BY TELEGRAPH. Conference and Workmen. The Peabody Fund. A Million People Starving. The Temperance Warfare. Widespread Success. Boiler Explosion. The Tichborne Case. London, March 3. The special correspondent of the Daily News in India telegraphs that the village of Eastern Tirohot are slowly starving to death. The above were referred to the different committees. Mr. Elliott laid on the table the Auditor's report. Mr. Coffee presented the report of the Road and Bridge Committee. After careful enquiry they find it necessary to open the drain running through the Market Square into Wyndham Street, to ascertain the cause of the water flowing into cellars on Wyndham and Macdonell Streets. Salutes were fired on Saturday in several places on receipt of the news of the verdict in the Tichborne case. A despatch has been received at the Indian Office, from George Campbell, Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, giving a most alarming report of the condition of the people in that Presidency. A Hartford despatch reports the death, by apoplexy, of W. P. Barrell, Vice-President of the New York, New Haven, and Hartford R. R. Co. The High School in Elora Burned. This morning the High School here was totally destroyed by fire.

Town Council. The Council met on Monday night. Present the Mayor in the chair. Messrs. Hefferman, Petrie, Hall, Bruce, Crowe, Elliott, Raymond, Howard, Hood, McCrae, Davidson, Coffee, Mills, Harvey. The Clerk read a letter from Mr. Guthrie, Town Solicitor, to the effect that the Grand Trunk proposed a change in their agreement about the siding, and that as soon as it was returned to him he would submit it to the Council. PETITIONS. By Mr. McCrae from Harley & Heather asking for better drainage on Waterloo Street. Mr. Coffee from J. T. Cunningham offering to lease a portion of gravel for the use of the Corporation, and to take his pay in debentures. By Mr. Bruce from Jane Lewis asking additional help from the Relief Committee. By Mr. Elliott from the Trustees of the proposed new Methodist Church, asking the Council to construct a drain on the street next to where the new church is to be built. By Mr. Howard from John Catepole asking aid from the Council, as he is in bad health. The above were referred to the different committees. REPORTS OF COMMITTEES. Mr. Elliott laid on the table the Auditor's report. Referred to the Finance Committee. Mr. Coffee presented the report of the Road and Bridge Committee. After careful enquiry they find it necessary to open the drain running through the Market Square into Wyndham Street, to ascertain the cause of the water flowing into cellars on Wyndham and Macdonell Streets. The Committee recommended that the Council advertise for cedar scantling and pine lumber for town purposes; and that the laying of all new sidewalks and graveling or macadamizing of streets and making drains be let by contract when the committee consider it practicable. They also recommend that the overseer be furnished with a regular time book, in which he is to keep the men's time, and that the Clerk be instructed to pay the men once a week, upon the order of the overseer, countersigned by the chairman of the committee, or in his absence by the Mayor. Mr. Harvey presented the report of the Market House Committee. In accordance with a report as presented and adopted by last year's Council, the committee have had under consideration plans for a new Town Hall and Market, as prepared by Mr. V. Stewart, and also one of an extension of the present building, and after careful consideration are of opinion that on account of the increase of the market, an extension could not be erected which would meet all the requirements without greatly disfiguring the present building and occupying a portion of the grain and wood market, which cannot be spared, and the construction of a new Town Hall and Market on the site at present occupied by the vegetable market. Mr. Bruce presented the report of the Relief Committee, recommending that $400 be placed to their credit. Mr. Crowe presented the report of the Special Committee for a new division of the Wards in town, and the setting apart of a fifth Ward, also giving the boundaries of the proposed new Wards. That they find as at present constituted, great irregularity exists both in regard to the size, length of Ward streets, and number of voters in each ward, and the committee are of opinion that a rearrangement can best be effected by creating a fifth ward to be called the Central Ward. The boundaries of the different wards to be as follows:-The East Ward as it now stands. The South Ward to start at the point of intersection of Northumberland and Norfolk Streets, thence south along Gordon Street to the Corporation limits; north along the line of the Grand Trunk to West Yorkshire Street crosses the railway thence north to Northumberland Street, and east along this street to the point of beginning. The Central Ward the southern boundary the same as the northern boundary of the South Ward; west to the Corporation limits; eastern boundary Edinburgh Road to Liverpool Street, to Woolwich Street, along Woolwich Street to Nelson Crescent; along Quebec Street to St. George's Square; along Wyndham Street to Macdonell Street; along Macdonell Street to Norfolk Street, and thence to east end of Northumberland Street. The West Ward to comprise the balance of the old Ward including that part of the North Ward north of the London Road and west of the River. The North to remain as it is with the exception of the portion above mentioned, which is to be added to the West Ward. The Council went into Committee of the whole on the Road and Bridge Report. Mr. Davidson in the chair. A somewhat desultory discussion took place on the advisability of adopting a more effective system in regard to the drainage of the Town, especially in enlarging and making more serviceable the drain on Wyndham Street. The Council seemed to be also unanimous in initiating a better system for doing the work on roads and sidewalks. It was admitted that much money had been uselessly spent in past years, and it was the opinion of the members that an overseer thoroughly versed in all kinds of road work, and able to take levels, &c., should be employed to take charge of the men employed by the