For Her Sake; —OR— The Murder in Furness Wood.

CHAPTER XI.

He flung his arms round her in an agony of despair, and drew her to his breast. He laid his head on hers, and there was a brief but terrible silence; then she clasped her tender arms round him.

"Say it is not true, papa! You did not mean it; you could not mean it! You cannot marry again while you have me, papa!" cried Diana, in a torrent of frenzied agony.

"It is for your good, my dear," he said, with trembling voice.

"Oh, no, a thousand times no! It will make me so unhappy, I shall wish that I were dead. Oh, papa, say you do not mean it—say it is but a jest to try my love for you! Dear Heaven, it cannot be true!"

Her arms fell, and a wailing cry rose from her lips which seemed to pierce his heart.

"Diana, my darling," he said, hurriedly, "all that I have done has been done for you; believe me, it has all been done for your sake. I want you to move in the highest circles; I want you to take your proper place in the world; I want a thousand things for you that I can obtain only through Lady Scarsdale. Oh, Dian, my darling, listen to me!"

For she had flung herself upon her knees, and, laying her fair head on the garden-seat, was sobbing so piteously and passionately that Peter Cameron's heart was torn with conflicting emotions.

"Listen to me," repeated Mr. Cameron, almost in despair. "It is indeed for your good, Dian—for your best interests."

"Did Lady Scarsdale tell you so, papa?" she asked, with a sudden flash of scorn.

"Yes," he replied simply.

"I thought so!" cried Diana. "Ah, papa, can you not see? She wants to marry you because you are rich, and she has played upon your affection for me."

An awful horror seized him. What if this should be true? What if he had been deceived by a designing woman? But many circumstances came to his mind to reassure him.

"How can it be for my good when it will spoil my life?" asked Diana, emphatically. "If I found it so hard and

And the Worst is Yet to Come

ter, and is connected by marriage with some of the oldest families in England."

"I do not like her one bit the better for that, papa," broke in Diana.

"Probably not, my dear. Still it is a fact that has its weight with the world."

"A false, horrible world!" cried Diana, to whom so recently it had seemed all that was bright and beautiful. "I would never measure anything by the world's opinion."

"We must do so as long as we live in the world, Diana," said Mr. Cameron. "With my money and Lady Scarsdale's rank, her high connections, her position in society, and her influence, we should be second to none in England."

"What good would that do us, papa, when we should not be happy? You would grasp at the shadow and lose the substance."

Peter Cameron looked aghast at his daughter. On this point they would never agree, never understand each other; she had a half contempt for rank, while he worshiped it almost servilely.

"We should be none the happier for it," she declared. "See how happy we are now! What a free, pleasant life we lead!"

Mr. Cameron shook his head gravely, as one who had fathomed solemn mysteries.

"It is that very freedom, which is not good for you. You are too young to have the management and responsibility of this great place on your shoulders, Dian."

"Have you any fault to find, papa?" she asked.

"No, my darling—no fault whatever. But Lady Scarsdale seems to think that it is not quite the thing for a girl so young as you to go out so much alone and receive visitors."

"She would most kindly relieve me of the trouble," said Dian, with a bitter laugh.

"Besides, Lady Scarsdale is a great friend of the Duchess; they visit continually, and are in the same set in town."

"Papa," said Diana, solemnly, "I hate the Duchess! I detest the name of both Duke and Duchess! Lady Scarsdale shall never introduce me to them, for I will never know them."

To Peter Cameron's mind there could be no greater treason, no greater heresy than this.

"My dear Dian," he said, somewhat reprovingly, "I have certainly failed to give you proper ideas of life."

"It is your ideas, papa, that are wrong. Why should you humble yourself by trying to win a place in that society which plainly does not want you? What can you see in these titled people that makes you admire them so much and seek them so eagerly? We should live much more happily without dukes and duchesses, lords and ladies, than we should with them."

"You might, Dian, but I should not. We all have an ambition; that is mine."

"Oh, papa, and you have me!" cried Diana. "I love you so dearly, and I study you so in every way, you cannot prefer these strangers to me."

You do not know what a difference this marriage would make to you from a worldly point of view, Dian."

"I do know," she said, mournfully. "I should never have another happy moment in my life. I could not live with Lady Scarsdale, whom I have disliked from the first moment I saw Scarsdale's daughter."

"Oh, papa, those terrible girls! It grows worse and worse. Would they come, as well? Home would be home no longer, and the sanctity of our love no longer respected. You must not—oh, indeed, papa, you must not persist in this dreadful engagement! The misery and wretchedness of their presence would be unendurable. You must not, indeed!"

She clung to him, weeping passionately, with such bitter anguish that his resolution was somewhat shaken.

"You must not do it, papa! You cannot wreck my life and yours in this manner. Wretchedness and misery would be the only fruit of such a union. Oh, my dear papa, bestow a thought upon my dear dead mother—remember how you loved her, how often you have said that your heart was buried in her grave! And now you would put that cold, proud woman, who hates me, in her place—in my mother's place! You cannot, you must not do it!"

"Why, Dian," said the perplexed father, "I never thought you would receive this information in the way you have; I had fondly hoped that it

Hope of an early settlement of the railroad strike which seemed to brighten yesterday faded last night when it became known that efforts to mediate between the Government and National Union Railwaymen had failed. That the situation is grave is generally admitted. Premier Lloyd George insists that the men must resume work before negotiations can be reopened. Many telegrams were received at local headquarters of the National Union from provincial branches to-day urging that the Premier's ultimatum be accepted, but it was said by the leaders of the organization that the Government's order withholding the men's pay for the last week they had worked had precluded resumption. ## Settlement Efforts Have Failed.

Grave Situation in United Kingdom--Thomas Inciting Railwaymen By Incendiary Messages--No Change in President Wilson's Condition -- Volcanic Eruption in Hawaii.

SITUATION GRAVE.
LONDON, Oct. 3. Hope of an early settlement of the railroad strike which seemed to brighten yesterday faded last night when it became known that efforts to mediate between the Government and National Union Railwaymen had failed. That the situation is grave is generally admitted. Premier Lloyd George insists that the men must resume work before negotiations can be reopened. Many telegrams were received at local headquarters of the National Union from provincial branches to-day urging that the Premier's ultimatum be accepted, but it was said by the leaders of the organization that the Government's order withholding the men's pay for the last week they had worked had precluded resumption. Newspapers which strongly support the Government, claim the latter is winning and urge no surrender. The same claim is made by strike leaders. J. H. Thomas, leader of the railwaymen, has sent a message to the Herald, Labor organ, which reads as follows: "Railwaymen showed the world they could fight Germans and are now showing they can fight for freedom here."

MUST AVOID CLASHES.
PARIS, Oct. 3. Complying with suggestions made by various members of the Supreme Council the Slav Government, it is learned, has given special instructions to all Jugo-Slav officers to avoid clashes with the Italians. This precaution was advised because it was thought to be the general belief among the Peace Conference delegates that certain elements among the Italians are seeking trouble with the Jugo-Slavs as an excuse for the seizure of additional territory along the Balkan coast.

NO CHANGE.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. Although no official statement was made by Dr. Grayson, it was understood at the White House that there was little if any change in President Wilson's condition early this morning.

MUST RETURN TO WORK.
LONDON, Oct. 3. At a full meeting of the Cabinet this afternoon, presided over by Premier Lloyd George, the Premier's statement that no negotiations could be entered into with the National Union of Railwaymen before it had given orders to the men to return to work, was unanimously agreed to.

ITALY WILL RATIFY TREATY.
PARIS, Oct. 3. Advice received by the Peace Conference from Rome have persuaded members of the Supreme Council that Italy will ratify the German Peace Treaty by royal decree. The general opinion in the Council is that such ratification will be valid under the Italian Constitution, as the treaty does not involve any Italian territorial changes.

DROPS THEIR INCOGNITO.
NEW YORK, Oct. 3. The King and Queen of Belgium with Prince Leopold, Heir Apparent to the Throne, cast aside to-day the royal incognito, which had shrouded them since their welcome at noon yesterday to the United States by Vice-President Marshall, and boarded the yacht Noma, in the Hudson River, to make their formal entry into New York. The royal party will remain in New York until Saturday when they will start on a tour of the nation which will take them to the Pacific Coast and again to Washington where they will be received at the White House. The first scheduled stop is at Boston where the royal party is expected to arrive on Sunday morning.

