

Eczema Covered Arms of This Healthy Child

Mrs. Alex. Marshall, Sprucedale, Ont., writes—

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT
GERALD S. DOYLE, Distributor.

"When my little son was three months old he broke out in sores on his chest and arms. We did all we could to heal these terrible sores, but nothing did him much good. Finally I ventured on a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and kept on using it. At last we were rewarded by the steady healing of the sores, and finally he was completely relieved of them. He is now three years old, and has had no return of the trouble since."

The Countess of Landon.

CHAPTER XXIV.

"As far as you can see—up to that hill there the estate runs. So, you see, we get to look upon the people as ours. I mean—she corrected herself hastily—"by 'we' the Landons—you, for example, dear."

Madge said nothing; but she pondered over this new instance of the greatness of the family into which she had married as the ponies rattled along up hill and down dale.

Presently they turned on to George Common.

"Here we are," said Irene. "I love this place. One can breathe here even on the hottest day. Not that it is hot now. Are you well wrapped up, Madge? What would Royce say if I let you catch cold?"

Madge smiled. "I should have to try hard to catch cold. I never had a cold in my life," she said, simply.

Irene looked at her admiringly. "I know you must be strong, dear," she said, "by the way you sprang on that coat and held it."

"Yes," said Madge, smiling ruefully, "I am as strong as one of those savages Lord Seymour was telling us about last night, and as ignorant."

"Seymour. You mustn't call him 'lord,'" said Irene. "If you don't like Seymour, you might say 'Landon,' or 'the earl.' He is your brother dear."

"Yes," said Madge. "But it is so hard to realize it yet. I will try."

Irene slowed the ponies. "There is madame's pensioner," she said, nodding toward the little cottage on the edge of the common. "Would you like to see her? She's a very nice woman, but very nervous and timid. She has had a very unhappy life. I think, though I don't know anything about it. She is always pleased to see us. Shall we go?"

Madge assented, and Irene drove to the cottage gate.

Martha Hooper came out, dressed not in her usual neat and humble style.

She flushed and grew pale by turns when she saw that Irene was not alone; and her thin, worn face grew troubled and anxious when Irene said: "How do you do, Mrs. Hooper? I have brought Mrs. Landon, Mr. Royce's wife, to see you."

Mrs. Hooper made a courtesy, and opened the gate with a trembling hand. "Thank you, miss. Will you come in, ladies? I—I have a cup of tea ready."

Irene always found it best to be quick and almost abrupt with Mrs. Hooper. It is the best way with most nervous people, whose nervousness is increased by sympathy.

"Thank you, Mrs. Hooper. Yes, we should like a cup of tea. It is the very thing."

Mrs. Hooper called to a boy who stood staring at them to mind the ponies, and, preceding the two girls, opened the door of the usual cottage parlor.

"If you will go and sit down, ladies," she said, "I will come in in one moment. The tea is made."

The parlor had the ordinary unused look and smell of such apartment, and Irene said, with a smile:

"How much more comfortable we should have been beside the fire in the kitchen! But poor Mrs. Hooper would have had a fit if I had proposed such a thing, and—why?"

She stopped, and picked up something from the ground.

"Why, yes, it is madame's pearl bracelet!"

"Madame—the countess's," said Madge.

Irene nodded. "Yes; how strange!"

Mrs. Hooper entered at the moment with a tea-tray, and as she caught sight of the bracelet in Irene's hand the tea-tray banged down on the table with a thud, and her face went wax-like in its pallor.

"This is madame's bracelet, is it not, Mrs. Hooper?" said Irene.

The woman hesitated for an instant, then she said in a low voice, which she was evidently trying to make careless:

"Yes, miss; her ladyship must have dropped it when she was here the other day. Perhaps you would kindly take it to her ladyship?"

Now, Madge would have thought a little of the incident as Irene evidently did but for these words. "The other day," for in a flash she remembered seeing the bracelet on the countess's arm last night. Could it have been to this cottage that the countess was stealing in the darkness of the night? and if so, why should this woman try and conceal the visit?

CHAPTER XXV.

Irene put the bracelet in her pocket, and Mrs. Hooper stood by, her hands meekly folded, while they took their tea.

Every now and then she raised her eyes and looked at them, and Madge once or twice caught the glance directed to herself, and it seemed to her that there was something more than respectful curiosity in it—a kind of pity and troubled wistfulness.

She felt the gaze of the sad, frightened eyes oppressive, and she got up and strolled to the open door.

Mrs. Hooper looked after her. "Mr. Landon is a very beautiful young lady, miss," she said, timidly.

"Yes, indeed," assented Irene, warmly; "she is lovely. Did you ever see such hair and eyes?"

"No, miss; they're wonderful. I suppose Mr. Royce Landon is very fond of her?"

Irene stared at her with a faint blush. "Of course he is!" she said, with surprise at the question.

"I beg your pardon, miss," faltered Mrs. Hooper, confusedly. "I was not thinking of what I was saying. As you say, he must be very fond of her, being so beautiful—fond, and proud."

Irene was silent a moment, for there still seemed a note of interrogation in Mrs. Hooper's tone.

"By the way, Mrs. Hooper, you haven't seen Mr. Royce?" she remarked.

Mrs. Hooper nervously unfolded and folded her hands again. "No; not for some years, miss. No, not at all, I think."

Irene looked at her. The most ordinary question seemed to upset this weak-nerved woman.

"Perhaps you are thinking of his brother Seymour?" she said.

Mrs. Hooper looked up quickly. "No, miss; I—I've seen Lord Landon."

"Of course," said Irene. "He was here the other day with me, you remember?"

"Yes, miss, I remember," assented Mrs. Hooper in a low voice, and as Irene rose, she got the tea-things together. Then she stopped and glanced toward the door where Madge stood, her supple figure standing out against the sunlight. "About that bracelet, miss. Perhaps you'd be so kind as to give it to her ladyship quietly?"

"Quietly?" echoed Irene, raising her brows.

Mrs. Hooper colored. "I—I mean to give it to her when she's alone. She—she might feel annoyed at leaving so valuable a piece of jewelry behind her."

Irene laughed as she buttoned her jacket. "You need not be uneasy on that score, Mrs. Hooper," she said. "Her ladyship will not be annoyed in the least. She has so many bracelets that I doubt whether she would have missed this—at any rate, for some time. I think we must be going now. Thank you for the cup of tea. Is there anything I can do for you—anything I can send you from the Towers? Are you fond of reading? Would you like to have some books? You must find it very dull here, all alone."

Irene was always wanting to do something for everybody round and about the Towers. But Mrs. Hooper declined the offer.

"No, thank you, miss," she said. "No, I don't feel it dull. I like the quiet of it."

The girls got into the pony-carriage, and as Irene drove off, she said:

"What do you think of Mrs. Hooper, Madge? Poor woman! she is dreadfully nervous and timid, isn't she?"

Madge was silent a moment, then she said:

"Yes. Why does she look so frightened? And if he is so timid, why does she live in such a lonely spot?"

"I don't know," said Irene. "She is an old servant of her ladyship, as I told you, and she always declares that she likes to live as she does; but I think I must persuade madame to send one of the younger girls to live with her—that is," she added, quickly, "you must persuade her."

"I?" said Madge, opening her eyes. "Yes, dear; it is you who must do that kind of thing now. You are her daughter-in-law, you know."

Madge smiled sadly. "I am afraid the countess would not be persuaded by me to do anything, and I should be more nervous than Mrs. Hooper if I were to attempt to persuade her ladyship, especially after—after this morning."

Irene changed the subject quickly, and gradually wooed a smile back to Madge's face, and the two girls were driving along happily enough, when suddenly Royce came riding down upon them from a lane.

A Beautiful Cream.

Three Flowers Vanishing Cream is a non-greasy cream, but unlike many vanishing creams, it is so constituted as not to be too drying to the skin. It is instantly absorbed by the pores, leaving a smooth, velvety surface. Any shine there may be on the skin, disappears as this cream is absorbed. It protects the skin from wind and cold, and prevents chapping.

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. The doctor said my only relief was an operation. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and tried the Vegetable Compound and the Sarsaparilla Wash, and they surely did wonders for me. I feel fine all the time now, and am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish." Mrs. E. B. Boman, 1120 Ash St., Louisville, Ky.

Good Citizens Obey all Laws

WASHINGTON, April 11.—"The good citizen obeys all laws with which he comes in contact. He does not single out for observance those that he likes, rejecting those that he dislikes," the Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, of Catholic University, declared at the opening here of the College and University Conference in Behalf of Law Observance and Citizenship.

"The outstanding need of our country to-day is a genuine patriotism of peace," said Dr. Ryan. The duties of patriotism in time of peace he defines as "the duties of the subject, the duties of the voter and the duties of the public official."

TROUBLED WITH ECZEMA YEARS

In Pimples Between Knee and Ankle, Itched Badly, Cuticura Healed.

"I was troubled with eczema for three or four years. It broke out in pimples between my knees and ankles and itched badly, especially at night. The irritation caused me to scratch and the scratching caused eruptions. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it helped me. I purchased more, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Alice Clark, Marshfield, Va., July 15, 1923.

Keep your skin clear by using Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Tablets for every-day toilet purposes. Touch pimples and itching, if any, with Cuticura Ointment. Bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Dry and dust lightly with Cuticura. Advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment, dated July 15, 1923.

