EDUCATIONAL THEORIES. There is a complaint that higher education in Canada is too much specialized, that general culture is being neglected, and that there is a tendency toward materialism.

It is true that what is called a liberal education, an all-round culture, is more difficult to obtain than it was half a century ago. Then a man would hope to be a classical scholar, a mathematician and have a fair all-round knowledge of the physical sciences.

Scientists are themselves alive to the danger of over-specialization. Students in the School of Practical Science are advised to lay a good foundation in the sciences which underlie all the branches of their profession.

There is no necessary conflict between the practical and the ideal in education. Scientific agricultural education has had important social, moral and political results.

It is easy to understand that the farmer has a broader view of life, and a larger leisure class, the neglect of the practical side of education has been felt. The Bishop of Ripon, himself an Oxford man and classical scholar, has said: "The world is crowded with a number of well-educated young fellows, who know much, but are fit for nothing."

mediate resignation and a resignation that takes effect on a certain date. It is a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other. The promise to resign given over Mr. Davis' own signature carried with it the same damaging admissions which the actual resignation implied.

Mr. Davis had to so carefully differentiate between a promise to resign and a resignation why should he not go to the same pains now to dissociate a promise to resign in North York from his actual nomination?

Mr. Davis will not be legally and formally the Liberal candidate in North York until nomination day, a week prior to the elections. It is strange that such a student for formality should show North York to think that he is a candidate when he is not a candidate. To be constant, the Minister of Crown Lands should be chasing thru the concessions and side lines of the constituency assuring the people that he is not in the field.

WHAT IS THE LIMIT? Shivering in the cars of the Toronto Street Railway Company, citizens must be puzzled to know whether they should admire the nerve of the company or marvel at their own docility. Coal may be obtained, but passengers are assured that it is too dear. The people could be given the comfort and convenience which they pay for, but giving people their rights might deny the company's shareholders the small fraction of their usual dividends. The people must ride cold in order that the company may earn dividends for its shareholders.

A company which steals comfort and convenience from the people is no better than a man who steals money from a fare box. For his fare the passenger is entitled to quick transit and a comfortable seat in a warm car. When he gets quick transit only, which is too often the case, the company unlawfully appropriates that portion of the fare which is represented by the service he fails to get.

Still, the people go on humbly paying for the privilege of freezing in a car. The company goes boldly on taking the fares which it does not earn. What is the limit of the people's docility, and what the limit of the company's brazen indifference to its obligations?

Passengers must freeze because the company does not like the price of coal. Soon they may be carried at a snail's pace because the company does not want to subject its equipment to the wear and tear of rapid transit. The people may even be asked to take turns on duty at the switchpoints because labor is dear. Finally, the company may refuse to take out its cars on rainy days lest the bill for varnish should be excessive.

There is no end to the inconveniences which the company may inflict upon the people with as much reason as its brutal decree that the people must ride in cold cars. The company recognizes only one thing, and that duty is the collection of fares.

A DREAM OF AN ANNEXATION. "The American Invasion of Canada" is the title of a half-page article in The New York Herald, with a picture of Winnipeg and a map of the west. "The invaded territory," the writer shows a more appropriate of the rapid growth of Western Canada, and he is confident that Canada is rushing headlong into annexation.

that applies at Ottawa for government or parliamentary favor. To go into a larger sphere, what would be thought of President Roosevelt's legislation governing the trusts if, while he was preparing the anti-trust bill, he had a million dollars invested in those trusts? What would be thought of Hon. Joseph Chamberlain if, with heavy interests in the Kimberley mines, he had made an estimate of the war tax which South African mining interests must bear?

Playing such roles, Hon. Joseph Chamberlain and President Roosevelt would only have to assert the Gibson doctrine to be jeered out of public life. The same thing would happen the ministers at Ottawa if they undertook to play judgment upon public questions in which they were financially involved.

The Connec Act is thus referred to by The Brockville Times: "Brockville has a taste of this exciting act when they brought the light plant, and cap therefore sympathize with Toronto."

The United States has appointed three eminent jurists on the Alaskan Boundary Arbitration. Britain is probably waiting for nominations from the Dominion government, and the Dominion government is probably waiting for advice from some ward association.

To the outsider there seem to be in American politics three figures that stand out and appeal to the popular imagination—those of Roosevelt, Cleveland and Bryan. The prospects of the Democratic party are generally spoken of as poor, yet it will be seen that out of three of these striking figures Cleveland and Bryan would make their party once more formidable.

The Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Oliver Mowat, is one of the few survivors of the old school of Canadian statesmen. He began his public career forty-six years ago, and first held office under George Brown in the celebrated, short administration. As the present generation is best known as the man who held for a quarter of a century the Premiership of Ontario. The period before Confederation produced some very able public men, and Sir Oliver Mowat was entitled to rank with the best of them, while his moderate and conciliatory methods gave him a place of his own.

