the Hon. G. W. Lascelles Discusses Exhibition of Hawking at Juvisy.

IT IS TIME NOWADAYS FOR ANCIENT SPORT

Occasionally, He Says, Does He Find Young Men with the Genuine Spirit in Them.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, August 2.—ASKED if the exhibition of Hawking at Juvisy, France, described recently in the European press, indicated revival of the ancient sport of falconry, the Hon. G. W. Lascelles, Deputy Surveyor of the New Forest, a royal domain at Lyndhurst, and himself a keen falconry enthusiast, said that modern conditions were all against any considerable development of falconry, but that it still had a certain number of enthusiastic devotees who had an intention of letting it die.

"If you seek to know if falconry is likely to become a common, not to say common, form of sport, as it once was, I can say positively that such a thing is impossible.

"The general enclosure of the whole of England, save only the various tracts of open heath, renders it impossible to practice falconry except in a few parts. The man who wishes to delight in this sport, and also to live in a country where they are able to practice it, are few, while those who are so fond of it as to leave home for certain seasons and go to a suitable country for falconry are fewer still.

"Moreover, in these days of hurry and hurry, and of rapid locomotion, and of the world which requires time and patience, and is one of the most difficult to succeed in which man has ever attempted, it is not in accord with the prevailing temperance of the modern sportsman, who wants everything made easy for him and looks for large results in a brief time.

"It is only occasionally that I meet young men who have the genuine sporting instinct in them and will spend time, good temper and patience in falconry, though those who can thus succeed will deem it a noble sport, in which man has ever indulged. Unfortunately, the men who could succeed are generally those whose occupations are such that they cannot devote the necessary time to it.

"For all things falconry, being a purely wild sport, lends itself least to exhibitions of any kind, and, as a rule, the only means of success are that recorded in the newspapers. The account of what took place is enough to damn the whole performance in the eyes of any genuine sportsman. To fly hawks before an astounded crowd of spectators, which is what is done at exhibitions, is just as near to the chase of a pheasant or a grouse as to the chase of a dog around a doghouse, and is a far cry from the sport which is followed in this country.

"The expression 'revival of falconry' is absurd. Falconry has never died, and need not die, and it is not possible only in a few places, and consequently is followed by only a few men. But it goes on, and always has gone on, as the favorite pursuit of a certain small number of persons who are fortunate in having the facilities for it.

"FOXGLOVE YEAR" THE FLORAL DESIGNATION

LONDON, August 2.—They are calling this "foxglove year" in England in honor of the unpretentious bell and the nightshade blossoms which these flowers have attained this season.

Foxgloves in New Gardens are eight feet high and Lady Darnley has one which measures ten feet three inches. But even this is below the record of a plant in the garden of A. Wiggins, in Bishop's Cleeve, in her description of it in a letter to a London newspaper is to be credited. Her foxglove, a variety of white variety, has a stem sixteen feet in height, carrying 200 blossoms and feet of leaves.

It is estimated that the unusual waters of the foxglove this summer are due to perfect conditions for the last two years. The foxglove is a biennial, and the warm, sunny summer of 1911 caused its complete and extensive fertilization by the humble bee. The cloudy, wet season of 1912 offered the best possible conditions for the development of the seedlings, while the mildness of last winter allowed them to grow on unchallenged, bringing them into blossom at their usual time this summer.

LOCAL OPTION NOT CALLED OFF BUT APATHY REPORTED

Mr. T. L. Wood, president of the local option committee, gave an official denial this morning to the rumor that the proposed local option campaign in this city had been called off. "It is true," said Mr. Wood, "that no work has been done which could be called work by the executive committee. The reason is that this is the holiday season, and it is an extremely difficult matter to get anybody to do work."

Mr. Wood said he had heard of no suggestion to call the proposed campaign off.

From other official sources a Courier reporter was informed that there was considerable apathy in connection with the proposed campaign. "There is no question about it," said one strong member of the executive, "the intrusion of Rowell into the temperance arena has done temperance an immense amount of harm, as witness North Grey. Politics and temperance don't mix whatever, and the fact that the Rowell platform is what it is has dampened the ardor of thousands of temperance workers—Conservatives, of course—all over the province. In fact, it is openly stated that it is having a serious effect in Brantford."

BRUTAL MURDER AT FT. ALEXANDER

Body of Indian Cut up Found in Several Sacks in River.

(Canadian Press Dispatch.) SELKIRK, Man., Aug. 4.—Dr. Ross and party returned last evening from Fort Alexander with details of a most brutal murder which took place at the Indian reserve at that place some time between July 18 and 26. The victim was Edward Sinclair, a treaty Indian, who lived with his wife and three children. He was last seen alive on the afternoon of July 18, when, according to his wife, he left on a moose hunt. The next day, July 19, Mrs. Sinclair reported her husband missing and search begun. July 22, the body of a man was found in a sack on the shore about a quarter of a mile from the Sinclair home. Dragging in the river was then started and his right leg was found tied up in a sack with elm bark and weighted down by a large stone. Later the head and hand were also found, tied up in a sack and weighted down with stones. The left leg and head were also found. A black hat identified as Sinclair's was found on the opposite side of the river in a clump of trees. A Hudson's bay axe was also found.

An inquest was held and eight or ten witnesses examined, the chief of whom was Charlotte Sinclair, wife of the dead man. She showed no emotion whatever, when shown the mutilated body of her husband. She was an unflinching witness and what evidence she gave was of a contradictory nature. The jury brought in the following verdict:

"That Edward Sinclair met his death sometime between Friday, July 18 and Sunday, July 26, at Fort Alexander reserve. It is our opinion that he was murdered by further inquiry and investigation."

Coroner Ross issued an order of commitment and held before Preliminary Judge Schanur on Saturday evening. Mrs. Sinclair was committed to provincial jail to await further investigation.

GRAND RIVER TAKES ANOTHER YOUNG LIFE ON SUNDAY

Albert Killinray, Age 21 Years, Was the Victim—He Got Cramps and Sank Immediately in Treacherous Waters Below Wilkes' Dam.

Another life has been added to the annual toll of the Grand River. On Sunday morning shortly before noon, Albert Killinray, a bright young Englishman, sank in an eddy just below Wilkes' Dam in the presence of numerous bathers. Killinray went down only once. Having cried out for help and despite the hurried efforts to reach him made by several bathers, it was impossible to effect a rescue. It was fifteen minutes before the body was recovered by Mr. Fred Nicholls, Lawrence street, and his wife was called.

The unfortunate young man was not a good swimmer. He was only able to take a few strokes and he had consequently stayed in shallow water. Just below the dam, however, there are numerous back currents well known to swimmers and it is thought Killinray was carried by one of these towards the dam where the water is deep. As soon as the young fellow got beyond his depth, the water being in Thickest Part of Lachine Rapids—In Drydock To Day.

(Canadian Press Dispatch.) MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—After striking a glancing blow on a rock, when coming through the thickest part of Lachine Rapids on Saturday afternoon, the R. and O. steamer, Duchess of York, when she docked, was taking in water so rapidly that a fire engine had to be called to pump her out. Her carpenters temporarily repaired her damage with wood and oakum. The Duchess of York went into the dock early today.

When the Duchess of York struck there was no excitement among the one hundred and fifty visiting geologists, who were returning to the city after witnessing four of their number being carried off by the river.

The opening ceremonies took place on the verandah, about 500 being present and numbered among the attendants were members of the city and county council, prominent city employees, officers in connection with the work of the sanitarium, members of the medical fraternity and others interested in the great work. It was very much regretted on all sides that Mr. A. E. Watts, K.C., the most prominent worker in connection with the work, and Mr. E. L. Cook, the president, were unable to attend. The absence of Mr. Watts was occasioned by the death of his father, Mr.

Watts has acted as chairman of the two most important committees, the building and grounds and the finance.

MAYOR AND WARDEN GIVEN KEYS OF NEW BRANT SANITARARIUM ON SATURDAY

A Beautiful Building and Environment, Modernly Equipped to Fight the White Plague in This County—Praise Given Those Who Brought Project to Completion.

With ceremonies of a simple but impressive nature, the Brant Sanitarium, erected at a cost of $23,000, was dedicated Saturday afternoon to the great mission of assisting in the fight against the awful white plague. Situated on the pinnacle of the hill, just off the Mt. Pleasant road, and nestled among the majestic trees, the sanitarium is afforded an ideal location.

The building is modern in every respect, and possesses all the conveniences and comfort of a hospital. It is of brick and concrete construction, with red tile shingling, and is absolutely fireproof. In the centre is a two story block devoted to the offices, kitchens and dining rooms. On either side are wings devoted to the beds. The wings are large glass doors and along the front of the building there is a broad verandah, and on the second floor a balcony. Also on the second floor is located the apartments of the nurse in charge and her assistants. Apart from the main building there is a place for horses or automobiles, a morgue and a laundry, all built of brick.

Close to the City. Located within such a short distance of the city, there will be removed from the patients' mind much of the feeling of sadness so acute with the patient who of necessity is required to go many miles from home and friends. Having an institution within such close proximity to the city, the patients are close to friends who can go and see them, and with a word can do much to make their lives brighter.

EXTERIOR VIEW OF THE BRANT SANITARARIUM

The new Brant Sanitarium, which was opened on Saturday, is both modernly built and modernly situated. The institution will fill a long-felt need in this community.

MAYOR AND WARDEN GIVEN KEYS OF NEW BRANT SANITARARIUM ON SATURDAY

A Beautiful Building and Environment, Modernly Equipped to Fight the White Plague in This County—Praise Given Those Who Brought Project to Completion.

Mr. Cook said the building in connection with the building of the institution had gone on with little noise, and on the opening day the trustees were not departing from their previous methods of conducting the work.

Regrets Read. Mr. Bunnell read regrets from Mr. W. F. Cookshutt, M.P., Dr. George D. Porter, secretary of the Canadian Association, Mr. J. H. Fisher, M.P., Mr. J. W. Westbrock, M.P.E., and from others.

Mr. Cook Speaks. In his opening remarks, Mr. Cook referring to the institution, said: "The institution joins with us in fighting the great white plague. The speaker expressed regret at the absence of the President, Mr. E. L. Cookshutt, the donor of a portion of a site, the city and county giving a portion until the grounds now covers fifteen acres. Speaking of Mr. Cookshutt's gift, Mr. Cook said he had done more than any one man.

10,000 People Dying. Two statements, one by President McGibbon of the St. Agatha Sanitarium and one by His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, concerning the plague were read by Mr. Cook and commented on. President McGibbon said: "We know that there are some 10,000 people in Canada dying annually from this trouble, and there therefore must be that number of curable incipient cases slowly but certainly drifting into the more advanced stages of this disease who will ultimately die if they be not cared for and restored to health."

The Duke of Connaught says: "The plague of tuberculosis is not one of the irresistible scourges of nature, which we must bow as to the inevitable. The remedy and the means of prevention are known, the difficulty is to prevail upon the public to avail themselves of this knowledge and thus protect their homes from avoidable loss of life.

Mr. Cook said the two statements, comes the Brant Sanitarium and others. Nearly all of the 10,000 could have been restored. Few can travel far from home, and so by having the sanitarium located in the different counties, the remedy is within easy range.

