DRURY'S PLAN OF PEOPLE'S PARTY IS IMPRACTICABLE, STATES U.F.O. SECRETARY

J. J. Morrison Declares Organization Was "Dragged" Into Politics—Executive Will Meet On Wednesday to Consider Action of Ontario Premier's Advocacy of "Broadening Out"—Attitude Regarding Politics To Be Definitely Outlined.

Toronto, Jan. 17.—Mr. J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U. F. O., stated today that a meeting of the executive of the organization will be held in Toronto on Wednesday when in all probability Premier Drury's recent advocacy of a "broadening out" political policy will come under discussion. If Mr. Drury's challenge is taken up a statement will likely be issued, making clear the organization's attitude in regard to political matters. "The U. F. O. is not a political society of its own free will," said Mr. Morrison today. "That is to say, there is not one word in its constitution that refers to politics. But the farmers, like every other branch of industry, sought to obtain relief from the disadvantages under which they worked as soon as they became class-conscious. And they dragged the organization into politics."

Mr. Morrison was asked what he thought of Premier Drury's ideal of a people's party.

NOT PRACTICABLE. "There are so many economic differences that would come up in such an organization that there would not be sufficient harmony to enable it to function properly. It is not natural for men to forget on what side their bread is buttered, and they vote that way."

But on the other hand, Mr. Morrison emphatically denied that he favored "class" government. He saw no reason why doctors and lawyers should not use their professional organizations to elect direct representatives of their class to Parliament. He thought it would be a good idea if the C. M. A. came out in the open and declared whom they supported as candidates for election. "Such a move would give us group government," he pointed out, and I think that is what we are coming to in this country. In such a group government, the names would be taken, I suppose, from whatever class had the most candidates elected. For my part, I would be perfectly satisfied with it, whether the farmers happened to be in the majority or not."

MACBRIDE REGARDS DRURY AS "POLITICAL CHAMELEON"

Toronto, Jan. 17.—The Star today published a letter from Mr. MacBride, M. P., of Brantford, replying to the charge of Mr. Drury, M. P., of Middlesex, that he withdrew his support from the Drury government because he was not made minister of mines. The letter, in part, says: "I think I have perhaps done about everything any one man could do in the way of favoring coming my way. As a matter of fact when the time came to choose a minister of mines, I took one look at the nomination of Harry Mills. That didn't look as though I wanted his job. To tell the blunt truth, I took one look at E. C. Drury, after a joint conference,

NAVAL BOARD OPENS PROBE INTO FLIGHT

Investigation Ordered by the Secretary of Navy.

EXCAVATION WORK ON $16,000 EAST END CITADEL, SALVATION ARMY, TO COMMENCE THIS WEEK

Will Be Erected On East Side Rectory Street Near Dundas—Full Particulars Expected Tuesday by the Local Headquarters Staff.

Word was received this morning from provincial headquarters of the Salvation Army that work will be commenced immediately on the erection of a $16,000 new citadel for the east end of London. The building will be situated on Rectory street, just opposite the east end town hall. Brigadier Alex. Crichton, head of the local district, stated that he had received no information as to what the interior of the new building would be like. He also added that he thought the work of excavating would be commenced this week.

During the past two weeks several important changes in buildings of the Salvation Army in this district have been effected. The Col. Taylor property on Emery street, between High street and Windsor avenue, was purchased last week for a children's home. Children's Home will be transferred to this building when the work of renovating is completed. The Gray Home will be added to the Bethesda Hospital. Property changes in Windsor, which also belongs to this district, were made last week. In addition to the Grace Hospital work cost considerably over $100,000.

The building used at present by the army for its work in the east end of the city is too small in proportion to the work that is being done at it. It is located in a row of buildings on Dundas street, west of Rectory street. The work of the industrial department of the army is carried on in a room of the east end town hall. It is thought that a part of the new building will be set aside for the work of this branch of the army.

Final plans were made today for the opening on Tuesday afternoon of the working girls' shelter of the Salvation Army, at the corner of Clarence and York streets. The building was formerly known as the Cecil Hotel.

BRIAND CABINET FAILS TO CREATE ENTHUSIASM IN FRENCH CAPITAL

Majority of Paris Newspapers Express Mild Satisfaction.

WILL STATE POLICY

New Premier Is Advocate of Strong Friendship for U. S. and Britain.

