COMMITTEE SAYS WOMEN REQUIRED FOR THE FARMS

50,000 Men Will Be Needed For the Harvesting Next Autumn.

GLASS ATTACKS GOVT.

Ottawa, April 26.—The Commons committee on agriculture met this morning to receive the report of the special sub-committee appointed on Friday last, to make a report on the labor situation, and more particularly the employment of labor in non-essential industries.

The report stated that owing to the loss, open spring there is no great need of men for seeding, but that there is a great need of women help. For the harvest season, from August 1 to November 15, probably 50,000 men would be required.

Ontario Disputes This. The committee members of the committee disputed the statement that there is no serious shortage of men for seeding purposes in Eastern Canada.

Another Critic. Chairman Henderson suggested that the committee should offer some constructive policy, rather than criticism. John Best of Dufferin supported the views expressed by Mr. Glass. He believed that more information could be collected as to labor conditions through the provincial authorities in the provinces.

Too Much Selfishness. Dr. Edwards said there was no use finding fault with the military service act, which had been accepted by Parliament. Many people looked at the matter from a selfish standpoint. The country, he said, was suffering from unpatriotic selfishness on the part of employers of labor, who do not care what happens so long as they are allowed to make their profits.

WEIGHT CARRIES THE HUNS TO POINT ON MOUNT KEMMEL, BUT ELSEWHERE ARE HELD

GERMANS TAKE KEMMEL HILL

London, April 26.—The Germans, in their attack on the northern battlefield, have occupied Kemmel Hill, Gen. Delma Radcliffe, chief director of military operations, at the war office stated this afternoon.

THE WAR SITUATION

Flanders is again the scene of the full tide of battle. Against Mount Kemmel and the other hills forming the protecting bastion to the plains east and north of Ypres the Germans are hurling thousands of troops.

Switching Attacks. The tactics of switching attacks is not new to the Germans, and was persisted in by them in their vain attempt to capture Verdun two years ago.

Enemy Makes Slight Gain In Surging Struggle For Heights In Ypres Salient—French and German Artillery In All-Night Combat—Surprise Leap of Haig Wins Back Villers-Bretonneux, Takes 600 Prisoners.

With the British Army in France, April 26.—The French this morning are counter-attacking at Mount Kemmel, in an attempt to reclaim the positions taken by the Germans.

Yesterday's fighting was of a desperate nature, and the enemy gains were only made at a frightful cost.

London, April 26.—A footing has been obtained on Kemmel Hill by the Germans in their attacks on the northern battlefield, the war office announced today. The fighting is still continuing in this region.

WEIGHT FORCED BRITISH BACK. Paris, April 26.—Heavy artillery fighting south of the Somme is reported by the war office.

The Allied forces were engaged all day yesterday with greatly superior enemy forces along this front from Bailleul to Hollebeke (a distance of about ten miles), and finally were compelled to give ground.

NIGHT BATTERY BATTLE. Paris, April 26.—The French official statement follows: "South of the Somme, violent artillery fighting occurred during the course of the night."

"We carried out a number of raids at different points on the front, especially in the region east of Lassigny, between the Meuse and the Aisne, near Bezonvaux, in the region of Eparges, in Lorraine, and in the Vosges. We took prisoners."

Everywhere else the night was calm."

FOE POSTS CLEARED OUT. London, April 26.—The official British report says: "German posts, which were holding out southeast of Villers-Bretonneux, on the front south of the Somme, after its recapture by the British, were cleared up."

On the Bailleul-Hollebeke front, after severe fighting lasting throughout the day against a greatly superior force, the Allied troops were compelled to give ground, and the enemy obtained a footing on Kemmel Hill. Fighting still continues in the neighborhood of Dranoutre, Kemmel and Yverdrum.

A successful minor operation during the night west of Merville, and captured 50 prisoners and three machine guns. The hostile artillery has been active along our front from the Lys River to Givency."

VILLERS-BRETONNEUX RECAPTURED. LONDON, April 25.—Australian and English troops have recaptured Villers-Bretonneux and taken more than 600 prisoners in that region, Field Marshal Haig reports from headquarters to-night.

Farther to the north on a line from Bailleul to Wytschaete there has been very heavy fighting, and the Allied troops were obliged to withdraw from their positions.

The statement says: "The French and British positions from north of Bailleul to east of Wytschaete have been heavily attacked all day. There was fighting of great severity on the whole of this front, particularly in the neighborhood of Dranoutre, Kemmel and Vierstraet. In the course of repeated attacks and counter-attacks, the Allied troops have been compelled to withdraw from the positions they held this morning, and the fighting continues."

"South of the Somme several counter-attacks, launched by Australian and English troops last night against the positions gained by the enemy yesterday in and around Villers-Bretonneux, carried our line onward to within a short distance of our former front and resulted in the capture of over 600 prisoners. The village is now in our possession."

"The enemy's attack yesterday morning on this front was made by at least four divisions and his objectives are stated by prisoners to have included the village of Cachy and the Cachy-Fouilly road. These objectives were not reached at any point. The number of German dead found in the positions recaptured by our troops show that the losses of the enemy were very heavy."

PENSIONS REDUCED FOR NO REASON, IS CHARGE OF SOLDIER. BARON RHONDDA HAS QUIT POSITION OF BRITISH FOOD BOSS.

Difficult To Get Adequate Awards in Some Cases. Resignation Due to Ill-Health. Says the Mail.

Ottawa, April 26.—Further evidence regarding pension awards and suggestions as to the manner in which a more equitable distribution might be brought about was given this morning by R. H. Mills, a retired soldier and a member of the Soldiers' Estate Branch, Militia Department, to the special commission on pensions.

Mr. Mills cited cases of men whose pensions had been reduced for no apparent reason and of men whose pensions were given by the directors of military service from the Province of Quebec.

He stated that the Government's intention to cancel exemption of Class 1 men between the ages of 30 and 35, inclusive, large numbers of young men in the Province of Quebec have signified their willingness to serve without waiting for the necessary call from the registrar.

"Our reports indicate," said Lieut. Col. Machin, director of military service, today, "that a large number of young men in the Province of Quebec are voluntarily joining ahead of time in refusing to examine the men, but it appeared that they did not wish to give opinion on a man's condition after he had been before a medical board."

AUTO OWNERS LIABLE FOR VEHICLE LICENSE

Motor Club Gets Ruling From Provincial Authorities.

"Give me a dog tag for my auto," said a well-known doctor, applying at the license inspector's office this morning for one of the new vehicle licenses. His was the 1,827th to be issued. The rush has more or less let up. By Monday all vehicles in the city are supposed to be tagged. The city expected to sell 3,000 tags. Either the city was about 1,100 ahead in its estimate, or else there are this number who have not purchased their licenses. If such is the case the police will have a busy time rounding them up.

The London Motor Club has been advised by the motor vehicles department of the Ontario Government that the city's charge of a dollar license on autos, as well as other vehicles, is within the city's powers. On this ruling the motor club is advising all its members to pay the license.

ST. ANGELA'S GRADUATION EXERCISES WITNESSED BY CROWD WHICH FILLED CAPACIOUS ST. PETER'S AUDITORIUM

Brilliant Program, Tasteful Decorations, Charming Costumes. Contribute in Making Annual Event One of Unusual Note—Medals and Diplomas of Year Presented by Vicar-General of Parish.

Behind footlights banked with flowers, and surrounded by scores of their fellow-students garbed in fairy costumes, the members of the graduating class of St. Angela's College, their heads crowned with the laurel wreaths and their arms laden with roses, made their initial bow to the public at St. Peter's Hall last night.

The four young ladies who bade farewell to their Alma Mater last night were Misses Kathleen Jenkins, Helen Catalano, Kathryn O'Hara and Helen Murray.

The graduating exercises were preceded by an excellent and varied program, which included several musical numbers, and an operetta entitled "The Children's Dream." The valedictory was delivered by Miss Kathryn O'Hara, and the medals and diplomas were conferred by Very Rev. D. O'Connor, vicar-general of the Diocese of London. The case in the past few years, the large auditorium and balcony proved totally inadequate to accommodate the crowd of friends and relatives of the students and graduates. Every available inch of space was occupied, and then some were unable to gain admittance.

Occupying the front of the hall were the relatives and guests of the young ladies in the graduating class, and directly in front of the stage were the seats occupied by the clergy, and by the sisters who form the staff of St. Angela's College.

