GENERAL PERSHING BESTOWS UPON FOCH THE AMERICAN DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL

French Hero Makes Heartfelt Reply; The Name "Meuse" May be Proudly Inscribed on the American Flag

By Courier Leased Wire.

SENLIS, Tuesday, Nov. 12.—General John J. Pershing, commander of the American forces in France, today conferred upon Marshal Foch, the commander-in-chief of the Allied armies, the American Distinguished Service Medal. The presentation was made in the name of President Wilson, at the villa where Marshal Foch has his headquarters, and was an impressive ceremony.

General Pershing, addressing the generalissimo, said: "The congress of United States has created this medal to be conferred upon those who have rendered distinguished service to our country. President Wilson has directed me to present to you the first of these medals, in the name of the United States government and the American army as an expression of their admiration and their confidence. It is a token of the gratitude of the American people for your achievements, and for the great achievements you have rendered to your army. I am very happy to have been given the honor of presenting this medal to you."

In accepting the decoration, Marshal Foch said: "I will wear this medal with pleasure and pride. In days of triumph as well as in dark and critical hours, I will never forget the tragical day last March when General Pershing put at my disposal without restriction, all the resources of the American army. The success won in the hard fighting by the American army is the consequence of excellent conception, command and organization of the American general staff, and the irreducible will to win of the American troops. The name "Meuse" may be inscribed proudly upon the American flag."

Following his own decoration, Marshal Foch presented to Miss Ducane, an Englishwoman, the French war cross, for her heroic work in bombed hospitals near the front.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Messages of congratulation and gratitude from President Wilson and the American people were presented to Marshal Foch, Marshal Joffre and General Petain yesterday by General Pershing, who also decorated the three French military leaders with the American distinguished service medal.

General Pershing today went to British main headquarters, where he will present the distinguished service medal to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig.

Some of his companions were much more visibly impressed with the situation than the former emperor himself.

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Nov. 14.—Every American soldier and sailor will find his old job awaiting him upon his discharge from service, according to a statement issued here today by Stephen C. "The outstanding obligation of every manufacturer," the statement said, "now is to be ready to take back into his plant the men who dropped their work to go to their lives at the disposal of the nation. It is their plain duty to have an open door for a return to opportunity and prosperity for every American soldier and sailor who seeks to return to his former employment and occupation, regardless of how the position may have been filled during his absence in the service of his nation."

The association sent messages of congratulations upon the end of the war to the manufacturers of Great Britain and Canada.

Disarmament of German Fleet "NO STRIKE" ORDER ENDED

Step Taken on Advice of the New Minister of Labor

By Courier Leased Wire. Ottawa, Nov. 14.—The following statement was handed out this morning by the Minister of Labor:

"On the recommendation of the Minister of Labor, the government yesterday revoked the 'no strike' order-in-council passed on October 11, 1918. The immediate necessity of the original order was caused by a threatening strike staged for Thanksgiving day by some five thousand labor men."

"The order was not regarded by the government as placing any disability upon the great majority of labor organizations who had accepted the government's war labor policy as announced by order-in-council in July last, and were submitting all their grievances to the tribunals designated which were being operated with perfect success."

"The 'no strike' order was issued only for the purpose of maintaining industrial peace during the continuance of the war, and is cancelled because it has served its purpose and is no longer necessary."

Setting the Price of Wood
The fuel committee will probably meet this evening to determine the price at which the town can furnish wood at cost. This is no small task, for not more than half of the trees have been felled, and a considerable portion of the larger stand will be reserved for lumber. Taking this into account, the committee have taken the wood timber off a measured area. The cost of felling, hauling, burning, splitting and piling this has been tabulated and the cost of delivery estimated. The number of cords in the lot is now known, and with this data a price can be set, allowing for general expenditures, printing, bank interest and cost price of the wood. The whole lot is cut as near to a 16-inch length as is possible in sawing by the buzz-saw method.

The prospective purchaser should plan to buy a long cord at least, as

To Subscribers in Arrears

Paper Controller Orders Cutting Off of Unpaid Subscriptions!

Mr. R. A. Pringle, K. C., the Paper Controller of Canada, has issued an order, effective January 1, 1919, which says:

"2. Discontinue sending paper within three months after date of expiration of subscription, unless the subscription is renewed and paid for."

There are many other restrictions imposed, but this one is the most important. Therefore, between now and the end of the year the Courier's subscription list must be overhauled and put on a paid-in-advance basis, in order to comply with a governmental order.

Accounts have already been sent out to those in arrears, but subscribers do not need to wait for a "dun" to spur them to action. The date on the label affixed to the paper sent to mail subscribers tells the story. City subscribers can learn how their subscription stands by referring to their last receipt.

The reason for this regulation of the Paper Controller is that it is the practice of some publishers to send their newspaper until ordered stopped, and this practice frequently means a failure to collect anything for subscriptions in arrears, in which case there is a virtual waste of paper. It is to prevent paper waste that the new regulation has been decided on.

The manufacture of paper consumes labor, wood, coal, chemicals and transportation facilities, and every ton of paper saved means just so much labor, raw materials, chemicals, fuel and transportation available for urgent war needs. For these reasons the Government insists that paper shall be saved, and proposes that only those who pay for their publications shall receive them.

Under these regulations the Courier will have no choice in the matter of dealing with subscriptions in arrears for over three months.

Send in your subscription at once. Do not delay, the collectors call regularly on city subscribers. Keep your account up-to-date.

MAYOR GIVEN CONTROL OF CITY'S COAL AFFAIRS

In Full Charge of Purchase and Delivery - Fred Unger Re-engaged as City Overseer; Fireworks Flew When Ald. Hurley Called the Mayor "Bolshevik"

The city council last night set up Fred Unger superintendent of streets and sewers at a salary of $2000 per annum, and placed full control of the coal situation in the hands of Mayor MacBride. These two items of business consumed the great majority of the four hours and thirty minutes during which the council sat in session. The star attraction of the evening was Ald. Hurley's calling Mayor MacBride a Bolshevik, and retracting later when ordered to do so by the council. Ald. Hurley also took objection to the coal situation being placed in the hands of the Mayor, and was only silenced when His Worship threatened to have him ejected from the room. There were some of the aldermen who looked as though they had been darned pleased to be ejected long before the session was over. These late hours were being held to tell on some of the aldermen who are too young and too innocent to stand the pace.

Board of Works
The board of works reported:

1. That the sum of $13,023.01 be paid D. O. Johnson, contractor for local improvement work at Lansdowne Park in accordance with estimate No. 2 attached thereto of the City Engineer.
2. That the contract to supply and erect a stable main and interior wiring for 40 H.P. motor at electric board, furnishing permit and certificate to be awarded the Webster Electric Company for the sum of $195.
3. That tenders be called for foundation work for new 40 H.P. electric motor at the sewage pumping station, and none having been received, the work be carried out by the city engineer.