Corporation, and to superintend all repairs and improvements. When the Council resumed, the motion for the adoption of the report was moved by Mr. Coffee, seconded by Mr. Raymond, and carried. The Council went into committee on the report of the Market House Committee, when Mr. Harvey moved the adoption of the report. The Chairman of the members that an overseer should be employed to take charge of the report, some of the members expressing themselves in favor of having the new hall built on the present site of the vegetable sheds, some favoring the extenion of the present market building by adding a wing to it, while others favored the erection of a new hall in another part of the town, the noise of railway train being advanced as an objection why the proposed new hall should not be located where proposed. Moved in amendment by Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Raymond, that the report be laid over for further consideration till next meeting of Council.-Carried. Moved in amendment to the amendment by Mr. Hood, seconded Mr. Hood that the report be amended by substituting the plan submitted by Mr. Stewart for the extension of the present building, subject to such alterations as the Council may propose. Lost-four yeas for it. When the Council resumed Mr. Davidson moved, seconded by Mr. McCrae, that the report of the committee as amended be adopted, which lays it over for further consideration. Moved in amendment by Mr. Elliott, seconded by Mr. Hefferman, that the report be not adopted, but that the report of the Market Committee be amended by substituting the plan submitted by Mr. Stewart for the extension of the present Town Hall, subject to such modifications as may be adopted by the Council. The amendment was put, when there was a tie, seven yeas for and seven against it. The Mayor gave his casting vote in favor of the amendment. The yeas and nays are as follows:- Yeas:-Hefferman, Petrie, Hall, Bruce, Elliott, Hood and H. Harvey. Nays:-Crowe, Raymond, Howard, McCrae, Davidson, Coffee, Mills. The rule for the adjournment of the Council at ten o'clock was suspended. The report of the Relief Committee was on motion of Mr. Bruce adopted. The Council went into Committee on the report of the special committee for the re-arrangement of the Wards in the town. Mr. Harvey in the chair, when Mr. Crowe moved, seconded by Mr. Elliott, that the report be adopted. After a long discussion of a very irregular character Mr. Elliott moved, seconded by Mr. Raymond, that the committee rise and ask leave to sit again. Lost by the chairman giving his casting vote. The motion for the adoption of the report was then put, and lost on the same vote as on the previous motion. The Committee then rose, without reporting, and the report can be brought up again. The Council then adjourned. Wesleyan Missionary Meeting. The annual missionary meeting of the Guelph Wesleyan Methodist Church was held on Monday night in the Church. Both the body of the church and the gallery were well filled. The meeting having been opened with singing and prayer, a fine anthem was well sung by the choir, several bold unison passages being rendered with excellent effect. Rev. I. B. Howard, who was chairman for the evening, opened the proceedings. He spoke of the great increase of the Wesleyan Missions, and noticed the fact that they had on the platform a deputa-tion consisting of men from the far East and the far West-from the very ends of the earth. He concluded a brief speech by calling upon the Secretary to read the report. Mr. Wm. Stevenson read the annual report for the year ending June 1873. The record of the society had never been so prosperous as it was for the past year. The report referred to the great success of the missions in Manitoba, in the Saskatchewan district, in British Columbia, and in the domestic missions in Ontario and Quebec. A summary of the work showed that there were twelve missions stations in British Columbia and Manitoba, 37 missions to the Indians in the Saskatchewan, the Hudson Bay territory, and Ontario and Quebec, of whom ten were native evangelists; 155 domestic missions in Ontario and Quebec; four German missions, five French; and two to Japan; making a total of 215 mission stations. There were also 24 day schools. There was an increase of 23 missions over the preceding year. The revenue of the society for current year was $108,900, an increase of $14,000 over the preceding year. The expenditures had been $199,658, an increase of $20,000. The collections of the Guelph branch had been $318 for the year. (Applause.) Rev. Mr. Messmore, missionary for 12 years in India, addressed the meeting. He spoke of the vastness of the population of Hindoostan, and the special difficulties that the missionaries had to counter. The population of that great peninsula was 240,000,000, of whom the Hindoos were the most numerous, then the Mussulmans, then the Parsees and other classes. Missionaries were made to feel on arriving there that they were thoroughly unprepared. The religion of the Hindoos was a very ancient one, and their beliefs were of a character that made it exceedingly difficult for Christian truth to reach them. First, they were thoroughly imbued with the idea of earning heaven by good works, and thought charitable deeds would be scored to the credit side of their account in the Divine ledger; so that when the missionary talked to them of justification by faith, they laughed at it as utter nonsense. In the second place, the doctrine of the transmigration of souls was a great hindrance. They believed that their souls would ultimately reach such perfection as to become absorbed in the Deity, and that in course of preparation for this result the soul passed through many different bodies, not only of men, but of animals. Then they held the opinion of the nationality of religion; they believed that the Hindoo belief was specially fitted and intended by God for the Hindoos, and that Christianity was in like manner the special religion for Europeans. They never attempted to make converts, and thought it subversive of the Divine Will that the Christians should try to do so. Again, the lazar and subtle influence of "caste" was felt everywhere rising up like an iron barrier between the Hindoos and the missionary.