Urged to Exemplify Lessons. While congratulating the students of the school on their excellent work in the operetta, Very Rev. D. O'Connor referred especially to the part taken by the little girls in the production. Addressing the graduates, he reminded them that they were now beginning their real life out in the world, and that they should have to exemplify in their lives the lessons taught in their schooldays. They had advantages many of those present had not enjoyed. He had had no such advantages, for he was the product of the little red schoolhouse. Education was one thing, and a Catholic education was another. "You have had a Catholic separate school and a Catholic academy education," he added, "and you have to be better than the rest. If you are only as good as the rest, you are worse than the rest, for you have had greater advantages."

Let Duty Be Guiding Star. "You have to bear out your diplomas, certificates and medals, but you also have to exemplify all the virtues you have to show greater humility, greater obedience, greater charity and greater honor, as well. Let duty be the guiding star of your lives. It may at times be pleasant, but do it all costs. It is only in fulfilling our duty that true happiness is to be found."

Turning to the audience he continued: "You and I are here tonight to do honor to the work done by the students and sisters of St. Angela's College in the great cause of Catholic education. I know that your good wishes go out to these sisters, and to the students and graduates."

The program opened with a pleasing chorus, in which greetings were extended to the audience. This was followed by a piano number, "Op. 10, No. 11" (Goddard), played by Miss Elaine Stevely, and by a piano trio, a patriotic march, played by Misses Agnes Leuchan, Catherine McCann and Angela Forriat. Miss Mary Catalano also played a piano number, "Romance, Op. 24, No. 9" (Sibelius). All three numbers were performed in excellent style.

Then followed the operetta, "The Children's Dream," in three acts, in which the students of the college again distinguished themselves. The chorus and solo work was well done through, proving especially fitting for the interpretation of the roles of fairies. The smaller girls won special commendation when in decidedly novel costumes, they impersonated violets, lilies and butterflies.

The soloists taking part in the program were Misses Evelyn Mullins, Pauline Cook, Mary Quigley, Josephine Catalano and Edith Kiley. Miss Eleanor McPhillips was a capable accompanist, and she was ably assisted by Misses Marion Sharpe and Leone Murphy as violinists.

At the conclusion of the operetta, the names of the graduates were read by Rev. Father Roy, and they then descended from the stage to the chair of Very Rev. Father O'Connor, who placed a laurel wreath on the head of each.

In a brief valedictory address, Miss Kathryn O'Hara then paid a tribute to her school, St. Angela's, which she and her fellow graduates were soon to leave.

A chorus of farewells to the graduates, sung by the students of the college, was followed by the awarding of the medals and diplomas. Father Roy announcing the name of the winner and the latter receiving the award from the hands of the Very Rev. Father O'Connor.

Lucky-Paramount Star

MAJESTIC

Sessue Hayakawa, in "The Honor of His House," at the Majestic Today and Saturday.

Sessue Hayakawa's newest Paramount picture is "The Honor of His House," based upon an original story and scenario by William C. De Mille. The triangular love affair that develops in this story culminates in a remarkable feat in surgery by which blood transfusion is carried to its utmost limits, a scientific dream—wherein the blood is literally pumped from the veins of one person while that of another is pumped in. In this self-sacrificing incident a great wrong is righted. The picture affords some remarkably fine opportunities for dramatic acting, while the scenes on a barren island and on the deck of a great liner are particularly effective. It is declared, Florence Vidor supports Mr. Hayakawa in this photoplay. "The Honor of His House" will be seen at the Majestic today and Saturday.

VIOLA DANA in "A WEAVER OF DREAMS"

At the Patricia Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

PATRICIA

Virginia Pearson in "All For a Husband," a comedy photoplay, is the screen feature at the Patricia Theatre again today and Saturday.

In "All For a Husband," Mr. Fox and his director, Carl Harlan, have given the picture-loving public something entirely novel. There is an unexpected ending, and the story is a comedy of errors which leads to a whirl at its rapid action. No one can do justice to the plot merely by telling it. It must be seen to be appreciated.

When the picture ends, the affairs are so complicated that one fears they will never be straightened out. But there the cleverness of the director and his star interferes, and matters come to an unusual conclusion.

Mad women, scheming sisters, and political intrigue figure prominently in the story, which reaches a point of tell who is sane and who is lunatic. But all the complications reach an exciting and marvellous climax which leaves the spectators roaring in delight.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew in a comedy showing many amusing situations, completes the program.

In vaudeville, Donita and Dexter, two clever and good looking young women present a character singing act.

OFFICIAL RAT CATCHER IS FAVORED FOR LONDON

Saving in Foodstuffs Would Pay Wages.

Toronto is advocating setting aside one particular day to wage war upon rats, and several Londoners, when questioned in reference to the matter, suggested that it would be a good thing to have rat catchers in London. Dr. W. H. Hill, M.O.H., thinks that from the standpoint of food conservation alone some action should be taken in an effort to exterminate the rodents.

The doctor thinks that the best method of dealing with them is to follow the English idea of engaging professional rat catchers. While these might not be enough work in London to keep a ratcatcher busy, he thinks that in Western Ontario should be a good field for one expert in this line. "While it is hard to estimate the amount of damage done in Canada by these pests, Dr. Hill thinks that the figures would be startlingly great."

The danger from infection by rats is not great in the central and eastern portions of Ontario, he says. In the West rat proof buildings are being erected in an effort to combat the work of the rats. He thinks that it would be also wise to insist that this style of construction here. Desires in seeds and grains express the opinion that a large amount of foodstuffs is destroyed yearly by the rats. Cats and traps are used to keep the buildings free of these pests. Poison, of course, cannot be used in these places on account of the danger to food. Some of the dealers express the opinion that it would be a good idea to try out a municipal ratcatcher. If one could be secured who could satisfactorily fill the position. The saving effected by rat extermination would more than pay his wages, they say.

COMMUNITY CHORUS MUST SEEK LARGER HALL FOR "SINGSONG"

Auditorium is Crowded to Capacity Thursday Night.

PACK TROUBLES IN KIT BAG

Happy Singers Live Up to Song's Admonition and Enjoy Weekly Song Fest.

The auditorium was packed to capacity on the fourth of the fourth weekly sing-song of the community chorus on Thursday evening. These weekly sing-songs have already become most popular, and every week brings out the citizens in increasingly large numbers. The hall will soon have to be secured or else the sing-songs will have to be held in the open.

The name "Community Chorus" was chosen advisedly, for as soon as the conductor, A. D. Jordan, has taken his place on the platform he puts the audience at its ease. By the time the National Anthem is sung, and a couple of choruses also, everybody is feeling quite at home and joining heartily in the singing.

"Music is more necessary in times of stress like these than at any other time," A. D. Jordan said at the opening of the sing-song.

After the National Anthem, the audience enjoyed the chorus, "There's a Long, Long Trail," "Pack All Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag" was the next song called for. The songsters entered into the spirit of the singing, and all worries were banished for the time.

The hymn of the Marshallese is another favorite with the London audience. "Juanita, Nancy Lee," "My Old Kentucky Home," and "How Can I Leave Thee" always bring a hearty response from the singers. The "Hallelujah" was taken up heartily by the audience. The chorus, "Carry On," was sung heartily, and possibly the words had a deeper meaning in view of the campaign for Patriotic and Red Cross funds.

Miss Frances Cullis rendered several solos. "Annie Laurie," "Fishing," and "Come Back to Erin," were given by Miss Cullis in her usual good style. Miss Florence Egglestone, violinist, displayed rare technique in her rendition of the Intermezzo from "Cavallera Rusticana."

Carmon Learn sang "Vale," "Trill," and "The Rose," and the audience was carried away with admiration.

Mr. Jordan, in a brief address, remarked that he had never been refused by any artist whom he had asked to assist in the sing-songs.

Lieut.-Col. W. M. Garthshore gave a short address, outlining the aims of the society.

The Farnell Choir of Dundas Centre with the choir, is going to assist the song festival next Thursday evening.

HYDE PARK NEWS.

Hyde Park, April 25.—The Woman's Institute held their monthly meeting in the Presbyterian schoolroom on Wednesday afternoon with an average attendance. A good program was given, which consisted of several interesting papers. Miss Routledge read a letter received by one of the members from Dr. Fraleigh of St. Mary's, who is now overseas.

The next institute meeting will be held at the rectory. It will be the annual meeting, and Mrs. Durnford is hoping for a big meeting on that day.

SKILLED LABOR SCARCE, SAYS MACHINERY NEWS

Situation Causing Uneasiness in Trade Circles—Munitions Supplies Briak.