Increases for Officials
The committee on buildings and grounds submitted the following report:

1. That the superintendent of the cemetery's salary be raised from $80 per month to $100 dollars per month, dating from the 1st November.
2. That Angus McAulay, Market Inspector's salary be increased to $100 per month, dating from the 1st November.
3. That Wm. Glover, Sanitary Inspector, receive an increase in salary of $200 per year.

Re-appointing Overseer
The council returned to the reading of the by-law to re-appoint Fred Unger city overseer, at a salary of $2000 per annum. Ald. Harp inquired why Mr. Unger should be paid from Oct. 1, when he had not assumed his duties on that date. Ald. Simpson explained that allowance was thus being made for expenses incurred by Mr. Unger in building sheds on the city farm at Lansdowne Park, which he had assumed the use of.

Hunting Mishap
By Courier Leased Wire
Ottawa, Nov. 14.—E. G. White, local representative of the Dupont Powder Company, is in hospital here suffering from a shattered left arm. He was shot while hunting in the Mattawa district by an unknown hunter. Mr. White was one of Canada's best known trap shooters.

Coal Situation
Ald. Harp felt that the by-law should be laid over, and the advice of the city solicitor secured. "A man of Mr. Unger's ability can look after a lot of work," observed Ald. Chalcraft. He believed the Mayor had raised "undue objection" to that point. Mr. Unger had severed his connection with the wood contract, and the speaker saw no reason why further delay should occur in re-appointing him.

The Mayor expressed anxiety that work should be resumed for the work of both streets and sewers. The present times however, were not normal and rigid economy was being practised everywhere. He pointed out that E. T. McLaren was still assistant city engineer, and would likely be able to return from overseas to resume that position shortly. For the present, at least, Mr. Jones felt that Mr. Unger could handle both departments.

THE HIVER SPREE, through the city of Berlin.

"If you interrupt again I shall have you ejected from the chamber," thundered His Worship. He went on to explain that when affairs at the wood yard had been in bad shape, he had been asked to take control, and expressed willingness to do so. He further explained that there was no salary attached to the authority he was now receiving.

AN APPEAL.
By Courier Leased Wire
Ottawa, Nov. 13.—Hon. T. A. Cramer, Minister of Agriculture, today issued an urgent appeal to the agriculturists of Canada to give their full support to the Victory War Loan. The minister points to the immensity of the work yet to be done and the need for money to purchase foodstuffs to save millions of people in Europe from starvation.

Make Your Own Shampoo

Recent research on the part of hair specialists reveals the fact that many dandruff and scalp diseases are caused and rendered incurable by the indiscriminate use of shampoo preparations.

Chemical analysis proves that most liquid preparations for shampooing contain an excess of alkali (a harmful irritant) which acts to wear into the pores of the scalp, the roots of the hair, disorganizing it to fall out.

The correct method and caution is to make your own liquid. Buy a carton of Vitarol of any drug store. Dissolve one of the small packets into half glass of water; moisten scalp with this liquid. Vitarol being a natural color of the hair, Vitarol being concentrated for a long time and will keep forever.

THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS, AUTHOR OF "MARGARET GARRETT'S HUSBAND," AND OTHER NOTABLE STORIES.

Ruth Returns. Brian Meets Her at the Station. CHAPTER LXXIV.

Ruth was to be away still three more days. Brian had spent every evening, save the first one, with Mollie King—seven in all. He had been very contented, although some- times when he reached home late he would feel just a bit conscience-stricken.

"She's having a good time staying at expensive hotels, why should I stick around in this stuffy flat alone?" That flat was anything but stuffy, he knew, also that both the Roberts and the Curtis would be delighted to see him, or to have him come in and play cards.

The idea of leaving to do his own typing under Mollie's tutelage, appealed to him. So, for the next three evenings, he appeared at the little studio with several parcels under his arm.

"I'll bring in the grub and we'll cook it together," he had said when Mollie asked what he had. "We'll have more time than if we go out." So in the intimacy of a kitchenette and a two-burner gas stove, Mollie cooked beefsteak or chops, and made coffee, while Brian fixed the salad and old Rachel wondered where "Marse" Brian don' eat his dinners when Missy Ruth was away.

Mollie was, as she had said, a good typist. She insisted that Brian learn the latest method, although with his usual indolence he said that "any old way would do, so long as he could write his letters."

"Indeed it won't! what kind of a teacher would I be to let you have your own way like that?" So, their heads close together, they spent the evenings over the machine. That is, they worked until ten o'clock. Then Brian would instet upon stopping, and they would talk or go to some neighboring cafe for a bite of supper, and gossip with the villagers for an hour or two.

"I shall miss you," Mollie answered. "Knowing Ruth was coming, she said to leave me alone, any- way," ending by throwing the onus of his defection upon Ruth, as usual.

And she, in the cheerless hotel room, counting the hours, almost the minutes, when she would be with Brian. She had determined to ask Mr. Mandel not to require her to stay away so long again. This time it had been undesirable. But she was so lonely for Brian, and so afraid he would be unhappy.

"I do hope Rachel has cooked nice things for him," she had said to herself every day she had been away. She had written daily a short account of her work, and how lonely she was without him. He had also written often, but his notes told her nothing. He had not mentioned Mollie King, neither had he told of her evenings were spent. Ruth consequently took it for granted that part of them at least had been spent at home.

Her work had gone very satisfactorily. It had been an expensive job, and she couldn't fail to be pleased at the result. She had wired Brian that she would reach New York at five-thirty. He had told Rachel they would be home to dinner, then had ordered some flowers.

"She likes them," he had muttered, knowing he was saving his own conscience rather than catering to her love for the flowers.

He had gone to meet her. The train was a little late, but Ruth, almost the first one off, had spotted him at once, and with a glad little cry had run to him.

"Oh, Brian," she had said, snugg- ling to his side, "how good it is to be home again. To be with you."

"It's time you came back," he said as he kissed her again, "I had almost forgotten I had a wife."

Ruth looked sharply at him. Could he be speaking the truth? But not he was gazing at her with pride. Could she have seen herself, she would not have wondered. She had taken especial pains with her toilet and looked very chic and young. Her eyes were bright with love-light. Her face full of animation. Any man would be proud of her.

"I shan't let you forget again. I'm going to ask the firm to keep me in New York after this, as much as possible. I can't bear to be away from you so long again." (To be continued to-morrow.)