Governor of Indiana Sentenced to Ten Years

Another Strike in Pennsylvania Mines-- Heavy Loss of Life in Storm Swept Southern States--Halifax Strongly Supports Daylight Saving--MacDonald Sees the Day of Universal Peace Coming.

MACDONALD'S MAY DAY MESSAGE
LONDON, April 30. Prime Minister MacDonald today sent the following May Day message to the Labor and Socialist movement: "It is a greater pleasure than this year, to send May Day greetings to all our comrades of Labor and Socialist movement at home and abroad. The day of international peace which we celebrate in our May is assuredly coming. The narrowness of conflict and disillusionment of their war hatreds, and war men are seeking new paths that lead to friendship and security. My hope is that before another May the League of Nations may become an all embracing parent of peoples, and I venture to think that nothing could more fittingly mark the great achievement than the first law of the League by common consent, set aside in every land as a festival of world friendship, solemn with remembrance of the utility of ancient feuds, and vital with high hopes for that great human companionship for which mankind is destined."

EX-GOVERNOR GETS 10 YEARS
INDIANAPOLIS, April 30. Warren T. McCray, who retired today as Governor of Indiana, was sentenced in the Federal Court to serve ten years in Atlanta Federal prison on the charge of using mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud. In addition he was fined $10,000. A few minutes before the sentence was passed, Emmett F. Branch, at Martinsville, Lieutenant-Governor, was sworn in as Governor.

ANTHRACITE MINERS STRIKE
SCRANTON, Pa., April 30. Disregarding the plea of District officials of the Union that they remain at work, approximately 15,000 Anthracite miners, employed at 11 collieries of the Glen Alton Coal Company, went on strike to-day, because of the dismissal from the Company's employ of an official of the Union at Edwardsville, Pa. Two collieries, Diamond and Storm, did not heed the strike order and are operating.

HALIFAX STRONG FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING.
HALIFAX, April 30. By vote of 1,000 to 500 the citizens of Halifax to-day voted in favor of Daylight Saving for the city, to start on May 6th and continue until Labor Day.

CHURCH UNION.
OTTAWA, April 30. The first day of battle over Church Union in the private Bills Committee of the House of Commons closed without the case for the Unionists being completed. Three laymen, representing the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches were heard and the opening statement on the legal side of the proposal was given. There are still three speakers for the Unionists to be heard before opponents of the measure get their findings. Present appearances suggest it will be well into next week before the Committee gets down to consideration of the bill itself.

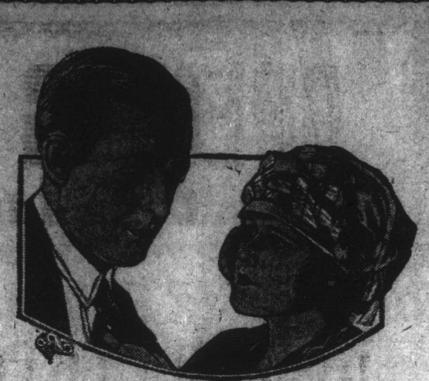

JUDGMENT AGAINST PERUVIAN STEAMER.
ST. JOHN, April 30. Judgment in favor of the plaintiffs was rendered to-day in the Admiralty court, by Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hazen, in joint suits, brought by the owners of the schooner Maud of Scotland and the Dominion Coal Company, owners of her cargo of coal, against the Peruvian steamer Perene, which rammed the vessel and sent her to the bottom outside of St. John harbor last Fall, involving the drowning of eight men. The owners of the schooner sued for fifty thousand and the coal owners for ten thousand dollars. Argument will be heard later as to the amount of damages to be collected. An appeal is anticipated.

TORNADO'S WORK.
ATLANTA, Georgia, April 30. A dozen towns in four South Eastern States bore the brunt of a series of tornadoes that to-day killed twenty-four persons, injured more than two score, and wrecked property estimated at nearly a million dollars.

53 DEATHS FROM THE STORMS.
ATLANTA, Georgia, April 30. Fifty-three deaths were reported to-day, more than 130 persons were injured and seven are missing in the tornadoes and storms that swept over the South Eastern States. Severe storms of tornado proportions are being reported in various parts of Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

Gertie Millar to Wed

MUSICAL COMEDY BRIDE FOR EARL OF DUDLEY

Miss Gertie Millar, the popular actress, is engaged to marry the Earl of Dudley at the office of the British Consulate-General in Paris on April 30. Lord Dudley has a villa, known as the Chalet du Bois, in one of the most fashionable thoroughfares of Bologne, the Avenue du Golf. It is the prettiest and most luxurious in the resort. The earl, who owns about 30,000 acres, has been Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland and Governor-General of Australia. He is 56, and his first wife was Miss Rachel Gurney, daughter of the famous Quaker banker. His heir is Viscount Edman, M.P., for Hornsey. Miss Millar is the widow of Mr. Lionel Monckton, the musical comedy composer. She was born in Bradford 44 years ago, and at the age of 12 appeared as the girl babe in "The Babes in the Wood," at the St. James' Theatre, Manchester. As was usual in those days, she spent many years in the provinces fulfilling engagements in pantomime and musical comedy. Her first appearance on a London stage was at the Grand Theatre, Fulham, in December, 1899, as Dandini in "Cinderella." Eighteen months later she was given her first chance at the Gaiety as "Cora Bellamy" in "The Toreador," and she conquered London. She danced and sang her way into the affections of the patrons of that theatre with "Keep 'em on the Grass," one of her husband's compositions. There were many disappointed suitors, from the highest to the lowest in the social scale, when her engagement to Mr. Lionel Monckton was announced. One foreign nobleman shot himself dead for love of her. She remained at the Gaiety for seven years, paid a flying visit to New York, and in 1909 played in "Our Miss Gibbs," while in the following year at the Adelphi she appeared in "The Quaker Girl."

Soap which is not good enough for washing your hands is not good enough for washing your clothing.

Besides you cannot wash clothes, or in fact do any washing without getting your hands into the suds.

You would not wash your face or hands with low grade inferior or injurious laundry soap.

Yet the skin on your face and hands will last a lifetime, whilst clothing wears out in a year.

Consequently you should use Sunlight Soap for washing your clothing and for general use.

Intelligent women always use Sunlight Soap--it cannot injure even a baby's skin.

Sunlight Soap is endorsed by Lever Brothers. Five Thousand Dollars guarantee of purity.

Speaks Right Out and to the Point

Madame Laplante Says Dodd's Kidney Pills Helped Her Kidney Disease.

Warren lady points the way to health to the weak, weary, nervous, run-down women of Canada.
Warren, Ont., April 30th. (Special) "I want you to publish my certificate about Dodd's Kidney Pills, because they have done me much good. I was suffering from rheumatism, backache and headaches, and my appetite was poor. I took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and now I am very well. I often do the men's work." That is the statement of Mde. M. Laplante, a highly esteemed lady living here.
It is clear and to the point. Ninety per cent of the ills from which women suffer come from weak or diseased kidneys. They are the organs that strain all the impurities out of the blood. If they fail to do their work, the impurities remain in the blood and are deposited all over the body.
Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heal and strengthen sick kidneys.

Historic Nation of Sagan Put on Auction Block

CONTAINS 65,000 PEOPLE AND HAS A RIVER FULL OF FISH--EXISTED IN 1649--DUKE ASKS TO RETAIN TITLE OF "SERENE HIGHNESS OF SAGAN."

PARIS, April 18. (United Press) An entire nation, with 65,000 people, a river "full of excellent fish," a history that goes back to the days of Wallenstein castles, forests and royal chateaux, was offered for the auction block yesterday.
It is the little principality of Sagan, situated between Silesia and Brandenburg and covering about 600 miles of territory rich in historic German legends.
The offer is made by the Duke of Talleyrand de Perigord, husband of Anna Gould, "Serene Highness" of the independent principality.
The only qualifications are that the duke retain the title of "Serene Highness of Sagan," and that the price shall be fixed by the duke's minister of finance.
The duke, in making public his astounding offer, described his country with all the matter of fact frankness of an auctioneer's catalogue.
Sagan, he said, is a "complete, independent principality, situated between Silesia and Brandenburg, area about 600 square miles, 65,000 inhabitants, capital city of 15,000, chateau, Gothic church, complete city hall with reception salons, bronze statue of Frederick III., the River Bober with plenty of fish, and diverse fields, forests, etc."
The title of Sagan, the duke explained, actually is held by his fifteen year old son, Charles, to whom the duke gave the country as a birthday present.
The principality has existed since 1649 when the King of Bohemia gave it to his great leader Wallenstein and has been in the Talleyrand family since 1845.
Both the French and German governments must consent to the sale, but the duke declares this is a "mere formality" as the Talleyrand family is sole owner of the domain.
"All I seek," the duke said in an interview, "is that I be allowed to retain my title of 'Serene Highness of Sagan' and that my minister of finance be taken into consultation as to the price."

SPRING FEVER.
It's getting on to lazy days,
Days of dreams and sweet desires,
Days of sunny open ways,
And the smell of campers' fires,
Days when I shall sit here wishing
I were somewhere idly fishing.