"Heavy buying in all lines in any way affected by war business keeps interest centered in that direction," says the machinery news. "More and more business in the iron and steel world in both the United States and Canada is being forced into the war groove. If edges are cut off in volume, the trimming falls on the non-essential lines. The labor situation causes a little uneasiness, not because of any impending May-day strikes, but because there is not sufficient skilled labor for new work contemplated. The turning out of munitions keeps up a constant demand for men who can take charge of machines working to very fine dimensions, and while labor can be found to operate the machines it is a hard matter to get men to get out the tools, gauges, etc. The demand for supplies for munitions plants is brisk, and jobbers report inquiries for all the standard lines. One

ANOTHER BLAZE AT THE FAIR GROUNDS

Fire which is supposed to have started from sparks from the chimney burned several holes in the northern section of the roof of the horticultural building at the Western Fair grounds yesterday afternoon. Only a short time ago the southern part of the building was badly damaged by fire. The firemen made a quick run yesterday and by hard work prevented a serious blaze.

pend largely on the parcels from home." Among the officers arriving are Capt. J. G. Dunn, C. A. M. C., Alisa Craig, Ont., and Lieut. Leslie M. Jones, C. A. M. C., London.

QUERIES REGARDING MILITARY SERVICE

Send in Your Problems and They Will Be Answered From Official Information by The Advertiser.

Q. C. Q.—Would a young man who was exempted last November as long as he farmed, and who was then 22 years and 11 months old, be liable for service under the new draft?

A.—No; his exemption still holds good. The exemptions are abolished only in the cases of those men who go to the front, or who have been included in the age of 23 when their application for exemption was made.

U. B. Q.—If a young man engaged in farming becomes 23 years of age during this month, should he report for service or wait until his is called?

A.—He may suit himself. He is not bound to report until he is notified. Although men of that age have been included in class one, no proclamation calling them to the colors has been issued yet.

M. M. E. Q.—Can a man in category E engage in any line of work he desires?

A.—A man placed in category E last November has been re-examined since. Can he apply for a discharge badge?

A.—Certainly.

N. Q.—He has never been discharged from the army. He would not be eligible for a war service badge (Class D) unless he had been rejected previously to August 10, 1917.

M. L. L. Q.—I am a married man, aged 40, Canadian, with a family living on a farm which I own and work. Which class am I in, and what probability is there of my being called to the colors?

A.—You are in class four. Your being called would seem to depend on the need for reinforcements. Class one has not been entirely called up yet.

K. Y. L. Q.—I will those who have attained the age of 20 years are they required to sign up for any definite length of time, regardless of the duration of the war?

A.—Are those who intend to join the navy required to be in infantry training before being transferred?

A.—Is there a possibility of recruits for the navy being transferred to any branch of the service against their wishes?

A.—For particulars regarding enlistment in the navy write to the naval recruiting officer, 103 Bay street, Toronto. Men of that age should be eligible, if they have the necessary qualifications, but trained artisans are especially needed.

2. If you are notified to report for service under the M. S. A. you would have to take infantry training, unless you could secure a transfer by joining one of the other services.

3. It is unlikely.

J. R. N. Q.—I would a man falling within the three specified years and having been granted exemption by both local and appeal tribunals until class two is called on account of domestic position, be called in the first draft under the new regulations?

A.—Exemptions are established for those men in class one who had attained the age of 20 and had not attained the age of 23 years at the date of their application for exemption. He will be called immediately if he is in that age, regardless of any exemption granted to him, provided he is in category A, or if he has no category.

2. Air mechanics were needed some time ago. Write to Capt. Walter Smith, 4025 Richmond street, London, Ont., asking for information regarding the Royal Air Force.

S. R. E. Q.—Will my boy, who was 19 years of age, have to be taken for military service? He is the only help I have on the farm.

A.—No; he is not liable for service until he is 19 years of age, though by recent order-in-council they are now included in class one, and may be called when required.

P. O. Q.—Is a man exempted because in category E liable to be called in the new draft?

A.—No; he is not and could not be utilized if he were called. He might be called for a re-examination at any time should the authorities decide that it was advisable.

A. M. C. Q.—A man in category D, exempted as a farmer, comes within the age of the new draft. Will he be called up now for re-examination and if found in category A or B be called immediately for overseas service?

A.—By joining now, has a man the choice of units?

A.—Men in category D are liable to be notified to report for re-examination at any time, and have been before the new regulations were made. If in category A, and if within the ages prescribed, his exemption would be disregarded and he would be called most immediately.

2. Yes; by reporting before ordered to do so, you can choose any unit that is open for recruits and for which you are qualified.

HEARTS OF OAK.

WHATEVER the value of the success gained by British naval operations at Ostend and Zeebrugge, be it great or inconsequential, the wonderful heroism of the men who formed the crews of the old submarines which crept up to the mole at the latter port and attempted to blow up the piling there; and that of the men who formed the storming parties and who steered the block ships into the channel and sank them will go down in history as one of the grandest examples of self-sacrificing bravery this old world has witnessed. The full story of it has not been told, and only the greatest of writers will be able to do it anything like full justice.

When volunteers were called for to man the ships and form the storming and demolition parties on the Vendictive, there was great competition for the undertaking among the blue-jackets and marines and only a small proportion of those who offered could be accepted, Sir Eric Geddes announces. Of what did this so attractive undertaking consist? It consisted of certain death for many of those who took part and the gravest possible risk for every man. No love of excitement, hope of gain or impatience to be in the thick of it actuates men to volunteer for such an enterprise; self-sacrificing, super-heroic patriotism alone could be the motive power. There was the possibility of striking an effective blow at the enemy and of preventing the loss of so many ships by acts of the submarines and that was enough. "Hearts of oak are our men" is as true today as it was in the days of Nelson, and gladly they embraced the opportunity to do something for the cause, thinking nothing of their personal risk.

Wonderful as has been the work of our navy in the comparatively long-range battles of the war, it cannot inspire us with the proud enthusiasm engendered by this last exploit. It is when the "impossible" is attempted and achieved and when strong men fight for possession of a gun or a ship hand-to-hand that the blood of those who hear and read of it tingles in the veins; it is when man meets man and the Britisher overcomes the foe that the ancient characteristics of the race shine forth anew.

For those who gave their lives in the thrilling and desperate adventure we mourn, but the tears are dried and eyes shine again with pride at the remembrance of what they were and how they died.

WELL SAID, SIR FREDERICK!

SIR FREDERICK SMITH is the attorney-general of Great Britain. He paid a visit to Canada recently and attracted attention as a rare personality, a man whose keenness of vision permitted him to penetrate below the surface of things as they seem to the depths of things as they are. His impressions of the men in public life and the condition of affairs in Canada may have been hurriedly gained, yet they have served him as a basis for a series of copyrighted articles appearing in the Toronto Star under the general title "My Canadian Visit."

In a recent contribution Sir Frederick touches upon the political situation, dealing with the staunch support rendered to the empire by Canada and the influence of this assistance upon German expectations of victory. He pays tribute to Gen. Hughes and to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The former, he says, has had his hour, but "nothing can ever take away from him the credit for the energy, the resource and the driving power, which called together so swiftly the first Canadian division, and improvised, like an Eastern wizard, the camp at Valcartier."

Sir Frederick says that from the outset Sir Wilfrid Laurier threw the whole weight of the Liberal party in the scale of the cause. He recalls that the theory of colonial assistance in Britain's wars received its impetus when "in the very darkest periods of the South African war, Canada had sprung to arms with a devotion, and a passion, which should have struck the imagination of the whole world," but which apparently failed to influence the German prophets.

Regarding the Quebec situation the British attorney-general points out that it would be "obviously improper for an English politician to offer any opinion upon a domestic Canadian question." This does not restrain him from the following sincere tribute to the Liberal chieftain: "But while recognizing the presence, the courage and the spirit of personal self-sacrifice shown by Sir Robert Borden, we may be allowed to assure that distinguished veteran, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that no Englishman ever doubted either the depth or the purity of his patriotism."

A PROMISE OF THINGS TO BE.

IT IS SIGNIFICANT that between the two English-speaking peoples of this continent there is springing up even now a feeling of mutual respect and admiration due entirely to the war. We would be the last to suggest that such feelings were absent in other days; but what we do say is that the strengthening of the ties of brotherhood within the past year has been so evident and so great as to preclude the possibility of its being attributed to any other cause but the war. When Allston, in his poem "America to Britain," wrote:

"Yet, still from either beach,
The voice of blood shall reach,
More audible than speech,
We are one!"

He meant, we may reasonably suppose, to express the sentiment of the greater portion of the citizens of the Republic. In regard to ourselves this idea of unity is growing rapidly today.