More Congratulatory Messages to Board of Trade

The following letter has been received by the Board of Trade from the Deputy Postmaster-General, Ottawa:

The letter carries here for some years past been allowed, during the months of July and August, a week- ly half-holiday either on Saturday or on some other day during the week, and they are now asking that this weekly half-holiday be given during the present year, and I am directed, therefore, to ask that you will be so good as to submit the matter to the Board of Trade and advise the department as to whether, in the case of the Board, the public would suffer any serious incon- venience if the request of the carriers is complied with.

During the time this half-holiday is given there is, of course, no delivery by the carriers that after- noon, but anyone notifying the Post- master can obtain his correspondence at the General Delivery wicket by calling at the Postoffice.

Buffalo—Directors Buffalo Cham- ber of Commerce, in session, acknow- ledge your splendidly patriotic and friendly message on the cessation of the hostilities, and assure you people of our sincere admiration and appreciation of Canada's wonderful response to France's call to arms, the valor of her sons, the bravery of her daughters.

Standing with our Allies for one year, we rejoice with you that the bonds of more than a century of concord between us are welded by this great trial into an unbreakable chain.

Accept our congratulations, and also our best wishes for a happy so- lution of all the problems of peace.

GEO. C. LEHMANN, Secretary.

London—London Board of Trade cordially reciprocates the sentiments expressed in your timely "Peace" telegram.

The example of service and self- sacrifice afforded by the soldiers of the Dominion should give us a broader conception of our duty to the community of more than a century of concord as a whole, and it is hop- ied will inspire all our efforts in the years to come.

Joseph J. Crowley, Presi- dent Detroit Board of Commerce sends thanks for telegram and for the expressions contained therein. Their officers and directors concur in the ideas expressed therein.

H. B. WARNER, Secretary.

Vancouver—Vancouver Board of Trade joins with you in giving thanks for the magnificent victory which has crowned the undivided efforts of the Allies. Canada's part in the great struggle has been a glorious one, reflecting the loyalty of her people to the Mother Land.

This board urges upon all the Boards of Trade in Canada the need of more than a century of concord and co-operation for national prosperity and commercial advance- ment.

EFFECT OF MUSTARD GAS. Most Disagreeable Feature of the Gas is Its Persistence.

The recent announcement that the Allies now have an effective supply of mustard gas shells shows how vital the chemist's work is to modern warfare. The gas shell has been one of the biggest problems for the Allied chemists, especially for those con- nected with the chemical warfare ser- vice. That the problem has been well solved is attested by documents found on captured German shells during the great drive now in progress. These documents state: "This gas (mustard gas) seems to have, even in diluted form, more harmful effects than the gas contained up to the present time in shells used by the field artillery."

Mustard gas, now being used exten- sively by both the Central and En- tente Powers, is a compound chemi- cally known as dichloroethyl sul- fide. In French language it is called "mustard" because of its strong pungent odor and, to the Germans, it is of- ficially known as yellow cross gas, as the shells are all marked with yellow crosses and bands. The Allied chem- ists have known the composition of this gas for some time, but only re- cently have they been able to perfect a process for manufacturing it on a large scale. Fortunately for our armies, this method is far superior to methods known hitherto.

Although the effects from this gas are not often deadly, still it is a very effective agent on account of its slow and insidious method of poisoning. The odor of mustard indicates danger, but it is not in itself uncomfor- table until it causes the nose and throat to become irritated. If pro- ceeded further there will be no fur- ther bad effects. In extreme cases the eyes and lids become inflamed and blistered and severe inflamma- tion of the lungs results in bronchitis and even pneumonia. The after- effects of the poisoning lays one off for several weeks, but seldom result in death.

The most disagreeable thing about the gas is its persistence, which ne- cessitates keeping on gas masks for hours at a time. It lingers in dug- outs for days, and has to be forced out by means of fires and fans. In this connection the captured Ger- man documents state: "Gas poisoning still occurred among those who took off their masks after wearing them for twelve hours."

EXIT THE HAPSBURGS
 The house of Hapsburg, of which the Imperial family of Austria have been the representatives, derived its name from the castle of Hapsburg, Habichtsburg (Hawks Castle) on the right bank of the Aar, in the Swiss Canton of Aargau. The castle was built in the eleventh century by Werner, Bishop of Strasburg. In fact the history of Austria has been that of the Hapsburgs. When Rudolph of Hapsburg became Emperor of Germany and Ottokar King of Bohemia refused to take the oath of allegiance, the Emperor succeeded in dispossessing him of his fiefs (1278) and subsequently conferred them on his son in 1283. Thus the dynasty of Hapsburg was founded. In the first half of the sixteenth century, Duke Ferdinand of Austria was elected King of Hungary by one party, while John Zapolya of Transylvania was chosen by another. After several years Ferdinand finally came out victorious, and united Hungary to Austria. Thus possessed of a large territory, fertile and densely peopled, and regularly elected Emperor of Germany, the house of Hapsburg was for several centuries the richest and most powerful family in Europe. But humiliations came thick and heavy with Napoleon. Driven out of Germany, the Emperor Francis assumed, Aug. 11, 1804, for himself and his successors, the title of Emperor of Austria. Besides Germany, he also lost his possessions in Italy, and was completely shut out from the sea. After the fall of Napoleon, Austria was restored to its former size, and so regained its former prestige in European politics. Now the last of the Hapsburgs has abdicated because of his fear of the populace, and thus ends the career of another family with regard to whom the general verdict will be "Good riddance."

WAR AFTERMATH
 The statement that the ex-Kaiser will be allowed to remain in Holland and is likely to settle upon an estate there is a matter which should call for the attention of the Allies in the round table conference which will follow the signing of peace terms when the hundred days of armistice have expired. Had the defeated Teutons clung to William that would have been their own business. But they haven't. He is an exile because of the reputation of his compatriots and he cannot be regarded as anything but a menace as long as he remains just across the border from the Fatherland. He has never possessed one fraction of the genius, or the personal magnetism of Napoleon—a magnetism which enabled the latter upon his escape from St. Helena to again rally a tremendous and menacing army—but if Germany should become wrecked with Bolshevism, after the manner of Russia, the ex-All Highest may be harboring the thought that chaos might reach such a point as to lend opportunity to his rehabilitation. In any event, he is within too easy calling distance. The man has demonstrated himself to be a world menace of the most virulent and murderous type, and he should certainly be taken to some far distant place and kept under strict surveillance.

The opinion has more than once been ventured in these columns that the service of the United States with regard to the war would rest more with financial aid and munitions than anything else, and so the outcome has proved. Uncle Sam entered the fray at too late a date to do much in the field, although the inpouring of his forces doubtless has a marked effect. Word from Washington is to the effect that the total of actual casualties will be about 100,000. Under the circumstances, it is the general belief that U. S. forces will do most of the "polishing" until all matters are finally squared away. Meanwhile President Wilson has been asked to take part in the peace conference, and it is said desires to do so. Hitherto occupants of the White House have never left the country during occupancy of the White House, but these are days when old-time precedent go by the board.