True it is, as ages tell us,
Work is every man's salvation,
But no motto can compel us
To shut out the world's temptation;
Dreams will take me while I'm writing,
Far away where fish are biting.

I can't help it that I'm lazy,
That my thoughts from duty wander,
And the deeds I do seem crazy—
Streamers have called my spirit yonder.

It is idle to upbraid me,
That's the way the Good Lord made me.

I can hear the pine trees calling,
Hear the graceful willows swishing
When a silver stream is falling,
And my soul has gone out fishing,
When the sun smiles it's no wonder
That I sit and dream and blunder.

Our Dumb Animals
THE ENGLISH ROBIN.

(Jesse Taylor, England.)
The robin is a great favorite with everybody. Children especially love it. It is a pleasure to watch it as it is so tame, and, when noticed, becomes friendly. We have admired its lovely, red breast, shaded by gray, and deepening into brown. How graceful and sprightly is this handsome bird! How quick are its movements! What graceful ankles and feet! What a good shape he is, and as for his singing powers they are exceptional and very sublime.

Robins are not all alike, all the world over. They differ in color considerably in different countries. In the north of Europe the robin's breast instead of being red is blue. In Australia it is pink, very much the same color as the breast of an English bulfinch. The first time I saw the Australian robin I did not really know it was a robin because the coloring was so different from what I had seen in England. Not only is the color of the breast different, but its plumage is entirely different. In addition to the breast being pink, the throat is white, the wings are slightly tipped with gold, and the back is a dark shining blue. Although the Australian robin is so different from the English in plumage, yet it has all the English robin's movements. It shakes itself just in the same way, and bows just as gracefully; it has the same bright and expressive eye. It is also just as familiar and ready to approach anyone. I was not very surprised therefore when I made enquiries about it to hear the words, "Oh, yes, he's a robin sure enough."

One Sunday afternoon when I was sitting reading in the garden, a robin came quite near and perched upon a fig tree that I was sitting under, so I had a good look at him. How wonderful are all the robins when you think about them. John Ruskin in his "Love's Meinte," has written about the robin in a descriptive way. He says, "a robin's beak is its mouth and hands, its bag of tools, its dressing case, its sword by which to defend itself, and its musical instrument." These are very expressive words. We love the robin's voice, it is so plaintive and so sweet. One of its charms is that it sings its sweetest songs in the winter. In the dark and dull days when other birds are silent, the robin treats us to rich and lovely music.

When I was a little boy I was very fond of birds and found a lot of pleasure in watching them, especially at nesting-time. I knew most of the nests in the countryside. I remember a robin with one leg that was very tame. He used to come into the kitchen, and was as friendly as possible. He came every winter for four years and always found a good supply of crumbs, but one winter we missed him, and alas, we never saw him again! There was another robin that was tamer still. He was the tamest and sweetest robin we ever knew, so we called him "our robin." We really did nothing to tame him. He began to come every afternoon in the summer house and perch upon the chairs, upon my knee, and often upon my boot. One day when we came to tea, the robin was already there helping himself to the cake. For some weeks he used to go to my daughter's bedroom every morning and wake her up by singing one of his sweetest songs. After that came the robin's breakfast. He got so tame that he would take a crumb from between her lips. I need hardly say that this robin became a great favorite with us all. He was "our robin." We were very sorry indeed that after coming to us so much, and giving us a great deal of pleasure, there came a day when we saw nothing of him. We searched everywhere for him, but he never came again, and so we thought he must have been killed.

THE EVENING TELEGRAM, PROPRIETORS

ALL communications should be addressed to The Evening Telegram, Ltd., and not to individuals.

Thursday, May 1, 1924.

An Unauthorized Impeachment.

We have received a terse reproof, which, apart from its dictatorial tone is utterly uncalled for, and in its suggestions, most offensive—unintentionally no doubt.

We have yet to learn that any paper in Newfoundland has lent itself to the plans of German propagandists, and we are more than surprised that the President of the G.W.V.A. should take it upon himself to criticize the actions of His Majesty's Governments in their dealings with a foreign country.

With the work of this great organization, its aims and objects we are in full sympathy and have always been willing to further them, but we feel that this letter is a faux pas which surely was not prompted by wise judgment or after fully considering the consequences.

Finally we may add, that with regard to what we may or may not publish, we prefer to rely upon our own judgment, and feel certain that neither our gallant Ally in the Great War nor any other will have occasion to request censorship of our columns by President Nangle.

The following is the letter to which we refer:

The Editors Daily Press.

Gentlemen.—From time to time extracts from Exchanges have been reprinted in your journals dealing with France and her Post-war policies.

Many of these articles are not only anti-French but are insultingly so. They are written mostly by hyphen-Americans and in some cases by Germans themselves.

They are generally false or biased. Such, even if up-to-date, never makes good literature.

France has stood the terrible aftermath of war, stood it alone and won. Two successive Governments of Great Britain deserted her and they broke. The present Labour Government is with France and in this it has the British public with it; no matter what the Morning Post may say to the contrary.

On behalf of the War Veterans of Newfoundland who fought side by side with the soldiers of France, I would ask you to give orders to your respective staffs to refrain from clipping German propaganda from a press, owned or controlled by Germans or those whom the policy of France has made equal for mercy.

I am, Yours faithfully, T. NANGLE, Dominion President.

A Labour Accomplishment.

It would have been ridiculed six months ago by a large section of the British public had the suggestion been made that the first Labour Budget would be accorded general acclaim.

Such nevertheless has been the case. Of a levy on Capital there is no suggestion in the proposals laid before Parliament by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Philip Snowden. On the contrary, to the surprise of the bitterest opponents of the Party the Budget abolishes the Corporation Profits Tax, and gratification is general because of the removal of a great part of the duties on tea and sugar, taxes which were most unpopular since they were first imposed, as they directly affected the Britisher's table.

The chief cause of regret is that the Labour Party have failed to recognize the urgency of the proposals made by the Imperial Conference last summer.

The great feature illustrated by Philip Snowden's Budget is pagandist purposes is hardly fair. In any case, anticipating troubles which may never arise is to worry needlessly, and even if at a later date an attempt is made to introduce extreme legislation, the British public can safely be trusted to take care of its firmly established traditions and customs.

The real feature illustrated by Philip Snowden's Budget is that no matter what views may be held personally, the ordinary Britisher, whatever his class or creed, sinks his differences when he knows they run counter to his country's best interests, and loyally stands fast on those principles upon which depends her safety and prosperity.

We might well follow this example. We too are of the Bulldog Breed. Fearlessly let us follow the obvious course and fling from our path those who would obstruct and hinder us in carrying out the duty that lies before us, and treat with disregard those immaterial questions which are only introduced to becloud the main issue.

The Thank of The Telegram.

We fully appreciate the hearty congratulations which have appeared in the Daily News and Daily Mail on the occasion of the forty-fifth anniversary of The Evening Telegram, and thank them for the good wishes expressed.

SEALING NEWS

With the arrival of all the ships from the Northern Seal Fishery the only news of a sealing nature now is that of the Viking's progress in the Gulf. Last night the owners received a message from Capt. Bartlett giving the ship's position as 86 miles N. W. of Deadman's Island, and stating that there were a number of bedlamers, harps and old harps on the ice, but the men were unable to get about and work them, and as a consequence the prospect looks very poor. It is quite probable that the Viking will abandon the voyage in the course of a few days, because coal and provisions must now be running short.

Preliminary Hearing

The preliminary hearing into the charge of larceny preferred against W. J. McNelly, ex-accountant at the Agriculture and Mines Department, began in the Magistrate's Court at 10:30 a.m. The accused was represented by counsel H. A. Winter and L. E. Emerson were present. The father is conducting the case. Mr. Sidney Hart, accountant at the Crown Office, was called as witness. His examination had not concluded at 12:10, when adjournment was taken until 2:30 p.m.

An Outrage

A cow which was landed a few days ago from a ship then in port and conveyed away on a sloven by the orders of the S.P.A. Inspector, because she appeared to be ill and about to calve, has been slaughtered, but we understand, is being disposed of as beef. It is stated that owing to the duties of the Veterinary Inspector, recently appointed, not being clearly defined, although his attention was drawn to the condition of the animal he did not make a pronouncement as to its fitness or otherwise as an article of food.

Under such circumstances it is about time that he was so instructed, and also informed that he is the responsible official.

Magistrates Court

Two drunks and disorderlies were each fined $2.00 with the option of 7 days.

An ordinary drunk was allowed to go upon payment of cab hire, while a second drunk was fined $1.00.

A 24 year-old labourer, Duckworth Street East, given in charge by his wife for being drunk and disorderly, was remanded to the Penitentiary to sober up.

Two women charged with being loose and disorderly persons were each fined $2.00 with the option of 7 days.

The Trains

The incoming express which left Port aux Basques on Tuesday last reached the city early this morning.

Tuesday's west bound express left Dear Lake at 8:35 a.m.

The express with the Kyle's mail and passengers is presumed to have left Port aux Basques at 9 a.m. The passenger list is not available owing to line interruption.

The local Carbonate train arrived at 4 p.m.

The regular cross country express west out at 4 p.m.

The Chief Justice of Canada Passes Away

Canada has sustained a great loss in the death of one of her most prominent citizens and statesmen, the Rt. Hon. Sir Lewis Henry Davies, K.C.M.G., Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada.