Rapid Advancement. Speaking of the rapid advancement in sanitarium work and of the advantages of the Sanitarium to the patient and to the community in which it is situated, Mr. Cook said that in the Sanitarium the patients get proper treatment and the institution is of educational value to the people round about. Speaking of the advance made during the past ten years, the speaker said that ten years ago there was one sanitarium in Ontario; now there are twenty such institutions. Ten years ago one society existed, now there are over one hundred local societies.

Mr. Cook, during his remarks, made mention of the unavoidable absence of Mr. Watts. Previous to calling on Mayor Hartman to unlock the door of the institution, Mr. Cook thanked all who had in any way helped to make the hospital possible, and after thanking the Mayor and Warden and others for attending, he said in part: "I now have great pleasure in declaring this Sanitarium open" and handed the keys to Warden Kendrick and Mayor Hartman, the Mayor stepping to the door and turning the key and opening—the door to health and happiness.

Mayor Hartman Speaks. Mayor Hartman in his opening remarks, said he was pleased on behalf of the citizens of Brantford, to take the man had been sought for several days. Mitchell, who came from England a month ago, tried in vain to get work and becoming discouraged, he disappeared several days ago.

Body Recovered. WINNIPEG, Aug. 4.—The body of Samuel Mitchell, aged 65, was taken from Red River yesterday after having been sought for several days. Mitchell, who came from England a month ago, tried in vain to get work and becoming discouraged, he disappeared several days ago.

They Raise Some Money. (Canadian Press Dispatch.) LONDON, Aug. 4.—It has been ascertained that the accounts of the Women's Social and Political Union for the first six months of 1912 show that more than $55,000 had been received during that period toward the principal fund of the union, known as the quarter-million-pound fund.

At the close of 1912, this stood at $705,000. To June 30, 1913, the total was more than $760,000. For the first quarter of the year the receipts varied from $150 to $1750 a week, but since April they have been steadily rising.

The total receipts for June were close upon $17,500, a record amount. During July $4,000 was collected at the pavilion music hall meetings.

Will Refuse to Accept Terms. Strike on the I. C. R. is Regarded as Likely—A Statement.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 4.—That the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees would not accept the new terms offered by E. P. Gutelius to the clerks and stenographers of the Intercolonial Railway, who are threatening to strike, is the contention of A. R. Mosher, president of the brotherhood. Mr. Gutelius offered an advance of ten per cent in wages to date from March 31 last. Mr. Mosher said that what was wanted was a twelve per cent increase. The men would not be satisfied until they got it. He said Mr. Gutelius' action was mainly to conciliate a lot of the men so that in case of trouble, they would not go out. He was grievously in error, if he thought this, said Mr. Mosher. The advance really meant a reduction as, in cases where the men were offered fifteen dollars a month extra, they would have to work twelve hours instead of ten, and the changing of the schedule to monthly from hourly, also, meant a reduction.

Three reasons were given by Mr. Mosher for refusing to entertain the offer: First—It would not settle the issue in dispute. Second—It did not cover the point of clerks' cut out of their schedule. Third—It did not give the increase asked for.

DIVORCE MAKES HIM NOT LIABLE

Otherwise This Man at Montreal Would Have Been Charged With Bigamy

MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—Admitting that he had another wife living at the time he went through the marriage ceremony with Jessemina Lepello in Toronto, in 1903, Liugo Taddeo, alias Ross, an Italian, has decided not to oppose her suit for annulment.

He made his declaration while being examined for discovery. A formal annulment of the marriage by a judge of the local courts is now expected by the plaintiff.

The pair were married in St. Patrick's church in the Queen City, on November 18, 1908. Subsequent developments showed that the successful swain had already married another girl in Worcester, two years previously, and that this girl was still alive.

The pair separated, and have lived apart ever since. Shortly after the second marriage the first wife was granted a divorce before the American courts, so that it is stated that Taddeo is not liable to prosecution on a charge of bigamy.

Sad Drowning. WINNIPEG, Aug. 4.—Theresa Holicki, aged two and one-half years, child of an Austrian dairyman of Kildonan, fell into a tank used for cooling off milk cans. There was only two and a half feet of water, but sufficient to drown the little girl.

HALF OF THE VILLAGE OF HARRISBURG WIPED OUT

Fire Believed to Have Been of Incendiary Origin Caused Much Damage Early Sunday Morning Old Hotel Building Gone—Families Escaped.

Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin destroyed the half of the village of Harrisburg at an early hour on Sunday morning. The half destroyed consisted of the old Braithwaite hotel, occupied by two families, B. Dunham and J. Buckborough, and owned by the former, and a barn owned by J. Vrooman. A bucket brigade formed in the village had a hard time saving the house of Mr. Vrooman.

Shortly after two o'clock Sunday morning, smoke was noticed issuing from the rear of the hotel. An alarm was raised and the families in the house escaped with safety. It was not until the fire would have commenced to get out the household effects. This they succeeded largely in doing. The fire raged fiercely and spread to the barn of Geo. Vrooman. Precautions had been taken by Mr. Vrooman, and he had removed his horses and effects from the building. Shortly after part of his house caught ablaze and it required strenuous efforts to save the house. The loss is estimated will be around $3,000, he

Another One. Farmers formed a bucket brigade on Saturday and saved the house owned by Mrs. James Mullen of St. George. The house which was tenanted is situated near German's Mills. Smoke was seen issuing from the place and in short order a dozen willing hands started at work. The loss occasioned was over 200, and the cause of fire is believed to have been a defective chimney.

Another English Tragedy. LONDON, Aug. 4.—The beginning of the August bank holiday season in England have started by tragedy, there being 21 deaths during the week end. Eighteen persons were drowned and three killed by the overturning of a motorbus in a country lane.

G. T. R. Club Cars for Connoisseurs. The popularity of the Grand Trunk service between Montreal and Toronto caused principally by the splendid service of daily express trains over the heavy steel of the only double-track railway between these two points, has caused the management to bring their equipment up to the highest state of efficiency and includes parlor buffet cars, library cars, and dining cars on the day trains and electric lighted Pullman sleeping cars with electric fans and all the latest improvements on their night trains.

Where are we now? Mr. Tatem returned the other without turning his head. "I understand the situation now. If you're asking my safety as a lever upon which to swing my decision in your favor you've attacked the wrong man, understand?" He screamed the last word in Hazen's ear, and the latter nodded, unsmiling, but still the machine went on its rushing course. "Where are we now?" Mr. Tatem yelled again. "Give it up. I can't tell yet."

The banker looked at the grim profile beside him, and something gave way in his spinal column. He must reach solid ground again at any price, he told himself. Jules Hazen might not prove so undesirable a husband for Katherine after all, he argued. His own safety was a matter of paramount importance just then.

All at once the aviator reached forward and did something to the machine, down, down, until it speeded toward the gray clouds at a sickening angle. Then they were enveloped in the damp clouds and were out of them with the earth far below, and they were again falling slowly. Ly-sander Tatem lost his self control as he realized this fact.

"Hazen," he cried, "bring me safely to earth again and I'll consent to your marrying my daughter." Jules turned a flushed face to his father and made an unintelligible reply. Still he fell toward the earth, while the engine gave out that irresponsible staccato click. All at once Hazen leaned back in his seat, touched a lever and fumbled with some handles, and immediately the aeroplane stayed in its dizzying fall, the engine swung into rhythmic beat, and they hung in the air for a moment while the aviator took his bearings. Then they went inward, perhaps a couple of hundred feet above the earth, until the bank recognized the familiar layout of the aviation field below.

Slowly, gracefully, like a weary bird, the machine glided toward the field and at last rested safely on it. Katherine Tatem ran toward them with fluttering handkerchief.

As Ly-sander Tatem stepped to the ground, stiff and sore and quite fagged by the excitement of the flight, he turned a pale and angry face toward Jules Hazen.

"Of course I shall keep my word, young man," he said harshly. "But I shall always have the greatest contempt for your methods" and he strode toward his daughter, who was quick to observe the strained relations between them.

The appearance of the Tatem motor-car at that instant made the latter talk a matter easily concluded, and soon Katherine and her father were on the way home.

"You haven't said anything about the flight, father," said the girl after awhile. "You were gone so long I was afraid that something had happened to you. Ly-sander Tatem swallowed a lump in his throat before replying. "It was an unusual experience, my dear. I had one result which will gratify you—I have told Hazen that he has my consent to your marriage."

Katherine's warm hug was received by her father with manifest discomfort, and perhaps realizing that this yielding of his really caused him suffering, she soon settled quietly beside him and was silent.

Several days passed before Jules Hazen made his appearance at the home of his mother. Ly-sander Tatem was asked for the banker and was shown into the gloomy grandeur of the library.

Mr. Tatem was reading before a west window, where the afternoon sun touched his white hair into a sort of golden radiance that made him look unusually benevolent as he arose to greet his visitor. This effect disappeared as soon as he stepped out of the sunshine, and Hazen saw that his face was grim and uncompromising.

UP IN THE AIR

Or How His Consent Was Won

By CLARRISSA MACKIE

Mr. Ly-sander Tatem looked upon the latest invention of the young man who wanted to be his son-in-law with unconcealed interest. He had accepted the invitation to witness the trial with all the skepticism that the hard-headed man of business brings to bear upon the fanciful dreams of the inventor of things, and he also brought along with his distrust a strong dislike for the youth who had dared to fall in love with his only child, Katherine.

Katherine stood beside him, small and fair and wonderfully interested in the complication of canvas and machinery which Jules so skillfully guided through the air. There were just the three of them—Jules, Katherine and her father.

Jules essayed another flight, and as his machine rose gracefully to the level of the treetops Mr. Tatem shaded his eyes with his hand and followed his course. At last he brought his eyes down to earth, and he found that it was a fascinating pastime if one is young and can afford to spend the time and money," he added hastily.

"That is Jules' profession, father. I suppose he might as well be an inventor as a banker or broker or anything else," said Katherine with spirit.

"Don't you think the life of an aviator, for instance, contains more risk than that of a banker?" demanded Ly-sander Tatem, who was fond of an argument.

"No, indeed," and Katherine lifted her pretty brows in surprise. "Just think of all the bankers who are killed in automobile accidents!"

"Humph!" snorted Mr. Tatem impatiently. "As if a man's profession made any difference when two automobiles come together. Just as many bankers have their heads smashed, my dear, as bankers. Be sensible now and admit that Hazen's profession or trade, or whatever you call it, is a more dangerous one than mine."

"That's the situation in a nutshell. Hazen is as poor as a church mouse. I suppose he thinks if he marries a banker's daughter he'll have a banker for his inventions."

Now the aeroplane swooped downward and alighted before them. Jules leaned out, his feet swinging lightly with pleasure.

"Will you go up with me, Mr. Tatem?" he asked. "I'm sure you'll enjoy the sensation of soaring in the air, and you'll return to your safe and sound to the earth."

Ly-sander Tatem hesitated for a moment, and then, persuaded by his daughter's encouraging smile and ashamed to admit his own reluctance to leave the earth in that manner, he stepped into the seat beside the young aviator.