THE TABLES TURNED.
CHICAGO, Oct. 3. The Chicago White Sox to-day served emphatic notice that they were still in the world's championship contest, by defeating Cincinnati 3 to 0. The series now stands Cincinnati 2, Chicago 1. Six more games are possible. Dick Kerr, who in his younger days was something of a boxer as well as a ball player in St. Louis, and who came to the Sox from Milwaukee, pitched unbeatable ball, allowing but three scattered hits and but one pass to first. Kerr's home is at Paris, Tex., and he first played professional baseball at Paragon, Ark. He made everybody sit up and look at him to-day, for his left wing contained more mysteries than a sphinx. Duncan Kopt and Fisher, the Cincinnati pitchers, who also hurled a good game, were the only Reds to obtain singles off the Texan, while his sole complimentary passage to first was granted to Gros. None of those athletes ever reached third. Twenty-nine thousand people, including a band of rosters from Cincinnati, saw the game, which was played beneath a bright sun in a temperature which was ideal.

THE LAVA FLOW.
HILO, HAWAII, Oct. 3. The source of the lava flow from the volcano Mauna, which began to erupt lately, was located 8500 feet above Pukokoo, an offshoot on the mountain Mauna Kea, which has an elevation of 13,825 feet. The lava stream, 300 feet high and the same breadth, flows slightly checked and makes a sobbing noise that can be heard for miles.

Industrial Workers.
APPRECIATE GOVERNMENT'S ACTION.
(To-day's Plaindealer).
At the last regular meeting of the Newfoundland Industrial Workers' Association, a communication from the Colonial Secretary, on behalf of the Government, was read by the chairman, stating that the Government had decided to comply with the wishes of the Association in its recommendation that a Labor Bureau was necessary and that a High Cost of Living Commission was likewise desirable in view of existing conditions. The Government, through Mr. Bennett, asked the Unionists to nominate a man to act on the Commission and also to furnish facts and advice which would be advantageous in the formation of the Labor Department. After the executive discussed the Colonial Secretary's letter it was laid before the meeting, with the result that the Union men approved of the Government's intentions by a unanimous consent to render assistance to the Government in every respect, and appointed one from their ranks to act on the Commission. The N.I.W.A. endorses the Government's action in dealing promptly with their recommendations, and it is to be hoped that results of much benefit to the workmen will be the result of their combined efforts in this direction.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.
Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—The Star on Thursday evening, in its write-up of Mr. J. M. Devine, stated that with characteristic pluck and very little capital started business in 1915. This is intended, I presume, to mean 1909, when Mr. Devine started his retail business. The Star also refers to Mr. Devine having established the N&D Wholesale Dry Goods, Ltd., a few years ago. This statement is incorrect. Mr. J. M. Speares, the secretary and joint managing director, is the one who established the N&D Wholesale Dry Goods, Ltd., in 1916. The article referred to, being a political write-up, and as with all other large concerns, shareholders of different political views are to be found, I feel that I am only doing justice when I give honor to whom honor is due.
INTERESTED.

Sacred Concert at Ferryland.
A grand concert will be held in the old historic Church at Ferryland, at 8 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. A train will leave the city at 1:30 p.m., and start on the return at 11 p.m. The affair will be under the patronage of His Grace the Archbishop. Following the concert, teas will be served in an adjacent building by the ladies of the parish.
You'll always find Reliable Dry Batteries and Flashlights lively and lasting.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church—Rev. Gordon Dickie, M.A., Minister. Sunday services at 11 and 6:30. The Rev. Alfred Hall, D.D., Chaplain to the Royal Naval Institute, will preach at the morning service. The Sabbath School gathering at 3 p.m. will be a rally service. Rev. E. W. Forbes, M.A., B.D., will be the speaker. In the evening the Minister will occupy the pulpit. Subject: "The lay and the clerical point of view." Prayer service Thursday evening at 8. Strangers cordially welcome at all services.

Queen's Rd. Congregational Church—"Rally Day" after the holiday season. Divine worship in the morning at 11, with Communion Service to follow. Preacher, Rev. D. B. Ashford. Subject for sermon, "Our Work as a Church in St. John's and Newfoundland." Talk to the children on "Painless Dentistry." Sunday School in the afternoon at 3. Re-distribution of classes. Evening service at 8:30, when the Rev. Dudley B. Ashford will deliver the first of the series of four special sermons on "The Roman Story of English Bible." These should prove intensely interesting, very instructive, and of great value to all who desire to understand the Bible.

Adventist—Subject, "Prophecy." All Welcome. Evangelist D. J. C. Barrett.

ST. THOMAS'S—The general services at the parish church for to-morrow are outlined elsewhere. The morning sermon will be preached by Rev. C. A. Moulton. In the afternoon the Rev. Alfred Hall, D.D., will address the children of the parish in Canon Wood Hall at 3 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Hall comes to St. John's representing the Merchant Marine and Royal Naval Institute of Canada, of which he is Chaplain. He is also Lord Strathcona's Commissioner for the distribution of Nelson Shields to the colleges and schools of Canada and Newfoundland. His address to the children will be on the ways of God on the sea. At the evening service the Rector, Rev. Jones, will deliver the first of a series of addresses on "Things We are Leaving Undone," the special topic being "War Memorials." Everybody cordially invited.

GOWER ST.—Harvest Home services will be held to-morrow evening. At 9:45 a.m. there will be a prayer meeting for the congregation in general under the leadership of the two Men's Morning Classes. This is open to all who come; 2:30, Sunday School and Bible Classes; 4, Young Women's Class Meeting; 11 and 6:30, public worship. Rev. W. B. Bugden will preach in the morning and the Pastor in the evening. Subject of evening sermon: "Seeds of Harvest."—the unfolding results of spiritual effort, the presentation of the spiritual aims of the Methodist National Campaign. The church will be decorated with flowers, fruit and vegetables, and the choir will sing the following anthems; morning, "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem" (Mauder); evening, "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land" (Stainer).

Week-day meetings—Monday, 8 p.m., Epworth League; Wednesday and Friday, 7:45 p.m., prayer meeting. The Friday prayer meeting will be a rally meeting, preparatory to Rally Sunday, Oct. 12th. The story of familiar hymns will be continued. A cordial invitation is extended to all the above meetings, and a special welcome will be given to visitors from the outports and strangers in the city.

GEORGE ST.—The special campaign services will not be held in George St. Methodist Church to-morrow as was intended. It is expected that the campaign will be continued for a grand Rally of the Church forces on Sunday, the 19th instant.

GEORGE ST. A.B.C. meets to-morrow afternoon at 2:45. A large attendance is hoped for. Visitors welcome.

CORCHANE ST.—The service at Cochrane St. Church on Sunday night will be commemorative of the great work done by the Royal Navy and by the mercantile marine in connection with the late war. The Pastor will preside, and the preacher will be the Rev. Dr. Alfred Hall, Senior Chaplain to Royal Naval and Mercantile Marine Institutes in Canada. Dr. Hall, whose headquarters are in Montreal, is Dominion Secretary of the Navy League of Canada, and Lord Strathcona Commissioner for the presenting of Nelson Shields (made from copper of Nelson's flagship, "Victory," to the Universities' colleges and schools of Canada. He is an enthusiastic and racy speaker, and has already captured the ears and hearts of the pupils of the colleges of the city, to all of which institutions he has presented shields. Come and hear him at Cochrane St. Church on Sunday night and enjoy a treat. Naval men and Reservists are especially invited.

WESLEY—The preacher at the morning service will be Rev. Dr. Bond. The Pastor will preach at the evening service; subject: "The Call of Service." Visitors always cordially received at all services.

CONGREGATIONAL—Next Sunday is Rally Day, when the Rev. D. B. Ashford is making a special effort to reach his congregation now that the holiday season is over. In the morning he has a special message to his own people on "Our Work as a Church." In the evening he begins a series of lectures which should prove very popular and draw big congregations. The Bible is the basis of our religion and the biggest factor in the making of the British race. Its story is woven into the warp and woof of our history. Yet how few know how it has come to us, or the price which has been paid for it in tears and blood. It is a tragedy, the hearing of which will make the Bible a new book. Remember, then, to-morrow night at the Congregational Church, at 6:30, and the three following Sundays also.

I AM THE NEWSPAPER

Born of the deep, daily need of a nation—I am the Voice of Now—the incarnate spirit of the Times—Monarch of things that Are.

My "cold type" burns with the fire-blood of human action. I am fed by arteries of wire that girdle the earth. I drink from the cup of every living joy and sorrow. I sleep not—rest not. I know not night, nor day, nor season. I know no death, yet I am born again with every morn—with every noon—with every twilight. I leap into fresh being with every new world event.

Those who created me cease to be—the brains and heart's-blood that nourish me go the way of human dissolution. Yet I live on—and on.

I am Majestic in my Strength—Sublime in my Power—Terrible in my Potentialities—yet as democratic as the ragged boy who sells me for a cent.

I am the consort of Kings—the partner of capital—the brother of toil. The inspiration of the hopeless—the right arm of the needy—the champion of the oppressed—the conscience of the criminal. I am the epitome of the world's Comedy and Tragedy.