For nearly half a century he was an outstanding figure in the public life of the Dominion, during the whole of which period he held the confidence and respect of the whole Dominion through his great ability, integrity and strong personality. Born in Prince Edward Island on May 4th, 1845 and educated in the Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, he was called to the Bar in 1867 and was created a K.C. in 1880. In the Island he occupied many important political offices between 1872 and 1889, and was largely responsible for the settlement of the land question, and for many reforms in the public service. During the sitting of the International Fisheries Commission in 1887, which met at Halifax, appointed under the Treaty of Washington, he was one of the British Counsel and received the thanks of His Majesty's Government for the services he rendered. Many and various were the missions which he was connected with, and which dealt with questions of great national importance. He was knighted in 1897.

In 1901 he was appointed Judge of the Supreme Court, and was made Chief Justice in 1918. Socially his activities were also wide and varied, and he was a lecturer of note on literary and professional subjects. Three sons and one daughter survive him. The older residents of St. John's will remember a brother of the deceased, who was in command of one of the naval ships stationed on this coast several years ago, and whose son is to-day incumbent at Joe Batt's Arm.

RED ARMY FOR PEACE AND BROTHERHOOD.

MOSCOW, May 1. War Minister Trotsky, as chairman of the Revolutionary War Council, has addressed a special May Day order to the Red Army, in which he says "We are for peace and brotherhood. The Red Army and Navy are weapons of defence of revolution upon which all other countries are continually making attacks. The military strength of capitalist countries continues to grow and they are using their steel for the purpose of oppression and enslavement, while our opposing steel for the first time in history serves the cause of Socialism."

CUBA CANE SUGAR CORPORATION. Sold to Havre Sugar Two-Thirds of Its Sugar—Share Earns $18 a Share on Preferred.

(Boston News Bureau, April 17). Boston.—That the market performance of sugar stocks is to a large extent influenced by the course of raw sugar prices is well illustrated by the experience of Cuba Cane Sugar preferred. After having sold at the year's high of 71 1/2, the stock declined to a low of 54 1/2 Tuesday. In the meantime raw sugar weakened from 5 1/2 cents a pound to 4 1/2 Tuesday, subsequently stiffening to 4 3/4. The fact that the sugar market has turned, at least temporarily, was responsible for a rallying movement in sugar shares. Cuba Cane preferred advancing from 54 1/2 to 58 1/2.

While Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation closely guarded the details of its sugar sales, gossip is that the company has disposed of not far from two-thirds of its anticipated full crop of 3,500,000 bags. It seems reasonable to suppose that the average price received was not far from 5 cents a pound. Therefore, if the remainder of the company's output is sold at round present prices the average for the entire crop would approximate the 47 1/2 cent average of last year.

Cuba Cane earned practically $18 a share on the 500,000 shares of preferred stock in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 last. Barring a heavy decline in sugar prices in the months to come, the outlook is for earnings this fiscal year equal to those of a year ago. Having safely progressed two-thirds of the way it may be expected that the company will be in position a little later on to redeem the semi-official promise regarding resumption of dividend on the 7% preferred stock.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES

U.S. URGED TO PARTICIPATE IN WORLD COURT.

WASHINGTON, May 1. Leaders in church organizations, industry, the bar, and the field of education, urged the United States participation in the World Court at the opening of the hearings yesterday on the question by a sub-committee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Proponents alone were heard yesterday during the day, and when adjournment was taken until to-morrow, the list of the delegations to be heard had not been materially reduced.

WILL BE RECEIVED AS MEMBERS.

TORONTO, May 1. Rev. Dr. R. J. Wilson, Secretary of the Joint Committee on Church Union has announced the receipt at headquarters of a cablegram from Edinburgh, Scotland, indicating that the Eastern section of Pan-Protestantism Council has through its executive, there intimated that the proposed Union of the churches in Canada would have the right of application to be received as member of that Evangelical Alliance of Reform Churches of the world. This follows a notification some weeks ago of a similar opinion from the western section of the Alliance at a meeting held at Newport News, Va. some weeks ago.

AUSTRALIAN PRESS CONDEMN'S BUDGET.

MELBOURNE, May 1. The Melbourne Age, commenting on the British Budget, as outlined by Chancellor of Exchequer, Snowden says, "It is a little English Budget and takes small account of the Dominions. The reduction in expenditures was largely made possible by the abandonment of the Singapore Base scheme, and desertion of Empire interests in the Pacific. Reduction in customs were made in disregard of the Dominions during Great Britain's lean years, when her other customers were nearly bankrupt. The Dominions kept her industries going and yielded her a substantial income. While G. Britain prefers to trade with the foreigner she must expect the Dominions to suit themselves and fix their preferences accordingly."

ALL HOPE ABANDONED.

WHEELING, W. Va., May 1. The last hope that any of the victims would be found alive vanished last night when rescue workers penetrated entry number eight, and found four additional bodies. Progress was halted temporarily by a curtain of water which rushed down from overhead, flooding that section of the mine. Pumps were quickly manned and officials hoped to complete exploring entry before day-break.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

HOW ONE WOMAN MADE HER LIFE OVER.

Do you remember the woman who asked what she should do about a husband who was desirable in all respects, but would go out all night several nights a week?

We have a delightful answer for her from a woman who draws a racy, vivid picture of life as she sees it, and courageously lives it. "I will try to answer the letter that came to you," writes this Letter Friend, "for I was once in her position and speak from facts. Only I have four children. My husband is a member of ten organizations so naturally he goes out considerably to meetings, banquets, committees, and to sell tickets. Every holiday he has work to do for some organization. The Fourth of July is the only holiday the children and I have with him. I used to remark that I had to stay awake nights to see my husband so I would know him in a parade. I scolded, too, but only gave him an excuse to go more. He was vexed and said: 'I don't stop you from going.' So I took his advice.

Something Beside Bills And Babies.

"I found a lady willing to spend her evenings with my children till I returned. I did not mix in my husband's society. I went independent, and selected by own friends. I was able to talk of something else besides bills and babies when my husband came home. What is four children nowadays when electricity has come to stay? Why should it take 24 hours of any woman's time in the home to raise a respectable family? "If instead of staying she'd hire some of her work done she would be better satisfied when hubby comes home. He would feel like inviting you out if you doted up at home. What man wants to take a tired mother out? You are too tired to enjoy yourself so you make it miserable for hubby. Because you want to go home and read, nothing interests you.

Who's To Do Public Work!

"A man working five days and a half a week and using his newspaper only for his knowledge of the news of the day is surely in a rut. What kind of men would hold political offices; or head organizations of unions, or work for the welfare of the community if every man toasted his feet seven nights a week in front of the kitchen stove? There are plenty of men and women doing it. Mothers and fathers with more at stake than those out fighting for right and who are the first to complain if someone they don't approve of sets in office.

"Look at the unions of our city, the Church of our city. The Memorial Day parade and plans for the work at the cemetery—these and other important orders must meet at night. Who would carry on this work? The unmarried man? Yes! But whose interests are they working for? Your children and my children. Why should we keep our husbands home and let the other fellow do it? Or why should you complain when hubby only takes three nights a week? I am only 33 years old and the mother of six children in 14 years, so I know what it is to be tied down. But why stay down? My youngest is two years old. I have my engagements and break away and come back refreshed.

Worn Out Clothes Or Worn Out Bodies

"Any mother treating her children right will give each child something to do as she has no right to wear herself out when each can do their share. Why should a woman wash? We have good laundries. 'Well,' some say, 'I don't like to send my wash out.' For my part, I don't like a worn out body when I'm middle aged either. "I don't agree with the woman who said the woman ought to go out and let him stay at home. Some men won't. Why not hire a good respectable woman? Don't think no one can take your place. Anyone who gets that bump on them needs someone to knock it off. And I don't agree with the woman who said: 'I wouldn't stand for it.' What would she do? Get a divorce? Put the children out to board? Fight every minute of the man's home? Commit suicide? Go home to mother? Or hold her husband under her thumb until other men ridicule him? A man other men don't respect is no man at all. What we need to-day is real live husbands and real live mothers.

I think, after reading that letter, I know of at least one woman who answers that description.

To Be Shot at Sight

Girl Bandit Outlawed After Daring Raid—Cashier Shot in Effort to Save Employer's Money.