Paris, Jan. 17.—Little enthusiasm was today evinced by newspapers of Paris over the new Briand cabinet. The decrees of appointment of the new cabinet, printed this morning in the official Journal, expressed a "great national administration," raised by Raoul Peret, who on Saturday announced his failure to form a government, were not realized in the cabinet chosen by M. Briand. Most journals expressed mild satisfaction or reserved judgment.

In discussing the ministry chosen by the new premier, the Journal said: "It contains every element except sinuous pure royalists and communists." The Figaro, which ardently supported former President Poincare for the premiership, expressed its disappointment, saying: "It is the usual patchwork ministry, according to the pre-war formula."

The Oeuvre asked: "We have a new ministry; shall we have a new government?"

Will Declare Policy.

It is probable the new ministry will present itself before the Chamber of Deputies on Wednesday or Thursday, and M. Briand will at that time read the government's declaration of policy. The significance of the appointment of Aristide Briand as president of the council of the republic was not lost upon the people of the city of Paris. They recalled his friendship with Georges Clemenceau, who, while head of the French Government, assisted in framing the Treaty of Versailles, and the close ties uniting him with Raymond Poincare, who has stood for the enforcement of the Versailles pact. Speaking before parliament and in committee meetings, M. Briand has insisted that the treaty must be kept out, and that the interests of France in the Near East must be served. He has asserted that French troops could not be withdrawn from Russia at present.

BEEF STEAK MAY AGAIN SELL AT 10 CENTS POUND

Local Butcher Sees Possibility If American Tariff Becomes Effective.

"Beefsteak will be 10 cents a pound here if that tariff goes on," said Charles Anderson of Anderson Bros., butchers, of the Advertiser last night. In reference to the proposed American tariff embargo against Canadian meats.

In the event of the tariff passing, Mr. Anderson anticipates might be bad news for the farmer and the stockman and a few others, but it is safe to assume it would be welcome news to the man at the bottom of the various economic layers of humanity all equidistant one another above and below—that unfortunate class of all classes, the man who has to eat to live.

At ten cents a pound for plain sirloin, the old-fashioned man with red cheeks "T-bones" and "blanks with onions" at fifty cents, might even find again what he has so long lamented.

Other local cattle buyers are also of the opinion that as a result of the tariff the American Government would set on all meats imported to the United States, meat prices in Canada will be much higher, and that before the end of the winter beef may sell around 10 cents a pound.

"At this time of the year," said one buyer, "prices are always high because the farmers have room for their cattle in the barn, but I believe an immediate slump will follow the enforcement of the tariff. This district will be much affected, as about five carloads of cattle are shipped to the States every week. These cattle would have to remain in the country, with a consequent lowering of prices," he concluded.

PARLIAMENT WILL OPEN ON ST. VALENTINE'S DAY

Change in Opening Date Is Made — Old-Time Ceremonies, Including Drawing-Room Function, Will Mark Beginning of Sessions at Dominion House — Governor-General To Deliver Speech From Senate.

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—The Government, after having decided upon February 14 for the opening of Parliament, has changed the date to February 14.

The first decision was reached at Friday's cabinet council, though some of the ministers favored the 17th. A compromise has now been decided upon, and a special number of the Gazette has been issued announcing the 14th, which is on a Monday.

It has been customary in past years to open on a Thursday and to adjourn over till the following Monday. In the present case the House will get down to business during the first week, for it opens on a Monday.

Preparations are being made for an old-fashioned opening. The new Senate chamber is almost ready for occupation, and his excellency the governor-general will deliver the speech from the throne from his seat in that chamber. There will also be a drawing-room this year.

Colder weather already has made its appearance in districts lying immediately to the east of the Mississippi River, the bureau said, and the cold area is expected to reach the Atlantic coast from Maine to Florida by tonight.

PASTORAL CARE GREATLY NEEDED, MINISTERS TOLD

Dr. W. J. Robinson Makes a Strong Plea for Patients At Hospital.

SUGGEST CHAPLAIN

London Ministerial Alliance Favors Appointment of Permanent Pastor.

At the monthly meeting of the Ministerial Alliance, held this morning in the V. M. C. A., Dr. W. J. Robinson, of the Ontario Hospital, appealed to the ministers to make some definite arrangement regarding the Sunday morning services at the institution. Dr. Robinson said that his secretary experienced great difficulty in getting a minister to take the Sunday morning service, though some of the local ministers came several times during the year; others did not come at all.

He pointed out that there are in the neighborhood of 150 persons at the hospital, including the staff, and a very large number of these are capable of appreciating a sermon and enjoying a hymn; in fact, it gave the inmates something to talk and think about, because it was a common thing to hear them make favorable and adverse criticism on the morning sermon.