My Responsibility is Infinite. I speak and the world stops to listen. I say the word and battle flames the horizon. I counsel peace and the war lords obey. I am greater than any individual—more powerful than any group. I am the dynamic force of Public Opinion. Rightly directed, I am a Creator of Confidence. A builder of happiness in living. I am the Backbone of Commerce. The Trail-Blazer of Prosperity. I am the teacher of Patriotism.

I am the hands of the clock of Time—the clarion voice of Civilization.

I am the Newspaper.

Price of Fish.

We gave particulars in our issue last week of how the fishermen were last holding back their fish. This was commented upon in many quarters and the truth of this article was verified in many ways.

None of the merchants have any collectors out looking for fish as in former years and this should be sufficient proof to the fishermen that the demand for fish is not in existence this year like it was while the war was on.

There is no change in prices for Shore fish. No. 1 Hard Merchants is worth $12.00 and Madeira $10.00 per cwt.

There is so little Labrador fish arrived home yet that we cannot give accurate figures.—Trade Review.

Winter is Coming.

Already the chilly days of Autumn are here, and you should not risk the chance of catching cold in a house where the fires die out, or where a great delay of time is necessary to start them on a frosty morning. A little Gas Heater, Gas Grate, or steam radiator will furnish you with just as much heat as you require, and just as little, by simply turning a tap.

We have Radiant Fires, Chill-Chasers, Selt-In-Grates, Steam Radiators, and appliances to suit all requirements of the Home.

Don't you hate a tense atmosphere? No matter what creates it. For instance, don't you hate to visit at any place where people are too eager to please? One appreciates their kindness, but at the same time one can feel their tension, and it makes an unnatural atmosphere.

A man who was at the head of a big organization, and who used to dine week-ends with some of his subordinates, told me that there was one place which, though the surroundings were pleasant, he hated to visit. "Because," he explained, "if anything goes wrong, his wife is so upset about it that it makes us all uncomfortable. The roast wasn't done enough one time, and she said so much about it and seemed so distressed that it spoiled the day. Of course, I don't care for an underdone roast, but I don't mind it half so much as I do a distressed hostess."

When Husband and Wife Squabble

Another form of tension which is most unpleasant is that created by the disagreement of any two members of a family. You know how a husband and wife who are ill-bred enough to say disagreeable things to each other in public, can spoil any gathering. And I never had a more wretched week-end than that I once passed through when I was entertaining a mother and daughter who never agree about anything. The mother is always trying to arrange the daughter's life for her, and the daughter is always resenting this interference in a way that makes all the by-standers feel most uncomfortable.

When the Maid is Cross.

Nothing in the world makes a more thoroughly disagreeable atmosphere than to have a sulky servant in the house. I know people who will keep that sort of a helper because she is "such a good cook" or "so capable." For myself, I would rather put up with any kind of inefficiency than insufficiency of good temper.

A TENSE ATMOSPHERE.

Don't you hate

don't you hate to

When Husband and Wife Squabble
Another form of tension which is most unpleasant is that created by the disagreement of any two members of a family. You know how a husband and wife who are ill-bred enough to say disagreeable things to each other in public, can spoil any gathering. And I never had a more wretched week-end than that I once passed through when I was entertaining a mother and daughter who never agree about anything. The mother is always trying to arrange the daughter's life for her, and the daughter is always resenting this interference in a way that makes all the by-standers feel most uncomfortable.

When the Maid is Cross.
Nothing in the world makes a more thoroughly disagreeable atmosphere than to have a sulky servant in the house. I know people who will keep that sort of a helper because she is such a good cook or "so capable."
For myself, I would rather put up with any kind of inefficiency than insufficiency of good temper.

Why Rich People Associate With Their Kind.
To go back to the opposite kind of tension—the sort that comes when people are too eager to please—I wonder if that is not one reason why people of wealth almost always associate with other people of wealth.
If they went about among "common"
people, would not the latter show by an unnatural demeanor the awe which wealth seems to put upon even those who are most determinedly democratic in theory. Some of them would be over-eager to please, and some would be aggressively anxious not to try to please, but how many would be nice and natural as they are to their own friends? Isn't that rather an interesting thought to you? It is to me—if I did think it.

SPIRITS.
Now some gifted men are telling of the life on
"the other shore,"
where our vanished friends are dwelling, knowing sorrow never more. Messages
from souls departed, come
across the silent
void, and the dead seem cheery
and hearted, at their useful tasks employed. And the news seem fine and dandy, that in realms beyond the stars shades still have their smokes and brands, and are not denied cigars. Men of worldwide reputation, Savant Lodge and Author Doyle, have with ghosts held conversation, at the hour of midnight oil. Phantoms told what they were doing in the land where time is not,
told of chores they were performing,
and of fun that hit the spot. Nothing that they've said enlightens, clears the mystery of doom; nothing that they hand us brightens any aspect of the tomb. Johnsing dies and goes to Aeldn and he talks with mortals here, but the things he says
are laden with the puff atmosphere.
I would hail with veneration any clear and vibrant word, any honest revelation that's not trifling or absurd.

Political Notes.

The flowing tide is with the popular candidates of the Liberal Progressives and will swell into a tremendous wave of enthusiasm before polling day arrives. All reliable accounts from St.
Barbe district tell of the sure election of Capt. Kean. Coakerism no longer rules the roost in that section of the country.

Intelligent Newfoundland will never consent to be ruled by such a pair as Squires and Coaker. To do otherwise would be to degrade the intelligence of our people, but fortunately this will not happen.

Hon. John Stone is meeting with great encouragement from all parts of Trinity Bay, which indicates that Coaker has lost his grip on the fisherman of that district.

As a prominent Liberal of St. John's was wont to express it, it is preposterous in the extreme to think that the voters of this city would tolerate to be represented by the nominees of Squires and Coaker.

When the Squires "barrel" is empty and no lure there's to get, then the heeler will be broken and won't have a dime to bet, but just now when there is plenty, you will meet him on the street poking dollars in your faces
and fox-trotting on your feet.

One of the best liked sweater styles
is the tuxedo.

We've had his picture taken a dozen times or more.
We've got him as a baby in the dresses that he wore.
We've got him with his mother, and
we've pictured him with me.
But the camera's only seen him in the way he ought to be:
And I'd like to have his photo as he really is to-day.
With the glorious dirt upon him that he's gathered in his play.

We've had his picture taken when his garments all were trim.
And his face was fixed and solemn,
but they don't resemble him.
For they do not show the twinkle in those roguish eyes of his,
And they don't portray the rascal as he most always is—
He is slick and solemn sometimes in his white and starched shirt.
But his natural condition is to grin
through grime and dirt.

I wish I were a painter, I would canvas him to-day
in those soiled and tattered garments which he wears when he's at play.
I would paint him in the knickers
which have sagged onto his shins,
And the shirt waist clinging to them
by the grace of safety pins.
And I'd try to catch the glory of that smile from ear to ear.
When the dirt is thick upon him and his face is just a smear.

His mother says we mustn't, but I still insist and say That we ought to have him pictured as he really is to-day.
For I know no sight that's finer for a man to look upon
Than a happy grinning youngster
when his two front teeth are gone;
And when I come home at evening
and he answers to my call,
I just grab him up and kiss him, for
I love him—dirt an' all.

Coaker's Astounding Weakness Now Becomes Manifest.

To those who have been following the trend of political events during the past few months, the recent messages telling of Coaker's failure to get even a good hearing in Bonavista, will come as no surprise. That they are correct is attested by the letter which appears in another column from a reliable resident of Bonavista town, who was present at the meeting, and who describes in detail just what happened. Following upon Coaker's turn-down at Bonavista came the news of the fizzle out of his meeting at Hant's Harbor. We learn from trustworthy sources that no cheers were given him, that no guns were fired, and that when his meeting had finished, he crept off in his motor boat under cover of darkness. It must be remembered that Bonavista and Hant's Harbor have been always regarded by Coakerites as two of their chief strongholds. It was believed that the people of these two places stood solid behind Coaker and the Union, and that they would literally "tear up the square" in vying with each other to do him honor and reverence. And what do we find? That, on the contrary, his meetings are poorly attended, that no enthusiasm is shown amongst those who do turn up to hear him, mainly from curiosity and a lack of somewhere else to put in the night, and that he does not receive those grand receptions which are the delight of his soul, but has to steal away from his own strongholds when night descends.