Orders have been issued to the New York police to shoot at sight the young girl bandit, with bobbed hair and her male assistant who have been terrorizing the Brooklyn district. To the many outrages of this couple has been added one which in all probability will cause the death of Nathan Maszo, a cashier of the National Biscuit Company. He resisted their raid on the company's office and was left in a serious condition, with three bullet wounds in his breast. Their latest raid was carefully planned and, but for Maszo, who is not expected to recover, it would probably have succeeded. A "Mr. and Mrs. Parker," visitors to an hotel in a main street, hired a motor car by telephone from an agency. An expensive limousine was sent in charge of a chauffeur, who was ordered to take the couple for a drive through Prospect Park, Brooklyn, to the seashore. As soon as they entered the Park, "Mr. Parker" pressed the muzzle of a revolver against the back of the chauffeur's neck while "Mrs. Parker" issued the command, "Stop the car and come back here." When the chauffeur climbed into the rear of the car his face quickly gagged him, tied his hand and foot with pistol wire, and deposited him on the floor. The couple then occupied the front seat, the man driving. Some little time later the car stopped and the woman remarked, "We are going in here. Keep quiet until we come out, or something unpleasant will happen to you." Wearing a closely-fitting black turban and a black veil, she then walked into the office of the National Biscuit Company and inquired for the manager. None of the 12 clerks noticed her tall companion enter. They first became aware of his presence when they saw that he was brandishing two pistols and covering all of them. "Don't get alarmed, but step into the back room," he exclaimed. The woman then whipped out a pistol and softly added, "These orders must be carried out. Hurry up." The manager and all the clerks except two moved into the back room. One of the latter, named Taggart, stepped out of the line with the intention of slamming the door of the safe. The woman struck him sharply on the side of the head with her pistol. While her attention was thus distracted another clerk, Nathan Maszo, grabbed her left wrist. She freed herself, closed the door, and fired three times through the panel, hitting Maszo with each shot. The couple, not waiting to rob the safe, hurried outside and drove off. The police found the motor car abandoned in a side street. The man and his companion stopped the car some distance from the scene of the outrage and hailed a taxicab in which they disappeared.—News of the world.

Quizzing the Poet

Dr. Robert Bridges, English poet laureate, just landed in America, says his opinion of our poets will be "the very last thing I'll talk about." Dr. Bridges piques our curiosity. Tell us why the reluctance, won't you, Dr. Bridges? Do you dislike to repeat what the others have said, that Poe is our best product, but least typical of us? That the real American character and literary genius are in the rough and rugged lines of Walt Whitman? That our cherished Longfellow is an imitator, superficial and a third-rate poet? Do you hold back from discussion of free verse because of your long enduring love for the classical metres? Do you hesitate to tell us that much of our modern poetry is barren of a message to troubled days because yours, as you are inclined to admit, dear doctor, also has been? Is it because there is no message to be delivered to us?—Kansas City Star.

Household Notes.

If your cellar walls are a mold, apply unslaked lime with a garden spray. Excellent stove polishers can be made from old bed slippers of elder down. Salsify is delicious baked with buttered crumbs, cheese and white sauce. A very wholesome dessert is steamed figs served with whipped cream. Flavour rhubarb-betty with a little orange or lemon juice and rind. Scallop spinach with breadcrumbs and season with tomato and onion. Before adding flour to boiling milk, blend it in a little cold milk. Best fritters baked like pancakes are nice served with roast fowl. Add 1/2 cupful of chopped meat to the thickened milk for milk toast.

Don't Say— "Just a Sore Throat"

IN a few days, you know, "just a sore throat" may be something much more serious. For science has proved that the throat is not only the first spot reached by infectious germs, but also forms the ideal soil for them to multiply on.

Throat protection, therefore, means germ destruction and is a duty that you owe your health. It is easily achieved by the regular use of Formamint—the germ-killing throat tablet.

Formamint (which is endorsed by over 5,000 American physicians) is the scientific way of disinfecting the mouth and the throat. Handy to have with you—pleasing in taste—it frees an efficient germicide that mixes with the saliva and so reaches where gargles cannot go.

And a tablet taken occasionally during the day not only brings relief and immediate relief from "sore throat"—but affords protection against even more distressing ailments that so often follow infection of the throat linings. At all druggists.

BOXING AND WRESTLING—LAST NIGHT'S BOUTS.

The preliminary bouts in connection with the boxing and wrestling championships, took place in the Prince's Rink last night before a large attendance of spectators. The various competitors weighed in at 7 o'clock, all making the required weight in the exception of Brockiehurst, in the Bantam Class, while Raines, of the Lightweight Class, was not allowed to participate by the medical examiner, due to an injury to his thumb.

As a result of the ruling, only one preliminary bout was staged instead of three, as anticipated. However, the night's performance was not marred any as two good exhibitions of both boxing and wrestling followed in its stead. The one and only preliminary contest staged was the boxing in the flyweight class between James (112 lbs.) and L. English (110½ lbs.). Both lads rushed matters from the very outset, and slugged each other unmercifully. James, who was slightly superior, landed several telling blows which quickly weakened his man, and inside of one minute he had English down for a count of seven. After this James just waited an opportunity and getting the desired opening, floored his opponent with a body blow, taking the count of ten.

An exhibition bout followed between C. La Fosse (113 lbs.); and J. Pihlan (103 lbs.). This exhibition was lively throughout and greatly enjoyed by the fans. The next was an exhibition of wrestling between A. Hennebury, the lightweight champion, and Adams, welterweight champion. Ten minutes the crowd was treated to an excellent exhibition of mat work, the result ending in a draw.

The main attraction takes place in the ring to-morrow night, the full programme of which will appear in to-morrow's issue.

INTER-CLUB BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

Two very interesting games in the Inter-Club Billiard Tournament, were played at the Masonic rooms' last night, resulting in the Masonic players gaining both by substantial margins and reducing the B. I. S. lead by 200 points. The first game Snow (Masonic) vs. O'Neill (B.I.S.) was a good exhibition. At the B.I.S. rooms Bellairs played O'Neill, but as Mr. Bellairs is out of town, Mr. Snow replaced him.

The scores were as follows:—Snow (Masonic)—200—14, 36, 18, 25, 19, 15, 20, 13, 20—206. O'Neill (B. I. S.)—219—16, 15, 10, 12, 25, 28, 12, 21—130.

The second game, Rabbitts vs. Ryan was easily the best exhibition of the tournament to date. Rabbitts was in excellent form and ran up a score of 304 in breaks. Ryan found difficulty in getting the balls to run satisfactorily, but in spite of this he made some nice shots. The scores were:—Rabbitts (Masonic)—304—36, 11, 41, 16, 16, 23, 13, 21, 15, 12, 17, 20, 14, 13, 19—304. Ryan (B. I. S.)—291—11, 13, 16, 16, 13, 19, 10, 13, 29, 15, 12, 22, 15—213.

There will be only one game to-night, Power (B. I. S.) vs. Edwards (Masonic). This will begin at 8 o'clock, and a good exhibition is anticipated. The friends of the players are welcome at all games and lots of seating accommodation is provided for all who attend.

ual Director, Rev. J. Nangle, C.F., and Mr. W. Jackman, from the Star Society, Bell Island. The toast list was as follows:—

- THE KING
Prop. The Chairman
Resp. God Save The King
- THE ARCHBISHOP AND CLERGY
Prop. W. F. Graham
Resp. Rev. J. T. Flynn, B.A.
- THE STAR OF THE SEA ASSN.

Resp. D. J. Jackman
- THE LADIES' AUXILIARY.
Prop. E. P. Thomson
Resp. J. Ryan
- THE CHAIRMAN
Prop. J. T. Martin
Resp. M. F. Rolfe

The speeches were of a high order and were well received by the gathering. Regret was expressed over the absence of the President, W. H. Jackman, Rev. Dr. Green, former Spiritual Director, and Mr. Joseph Murphy, a member of the Executive, all of whom were on the toast list but were unavoidably detained. During the evening songs were rendered by Mr. O'Reilly, of the Star Movie, C. E. Jardine and T. Doherty. While selections from the C.C.C. Band added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

"Yes, Sir, these brown shoes have gone rather a bad colour, haven't they, but then you've been using an unsuitable and probably inferior dressing. Everybody knows there's nothing like 'Nugget' for Black footwear, and I can assure you there's nothing like 'Nugget' Dark Brown Polish for keeping brown shoes in condition. It's a smart shade, too, and when the shoes get rubbed or knocked about, it will sooner or later, if soon restores them to an even tone again. Take my advice, Sir, buy a tin and see for yourself."

S. S. Ranger in Port
LAST OF SHIPS TO ARRIVE FROM NORTHERN SEALFISHERY.

S.S. Ranger, Capt. Wesley Kean, arrived yesterday at 6.30 p.m., bringing home the key to the northern seal-fishery. The Ranger hauls for 18,000 old and young seals, but judging by the heavily laden appearance of the ship when entering port, her tonnage will probably exceed this estimate. The Ranger was the last of the ships to proceed north, having battled with the ice barricade on the outside for four days before getting into open water. Capt. Kean then took a course for the eastward and, working in due west from Fogo Island, struck a small patch of seals on St. Patrick's Day, off Cape John, in which 3,500 were killed and panned. Whilst the crew were engaged in taking them on board, the ship was driven into Green Bay with the seals, and became jammed up in closely packed ice. For two weeks the ship remained in this position, and it was not until the end of March that she got free again. Word was then received that a patch of seals lay in White Bay. Captain Kean steered direct for Hr. Deep and on the 2nd of April, in company with the Thetis, a fairly good patch was struck, of which 12,000 were accounted for. The crew were busily engaged hauling the seals on board, all of which had to be brought over the rough ice, a distance of from three to seven miles. On April 17th, with 16,000 stowed, the Ranger was worked out of White Bay, after which fair progress was made in the vicinity of the Funks, where the hunt for the bedlamers began. Over 2,000 of these were killed in the heavy ratted ice on the following day and hauled on board. Weather conditions getting worse, Capt. Kean decided to abandon the voyage and with a snug load stowed down below decks, the greatest of care had to be exercised in bringing the ship along. Easterly winds and heavy seas forced the ship into Seal Cove, where she remained for several days. The next port was Valleyfield, and on Tuesday night last, the ship was forced to put into Pool's Island, B.B., leaving the latter port early yesterday morning. She made a good run down the coast, passing Catalina at 11 a.m., and arrived in port in the time already started. Capt. Kean and crew are in the best of health and feel quite satisfied with the results attained under such unprecedented ice conditions as were encountered during the spring. The Ranger commenced discharging this morning.