It was suggested by several of the ministers that a resolution be passed and sent to the Government asking that a chaplain be appointed to the institution, but Dr. Robinson, though he did not think this suggestion would be prepared to lay out so large a sum of money as would be required to appoint chaplains in all these institutions, because if one was appointed in London, all other such hospitals would appeal for the same.

Ministers object to fee. Dr. Robinson suggested that a fee be given to the minister taking this service, and that he would ask the Government for a sum that would cover the fee. The clergy, however, were not in favor of taking payment for conducting the services, considering it their duty.

When it was suggested by Rev. N. S. McKechnie that a chaplain be appointed to the institution, the denomination was raised, and Dr. Robinson remarked that the majority of the patients' religious convictions are changed when they are suffering mentally, and that this point need not be considered. Another clergyman pointed out that chaplains appointed at Westminster Hospital and the Byron School of Nursing had their duties without any trouble.

Need Pastoral Care. Dr. Robinson asked for a little more pastoral care of the patients. Perhaps when on their deathbed or very ill, he said, it was sometimes hard to get minister right at the time. He referred to Rev. John Christie, who was a constant visitor to the hospital, and whose words comforted many patients. The majority of patients who died in the hospital, one of his best friends, and a few, said Dr. Robinson, who have no relatives and friends, and sometimes it is difficult to get in touch with a minister, who is not too busy to take the service.

The alliance finally passed a resolution to the effect that the ministers in the vicinity of Pottersburg form a committee to look after the pastoral work of the hospital and make arrangements with the hospital secretary for the Sunday services to be taken by local ministers. Under this arrangement, which would be necessary for each minister to take the service once a week.

Miss Bertha Hodge, who recently returned from China, gave a most interesting resume of her work there, and appealed to the clergy to try and send out more young men and women to the mission field.

INJUNCTION TO PREVENT BUILDING NEW CITY HALL PRESENT SITE EXPECTED

Many Citizens Opposed to the Plan, Says John Hayman—Aldermen P. J. Watt and G. A. Wenige Favor the Custom House Site.

That an injunction may be sought to prevent the building of a new city hall on the present site because the citizens on three separate occasions have favored the federal square site, was the information given to The Advertiser today by John Hayman. Citizens are opposed to the plan outlined by Mayor Little of extending the present utilities building and adding another story to the combined structure. Mr. Hayman declared and they are prepared to take legal action to prevent the carrying out of the project.

Mr. Hayman is himself strongly opposed to the plan. "It is more in keeping with the ambitions of a village than with those of a city this size," he said. "A building cramped upon that small site will be anything but a credit to London. Citizens who want to see the city built up will not want anything of that character as the chief building in the city. The site is altogether unsuitable."

The utilities building takes up every inch of space on its site. There is no place to walk or stand except on the sidewalk of the main streets. The same condition will prevail if a city hall is built adjoining the utilities building. It will be impossible to give every department adequate room, and city justices will suffer as a consequence.

That action to prevent building on the present site is feared is indicated by the attitude of those advocating the plan. They take particular pains to re-emphasize the fact that the City Hall, "Civic Administration Building," in fact anything but City Hall. Whether this technicality is sufficient to set aside the vote of the people is one of the points which could only be settled by the courts.

While plans for a building on the present site are ready for presentation to the council tonight, it is by no means certain that complete indorsement of them will be given. As a matter of fact it has still to be decided whether the policy of putting new offices on the present site will be adopted at all.

REPORTED TO HAVE ACCEPTED POSITION VACATED BY MILNER

City Council Will Also Debate Elimination of Ward System.

PEOPLE WILL DECIDE

Change of Nomination and Election Dates Also Proposed in Bill.

Consideration of plans and estimates for new municipal offices on the present site will undoubtedly be the chief business of the city council tonight. It is before the council that the city council meeting of the year tonight. No definite action was taken by the committee pending completion of the drawings, of which the public utilities commission and Building Department were working. These will be ready to go before the council tonight. The committee likely will be authorized to take up their consideration in detail.

Elimination of Wards. Final indorsement of the London bill will be another important matter, as it contains a new clause asking for a vote in election and nomination dates and the election of aldermen to represent the wards, which at a railway crossing half a mile from the station a train dashed into him, smothering the horse and throwing him a considerable distance. The young man was conscious on the way to the hospital, where Dr. S. H. Murphy found him suffering from severe internal injuries, as well as broken arms. He died within an hour. He leaves a widowed mother.