As we have said, to people who have been following the political situation closely, this is only what might have been expected, but to most folks who read it, this news comes with staggering surprise. That the mighty Coaker cannot get a decent hearing even in his own fastnesses is indeed a revelation; but it is a very gratifying one to all who have the real interests of the country at heart. It shows that even the members of the F.P.U. are at last waking up to the fact that Coaker is not all that he professes to be; that he has not their interests at heart, but his own; that he is using the power and influence of the Union to advance his own personal pride and ambition, and is prepared to let nothing stand in the way of achieving this object and making himself the absolute and sole dictator of the public affairs of Newfoundland. The F.P.U. men are also coming to see just what this will mean for the Union and themselves. They know that no man can serve two masters, and that it is impossible for Coaker to satisfactorily serve their interests and at the same time attend to Union affairs. They are also aware that Coaker is a good organizer, but is apt to be carried away by his impulsive nature, which leads him into the formulation of all sorts of impossible schemes and plans. He gets smitten with every kind of crazy notion, which must be carried out on the spur of the moment, without consideration as to the means by which it is to be done or the end to which it will lead.

He is now bitten by the bug of guaranteeing fish prices and wants the Government to fix a price of $12 for Shore and $10 for Labrador fish. But the fishermen are naturally asking themselves, why does not Coaker fix the price himself, and keep it maintained at that figure. He has boasted in the past of having been able to raise fish prices, and compel the merchants to pay whatever figure suited him. Now, forgetting that he is giving himself away, and ignorant of the fact, apparently, that he is destroying the fishermen's belief in him, he wants the Government to fix the prices and maintain them. This revelation of his past imposture and fictitious claims of being able to keep up the price of fish has had a staggering effect on the morals of his Union supporters who had come to look upon him as one who could almost make the winds obey his will, but who is now revealed as a fakir and impostor of the worst type.

Then, again, his attitude on Conscription has swept away completely the little shred of faith which his followers had in him. He promised them emphatically that he would oppose Conscription, and he did oppose it—until he saw a chance to serve his own personal ambition by joining the National Government. And then, what happened? Why, just what would have been expected of a man of Mr. Coaker's type. He immediately became a confirmed supporter of Conscription. He voted for it in defiance of the pledge which he had given his followers that he would not do so. He thrust compulsory service down their throats, and took away from their boats and nets and fishing grounds the very men he had promised would not be molested. Not content with that, however, Mr. Coaker as a member of the National Government, was a party to having a squad of soldiers with rifles and fixed bayonets, sent to Bonavista town in order to drag to St. John's young men who had refused to comply with the Act, thinking their faith in Mr. Coaker was still secure, and that he would carry out his pledges to them, and see that they were allowed to continue their avocations in peace. This was Mr. Coaker's great betrayal of the fishermen who had trusted him. This was how he requited their faith and confidence. And in the face of his record on this and other matters, he has now the nerve to ask them for their support. No wonder he is getting the cold shoulder from those who were his most ardent followers six years ago. He is daily finding that his little lease of power is running short, and that it will not be renewed. He has betrayed his own supporters, and he must now take the consequences.

From all the other northern districts the news is the same. The fishermen are tired of Coaker's bluff and bombast. They realize that all his boastings are but empty vapourings, sound and fury, signifying nothing. His promises to them are unfulfilled. He is as unstable as the wind and no one can tell just what he is going to do next, or what crazy scheme he may be hatching to spring on the country. He has had a chance to make good and has failed signally. The Union doesn't want failures in its ranks, much less at its head. And that is why Coaker's hold on the north has slackened. He has proved untrustworthy; he has abused their confidence; and he has been an enemy to their best interests. The hour of his downfall is at hand, and on November 3rd he will receive his just deserts from the fishermen whom he has betrayed.

SHRAPNEL.

Where was Hero Carter when the Skins went over?

Vote for Cashin, the man who saved the Union from insolvency last year, and incidentally the shareholders' money.

Oh! You Greek! !
It will take more than yeast-cakes to "rise" votes for the Coaker-Squires candidates in the East End of St. John's.

Watch Higgins, Vinicombe and Fox canter home with a two thousand majority.

Glimpse the West End defeat the would-be Premier—Squires.

And don't forget Mullaly!

The soldiers and reservists have no use for Coaker—the man who promised 1,000 for each branch of the service and then failed to come across.

If Cashin lost his head he didn't lose the public's money in guaranteeing the Eskasoni's fish.

Loyal old Burgeo & LaPoile will give Small the smallest vote ever recorded there.

The tide has changed in Trinity Bay, and Stone, Petty Officer Matthews and Carnell are sure of election.

If you are on the Coaker train, Get a transfer. You need not stay there and complain. Get a transfer.

The Progressive cars are passing through. And we'll find lots of room for you. Get a transfer.

Squires is stagnation; vote for Cashin and Progress.

'Ave you 'eard that 'Arris 'as been dropped from the 'Arbor Grace ticket, to make room for some one else? 'Alas poor 'Arris!

CASHIN WILL COME BACK!

October 4th Anniversary.

(By Capt. Leo Murphy.)
A clear moonlight night, a calm sea, a transport at anchor in the blue-lit waters of the harbor; who is there to-day who forgets the picture, Decka lined by stalwart forms in khaki drill, chattering merrily and singing the stirring, now familiar strains of "Tipperary"; wharves and quays filled by relatives and friends of the brave lads who made up the troops' human freight.

"The first Five Hundred"—the "Blue Puttees" lads; is there a man to-day of military age who would not have sacrificed his birthright to have tramped the dusty road from Pleasantville to make up these lusty, sun-bronzed flowers of Newfoundland manhood on board the good ship Florizel?

How quickly time flies. Five years have passed, and during that period many gallant sons of the old Dominion have crossed the ocean to reinforce the pioneer contingent. This October sees the British Empire under the bright sky of Peace; gone are the days of Gallipoli Sands, Flanders mud, France's Fields and German outposts; the survivors of the "Blue Puttees" have dropped the khaki for the blue of the civilian—The war is over. But lest we forget the premier offering of our beloved land, I pay this tribute to the "First Five Hundred," whose parting from us was all the greater wrench because we knew not what sacrifices, what sufferings were before them. The war is over. But lest we forget even with the silver dawning of that peace-for-Us, let us realize that there are many who in the silent watches of the night still hear the screams of the wounded.

ed and the shriek of the shell as it explodes on the parapet: LET US BE TRUE TO THEIR MEMORY OF OTHER DAYS AND RESPECT THE ANNIVERSARY THEY HONOR NOW!

A Business Proposition.

You must remember that running a Government is just like running a business. You have certain receipts and you must make certain expenditures.

It takes the keenest brains and business intellect therefore to make it successful. And every lover of his country should take a pride in Newfoundland, and in the business like showing it makes from year to year when accounts are final—in business parlance, when the Profit & Loss Account is made up.

In the present Government we have admitted the two shrewdest and most successful business men in the country. One is the Premier—Sir Michael Cashin—and the other is Sir John Crosbie. Both started as fishermen and were poor in every sense of the word. Through absolute business acumen and pluck they were wealthy and successful men before they reached the present standing which they occupy in the Government.

And then what of Hon. Albert E. Hickman? A poor boy from the West Coast who entered business life, and now at his prime is a self-made man and the owner of one of the largest businesses in the country.

Surely, no one can contend that Hon. J. R. Bennett is dependent on politics for a livelihood? Mr. Bennett is a man who owns and has conducted for years the largest business of its kind in Newfoundland.

And what of the Speaker of the House of Assembly—the Hon. W. J. Higgins! A poor boy but a very studious one with the result that in his school days he led the country in the Council of Higher Education examinations. Taking up law as a profession we find him in the thirties as admittedly the cleverest lawyer in his particular line in Newfoundland.

And so with Piccott, Moore, Walsh and the rest of the Cabinet—all the cleverest and most successful men the country has produced in our generation.

Therefore, as a business man, look the issue squarely in the face. Let us suppose for argument that a limited liability company were started to-morrow with such men in charge of its affairs as directors. Wouldn't you put every cent you own in it (as most of you did when the Victory Loan was floated) knowing full well that these highly trained and astute business men must make a highly paying proposition of it.

It's the same with our country. It has to progress, and be a success with such men in the Executive. We were never so prosperous! Never before could we boast of a Two Million Dollar surplus! Can we afford to take chances through a change in our directorate? THINK IT OVER.

CASHIN WILL COME BACK.

Cochrane St. Church.

REV. DR. BOND, PASTOR.
The service at Cochrane St. Church on Sunday night will be commemorative of the great work done by the Royal Navy and the Mercantile Marine in connection with the late war. The Pastor will preside, and the preacher will be Rev. Dr. Alfred Hall, Senior Chaplain to Royal Naval and Mercantile Marine Institutes in Canada. Dr. Hall, whose headquarters are in Montreal, is Dominion Representative of the Navy League of Canada, and Lord Strathcona Commissioner for the presenting of Nelson Shield made from copper of Nelson's flagship, "Victory" to the universities, colleges and schools of Canada. He is an enthusiastic and racy speaker, and has already captured the ears and hearts of the pupils of the colleges of the city, to all of which institutions he has presented shields. Come and hear him at Cochrane St. Church on Sunday and enjoy a treat. Naval men and Reservists are specially invited.

