Orientation tape deemed "inappropriate"

CHSR removes production credit

by Jayde Mockler

The 1,627 orientation tapes received by freshmen this year are missing the production credit CHSR usually has on the tape jacket.

CHSR station manager Jeff Whipple felt that the material on the tape was sexist, and that the tape did not represent the type of image that CHSR wants the freshmen to associate with the station. It was for these reasons he requested the production credit be removed.

The orientation committee responded by editing some of the material that was considered questionable by CHSR. An edited version of the tape then was sent out to the freshmen.

CHSR still requested that their production credit be omitted, feeling the tape was still inappropriate.

The tape features a game show with a host alternately called Richie, "Rich", "Dick", and "Dickweed". He introduces three contestants who must guess where different quotes and sounds come from which are associated with Orientation week. These three hosts are Griff, Star, and Skid.

CHSR believes that the female character Star, and her continual "oohs" and "ahs" over the male game show host contradict the image that "many are trying to promote in our community."

In a letter to the orientation chairperson, Whipple states that "the sexist content and the negative image of students portrayed in the final version are not values that CHSR FM can share. A major area of concern centers on the portrayal of students as either dumb jocks, dumb blonds or dumb jerks."

Bob Shaw, orientation chairperson, does not think anyone will be offended by the tape. He says the tape was meant as a spoof and the script was written by both a male and a female.

Shaw hopes the tape proves to be entertaining. The committee does apologize to anyone that might find the tape offensive.

Student Union president, Kevin Bourque, believes the whole matter has been blown out of proportion. Like Shaw he expresses the fact that the tape is only a spoof.

Bourque says the Union has "utmost faith in the orientation committee" and UNB has won international awards for its orientation programs, particularly its alcohol awareness campaign.

Tom Austin, dean of students at UNB, who approved release of the tape was quoted as saying in the Daily Gleaner that the whole matter is "a bit of a tempest in a teapot."

Shinerama: A tradition at UNB

Press Release

Shinerama is Canada's largest single charity event among post secondary students.

Organized and executed by students, Shinerama is a nation-wide fundraising drive for Cystic Fibrosis research, and has become an integral part of most orientation programs across the country.

Freshmen and upperclassmen canvas the city shining shoes in return for a donation.

UNB has been a proud participant of Shinerama for 17 years and last year almost $24,000 was raised by UNB, the largest amount per capita of all participating institutions.

This year's Shinerama will be held on Saturday, September 8. The day begins at 8:30pm with a free Shinerama breakfast at the SUB cafeteria. There participants will meet all sorts of important people, including UNB's CF child, Todd Burgess. After breakfast, participants will be bused to the "shining spots" to begin campaigning.

At noon, Orientation leaders will bring around free lunches.

The campaign continues until 4:00pm and at that time participants will be picked up and brought back to campus for a free barbecue.

CF takes the lives of more Canadian children than any other hereditary disease and at present is incurable. The disease affects the body's exocrine glands-those secreting tears, sweat, saliva and mucus. The involvement of the respiratory and digestive system can lead to serious complications.

Those living with CF must undergo vigorous treatment programs every day just to stay alive.

The average lifespan of a CF child is in the mid-20s.

In 1990 the fight against CF took a big step forward with the discovery of the gene responsible for CF. This find was possible due to funds raised by the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation which supported the research done by Dr. Lap-Chu Tsui, Dr. Jack Riordan, and Dr. Francis Collins.

This year there will be a new facet to the campaign: an organ donation program. All participants will be giving a thank you card with each donation.

Attached to this thank-you card is a donor card asking the person that, if they want to donate organs or tissues for either transplants or medical research, to sign the card with specification regarding their donation and also get a family witness to sign the card.

When Shinerama first began at UNB it was a one day program, now 18 years later, the program has expanded to include many other events. See elsewhere in this paper for those events plus other events planned for Orientation Week '90.

The orientation committee hopes everyone will help give the breath of life on Saturday and is sure everyone will have loads of fun while raising money for a worthwhile cause.

Universities to qualify for GST rebate

Press Release

Ottawa, July 26, 1990 - Universities will qualify for a 67 percent rebate on the Goods and Services Tax following an agreement reached between the Government of Canada and the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada and the Canadian Association of University Business Officers. The rebate rate also applies to community colleges.