Bonar Law, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, during the speech which he made in the British House yesterday, in asking for a further money grant, paid a special tribute to the Dominions beyond the seas. They were not fighting for the Mother Country, but for the Empire, "which is as much theirs as ours." And in unfeigned admiration he exclaimed, "What troops they have proved."

rope is now one of the first problems to be tackled by the Allies. One London paper cynically remarks that as far as the Germans are concerned, they had better dig up the food laden vessels they have sunk, and it is certainly a "come back" at their expense that they should have ruthlessly helped to bring themselves into their present condition of sustenance shortage.

ASQUITH'S SPEECH.
 Now that the war is at an end it is fitting to recall the famous "We shall not sheathe the sword" speech of Mr. Asquith. He was then—1914—the British Premier and during the course of a notable address soon after the commencement of hostilities he said:
 "We shall not sheathe the sword, which we have not lightly drawn, until Belgium recovers in full measure all, and more than all, that she has sacrificed, until France is adequately secured against the menace of aggression, until the rights of the small nationalities of Europe are placed upon an unassailable foundation, and until the military domination of Prussia is wholly and finally destroyed."
 "This is not merely a material; it is also a spiritual conflict. Upon its issues everything that contains promise and hope, that leads to emancipation and a fuller liberty for the millions who make up the mass of mankind, will be found sooner or later to depend."
 "No one who has not been confronted as we were with the responsibility of determining the issues of peace and war can realize the strength and energy and persistence with which we labored for peace. We persevered by every expedient that diplomacy could suggest, straining almost to the breaking point our most cherished friendships and obligations, even to the last unmaking effort upon effort and hoping against hope. Then, and only then, when we were at last compelled to realize that the choice lay between honor and dishonor, between treachery and good faith, when at last we reached the dividing line which makes or mars a nation worthy of the name, it was then and then only that we declared for war. Is there any one in this hall or in this United Kingdom or in the vast Empire of which we here stand in the capital and centre who blames or repents our decision? (Cries of "No.") For these reasons, as I believe, we must steel ourselves to the task, and in the spirit which animated our forefathers in their struggle against the domination of Napoleon, we must and we shall persevere to the end."
 "We must learn to take long views, and to cultivate above all other faculties—those of patience, endurance, and steadfastness. Meanwhile, let us go each of us to his or her appropriate place in the great common task. Never had a people more or richer sources of encouragement and inspiration."
 "Finally, let us recall the memories of the great men and the great deeds of the past, commemorated some of them in the monuments which we see around us on these walls, not forgetting the dying message of the younger Pitt, his last public utterance made at the table of one of your predecessors, my Lord Mayor, in this very hall: "England has saved herself by her exertions, and will, as I trust, save Europe by her example." The England of those days gave a noble answer to his appeal, and did not sheathe the sword until, after nearly twenty years of fighting the freedom of Europe was secured. Let us go and do likewise."

Winnipeg is Still Ravaged
 By the Prevalence of Spanish Influenza
 By Courier Leased Wire
 Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 14.—With steady and unrelenting force, Spanish influenza is continuing its ravages in Winnipeg, and the daily average of approximately 300 cases was maintained again yesterday when 255 new cases among civilians and 177 deaths were reported to the local health board. The death toll was the lightest for four days.
 Since the mauling struck the city 6,412 cases have been reported with 204 deaths.
 Although the health officials refused to permit the churches to open next Sunday for a thanksgiving service, it is understood that the ban may be lifted during next week.

CLASSES OPENED.
 The Physical Classes at the local branch of the Young Women's Christian Association were scheduled to open today. At noon the Director, Miss Cottle, had not arrived although she is expected momentarily to arrive and take over the work.

THE MARKET.
 The week-day market held this morning was one of very small proportion. The number of stands was limited to one and that had not a very large display of produce. Hay however, formed the residue of the market, being present in goodly quantities.

INDUSTRIAL NIGHT.
 The committee in charge of the Industrial Night Y.W.C.A. Industrial Night decided yesterday to hold next Tuesday at the postponed Business Section Industrial Night commencing at 7:30 p.m. A fire program has been prepared, and the event promises to be an overwhelming success. Everyone in the business section is invited, a special invitation being extended to the ladies.

PRAYER SERVICE.
 Those who found their way into the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon in response to the call to prayer were greatly inspired by the address delivered by Rev. Capt. Jenkins on War Work after the war. The speaker after paying a tribute to the self-sacrificing effort of women during the four years' struggle, urged that there be no slackening now that the necessity for reconstruction work was laid upon them. The white cross on a red background the speaker suggested might well be the emblem of a great women's organization which would study and promote civic conditions.

NOTE AND COMMENT.
 The Poles are to be a nation. As to that there are enough of them on Brantford streets to start one here.

It would seem that the Crown Prince is still alive so he can get what is coming to him.

Only a few more hours in which those who haven't yet done so can take their stand on behalf of country and empire by a Victory Loan subscription.

William of Hohenzollern indignantly denies that he made a flight into Holland. His departure he says was dictated by the desire to save the new government from the embarrassment of his presence. Maybe and then again the nearest lamp post must have looked quite forbidding.

No recurrence of the flu after all that commingling on Monday would seem to show that the trouble is well stamped out.

All classes of citizens will heartily approve of the increase in salary to Fire Chief Lewis. He has most abundantly earned such recognition.

WILHELM PLATZ. Will its name be changed with the passing of the Hohenzollerns?

CONTRADICTED THE TESTIMONY OF MRS. GERRARD

Harry Venton, Witness for Defense in Isaacs Case, Was Cross Examined This Morning

Harry Venton, the first witness for the defense in the Isaacs murder trial, took the stand for cross-examination at the opening of the court this morning. He first went to Duncan's home about March 1, when taking an inventory of coal supplies. On that occasion he met Mrs. Duncan only, and was invited by her to return and meet Mr. Duncan. Some three weeks later, Venton paid a visit to the house at 3 o'clock one afternoon.