"Gratitude is a species of justice," says Johnson and "is the fruit of great cultivation: you do not find it among gross people." To extend to us the justice she deems it our right to claim, and to express her gratitude for the services our Dominion has rendered, the Republic lately presented to our Red Cross through the House of Representatives the large sum of five hundred thousand dollars. This is not all. Not so very long since the residents of Niagara Falls were made freemen of the American town of the same name, and members of the Ontario Board of Trade were elected to membership in the similar board of New York State.

These facts are pregnant with meaning; but as though something of much wider and much greater importance should be done to prove, not alone how wholeheartedly the United States is in the war, but how sternly she feels the impulse to do the greatest things possible to her to show her sincerity and her faith, we find James M. Beck, formerly assistant attorney-general of the United States, unfolding his belief before a large audience in Philadelphia:

"When this war ends, as it will in a victory for the Allies," the speaker said, "and Great Britain and France will say to our Government 'the time has come for us to settle the matter of our great indebtedness to you in a more formal way,' I believe our Government will reply by writing across the paper on which the money was lent, 'Received in full.'"

What does this mean? What can it mean? While the peoples of this continent are become as one, it is plainly the desire of our southern friends to extend the meaning of brotherhood by including the Allies and the means readiest to their hand is by the abolition of monetary obligations. Indeed this is a noble desire emanating from the heart of a great and cultivated people.

"The opportunities of making great sacrifices for the good of mankind," says a writer, "are of rare occurrence; and he who remains inactive till it is in his power to confer signal benefits or yield important services is in imminent danger of incurring the doom of the unfaithful servant."

The American people are not waiting to prove their gratitude; they are giving this matter their best attention today. They are helping in a potent way, a way the far-reaching consequences of which at present we may not grasp too fully; but the soul of the wish to serve may best be known in Mr. James Beck's own words:

"If it be a chivalrous thing for us to exchange that debt, the victory, when it is won, will bring us greater benefit, and, I must say in candor, a less deserved benefit than to any of the other Allies."

The war is still raging, black days are still ahead may be; but who shall blind himself to the promise of things to be when he feels, through the knowledge at hand, the pulse of a fuller and greater brotherhood of men beating within the heart of the world?

It's a mistake to omit publishing the names of the members of the re-examining board which gave Col. R. P. Labatt a life pension. Private soldiers with heart affections as a result of service would be glad to appear before it.

NO PLACE FOR TITLES.

Owen Sound is not directly interested in the abolition of titles in Canada, not having anyone whose foolishness takes them that course. And Owen Sound does not want any titles here. We have the best town in Canada and some of the best citizens in Canada, and a few of the best soldiers of Canada in the firing line. That is sufficient honor for any town. A knight or a baron would be very much out of place here.

SIR DOUGLAS HAIG'S HEIR.

The birth of a son and heir to Sir Douglas Haig fulfills for another generation the old prophecy concerning the duration of the famous family from which the field-marshal derives: "Tide, tide, what'er betide, They'll aye be Helgs in Bernersyde."
Sang Thomas the Rhymer, and, sure enough, the lands and barony have been in the unbroken lineal possession of the family since the days of Malcolm IV.

NINE BOILS KEPT COMING ON NECK ONE AFTER THE OTHER

Anyone who has ever suffered from boils knows how sick and miserable they make you feel.

When you think you are about cured of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your wretchedness. All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not cure them and stop more coming.

Boils are simply bad blood bursting out, and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils disappear.

Burdock Blood Bitters is the greatest blood purifier known. It cleanses the system and removes every particle of foul material from the blood, then never another boil comes and the cure is permanent.

Mr. Geo. Ayers, 202 Gloucester street, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I used to know what I know about your wonderful Burdock Blood Bitters. In the spring I suppose my system needed cleaning out, for I had nine boils come on my neck, one after the other. I quickly got a bottle of B. B. B., and before it was half finished I felt a great change, and it certainly put an end to my boils, otherwise I might have had a lot more. I recommend B. B. B. to all I can, for I know it to be a great remedy."

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

If Cross, Bilious, Sick, Feverish, or Full of Cold, Take No Chances

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen! Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters! Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

THE TEUTO NIC IDEA

MIDDLEWEIGHT CLEANED
TEETH BEFORE FIGHT

Late Charlie Mitchell Claimed That It Lessened Chances of Infecting Any Wounds Made on Inside of Mouth During Fight—First to Use Plaster on Hands.

A friend dropped into Charlie Mitchell's dressing room one evening while the great middleweight, who died recently, was waiting for the going. The friend found Mitchell busy scrubbing his teeth.

"Are you getting ready for a dance or a fight?" asked the friend.

"A fight," answered Mitchell. "Then why manure your teeth?" Mitchell patiently explained that he always cleaned his teeth thoroughly before entering the ring. "You see," he said, "your opponent is liable to hit you in the face and break the skin inside the mouth by being pushed against the teeth. If they are clean there's no chance for infection, but if they aren't clean, chances are you'll have some trouble healing the cut."

MIGHT FORM SIX-CITY
CIRCUIT TO INCLUDE
MICHIGAN CENTRES

Jo-Jo Keenan Believes Lee Might Work in Opposite Direction.

Now that Knotty Lee has definitely given up his scheme of reorganizing the Canadian League and treating fans of this district to baseball this summer, Joe Keenan is wondering whether or not it would be possible to form a six-city league, with London, Chatham, Windsor and three Michigan cities—Saginaw, Bay City and Flint. Jo-Jo understands that Windsor is keen for the game, despite the fact that they can see American League ball in Detroit, and believes Chatham would come in. He thinks that very little difficulty would be encountered in getting the cities across the border to come in on such a league.

Spoils Deals By Publicity

Miller Huggins of the Yankees is growing because some deals which he has under way have been spoiled through premature publicity. He figures that he might have added two or three good players to his roster had the news of his negotiations not leaked out while the deals were still incomplete.

"I have told Col. Ruppert," said the Yankee manager, "that it is useless for me to conduct negotiations for players unless we have some secrecy. I want to get something for my team, but I can't bid against the whole American League. I started after a certain outfielder last week. I spoke to one man about it. Inside of six hours I was fifth man in the race after this particular player."

"Other managers had heard that I was in the field, and either to keep me from strengthening the Yankees or to forward their own teams, had come forward with more attractive offers. If the matter had been kept quiet I might have succeeded. But there were too many 'wise guys' around. There is too much publicity, and too much chance for leaks, to do business at the big meetings. I'm going to give it up."

FALLON CALLED TO EXPLAIN TROUBLES, IS LE CANADA VIEW

Montreal Paper Says Irish Trip Merely Camouflage.

STAGNI IS ALSO GOING

French Journal Believes Diocesan Affairs Responsible For Journey to Rome.

Montreal, April 26.—Le Canada this morning publishes the following dispatch from an Ottawa correspondent: "It is said in well-informed circles here that the voyage of Bishop Fallon to Europe may have an object altogether different from that given by the press. It is strongly suspected that the announcement that he is going to Ireland and to London is a camouflage. It would undoubtedly be queer to see Mr. Fallon, well known as an ardent conscriptionist, land in Ireland and convert to conscription the Catholic bishops of Ireland, all of whom oppose it, from his Eminence Cardinal Logue down.

Called to Explain. "In any case, it is to be presumed that the Rev. Bishop of London will surely go to Ireland and to London, as it is probably in his road. But in reality he will go to Rome, called there either by the sovereign pontiff or by the Congregation of the Propaganda, to furnish explanations which are needed on the religious troubles in his diocese, and which approach schism, as at Port City.

Another Coincidence. "What establishes the probability of this explanation, is that his departure coincides within a few days with that of Mr. Stagni, pontifical delegate in Canada, whose farewell letter was published by the newspapers.

Mr. Stagni is probably not an unimportant factor in the unexpected trip of Mr. Fallon, and it would seem that it is at his request that the Bishop of London has been called 'ad limina.' Another remarkable coincidence is the publication at the same time of the letter of his Lordship Mr. MacNeil, Archbishop of Toronto, explaining the reasons for the lack of co-ordination between the Catholic hierarchy of Ontario and that of the French-Canadian hierarchy of Ottawa, to better the school regime of Catholics of both languages in Ontario.

"Would the holy father on information received from Mr. Stagni, have undertaken to reconcile the Irish Catholics with the French-Canadians of Ontario? This can be presumed, and it may be with this object that he is calling Mr. Fallon to Rome, while the Rev. Archbishop of Toronto tenders to French-Canadians the olive branch.