"The rebate will be paid on university purchases for exempt activities and is equivalent to an effective tax rate of 2.3 percent rather than the seven per cent," said AUCC President Claude Lajeunesse today in announcing the agreement.

Universities also obtained federal government agreement that:

- meal plans that provide a minimum of 10 meals a week for a period of four weeks will be exempt;
- instruction at universities and colleges, including most non-credit courses, will be exempt. Excluded will be recreational and hobby courses;

- the requirement that universities be publicly funded in order to be eligible for rebate will be removed;
- the definition of exempt fees for courses of instruction will include all compulsory fees that the student must pay in order to take the course.

"These arrangements will benefit both students and universities", says Lajeunesse.

The discussions that led to the agreement were supported by research done by a n AUCC/CAUBO task force. "We realized the need for an airtight argument to make the case for universities in our consultations with the Department of Finance", says task force chairperson Tom Vine of the University of Western Ontario.

Statistical information was collected from a representative group of 13 universities across Canada, including both large and small institutions. The services of an accounting firm specializing in federal sales tax were retained and consultations held with other organizations considered as Public Service Bodies under the GST.

Finance minister Micheal Wilson said he was pleased that "this very productive process of consultations" led to the agreement reached between the federal government and AUCC and CAUBO.

"Our key objective throughout our discussions with the university associations was to ensure that Canadian universities will encounter no greater tax burden as a result of federal sales tax reform," Mr. Wilson added. "That is a commitment I made two years ago, and which we have honored in this agreement."

Over and above the exemptions provided for under educational services, universities benefit from exempt activities related to health care services, child and personal care services, legal aid services and services provided by public sector bodies.

"There are further consultations ahead with the Department of Revenue. We want to ensure that the agreement reached with the Department of Finance is respected in Revenue Canada's interpretation of some grey areas for universities", Lajeunesse adds.

CAUBO will examine some of these grey areas at a seminar for university administrators and accountants to be held September 23-24 in Toronto. This will be followed by the production of a "question and answer" book on the GST for use by universities.

A Frosh Guide to The Brunswickan

The Brunswickan remains Canada's oldest student publication. All other claims to this title are invalid and may be deemed liable. This publication is over a hundred years old and has maintained a commitment to the expression of student ideas through the written media ever since its inception.

The Brunswickan alumni list looks like a who's who in Canadian media, but we are also proud that anyone who works here leaves with a stronger sense of the good UNB spirit and a deeper appreciation of the media. It is also true that most staffers remember especially, the tremendous fun that it is working on a student paper.

The Bruns is run by students and we make every effort to keep it that way. While we are funded by the Student Union, we remain committed to the interests of the students first. We respect the elected representatives of students but our mandate demands that we are never controlled or censored by these individuals.

The staff that works at the Bruns is voluntary. The Union gives a small honorarium to editorial staff at the end of the year, but this in no way serves as payment for the amount of work that is done. We employ typesetters and an advertising manager, but that is where the paid staff deal ends. Beyond that, the thirty odd staff members are all voluntary and they give of their time and talent freely to put out the paper once a week.

The beauty of The Brunswickan corporation is that we do virtually all the production work right here on campus in our offices located in the Student Union Building. We use our fancy Macintosh computers to typeset and design the paper; then we do the paste up and layout work on our chaotic work tables in the main office. All photo development and Photo magnetic transfer (PMT) work is done in our two dark rooms. When the real work is done, we then truck the photo-ready material to the printers who are located in Fredericton. From that point on the paper is out of our hands.

What this implies should not be lost on students at UNB. The fact is, The Brunswickan has the facilities to produce a very attractive and informative paper making use primarily of student power and talent. Students who are interested in working in the media can gain invaluable experience working on the paper. We encourage students interested in writing, design, administration, sports and sales to be a part of the paper simply because there is something here for virtually everyone.

Working here is not free of its controversies and usually it is the media folks who get an in-depth look at the runnings of student life on campus. The truth is that the newspaper is one of the few things that everyone at UNB reads consistently. The implications are obvious when we think of the problems that may arise between faculty and students, students and the administration, students and other fellow students and so on.