"For what purpose?"
 "To see Mr. Duncan."
 "At 3 o'clock in the afternoon?"
 "Yes."
 "Did you not know that he would be working?"
 "Yes."
 "Did you go into the house?"
 "Yes."
 "Whom did you see?"
 "Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. Gerrard."
 "In what room?"
 "In the living room."
 "The dining room?"
 "I don't know if you call it that."
 "Was it the room in which you had dinner on Easter Sunday?"
 "Yes."
 "How many of you were at the table on Easter Sunday?"
 "Six of us."
 "All sitting at the table?"
 "I found it, I've broken my glasses for the second time during the case, ejaculated Mr. Davidson, apologizing to His Lordship for his vehemence. "You had only been once to Duncan's home as a visitor before Easter Sunday?"
 "Yes."
 "You are quite sure of that?"
 "Yes."
 "Venton stated that he sat beside Mrs. Gerrard on his visit to the house previous to Easter Sunday. "Did you touch her?"
 "With my hand."
 "Where?"
 "On her arm."
 "Why?"
 "Because she asked me to."
 "Asked you to hug her?"
 "Witness stated that he had been twice to Duncan's home since the murder. On neither occasion had anything been said concerning the case."
 "You have contradicted the evidence of Mrs. Gerrard."
 "Yes."
 "You knew that you would be called as a witness to contradict her evidence?"
 "No, I didn't know that."
 "She says you were in the house when she woke up."
 "She is wrong."
 "If her story is true, it reflects on your bravery in leaving Isaacs to his death."
 "It would if her story were true."
 "Venton had had two drinks on Sunday afternoon. Isaacs did not drink at that time, but did, later. Witness did not see Mrs. Duncan drink at any time."
 "Did you know Mrs. Duncan had brought whiskey home from Buffalo?"
 "No."
 "When did you first know?"
 "Not until it was brought out at the dinner."
 "Venton saw a bottle of whiskey but no sign. He had been passing Duncan's house when the latter called him in. He did not see the whiskey until after dinner. The bottle was then standing on a table in the parlor."
 "Didn't you go up either to see the women or to get a drink?"
 "No, I didn't," replied the witness heatedly.
 "Then you went up simply out of friendship for Duncan?"
 "Yes."
 "According to your evidence that was the first time you had met Duncan?"
 "I knew him by sight." yvon Contradicted.
 "Venton asserted that Mrs. Gerrard had not resented his attentions on the occasion he first met her. He had never tried to repeat these attentions."
 "When the conversation turned to firearms Duncan went into the parlor with a revolver. The other guests had been in the parlor, but before Duncan returned with the revolver, three of them had come into the dining room."
 "What time did you leave the house?"
 "At half-past four."
 "How do you know?"
 "I looked at my wrist watch."
 "At the inquest you said between half-past four and a quarter to five. Why was that?"
 "I thought my watch might be a bit out."
 "Isaacs, witness stated, had left the house about four."
 "Were you not asleep?"
 "No."
 "How long did you sleep?"
 "About a quarter of an hour."

STREET LIGHTING CHANGES APPROVED

Plans of Hydro Commission Ratiified by City Council Last Night

RAISE FOR FIREMEN Chief and All Members of Department Receive Increases

The changes in the street lighting system proposed by the Hydro electric system were ratiified by the city council last night upon the recommendation of the fire and light committee. Increase in salary were granted to Chief Lewis and the men of the fire department.

The Fire and Light Committee recommended: 1. That the Brantford Hydro Commission be given permission to replace fifty of the arc lamps now used in the town section of the city, with 750 watt nitro gas filled lamps. 2. That the firemen be granted an increase of 75 cents per day dating from the 1st November, also that each fireman be requested to have installed in his home at his own expense a telephone.

3. That the committee further recommends that in view of the long conscientious and efficient service rendered this city by Chief Lewis, his salary be increased to $2,800 a year the same to take effect Jan. 1, 1919. 4. That the committee further recommends that in view of the long conscientious and efficient service rendered this city by Chief Lewis, his salary be increased to $2,800 a year the same to take effect Jan. 1, 1919.

In connection with the above report, Andrew McFarland, chairman of the Hydro Commission, and Wm. Catton, superintendent, waited on the Council. Mr. McFarland explained that the present arc lights were not giving satisfaction; they were both expensive and unreliable. The change proposed would be certain to prove highly satisfactory. Mr. Catton gave a practical demonstration in the working of the old arc lamp, explaining the intricacies of the system which resulted in the lamps being easily put out of order.

Ald. Harp inquired if the old lamps could be disposed of. Mr. Catton believed that they could. The new lamps, he explained, would burn on only 20 volts, while the present ones consumed at times as much as 50,000 volts. Within two years, Mr. Catton states, the local system would be running 2,000 additional horse power for industrial purposes, during the day, and a portion of this would be sufficient for lighting the streets at night.

"I think Mr. Catton has convinced us that our present lights are fearfully and wonderfully made," observed the Mayor, expressing approval of the proposal and congratulating the Hydro Commission upon their general efficiency and good service. Mr. Catton, in reply to a query by Ald. Harp, stated that he did not know just how soon the change could be made but that it would not take long.

TERRIBLE CONDITION IN AUSTRIA

Because of the Lack of Food in That Country

Montreal Aviator Bears Testimony to State of Affairs

By Courier Leased Wire Italian Headquarters, Nov. 14.—(By the Associated Press).—G. D. McLeod of Montreal, an aviator, and C. M. Young of Des Moines, Iowa, who were taken prisoner by the Austrians during the Italian campaign, have been released and have reached the Italian lines. They bring direct news of conditions in the interior of Austria, having travelled from Salzerbad, near Vienna, after being liberated.

"Horrible food conditions prevail in Austria," said McLeod to-day, "and it is quite possible that a million persons will die there this winter from lack of food, weakness and disease. The country is quiet now, but another Russia may grow out of the situation as soon as the troops returning from the front discover that the end of the war has not brought relief. Scenes along the railroads are like those on the battlefield. We saw bodies scattered here and there as a result of men crowding on the tops of trains and being swept off by tunnels. There were also bodies of wounded men who have been taken from Red Cross cars and left to die. Terrible sanitary conditions prevail in little towns filled with returning soldiers.

"What Austria needs is food. I and other prisoners are alive only because of food received from outside of Austria. For three days I and a friend had between us only a little piece of bread. It was about as big as a man's hand. Five hundred newly arrived Serbian troops are keeping order at Laisbach."

Warm Welcome Was Accorded

To British Airmen Who Landed in Constantinople Suburbs

By Courier Leased Wire Mudros, Island of Lemnos, Adrian Sea, (undated).—(By the Associated Press).—Nine British airplanes landed at Galata, a suburb of Constantinople, two days after the signing of the Turkish armistice (October 31). The first Allied officer to reach European Turkish soil was Flight Commander Henry Wisler, a Canadian, and a graduate of Yale in 1910.

The Turks gave the airmen an enthusiastic reception, declaring they were thankful that Turkey had been cleared of Germans who had fled to the Roumanian and Russian ports in the Black Sea.