The banker clung desperately to the slender supports as the birdlike machine swooped up, above the treetops, and then glided evenly along above the earth. After the first sickening feeling as he saw the ground with its familiar objects dropping away beneath them, where Katherine stood a tiny speck waving a pin point of white after them, Ly-sander Tatem really began to enjoy the sensation of flying.

"He felt a new respect for the son-in-law, and he earnestly hoped that the science would be perfected with such rapidity that he, too, might enjoy the sport of air flying."

Jules Hazen said a little. Now and then he glanced at the blurred outline of the working of the machinery to the interested passenger, who grew more exhilarated as the minutes passed until an hour had gone by.

"Where are we now?" he asked at last. "Back home," returned Hazen as he swung the machine circling about and headed for home. "There's rather a nasty wind coming up from the north-east. We'll see if we can't beat it."

They didn't beat it, the rapidly rising wind. It made such headway that the aviator guided his machine to a higher strata, hoping to escape the unfavorable wind. Higher and higher they arose until the feeling of nausea attacked the banker again, and he was obliged to exert every effort to maintain his seat.

"Close your eyes!" commanded Jules. And Mr. Tatem was gladly obedient. The first doubts of the aviator's ability to take him home again now assailed him.

"What's that?" he asked at last. "The engine is giving forth such sharp staccato clicks that hearing was difficult."

"What's what?" shouted Jules. "That noise, like the clanking of all the steel rails," explained the uneasy passenger.

"Engine missing strokes," said Jules briefly, and Mr. Tatem had to be content with that explanation. But not for long was he satisfied with the situation. The machine was rushing forward through the air with a speed that below them were cold, gray clouds and above them a clear, deep blue sky from which the sun shone warmly.

"There was absent the smooth gliding motion which had at first fascinated him, and there was something in the action of the engine and in the rigid lines of Hazen's profile that hinted at the fate of the young aviator, in fact, at the banker's reluctance to accept him as the savior of his daughter, might be sending them both to destruction.

THE TOLL OF LIFE

It is very seldom that people stop to think of the large number of workaday men and even women, who by very reason of their employment curtail the length of their lives and are subject to bodily ills.

For instance in the United States it is estimated that sixty thousand workers become poisoned each year who have to do with lead. Now it is believed that a counter-acting remedy has been discovered and it is to be sincerely hoped that such will prove to be the case.

Many other illustrations might be given. The many dangers to which railway engineers, firemen and in fact all railway hands are subjected is only too fully recorded in the terrible record each year of the dead and maimed.

A like state of affairs, only in a lesser degree simply because the army of workers is less, prevails with regard to bridge workers, structural steel buildings and other branches of that trade, mining, blasting emery wheel work, electric line work and in fact many other almost countless vocations. In short, in no one instance of labor is there freedom from mishap, some more and others to a less extent, but there nevertheless.

For this reason the provision of all possible safeguards is a prime essential. In Canada of late years there has been much improvement in the enforcement of such regulations, but much more still remains to be done. And in this regard there should also be hearty co-operation between employers and employed—the former in the adoption of all proper preventative and the latter to the extent of not taking unnecessary chances.

OUTSIDE RETAIL ADVERTISEMENTS.

In St. Catharines a business man has made a protest against one of the papers carrying large display advertisements from the retail merchants on the other side of the line. The object is of course to induce residents of that city to just step across the border and do their shopping there. He states that he cannot understand why a paper should thus encourage trade to go across the line "when we are endeavoring to build up our own city by promoting its industrial and mercantile interests." There is a good deal of force in this comment.

As far as The Courier is concerned, it has more than once declined advertising contracts from mercantile houses of Toronto and Hamilton, for the reason that it feels that the best possible course is for Brantfordites to trade with their own local establishments. They can do just as well here, and often better, and the mutual upbuilding of any community in a loyal and all round way is the very salt of future development. The advertising columns of this paper each day contain the announcements of a wealth and variety of goods at right prices, and the enterprise of the various merchants is well worthy of the support of all of us. They richly deserve and should receive this, not only in the interests of themselves and their large army of employes, but also for the reason that it is to the direct advantage of the general public to trade right here.

NEVER BEEN KISSED.

Dr. Annie T. Quensal, a noted Zoologist of a Swedish University, who with her husband, will attend a big congress of Zoologists in New York stated during the course of an interview in Gotham, that she had never been kissed yet—not even by her husband. This is all the more remarkable for the reason that she is described as strikingly pretty and charming.

Here it is in her own language: "My husband has never kissed me, and I have never kissed him. Neither of us have ever kissed anyone. We are both very active members of the Continental Antikissing League. We believe kissing is unsanitary and a menace to good health."

Just how they manifest their affection is not very clear but perhaps they rub noses. Even then, what is to prevent microbes infection and attacks on that organ except by the handkerchief route personally applied, are usually ranged in the assault class.

Dr. Annie further adds with regard to the feelings of herself and her better half or one-tenth, or whatever his ranking may be: "We feel that if persons, having been properly warned of the risk they run, persist in kissing, sufficient punishment is meted to them by the thousands of bacilli that will be left on the lips."

In other words, the next time the average young man asks for the privilege of a kiss with some fair and bewitching damsel and she remarks in pleased accents "Don't Kiss!" he'll know what she really means.

Now Annie, as a learned person, is well aware of the fact that one set of bacilli will kill off another set. That fact established, how does she know that in the first place it wasn't based on the mutual and beneficial slaughter scheme?

It's no go Annie. As long as there are men and women, and mothers and fathers, and children, this kissing business is going to continue, no matter if you own matrimonial seas had nary a smack.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Those happy looking kiddies to be seen on the streets these days are of course that way because the end of their vacation is drawing so near. If you doubt this, ask one of them.

So they are going to introduce moving pictures on Atlantic liners. Well, there is nothing very new about that. For countless years they have been seen on all kinds of craft during stormy weather, and even otherwise.

Hamilton has just completed two weeks races. It goes without question that all who flocked there, did so for the sole reason that they have a patriotic interest in the improvement of horses. There couldn't have been any other reason; perish the thought.

It is announced that the trip of leader Rowell to Europe is for the purpose of studying social conditions there. He had better come back home and try to straighten out the unsociable conditions at present existing in such a marked way among his own followers.

The Toronto Globe reaffirms with much emphasis, that it still sticks to reciprocity, and hopes to see it adopted next election. Some kind friend ought to take the organ aside and inform it in gentle terms that the movement is good and dead—in fact was still born.

The hot weather seems to have got on the extreme language departments of Ald. Roche and Auditor Gough, of St. Thomas. Here is a portion of what occurred at a recent meeting: Ald. Roche—"I don't care what you say, you're a dirty, low, mean sneak."

Mr. Gough—"Don't say too much or I'll slap your face." Ald. Roche—"I'll put you out. You're no gentleman and you never were one."

Mr. Gough—"He can't put me out of here any more than you can." Ald. Roche—"You're a dirty low sneak, since you got promoted from the pop-wagon."

Mr. Gough—"Don't tell me that or I'll kick the liver out of you." Mr. Gough starts for Ald. Roche but is intercepted by Peace Preservers Price and Trot, who advise the belligerent gentlemen to control their angry passions.

Mr. Gough to Ald. Roche—"I'll show you where you're at. I'll show you." Curtain. Home, Sweet Home. Ex-Premier Dead. SYDNEY, New South Wales, Aug. 4.—Sir William John Lyne, former treasurer of the Australian Commonwealth and former premier of New South Wales, died yesterday. He was 69 years old.

Republiate Idea. LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Standard and The Chronicle in editorials this morning repudiate the idea that the Panama canal tolls act had anything to do with Great Britain's decision not to participate in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco. The newspapers say they hope the American press will accept this assurance.

Scotch Miners' Death. GLASGOW, Aug. 4.—Twenty two coal miners perished in the fire which broke out yesterday in the Mavis valley pit of the Cadder colliery, near here. Only one man escaped alive at the shift of miners in the pit at the time of the fire. A widow lost three of her sons. The rescuers, parties passed through a severe ordeal, owing to the intense heat and poisonous gases. Many of them were brought to the surface unconscious.

What the Other Fellow Thinks

A Standing Emergency Toronto Telegram: An emergency that takes $230,000,000 out of the people of the British Isles every year must be an emergency that affects Britain's safety. An emergency that affects Britain's safety is an emergency that affects Canada's honor. There is nothing mythical about an emergency that costs the people of the British Isles $230,000,000 every year.

The Ways of Financiers Toronto Star: Sir William Mackenzie has gone to England for a month and anything else he can bring back to keep that fifteen million company.

Day of Electrification Gait Reporter: The announcement that the C. P. R. has completed plans for a new electric line from Niagara Falls to Hamilton and possibly to Toronto would seem to encourage the belief that there is little likelihood of the Lake Erie and Northern (generally understood to be backed by the C. P. R.) using steam on its road. The electrification of steam roads is growing in popularity each year, and over 1,000 miles of steam railways in the United States have been electrified and are now in operation as such, while plans have been announced for the electrification of over 1,000 miles more.

Crops Are Important St. Catharines Journal: There are indications that the money market will be much improved within another month. The harvesting of crops both in Eastern and Western Canada puts thousands of dollars in circulation upon a national asset and not something of a fictitious value.

New Brant Sanitarium

mention of the excellent work of Mr. Watts and the present vice-president, Mr. Cook. Mayor Hartman said the institution was a credit to them and a credit to the City of Brantford. He said there was no one who knew the dreaded disease more than those in public offices and mentioned a case under his notice at the present time. He mentioned the gift of Mr. Cockshutt and said he felt sure the City of Brantford and the County of Brant will never regret the money expended and the conclusion was reached that the institution would do the work it intended to do.

Dedication Prayer. The dedication prayer was made by Rev. R. D. Hamilton of Wellington street Methodist church, concluding it with the Lord's Prayer.

The Warden Heard From. Following the prayer the chairman called on Warden Kendrick to speak. The Warden expressed the pleasure it gave him to be present and on behalf of the County thanked all who had helped to make the institution possible. Commenting upon the work of Mr. Watts, Warden Kendrick said he had served a great purpose and great credit was due him and all those who had worked with him. The gift of five acres from Mr. E. L. Cockshutt and the ten acres given by the city and county was made mention of. The giving of a land for such an institution was the greatest thing anyone could do. The conclusion Warden Kendrick again thanked all those who had done anything towards making the institution possible.

Financial Report. The financial report which was read by Mr. A. G. Olive, treasurer, was as follows: Grounds $22,335 22 Equipment 1,225 00 Receipts to date $24,330 93 Shortage $9,380 84 Amount still to be received, $5,000 00 To be still provided.

Mr. Frank Cockshutt Speaks. Mr. Cook, previous to calling on Mr. Frank Cockshutt, expressed regret at the absence of Mr. E. L. Cockshutt. Mr. Cockshutt thought it fortunate that his brother had been willing to dedicate the portion of the property he owned. He also thought it generous of the City of Brantford and County of Brant to furnish the land which had been added to his brother's gift. He also spoke of the substantialness of the site. He had no doubt but what the institution would carry out the good work for which it was designed. In conclusion he said he rejoiced in the success of the project.

