political matters with the former President.

The visit of Messrs. Garfield and Pinchot rounded out a period of two nights and a day, of which Mr. Roosevelt gave a large part to a close survey of the field of politics, particularly in New York State, Ohio, and the far west.

The two men protested that they would not and could not talk about their plans or the significance of their visit. The former forester said he found the sentiment in the west in regard to the Roosevelt policies very enthusiastic.

"And what do they think of the Taft administration?"

"What do you think of the weather?" was his reply. It was raining hard just then.

Mr. Roosevelt also refused to be interviewed on politics after his guests had arrived. He did say, however, that he was talking about conservation with his former forester. It was expected that Mr. Pinchot would make a report on political conditions in the far west.

Mr. Loeb's visit he would not discuss, beyond saying that they had talked about one-fifth politics and four-fifths other things, mainly about old times.

The former President said that he expected to have no more political talks at Sagamore Hill before he starts on his western trip, unless some visitors drop in unexpectedly. He is to leave his home on Aug. 23, instead of Aug. 25, as was planned originally, stopping off at Utica, N. Y., to make a speech to the farmers of Oneida and Herkimer Counties. He will visit with his brother-in-law, Douglas Robinson, on his farm near Utica, until his special car, which is to leave New York on the evening of Aug. 24, catches up with him.

READY TO DIE

Spanish Manifestants Tell Why Demonstration Was Abandoned.

Bilbao, Aug. 11.—The Catholic committee explained the abandonment of the San Sebastian demonstration in a manifesto issued yesterday.

After stigmatizing the government's action as arbitrary, the manifesto declares that the Catholics fear neither persecutions nor threats, and are ready to offer their lives in defence of the sovereign pontiff.

It is set forth that the manifestation was given up at the solicitation of the Catholic junta at Guipuzcoa, but adds that the Catholics do not regret that they come from an indomitable race which never submitted to tyranny.

The committee announces that it has not finished its mission, and concludes: "A moment of resolute decision will suffice to put an end to the Government's programme."

THAMESFORD.

Thamesford, Aug. 10.—Rev. Dr. George Smith, of St. Catharines, and family, are holidaying at Mrs. Cawthorne's.

Mr. P. F. Weisbrod and family, who have been visiting at N. C. McCarthy's, left on Saturday, accompanied by Miss McCarthy, on a visit to Dr. Weisbrod, of Michigan.

Miss Hazel Judge, who has been ill with typhoid fever, is now convalescing, and hopes in a short time to be entirely recovered. There are several other cases reported in the village.

We are sorry to learn that the home of Mr. James Calder is quarantined for diphtheria, three of his children being very ill. It means a great deal to them in harvest weather, with a great many cows to attend to, but expect the quarantine will soon be removed.

Miss Norah Creighton is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Kester, this month.

Newton Leader, of Mount Forest, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. T. J. Newton.

Master Harold Newton, who has been visiting at St. David's and Buffalo, returned home on Monday.

Mr. Shaw and Miss Annie McMurray, of London, are visiting Mrs. Jas. McMurray.

Mr. Watson left on Thursday for his vacation, and the pupil of St. Andrew's was occupied by Mr. Motherall, of Knox College, on Sunday, and will be occupied for the next few weeks by a student from the college.

HURT IN AUTO WRECK.

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 11.—James R. Smith, a prominent furniture man of this city, was killed, and William R. Zimmerman, of Peoria, Ill., was probably fatally injured in the wrecking of an automobile in which they were riding last night. The car in turning out to pass a team, struck a pile of stones left by contractors working on the road, and plunged through a culvert before it stopped. The five occupants were hurled out, but all save Smith and Zimmerman escaped injury. The injured men were rushed by a special train from Adams to a hospital here, where Mr. Smith died shortly after. Zimmerman's back is believed to be broken. He is interested in a five and ten-cent syndicate in Peoria.

The Canadian Pacific City Ticket Office will be open this evening for the sale of Farm Laborers' Excursion and other tickets.

NIAGARA FALLS and return, $2.05, SATURDAY, AUG. 13, by M. C. R. Carling's Annual Excursion. Come!

Hailstones Damage Some Essex Crops

Leamington, Aug. 11.—A storm of hail, rain, wind and electricity swept over the fruit, vegetable and tobacco district of South Essex, known as the Leamington fruit belt, yesterday afternoon. The rain was badly needed in this particular locality. The storm lasted several minutes, and the hail must have done great damage to the tobacco crop in this section, as the crop is now far advanced.