NOTICE.

A few copies of the "Letters of Mayolind" have been placed in our store for sale. It should not be necessary to say anything in commendation of these letters, which were read by little to point out for the present early months of the war. It would be bitter to point out for the present writer to dilate on the nobleness of character displayed by Frank T. Lind in the days when he went in and out among us. His character, as well as his letters, are a national possession. But one who knew him may be permitted to testify for the esteem in which he was held by all who were acquainted with him. His monument is in our hearts, but for those who come after some tangible memorial may well be set up, of one who was distinguished even among the distinguished hand of the Sons of Newfoundland, who fought and died for Christianity and Liberty in the great war; and it is to that purpose, we understand, that the profits on the sale of the book is to be devoted.

The Day of Atonement.

The Jewish festival, the Day of Atonement Yom Kippor, the holiest day in the Jewish calendar falls this year on the 4th day of October. The Hebrew date is the 10th of Tishri. The festival is ordained in Leviticus XVI 29-34 and XXIII 28-32. In both passages it is styled "A Sabbath of Solemn Rest."

The purpose of the Day of Atonement is clearly indicated by its name. It is intended to complete the work of the penitential season, begun on the first of Tishri (New Year), by finally reconciling the soul with the Almighty. Implicitly trusting in the Divine forgiveness, the Israelite believes that his contrition, if it be really sincere, will atone for him, will make him "at one" once more with his Heavenly Father. The day, then, is devoted to a supreme effort of penitence, to a mighty endeavor after communion with the Almighty. It is spent in prayer and meditation.

Splendid Meeting at Gambo & Middle Brook.

The Government candidates held two splendid meetings here and Middle Brook last night. They met fine reception; the people were most enthusiastic and there was not the slightest interruption, except by applause. The candidates left this morning for Greenspond.

A Whirlwind Yesterday.

Yesterday evening, what is generally called a whirlwind, was seen near Long Pond. It was comparatively calm at the time, but at the spot where the phenomenon occurred, dust, hay and other debris were gathered into a funnel shaped cloud, which ascended to a height of seventy or eighty feet. Whirlwinds are held in awe by some people who attribute to them the cause of the peculiar malady known as "a blast."

New Schooner for Grand Bank.

Messrs. S. Harris, Ltd., have purchased the new schooner "General Jacobs," the latest product of the Joseph McGill Shipbuilding & Transportation Co., Shelburne, N.S. She sailed for Grand Bank, Capt. Lawson Fox. In command, taking 1,500 hardwood plank, 35 hundred spruce logs, 1,000 feet spruce sides, 600 feet pine moulding, 6 hrs. apples, 10,000 feet spruce sheathing, 10 engines and fittings, 67 dories, 200 sets dory timbers, 200 sets caplin.

A Speed Hog.

Last evening, at 10.10, a green painted automobile was seen to pass down Renan's Mill Road from Rawlin's Cross to Circular Road at the speed of about fifty miles an hour. The owner of this car has been before court twice already in such matters, and if he doesn't want to be up again, he had better be more careful.

Business Booms in Halifax.

According to a letter received in the city from Mr. E. D. Halburton, late of the Daily Star, reportorial staff, and now studying at the Dalhousie, Halifax, Business College in that city trade is now booming and everything is looking bright. "Everywhere one looks," he says, one sees men paving streets, laying new street rails and building houses. At one place, not far from me, some five hundred new houses have just been completed and will be opened this week. Wages are high and living cheaper than in St. John's. A room can be obtained for $2.50 a week, while meals, at first-class restaurants, too, may be had cheaper, by nearly half, than in St. John's."

Shipping Notes.

S.S. Leuvim arrived in port this morning, 14 days out from Cadix, salt laden to Bowring Bros. The S. S. Graciana leaves Halifax to-day, for here. The S. S. Canadian Volunteer will leave here about the 10th of Oct. for Halifax taking a general cargo. The S. S. Saint Charles is at Harvey & Co's. pier taking bunker coal. She will sail for Anticosti to-day with a full cargo of fish. This ship is a new one and was recently purchased by a French firm. The S. S. Taunton leaves New York on Thursday next for her direct. S. S. Sable I. is due early Monday with a full general cargo from Sydney, C.B.

Personal.

Mr. T. P. Kemp, of Piacenta is at present in the city. Mr. R. B. St. John of Conception Mt., returned home by last evening's train. Mr. C. E. Hunt, who had been on a visit to Montreal, is a passenger by the incoming express.

Yesterday evening, what is generally called a whirlwind, was seen near Long Pond. It was comparatively calm at the time, but at the spot where the phenomenon occurred, dust, hay and other debris were gathered into a funnel shaped cloud, which ascended to a height of seventy or eighty feet. Whirlwinds are held in awe by some people who attribute to them the cause of the peculiar malady known as "a blast."

New Schooner for Grand Bank.

Messrs. S. Harris, Ltd., have purchased the new schooner "General Jacobs," the latest product of the Joseph McGill Shipbuilding & Transportation Co., Shelburne, N.S. She sailed for Grand Bank, Capt. Lawson Fox. In command, taking 1,500 hardwood plank, 35 hundred spruce logs, 1,000 feet spruce sides, 600 feet pine moulding, 6 hrs. apples, 10,000 feet spruce sheathing, 10 engines and fittings, 67 dories, 200 sets dory timbers, 200 sets caplin.

A Speed Hog.

Last evening, at 10.10, a green painted automobile was seen to pass down Renan's Mill Road from Rawlin's Cross to Circular Road at the speed of about fifty miles an hour. The owner of this car has been before court twice already in such matters, and if he doesn't want to be up again, he had better be more careful.

Business Booms in Halifax.

According to a letter received in the city from Mr. E. D. Halburton, late of the Daily Star, reportorial staff, and now studying at the Dalhousie, Halifax, Business College in that city trade is now booming and everything is looking bright. "Everywhere one looks," he says, one sees men paving streets, laying new street rails and building houses. At one place, not far from me, some five hundred new houses have just been completed and will be opened this week. Wages are high and living cheaper than in St. John's. A room can be obtained for $2.50 a week, while meals, at first-class restaurants, too, may be had cheaper, by nearly half, than in St. John's."

Shipping Notes.

S.S. Leuvim arrived in port this morning, 14 days out from Cadix, salt laden to Bowring Bros. The S. S. Graciana leaves Halifax to-day, for here. The S. S. Canadian Volunteer will leave here about the 10th of Oct. for Halifax taking a general cargo. The S. S. Saint Charles is at Harvey & Co's. pier taking bunker coal. She will sail for Anticosti to-day with a full cargo of fish. This ship is a new one and was recently purchased by a French firm. The S. S. Taunton leaves New York on Thursday next for her direct. S. S. Sable I. is due early Monday with a full general cargo from Sydney, C.B.

Personal.

Mr. T. P. Kemp, of Piacenta is at present in the city. Mr. R. B. St. John of Conception Mt., returned home by last evening's train. Mr. C. E. Hunt, who had been on a visit to Montreal, is a passenger by the incoming express.

BIOGRAPHIES OF SOME OF THE COAKER-SQUIRES CANDIDATES.

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir,—While there is no doubt that Mr. Leo Carter because of his youth and physique enjoys the questionable eminence of being the slacker connected with the Squires Party, it should not be forgotten that there are others in that aggregation who run him a close second, and ought not to be overlooked in the present emergency. The first of these I submit is the leader himself, Hon. R. A. Squires, who, as I have already pointed out, gave no services of any kind during the period of the war such as were given by other public men, and whose general indifference to the welfare of our fighting forces was such that his present associate, Mr. Coaker, introduced and forced through the Legislature an amendment to a Bill relating to Soldiers' Wills which expressly provided that Mr. Squires, as Minister of Justice, should do the legal work in connection therewith for nothing. Mr. Coaker arguing that otherwise Mr. Squires would make a charge for it as personal work and put the money in his own pocket. In view of what has come to light regarding Mr. Squires, and the way in which he picked up thousands of dollars, on the side, while holding a government portfolio, it will hardly be disputed that Mr. Coaker was taking this step showed an insight into Mr. Squires' inner consciousness which is almost uncanny.

Next to Mr. Squires in this regard I should place his colleague Doctor Campbell. That gentleman, a medical man having no family and being well endowed with this world's goods, might have done like many others of his profession in the Colony, volunteered and given service to the wounded and suffering lads from this country, or other parts of the Empire, who were pledging their blood and their lives in defence of all our ideals. But did Dr. Campbell do so? I do not need to answer the question. Every man and woman in the country knows that he did not, but that he remained here comfortably at home picking up every dollar he could get in the way of Government service, and apparently indifferent as to what fate befel the unfortunate victims who were battling bravely for our rights overseas.