Below is a short breakdown of some of the areas of involvement that are available to the UNB student at The Brunswickan. This listing is by no means comprehensive and it is often better to ignore what is written below and just come in to the offices and ask questions. However, if you are the cautious type, perhaps the material contained here will be helpful.

News

The News Department is a challenging and demanding area of the paper and yet it is often the most exciting. The Department is committed to the development of writers who can delve into a wide variety of new stories and emerge with interesting and informative stories. There is so much news worthy material on the Fredericton campus and the real excitement of it all is in the digging out process: interviewing people, asking the right questions, getting into places that may be hard to get into, listening out for those little tidbits to slip and so on. Above all, the News Department operates on the principle that students should never be kept in the dark about anything that in some way relates to them. The News Department is looking for people from every facet of University life to work as investigators and reporters.

Entertainment

Entertainment is a dynamic department largely because it is not limited in the type of events that are covered. Review, interviews, previews and critiques are some of the types of writing that are encouraged. With the number of bands that pass through the campus each year, along with the multiplicity of plays, ballets and classical recitals that are staged in town, writers should have a great deal to write about. Fredericton is becoming more and more a centre for film production and screening in the Maritimes and so writers who are interested in film should have more than enough material to work with. We are also searching for writers interested in writing book reviews and television reviews. Finally, for those who have ever read the Brunswickan, it should be obvious that the Entertainment pages are a virtual haven for design buffs. The Entertainment section is known for zany, innovative and fresh print media design; not to mention, intriguing photo work. The possibilities are...

Features

The Features section of the paper is geared for people who specialize in writing in-depth articles that cover any range of issues that are of interest to students. The Features section occupies the coveted centre-spread of the paper thus making it the domain of distinctive design and eye catching layout. Feature writers get a chance to use a variety of writing styles to explore issues that they have a special interest in. And so we encourage various groups and societies to explore ways in which the views and activities of their special interest groups can be articulated in a Bruns Feature. Topics can be as varied as cooking, travel, feminism, war, the environment, native issues, nintendo, computers...

Sports Depot.

The Sports Department like the News Department needs a great deal of people power. Sports staffers can enjoy watching the many sports that UNB is involved while developing their writing skills. Ultimately, the sport writer becomes instrumental in effectively analyzing the qualities of the athletes that we have on campus while informing the students about what their representatives are doing. There are so many sports played at UNB and we at the Brunswickan desire greatly to cover every sport fairly and efficiently. However, to achieve this goal, it becomes important that the writers and reporters are there to cover the games. More than in any other Department, in the Sports Department travel is almost inevitable. writers get a chance to travel with the athletes, to speak to them and to develop some insights into the meaning of the UNB spirit. Sports staffers also get a chance to design and layout and hone their writing skills.

Photo Depot.

The Photo Department is excellent training ground for anyone interested in photography. With our own dark room and the availability of a few cameras, all the staffer has to bring is a sharp eye and the willingness to learn. Of course, the seasoned professionals are also welcome because the expertise that they bring with them goes a long way in lifting the visual profile of the paper.

Photo journalism is an exciting field because it demands a combination of initiative, skill, and imagination. The Brunswickan is a wonderful place for the novice to experiment, make a few mistakes and develop useful skills. Photo journalists get a chance to travel with news writers and sports writers while at the same time they are given the room to be creative.

Off-set Off-set

Workers in the Off-set Department are the most unheralded heroes of the paper business. Their work is technical in many ways but at the same time it allows for creativity and innovative thought. People who work in the Off-set room learn an important skill in the printing business. They are equipped with machines that can enlarge, reduce, reverse, shade and create nuances of texture in drawings, photographs and other graphic designs. Students who are interested in learning a useful skill will find the Off-set Department a perfect place to start.

Distractions

Comics, poems, short stories, jokes; view-points etc. all fall under the rubric of the Distractions Department. Ever since its first publications in the 1800s, the Brunswickan has encouraged creative writers to share their work with fellow students through the newspaper. Distractions staffers range for regular contributors to our poetry, and comic sections, to the occasionally short story writer. We always enjoy the help of students in laying out and designing the page as well as in tramping around the campus equipped with a camera and some insane question for the View Point section (a humorous opinion feature.)

The management of the paper is usually reserved for the Managing Editor and any business minded and helpful individual who is willing to assist her or him in their work. The tasks include dummyping the paper, seeing to the business side of things, ensuring that all the departments are well supplied with material to carry out their tasks, ensuring that the paper gets out to the printer on time and a host of other things.