STAFFORD'S Sarsaparilla Blood Purifier

Skin Diseases, Anemia, Lack of Blood, Paleness, Impure Blood, Lack of Ambition and Vigor, Debility, Weakness, Tired Feeling, Boils, Pimples, etc.

THERE is no Remedy of more universal application than a genuine true-and-tried Blood Purifier and Blood Builder. A medicinal preparation that will truly purify, revitalize and renew the blood, restores hope and pleasure, ambition and happiness, vigor and vitality. It is of inestimable value not only as a strengthener of the system, fortifying it against invasion of disease, but also as a cure for Chronic Diseases which depend upon an impoverished condition of the blood. Diseases of this nature are usually caused by impurities in the blood deposited through the inactivity of the Liver and Kidneys.

These secretions if not removed from the circulation, gradually form poisons which deteriorate the condition of the blood and allow other diseases to obtain a more ready entrance to the system. In the effort of nature to throw off these impurities, frequently pimples, boils, carbuncles, etc., appear, and it is wise to respond promptly to the Warning of Nature.

THIS SARSAPARILLA

is a genuine preparation scientifically prepared from the best and purest remedies for the purifying and rebuilding of the blood. It should be taken every spring, as at this season the blood is more apt to become impure and impoverished. Keep your blood in perfect condition and you will be prepared to fight life's battles with greater success.

One Bottle of this Blood Purifier is all that you will need to take to produce results.

Anglican Cathedral Parishioners Meet

The annual meeting of the Parishioners of the Church of England Cathedral Parish, took place in the Parish Room, Synod Hall, last night, at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Canon Jeeves, president, and the attendance of ladies and gentlemen was a record. Mr. Leonard Outerbridge read the minutes and the Rev. Canon Jeeves read the report of the annual meeting. The account for the year was presented by Mr. Leonard Outerbridge in the absence of Hon. John Davey, People's Warden. The accounts were received and referred to a special committee for future consideration. The election of the People's Warden resulted in the Parish unanimously electing Mr. Frank E. Rendell. Rev. Canon Jeeves announced the re-appointment of Mr. E. C. Outerbridge as Rector's Warden, dating the ensuing year. The Finance Committee made its report through the Hon. Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. E. D. Bate. The new Committee elected as follows:—C. B. Dicks, Hon. Chairman; E. D. Bate, Hon. Secretary-Treasurer; and the following: Messrs. Crocker, Best, Hiscock, Gill, Feaver, Shears, Moore, Lilly, Pope, Jacob Bishop, White and H. S. Hayward. The representatives of the Cemetery Board made their annual report through Mr. S. G. Collier, and the following gentlemen were appointed to represent the Parish on the Board: Messrs. S. G. Collier, C. A. Hubley, and James Chaffey. The following were elected members of the General Protestant Industrial Board: Messrs. Jacob Bishop, Thomas Peel, and the Hon. John Davey. The Parish representatives of the Synod to the Synod were elected in the persons of Sir Wm. Horwood, and Mr. F. E. Rendell. The Auditors, Messrs. W. J. Martin and Thomas Collingwood. The sidesmen or ushers were elected as follows:—Messrs. J. E. Williams, W. Butler, A. Peavey, R. Learning, E. Ewing, W. Oakley, H. Gabriel, T. Humphries, H. Adams, H. Pope, Geo. Morris, W. Snow, H. Grant, W. Barrett, B. Dicks, E. Best, W. Gardner, D. Shears, H. Parsons, S. Gill, S. White, G. Crossman, and J. Chaffey. Votes of thanks were passed to the choir and other church officials. The meeting was most successful. Unfortunately the accounts show that the parish has a small deficit which the Church Warden is making arrangements to liquidate promptly. The following members of the Select Vestry were elected by ballot and were announced at the close of the meeting. They are as follows:—Sir Joseph Outerbridge, Sir William Horwood, S. G. Collier, C. Mc K. Harvey.

Scorching Viscount

LORD CURZON'S MOTORING LICENCE SUSPENDED.

Already convicted 21 times for motoring offences, Viscount Curzon was summoned at Acton for driving at excessive speed in Chiswick High-road.—Police evidence was that the speed of the car was 32 miles an hour. When told he would be summoned the viscount inquired: "Are you timing?"—Mr. Bryant, who represented defendant, asked the police if they noticed the vehicle had four-wheeled brakes, but they had not observed it. Mr. Bryant did not dispute the speed, but explained that the brakes enabled the car to be pulled up very quickly and made for safety. Defendant would have been present but for his parliamentary duties.—Viscount Curzon was fined £20 and his licence was suspended for six months. The chairman observed that small fines appeared to be useless and another course had to be followed. In view of an appeal against the decision he fixed surties.

Can You Afford to Smoke?

Why, of course—what does the cost of two or three cigars a day amount to?

But their cost, if invested in an Imperial Life policy, might mean the difference between poverty and comfort for your family after your death.

Think of it—a quarter a day—for a man between 25 and 30 will maintain approximately $4,000 of life assurance.

And if you are insured under an Imperial Life policy the $4,000 in cash will be there for your wife and family immediately, if your call should come suddenly.

You can afford to smoke, sure. But you can also afford an Imperial Home Protection policy to protect your wife and little ones.

Wreck of the Transport "Harpooner" at Cape Pine, in Newfoundland, November 10th, 1816.

(H. F. SHORTISS)

Time immemorial wrecks have taken place in the vicinity of St. John's Cape Pine, and various legends have been advanced by experienced nautical men and scientists to explain the cause which has so often resulted in the loss of the crews and passengers on several occasions. Years ago the late Capt. Thomas Mackenzie of the S. S. Portia, published an article in one of our magazines giving his opinion as to "Wrecks at Cape Pine," which, to my mind, is a very instructive and interesting article, as his remarks were based on the experience of many years as a member of our coast. The late Captain Mackenzie also published a brochure, with details of the many wrecks along our coast, for over a century. But, as far as I know, the most complete and accurate account of the wreck of the "Harpooner," in 1816, is the one taken from newspapers of the time, and printed in the Appendix to the Voyage of His Majesty's Ship "Porpoise," by Captain Edward Chappell, R.N., in 1817. The following is an extended and detailed account of the wreck of the "Harpooner," and the sufferings of the survivors:

On the 24th of October (1816), the "Harpooner," a Fourth Royal Veteran Transport, and their families, with a detachment of other corps in Canada, all 258, embarked on board the "Harpooner." Joseph Bland, Captain of the 27th, bound for the coast, in charge of Captain Primrose, proceeded to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, where moderate weather and favorable winds prevailed; but on arriving at the Gulf, the weather proved contrary, and the wind contrary to the light of land, nor an opportunity for several days. On Sunday, the 10th November, a few hours after nine o'clock, the second watch, called out, "The ship is striking!" at which time she lightly struck the outermost rock of St. John's Cape Pine, in the Island of Newfoundland. She bent over, and a short distance, which she struck again, and filled. Encircled by the rocks, and the wind blowing from the east, the sea soon fell over her beam-ends; and, to heighten her peril, a heavy fog set in, and the crew had communicated sting from the upper deck, while the surf beat over her most violently, it was considered as impossible. From this time until four o'clock the next morning, all on the wreck were anxiously praying for the light of day to break upon them. The boat from the stern was lowered down, when the mate and four seamen, at the risk of their lives, pushed off to the shore. They with difficulty effected a landing on the mainland behind a high rock, nearest to where the stern of the vessel had been driven. They were soon out of sight, and it was feared they were lost; but it was otherwise ordained by Providence. These deserving men, in scrambling up the rocks, made their welcome appearance. They hailed us from the top, and reported their situation, saying to return was impossible, as their boat was stove. The log-line was thrown from the wreck with a hope that they might lay hold of it; but darkness, and the tremendous surf that beat, rendered it impracticable. During this awful time of suspense, the possibility of seeing a line to them by a dog, occurred to the master; the animal was brought aft, and thrown into the sea with a line tied round his middle, and with it he swam towards the rock upon which the mate and seamen were standing. It is impossible to describe the sensations which were excited at seeing this faithful dog struggling with the waves, reaching the summit of the rock, and leaping back again by the surf into the sea, and so forth, by his exertions. He arrived with the line; one end of which being on board, the stronger rope was hauled and fastened to the rock; and by this rope the crew were enabled to drag many on shore from the wreck.

About six o'clock in the morning of the 11th, the first person was landed by this means; and afterwards, by an improvement in rigging the rope, and placing each individual in slings, they were with greater facility extricated from the wreck, but during the passage, the rope, with the utmost difficulty that the unfortunate sufferers could maintain their hold, was broken several times. Some were dragged to the shore in a state of insensibility. Lieutenant Wilson was lost, being unable to hold on the rope with his hands; he was twice struck by the sea, fell backwards out of the slings, and, after swimming for a considerable time amongst the floating wreck, by which he was repeatedly struck on the head, he perished. Many, who threw themselves overboard, trusting to their safety by swimming, were lost; they were dashed to pieces by the surf on the rocks, or by the floating of the wreck.