Turning to St. John's East now there is, in addition to Mr. Carter, a Mr. Dan Curtin named as a candidate. Mr. Curtin is an unmarried man without any family obligations, and not older than men like Colonel George Carly, Major W. H. Greene, and others who, despite middle age, answered the call of King and Country, and did their part as best they knew in their respective spheres of activity in the war theatre. Where was Mr. Curtin that he did not answer the call? Presumably he was like Mr. Squires and the rest of that ilk, quite ready to shield himself behind the gallant young fellows who went overseas to play their part, and now when the crisis is over rushes into the foreground to seek for a seat in the Legislature.

Then let us take Mr. Warren, candidate for Fortune Bay in the Squires Party. Mr. Warren is a gentleman who before the war was a very prominent in connection with the C. L. L.

wore a uniform, and cut quite a figure, but when the call for duty came, Mr. Warren, unlike his comrade in that corps, Colonel Franklin, vanished into the background. Even if it be admitted that there were reasons preventing him from going overseas, he could surely have given substantial service at home through his knowledge of drilling recruits, and otherwise, but he was playing an ignominious part, as proved by the fact that as the Government threatened conscription early in 1918, Mr. Warren offered himself and secured a rejection badge.

Mr. Foote, the candidate for Burin, is another whose record is not clearer than that of those above mentioned. Mr. Foote is a legal contemporary of Colonel Carly and others, is unmarried, well endowed with this world's goods, and ought to have done something for his native land and the Empire of which it forms a part. But where was Mr. Foote during the past five years? Conspicuous by his absence from every form of war effort in which this country engaged, but now he is rushing forward, profusely proclaiming his readiness to take a place in the councils of the country, which he was not man enough to defend.

I have no doubt, Sir, that if I were to go over the list of the candidates of the so-called Liberal Reform, I could find a good many more whose cases would come within the scope of a criticism like this and who would add to the number of those whose failure in the great emergency would further justify the charge that the Opposition Party in the present election is justly entitled to be described as the "Slacker Party."

Yours truly,
AN OLD TIME LIBERAL.

"God Save the King" Revised.

"God Save the King" in its revised form was first sung in front of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, England, during the recent peace celebrations. This is the revised version:

God save our gracious King,
Long our noble Kings,
God save the King!
Send him victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Long to reign over us,
God save the King!

One realm of races four,
Blest more and evermore,
God save our land!
Home of the brave and free,
So in the silver sea,
True source of chivalry,
God save our land!

Kinsfolk in love and birth
From utmost ends of earth,
God save us all!
Bid strife and hatred cease,
Bid hope and joy increase,
Speed universal peace,
God save us all!

Bonavista Don't Want Coaker.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I attended the Coaker public meeting held in the lower part of the Orange Hall here on Saturday night past. About 9 p.m., the "big man" arrived with his two colleagues. One of his friends called for three cheers. About 30 or 40 responded, mostly boys. A man named Brown was Chairman. Abbott spoke first and tried to put up a bluff as to what he did for the returned soldiers, but most of his speech consisted of abuse of Hon. A. B. Morine. He spoke in this strain for about half an hour, after which he was followed by R. G. Winsor, who merely repeated Abbott's remarks with more abuse of Mr. Morine. There was nothing in their speeches but abuse and those who went to the meeting to hear what kind of policy the F.P.U. men had to put forward went away in disappointment and disgust.

Then the "big gun" Coaker came into action. Some of his friends called for three cheers when he stepped in front, but a look of despair came on his face when, instead of the expected applause, with which he used to be greeted here in former years, only one faint cheer was given by about a dozen of the audience. Then he began to speak, and at the commencement his voice was very low and discouraged until some one present shouted out, "give it more wind," when he flared up, lost his head, and, Sir, it's hardly safe to put on paper the remarks he made as to what should be done when the Government candidates came along. Then he got off a lot more abuse about Mr. Morine, which shows how scared he is of that gentleman. He spoke for about half an hour, and part of his remarks were devoted to an apology for what he had done about Conscription; but it all fell on deaf ears, because the people remember how when he joined the Government he sent down a squad of soldiers to this very town, with rifles and bayonets, to take away our young men from the fishery and put them in the army and navy, after he had faithfully promised he wouldn't do any such things without first consulting the people. Quite a number of people were so disgusted at his double-dealing that they went out while he was speaking. A returned soldier who was present in the audience asked him a question. Coaker's shopkeeper here, and another of his followers shouted out, "Put him out." This is the kind of treatment they endeavored to mete out to a brave lad who had gone overseas to fight for them. The rest of the audience were up in arms immediately at this dastardly attempt to attack a returned hero, and it looked for a while as if Coaker and his colleagues would suffer for their foolhardy conduct. They could not continue the meeting, and it had to be shut down there and then. Nearly all present were in favor of Morine and his men, and several times cheers were called for on their behalf, and given with a will. I wish Mr. Morine had been here to hear them; they would have gladdened his heart. Coaker is down and out here, and has no chance whatever. We are waiting for Mr.

Equally Responsible.

In flying over the fence and roosting in Mr. Coaker's back yard, the Hon. R. Anderson Squires must shoulder the responsibility for all that Coaker has said and done in the past, and that being the case, the Hon. Mr. Squires is equally responsible, with Mr. Coaker, for his opposition to the formation of the Newfoundland Regiment in the early days of the war. Perhaps however, Mr. Coaker has given his reasons for that, to Mr. Squires privately. Anyway here is what the Daily Star said about Mr. Coaker in its issue of March 31st, 1919. And we also ask—what will the answer be?

"During the past four years of the world's war, Hon. W. P. Coaker, has time and time again stated that when peace was established he would make public his reasons for opposing the formation of a Newfoundland Regiment, and that he would give this country a full explanation of his denunciations of ex-premier Morris for making such an offer to the Home authorities."

There has been no branch of either our Military, or Naval forces, that Mr. Coaker has not bitterly assailed during the past four years. Even that public-spirited body of citizens, known as the Newfoundland Patriotic Association, did not escape Mr. Coaker's uncouth denunciations or his journalistic billingsgate. The Ladies branch of this Patriotic movement, likewise, came in for his fiercest abuse, and, as we write we have before us some of his bitter and mean attacks on that body.

We think the least Mr. Coaker can do is to lay before the public the reason for his disloyal selfish conduct during the past four years. An explanation is due from him to those who in good faith accepted his word that he would vindicate his actions when the time to do so became opportune.

That time is now, and Mr. Coaker must make good or be forever branded an unworthy citizen of the British Crown.

No man should be allowed to hold a King's Commission who had year in and year out preached disloyalty, who has sowed the seeds of sedition, who has incited the fishermen of this country to open acts of hostility to established law, as has Mr. Coaker.

The Star hopes, that now the matter is brought to Mr. Coaker's attention, he will live up to his oft-repeated promise to explain his conduct and proclaim his reasons for denouncing the war activities of our loyal and patriotic citizens.

His failure to do so will have the effect of stamping upon the minds of the people the none too pleasant fact that Mr. Coaker, now a minister of the Crown, simply played the part of a selfish partisan politician who placed self and selfish interests above those of King and Country.

Now, then, what will Mr. Coaker's answer be?

The Origin of "Ich Dien."

"Ich Dien" refers to German words which for centuries have been the motto below the three ostrich feathers which form the crest of the Prince of Wales. These words were suppressed in Britain some time ago by Royal proclamation, and the plain Saxon substituted. However, the motto, "Ich dien," may be regarded to-day more than ever as a symbol of the triumph of allied arms over Germany, like the armor of a vanquished foe which in Medieval times the victorious knight claimed and displayed as evidence of his conquest.

Many Canadians made pilgrimages to Canterbury Cathedral during the war, and viewed the tomb of the Black Prince and the crested helmet and rusty cuirass which hang above it in the stillness of the ancient nave. This hero of Old England, son of Edward III, was that Prince of Wales whose knightly deeds won the crest and the German motto which have fallen to the soldier Prince of Wales, who recently visited Toronto, and too, faced the foe upon the fields of France and won his spurs.

"Ich dien." (I serve) the motto under the plume of ostrich feathers, was found in the helmet of John, King of Bohemia, slain in the battle of Cressy, when the English knights led by the Prince of Wales, clad in black armor, fought the chivalry of France, and in a terrible hand to hand encounter with lances, battle axes, swords and daggers, whose recitation in story books has thrilled generations of boys, gained a glorious victory. The battle took place on 28th August, 1346, almost 576 years ago. John, of Bohemia, was serving as a volunteer with the French army.

Edward, the Black Prince, in respect to his father, Edward III, who commanded the English army that day, although it was the Prince who won the battle, adopted the motto which has since been borne with the feathers by the heirs to the British crown.—The Masonic Sun.