Very Rev. Dean Brady. Very Rev. Dean Brady of St. Basil's church thought the opening of the institution marked a great day for Brantford and district. He termed the institution "A haven of health and happiness for the poor victims." The institution would have God's blessing and the unfortunate victims would give "A God Bless You." The doctor cited an instance of a wonderful cure through the agency of a sanitarium. He spoke of the situation existing ten years ago, when there were one hundred applications for one bed, and often when the diseased one was admitted to the hospital it was too late. Mention was made of the closeness of the hospital to its field of labor. The doctor spoke of the gift of Mr. Cockshutt and in his concluding remarks said "It is sweet charity."

Dr. E. C. Ashton. The last speaker was Dr. E. C. Ashton. The doctor gave a short outline of the history of the work of bringing the institution to completion, which has extended over a period of five years. A sanitarium must be located on high ground, and the soil must be light. From the moment of Mr. Cockshutt's gift, there was something definite to work on, and this gift being supplemented by other gifts, the institution was completed. Dr. Ashton outlined the manner in which the work will be carried on. While there is only accommodation for a dozen beds, there is ample dining room accommodation, and the doctor said it was the intention to erect several small buildings on the grounds for patients in the incipient stages. On behalf of the medical men Dr. Ashton thanked those who had donated and spoke of the work of fighting the plague as a doctor finds it.

Will Improve Approach. Dr. Ashton and the chairman both spoke of the improvements to the approach and surroundings that will be made. Mr. Cook said that probably some arrangement will be made whereby the House of Refuge and the Sanitarium can use the same driveway.

Introduced Miss Cringle. Miss Cringle, the nurse-in-charge, was introduced by the chairman and she was heartily welcomed. Miss Cringle has had a wide experience, and under her direction the work will be successfully carried on.

Upon making an inspection the visitors were greatly impressed with the appearance of the building throughout and it was brought vividly before them, probably as never before, that there is a fight on—a fight against the awful plague. Wherever one chose to look, there was comfort in evidence. The snowy white coats conveyed a message which went direct to the heart.

Yesterday afternoon the building was open for inspection. To-day the great work was started.

The Officers. The officers are: President, E. L. Cockshutt; vice-president, Christopher Cook; treasurer, A. G. Olive; honorary secretary, K. V. Bunnell. Other Officers: A. E. Watts, E. L. Gould, J. T. Hewitt, Drs. Ashton and Frank, J. C. Gales, Trustees—Mayor Hartman and Warden Kendrick.

KING GEORGE WAS THE WINNER

On Board His Veteran Cutter "Britannia" the King Wins His Race.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Aug. 4.—King George's cutter, Britannia, at the Cowes regatta to-day won the Sanata Cup, a handicap for cutters, yawls and ketches, presented by Sir Maurice Fitzgerald. The Britannia, which had not raced at Cowes for nearly fifteen years, was at the scratch boat. The other competitors were the yawl Wendur and the ketches Julnar and Cariad. The Royal cutter was first away on the 30 miles course and soon established a strong lead. She won easily.

The yachting opened in fine weather and with a better entry of boats than there has been for some years. Besides King George, and Queen Mary, the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and Prince Henry of Prussia brother of the German Emperor, were among the brilliant throng spending the week aloft.

The new schooner, the Marguerite, designed by C. E. Nicholson, of Gosport, who is to build the challenger for the America's Cup, won the big schooner race, defeating Herr Krupp von Bohlen and Haldrach's Germania and the German Emperor's Meteor in the order named, over a 146-mile course. Prince Henry of Prussia was on board the Meteor.

Seven Dead From Fire

Terrible Tragedy in Quebec Home—Five Children Lost.

(Canadian Press Dispatch). QUEBEC, Aug. 4.—Seven lives were lost in a fire which early this morning destroyed the home of Joseph Paquet at St. John parish, Isle of Orleans, some fifteen miles east of Quebec. The dead are Mrs. Paquet, her five children—three girls and two boys—and an unknown woman who was staying in the house. The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp, the flames spreading through the frame cottage with tremendous rapidity. Neighbors made a gallant attempt to rescue the imprisoned family, whose rescue they were helpless to attempt, but only Mrs. Paquet, who was terribly, though it is thought not fatally, burned, and one child were rescued. Mr. Paquet is a river pilot. Messrs. J. F. Sage, G. Sage, E. Baker and G. V. Noble returned Saturday after spending a delightful two weeks at Temagami. They brought home with them some very nice bass.

The court this morning owing to some trifling cases holding the boards for the larger part of the morning, was rather late in rising, causing the magistrate and other court officials to have visions of a cold noon-day meal.

Annie Nemid had John Tubal before the Magistrate for converting a stove to his own use. A lot of foreigners were called in this case as witnesses, and the interpreter was brought into use frequently. The defendant was made to pay costs and the stove was to be returned to the previous owner for the price paid.

George Rowe was before the court for loafing. He appears to be able to work but is not doing so. The case was adjourned for a week to see if Rowe would get work. Several were up on drunk charges but they were mostly first offenders.

Submarines Missing. LONDON, Aug. 4.—Two British submarines which were engaged in the recent naval manoeuvres are missing, and destroyers have been sent out from Rosyth naval station in Scotland to search for them. At the Admiralty it is thought that the failure of the submarines to report is probably due to their commanders' ignorance of the fact that the naval manoeuvres came to an end unexpectedly on Saturday.

The Late Everett Lampkin

The funeral of Everett Lampkin, the little boy whose death occurred a few days ago owing to a curra lodging in his nose, and son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lampkin, Hamilton Road, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of the parents, to Brant church cemetery. The services, which were largely attended, were conducted by Rev. C. R. Morrow of Cainsville.

The pall bearers were Messrs Jas. Westbrook, Fraser Lampkin, Frank Lampkin, John Duff.

Many beautiful and floral pieces spoke of the sympathy extended.

The Late James Wilson

The remains of the late James Wilson, who was fatally injured in a railroad accident in Welland on Thursday last, were interred in Mt. Hope cemetery at 3 o'clock on Saturday. The ceremony was conducted at his residence, 53 Victoria street, of this city, by Rev. D. T. McClintock, of Alexandra church.

The deceased, who was seventy years of age, was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church. Although his trials were many and several, he bore the same with true Christian fortitude, and his implicit faith in his Redeemer was one of the most conspicuous of his many noble characteristics.

All the members of his large family (eight in number) were present to witness the last sad rites. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, testifying to the esteem in which he was held. The afflicted widow and family have the deepest sympathy of a host of sorrowing friends in their sad and sudden bereavement.

Having two wives is bigamy, having a dozen is "pigamy."

Obituary

Mrs. Annie Hartley James.

There died in Toronto on July 16th Mrs. Annie Hartley James, at the Western Hospital, of typhoid fever. She was 56 years of age. She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving mother six children—Mrs. John Shannon of this city, S. H. James of the foreign mail department, Hamilton, Mrs. W. J. McDermid, Toronto, Mrs. Bruce Hyatt, Toronto, and Thos. R. and R. G. James, all of Toronto. She deceased lived the early part of her life here until her marriage to Mr. Thomas Davidson James of Brantford, brother of Mr. Simon James of this city. The funeral took place to Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto, and was conducted by Rev. Charles Inglis.

Nuptial Notes

HAWKEN—DALTON.
A quiet and pretty wedding took place at the historical old Mohawk Church this morning at eleven o'clock, when the Rev. G. W. Latimer, rector of Trinity Anglican Church, united in marriage Henrietta Dalton, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dalton of this city and George William Hawken, the popular city traveller of the Geo. E. Foster and Sons.

The young couple were unattended. After the marriage ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 64 Queen St. The young couple left this afternoon on a honeymoon trip through New York State. On their return to the city, they will take up their residence at 30 Duke St.

A Good Yield.
The wheat harvest at Bow Park farm this year yielded an average of 38 bushels to the acre.

Local News

THE PROBS

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—Pressure is low over the Maritime provinces and the middle Atlantic coast and relatively high from the Great Lakes westward. Since Saturday local showers have occurred in nearly all the provinces of the Dominion, but the weather is now fine except throughout Canada in the Maritime provinces.

Brant Dragon Picnic.

The majority of the Staff Sergeants and Sergeants of the 25th Brant Dragons journeyed to Gaywood on Saturday afternoon with their wives and families and best lady friends and held a very enjoyable picnic in the beautiful grounds of Lt. Col. M. F. Muir. A very pleasant afternoon was spent with a number of sports, and races etc., after which ample justice was done to a bountiful repast which they were joined by over 30 members of the Band who kindly volunteered music for the occasion, and under direction of Lt. Pierce, rendered some very fine selections during the evening. Several of the officers honored the gathering, amongst whom were Major J. Smith, Lt. Pierce, and of course the genial O.C. Lt. Col. M. F. Muir, who is never absent when there is anything doing in the Brant Dragons. Altogether a fine time was held, and it being considered an annual gathering of the Sergeants, will always be looked forward to with pleasure.

DONOVAN BEAT BRANTFORD TEAM

Former Red Sox Pitcher Allowed Old Team Mates Only Five Hits.

Large Concourse of Friends Pay Tribute to Late Alfred Watts.

The funeral of the late Mr. Alfred Watts took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at a service at the house on Brant Avenue, and then one at Grace Church, of which the deceased, at the time of his demise, was the oldest living member.

The pall-bearers were all former members of the A. Watts firm, Messrs A. K. Bunnell, H. Leonard, F. Merritt, Geo. Cusack, W. Smart and J. Lake. At the church, Mr. George Fleming of New York, sang the favorite of the deceased, "O sweetly solemn thought." A very large concourse of friends was present to pay a last tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased. Among those present was Mr. Robert Henry, the partner of the late Alfred Watts for over 30 years. Mr. Henry paid the following tribute to the late Mr. Watts to-day:

"I knew him as well as any man could, and they knew him upon a commercial standpoint. He was honest and straightforward in all his dealings. He did much good; helped many a man. A great and good citizen has passed away."

Fatality Was Very Sad One

An unfortunate fatality, in which Brantford people were interested, was reported from Guelph on Friday last. The daughter of Mr. Geo. Heyd, in company with a number of other little friends, were in Mr. Heyd's auto, which was being driven by a chauffeur, when a horse belonging to the father of Joseph Heinbart, six years old, Ashfield Township, became frightened and commenced to kick. The little boy was instantly killed. He was seated with his back to the horse, his parents and two other members of the family being occupants of the rig. A doctor was summoned, but it was extinct. Needless to say, Miss Heyd and others in the party were greatly distressed over the sad fatality.