The paper is also searching for regular columnists who can express their views on a wide range of issues. Columnist may be offered a weekly column depending on the readability of the material, while others are given a chance to express their views in the Opinion section of the paper. Letters to the editor are always welcomed as well. The Brunswickan also allows students to advertise at no cost to themselves in the Classified section of the Paper while groups and organizations can advertise their activities in the Up and Comin' section of the paper.

There are other areas that could interest students as well. We are always seeking proof-readers for every department as well as dynamic and driven sales oriented people to work in the Advertising Department. These people are given a commission on ads sold and are also able to make some extra funds in design. Typesetters who work with the paper are also hired at reasonable rates thus opening an avenue for income for interested and skilled students. Typing skills are a must, but we commit ourselves to training our typesetters in Macintosh computer work.

Brunswickan life is not all work. We make every effort to introduce a good deal of social interaction among staffers. This is easily achieved through parties, so we do it that way. We also get involved in an annual football match against the "radio guys upstairs" (CHSR FM) and this is revenge year for us. The Brunswickan Office is one of the most insane spots on campus. You have to be there to truly understand this.

The Brunswickan is an extensive little business and it is clearly a place that can accommodate a wide variety of individuals with varying interests and skills. The bottom line is interest and a commitment to excellence. We expect to have an extremely successful year with the paper this academic year. It would be great if you could join us and help!

UNB ORIENTATION '90

Tuesday September 4 Roman Toga Party

Snatch up a sheet, any sheet, and wrap it around yourself, covering only what is essential; and come out to the first of many big events planned for you during the next two weeks.

Yes, you heard it right! An Ancient Roman Toga Party will begin the Orientation festivities. Be creative and clever and as you design the most unique, the most daring, the tackiest or the sexiest toga on campus! There is non right way to make a toga so don't worry about wrapping the sheet around yourself "properly." Just wear it so it feels comfortable and you will fit right in.

If your really into dressing up, maybe you could win Orientation's most coveted prize: Be Anthony (if you are a guy) or Cleopatra (if you are a woman) for the evening. Anthony and Cleopatra sit on thrones and feed each other grapes and other goodies all night. They also win lots of fabulous prizes.

Obviously the Toga Party is an event you cannot afford to miss. So don't!

Wednesday September 5 Adventure Day

Grab your sneakers and dirty tee's 'cause it's time to get down and dirty at Adventure Day. This grand day of fun and frolic is full of excitement for all. Not an athlete? Who cares? This isn't a prerequisite, craziness is. Be prepared for events that test not only athletes, but thinkers and fools. So come one, come all on Wednesday September 5.

Wednesday September 5 Black And White Casino Night

Take a chance and try your skill... Come out to the Black and White Casino night! On the evening of Wednesday September 5 starting at 9:00 p.m. in the SUB Cafeteria, test your luck at all of the card, wheel and dice games. You will receive $5000.00 mock cash to get you started which you can use to guild, build, build into one stack of loot.

With all of your earnings you can buy a surprise gift from our store (GST does not apply, ha!) that could range from real designer perfume to a snazzy tee-shirt to, well... almost anything. Beware of those booby prizes! Also, at the end of the evening an auction will be held, where the highest bidder will get a very big prize. (Colour t.v.?)

So make sure you don black and white and be ready to bet, spin and win the night away. There will also be dancing and mocktails to quench your thirst. This is a must event, don't miss it!

Thursday September 6 Outdoor Concert

This night time fiesta has proved to be one of our most successful and popular events. with a big name band and 8,00 students, this night can't help but go off with a bang! Canadian recording artists The Box will be on show. Bedrock will open the event. The show happens outside the SUB

Friday September 7 Ice Cream Social

What better way to cool off after a challenging "Who done it?" than the Alumni Ice cream social?! This event immediately follows our mystery Hunt and promises to get a bit "sticky." so have a great time at our "coolest" event. September 7, it's Friday.

WRITERS WANTED

The Entertainment section needs writers! If you are even remotely interested in reviewing concerts, music, movies, art exhibits or anything else concerning leisure type activities come and see us. No experience necessary, but a basic comprehension of the English language helps. We also need persons interested in graphics and layout.