About half-past one o'clock on the afternoon of the 11th, nearly thirty lives were saved by the rope; several of whom were hurt and maimed. At this period, the sea beat incessantly over the wreck, and it became evident the deck was separating, and the only means of saving the distressed sufferers failed; for the rope, by constant work, was cut asunder. From that hour, there being no means of replacing the rope, the spectacle became more than ever terrific. The sea, beating over the wreck with greater violence, washed numbers overboard. Their heart-rending cries and lamentations were such as cannot be expressed—of families, fathers, mothers, and children, clinging to each other! The wreck, breaking up sternwards, and the sea, rushing in, completed all on it into one common destruction. Under these melancholy circumstances, 206 souls perished; and the survivors had to lament the loss of dear relatives and friends.

Their heart-rending cries and lamentations were such as cannot be expressed—of families, fathers, mothers, and children, clinging to each other! The wreck, breaking up sternwards, and the sea, rushing in, completed all on it into one common destruction. Under these melancholy circumstances, 206 souls perished; and the survivors had to lament the loss of dear relatives and friends.

The officers and men of the Royal Veteran Battalion, who were returning home after a long and arduous service in Canada and other remote climates, have now lost their all—the savings of many years—what they had looked upon with anxious hope, and making themselves and their families comfortable with, on retiring from the service of King and Country. By this unfortunate event, the orphan daughter of Surgeon Armstrong lost her father, mother, brother and two sisters; and the wife and surviving daughter of Lieutenant Wilson are left wholly destitute.

The disaster was so sudden and unexpected, that not an article of baggage was saved; not even money, of which some had considerable sums, the produce of their efforts at Quebec, which were paid for in guineas, on account of Bills of Exchange being attended with a loss of seven and a half per cent, for immediately after the ship struck, the bilges and hold, filled, drowning some, who, from motives of humanity, attempted to secure articles of dress for the females who were hurried on deck in an undressed state.

The rock which the survivors were landed upon was about a hundred feet above the water, and surrounded as the floating tide. Being high water soon after the latter of them were saved, it was found impossible for these distressed objects to be got over to the mainland until the next morning. On the top of the rock they were obliged to remain all night without shelter, food, or nourishment, exposed to wind and rain, and many without shoes; the only comfort that presented itself was a fire, which was made from pieces of the wreck that had been washed ashore.

At daylight on the morning of the 12th, at low water, their removal to the opposite land, was effected; some being led down by a rope, others slipping down a ladder to the bottom. After they crossed over, they directed their course to a house, or fisherman's shed, distant about a mile and a half from the wreck, where they remained until the next day. The proprietor of this miserable shed, not having the means of supplying relief to so considerable a number as took refuge, a party went overland to Trepassey, about fourteen miles distant, through a marshy country, not inhabited by any creature, and the way through a morass. This party arrived at Trepassey, and reported the event to Messrs. Jackson, Burke, Simms, and the Rev. Mr. Brown, who immediately took measures for alleviating the distress by despatching men in their employ with provisions and spirits, to assist in bringing forward all those who could walk. Instantly prompted many to undertake this journey barefooted, as the hardships and privations they were enduring were so excessively great. On the 13th, in the evening, the major part of the survivors (assisted by the inhabitants, during the journey, carried the weak and feeble on their backs) arrived at Trepassey, where they were billeted, by order of the Magistrate, proportionally upon each house. There still remained at St. John's the wife of a Sergeant of the Veteran Battalion, who was delivered at the top of the rocks shortly after she was saved, the child and herself are doing well. A private whose leg had been broken, and a woman severely bruised by the wreck, were also necessarily left there.

Immediately after their arrival at Trepassey, measures were adopted for the comfort and refreshment of the detachments, and boats were provided for their removal to St. John's. This being effected, His Excellency Admiral Pickford, the Governor, Major King, commanding the troops, and the merchants and gentlemen of St. John's, most promptly and generously came forward, in the most handsome manner, to the relief of the surviving sufferers. After remaining ten days in St. John's, reducing the distressed with clothing and necessaries, His Excellency the Governor chartered the Mercury of Poole, to bring them to Port-au-Prince, (Haiti). On this melancholy circumstance, it is but justice to mention, that Mr. Joseph Briant, master, Mr. Atkinson, mate, and the seamen of the "Harpooner," deserve credit for their increasing exertions, and to their labour, those that came on shore by the rope in a great measure owe their safety.

The loss of the above ships was mentioned by an insurance agent to be prevalent in all the gulfs and bays of Newfoundland.

A Popular Orchestra

Six short months have elapsed since the Imperial Orchestra had its inception. Brief though the time has been, it has truly proven the saying of Copland in his "Morning Bride":

There Seemed No Happiness Ahead of Her

Do you feel depressed? Are you easily irritated? Are your nerves all on edge? Do trifling happenings bother you? Have you a feeling that something dreadful is going to happen? These symptoms are not uncommon as many people have them. They are the signs which tell you that you are out of touch, and need something to enrich your blood, quiet your nerves and tone up your system. Carnol will do this quickly and effectively. It has done it for Mrs. Elizabeth King, as well as thousands of other people and it will do it for you. Here's what Mrs. King says: "It is to certify that I was for several years troubled with a run-down state of health. I was depressed, nervous, weak, frequently suffered from severe headaches caused by loss of appetite. I had no inclination to do anything. I was becoming more and more dependent every day. There seemed no happiness ahead of me. My friend told me to try Carnol as she was sure it would help me. I purchased a few bottles and before I had finished taking the first bottle I felt like a different woman. It affords me the greatest pleasure to recommend it to any one who is in a run-down state of health. I found it more successful than any other tonic." Mrs. Elizabeth King, 117 Cedar Street, Halifax, N.S. Carnol is sold by all good druggists everywhere.

A Check For a Definite Amount Every Month

One Hundred Dollars Guaranteed Every Month of Her Life By The Confederation Life Association

FOUR years ago, an Ontario business man, being well, strong and amiable, took out a Monthly Income Policy in the Confederation Life Association. Two and a half years afterwards, he died. For the past eighteen months his widow has been receiving, regularly each month a check for $100.00.

This income is guaranteed to her for life. If she should die before she has received 240 monthly instalments, that is, before 20 years are up, the remainder of the 240 instalments will be paid to her heirs.

This monthly income is not an isolated example. Many others are receiving monthly checks—some for more—some for less.

If you would like to provide an income such as this for your wife, mother, or other beneficiary, or if you would provide such an income FOR YOURSELF for life after a term of years, write for particulars and find out for how small a yearly deposit you can receive this and many other benefits.

Premier Implores Closer Contact With Dominions

MACDONALD RESEARCHES OVER-SEAS UNITS OF EMPIRE TO FRATERNISE.

LONDON, April 10. — That the British Labour Party, as represented by the Premier and Ministers of the Ramsay MacDonald Ministry is taking a much wider view of its opportunities and responsibilities in matters of Empire politics than many of its pre-election critics expected, is now generally admitted.

Mr. MacDonald, in his address before the members of the Empire Parliamentary Association, informed the audience that the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Colonies, intended, if his Parliamentary duties would allow him to do so, to travel to South Africa in order to make himself familiar with the situation and problems that exist in that section of the Empire.

Mr. Thomas is, of course, cognizant of the complexities of the Canadian and Irish situations as he has first hand knowledge of both these Dominions and, moreover, has a son in Canada, who doubtless keeps him closely informed on developments there.

The Premier dwelt upon the urgent necessity of all the part of the Empire being kept informed of the doings and needs of their Dominion and Imperial colleagues, and said, in part:

"I suppose the British Empire is one of the miscellaneous fabrics that some quarters... could be doomed to destruction on the advent of a Labor Government (laughter).

"We are all anxious to make this country so big in the best sense of the term and so influential that the self-governing Dominions may find it a great pride to belong to us, and to look to us as the centre and seat of their Motherland. I am quite sure every party in the State will contribute to that very desirable end.

Increase Ministerial Knowledge.

"There is another thing I should like to say, and it is that I hope we will all take full advantage of the invitation sent to us by the South African Parliament. I do not know how the gentlemen in the House of Commons are going to behave during the next few months (laughter): I do not know whether you are going to let us away or not. You may be like the rather hard-hearted and over-disciplinary schoolmaster, and keep us in. But I hope it will be possible for a really influential and representative delegation to carry greetings to our South African comrades.

"It is the intention of my colleague Mr. Thomas, to go on that delegation if his work will allow him. He made a very pessimistic speech at a luncheon yesterday to Mr. Theodore, the Premier of Queensland, when he doubted his stability, but whether that comes off or not, we shall all join together—Conservative, Liberal, and Labor—to make that delegation really worthy of the Parliament by which it is sent.

Later-Imperial Information.