NOT PLEASED. Manitoulin Expositor: Under the heading "People Before Party," The Manitoulin Reformer endorses Mr. Gamble's top over in these words, "We think Mr. Gamble is to be commended rather than censured in his determination to place the welfare of his constituency ahead of party interests," and adds: "The Reformers of the district are pleased at the stand their political rival has taken."

Here is a statement of affairs that must come as a surprise and shock to the Reformers as a party. Mr. Gamble contested this constituency, as the Conservative says, as a straight Conservative candidate, and thus the Reformers as a party had no work in his election. How the Reformers can so justly themselves as to put Mr. Gamble on the back and receive him with open arms we fail to see. As a matter of fact the Reform party are not pleased by any means with Mr. Gamble, so they are not throwing down the gauntlet to him as they do. It takes little stock in the stability, reliability and trustworthiness of the man who will treat the party in a treacherous manner, who drove Miller over the ice running great risk of losing his life in order to nominate him as their candidate, and who both night and day put up the hardest fight of his life to secure his election. The Conservatives are not over the matter that even the Conservative has to shout with all vehemence it has, not once but a dozen times or more in one issue to "keep cool."

The Manitoulin Reformer, the self-professed organ of the Reform party, must be very ill advised as to the true pulse of the Liberals when it makes such statements as above quoted from its columns. Had Mr. Gamble been elected as an independent Conservative his support of Mr. Ross could be understood, as he would be supporting a policy, as he is independent, could not condemn in his election campaign, as a Conservative candidate, Mr. Gamble did condemn the Liberal government in the most powerful language he was capable of using and report says that the result of the election had hardly been declared by the returning officer before some of his supporters were ready to bet that he would vote with Ross. The Expositor believes it expresses the true opinion of the Liberal party when it says that the Reformers of Manitoulin have no use for Mr. Gamble's turning his coat, and thus betraying the sacred trust reposed in him by his friends and supporters. If Mr. Gamble wishes to support Mr. Ross all well and good. The Reformers of this district will not receive Mr. Gamble with open arms, no matter how strongly he supports Mr. Ross.

The period before Confederation produced some very able public men, and Sir Oliver Mowat was entitled to rank with the best of them, while his moderate and conciliatory methods gave him a place of his own.

NOT PLEASED. Manitoulin Expositor: Under the heading "People Before Party," The Manitoulin Reformer endorses Mr. Gamble's top over in these words, "We think Mr. Gamble is to be commended rather than censured in his determination to place the welfare of his constituency ahead of party interests," and adds: "The Reformers of the district are pleased at the stand their political rival has taken."

Here is a statement of affairs that must come as a surprise and shock to the Reformers as a party. Mr. Gamble contested this constituency, as the Conservative says, as a straight Conservative candidate, and thus the Reformers as a party had no work in his election. How the Reformers can so justly themselves as to put Mr. Gamble on the back and receive him with open arms we fail to see. As a matter of fact the Reform party are not pleased by any means with Mr. Gamble, so they are not throwing down the gauntlet to him as they do. It takes little stock in the stability, reliability and trustworthiness of the man who will treat the party in a treacherous manner, who drove Miller over the ice running great risk of losing his life in order to nominate him as their candidate, and who both night and day put up the hardest fight of his life to secure his election. The Conservatives are not over the matter that even the Conservative has to shout with all vehemence it has, not once but a dozen times or more in one issue to "keep cool."

The Manitoulin Reformer, the self-professed organ of the Reform party, must be very ill advised as to the true pulse of the Liberals when it makes such statements as above quoted from its columns. Had Mr. Gamble been elected as an

SINIA AND THE SALOON. Lawlessness Traced to Liquor by Temperance League Speaker.

John M. Godfrey, chairman of the Public School Board, presided at the Sunday afternoon meeting in Massey Hall yesterday. In his address he said it was, perhaps, a mistake to suppose that there was any short-cut to the removal of the evils of intemperance—absolutely. But one thing he was satisfied upon, and that was that his opinion was strong enough to-day, in the Province of Ontario, not alone to do away with the bar and treating system, but to see that such a law, when carried, was thoroughly enforced.

Rev. Ward B. Dickard of Cleveland, who was the speaker of the afternoon, spoke on the relations between the ten commandments and the liquor traffic, his subject being "Sin and Saloon." Answering the question: "What institution produced the most lawlessness in the land?" he said there was nothing to compare with the liquor traffic, and by taking each commandment separately he showed that liquor was responsible for much sin. It was worthy of note, he said, that eight of the ten commandments were prohibitory. God had put prohibition into His constitution and the lawless might with safety embody it in His laws.