If you're interested drop by The Brunswickan (Rm 35 in the SUB) or come see us at Activity Days.

For Those Brave Souls Who Want to Get Involved

Shawn Malley

If you like to tap-dance, play mandolin, integrate logarithmic functions, or organize things, don't worry! Your talents won't be wasted. UNB's many and varied clubs and activities can fulfill almost any of your wildest extra-curricular desires.

This coming Tuesday and Wednesday, September 11th and 12th, UNB Orientation is putting together "Activities Days 1990" live in the SUB Blue Lounge. This event is specifically designed to put you in touch with the extra-curricular organizations that might interest you. Even the most devout of students needs a break from the rigours of higher education, so make sure to check out what UNB has to offer. You'll find everything there from drama to judo. Shop around - who knows what you could end up getting involved in?

Bring your lunch, bring a friend. You'll surely find a club who will adopt you as its very own. And who knows - someday you may even become President.

THE THREEPENNY OPERA

So you wanna' act, eh?

Can you sing, dance, act or work backstage with state-of-the-art equipment. UNB is looking for both new and experienced talents for its spring musical. Auditions will be held this fall for a Student Musical production of THE THREE PENNY OPERA.

Under the direction of Professor Edward Mullaly, who has been directing productions on and off campus for a number of years, as well as teaching English department drama production courses, students will be mounting a production of Brecht's blockbuster musical THREEPENNY OPERA. Musical director will be Joyce Watling, who is a vocal teacher, choral leader, and musical director of musicals and operas. The entire musical will be produced by Kwame Dawes, a noted figure on the campus music scene. (actually, you'll find that Kwame appears to be a noted figure in damn near everything that goes on around here. ed.)

Auditions will be held at Memorial Hall in October. Rehearsals will begin immediately afterwards. Production dates are February 19-23. Students are invited to audition for roles and for technical positions. For further information, contact Prof. E. Mullaly at the English department or see the display in the Blue Lounge during "Activity Days", September 11th and 12th.

In the Great Outdoors...

The musical highlight of this year's orientation week for both frosh and upperclassmen...oops...upperclasspersons (wouldn't want to start that again! ed.) may very well be the outdoor concert on Thursday night featuring Candian recording artists The Box. The singles "Carry on" and "Temptation" from their latest album The Pleasure and The Pain, have probably tickled your eardrums during the past summer. Even if you haven't yet heard any material from The Pleasure and the Pain, you will undoubtedly remember hearing some of the cuts off of their 1987 album Closer Together which went platinum and produced the hit singles "Closer together" and "Crying out loud for love".

On The Pleasure and the Pain, The Box explore and celebrate the emotional extremes that are a part of our human experience: "Life is pleasure even at its most basic, but without experiencing a little pain, the full range of the pleasure can't be felt and understood" explains Jean Mark, the band's lead singer. Hence the duality of the album's title.

Thursday night's concert will be held in front of the Student Union Building and should begin around 8:45 pm. The Box, known for their energetic performances, and the opening act, Bedrock, will have you dancing, whistling and screaming for more in no time. This event is not one to be missed.

AVOID STD'S AND UNWANTED PREGNANCIES WITH UNCLE STEVIE'S GUIDE TO SAFE ENCOUNTERS*

*(Reprinted without permission, but we're sure he wouldn't mind.)