"No Funds" Was Sad Message

Another case of a dashing young man securing easy money took place in the city on Saturday. It appears that a gentleman named Green came here from Toronto with his son for the purpose of securing a situation for his boy. He succeeded in doing so and left the young man in the city and then proceeded to the Queen City. The son began to take in the sights and soon ran out of funds. He made out a cheque for $10.00 on a certain bank which has a branch in this city, which the manager refused to cash. He then met a young lady and proceeded to Stedman Bros., so as the young lady could identify him if necessary. He presented the cheque but the proprietor was busy. The young man and his lady love then proceeded back to the bank from whence he came and presented the cheque. His lady friend identified him and the cashier paid over the money. The couple then proceeded to the Tea Pot Inn, where the proprietor, Mr. S. Crumback paid out $15.00. A wire was sent to the bank in the place which they were joined by over 30 members of the Band who kindly volunteered music for the occasion, and under direction of Lt. Pierce, rendered some very fine selections during the evening. Several of the officers honored the gathering, amongst whom were Major J. Smith, Lt. Pierce, and of course the genial O.C. Lt. Col. M. F. Muir, who is never absent when there is anything doing in the Brant Dragons. Altogether a fine time was held, and it being considered an annual gathering of the Sergeants, will always be looked forward to with pleasure.

Toronto's Holiday.

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—Toronto today is celebrating her civic holiday and a newspaper mathematician has estimated that more than 150,000 people left the city by train and steamer, this number not including the fifty thousand or so at the island and the smaller number at the nearby park resorts. Many of the smaller cities and towns in Western Ontario are also celebrating to-day.

INJURED IN JUMPING FROM MOVING TRAIN

Miss M. Watson Fell From Car at G.T.R. Station Last Evening.

(London Free Press)
Miss M. Watson of Brynston, was painfully hurt at the Grand Trunk station at Brantford last night when she jumped from a moving train. She was brought to Victoria Hospital, London, where her injuries were treated. Dr. F. P. Drake was in attendance, and announced that other than a few bruises, the woman was not seriously injured.

Miss Watson had gone to the Falls on one of several excursions to that resort, and left early in the evening for home. At Brantford she was informed that she was on the wrong train for London, as that on which she was riding was going north. The cars were not moving rapidly. She attempted to alight, but as she has only one leg, and had to use two crutches, she stumbled and fell. Fortunately she tumbled clear of the tracks. The trainmen rushed to her rescue, and as the train for London was about to pull out, they brought her here. Dr. Drake was summoned by wire, and when the train arrived the injured lady was sent to the hospital. She will leave for her home to-day.

Y.M.C.A. 3, Tigers 2.
This game was played on the O.S.B. grounds, both teams turning out at full strength. The Y.M.C.A. started the game and gained a corner. Roberts, meeting it, scored the first goal for the Y. There was nothing to choose on either side, both playing good and clean football. The Tigers were given a penalty. Hoyle, taking it, made the score even. Just after this Roberts gave the Y boys the lead by scoring another goal. The Tigers pressed hard, but didn't have any luck. The Y then gained a free kick. Hoyle, taking it, scored again for the Tigers. This ended the game in favor of the Y. M. C. A. 3, Tigers 2, and it was a hard game from start to finish.

A Scramble.
A feud of long standing broke out in a ball game Saturday afternoon when the Brantford Roofing Co. trimmed the Brandon Shoe Co., 16-5. The winning team lined up as follows: Klersey, c.; Petes, p.; J. McIntyre, 1b; Smookler and b.; H. McIntyre, s.s.; Atfield, 3b.; Maloney, r.f.; T. McIntyre, lf.; Donahue, cf. The Brandonites were hopelessly outclassed. Hunter the pitcher for the, mplayed good ball (?), only allowing 27 hits, and had one strike out. With Perry, Lutes, Bailey and Hubert, the least said is the soonest. Elgar, catcher, and McWorman, r.f. were the only Brandon stars. Donahue for the winners had one error and H. McIntyre 2. However, McIntyre saved his job with hits. The losers are game and want to play next Saturday.

DAILY FASHION HINT.

Miss' Dress.
Any young girl could make this dress herself with a little trouble. The blouse is plain, except for a tuck at each shoulder in front. The neck has a wide fancy collar and the plain sleeves are finished with an ornamental cuff. The three-quarter skirt has either normal or pleated waistline and opens in front on a line with the waist closing. This design is good for all wash fabrics.

The dress pattern, No. 6222, is cut in sizes fourteen, sixteen and eighteen years. Medium size requires four and a half yards of thirty-six inch material.

This pattern can be obtained by sending ten cents to the office of this paper.

Eight days must be allowed for receipt of pattern.

MAYOR IS INVITED TO ATTEND CENTENNIAL

His Lordship is Billed for a Good Time in City of Hamilton.

Mayor Hartman has received invitation to attend the Hamilton Industrial Centennial to be held in the Ambitious City during the week beginning August 11. On Monday he is invited to a luncheon at the Royal Hotel, as the guest of the reception committee, and on Tuesday he is asked to attend a similar function at the Royal, as the guest of the president and officers of the association. "I will probably attend one or two functions," said His Worship.

"Are you well enough acquainted with your new neighbor to speak?" inquired Smythe of his wife. "Only for an hour or so, we really haven't got to know each other well yet," replied his truthful wife.

PHILLIES WON FROM ST. LOUIS

Cardinals Were Defeated by a Score of Five to Three.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4.—The Phillies opened their series here on Sunday by taking the first game from the Cardinals by the score of 5 to 3. A lucky popping of hits and errors gave the Cardinals their runs, although they were out-hit all the way through.

CHICAGO WHALED BROOKLYN No Less Than Four Home Runs Were Made in the Game.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—In a slugfest caused by home runs, of which there were four, the Cubs humiliated the Dodgers yesterday to the tune of 12 to 5. The Cubs had the long end of the home run getting totalling three, while Stengel entered the four sack column with one swat for a trip around the circuit. The Cubs worked a short work of Ragans, getting to him for seven hits and five runs in two innings after which Wagner took up the work. Lavender, who worked for the entire game for the Cubs, was touched up for fourteen hits, but with the exception of the fourth innings, he managed to prevent the visitors from bunting their bingles. Score: Brooklyn . . . 000300002—5 14 1 Chicago . . . 123001420—12 15 1

BOSTON LOST TO CINCINNATI. Dickson Pitched Fairly Well Until the Final Seventh.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 3.—Ragged holding by the Braves' infield and timely hitting by the Reds allowed Dickson's men to take the first game of the series from Boston yesterday by a score of 8 to 5. Although the fielding position was poorly, Dickson pitched a fairly good game for the Braves until the seventh, when he blew out. Boston . . . 001101011—5 9 3 Cincinnati . . . 110001822—8 11 0

FANS WENT CRAZY WHEN LEAFS WON

Nobody Was Out When the Leafs Scored Five Runs in the Ninth.

TORONTO, Ontario, August 4.—It's a funny old game," is an expression you will hear often from someone in the coaching box, but it is not only "funny," but heartrending, more especially if the home team pulls a game out of the fire, like the Leafs did the first one on Saturday. Those Skeeters, whom the Leafs eventually subdued in both ends of the double header, had a four run lead when the locals went to bat in their half of the ninth inning of the first game, but "Presto," changed! Seven of the local gladiators stepped up to the plate and slammed the sphere around to the vacant spots, and before the Skeeters could even get one "dead bird," five of the locals had crossed the platter, and the game was over. The score of the initial contest was 7 to 6, and 8 to 0 in the second, both in favor of the local gladiators. The scores—

THEY BROKE EVEN

NEWARK TOOK THE FIRST AND ROCHESTER THE SECOND GAME. ROCHESTER, Aug. 4.—Rochester and Newark broke even in a double header here Saturday, before a big crowd of fans. The Indians, who Aitchinson in the box, had no trouble in winning the first game to 1 to 1. He allowed the Hustlers only five hits, while Newark banged Hughes and Martin for eighteen safeties. The visitors apparently had the second game won also, but the locals bunched two doubles with a base on balls in the ninth to cut down a two run lead and tie the score. The Ganzel men won out in the tenth on a long single by Schmidt, preceded by a brace of boots. The final score was 5 to 4. Scores—

WINNING STREAK BROKEN

Baltimore Took the First game of the Double-Header From Buffalo. BUFFALO, Aug. 4.—The Orioles broke the Herd's winning streak of six straight in the first game Saturday, winning a travesty on the sport by a score of 13 to 4, but the Herd came right back in the second and won a sensational game by the score of 3 to 1. Main and Matteson were effective in the first but Fullenweider pitched great ball in the second. Uppire Mullin was in hot water all day.

MIDLAND LEAGUE GAMES.

PETERBORO, Aug. 4.—The semifinals in the Midland Football League were won here yesterday by the C. G. E. eleven who defeated the Nomads by 3 to 0. The first game was a tie, the winners and Pickering play home and home games for the championship. "Your neighbor's lawn looks better than yours." It ought to, he's had my lawn mower over there for a month.

SPORTING COMMENT

Guelph has taken Pitcher Chaput from London. And Ottawa leads the league for the first time this year. Australian cricketers beat the All-New York team by nine wickets. Irish-Canadians are champions of the Dominion Lacrosse Association. Toronto Leafs are only a few points from the first division. Some jump for the tail-enders in a few days. Brantford plays two games, morning and afternoon on Monday next—Mayor Hartman's civic holiday.

NEWARK BEATEN BY ROCHESTER

NEWARK, Aug. 4.—Rochester took yesterday's game by getting to Bell in the fourth for three tallies, and two more in the next innings. The locals threw a scare into the Gazzettites by hammering Keefe for four runs in the final chapter. Score: Newark . . . 000000004—4 10 2 Rochester . . . 000320001—6 11 1

PROVIDENCE AND MONTREAL DIVIDED A SUNDAY BILL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—Providence and Montreal divided a double-header yesterday. In the first the Grays pounded Dale in the eighth and ninth. Mason was effective in the second, while Montreal drove Mitchell off the mound in the fourth. Scores: Providence . . . 000001022—5 11 2 Montreal . . . 000011000—2 10 2

WILD BILL DONOVAN HELD THE ROYALS TO FIVE BINGLES.

MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—Fresh from their success over the league leaders yesterday, the Royals looked like the better bet, but the locals were beaten 11 to 2 to 1 score. "Wild" Bill Donovan had his way pretty much throughout the whole game. Score: Providence . . . 000002000—2 7 0 Montreal . . . 000000010—1 5 1

COBB'S AND MATTY'S BROTHERS O. K.

Younger brothers of Christy Mathewson and Tyrus Cobb are coming to the front as star ball players. According to reports from the cities where they are performing at present, Hank Mathewson is playing first base for the Kingston team of the New York State League, and is fielding and hitting in fine style. Paul Cobb is hitting around the 300 mark as a member of the Lincoln, Nebraska, Club, of the Western League, his slugging being credited with keeping the club in the first division. It is said he will be snapped up by one of the major league clubs at the end of the Western season. They both married blondes. Later each was divorced and married the other's wife. "A fair exchange is no robbery," they said. For they both married blondes.

KIRLEY TOO GOOD FOR THE COCKNEYS

Guelph Broke Losing Streak by Beating the League Leaders.