The Rival Clansmen

A Scottish Yodetta. CHAPTER XX. HECTOR M'LEOD FOLLOWS CAMERON AND IAN—NARROWLY ESCAPES FALLING INTO THE LION'S DEN—MEETS FRIENDS WHO SHALL BY AND-BY PROVE OF IMPORTANCE.

"I cannot stay," was the response of Hector. He was struggling with the emotions which were surging within him. Now he has realised that his enemies had been successful in regaining possession of Flora, and had her, for a time at least, apparently secure, his grief and agony of mind were almost unbearable, and but for the presence of other men he would have wept aloud on the spot. He was eager to be away, to be alone by himself for a brief moment, that he might give vent to his feelings; for he knew that he should be calmer and more resolute after the burst was over.

"M'Leod," replied Winterton, "this is madness; you must eat something. For the sake of those you want to succor, I entreat you to eat with us."

"Thank you, Captain; but every moment is precious, and a small parcel, gulping down a heavy sob. "If you can give me a mouthful of bread, I shall eat it as I go forward, and I can wash it down with the snow. But I cannot stay to breakfast with you."

"As you will, then, M'Leod," was the response of the Captain. "Then raising his voice—"Hey, Goodley—Sergeant Goodley!"

"All right, sir," responded that officer, stepping with alacrity out from the middle of a small group, and saluting as he approached his commander.

"Run to where the rations are lying and bring some bread and a piece of venison for M'Leod; he won't stay to breakfast with us. By the way, give the order for breakfast now, and we start for Skerryvach immediately."

"All right, sir," said the sergeant, as he moved off. In a few seconds he returned, and handed a small parcel to the young man, who was impatiently chafing under the delay, although he knew well the kindly feelings that prompted it and the necessity for his strength and vigour being kept up if he would be successful in the undertaking on which he had embarked.

"Good-bye, and may God speed you," exclaimed Winterton, seizing his hand and heartily shaking it before he turned to go. "I know something of your state of mind, and although I am here to quell such disturbances as those you go to raise I must say it would be a pity indeed were not summary vengeance to be executed upon such ruffians as Ian M'Kenzie and Donald Cameron."

M'Leod made no reply, but, waving an adieu to the soldiers and their commander, at once struck the path leading to Kinloch-Bwo.

He walked rapidly on until he had reached a turn which hid him from the view of the soldiers, and then did his grief find vent. His heart was filled to overflowing with regret at the misfortune which had befallen his betrothed and Anne M'Leod, and a terrible indignation burned within him at the thought of his enemies gloating over their temporary triumph, for temporary he was determined it should be. Yet he had been baffled so often that he was almost afraid to hope. But hope he would, and what for? He was resolute and determined, and it is the unchangeable law of heaven that when resolution and determination are allied to right that right shall triumph.

His cause was good, and, gloomy as matters at present appeared, he firmly held to the belief that all obstacles would yet be swept away.