A Considerable Sensation. "Mr. MacNeil's letter, and that of J. K. Foran, has produced, as one can imagine, a considerable sensation here, where the trouble is more intense and painful than elsewhere.

"If there resulted a sincere and lasting reconciliation between the two elements of the Catholic population of Ontario, who disputed have but little political influence, while if they acted together would be strong enough to create in Toronto sympathies, or at least interests, in influential circles, the French-Canadians of Ottawa would be the first to benefit thereby.

"And notwithstanding that the end of this family quarrel may have as a result the cessation of the utility of certain agitators who in one camp as in the other, find some profit, I am convinced that everyone would applaud it.

"The appeal of Mr. Foran, at the initiative of Mr. MacNeil, finds an echo in all the French-Canadian families who, not having lost their traditions in crossing the Ottawa River, have as a rule many children.

SHOOTING 76 MILES TO PARIS

PARIS

2ND EXPLOSION

ATMOSPHERIC BELT

The German gun, which has been shelling Paris periodically, has been located in the forest of St. Gobain, 76 miles distant. Ordnance experts have produced several theories as to how it may be possible to throw a shell 76 miles or over. With this feature the shell leaves the gun, and before it has reached its destination a timing arrangement causes a second explosion, giving a new impetus to the missile. The third is that the gun itself, changed with some new super-explosive, will throw a shell 76 miles. This might mean shooting a shell so high that it would run clear of the atmospheric belt surrounding the earth for most of the distance, thus evading the greatest resistance.

NO INFANTRY ATTACK IN HANGARD REGION.

PARIS, April 25.—The war office announcement, tonight, says: "There was great activity on the part of both armies today in the region of Hangard and on both banks of the Avre, but no infantry action. In the Voivre, after a violent bombardment, the Germans delivered an attack in the Rochemelle sector. Our troops ejected the enemy from some advanced positions, where he had gained a footing and subsequently re-established our lines. Some prisoners remained in our hands.

The artillery fighting was quite spirited on the left bank of the Meuse and in the Vosges.

On April 22 and 23, seven German airplanes and a captive balloon were brought down by our pilots. Ten other machines, badly damaged, fell inside their own lines.

It is confirmed that two enemy airplanes reported as damaged on April 20, were in reality brought down. Five other German machines were destroyed on April 21, 23 and 24. Five thousand kilograms of projectiles were dropped by our bombing planes on the railway stations at Noie, Roye and Chaulmieu. Our airplanes have carried out numerous machine-gun attacks on enemy concentrations.

GERMANS CLAIM 2,000 CAPTIVES BELOW SOMME.

BERLIN, April 25, via London.—The official statement issued by the war office today, regarding Wednesday's fighting, reads:

On the Lys battlefield a strong French counter-attack against the height of Vlueghelook failed with heavy losses. There were local engagements to the north of Bethune, near Festubert, and on both sides of Scarpe. On the Somme sector we attacked the English and French near and to the south of Villers-Bretonneux. By means of hard fighting our infantry broke its way to the enemy's machine gun nests. Tanks effectively supported them during this action. We captured the much-contested town of Hangard-en-Santerre.

"On the west bank of the Avre we advanced our line to the heights north-west of Castel. Throughout the day the enemy delivered violent counter-attacks with his reserves, which had been kept in readiness on the battlefield and which came hastily forward from the rear. They broke down with sanguinary losses. Bitter engagements lasted throughout the night in the captured region. Over two thousand prisoners remained in our hands, and four cannon and numerous machine guns were also taken.

"In the other theatres of the war there is nothing to report."

APRIL RAILWAY EARNINGS.

Montreal, April 25.—The traffic earnings of the three principal Canadian railways for the third week in April aggregated $5,304,472, an increase over the corresponding week a year ago of $145,841, or 16.4 per cent. Of the three railways, the Grand Trunk again showed the largest gain, one of 25.2 per cent, which compares with its gain of 23.2 per cent for the previous week. The C. P. R. gain of 11.4 per cent is the highest since the first week in January. The earnings follow:

C. P. R., $3,015,000; increase, $308,000, 11.4 per cent.
G. T. R., $1,358,972; increase, $273,941, 25.2 per cent.
C. N. R., $929,500; increase, $162,900, 21.4 per cent.

PATRIOTIC WORKERS WILL RENEW DRIVE TO GAIN OBJECTIVE

Canvass About $75,000 Short of Amount Aimed At.

RESULTS OF COLLECTION

Committee Expects to Raise
Full $355,000 by June 1.

London's objective of $355,000 for eleven patriotic purposes was not achieved in the three days' campaign which ended yesterday, the total figures showing that $280,155.65 was subscribed. Although the total figures are nearly $75,000 short of the amount aimed at, the drive is not complete yet.

"London must not fall down, and although we have not gone over the top in these three days, before the last of June we will show that the objective has been gained," said A. E. Silverwood when the three days' campaign closed last night.

The reports of the canvassing teams were submitted at the meeting at the Tecumseh House last evening. The dinner and meeting varied from those of the two preceding evenings in that the women's organizations were represented by a large number of the gentler sex.

Most Optimistic.
The speaker of the evening, Capt. Rev. John McNeill, delivered a message of optimism and cheer in an address on conditions at the front.

The auction sale that was held at the conclusion of the meeting netted $1,376. James Young, superintendent of the City Gas Company, officiated as auctioneer. A horse brought into the Tecumseh House dining-room for inspection, two cats, a ton of coal and other articles of a miscellaneous character were auctioned off, the proceeds to go into the general fund.

"The big patriotic tank must roll on until we get the $355,000, and we will be open for business at headquarters again today," said J. J. Foote and Gordon Phillips in chorus.

Results of Canvass.
The following are the results of the canvass by committees and teams on Thursday, and the grand totals of each:

Will Be Welcome.
The committee in charge wishes to announce that anyone in London or out of town who has been inadvertently overlooked in the canvass, may remit his or her donation to the treasurer of the fund, A. D. McLean, manager of the Bank of Commerce, Dundas and Richmond streets, London.

Chairman Silverwood thanked all who had assisted in the canvass.

"We are not through, and we will show the $355,000 before we quit. We can't quit. We have got to have it," said Mr. Silverwood.

Mr. Cameron Geddes sang three songs and was applauded upon the rendition of each. Those present simply would not let the singer off at one or two songs, but insisted on three.

Captain MacNeill.
Captain (Rev.) John MacNeill of the Walmer Road Baptist Church, Toronto, who spent eighteen months overseas, was the speaker of the evening. The speaker related many incidents at the front and delivered a message of optimism.

"I notice that there is a striking paradox between those that are living overseas and those that are living at home," said Captain MacNeill.

"The men overseas are living in their hearts and mind here and those living here are in mind and spirit living overseas."

Speaking of the Red Cross and its great work at the front, the speaker said the work was marvellous and their fidelity to duty beyond imagination.

The army medical corps and the nurses of the battlefield were performing a service on the battlefield such as mankind has never before seen. The chaplains at the front were paid a tribute for their patriotism and work in the field.

The message that the boys at the front asked him to deliver to the folks at home was to tell the home folks that they would see the thing through if those in Canada would only stand behind them.

Glorious Deeds.
"When the history of this great war is written it will tell of the glorious deeds done by Canadians."

who have stamped themselves the finest fighters that this great conflict has produced," continued Capt. MacNeill.

Paying a tribute to the Y.M.C.A. and the work performed by this organization at the front, the speaker said that it was a great military asset overseas and a moral bulwark to those at home. The fortitude of wounded men at the front was, Capt. MacNeill said, beyond the ordinary individual to understand. Men seriously wounded were frequently more interested in the fact of whether certain objectives had been attained than they were of the nature or gravity of their wounds.

As an example of courage and unwavering fidelity to duty, the speaker related an incident in which the members of an artillery unit had opened up a barrage on which the infantry depended, although it was necessary for the artillerymen to operate the guns without gas masks when the Germans had turned loose clouds of the poison vapor over their lines. Nearly 200 casualties had been sustained by the artillerymen, who faced the gas attack without helmets rather than fail with their barrage, which the infantry so much depended.

MARCH TO VICTORY
Courage is a matter of the blood. Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale or pimply, generally weak, tired and listless, one should take a spring tonic.

One that will do the spring house-cleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody nearly 50 years ago is still safe and sane, because it contains no alcohol or narcotics. It is made of Blood Root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark—extracted with glycerine and made into liquid or tablets. This blood tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready-to-use form and since then has been sold by million bottles as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If druggists do not keep this in tablet form, send 50 cents for a vial to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., or branch in Bridgeburg, Ont.