KIRLEY TOO GOOD GUELPH, Aug. 4.—After dropping six straight games during the past week the Guelph Leafs finally broke into the win column Saturday, make with a vengeance, beating the London team by a score of 13 to 2. The Leafs batted Steiger to all parts of the field, and he was replaced by Deneau in the seventh, but he failed to stop the slaughter. Kirley was on the mound for the Leafs and he pitched a masterly game throughout. Only three hits were registered on him up to the eighth, when he let up in his work and allowed four hits and three runs. He tightened up in the ninth and there was nothing more doing. President McCaffrey, of the Toronto club, who owns Kirley, was an interested spectator and was highly pleased with his work. The score—

London . . . 002000303—5 Guelph . . . 120204148—13

TWO WINS FOR OTTAWA

HAMILTON, Aug. 4.—Ottawa took both games here Saturday from Hamilton, making it four straight, and all of the past home series. The score of the first game was 4 to 2 and the second 5 to 3. The first game developed into something of a burlesque near the end. Both teams used two pitchers during the game. Dougherty started the game for Hamilton, Shaghnessy's Senators gathered three hits and three runs in the first inning and two hits in the second before any was retired. Manager Lee thought it about time to yank him, so he sent Schuyler in to replace him. Schuyler surprised the fans by only allowing three hits in eight innings, something which occurs seldom does. Umpire Halligan banished Dolan in the second inning for kicking against a close decision at first. Robertson while trying after a high foul in the ninth inning ran against the railing in front of the bleachers and had to be carried off the field. He was not seriously hurt. The second game which only went seven innings was somewhat like a ball game. Although Ottawa had three errors and Hamilton four both teams played excellent ball, and everyone of the errors made were those kind which can only be called hard luck errors. Kubat was on the firing line for Ottawa, and Donahue for Hamilton. Ottawa hit Donahue hard in the first inning, getting three hits and three runs off him, but after that he settled down and had good control. A two bagger, two walks and two errors gave Hamilton their three runs in the second inning. Ottawa scored their other two runs in the fifth on a base on balls and two errors. The scores—

Ottawa . . . 210000100—4 Hamilton . . . 090200000—2

ANXIOUS ALLOTMENT HOLDERS BRIGHTON EDUCATION COMMITTEE ON TUESDAY APPROVED A SCHEME FOR THE ACQUISITION OF FIFTEEN ACRES OF LAND IN DYKE-ROAD, FOR A PLAYING-FIELD, AT A TOTAL COST OF $15,500.

If the land is purchased about 300 tenants of privately-owned garden allotments would be displaced, and the tenants are hoping that in the event of purchase of the ground by the municipal authorities other land will be found for them.

RED SOX LOSE THREE STRAIGHT TO PETES

Lost Saturday's Game by a Score of 8-5—Locals Tied the Score in the Fifth but Were Doomed to Defeat Through Sterling's Great Pitching and His Sensational Support.

PETERBORO, Ont., Aug. 4.—Gero didn't fare any better than his fellows on the last of the series yesterday, and the Petes batted out another 8 to 5 victory. In the fourth when the locals scored four runs, they hit five in a row. The Brants fell on Tracey in the fifth for three doubles and two singles and tied the score. Sterling relaxed and backed by sensational fielding held the visitors to a single for the remainder of the game. Swartz was very prominent with a home run and three singles and a one hand catch. Score: Peterboro . . . 001040000—5 Brantford . . . 014001023—8

ST. THOMAS WON EASILY

Wilkinson Held Berlin Down to a Solitary Bingle. BERLIN, Aug. 4.—St. Thomas came to life Saturday and trounced Berlin in the last game of the series by 7 to 1. Wilkinson, the Saints' young hurler, held the locals to one hit, and would have scored a shut-out with perfect support. He issued seven passes, but with runners on bases was invincible. Bradshaw, for the locals was wild too, and the visitors hit his offerings at opportune stages. Umpire Jacobson banished Outfielder Burns from the game for disputing a decision on an attempt at stealing. The scores—

St. Thomas . . . 000100000—7 Berlin . . . 002100310—1

"The Japanese Dagger"—This two reel special feature marks an epoch in drama of naval life and is unquestionably one of the most sensational features of its kind that will be produced for many a day. It is a two-part picture that justifies its length and is a most entertaining offering. The story centres on a Japanese dagger on which is inscribed "Never must I leave this country; evil will befall anyone who carries me away."

In seeking full measure of remuneration, employees in many lines look to the Wants to point the way to opportunity. Same as "No Children." Guest—You advertise "No mosquitoes." Farmer—Yes, mum; our summer boarders ain't allowed to bring any.

LOSS OF APETITE is commonly gradual; one dish after another is set aside. It is one of the first indications that the system is running down, and there is nothing else so good for it as Hood's Sarsaparilla—the best of all tonics.

Suicide's Seven Attempts. Claude Lawler, a canteen steward at Fort Victoria, Vancouver, Isle of Wight, jumped into the sea from the pier-head at Alum Bay, and was drowned. He left his hat and jacket on the pier. In the jacket was found a seven-chambered revolver fully loaded. Each chamber had been tried without result, the weapon being out of order.

ST. LOUIS GOT ONLY FOUR HITS

Athletics Took the Final Game of the Series by a 4-1 Score.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—Philadelphia won the final game of the series with the Browns Saturday by 4 to 1, thereby getting an even break on the four games with Stovall's Missourians. Hamilton was hit hard by the leaders, while Brown was always a smasher of the visitors, getting scoring their only run in the first inning on Shotten's base hit and a wild pitch, and Brown's high throw over McInnis' head on Balenti's attempted sacrifice. Score: R. H. E. Philadelphia... 10010000—4 1 0 Athletics... 10000000—1 4 0 Batteries—Hamilton and Alexander; McAllister, Brown and Lapp.

Washington Defeated Detroit.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Detroit put up a stubborn fight Saturday afternoon, losing a 3 to 2 battle against Washington before one of the largest crowds in the history of the game in the capital. President Woodrow Wilson lent his boxes in the upper grand stand. Walter Johnson was presented with a monster silver loving cup filled with greenbacks, representing an expenditure of $1,400, a gift from local fans. Score: R. H. E. Detroit... 00001001—2 9 2 Washington... 00010000—3 6 3 Batteries—Daus and McKee; Johnson and Ainsmith.

Chicago Defeated New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Jim Scott, from Death Valley, a raw-boned, sun-burned young man, pitched for the Chicago White Sox at the Polo Grounds Saturday afternoon. The New Yorks were unable to swing their war clubs with effect, Scott letting them down with four swipes, and the Sox winning by a score of 4 to 1. Score: R. H. E. Chicago... 03010000—4 6 0 New York... 00010000—1 4 2 Batteries—Scott and Kuhn; Warhop, McConnell and Sweeney.

Two Games for Cleveland.

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—The Naps batted the Red Sox pitchers hard Saturday, and won both games of a double header, the score of the first being 5 to 4 and the second a shut-out 7 to 0. This gives Cleveland five straight victories over Boston. Mitchell pitched remarkably well in the second game, and allowed but four Boston players to reach first base. Score: R. H. E. SATURDAY'S RESULTS

Tutela 6, St. Andrew's 0. Y. M. C. A. 3, Holmedale 2. Cockshtuts United 3, D. Rifles 2. All Scots 2, S. O. E. 0.

The local football teams had a field day on Saturday, and some close and exciting games were played. With the exception of the Tutela-St. Andrew's game, which resulted in a 6-0 shut-out for the Eagle Place team, the rest of the scores were very close.

Cockshtuts nosed out a victory from the Duffs in the last few minutes of the game and won by the narrow margin of one goal, the score being 3-2.

The Y. M. C. A. team defeated the Holmedale Tigers by the same score. The Scotchmen triumphed over their rivals, the Sons of England team. The boys from the land of the "hills" were fortunate in securing two goals while the lads from merry old England had to be content with a blank.

Most of the games were witnessed by a large crowd of spectators, which goes to show the interest that is being taken in the game. The teams are all ready for the coming series for the Courier Cup.

Duffs vs. Cockshtuts

Cockshtuts turned out as selected. The Duffs played W. Cook instead of Biggs, who was unable to play. The Duffs started the ball rolling with a strong sun facing them. The Cockshtut forwards soon began to worry the Duffs' defence. Cook and Myring were kept busy for a time. After about 15 minutes play, the Duff forwards showed some nice work and Drake scored from a pretty pass by Humphries.

Shortly after a penalty was awarded Cockshtuts, Stubbs took same. Knowles stopped the goal but Stubbs scored from the rebound before Knowles recovered himself.

Midfield play followed, both teams striving hard to take the lead. Humphries obtained the ball from Drake, nicely rounded Stubbs and scored a magnificent goal. Half time Duffs, 2, Cockshtuts 1.

On resuming the visitors looked dangerous on several occasions. The game was very fast, both goals being visited in quick time. Mercer had hard lines with a cross-shot which Carey saved. The Duffs forwards gave Carey plenty of work at this period of the game. About 8 minutes from time, W. Richardson scored for Cockshtuts. In the last minutes of the game G. Richardson added the winning goal, result, Cockshtuts 3, Duffs 2.

The Duffs' defence had a bad day, and gave the forwards poor support. Knowles played a good game, and no blame can be attached to him for any of the goals.

Stubbs played a good game for Cockshtuts.

The Council request the loan of the football shirts of the S. O. E. team, also the All Scots for the game to be played on Wednesday next. Will the secretaries or players kindly see that the shirts are at the armories at 6 p.m. on Wednesday; game to commence 6.30.

GRIFFITH SEES PENNANT WAVE

Paste this in your hat! Clarke Griffith, manager of the Senators, advises dictating mood again. He assures the baseball public that his team is going to win the American League pennant.

He can't see the Athletics with field glasses, despite the fact that they have 11-2 games on his team. He doesn't even think that the Athletics will finish second. He concedes that position to the Naps. "The 'Old Fox' says that in a week or two the Athletics will crack. He thinks they are already to now, and that they will go dry drop from sight.

He believes they will be lucky to win half of their remaining games, as he expects to hear any moment that both Bender and Plank have cashed in, as he thinks they have been so overworked this season that they are worn out. He doesn't believe that Connie Mack's young pitchers can take up the burden when the two veterans falter.

"Is this dress a good fit, John?" "Fit? Why, its a perfect conviction."

Dufferin Rifles led on goal average.

Nurse's Strange Conduct

Barbara S. Gordon, who appeared in the dock in the costume of a nurse, was remanded at Kingston (Sunny) England, on a charge of stealing money, two silver spoons and a silver egg cross, from Rosa Crook, a woman whom she lodged. When the nurse were missed the prisoner mounted kleptomaniac, and when asked she was subject to it replied, "No," she had been engaged to a man in a very high position, but the engagement was broken off.

Died in the Train

When travelling from Folkestone to London, Mr. George Wallace Sheldon, 66, senior partner in Messrs. Sheldon & Co., shipping agents, of Leadenhall street, E.C. London, was found dead by a dining-car attendant. The train was stopped at Sevenoaks and the body removed. At the inquest it was said that the rupture of an aneurism of the heart was the cause of death. The body is to be sent to Chicago for burial.

"Dummy" as Attendant

Nurses MacCartney and Telle "didn't" complained to the "Vice Guardians" that they had been inconvenienced by having no attendant, the workhouse master, amid laughter said at first he had sent them a "dummy man" who lighted the fire.

Jess and Johnny. A LOVE STORY.