METHOD	FAILURE RATE	PROTECTION AGAINST DISEASE	EMBARRASSMENT FACTOR
THE PILL	0-2%	NONE	Fairly low. Potential embarrassment when staying with catholic relatives and trying not to rattle the fall. Being caught in the act with the container can not be easily cleared up by the explanation that it is a new promotional drive for tic-tac mints. Can prove to be dangerously embarrassing to those who have a problem establishing what day it is.
CONDOM	3-4%	Reasonable if the rest of one's body is securely invested in Saran Wrap. Because the immediate locale of the pocket is often obscure and once found, the act of putting it on can either take months or induce hysteria in your partner, this method may have extra advantages in being able to prevent ejaculation altogether.	High. We're already off to a bad start because of all the silly names for it. If using this method, it is advisable to be a witty conversationalist to bridge the 15 minute gap during the gymnastics required to get it on. This maneuver was recently suggested as a demonstration event for Seoul. No variety of colours, textures or novelty tips will prevent you from looking like a complete dork once it's on. Extra embarrassment is experienced when it seemingly disappears afterwards until you decide to invite your friends parents around when it mysteriously turns up under the coffee table.
DIAPHRAGM (Cap)	3-12%	NOT A CHANCE	High. When not in use tends to fall out of purse in the SUB cafeteria. When in use tends to fall out of body. Furthermore during insertion this device has a habit of suddenly catapulting across the room invariably ending up in an old cup of coffee or the fish tank.
THE SPONGE	Dodgy unless used with a battery of other methods.	YOU'RE JOKING	Can be embarrassing if Dad finds it in the bathroom and mutters "Ah! now to wash the car!" Can be used as a glove puppet to break the tension though.
INTRA UTERINE DEVICE (IUD or Coil)	3-4%	RIGHT OUT	Medium. Possibility of picking up CB messages, space shuttle transmissions and Premier McKenna's car phone during the event. An unexpected attraction to the North Pole as well as problems using a compass while hiking can be encountered.
SPERMICIDE (Foams, Jellies, Creams)	10-14%	DON'T MAKE ME LAUGH	High. Both partners may receive the sensation that they are having an intimate encounter with a geyser. Make enough that the neighbours might mistakenly phone the plumber. Not recommended after watching movies such as "The Blob" or "The Thing that ate Manhattan".
COTUS INTERRUPTUS (Pulling out at the last moment)	10-40%	Assuming that you are protected from disease here is like assuming that scattering sugar around a picnic will scare ants away.	Quite high afterwards if your mom does the laundry and you are sternly reprimanded at the supper table for eating Miraclo Whip in bed again. Kleanex are essential unless you or your partner are into rather unorthodox masturbating lessons.
RHYTHM METHOD	High	NOT BLOODY LIKELY	High. Especially several months afterwards when asked to pay child maintenance.

Old Shirts defeat the new

By Sean Dockrill

A crowd of approximately 40 people assembled to witness the annual Alumni Soccer match last Saturday, and they were certainly entertained. The "old timers" proved victorious over the young, incomplete line-up of White Shirts, who were really our very own Red Shirts in cognito. The final score was 3-1 for the Alumni team. Not even the prowess of Jamie Oaks, a five year veteran, could stop the unrelentless attacks of team Alumni. Coach Brown feels Oaks is his most solid defender and says, "He should make the pros next year."

Oaks and his squad of defenders could only hold off the tigers until the third quarter of the first half. At that time the dynamic David Stringer of the Alumni team received a brilliant pass just inside the eighteen yard box and whistled a shot passed Red Shirt goal tender Jean LeBlanc.

Early in the second half the Alumni team struck again. Jimmy Kakaletris scored on a brilliant header. This gave the Alumni team a commanding 2-0 lead. However, our spirited Shirts remained undaunted and retaliated with Kevin Thompson. He greased a free kick passed Alumni goal tender George Lucas. Once again this kickstarted the Red Shirts hopes of victory.

However, Thompson's efforts were in vain. Ten minutes later the deadly Dwight Hornbrook skipped a shot passed backup keeper Paul O'Sullivan. This finished the scoring for the game and left team Alumni standing proud 3-1.

Oh, Daddyoh!

David Stringer, more affectionately known as Daddyoh, was certainly a large factor for team Alumni's success. Scoring goals seems to be Stringer's natural talent, and it was no surprise when he pumped in the first goal. It was exactly ten years ago when Stringer's roles were reversed. Daddyoh scored the deciding goal in overtime in the 1980 AUAA championships. This catapulted the Shirts into the 1980 CIAU championships. UNB took the gold at the 1980 CIAU Championship, much to the credit of Daddyoh.

Stringers desire to play soccer is probably just as strong as his incredible talent. It was only a few short months ago that Daddyoh crushed his ankles in a car accident in Saudi Arabia. Even though he is not yet fully recovered, Stringer was a force to be reckoned with.

With players like Daddyoh, Dwayne Hornbrook, and Steve Harris it was no wonder that the shorts lost last Saturday's high-spirited game. Despite the talent of the squad on Saturday, key members of the Shirts were absent. Jamie Pollock, this year's captain, is presently playing soccer for the Winnipeg Flurries along side of last year's captain, Stewart Galloway. Pollock, who Coach Brown states, "is the most brilliant right winger in the league, and the only right winger able to make a difference in a game," will return as soon as the CSL playoffs are finished.