Central Butte, Sask.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for a number of years and am pleased to recommend it as a blood purifier. I know it has no equal, as I used it for my boy. My neighbors and friends were surprised with the results; in fact, I do not think he would be alive today had it not been for the 'Medical Discovery.' I also keep it on hand for coughs as it differs so from other medicines, instead of upsetting the stomach as cough syrups do it is good for the stomach. I only wish I had known about Dr. Pierce's medicines sooner."—Mrs. Percy Wood.

Why Germany Will Be Defeated

The failure, so far, of Germany's fanatical onslaught to either cleave apart the French and British armies or to take the Channel ports ranks it as only another "bath of blood" for German arms. For, as The Globe, New York, reminds us, "It is the destruction of armies, not the loss of territory, that is vital in war." And the tremendous slaughter of men which Germany has sustained is "making her weaker relatively as well as absolutely."

"Even the German General Staff," notes the New York World, "cannot continue indefinitely the policy of trading men for territory unless the territory means more than a further extension of their lines." Months may yet elapse before the decisive hour strikes and in those months "tens and hundreds of thousands of Americans can be transported to France to turn the scale in our favor." Even the Vienna Arbeiter Zeitung assures its readers that "the greatest victory by land cannot impose a peace of force on America and England."

IRISH ANTAGONISM TO COMPULSION IS BECOMING WEAKER

Nationalists Realizing Are Playing Game for Sinn Fein.

London, April 26.—(By Reuters's Ottawa Agency).—Correspondent of Reuters in Ireland suggests that hostility to conscription is weakening and that the Nationalists are beginning to realize that they merely played into the hands of the Sinn Fein by joining them in opposition. A correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, which is the severest critic of conscription in Ireland, says that the moment John Dillon resumes the Parliamentary policy of the Nationalists the unity with the Sinn Fein will disappear, and the responsibility for disturbing it will be attributed to the Nationalists. The correspondent says that the no-conscription heat excited a similar heat on the other side. Otherwise it is impossible to explain the marked improvement in Irish recruiting, which is a triumph over near-holocaustism. Moreover, he says, the country is filled with Americans who are against conscription and are stimulating recruiting. They hope the lord mayor of Dublin will be given every facility to go to Washington for a conference.

'IT SAVED MY ARM'

When blood-poisoning set in as a result of an injury. This is what Miss S. A. Wernicke, of Hilton B.C., says of Zam-Buk.

"The trouble commenced when I ran a needle into one of my fingers, piercing the bone. My finger and then my whole hand, became so stiff and swollen that I could not use it. Although I used remedy after remedy, instead of getting better, my hand became worse and the poison extended up my arm. Large lumps appeared, and the pain was awful. I thought I should certainly lose my arm."

"A friend advised me to try Zam-Buk, and I applied it freely and regularly, rubbing it well into my hand and arm. It was not long before the pain grew less, the lumps disappeared and the swelling was reduced. I continued with Zam-Buk until it had drawn out all the poison, and before long I was completely cured."

Zam-Buk gives equally good results in cases of eczema, scalds, sores, ringworm, ulcers, running sores, bad legs and piles, and is invaluable for the treatment of all skin diseases. All dealers, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 50c. box, 2 for $1.25.

FARMERS' DEPUTATION SEEKS MODIFICATION OF ORDER FOR TAKING SONS

[Special to The Advertiser.] OTTAWA, April 25.—A deputation from the eastern townships, representing the farming, dairy and live stock industries waited upon members of the Government today to urge that the Government revoke its decision to take all farmers' sons falling within the ages of 20 and 22 into the military service regardless of former exemptions or of any other consideration than medical unfitness, or the fact that other brothers had been on active service in France or Flanders. The deputation declared that if the Government's new orders were carried out many farms would be left without workers, and that in many cases real hardship would ensue. They begged that in the case of farmers the former system of exemptions be adhered to. The deputation received little satisfaction from the Government members present, it being stated that the administration to depart from the provisions of the new order or the even more drastic regulations which are complementary to it. Men must be secured, even at the cost of considerable sacrifice, said the Government members, who also declared that the places of farmers taken must be filled in some way by men at present employed in less essential industries, or by women.

Numerous members on the Government side have been called home for the week-end to meet farmer delegations.

Close Work Not to Foe's Taste at Town of Villers-Bretonneux.

TANKS SLAUGHTER HUNS

Iron Monsters Routed Enemy Tanks and Mow Down Massed Infantry.

With the British Army in France, April 25.—The northern attack this morning was along a front extending from Wytschaete nearly to Bailleul, and it was carried out by at least four and perhaps six German divisions. The infantry employed were largely picked hill troops, including the Alpine Corps, the 117th division and the 116th Bavarians, with Jaegers in reserve.

The front of the assault came against the French, who were defending Kemmel, which was the enemy's goal. At 2 o'clock this morning the German artillery opened a heavy bombardment on Kemmel and the surrounding country with gas shells, and for more than an hour maintained a deluge of these poison-bearing missiles. Between 3 and 4 o'clock the German bill men rushed forward and attacked the positions protecting Kemmel Hill. At the same time they began pushing further to the south in order to furnish a protecting flank.

First Rush Failed. Simultaneously with their attack at Villers-Bretonneux, the Germans also began operations to the south against the French and north of the River Somme. At Saille-le-Sec and Vaivre several attacks were repulsed during the early hours. The first drive on Villers-Bretonneux was made with two divisions and this was thrown back. The Germans immediately put two fresh divisions into line and again surged forward.

Five tanks were sent to the north through the valley leading through the southern part of the town, and these engines were followed by large forces of infantry. By noon, the Germans had swung a salient about 6,000 yards wide and 4,000 yards deep about Villers-Bretonneux and were holding the town strongly. This they continued to do until 10 o'clock last night, when the British delivered a surprise counter-attack. There should have been a moon to assist the British, but the sky was heavily overcast and a dense mist hung over the region.

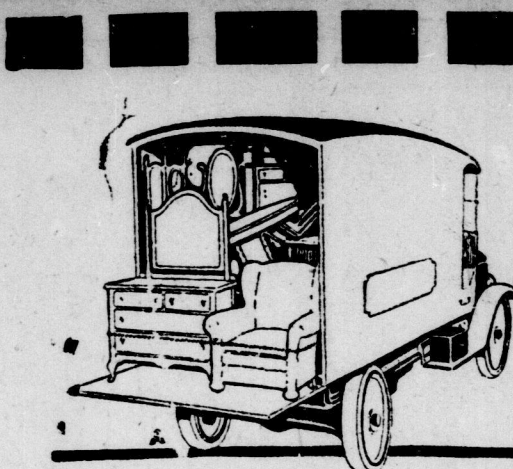

Surprised By British. According to prisoners the enemy had no anticipation of further trouble from the British last night, and were sitting snugly in their near position when the storm broke. The German artillery had perhaps been lulled into false security and was doing little shooting.

At the appointed hour the British gunners put down a sharp barrage, and the British infantry drove forward. The attack was made from the southwest and northwest on Villers-Bretonneux, and these two forces drove in towards the eastern part of the town in a converging movement. As a result the British bottled the town up.

Bayonet Did Work. The British infantry immediately rushed the town, and heavy hand-to-hand fighting ensued, the bayonet being used freely. Six hundred prisoners were

TRAPPING the FRIGHTFUL TEUTON WAR WOLF Of the SEA

The Net Trap Dropped from a Convoy and Ready to Enmesh the Attacking U-Boat.

The U-Boat Strikes the Net, Releasing the Weights Which Drags the Submarine to the Bottom of the Sea.

Deadly Device of Nets and Weights Designed to Enmesh and Sink the Enemy Submarines

THE submarine boat is an American invention and a German perfection. Therefore, to counteract the deadly effectiveness of the U-boat as used by the Teutons it is to be expected that American inventive genius should devise some method of dealing with these wolves of the sea.

To that end a New York inventor has patented and submitted to Secretary of the Navy Daniels a deadly device in the form of a combination of weights and nets, the purpose of which is to enmesh the U-boat and submerge it to a depth so great that the pressure of the water will be sufficient to crush the hull of the submarine.

These seem to be no doubt that, if feasible, this invention will prove of great value to Uncle Sam and his allies. The U-boat menace, although it has not yet succeeded in making a reality of Germany's boast that, within a few months, her wolves of the sea would bring her enemies to their knees, begging for peace, is still a very effective factor in prolonging the war. Germany is still depending upon her U-boats to clear the seas of all craft of the allies. The fact that the Kaiser's sub-sea boats have sunk millions of tons of shipping of both neutrals and the allies, shows that a realization of Germany's aims are not only still a possibility, but even nearer realization than some of the blindly optimistic seem to believe.