The Harp.

The harp on which David loved so well to play, was the national emblem of Ireland centuries before Christ and of down through the ages for 2,000 years, it was seen floating on her castles; it was stamped upon her shields and upon her coin. That harp and its angel guardian was the only standard she would own until the union of the three realms of England, Ireland, and Scotland in one kingdom. Then the harp is seen with its angel-protector associated with nine lions, and an unicorn or unicorn. Then the cross of St. Andrew, the cross of St. George, and the cross of St. Patrick became the Union Jack.

If you trace that word "Jack" to its origin, you will find the French Jacques, the Latin Jacobus, and the Hebrew Jacob. The "Union" that flag represents was the union of Jacob's posterity in the "Isles of the West."

Hayden says, "The Cumry of Wales had the harp on their coat of arms, which they received from Ireland." The harp was brought into Ireland by the Tuatha de Danaan, B.C. 715 (see books of Leacan and Ballymote).

That crowned lion is no other than the lion of the Tribe of Judah. The other eight upon our standard may represent the young nations, or colonies, in loving alliance to the power of the old lion—"the young lions of Tarshish." Tell to the world that our heraldry, so proudly borne by army and navy, was given millenniums ago by the God of Israel to our forefathers, and has been handed down from generation to generation, as a grand security if His abiding presence with us and with our children for ever.

I used the word "Britain," rather than the minor word England; for Britain, like Israel, of old, is formed out of many Tribes, all resting graciously under one flag. The national character is powerful because composite; and England, Ireland, and Scotland have contributed to her glory. If England gave Britain a Nelson, Ireland gave Britain a Wellington, and Scotland gave Britain a Colin Campbell. Each country increases the glory of the other.—Rev. W. H. Poole, D.D.

New Relief For Constipation,
"LES FRUITS"
Physicians agree that with the modern habits of living, constipation is likely to be always with us. They also agree that the constant use of any drug for the relief of constipation is exceedingly unwise for two reasons. First, a drug constantly used loses its effect and requires a constantly increased dose. Second, because the constant use of any drug is bad anyway.
So the cry is constantly going up from the constipated, "What can we do?" It will be interesting to a great many to know that an answer has been found in the re-discovery of a method which was used with great success by our Forefathers, and in Arabia far back in the twelfth century. The food is called "Les Fruits" because it is composed entirely of figs, dates, prunes, raisins and the leaves of each with the substitution of the Alexandra leaf for the raisin leaf. The taste is pleasant, if not to say delicious, and the effect is exceedingly satisfactory. Try it and be convinced.

The Fighting Trio.
BIG MEETING ON MONDAY NIGHT. At the Casino Theatre on Monday night, "The Two Thousand Majority Team"—Hon. W. J. Higgins, Councilor N. J. Vinnicombe, and Mr. Cyril J. Fox will address the electors of St. John's East.
Hon. Mr. Higgins will introduce his two colleagues to the electorate and will expound the policy of the Liberal Progressive Party which so vitally interests the eastern section of the capital. Councilor Vinnicombe (always the workmen's friend and counsellor) will outline the new Party's policy in relation to labour.
The silver tongued young orator—Mr. Fox—will make his initial campaign address and it is sure to be a masterpiece. The evils of Coakerism and the bohemism of Squires will be laid bare to the electorate who will then be able to judge for themselves whether the district is to progress with Cashin or stagnate with Squires.

Union Strength Gone to Pieces.
Representative fishermen from the north have brought along the news that the erstwhile Coaker strength has gone to pieces, and that he will be whipped badly at the polls on the 3rd November. They state that the big majority of the Union fishermen have turned away from him in disgust because of his plain-to-be-seen inability to advance the price of fish, or lower the price of provisions. He is now up against the store-keepers who he can't give a five cent piece for fish above the present ruling price, and that his truck or bartering system has no attraction for the fish seller who is looking to-day for a better price for fish and cheaper prices for the goods they require.
Coaker would be all right if a big boom took place in fish prices abroad, as he would then have something to shout about and to claim some of the credit for, but the cold bare fact is that he has no such prospect. He has dug deep into the pockets of those fishermen who have thousands of dollars to put up the price for their less fortunate brothers, he will have to hide himself before long or suffer the consequences of all his ridiculous preaching. Fishermen, however, who have money to spare are not going to part with it to help him to buy fish at high prices unless he can show them that he can sell that fish abroad at prices that will ensure getting their money back. As Coaker however can only sell fish in foreign countries the same as any of our fish dealers, and as purchasers abroad are unable to offer better prices because other countries are rushing in fish to them at rates that prevent them from giving us more, so the bottom line begins to drop out of Coaker's boat that he can put up the price of our staple. Here is where the fishermen's eyes begin to open wide and this is how they can size up Coaker as a bombastic demagogue upon whom it would be folly to further rely on. As a consequence the F.P.U. men are dropping away from him in hundreds and the probabilities are they will "beat up" the Union under Coaker's rule and reform under new leadership, selecting a man like Hon. John Stone who will lead them by reliable common sense methods. This election, therefore, is likely to see the last of Coaker and his candidates.

On the Sad Death of the Prospects of the Squires-Coaker Trio in St. John's East:
The crowd was small at the British Hall—
That went to hear Squires' blowhards speak,
And all hands knew, when they got through,
That the yeast-cakes' chances were very weak.
The room was too small to hold 'em all—
So out they went in the chilly air.
They had to substitute ash-tubs
For the regular platform, table and chair.
The night was cold, and the crowd so bold
Were blue and wished that safe below
They had some nips from Campbell's scrips,
To warm them up to enjoy the show.
Now brave George Shea got up to say
He was sick and sore, or he'd run himself;
But his chance is marred, by ill-health debarred,
From getting his hands on the Government pelf.
He introduced, with flattering boost
The candidates of the Coaker band,
The stalwarts three, who think they see
A chance to rob their native land.
The "Barge" so stout, first rose to spout,
He told many things while he held the floor,
But not of the "wiggings" he'll get
From Higgins, On November 3rd, when the fight is o'er.
Then Leo Carter, the youngest martyr
To be sacrificed for the Coaker crew,
Said he had a mission, 'twas his ambition
To line his pockets, ere he got through.
Next Daniel Curtin said he felt certain
His team would win, if they didn't get beat;
He threw out his chest and shouted his best,
But was easy to see he had cold feet.
But Dan, the Joker, didn't mention
Coaker, Neither did Bartlett, nor Leo Slim,
They too well knew, the craven crew,
The crowd would tear them limb from limb.
For Coaker's device, to fix a price
On fish, and the Government pay for all,
Would end in a smash, and another
"Crash" While honest men would go to the wall.
The ghastly features of these three creatures
Still haunt my mind as I pen these notes,
For they know full well, their political knell,
Will be toll'd in November by the people's votes.

A Word of Appreciation.
Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir,—I am sure every teacher, whether in favor of the present government or not, appreciates the interest taken by the Government in increasing the Teacher's salaries. True the salaries of teachers have been too inadequate to meet the many demands made upon them through the increased High Cost of Living, but we expect better things in the near future. What with our present increase and the result that will be obtained from the Commission the Government will appoint to inquire into the more deserving cases, such as length of service render, we feel hopeful. We are expecting the Commission will see that Teachers will receive a greater Bonus according to the number of years they teach. A clerk who first goes to work in an office does not receive the salary which an experienced Book-Keeper would demand. So it ought to be with the teachers; not because a person has passed the First Grade or the Associate should he receive from a Board the same salary as one who spent ten or fifteen years in the service. Again the case of married teachers ought to receive some consideration and given a separate Bonus so that they might be able to support their families decently. If something like this were done, there would be some inducement for teachers to remain in the profession.
We feel confident that the Present Government, which is going to be returned with an overwhelming majority, will see that the Cause of Education will receive a new impetus. Teachers will be better paid thus enabling them to put more interest and vim in their work.
The Government Candidates have not yet been announced for this District, but we are hoping Sir Michael Cashin will make a good selection, and they will be sure to win.
Whatever chance R. A. Squires' Party had it has vanished since it has been learned that he has joined with Coaker, the man whom he has condemned and ridiculed time and again. It's enough for one to read the statements about each other which has recently been published in the Evening Telegram.
And since Sir M. P. Cashin's disclosure of the Escason affair the fishermen can see what confidence can be placed in Coaker and how the revenue of the country would be hampered by him if his party should secure a majority in the House of Assembly.
Yours truly

CASHIN WILL COME BACK!

To the Electors of Trinity District.

GENTLEMEN:—

Having been selected as the candidates for the Liberal-Progressive Party for election to represent you in the House of Assembly, we wish to put before you in addition to those contained in the Manifesto of our leader,
Sir Michael Cashin, certain matters which concern particularly the District of Trinity, and for which it is our wish and intention to work, and in which we ask your support.