By Annie Hamilton Donnell. Copyright, 1913, BY ANNIE HAMILTON DONNELL.

"Miss it? Johnny? That he will be too likely a chap—go in to be forewarned, certain—to be wastin' himself like that. B'gosh, man, it'd be the ruin of Johnny!"
"You quit comin' down on Jess, Tim!"
"There ain't no other girl in town looms to these works."
"Oh, Jess is good enough; she's all right. I wouldn't look further myself. I didn't have any little old woman. Jess is all right, but there's a little un and the granny. That's where Johnny'd miss it."
"Yes, sure; there's the little un and the granny."
The second voice had dubious notes. There seemed no room for further argument.
"Sittin' at the Liberty woolen mill, there stood round in little groups of three or four, clinking their dinner pails as a needless breach of etiquette in the written code of Liberty woolen mill. To open the dinner pails 'twas the girl operatives collected in the yard—all but Jess. Jess went back at noon, though it was a long way back and forth. She shot past the speakers now, her lithe, beautiful figure balanced straight ahead, her nose she had heard. The little girl's man who had taken her part looked nervously.
"I ought to watch out, Tim," he said.
"Watch out!" retorted the other. "You can't watch out for comets scotching your tracks. Jess is a regular comet."
The barren road, thick with white dust and scorching with stored up sun rays, stretched away from the great heaving bulks of the "works" as if making a bee line to escape from them. In its terminus, one could distinguish the rows upon rows of the mill, flanked by two big boarding houses that made up Liberty. Liberty's name was such a misfit. It was the one thing wanting in the little settlement—Liberty.

Jessie Binney—or just Jess, as every one called her—stood down the road, the little un and granny, and trying to earn Johnny. Both spun urged her on with equal incentives. She knew Johnny was behind—she could hear the pound of his big feet on the road, so was so familiar with the sound. Ahead-way ahead—the little un was waiting. Jess was familiar with that too. The tiny, stooped figure always waited.
"Jess, Jess!" Johnny called, pleading for a little favor of injury was in the sound of his voice. It was most a plea after braving the men's jeers, to be treated this way. Johnny cherished the sweet memory of three red letter days when Jess, like the little un, had waited. He made the most of Jess's small so likely they would be "Jess, Jess, Jess!"
The girl forced ahead steadily. "But there's the little un and the granny—that's where Johnny'd miss it," sounded in her ears. She had known it before—yes, yes, certainly—but the men's voices made it distinctly clear to her now. The reiteration in her brain—there's the little un and the granny—the little un and the granny—only un derlined it.

"I've found it out in plenty o' time," Jess congratulated herself grimly. Her thin, handsome face was set in lines of pain. The pounding steps behind changed their time abruptly. With a spurt of speed Johnny shot by her, and faced her in the dusty road.
"Jess, little girl," he said humbly. His good, brown face was wistful in its pleading. "You'll let me speak to you a minute, Jess? A minute ain't much to ask now, is it?"
"No, no; let me go past, Johnny. I've got to. Granny's waiting for her tea, and the little un—"
"Must wait too. I'll make it up to the little un, Jess. What I've got to say is that I—I love you, Jess. I do it as honest and hearty as a man ever loved a woman ever. The Lord Almighty knows I do. I want you to let me marry you, Jess. I want to have a right to take care of you, Jess. Jess!"
He had hurried over the little speech as if time were precious, but the cry at the end came from his soul. He had his hand brown hands out to her.
"Let me go past, Johnny; let me go past!" cried Jess fiercely. She could not trust herself to look at him. It was her only safeguard.
"Answer me straight out, Jess Binney," demanded Johnny, with stern despair. "Ain't I got the right to be answered same as other men? Ain't I? Ain't I waited long enough for an answer? No, no; not that, Jess! Don't say you don't love me! I—I know that. But I want you anyway. I'll be that good to you, little girl! I'll take that care of you!"

Jess stared down the white roadway unthinkingly. Even the little un's bowed figure, waiting, did not come within her vision. She began to speak in a harsh, strained voice.
"You want me to answer straight out—ain't that what you said, Johnny? Well, it won't take long. It's so short, I can't even get my breath. It's not a secret, Jess. She turned, her eyes gleaming and pitiless between him and the sun.
"No," she said quietly. "Now let me go past, Johnny."
The little un was whimpering softly to himself. Jess held out her hand to him with gentle conciliation. She was always gentle with the little un, and for her sake every one else was gentle too. He was tiny and weird, and his little childish face peered out through a tangle of yellow hair. It was not a little un, but a little un. He would always be a little un in body and in mind.
"I'm hunger-y," he wailed. "You'd just love to be hunger-y—yes, you would too! You—you want me to be hunger-y!"
"Why, little un, why, little un?" crooned Jess soothingly, the mother sound in her voice. The little un could not remember any other mother but Jess. For six of his seven years she had mothered his misshapen, stunted little body tenderly.
"Why, little un, and sister was going to give you such a nice puddin' today!"
"She bent over and whispered something in his ear."
"Plum's in it—plum's!"
"Five of 'em, little un—all in your piece," Jess said, smiling in her pain, for her heart was like a stone in her breast. She could look back and see Johnny slouching back along the white, glaring road. She had sent him away from her. How could she mind the looms day after day without Johnny's tender words in her ears and Johnny's wait outside and walk home with her? How could she bear the unending grind of her young life without Johnny?

The vista of years that opened before her and reached into the dim perspective of old age—old age like granny's—stilled her and killed her courage. Her feet stumbled heavily along beside the little un's.
Granny was waiting too. There was scarcely time to get the plain little meal and hurry back at the clang of the factory bell. There was no time for Jess to eat, but it did not matter to her.
Weeks crept by until they were months, and it was crisp, late fall. Since that hot, white day when Johnny overtook her and the little un waited, whimpering, Johnny had never walked home with her. He had taken among his looms with the plodding step of an old man. Jess had missed his sweet, shrill whistle above the muffled thunder of machines. Johnny had always whistled loudly for Jess to hear. She had told him once that it shortened the hours. Now he never whistled at all. When he met Jess, it was just a grave nod of his head he gave her.
At first Jess had staid away from the works to nurse him; then she had gradually trusted him more and more to granny. She could not lose the money she earned at the looms.
One day Johnny sat up in bed and demanded a looking glass. Jess was at the factory. The little un sat on the foot of the bed playing with a bit of bright string.
"Say, little un, you know what a lookin' glass is, hey? Well, you run and fetch me one," said Johnny.
"I know," the little un said delightfully. "I've got one myself. It came out of a window, and you can look through it and see the trees and the snow."
"No, no! Ask granny. Granny'll know," the sick man said fretfully.
"Granny came in with the looking glass, as a last resort, behind her, so Jess had said no. She looked frightened.
"There, there, Johnny! There, there! You go right to sleep and get rested up, or if you'd rather, I'll fetch you in some beautiful perfume. Jess made it," she added affably.
"Fetch me a lookin' glass!" roared Johnny. "I've been feelin' over my face—there's somethin' wrong with it. Pop! Johnny! It was all wrong. He had his hand and lost all his rough

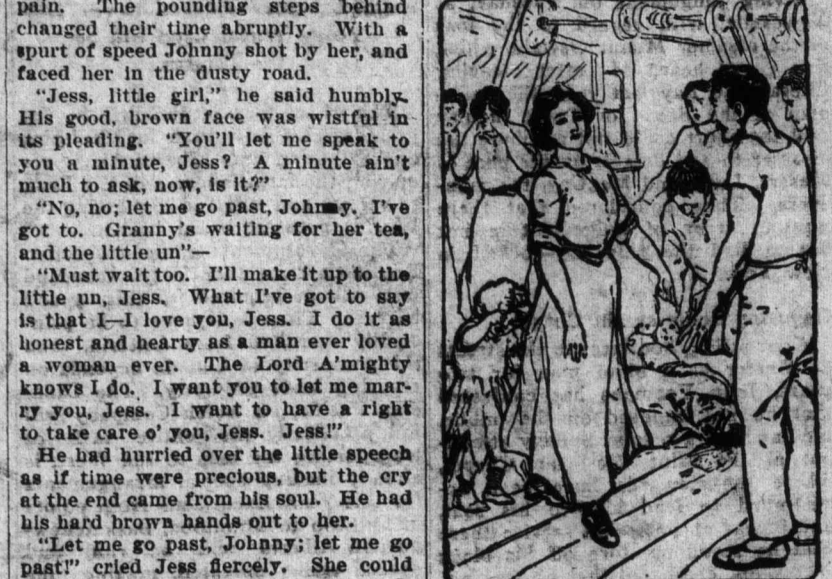

Thousands of Men Required in Western Canada. This Year's Harvest Promises to be the Largest in the History of Canada.

According to present indications the wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, thus re-iterating the farm laborers of the East to assist in harvesting the world's greatest bread basket.
The Governments of the respective Provinces state that many thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. There will have to be promptly recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends upon securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, has already arranged special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run, and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a special arrangement, and the dates, rates and conditions will be announced in a few days.

IS BACK AT WORK IN THE WOODS

John McElroy's Heart Disease Cured By Dodd's Kidney Pills. He Was Ill For a Year and On Work All Summer But Found a Quick and Complete Cure.

"I'm a doctor, who said I had palpitation," said Mr. McElroy to a reporter. "But his medicine did not seem to reach the spot."
"I suffered for over a year and all last summer I was not able to do a day's work. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing. I felt heavy and sleepy after meals, and I was always tired and nervous. I perspired freely with the least exertion."
"Reading what Dodd's Kidney Pills had done for others, I made up my mind to try them. Before I had finished the first box I felt different, and by the time the second was half gone I was working in the woods and doing good work."
"Clogged kidneys mean clogged circulation. Clogged circulation means nervous heart trouble. Dodd's Kidney Pills make good circulation and cure heart trouble."
The thin face on the pillow was wasted and marred.
"Granny, I'll get out of bed if you don't fetch it," he persisted, and granny yielded weakly. The little un peered over Johnny's shoulder as he looked.
"Ain't you home, Johnny?" he asked shrilly. "My, your face is all cross-ways."
When Jess came home, Johnny's face was turned away. He covered it with his big green hands.
"Johnny, Johnny," quavered Jess, but her face was white as she saw it had to come. All her tenderness and forethought could not ward it off. Granny had only precipitated it a little.
How Jess had watched the terrible wounds heal slowly into ugly scars and suffered for Johnny! Not for herself, but for what did Jess care for the ugliness that blighted Johnny's handsome face forever? It was still Johnny's face, and Johnny belonged to her. She was going to marry Johnny.
But her heart ached for him. She could hardly bear to see him. They had sped down the long stretch of roadway from the works, as he had wished her face, too, could be seamed and marred like Johnny's. Jess knew the fresh, sweet beauty of her own face, and the contrast hurt her for Johnny.
"Poor Johnny!" murmured Jess. Another difficulty loomed over her—her public avowal before the men and girls the day of Johnny's sacrifice. Every word of it stood out like clear handwriting for Johnny! Not for herself, but all but Johnny. What would he think when he heard of it, too, outside, as he would be sure to do? He was getting stronger all the time. Soon he would be out again, and some of the boys would get the secret out. Jess stood and looked down at Johnny's hidden face. The pity and the love in her soul crowded out everything else. She kept something the big white handkerchief over her eyes, and then she leaned down and kissed them. Johnny quivered from head to foot. "Johnny!" Jess cried. "Johnny, look up, look up! Please, dear!"
She forced away his hands with gentle fingers. She was looking down at him, laughing a little, shyly. A wave of crimson crept up across her sweet face. "What I've got to say is that I love you, Johnny. The Lord Almighty knows I do. I want you to let me marry you. Johnny, I've got to say it. I said I was going to. I told them all I was that day you saved the little un."
In his neck she knelt beside the bed.
"Johnny, answer me straight out," she breathed. "Ain't I got a right to be answered same as other women?"
She was laughing softly under her breath, but he could feel the hot blood in her face.
"I'm goin' to marry you, Johnny," he said. "I love you, dear."
The little un stooped stealthily out to granny. His uncanny, strange child's face was full of awe, and he prodded granny's arm excitedly with a little sharp forefinger.
"But, I'm in kissin' Johnny!" he shrilled. "An Johnny's kissin' Jess!"