The corn, vegetable and fruit crops will also suffer from the storm. Hailstones were from one-half to one ounce in weight, and were picked upon the streets of Leamington.

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—After the settlement of the Grand Trunk strike, T. C. Irving, general manager of Bradstreet's, who, as is well known, has special facilities for being in close touch with the commercial and shipping interests of the country, sent the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, minister of labor, the following telegram:

"Your successful efforts to settle the strike once more confirm the truthfulness of the statement that 'Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war.' Yes, verily, thou art an 'unconquered king.'—T. C. Irving."

To this the Hon. Mr. King replied: "Many, many thanks for you rail too generous wire, just received. Cannot say how much I value the friendship of which it is an expression.—Mackenzie King."

LOSES BRILLIANCY

Not So Much Society Gadding at the House of Commons.

London, Aug. 10.—Year by year the terrace of the House of Commons becomes less and less a smart social resort. At one time, it was quite the correct thing for wealthy members of parliament to entertain there. The wholesale invitations to tea in the terrace which came to be the order of the season almost amounted to a scandal.

This summer there has been little smart entertaining in the House of Commons. Among the few men who have entertained are—Earl Winterton and F. E. Smith, the young Conservative hopeful. Their dinner guests have included Waldorf Astor and wife, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Duke and Duchess of Portland, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, Lady Marjorie Manners, Miss Maxine Elliott and a number of American notables passing through London.

The social side of life on the terrace overlooking the River Thames reached its acme of brilliance when Joseph Chamberlain was colonial minister. Processions were then daily visitors. The absence of women is now partly accounted for by the severe regulations in force regarding the admission of women to the precincts of the House of Commons, on account of the raids of the militant suffragettes.

An American's Impressions of English Hospitality

[Charles Battell Loomis, in the New York Sun.]

There is something fascinating about a packet of letters of introduction. You can go to any country and have a good time without a single letter of introduction. The first time I crossed I went an absolute stranger and yet received many courtesies at the hands of strangers; but on my later trips I went armed with letters and varied had been the delights which they have opened up.

As they lie in your pocket you wonder whether you had better present them or not. It's in a way cheeky to ask a man who never met you to give you his time to you, or a woman who never heard of you to pour out good tea for you, but you console yourself with the thought that if an Englishman or an Irishman or any sort of a visitor to America with a letter you'd be glad to extend courtesies to him, and so you let your first batch go into the mail.

A friend of mine said: "Mail all your letters at once, because if they may be six months before you get replies," but I did not act in her advice. I sent out five or six, and by next day I had received cordial answers to the majority of them asking me to call at this man's office or at that lady's house, or to go out into the country and take luncheon with a third.

I was warned by another good friend that the English like to see you in person. If they do hate you, they are consummate dissemblers and past masters of acting.

The Tower of London is a fine thing to see, and if you take it to America without having been to see it no one will accept you as a serious traveller who takes in all the accustomed places; but I think it vastly more entertaining to spend an afternoon in an English garden, listening to a friendly talk than to be poring over old manuscripts in the Tower—or is it the British Museum where they have the latter?

Your way leads you through leafy lanes, and here and there the hawthorn still pours its freshest of crimson upon the landscape. Birds with thrushlike songs sing to you and sweet odors assail you agreeably as you wind in and out looking at the names of the houses on the street names of the castle. The address read, "Eppingham House, 23 Ridgely Terrace, Ridgely road, Clydesdale-on-Thames, Surrey, England."

You know you're in England, because the lark that just rose to heaven's gate told you so in unmistakable English, and you know you're in Surrey, because you crossed to the south side of the Thames in order to get there, and a strange-looking milk-wagon just passed you bearing a sign to the effect that the milk was from Clydesdale-on-Thames brewery. I mean milkery; but you have followed the "road" to the right, first to the left, then straight ahead, and yet the sign on the street corner reads "Tooting Crescent."

Here is a little boy with an Eton jacket on his slim figure and a white high top hat, a color that would impart the look of an angel to the face of a veritable devil. You ask him the way, and he politely walks with you to the first turning to the right, showing that your first informant was wrong, and there is not only Ridgely road, but Ridgely Terrace, with half a dozen picturesque stone houses, ivy clad and hidden behind high brick walls. Ah, there is Eppingham House, but one to Clydesdale House, and right next to Norfolk House, Howard House is a little further on.