Lester L. Sargent, writing in the Illustrated World, gives this interesting description of the latest invention to destroy enemy sub-sea craft: A net of any desired length and width is suspended at intervals by short, supporting lines. Heavy weights are attached to the lines, and these weights are in turn kept from sinking by pontoon floats or rafts. A sea anchor of conventional form is attached to the float or raft to withstand the drag of the float.

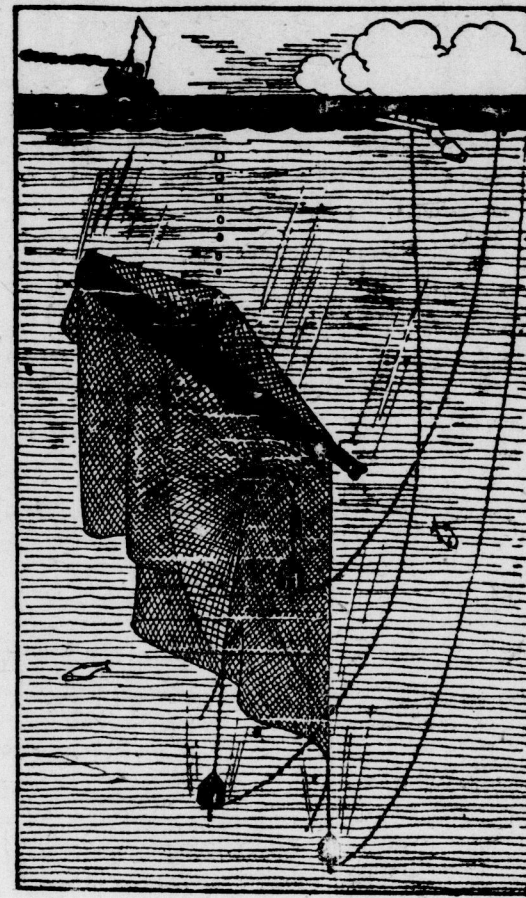

When a submarine strikes one of the nets it carries the obstruction forward. As the impetus of the submarine draws the net taut, causing it to start to drag the pontoon raft, the resistance of the sea anchors pulls out the latches, and the weights are allowed to sink. As the weights when released are aft of the centre of the submarine, they pull the net over the under-sea craft so as to totally envelop it, while the weight exerted tends to tilt the submarine and so disarrange its interior mechanism and render it unmanageable.

As submarines are normally of a weight closely approximated to that of the water they displace, they are ill prepared to resist an attack of this sort, especially as the crew of the submarine cannot locate submerged nets nor determine the position of the vessel itself while the periscope is submerged.

The "sea anchors" resemble large pails, their shape being that of a portion of a cone. They are supported from bars attached to different portions of the pontoon so that in whatever direction the pontoon may be pulled, the pressure of the water within these "sea anchors" will provide sufficient resistance for such a pull and will release the hook or latch that extends through a slot in the frame attached to the pontoons, thus allowing the hook to pass through the slot and release the weight that was supported by the float.

The lines which support the net are attached to a pin that extends through this weight. Several modifications of the means for releasing the weights from the pontoon have been perfected by the inventor, but in each of the forms the principle is employed of releasing the weights only when a pull is exerted on the net greater than the weight of the net itself, which will happen only when a submarine craft encounters the net.

The strain exerted on the net, and by the net on the submarine, is such as to prevent a diver from attempting to clear the submarine of its entanglement, as he will be unable to get into a position to work on the under-sea craft when it has once become entangled.

Although the net in use today has proved very satisfactory in many respects, it must be admitted that many improvements are possible. On the other hand, only recently it was reported that a German submarine supplied with a net-cutting device had been seen by Capt. William Yetman of the British schooner, Hilda F., which was sunk 50 miles west of Gibraltar.

If this German device was operated by those inside the craft, and not automatically, as perhaps was the case, the latest American invention could not be destroyed owing to the inability of the crew to work after the submarine was once entangled and then the pirate would certainly be lost.

The beauty of this new device lies in the fact that it is not a menace to any save submarine craft. Surface boats can pass over it unharmed. Mines, and like-exploding submarine contrivances, are likely to become lost, and, floating about, endanger the shipping of neutral and belligerent countries to the confusion of all.

As Mr. Sargent also points out, the desired end may, however, be effected in another way by so changing the riding angle of the submarine, in consequence of the effect of weights attached to the net, as to disarrange the mechanism within the submarine with consequent disaster to it.

Another interesting object of this invention is said to be an automatic device by means of which invisible U-boats readily can be located.

Extracting BULLETS from the BRAINS and HEARTS of Living SOLDIERS

MANY marvelous feats of delicate and skillful surgery have been performed, but the most daring, and perhaps the rarest, are those in which surgeons in European war hospitals have actually removed bullets and bits of shrapnel from the heart and brain of living soldiers, who recovered from wounds that usually produce instant death. A few such remarkable cases have been reported by Drs. Beausseant and Cazamian, two French surgeons.

Dr. Beausseant has presented to the French Academy of Medicine the case of a wounded soldier from whose heart he removed a fragment of a grenade which had lodged in the cavity of the right ventricle. The case was considered unique. It demonstrated an unexpected tolerance of the heart for foreign bodies, for a considerable period of time had elapsed between the wound and the operation. It showed, too, that other similar cases might be operated on with a chance of success.

The second case was that of an infantryman who was observed to have a wound in the left side of the thorax. A radiograph showed no missile, and the wounded man was discharged in a fortnight with the strange diagnosis of peritonitis. But his health failed to return, his breathing was difficult, he could not lie down, and he had other distressing symptoms.

In consequence of these a new radiograph was made, this time under better conditions. The picture revealed the amazing fact that a shrapnel ball was in the same locality as the heart, probably in the interior of the ventricular cavity.

Just a year and a day after the entrance of the bullet, Dr. Beausseant operated to remove it. A large flap was cut and folded back so as to lay bare the heart. By exploration with the fingers the ball was discovered to be in the right ventricle, near the point. The surgeon lifted the heart from the pericardium and seized the point solidly between the middle and index fingers of the left hand, pushing the projectile toward the summit of the organ, where it was held firmly.

Two silk threads were then passed through the thickness of the ventricle, parallel and nearly half an inch from each other. While an assistant drew these apart, thus lifting and holding the ventricular wall, Dr. Beausseant made an incision between the two threads at the level of the projectile. On arriving at this he seized it and extracted it. There was a formidable hemorrhage, but the middle and index fingers, aided by the thumb, quickly stopped it, and the two threads, brought toward each other this time, were crossed and tied.

Five stitches were taken to bring the lips of the incision together, the heart was replaced in the pericardium, this was sewed up, and finally the flap on the thorax was folded back and sutured.

The first symptoms after this wonderful piece of work were very disquieting. There were great pain, agitation, delirium, a rapid and intermittent pulse, "precarious anguish." However, on the 15th day the patient was out of danger, and when he was presented before the Academy seven months later, he was incommoded only by a slight difficulty in breathing when walking fast.

Dr. Cazamian, who is a naval surgeon, reported to the Chirurgical Society of Paris two cases in which he practised extraction of projectiles from the brain at one sitting with the help of roentgenoscopy. The following is a description of the technique employed:

Two roentgenograms are made to locate the projectile. The latter's position being thus approximately ascertained, trephining was performed on the nearest part of the cranium. The dura mater having been incised, the Roentgen-ray screen was brought into action. The foreign body, once detected, was seized by forceps introduced into the brain substance and was thus extracted.

In the first case a shrapnel bullet penetrated, from the right side, the posterior frontal region and, traversing the two hemispheres, lodged below that part of the brain called Broca's convolution. The bony fragments at the orifice of entry were removed in the ambulance. Right facial paralysis persisted.