He belongs to me. I'm goin' to marry him.
He lay in a crumpled heap, and even the men covered their eyes. One or two were sobbing like the little un.
"Where we go to carry him to?" muttered Tim Bradlee huskily. "Johnny didn't have no home nor no folks. He used the past tense unconsciously. This was not Johnny now—it had been. The girls stood about, wringing their hands hysterically.
"He wasn't worth it—such a little humbucked thing," somebody said shrilly.
"She, can't you? Do you want Jess to carry?" cried one else.
There was no danger. Jess was wiping the blood from Johnny's face. She had only heard Tim Bradlee. With a sudden movement she stood before him.
"Carry Johnny to my house, Tim," she said quietly. "He belongs to me. I'm goin' to marry him."
The girl's voice rang out distinctly. There was no quiver of doubt or of misgiving. One of the girls uttered a nervous sound that might have been a sob or a laugh. Jess caught the look on her face.
"I am goin' to marry Johnny," she repeated sharply. "You needn't look that way. Well, Miss Ditzel! Johnny ain't dead. He belongs to me, and I tell you I'm goin' to marry him. Won't somebody carry him to my house? Has anybody got for a doctor?"
"Yes, yes, two of 'em," volunteered many voices. "He'd ought to be here inside of the 'art' our. Stiddy, boys—easy!"
If Johnny had been a baby instead of a braver, crushed giant, they could not have carried him more gently. They carried him straight out in a crumpled and gold. Relays followed, and the poor, unconscious load was shifted occasionally with the gentleness of mothers handling their babies.
Jess and the little un went on ahead, and the child was sobbing all under his breath, and his little torn clothes trailed, unnoticed, behind him. The horror of the terrible minute before Johnny sprang to his rescue was overthrown for his unbalanced little mind.
"Tim Bradlee! Tim Bradlee!" he moaned with patient reiteration. "You'd just as lives I'd be killed, Jess; yes, you would too! You ain't sorry."
And Jess was not even thinking of the little un. She had forgotten him for once.
When Johnny woke out of his stupor, he thought he had gone to heaven and one of the angels was bending over him. She was very sweet and gentle. Why, it is Jess! Then Jess had gone to heaven too? Johnny expected to be taken back to life. He thought, "I wouldn't be real heaven without Jess. Jess, little girl," he whispered, "when'd you come?"
"Sh! Johnny, don't talk. Yes, it's me. I'm taking care of you. You've had a kind of a sickness, eh?" And Johnny closed his eyes again, with a great joy mastering his pain. Slowly, very slowly, his awful bruises yielded to the gentle ministry of hands that were so lovingly Johnny's future—and Jess. Very slowly Johnny lumbered back to life. The little settlement of Liberty had been under snow a month or more before he saw it again.

At first Jess had staid away from the works to nurse him; then she had gradually trusted him more and more to granny. She could not lose the money she earned at the looms.
One day Johnny sat up in bed and demanded a looking glass. Jess was at the factory. The little un sat on the foot of the bed playing with a bit of bright string.

COLONEL HAY, CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENCY OF MEXICO. TO HAVE CONFERENCE WITH PRESIDENT WILSON

Colonel Eduardo Hay (left) special ambassador to Washington for the Spanish rebels. Colonel Eduardo Hay.

Colonel Hay, who was President Madero's chief of staff in the Madero rebellion, is now in the United States for a conference with Mrs. Madero, whom he has promised to avenge her husband's death, and with President Wilson. He is a candidate for President in case the warring factions can agree to a compromise.

BRITISH NEWS VIA THE MAIL BAG

Eight-Year Old Culpit
A little boy eight years of age was brought up at the Belfast Children's Court to answer the charge of stealing. It was stated that he had been three times before the court, and he was placed under the care of the probation officer.

Coal of the Country
The Limerick Asylum Committee decided to order two wagon loads of steam coal from the Queen's County Collieries. The chairman (Mr. M. P. O'Shaughnessy, J.P.), said it was the duty of every public Board to support Irish industry where possible.

Roadside Sleeper with Potheen
The Carna (Connemara) police arrested a man named Coyne, whom they found asleep by the side of the road, with two bottles of potheen, or illicit whiskey, in his possession. He was brought before the magistrates at the Carna Petty Sessions and fined £12 10s.

Visited by "Dead" Wife
One of Cornwall's best-known Rugby football players, Percy Nicholson, of Falmouth, was sent to two months' hard labor, at Falmouth on Tuesday for obtaining 10s. from his employer, Mr. H. P. Williams, a Wendron farmer, by falsely pretending that his wife was dead. After his arrest Nicholson's wife visited him at the police station. Nicholson pleaded guilty, and the Bench characterized the fraud as particularly cruel.

Giving Porter to a Child
The Newry magistrates fined Patrick Crilly, Hydemarket, £1 for having given a child of four years of age porter. Constable M'Collum said the accused told him that he did not think he was doing any harm. The defendant now stated that the child wanted a drink of water, and thought it was water he was drinking. He showed the child the can to satisfy him it was porter.

Six in a Bed
At Dublin Police Court Mary Ward 19 Waterford Street was sent to goal for three months for neglecting her children. It was stated that the woman was a hopeless drunkard. The husband added that he could not trust his wife with a halfpenny to buy bread for the children. The children were in a terrible state of neglect, and there was hardly an article of furniture in the house. There was only one bed for six children.

Death of Noted Athlete
The death has occurred at the age of forty-five in Kilfinane of Dan Shanahan, holder of the world's record for the hop, step and jump, which was made at Limerick in 1888, when he cleared 30 ft. 1-0 in. At the same meeting the late Pat Looney, of Macroom, held the record for a few minutes with a jump of 49 ft. 10-4 in., and neither of these jumps has since been reached. Both Shanahan and Looney were on the Gaelic Invasion team that toured the United States in that year.

Debtor Dies in Prison
A verdict that death was due to heart failure and peritonitis was returned at an inquest held at Mountjoy Prison, Dublin, on the body of Michael Doyle, Killool County Wicklow, who had been committed to prison for having failed to pay a debt. The jury added a rider to the effect that the man should not have been committed to prison in the first instance, and recommended that in future before debtor prisoners were committed they should be medically examined.

Seals Devour Salmon
Not for many years have Donegal coast salmon fishermen been so greatly interfered with by seals as recently and the damage caused has been very severe. One boat's crew in Burtonport district, picked twelve salmon heads out of their drift net, the body of the fish being bitten off and the heads left in the meshes. Seals are about in thousands on this coast, and actually follow boats to sea watching the lines of nets and capturing the meshed fish. It is proposed to ask permission from the Revenue authorities to permit each boat to carry free firearms to scare the seals from the nets.

No. 23 THE PHARMACY

Forty Thousand Men Required

Farm Laborers' Excursions — This Year's Wheat Crop will be the Largest.

The wheat crop of 1913 will be the greatest ever harvested in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, thus requiring the farm laborers of the East, to recruit and assist in harvesting the World's greatest bread basket. The Governments of the respective Provinces state that forty thousand men will be required for this year's harvest. These will have to be principally recruited from Ontario, and the prosperity of Canada depends on securing labor promptly. The Canadian Pacific, on which Company will fall practically the entire task of transporting the men to the West, is already making special arrangements for this year. Excursions from points in Ontario to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be run, and special trains operated, making the trip in about thirty-six hours and avoiding any change of cars or transfers. This will be a day shorter than any other route.

Impostor Confesses in Chapel
After selling bootlaces in the streets of Exeter as a blind man for two years, John Yeomans has confessed that he has imposed on the public. He has been a regular Sunday afternoon at the Mint Wesleyan Chapel, where the stewards have been accustomed to lead him to his seat, and it was at a mission service there that he stood up, tore off his black spectacles, confessed that he was not blind, and declared himself converted. Then he went to the Chief Constable to make a further confession. No charge, however, has been laid. He says he is the son of a clergyman.

Angler's Double Catch
Baiting two hooks on one line, a Chertsey angler named William Mills caught two fine bream at one time in the River Bourne.

Burglar Fires a House
The cause of a fire at a private residence at Stood, Kent, has been revealed by the discovery of a parcel of silver and plated goods which had been concealed near the house. They had been placed there, it is stated by a burglar who had incidentally set fire to the house.

Level Crossing Accident
The Manchester to Liverpool Express while passing through Hough Green, near Liverpool, on Monday night, dished into a horse and cart at a level crossing. The lad in charge of the horse jumped out, but the horse was killed instantly. The shafts were snapped off and the cart left standing on the rails.

Rod Not to be Spared
The magistrates at Cork Police Court announced that in future they would order whipping in the cases of juvenile crime instead of sending offenders to an industrial school.

Link with Famous Nationalists
The death is announced from Newry of Mrs. John Martin, wife of John Martin, the '48 leader, and sister of John Mitchell. The deceased lady up to the last maintained a keen interest in Irish national affairs.

Fatal Measles Epidemic
During the past three weeks twenty-two children have died from measles in Carrick-on-Suir. The epidemic started in the town and district about two months ago with some mild cases, but most of those attacked lately have died.

Honour for Belfast Minister
The Rev. Wm. Park, Belfast (a native of Ballymoney) has been chosen president of the next Pan-Presbyterian Congress which will be held in 1916 in America, this being the first time such an honour has been conferred on an Irish minister.

Ladies in Driving Accident
While Mrs. Wilmot, of Ashford House, Middletown, County Armagh, was out driving with her sister, Miss Waddie and her niece, Miss Mayne, the pony fell, with the results that the shafts of the car were broken. The ladies were thrown out and Mrs. Wilmot sustained a fractured arm.

A Cozy, Comfortable, "One-Room Home"

THOUSANDS of people live in one room homes. They are on the lookout for pleasant, substantial, furnished, carefully kept rooms. Most people who occupy furnished rooms invariably locate their "homes" as a result of Want advertising. Don't placard your home with "Rooms for Rent" signs, but summon to you desirable roomers who you may reach through a brief description of the rooms you have to rent in the Want Columns.