DIES OF INJURIES AFTER BEING STRUCK BY A C. P. R. TRAIN

Renfrew, Jan. 17.—Albert Blackburn, 23 years of age, a farmer near Castleford, is dead, the result of being struck last night by a C. P. R. train. He was returning home from town in a single horse-drawn wagon, which was crossing a mile from the station a train dashed into him, smothering the horse and throwing him a considerable distance. The young man was conscious on the way to the hospital, where Dr. S. H. Murphy found him suffering from severe internal injuries, as well as broken arms. He died within an hour. He leaves a widowed mother.

Narrowly Escapes Death When Traction Engine Goes Through Middlesex Bridge

Perry Wilson of Parkhill Grasps Branch of Tree When Weight of Machine Causes Structure to Give Way—Traffic Blocked On Main Thoroughfare Between McGillivray and West Williams Townships.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

Parkhill, Jan. 17.—Only his presence of mind in grasping a branch of a tree when the Seabee bridge collapsed under the weight of a traction engine which he was driving, saved Perry Wilson of Parkhill from death on Saturday morning.

Water completely covers the engine, which has not been recovered yet. The Seabee bridge, which is a stagnant stream being very deep at this point, is probably a 24-hour stay at the county institution.

John Grant, a young Toronto man, who is an inmate of the jail as the result of being declared a vagrant, is friends with Wilson and hopes to be interviewed, as he says the boy had a good home on a farm with another uncle but did not appreciate it. Grant, who has already spent two weeks in a cell, was remanded for another week this morning in order to give him an opportunity to write to his uncle. If it is shown that the police on his behalf he will probably face a 24-hour stay at the county institution.

Young Toronto Man in Local Jail on Charges of Vagrancy.

John Grant, a young Toronto man, who is an inmate of the jail as the result of being declared a vagrant, is friends with Wilson and hopes to be interviewed, as he says the boy had a good home on a farm with another uncle but did not appreciate it. Grant, who has already spent two weeks in a cell, was remanded for another week this morning in order to give him an opportunity to write to his uncle. If it is shown that the police on his behalf he will probably face a 24-hour stay at the county institution.

Created only two years ago, the bridge was built on the road and at the highway is one of the main ones in this district, the residents are being inconvenienced to a great extent. Detours cannot be made near this place as the swamp ground will prevent the erection of a temporary structure as a substitute to the wrecked one.

Although much damage will be done to the engine as a result of its being immersed it is said that Wilson is of the opinion that his miraculous escape will offset this.

NAVY HOLDS EMPIRE TOGETHER 400 YEARS

Rev. S. Boal Addresses Crowded Audience in Allen Theatre.

Despite a cold, blustering wind Sunday night, practically every seat of the Allen Theatre was filled by an appreciative crowd when Rev. S. Boal, former chaplain of the British navy, made a plea for assistance in behalf of the widows and orphans of the heroes of the merchant fleet who died during the war. His address on "Sea Power" was enthusiastically received. A large number of slides depicting war scenes and pictures of the surrender of the German Fleet at Scapa Flow were shown.

Beginning with the reign of Henry VIII, when England first dreamed of becoming a sea-power, Rev. Mr. Boal traced the growth of the British navy up to the time of the great war.

He told of the deeds of Nelson and the defeat of the great soldier Napoleon, and claimed that the British navy held the Empire together during the past 400 years.

The speaker dwelt for some time on the part which the Grand Fleet had played in the great war. He told of the heroism of its personnel. He gave much credit to the 3,000 Canadians who served on the British ships.

After relating briefly an account of the victories of the army in Flanders, he said none of them would have been possible if it had not been for the merchant fleet of Great Britain. Because of the bravery of the 200,000 men who manned these ships, the troops in France were fed and kept well supplied with war material. Cheerily, these men served, although they received but $15 a month. They knew that when their ship went down their wives and children became dependent on the government and on charity. During the war 17,000 sailors of the fleet gave up their lives.

Rev. Mr. Boal's plea on their behalf met with a generous response. Alderman J. Bridge acted as chairman in the absence of the mayor.

WORLD NEEDS A NEW KIND OF CHRISTIANITY

Moody-and-Sankey Evangelism Is No Longer Effective, Says Rev. W. R. McIntosh.