The English seem to be unable to live in a nameless house. You open the iron gate and go up the path to the front door. Over the knocker is an inscription, "Ring and knock." You do both, and then you hunt for your card, getting it out of your insurance identification wallet just as the pretty maid opens the door.

Where do the English get all their pretty maids? Can it be that the cap and uniform makes them pretty? No, I believe that nature did it in the first place, and that the cap but sets it off.

You are ushered into a room full of old furniture and old portraits. You happen to know more about old portraits than you do about furniture, and you are glad you came.

You admire for the hundredth time the sincerity and simplicity of treatment of the master, and then a quick step is heard, and through the open window at the back a man steps and comes forward to greet you.

"I say, this is pleasant. You're just in time for tea, and I happen to be at home."

Your letter was to a literary woman, and this is a man you met by chance at one of the Savage Club dinners and whose name you did not catch, but with whom you conversed a good deal.

He did not like his choice of place for the Guildhall speech, but said it was absolutely needed and hit the nail on the head. It seems that he is the artist-husband of the lady whose books are being discussed in the critical reviews.

"My wife will be glad to see you. I was telling her about you the other day, but as I didn't know your name she didn't say so." You were the man who had presented a letter. You don't mind sitting the garden?

Fancy minding sitting in an English garden in June, when many breezes carrying sweet scents get hopelessly entangled in the result is a bewilderment.

You follow him out into the garden and there sits his wife under a bower of roses. She greets you with a cordiality that equals his own and offers you an easy chair to sit on.

At her feet are two dogs, a Scotch terrier and a Great Dane. The Scotch terrier is not friendly, but the Great Dane with all the courtesy shown by Dane to the players, pokes a friendly nose into your hand and bids you welcome to his adopted country.

"We're all of us Danes in our welcome of thee," quotes the husband. "You're an American, so I suppose you want sugar?"

"Please."

Just look around you at the profusion of flowers. Half of them you don't know the names of, but there is some bleeding heart that looks like home. There is certainly a very homelike quality to everything, although it is different from any home you know across the sea. You feel as if these people had always been friends.

"Ah, yes," someone says, "but then they are artistic and literary, and artistic people are always more friendly than plain, everyday business men."

Come into another garden, then in a different country and walk about a bit with the owner, an engineering man. His tone was just as cordial when he bade you welcome in the reception room. He took you into the dining-room, where his wife was serving tea to his two little sons, and she seconded his welcome with real heartiness.

"Any friend of John's is our friend." Then there was the place to which you went with a belated letter of introduction which you took in person instead of sending.

Do you remember how the gracious lady who received you chided you for not having come sooner? She told you that as soon as her son wrote that you were due to land in England on a certain date she had a bed prepared for you and had often wondered whether you had given up your trip.

How ashamed you feel that you had not gone to her sooner. If she wished to show hospitality to that extent you ought to have been equally eager to receive it; but you did not expect her to be so cordial just because you and her son happened to cross the ocean together three years ago, and kept up the friendship thus engendered after the facilities of the custom house at New York had been extended to the Englishman.

Here's a busy man in the city. He had no time for afternoon tea, but when you go to see him he is eager to be of service to you, and suggests that he get you a pass to the Houses of Parliament.

They do you remember the actor you ran across in America several years ago, an Englishman just over? You lunched him at the club. You see his name on the playbills of one of the London theatres, and go to see him. After the play you send up your card to him and he sends a man to conduct you to his dressing room.

You knew he was a clever actor and an agreeable man, but you knew nothing about him socially. He tells you that he is living just out of London in a village in Essex county.

Your own people came from Essex a number of years ago, when there were still Puritans in New England, and Hartford was not a city, and you're glad of an excuse to go back to the old homeland.

"You know father's vicar there," he says. "Run up Sunday and hear him preach. He really preaches a ripping sermon, and he isn't a bad sort of a fellow. I'll be there, but he's heard me talk about you and I know he'll be glad to see you. Just go around to the robing room after the service, and send in your card. It'll be all right, I assure you."

Here I am calling on a play actor in his dressing room on Friday and on Sunday I am to call on his reverend father in his dressing room at St. Giles. Sir Henry Irving certainly raised the actor