"There is another thing that has always struck me as being of special value in this Association. We have not really enough information about each other. We are annihilating time and space now, and I daresay if we live to enjoy the natural span of human existence, we shall be able to sit down in the corner of a sofa and talk to the Parliament of Melbourne just as though it occupied the other corner of the sofa. But there will always be a great deal of information required; we shall want to know each other's problems. They are not quite the same. There is a difference in location, a difference in circumstances, and when we go away to the Veldt or Australia or New Zealand—or when we go to Canada, we pick up a sort of engrained part of mentality and, unless we are in the closest personal contact with each other and have the very best will and heart in the world, we tend to drift apart, misunderstandings arise, different angles are employed from which to approach the same problems; and, therefore, if the Governments of the Commonwealth and Dominions of the Empire are to keep in harmonious contact with each other it can only be done by personal contact. These arrangements made for visits and return visits and for the publication of information—that admirable thing (the Parliamentary Journal) which we get from time to time from Sir Howard Egville—are sufficiently fascinating to enable us to appreciate their great value. These things have to be done and no association can do them except this one. At the same time, I commend this association to your hearty support, so that it may flourish and perform its work and unite us in the only way we can be united—in the bonds of Empire which are centred in the great and dignified Motherland."

Mr. Baldwin's Humor.

Mr. Baldwin, in seconding the motion of the report, said he did not quite catch what the Prime Minister had said—whether Mr. Thomas doubted his stability or ability. From what he knew of Mr. Thomas he felt confident that there was no doubt about his stability that was in question. That led him to say that he only discovered to his great grief on reading the annual report that as the man responsible for the election which took place in December, he seemed to have done a number of members of Parliament out of a most delightful trip by which they would have avoided a winter which had not been a peculiarly pleasant one.

"He would say, however, that he begged the Prime Minister to take every care that there would be no general election to interfere with the journey to South Africa of those friends who might be contemplating it—a journey that would not only give them great pleasure, but one which would be of the greatest use to the Empire as a whole. (Cheers). He was in full agreement with what the Prime Minister had said.

Personal Touch Vital.

The great volume of the association was in maintaining what was so important and so difficult to get—the personal touch. It seemed to him that one of the most valuable features of that intercourse was that it enabled them to get to know each other's minds, and possibly to discuss problems that must arise in the nature of things in a manner in which it was more easy to arrive at the truth than when such discussions were carried out by those who had chief responsibility and who had to be more guarded in their utterances. (Cheers).

He thought the knowledge and information that spread in that way would be of the greatest service to those who were for the time being responsible for carrying out Imperial policy.

Invitation For Overseas.

Lord Burnham, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Speaker, said that they hoped a telegram would shortly be sent from the association inviting the Dominion Parliaments to send a delegation to this country in July, partly, no doubt, to see the British Empire Exhibition, but also to enter into conference and consultation with themselves. (Cheers). He suggested that if these conferences were arranged the Speaker would be invited to occupy the chair and then give them an added importance and value in the eyes of their colleagues from what were really the co-equal Parliaments of the Empire.

"Hello there! Where are you going?" "I came home and found my favorite bread was not on the table and I am just going to buy what I like best—WALSH'S MILK BREAD," made only by The Central Bakery.—April 12.

DOING THINGS RIGHT.

I care not what my neighbors say nor heed the stories they may tell; serene, unmoved, I go my way, intent on doing all things well; I saw my wood and bale my hay, and paint the shack wherein I dwell. No doubt the neighbors criticize my daily deeds in bitter terms, no doubt they say I'm far from wise to fish for trout with angle-worms, dislike the way I swat the flies, and chloroform the deadly germs. Time was when I was much distraught by what the villagers might think; I feared to labor lest they thought my works were badly on the blink, and every day some gossip brought a tale that made my spirit shrink. But years bring wisdom as they ebb, they brought a little slice to me; I do my chores and care no boot how many critics there may be; a man is but a cheap galoot who fears what neighbors may decree. So that he does the best he can, and keeps his fence in proper trim, and is as fair to every man as he would have men be to him, it boots not if the neighbors plan to yap at him with bow-wow vim. However well a man may steer his bateau down the stream of time, there always are some alacka near to say his steering is a crime; and he is wise to give no ear, to fix his eyes on stars sublime.

THE WAY 'TIS WORKED

FIGURED ON SPENDING WINTERS ON RIVIERA UNTIL MARY CRASHED.

A "Get Rich Quick Wizard of High Finance," who once contemplated a soft snap for himself when the German mark came back to normal, received a bitter blow when he received a letter from a German bank informing him that his balance of two million and some odd marks was written off and his account closed.

At the time when he paid $108 of good Canadian gold for the marks mentioned, he entertained fond dreams of some day wintering on the Riviera, and globe-trotting around with a staff of valets tending to his every want. Yesterday when he received the aforementioned letter, "Presto!" the bubble burst, and down crashed his castles in the air.

Now there is nothing for him to do but stick at the old job in Montreal and strap-hang his way to work every morning at the usual hour of 7.45 a.m. "It's a bit hard," he says, "but there is one thing that comforts me in my disappointment; I am not the only one who has been fooled this way."

Here is the letter, dated March 28, from Berlin, that dealt the heavy blow:

"Dear Sir,

"On the account which we have hitherto kept for you in our books, there is to-day an approximate credit balance of M. 2,128,400. (Here's where hope swelled, and imagination soared, only to be cast down by the following tidings).

"As a payment of this account cannot any more be effected owing to the great depreciation of the Reichsmark, and, as also the general charges connected with further keeping your account would be against your interest, we have decided to write off the balance, thereby closing your account."

"We trust that, under the circumstances you will consent to this measure and we are, dear Sir,

"Very truly Yours,

Direction der Disconto-Gesellschaft."

Well, that was had enough, but why pile on the straw that break the poor camel's back? The climax came in the postscript, when he read that he actually owed the Bank three billion marks for the little stamp which adorned the envelope that held the letter that brought the sad news.

Of course, these three billion marks are only worth one little nickel in Canadian cash, so it is not as bad as it sounds—Montreal Star.

"We trust that, under the circumstances you will consent to this measure and we are, dear Sir,

"Very truly Yours,

Direction der Disconto-Gesellschaft."

Well, that was had enough, but why pile on the straw that break the poor camel's back? The climax came in the postscript, when he read that he actually owed the Bank three billion marks for the little stamp which adorned the envelope that held the letter that brought the sad news.

Of course, these three billion marks are only worth one little nickel in Canadian cash, so it is not as bad as it sounds—Montreal Star.

COOKED VEGETABLES.

Cooked vegetables that are to be used in salads should be thoroughly chilled.

The fresh green of cross makes an attractive contrast with scrambled eggs.

Thin slices of soft gum drops make an attractive decoration for food cakes.

Eggs that are a few days old will peel easier when hard cooked than fresh eggs.

SHARP'S LINIMENT FOR COUGHS

Season creamed shrimps with chopped peppers and serve in puff pastries.

At least twenty inches should be allowed from plate to plate when seating guests.

Poppers are delicious filled with stewed fruit or preserves and served with sauce.

Broiled bacon, grouped with peanut butter makes a sandwich filling.

15 DAYS MESSAGES

WIFE SLAYER TAKES POISON
WINNIPEG, April 30.—After attacking his wife with an axe she slept in bed Monday night, crushing in her skull without knowing the other inmates of the prison, Philip Albricht, of Ingelbriant, ended his life shortly after he was made by their son Henry, who found the bodies lying in separate beds. There were no signs that anyone had taken place. An empty bottle of poison believed to have strychnine or gopher poison in it.

CONSERVATIVES ATTACK ABSENCE OF PROTECTIVE TARIFF

LONDON, April 30.—The Conservatives began their attack on the government's budget in the House of Commons today. Everyone expected the onslaught would be at the abolition of the McKenna duty on foreign manufacturers and on the attention to oppose any building of a tariff wall around the empire scheme of Imperial preference. Leading the Conservative attack, Robert Horne, the former Chancellor of the Exchequer, said he saw prospects at all of holding the Empire together if the government was going to flout the resolutions passed at the Imperial Conference last autumn. J. H. Thomas, secretary for Colonies, immediately attacked the Conservatives and called themselves as alone guardians of the Empire. "Stop talking," he said, to the Conservatives, "as the Empire was the property of one man, and realize that on the one benches, and indeed in all parts of the House you will find ready to co-operate with you in their best for the Empire." Mr. Horne went on to say that the government declared as much as anybody that had arisen since the day when the government had promised action to the dominions and colonies and then suffered defeat at the polls for doing it, and he added, "but you are not responsible for the diff-

SHIP SEIZED IN HALIFAX

HALIFAX, N.S., April 30.—Several customs officers here seized the British steamer Wyke, registered in London Register, laden with opium for violation of the Temperance Act. The master, Andrew Myrbord, the boatwain, coming ashore with bottles of brandy and at once arrested him under arrest. The master reported to the Customs and the ship followed.

DEATH TOLL STEADILY INCREASES

ATLANTA, Ga., April 30.—Fifty-one persons were killed, and 400 injured, many perhaps hundreds were made homeless by untold property damage was done by storms of cyclonic proportions which devastated a section of the southeast today. Fragmentary reports continuing to trickle in from the storm area recorded a steadily increasing list of dead and injured tonight as the disturbance moved to North Carolina, the fifth to suffer.

LOUISIANA'S CHIEF JUSTICE PASSES AWAY

OTTAWA, April 30.—Louis Davies, Chief Justice for Louisiana, aged 79, died here this morning after 5 days illness.