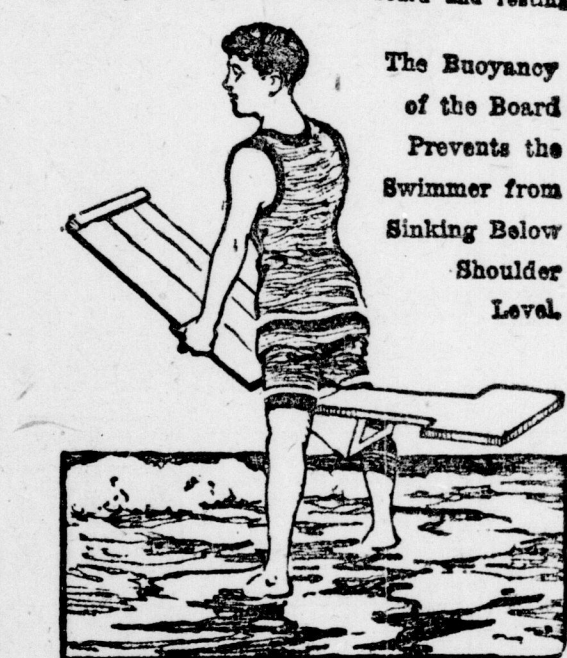

Three months after the injury the bullet was extracted, as described, by trephining from the left side. Immediately after the operation complete aphasia was manifested for several days; but four months afterward there was no sign of any motor or speech trouble.

In the second case a rifle bullet penetrated behind the ramus of the left lower jaw and lodged on the upper border of the left petrous

AN AID to SWIMMERS

A SWIMMING board invented by William F. Roberts of Newburyport, Massachusetts, is a help in learning how to swim.

The device is described in Popular Science Monthly as nothing more than two warp-proof boards of pine which are fastened together at a very large angle. The swimmer straddles these at the narrow junction of the boards. Lying with his body flat upon the front board and resting more or less upon the saddle board, he is buoyed up in the natural position for swimming. He learns the leg strokes first and then the arm strokes, and he rests back upon the board, whenever he becomes tired. By keeping his legs going slightly, the board is kept from overturning.

The buoyancy of the boards helps him to ride the waves and contributes to his enjoyment. Since there is no danger to fear, confidence is soon gained and the swimming strokes are mastered in short order. The swimming board is used purely for sport, also.

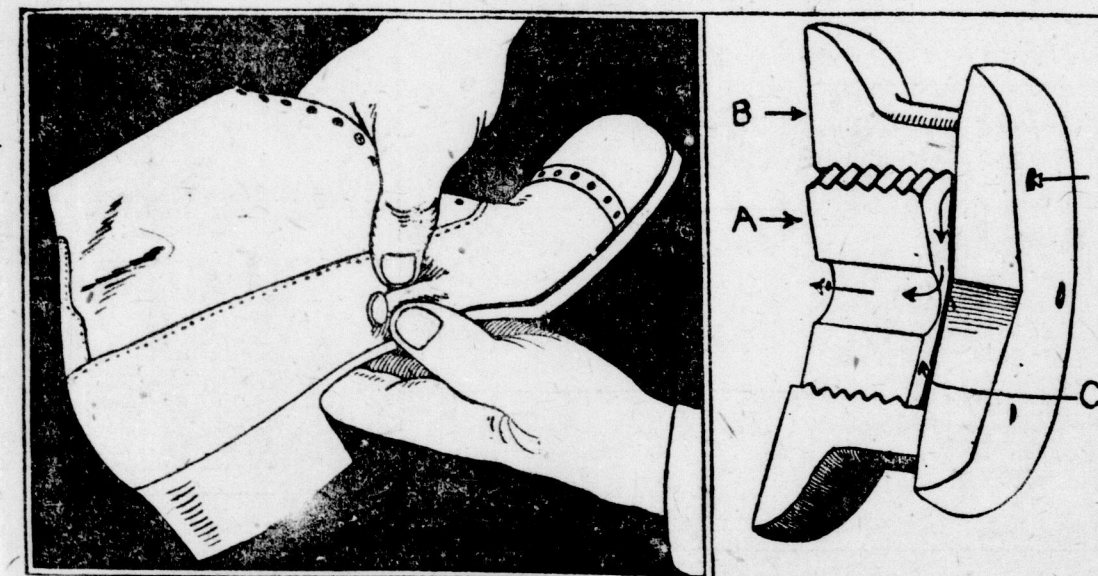

GIVING the FEET a CHANCE to BREATHE

IMPERFECT ventilation of the modern shoe is held by doctors to be the root of all foot evils. Sore feet, cold feet, perspiring feet, burning feet, tired feet, and every other variety of troublesome feet can generally be remedied by fresh air. But how to ventilate a pair of leather shoes has been a problem.

E. J. Devlin of Newark, N. J., who has been working on the problem of shoe ventilation for several years, has evolved an ingenious shoe ventilator which he says is inexpensive, practical, water-

The screw has a central passage as indicated. Now when the foot is raised in walking, air is sucked through the small vent holes into the air chamber C and then through the central passage to the interior of the shoe. Dust or moisture from splash being heavier than air will not follow the tortuous course indicated by the arrows, hence falls to the bottom of the air chamber and generally passes out through the bottom orifice.

The amount of air entering into the shoe may be regulated to a nicety by turning the screw in proof and inconspicuous. The inventor says that his device can be applied to any shoe by any one through the use of a punch selling for a few cents.

The foot ventilator, as described in the Scientific American, consists of only two parts, a hub having two flanges and a screw. When the end of the screw A is even with the surface B, there is an air chamber or open space at C with access to the open air through four small orifices in the hub face.

either direction; and if the flow of air is to be shut off entirely, the screw can be turned all the way so as to eliminate the air chamber and block the vents.

It is but the work of a few minutes to equip any pair of shoes with the new ventilators. Each shoe is placed on the edge of a thick board and a hole is punched through the hollow part of the arch. The ventilators, being of the proper size to fit the hole made by the punch, are merely pushed in place and held fast after the manner of a collar button.

PUFFBALLS Are SAFEST of FUNGI for FOOD

PUFFBALLS are the safest of all fungi for the beginner, none of them being poisonous, and they are at the same time excellent and easy to obtain, writes William A. Murrill, assistant director of the New York Botanical Garden, in the American Museum Journal. Being tender, they cook quickly and are easily digested. They should as a rule be cut open before cooking to see that they are not too old and that they are really puffballs. If they are white and firm like cream cheese inside, showing no yellow or brownish discoloration, they are of the right age to use. If the interior shows no special structures, but is smooth and homogeneous, then one may be sure he has a puffball. The "egg" of the deadly amanita contains the young cap and stem inside, which are readily seen when the "egg" is cut, and the "egg" of the stinkhorn shows the stem and a green mass inside surrounded by a layer of jelly-like substance.

Puffballs may be cooked alone in various ways or used in stews and omelets and for stuffing roast fowls. When used in omelets they should be stewed first. All kinds except the very small one should first be peeled and cut into slices or cubes, after which they may be fried quickly in butter or dipped in beaten egg and fried like eggplant or cooked in any of the ways recommended for the ordinary mushroom. The smaller kinds are much inferior in flavor to the larger ones and need a few specimens of some good mushroom to make them attractive.

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about two ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp; and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv't.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run-down in health, nervous, had backaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. Adeline B. Lynch, 109 Plain street, Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms of nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment. Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

GORDON CUMMINGS IS NOW BACK ON HIS OLD JOB AGAIN

Declares Tanlac Restored Him to Health—Suffered Five Years.

"I tell you what, this Tanlac has certainly built me up something wonderful, and it sure makes a fellow feel good to be able to get back to work after lying up at home so long," said Gordon Cummings, living at 221 Osler avenue, Toronto, the other day.

"My stomach had been out of order for the past five years," he continued, "and my indigestion had pulled me down till I was in a mighty bad shape. I had no appetite and the little I forced down, felt like a lump of lead in the pit of my stomach. Gas formed from my undigested food and would blow me up as if I could hardly breathe, and at times it would press on my heart, and distress me night and day. Whenever I would lie down I felt just like I was going to smother, and I suffered from such an awful misery in my back and side and all through my body that I could hardly stand it. My breath was offensive, my tongue felt coated. I had a mean taste in my mouth every morning, and often after drinking a glass of water I would belch up gas, and bitter fluids. Although I was taking some kind of medicine all the time, I kept getting worse, and finally I became so weak and run-down, that I just couldn't work any longer, and quit for three weeks.

"I read so much about Tanlac that I decided to get a bottle, and it did me so much good that I followed it up. I have taken it two bottles so far, but those awful pains have completely disappeared, the gas doesn't worry me like it did, my tongue has cleared up, and that bad taste has gone. I have a splendid appetite, so that I enjoy everything I eat and never have any more trouble with that indigestion."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, under the direction of a special representative, and by an established agency in every town.—Adv't.

HEAVIER THAN USUALWinnipeg, April 25.—The demand for cash oats was limited today, with a fair volume changing hands at the and unchanged for July oats. Barley closed 1/2c higher for May, and flax closed 1/2c lower for May, and July 2c down.Receipts of all grains continue fair for this time of year.