The Turks said they were eagerly awaiting the arrival of the Allied fleet, which had been concentrated at Mudros.

An Allied army and navy entry probably will be made simultaneously at the Dardanelles. No military occupation of Constantinople at present is probable unless disorder demands that such a course be taken.

A committee composed of British naval and military officers is now inspecting the forts of the Dardanelles, under escort of a son, Tewfik Pasha, the grand vizier, with a view to possession.

DELAY INDISPENSABLE. By Courier Leased Wire Paris, Nov. 13.—The German delegates to the armistice negotiations have issued a statement asserting that a brief delay in the evacuation of occupied territory and delivering of rolling stock is indispensable. They declare that to withdraw the troops and deliver the rolling stock immediately would render the execution of the armistice impossible.

Wedding Bells

SMITH—CLIFFORD. A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's Church yesterday at 3 o'clock, when Miss H. Clifford became the bride of Mr. G. Smith.

It was a choral wedding, the choir preceding the bride to the tune of the wedding march played by Mrs. Norris.

The bride who was leaning on the arm of her father, looked charming in a travelling suit of taupe. After the wedding their pictures were taken on the church steps, and "mid a shower of confetti from the Ham & Nott boys and friends the happy couple left for a brief honeymoon east, amid expressions of goodwill for their future happiness.

A CONVENTION

A letter has been received by the City Clerk inviting the Council to send delegates to the third annual Town Planning Convention of Southern Ontario. The conference will be held on the 2nd and 3rd of December in the Royal Connaught Hotel, Hamilton. It is of great importance that early steps should be taken in Ontario to deal with peace reconstruction problems, which will come within the scope of municipal administration. The securing of more uniformity and simplicity in connection with municipal government in the Province, the solution of the serious housing problems that are likely to confront all municipalities in the near future, and the settlement of a policy with regard to the planning and development of land so as to lessen the present burden of municipal taxation. These are among the issues that will be discussed at the conference and the need of reform in regard to such issues makes it a necessity that the city of Brantford should be represented there.

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—Connie Mack—you know Connie Mack don't you? He is manager of the Athletics who play baseball when no big wars are on. Baseball is a popular sport of pre-war days. It is played with a bat, ball, three canvas sacks, one rubber plate, eighteen players, three pitch hitters, forty-nine pop-bottle vendors and a man at the pass gate. Then there is a national commission.

Well, Connie, who was bombed off the sport stage so unmercifully early this year that our country and yours completely forgot him, is living tranquilly at his home in Germantown, when the hucksters and old-clothes vendors are not nearby.

He admitted under fire that he was not as busy as Schwab—or Rube Oldring.

"I go out to the grounds every day and check up the grass, blades to see if they are missing," said the tripart tactician, "and that about lets me out."

"I have read with much interest the stories charging ball players at the shipyards with being drones. I don't believe a word of it, and I want to take this opportunity to say that a ball player has not received a fair deal.

"I firmly believe that there are more ball players in the army and navy to-day, proportionately than any other profession or calling."

"Let's look into this thing. There is not one class of ball players at a shipyard or steel plant. Those in the essential employments are in classes 3 or 4, and haven't been called. They were put in those classes by the draft boards for the reason they belonged there. When those classes are called they will respond, but in the meantime they deserve the same rights that a banker, carpenter and joiner or wall-paper hanger enjoys.

"I know of ball players who have to support two families—their own and their mother's or their wife's. When these men went into essential employment they were obeying the work or fight order. That is the reason the pennant races were closed a month earlier, so ball players could be doing just what they are doing to-day. Yet some persons in essential employments are in classes 3 and 4, and haven't been called. They were put in those classes by the draft boards for the reason they belonged there. When those classes are called they will respond, but in the meantime they deserve the same rights that a banker, carpenter and joiner or wall-paper hanger enjoys.

"I am particularly pained that in situations should have been made against members of the Athletic team. These men stayed with me until the season closed and then went to the shipyards. I've heard the best reports about them.

Oluding a Good Worker
"I went to Cramps' and persons in authority told me that ball players were good workers and a big help in the shipbuilding program. Rube Oldring started as a steamer and after his first day's work the foreman told the manager that he was a first-class workman. And he was only there a day.

"I also recall your men that Johnny Evers, who is a good ball player working in essential industries on this side. Baseball has been very kind to Evers and it does not become him to shun class 3 and become a class 4 man who are working hard to support their wives and children.

"All this derogatory comment is unfair to the ball player. They are as fit a body of men as we have in the country. In the trenches, or in the essential employments, every one is trying his level best to help make the allies winners of this war."

Mr. Mack said that President Johnson had not yet called the annual meeting. Mr. Johnson is up in the Wisconsin woods. Charles Comiskey, mackinac rural free delivery mail carrier for deer. The lander leader thinks the meeting will be held in Chicago in December. Yes, yes, all the players will be reserved as usual.

In conclusion, Mr. Mack entrusts all of his friends to purchase heavily of quare emprunt de Liberte.

Regulations respecting the sale of gasoline are to receive the further consideration of the Fuel Controller, pending which the enforcement of the regulations will be held over for the next ten days.

Mrs. Gerrard Adhered to Her Evidence Under Severe Cross Fire

The Crown Closed Its Case Against George Duncan Yesterday Afternoon

CHARGE IS MURDER

Woman Swore to Having Seen Prisoner Stamp on Isaacs' Head

The Crown's case against George Duncan, charged in the Supreme Court of Ontario with the murder of Alfred Isaacs on March 31st last, Easter Sunday, closed yesterday afternoon before Mr. Justice Lennox and the defense was started before the court adjourned for the night. The principal witness for the prosecution was Mrs. Georgina Gerrard, half-sister of Mrs. Duncan, who told in fuller detail the same story which she gave at the preliminary hearing last April, and who persevered in every detail despite the efforts of the defense to shake her testimony. Her evidence, and that given by Harry Venton, the first witness for the defense, was directly at variance in several points. Mr. Kelly, Duncan's counsel, cross-examined Mrs. Gerrard with such acerbity that he was several times cautioned by the presiding justice. The case is proceeding this morning, and the jury will likely go out this afternoon.

Mrs. Georgina Gerrard, half-sister of Mrs. Duncan, was the first witness called to the stand. Her husband went overseas with the 11th Battalion from Galt. Witness stated that Mrs. Duncan had been first married to a Frank Shepherd of Preston.

"I object," interposed Mr. Kelly. Mr. Justice Lennox could see no ground for the counsel's objection. Mrs. Gerrard stated that a child of Mrs. Duncan by her first husband was now in an orphanage at Kitchener.

Mrs. Gerrard had been staying at Duncan's home for some four weeks previous to Easter Sunday. On Thursday, March 28, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan went to Buffalo, where the former underwent an operation for an abscess on his neck. They returned Saturday night.