JUDGMENT SHUTS OUT JEWS

Montreal Justice Rules That Paul Pinsler's Son Can Not Have a Scholarship.

BECAUSE FATHER NOT A PROTESTANT

Decision That Will Affect 10,000 Residents in the Eastern City.

Montreal, Feb. 15.—It appears that certain disabilities still remain to the Hebrews, as regards the school laws of this province. Mr. Justice Davidson has just dismissed the petition of Paul Pinsler, who, as tutor to his son, Jacob, applied for a mandamus to compel the Protestant School Commissioners to grant to his son a commissioner's scholarship at the High School. The boy attended DuRoi school for two prescribed terms, and came out first in the examinations. The court ruled, however, that as the father was not a Protestant, and not a school taxpayer on property owned by him, the boy was not entitled to the privilege. In delivering the judgment, His Lordship reviewed the different aspects of the case, and the whole school legislation of the province.

invoked and of others that suggest themselves to me brings me to the conclusion that a person of the Jewish religion, resident of this city and not a school taxpayer on real estate owned by him, also he may be a tenant, has no status under our statutes relating to education, and cannot claim a right to have his son admitted to respondent's schools. If such admission is given, it is by grace, and may be subjected to the limitation of exclusion from the commissioner's scholarships, which carry with them a free course in the High or senior schools.

DIED OF STRANGE DISEASE.

Letter Carrier's Skin Turned Black and His Flesh Dropped Off.

New York, Feb. 15.—Jacob Berlin, a Brooklyn letter carrier, died in his home at 58 St. Mark's-avenue yesterday, after a year's awful suffering from a disease that baffled his physician. Berlin became ill with what was thought to be jaundice. Gradually his skin turned darker, however, until two or three months before his death he was as black as a negro.

FROM MANTOUJIN.

Mantoujin Expositor: If Mr. Ganev does not resign after meeting his friends, the Executive of the Conservative Association, at their indignation meeting at Gore Bay on the 10th, then you can count on more than one death. He will be the means of warping the whole Conservative party to the support of the Liberal party and forth as the party of political purity, and that proved beyond proceeding, the Conservative member himself.

ENGLISH EPIGRAMS.

London, Feb. 15.—The following are extracts from some of the past week's speeches.

LETTERS OF GRATITUDE.

When a man like me has suffered for nearly forty years with the agonies of rheumatism, I am glad to see that the Electric Belt is not only a cure, but a relief. I have used it for three months, and I feel better and stronger than I have for years. ALEX. F. FRASER, Britton, Ont.

I could fill this paper with just such letters. If you can show me a case of Rheumatism, Lame Back, Lumbago, Sciatica, Varicose, Nervous Debility, Constipation, or any form of weakness that my Belt will not cure within three months, used according to my directions, I will pay you $1,000 in gold.

PAY WHEN CURED.

READ WITH CARE. For the protection of the reputation my Belt has made for itself, for the benefit of those who have spent money on other Electric Belts, I am compelled to warn the public against certain cheaply made imitations. I am not a doctor, and I do not wish to be so called. I am a man of science, and I have no other motive than to relieve suffering.

SHOT DOWN BY TUBE.

Six Workmen Battered by Steel Mail Carrier of N.Y.

New York, Feb. 15.—A half-dozen men were trying yesterday afternoon to relieve the most troublesome choking-up that has ever occurred in the pneumatic mail-carrying tubes here, had taken out a section of the eight-inch tube at Eighteenth-street and Fourth-avenue and were standing in an expert at the rate of fifty sixty feet a second, shot out of the updown end of the tube while the workmen were probing in the powder and crashing into the gang, knocking every man down.

One of them, Hugh F. Hart, was taken to the New York Hospital with a fractured skull and both legs broken. An order was sent to the police and the men were arrested. The others were bruised and one of them the wind was knocked out of them.

MISS BOIES AS A SMASHER.

Woman Who Whipped Topoka's Mayor Emulates Carrie Nation.

Topoka, Kan., Feb. 15.—Miss Blanche Boies, who distinguished herself last year by publicly horsewhipping Mayor Parker of the same town, and who yesterday morning smashed seven liquor stores, Miss Boies is on operations at the annex of the leading hotel, and with an arm smasher she is smashing the windows of a drug store. Near this was a saloon, which she opened by breaking two windows in the front of the building.

She marched across the street to the popular resort where members of the Archduchess's household were gathered. When arrested she threw her arm over her shoulder in true womanman fashion, and during a desperate struggle with the policeman he killed Cyrus Schaffer, one of their number. He was finally landed in jail without further trouble.

MORGAN FORGER A SUICIDE.

Count de Bosdari Said He Would Jump into the Channel.