First, we are not concerned with the past, only in as far as its failures and inconsistencies with which we are burdened and under which we are now
labouring affect us.

Let the dead past, therefore, bury its own dead, and let us, one and all,
look to and work together for the future so that we may make things better, not only for ourselves, but for our sons' sons; not only for Trinity Bay,
but for the welfare of the whole Dominion, which we are proud to call our own.

We do not propose to waste our time or yours in useless recriminations or senseless abuse. The war has taught us many things and brought others
the immense advance which has arisen therefrom. In the demand and desire for fish foods in all parts of the world, Hiberno Newfoundland has concerned itself only with cod, but now we have before us a chance to exploit and develop some of the other valuable fishes which surround our shores.

Amongst these are turbot. Trinity Bay may be regarded as the home of these splendid fish, and we look forward to and we are preparing to assist and foster this new industry, which will without doubt prove an easy and remunerative way of increasing the earning power of our people. It has been tried only in a very small way to date, but we are taking this fishery up very seriously, and look for good results in the near future.

As you are already informed, we have taken up the matter of the extension of the railway in the District, and this policy will be adhered to by all three of us. Railways are admittedly the greatest developing factor
in any country, and the decentralization of trade, quicker transportation facilities and better commercial connections with the markets of Canada and the United States of America, both for our imports and exports, cannot but be of benefit to the people of Trinity Bay, a benefit which must necessarily increase each year as time goes on.

Conditions on the Labrador Coastal Services have been poor both for freight and passengers, and for the past five years, on account of the war, incapable of much improvement. We are now rapidly returning to more normal conditions, and we shall insist on better rates, better accommodations
and more suitable steamers.

Much hardship and loss is yearly sustained by the killing of cattle by the railway trains and by the delay in receiving compensation from the Company. We welcome the proposed compensation Board in this respect and shall assist it when possible, and in every case insist upon the fulfilment of its duties to the people sustaining damages.

No one knows better than we do the necessity for increased hospital accommodation in the Island and for a distribution of hospitals throughout the Districts. The sufferings and unnecessary pain inflicted in getting sick and injured people to St. John's in all seasons of the year, can to a very great extent be obviated by the establishment of District hospitals.
These we will support to the very best
of our ability.

about to dawn for Newfoundland and for Trinity Bay.

We realize that a much more important place is due to us as the Oldest Colony in Britain's Great Empire, both politically and commercially and we are determined to do everything possible to help in attaining and maintaining that position.

When elected as your Representa-

Listen Here.

O many garden plots are short
Of many things this fall,
The cabbage patch has scarce a heart.

The turnips spare and small—
The canker got the tubers ruined—
The lettuce ran to seed—
There's nothing in profusion grown Except the noxious weed.

The rhubarb, that we thought would help
Us through the year with jam,
(That is an item pretty large,
Dear Mr. Telegram);
Got blasted, and our savory's failed,
There's nothing good in sight;
The frost has nipped most everything
The lightning failed to blight.

But what I wonder at is this,
While other products rot,
We've an unprecedented crop
Of loyal patriots (?)
They're coming out of every street
To lead us to "The Day"
Long promised to this waiting land
And long time on the way.

When Labor shall no more depend—Industries shall thrive,
And fishermen and farmer-kings
Rejoice that they're alive;
What baleful fate is on the land
That crops worth while should miss,
While flourishing like garden weeds
We see a crop like this?

"When I was young in ages past"
I hooted o'er and o'er,
How grubs and bugs and other pests
About one year in four,
And later I have learned to know
That there's another pest,
More malignant and more baneful far,
More deadly than the rest;

Such is the swarm that now attacks
The sense of Newfoundland;
The air is dizzy with their buzz,
But well we understand
That "humble politicians" game,
Once more they'll get the sack,
The Country has decided, Hark!
"YES, CASHIN WILL COME BACK!"
—Sunny Jim.

At the Majestic.

Miss Withers' interpretation of classic dancing at the Majestic Theatre last night just charmed the entire hall, and at both shows she was en-coored and obliged to repeat. Miss Withers is a dainty little lady who is as artistic as she is pretty, and her nymph-like movements were watched closely by the packed hall without pause. She undoubtedly took with everyone, and the hope that, at some future time, she will repeat the performance, was expressed on all sides.
The picture show was also a good one.
Jack Pickford in "Sandy" being splendid. Taking the part of a young, impulsive Irish boy just over to America,
he was very good. A Ford Educational film, entitled, "A Little Bit of Heaven," was voted as the best of its kind
yet. To-night the same show will be shown, and Mrs. Gordon Christian will sing.

A Final Reply.

"Fearlessness in expression," as Mr. James styles it, prompts me to make this reply.

Under date July 13th, 1918, the following statements appeared in "The Industrial Worker" relative to Mr.
E. Woods, of the Firemen's Union.
(I am told on reliable authority that Mr. M. J. James himself wrote it, and it was written in reply to an article that Mr. Woods published in the Evening Advocate of July 5th, 1918.)
In the course of his article, Mr.
James, referring to Mr. Woods, says:
"A hankering after the plaudits of the press is a spirit that is unworthy of any truly sincere union worker; as regards the man who blows his own horn through the papers, we will not express any opinion, as such a man always comes out at the place where he blows from, that is the small end of the horn." . . . Again:
"In the second place even if so disposed we could not give any credit to Mr. Woods, simply because he did not get it for the men." . . .
"Mr. Bennett took up the men's case (after being sent for by the company's officials) and after much discussion with the Company's official,
succeeded in getting the best offer
they were prepared to make. . . .
Mr. Woods was then sent for and informed of the offer made. This offer
Mr. Woods advised the men to accept." . . . Had we wanted to give credit to anyone we would have been inclined to give it to Mr.
Bennett." (The foregoing relates to the increase to the firemen on the S.S. Prospero and Portia at that time.) In the same article we read:
"If Mr. Woods' wants to rush into print again perhaps he would tell ALL about the case of the firemen at the hospital. Does he want to take any credit for his actions in this matter?"

Apparently fearlessness in expression is not synonymous with consistency. In the article quoted, Mr.
James insinuated strongly that Mr.
Woods was not a true Union man and that Mr. Woods' action in the hospital affair was exceedingly questionable.
What has happened "fearless Sir,"
to change your opinions?
The scab question certainly taunts
Mr. James, but in contradiction to what he said in Tuesday's Telegram may I say that Mr. James tendered his resignation to the Board of Supervisors on March 26th, 1919, said resignation to come into effect, one month later, or on April 25th. (I have a copy of the resignation before me as I write.) I was not approached on the matter until some time in April. Is Mr. James so illogical as to call my action in accepting a position which he had resigned, scabbing?
If so, then there is something materially wrong.

Lady, I again state that Mr.
James took back the word "scab" as applied to me (outwardly at least),
in the L.S.P.U. Hall on or about April 25th, 1919.

Alring personal grievances through the press is not my forte, and I close this discussion (as far as I am concerned) by advising Mr. James to use logic and consistency as well as fearlessness in expression.

S. J. HEFFERTON,
Editor "Industrial Worker,"
Oct. 3, 1919.

[Editor's Note.—This correspondence, not having any particular bearing on national matters, and being more or less personal, must, so far as the Telegram is concerned, now cease.]

Forty Years in the public Service—the Evening Telegram.

From a recent Magazine we have copied the following. We only need to add, Papers to suit all requirements can be had at our Store.

1. Thou shalt heed the call of Plain quiet wall papers and white woodwork wherever such is possible.
2. Thou shalt lighten dark rooms by the use of light-hued, yellow-tinted wall paper, that suggests the blessed sunshine.
3. Thou shalt see that thy walls and thine own personality are not too forward, but modestly retiring.
4. Thou shalt use no large-patterned wall papers against which to hang thy pictures. The one will kill the other.
5. Thou shalt have no centerpiece or cornerpieces upon thy ceiling, but only a very nearly plain expanse of light color.
6. Thou shalt have thy fill of bright tints, and delicate designs for bedrooms and boudoirs, but for drawing-rooms, dining-rooms, libraries and halls, thou shalt be compelled to use less frivolous papers.
7. Thou shalt, when the ceiling is not too high, run the paper of the side wall up to the ceiling, putting the border just below the angle.
8. Thou shalt not panel the walls of a small room, except it be above a mantelpiece, a sideboard or a bookcase, where a bit of tapestry, a mirror or a picture may be held in place by strips of moulding.
9. Thou shalt use attention-compelling cut out borders, or conventionally designed strips for divisions between walls and ceiling.
10. Thou shalt remember at all times that thy wall paper is but a background against which to show thy pictures, thy furniture, and thy friends.