Mrs. Gerrard and Mrs. Duncan went to church Sunday morning. On their return, Mr. Duncan, Mrs. Sumnerhays, his sister, and a Mr. Frank Hazel were there.

A short time later, Alfred Isaacs, a half-brother to Duncan, and a Mr. Venton came to the house. Mrs. Sumnerhays and Frank Hazel left before dinner, but a Mr. Alfred Hazel arrived in time for the meal.

A bottle of gin and one of whiskey were produced during the meal, by Mr. Duncan. Witness was the only one who did not take any liquor. She stated that on two or three occasions prior to Easter Sunday, she had threatened to "get even" with Isaacs for something.

Trouble in Afternoon
Shortly after dinner on Sunday, Mrs. Gerrard saw Duncan flourishing a revolver. He swore at Isaacs, and threatened to shoot him. Isaacs offered to leave the house to avoid trouble. Mrs. Duncan intervened, and Duncan said to her: "Don't you interfere, or I'll blow your head off. You don't need to stand up for him. I know."

Witness asked Duncan to give her the revolver, which he did. She put it under the pillow of her bed. When she returned to the sitting room everyone present took some liquor. Witness had three drinks. She then lay down on a sofa in the parlor. Venton was asleep in the dining-room at the time.

Witness was awakened by Mrs. Duncan some hours later. She hurried to the kitchen door, and there saw Isaacs lying on the floor. Duncan was also in the room. He had no coat on and there was blood on his face and hands and shirt.

The shirt was here produced by the Crown and identified by the witness. Duncan, the prisoner, was very agitated and testified anxiously on the witness stand, while he gripped the gate of the dock with one hand.

When Mrs. Gerrard reached the kitchen door, Duncan said to Isaacs: "You think you're the bully of Brantford, don't you?" "No, I don't," replied Isaacs. "Duncan came into the sitting-room and asked me to take up his collar, which she did. Duncan then returned to the kitchen and stamped several times on Isaacs' face. He had a knife in his hand and he held the heel of his right foot. At the Crown's request, she stepped in front of the jurymen's box and reconstructed the scene for their benefit. She stated she had seen Duncan strike Isaacs once with his fist before using his foot.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Hair becomes charming, wavy, lustrous and thick in few moments. Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

For a few cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and charming as a young girl's after applying some Danderrine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderrine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt, or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderrine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderrine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Dr. Phillips

substantiated the testimony of Dr. Phillips as to the injuries on Isaacs' head. He was officiating corner at the inquest into the man's death. He had been first summoned to Duncan's home about 7:30 Sunday night.

Detective Chapman identified the shoes and the shirt already submitted by the Crown. The shirt he had found, after a thorough search, between the shelves of an extension table in Duncan's home. There were blood stains on the shirt, and also on the stairs and the wall. When Duncan was arrested, one hand was bleeding.

Witness stated that Duncan had formerly been on the police force here, but had resigned owing to ill health.

In the bedroom, on the top floor, the detective had found the furniture in disorder, and blood on the wall and ceiling.

With reference to the finding of the shirt, witness stated that he believed it had been hidden there.

Mr. Kelly objected, and was upheld by the judge, who ordered that the last testimony be struck out.

Detective Schuler was in charge at the police station when the first alarm was sent in, at 6:45 Sunday night. He sent Constable Dymond to Duncan's home, and Mrs. Gerrard was later brought to the station by Constable Miller, who was sent to assist the other officers.

When Duncan arrived at the station, his right shoe was covered with blood. The blood had since dried, and become almost invisible.

Detective Schuler was sharply cross-examined by Mr. Kelly as to the blood stains on the shirt and the other officers.

Dr. Chapin was next called to the stand. He also described in minute detail the injuries to Isaacs' head, as revealed by the post-mortem examination. He did not believe that the injuries found could have been produced by blows from a fist.

"Could blows from a fist cause fracture?" asked Mr. Kelly, cross-examining. "That depends on the strength of the skull," replied Dr. Chapin. "Could blows of the fist produce a fractured jaw?"

"I think not. They might dislocate the jaw, but could hardly fracture it."

"Can you say positively?" "I have never seen it."

Dr. Phillips was recalled to the stand. Mr. Kelly asked him if he had seen anyone who might have been mistaken for Isaacs coming to the house, then?

"I never heard of any."

"Was not Duncan angry because Isaacs had been to the house while he was in Buffalo?"

"Isaac had not been in the house during that time, declared witness. He had only called at the door to see

TILBURY GAS NOW BEING PURIFIED

Plant at Glenwood in Successful Operation, Says Ald. Montgomery

Ald. A. C. Montgomery sent the following letter to the City Council last night:

"After an absence of five regular meetings, I am deprived of the privilege of attending tonight owing to a siege of sciatica. There is some unfinished business that I intended taking up and although the ward is only represented by my colleagues Aldermen Chalcraft and Hill, still I am disappointed in not being present.

It is generally accepted that I entered the Council this year with the view of obtaining the facts in connection with the gas situation and improving it if possible. Your Gas Committee have presented the findings before you and the public, and initiated a general movement among the natural gas municipalities to conserve gas for domestic use and advanced gas purification at the wells. In this we were also endorsed by the other municipalities, who have made it a live issue with the Ontario Railway Board. Our interest was not neglected during my absence and the result is a message to the Council and public of unexpected good news. First, the experiments at Glenwood (Tilbury) gas fields, our source of supply) have been rewarded by success.

For the last ten days the purification plant has been operating successfully, taking practically all of the sulphur from the gas. Owing to the shortness of time, it has been in operation it is impossible to guarantee success. At present there is no reason why they cannot operate steadily as they are now doing. The controlling company were of the opinion once before and are cautious in reference to guarantee when they had not succeeded in purifying for a single day. The majority of your Gas Committee fully conversant with existing conditions are convinced purification is feasible.

As far as the supply is concerned it all depends on the action of the Ontario authorities, who have the matter in their charge. The company supplying Brantford believe that they will have an ample supply for domestic consumers. Personally I expect to see purified gas and plenty of it under normal weather during the present winter.

Yours truly,
A. C. Montgomery.

THE DUKE OF BRUNSWICK, son-in-law of the Kaiser, who followed the lead of the Kaiser, and abdicated also.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

THE MARCH OF HARES.

A Few Historical Facts About Hazebrouck.