London, Feb. 15.—There is keen interest in art circles over the forgeries of J. Pierpont Morgan's name in the matter of the alleged purchase by him of valuable pictures that were stolen by the Earl of Bessborough, and the social prominence gained by the abject Morgan, partner in the banking firm of Werher, Bell & Co., is one of the victims.

Count de Bosdari says that before her husband disappeared he showed her several lead weights, which he declared he would put in his pockets and then jump from a channel boat. For this reason she professes to have escaped the police. The police, however, do not accept this theory.

THIEVING IN WOMEN'S CLUBS.

London, Feb. 15.—Women's clubland seems at present to be suffering from an attack of kleptomania. The venerable tendency among members for pilfering another's umbrellas has developed into a craze for pilfering purses and loose jewelry. Three clubs are suffering from this evil just now.

Both were alive, but the man died in an ambulance on the way to the hospital. Edward Jones was 38 years old, and his sister ten years younger. On the way to the hospital the sister said that she and her brother, because of their poverty, had cut each other's throat.

REPORT WILL FAVOR MINERS

Every Indication That the Modified Demands of the Strikers Have Been Upheld.

TEN PER CENT. INCREASE IN WAGES

Nine-Hour Day and Weighing at the Mines Among Important Concessions.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—Now that the Anthracite Strike Commission has before it all the facts bearing on the strike, it is possible to forecast some of the more important findings of the tribunal. The report will probably be ready within a month.

The miners will be awarded a general increase of wages amounting to 10 per cent. throughout the region. Concessions and adjustments to be made at each colliery to meet this stipulation.

A work-day of nine hours will be made obligatory, the mine workers being especially directed to develop sufficient intensity of labor to keep the output up to cost up to the present standard.

Coal must be weighed wherever practical and all new collieries shall be opened with the understanding that the miners shall be paid by weight.

The findings will be incorporated in the first of two reports to be submitted to the President. The second report will give voluminous and more detailed recommendations, not necessarily binding, will be contained therein.

Some of the stipulations that will be made are: Boycotting must cease. Company stores to be abolished. Supplies to be sold at cost wherever the miners are employed in strong terms. Abolition of child labor recommended. Union miners to preserve discipline at the work.

All contracts to be fulfilled according to law and usage. Disputes must be settled by local boards of arbitration. Incorporation of union discussed but not made obligatory. No decree as to recognition of United Mine Workers of America. Laborers to be paid by company direct, instead of through the miners.

ALL OF ONE MIND.

The Wonderful Record of a Canadian-Made Piano.

It is a matter of common comment among concert goers that the piano made by the old firm of Heintzman & Co. seems ever the choice of the most famous artists. Albani through her Canadian tour this season and former seasons used one of these beautiful instruments.

The shipments in Grand Forks, B.C., for the week ending Feb. 14, were: Mother Lode, 2,510; Subst. 3,122; Grand Forks, 10,790.

Did Clark Sell Out? Dawson, Y.T., Feb. 15.—At a mass meeting of the opposition, it was reported that the prospecting party of Clark and Ross, who were in the Yukon, had sold out to the government because he was opposed to a protest.

THINK IT OVER.

Something You Can See in Any Restaurant or Cafe. A physician puts the query: Have you never noticed in any large restaurant or cafe, many of the waiters and waitresses of hearty, vigorous old men at the tables, men whose ages run from 60 to 70 years, many of them with white hair, but whose faces are as young as those of the boys and girls?

Perhaps the spectacle is so common that you will not notice it. The waiter or waitress who is eating with you will observe that they are not munching bread and butter, but are picking their way through a menu card of new fangled food foods; on the contrary, they are eating a simple, hearty, beef, a properly turned loaf of mutton, and even the deadly broiled lobster is not altogether ignored.

The point of all this is that a vigorous old age depends upon good digestion and plenty of wholesome food and not upon dieting and an endeavor to live upon bread crackers.

There is a certain class of food cranks who seem to believe that meat, coffee and many other good things are rank poisons, but these odious, sickly looking individuals are a walking condemnation of their own theories.

The matter in a nutshell is that if the stomach secretes the natural digestive juices in sufficient quantity, any wholesome food will be promptly digested; if the stomach does not do so, and certain foods cause distress one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal will remove all difficulty because they supply just what every weak stomach lacks, peptic and hydrochloric acid, diastase and mucus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not act strictly a medicine, as they act almost entirely upon the food eaten, digesting it thoroughly, and thus give a much needed rest and an appetite for the next meal.

Persons who travel nine out of ten miles a day, and who are unable to eat at any time, and also having found out by experience that they are unable to guard against indigestion in any form, and eating as they have to, at all hours and all kinds of food, the travelling public should try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. It is the most popular and successful remedy for any stomach trouble.