Trevor Shaw, a new recruit, will be another key player to watch. Shaw was the starting goal tender for the 1989 Nova Scotia Canada games team. Pat Zwicker returns to the team this year after sustaining a back injury late last year. Zwicker was involved in an accident that broke his back and left him out of the 1989-90 wrestling season. The four year veteran is undoubtedly the fastest man on the team. He faces the serious challenge of overcoming these ailments and attempt to maintain the intensity that has served as the trademark of his style.

This weekend the Red Shirts will be hard pressed to win even with the additions to the line-up. They face the ever strong St. Mary's Huskies on Saturday at 2:00 pm and the same time against St. FX on Sunday. Both games are played at Chapman field. The Shirts look to avenge their loss of 4-0 in the finals of the AUAA's to St. Mary's. They will no doubt give it their best, and with the legacy of Daddyoh behind them you could expect no less.

Varsity Mania returns

Varsity Mania
Press Release

As students pile into UNB for another year, they will realize that the institution Varsity Mania still exists. This year Varsity Mania has big plans for the 1990-91 season.

For those new to the university, there may be questions as to what Varsity Mania stands for. Varsity Mania began three years under the direction of past Student Union Vice President, Carl Burgess. Carl started out small, combining support from the Student Union, athletic department, and various corporate sponsors. Over the three years, Carl watched Varsity Mania grow. For the past two years Varsity Mania has become widely known around campus.

This year the reins are turned over to Steven Williams. When asked to describe Varsity Mania, Williams replied, "It is basically a student run vehicle for promoting Varsity sports at UNB. At the same time it allows students to get involved in something at UNB. We rely heavily on student support at the games." Varsity Mania is counting on making an impact on campus again this year.

On Sunday, September 9th, the first Varsity Mania event kicks in. The UNB Red Shirts take to the field against St. FX. Game time is set for 2:00 pm at Chapman Field. Chapman Field is located just in front of the Aitken Center. All proceeds from the game will go to Shinerama.

Fall Schedule 1990-91 begins

By Kelly Craig

As students start to bombard the campus preparing for another academic year, the athletes here at UNB have already begun preparing for the 1990-91 season. Of the ten varsity teams at UNB, two of them are co-ed. Therefore, UNB has a total of twelve teams. Last season five of these twelve teams brought the AUAA title home to UNB.

The Red Shirts soccer team and the Red Sticks field hockey team start their seasons in just a few short days. The Red Harriers cross country team starts up their season fairly soon. The men look to defend their AUAA title this year against a strong Dalhousie squad.

Basketball comes upon us shortly as does the hockey season. The Red Bloomers defend their AUAA title this year against some strong competition. The Red Raiders, who improved immensely last season, look to be even stronger this season. The playoffs are definitely within their grasp.

The Red Devils hockey team made a strong comeback last season as they proved nothing is impossible. With a new head coach and a new outlook, the Devils made it to the playoffs but this year could be the year for the title.

Volleyball competition was very tough last year, however, that did not stop the Reds men's team. They made an impressive second place finish losing to a strong Dalhousie team in the final. The Lady Reds made a valiant effort last year and finished a respectable fifth just missing the playoffs.

No shock to the UNB campus was the Black Bears wrestling team copping the AUAA title. Although the title is now being shared with Mt. Allison, it is a questionable joint victory. A new twist to the Bears this year is the return of Don Ryan as assistant coach of the team. Ryan, whose five years eligibility expired last season, was an AUAA champion in his weight class. The Bears are looking for tough competition and the AUAA title-solo.

Each year the Brunswickan looks for new faces to help with the paper. This year is no different. The Sports Department needs interested people to continue the coverage of the varsity teams. Covering a team could mean away trips, going to the games, and talking to both the players and the coaches.

If you are at all interested in writing for the Sports Dept., please contact Kelly Craig or Frank Denis at 453-4983 or come in and visit us in room 35 in the SUB. On behalf of Frank and myself, we welcome all freshmen to UNB and welcome all returning upper classmen. Good luck and have an interesting year.