Hazebrouck, Marsh of Hares, the old Flemings named it, and the ancient Flemish spire of St. Nicholas still rises above the lowlands, marshes and dunes that stretch in an unbroken line northward along the Straits of Dover to the Belgian frontier. A close resemblance they bear to each other, these coast towns of the Nord and the Pas de Calais, with their broad, well-paved streets, and a choice architectural monument of two to lend them individual distinction. Each one of them, clean, pretty, active, is like an oasis in the dreary waste of sandhills thrown up by sea and wind.

St. Omer, Hazebrouck, Dunkerque, Gravelines, Calais—who names one, names them all. Together they share a past of unstained valor, and once more with the same grim resistance, they play their curves are fairly signed then on the soil of Flanders, on "the battlefield of the world."

History has curiously repeated itself, and the problems which confronted the leaders of the Kaiser, their efforts to stop the German rush for Calais were not wholly different from those of the Duke of Marlborough, whose eyes in 1709 must have gleamed in the meadows of west Flanders, the Picardy, upland with its hedgeless roads, unenclosed fields and lines of stiff trees that surround Hazebrouck. Like Marlborough, the Allies gathered in a place with a foe who made detestable use of earthwork and intrenchments and the memory of the great duke's campaign must often have haunted them.

Again history repeated itself when the onrushing German armies suddenly found the road to Calais blocked by an unexpected obstacle, the British fleet. And once again, as in the battle of the Dunes, when Cromwell's fleet gave Turenne's army valuable assistance, the French front fought with the British navy. Now, Hazebrouck, as a position, controlling the junction of many important railway lines, is immeasurably more valuable than it was in the days of Marlborough and Turenne.

Food to Make Giants.

A new substance, called tethelin, has been discovered in the human body by scientists engaged in physical research at the University of California.

It is found in the thymus gland at the base of the brain, and it is this that makes people grow, or the scientists in question allege. By utilizing it, it is proposed to add to the stature of human beings. A child fed upon it will grow up a giant. We may be able by this means to build up regiments of giants of a size and stature to throw completely into the shade those giant Grenadiers of Potsdam which gave so much pleasure and pride to the Kaiser's most distinguished ancestors.

Animals, too, and even insects, it is claimed, can be induced to "grow big" by similar means. It is to be hoped that no evil-minded person will elect to breed tethelin rats the size of tigers or wasps that will be veritable flying dragons.—Tit-Bits.

Glucose in Fruit.

The presence of glucose in fruit preserves as an adulterant may be discovered by the following method given by the Popular Science Monthly: In the case of jam or marmalade it is necessary to filter off the solid matter by running the mixture through a piece of muslin. Allow the solution to become perfectly cool, and then add an equal volume, or a little more, of strong alcohol. If glucose is present a dense white precipitate slowly settles down. Where no glucose has been employed there is no precipitate, save, in some cases, a very trifling sediment of protein matter, which, however, is so small that it could not possibly be mistaken for the sediment which glucose produces. The last named is not particularly harmful in itself, but is very frequently used as an adulterant in supposedly pure preserves for extra profit.

Protection.

"The things our grandmothers did" are so often ridiculed that it is pleasant to read this in the American Agriculturist in an article about protection from lightning: "Our grandmothers used to enshroud themselves (as a refuge from lightning) in the midst of a large, thick feather bed and this was a wise thing to do, for feathers are a non-conductor." The article goes on: "Rubber being a non-conductor, it is well to slip on a pair of overboots during a storm, so that if the house happens to be struck, the shock cannot prove injurious. It affords the greatest relief for the nerves if the curtains are drawn down and the lights turned on, for then one cannot see the lightning."

He Was Intended.

"Judge," said the man at the bar, "there's no use you trying to square this thing up. My wife and I fight just so often and just so long, that we can't help it. So there you are." "And about how long do you keep it up?" asked the judge. "About two weeks, Judge." "All right," said the judge, "I'll give you three days and, in the meanwhile, you are intended for the duration of the war."

Beet Drops.

Beet crops have the effect of stimulating the soil. Observations made abroad show that after beets have been grown on the land there has been an increase in the yield of wheat of 5.98 bushels an acre; rye, 1.59; barley, 6.51; and oats, 5.77.

Concrete.

Concrete in a burning building in Philadelphia was little damaged by the changes of temperature from the intense heat of the fire. The use of dry water, used by firemen, while granite was practically ruined.

Rippling Rhymes

NOVEMBER

November's here, with landscapes drear, and winds that chill the human glazard; they seem to sigh, as they whiz by, "Prepare, prepare for winter's blitzard!" The trees are bare, as if in despair, before the winds they writhe and totter; the skies are bleak and often look a lot of cheap denatured water. November's here; the dismal year is growing feeble, half and sickly; he'll cash his checks and join the wrecks in time's world famous bonnyard quickly. Thus years roll on; they come, they're gone; they seem to linger for a second; they come and grin, and they're all in before their curves are fairly reckoned. A year quite now looms up in view, a year that's bold and blithe and clever; so full of pop that he shrinks, and looks like he would last forever. But while you look he shrinks, and looks like he's from his cheek departed; his shanks grow lean, and he is seen, a gauffer bent and broken-hearted. November's here, the fields are sere, the flowers, indoors, are safely potted; the birds are gone from hedge and lawn, the season's flies have all been swatted. The Teuts are whipped; they're badly hipped, by too much Kultur, too much hatin'; Thanksgiving Day, not far away; looms up as something worth awaiting.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes any one look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is easily more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing leas, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins, which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a full,aching head or have turned tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, yellow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

There are a great many hand-sizes donated by the different merchants in the city, besides The Court-Trophy, which will be contested by one team having to win same in successive seasons for retain it.
 There will be two series instead three, each team meeting the other twice in each series.
 The regular Brantford team will have an Inter-City League series after the holidays with Hamilton if satisfactory arrangements can be made. Brantford can get out a good strong team and should make a good showing with the other nearby cities. London is a great bowling city for its size, having no less than leagues. The Business Men's league rolls after 5 in the afternoon. Each of the outdoor bowling clubs have teams entered in a league of five pins, which is a popular game among bowlers.

Now That the War is Over

Canada Still Needs all the Money the People Will Subscribe by Buying Victory Bonds !

Without Money our Soldiers could not be fed or clothed until they are brought home, nor could ships be found to carry them.

Money is Needed and Needed at Once !

It is needed to advance credit to the British people, who need food and our manufactures. Without this credit, Canadian farmers would not be able to sell their wheat, nor the manufacturers their goods.

There Are 400,000 Men to Be Demobilized Within a Year or Two

There Are at Least 300,000 Men on War Work, Who Will Probably Lose Employment

The government must have the money to solve the problem of looking after the returned men and unemployed, which will follow peace. Were the people to refuse to lend their money to the government, business would immediately decline, the factories would lay off their hands and stagnation would result.

Let The Government Have Your Money, and All Will Be Well !