"The remedy for the world's ills lies in Christianity," said Rev. W. R. McIntosh, speaking on "State Saints," at the evening service at King Street Presbyterian Church, Sunday. He said that in heathen and civilized countries, for more religion of a kind that works. The only way that Christianity could be propagated was through Christlike lives. The old form of evangelism such as the Moody and Sankey kind, was no longer effective. People were tired of Christianity revealed in honesty and unselfishness of life.

Today the world's need was more Christians, and especially a better brand of Christians. He said that the kind wanted were ones with enterprise and adventure. Christianity without daring was not a religion to the world. Christianity to be effective today should be genuine and original. It should be characterized by enthusiasm and sacrifice.

"The time has come when we must give Christianity a chance," he declared. "The nations of the world are weary of the old set unities we give them a religion that has power to make men and women better."

The challenge today was that Christians display a vital and aggressive faith.

GOLD SPELL HAS PUT FIVE OPEN AIR RINKS IN SPLENDID CONDITION

Lighting at Cove Has Made It Ideal Winter Resort.

Return of real winter has at last brought prospects of a skating on hockey season. Enthusiasts for all kinds of winter sports are elated over the change in the weather. Series of games will now be possible, and continued practice will be kept up to acquire the finishing touches of the art which are always lost between seasons and never regained until a good many hours of practice have been indulged in.

With five rinks available there is no doubt that skating will be the city's most popular pastime for the next few weeks. For the first time since the rinks opened it was necessary to use scrapers to clear the snow from the ice today. Previous snowfalls have been so light that this was not necessary.

The Cove is proving a highly popular winter playground. Lights have been placed there and the ice is kept clear by the city. Other rinks are located at Thames, Victoria and Queen's parks and at Chelsea Green.

VESTRY MEETING IN THORNDALE PARISH

Financial Report Most Satisfactory in Church's History.

The annual vestry meetings of the parish of Thorndale were held on Wednesday last. Grace Church, West Niagara, reported the best financial statement in the history of the church. John Gossley and John McFarlan were elected wardens. Plans were laid for improvements on the grounds and sheds in the early spring. St. George's Church, Thorndale, also reported a most satisfactory statement of the year. Harry Harding and Robt. Hobbs were elected wardens. The church was remodeled in 1919 and made one of the most up-to-date rural churches. The report at the vestry meeting showed an indebtedness of $800 on the church. The Ladies' Guild met the day following the vestry meeting and voted $300 of their funds towards the church debt, which reduces it to $500. The A. Y. P. A. held their first meeting on January 9. They have a printed program for the year, and anticipate a very satisfactory year's work. St. George's Church, Thorndale; Grace Church, West Niagara; St. John's Church, Thamesford, and Christ Church, Lakeside, were built in 1861, under the supervision of the Rev. Brookman, who was rector of the four churches. The wardens of the four churches of Thorndale parish were appointed a committee to make arrangements to commemorate the date. The present rector is now entering on his fourth year and is to be congratulated on the success of the parish.

A "TOPPING" IDEA

Is Put Over by Thieves Who Give Part Value.

At last a class of thieves that gives value for value received has been found in the city.

While Sam Willis, 785 Talbot street, was in a theatre enjoying a movie film Saturday evening, some party or parties did a quick change act on his car, which was parked across the road from the theatre. The thief took the car, substituting another which was almost as good. However, Willis was not in the least perturbed, to which he was made a party, and to which he was not invited to the present police department, which will endeavor to have the trading made null and void by arresting the amateur mechanics and recovering the other top.

BRIAND CABINET

cause such a step would be understood as a sign of weakness, and he is known to have viewed the return of Constantine to the throne of Constantinople as a triumph which should be used to his profit by France.

Favors Anglo-French alliance. M. Briand has been an advocate of complete solidarity between France, Great Britain and the United States, but he has not been able to demonstrate to the Allies that "the house" is in order and well administered. The radical tendencies of the new French cabinet are a source of concern to his early association with John Leveson, the Socialist leader assassinated in 1914. Briand's cabinet has been torn by dissension by communists and more moderate elements, may find in the Briand cabinet a more decided trend toward uniting factions and saving the party as a political power.

PERSONNEL OF CABINET.

Paris, Jan. 16.—Arlette Briand, formerly French prime minister, succeeded today in the task undertaken by him yesterday to form a cabinet. The new cabinet was announced by Premier Leygues, which resigned last Wednesday. Besides the premiership, Briand takes the ministry of foreign affairs; Louis Barthou becomes minister of war, and Paul Doumer, minister of finance. The cabinet is made up as follows: Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs—Arlette Briand; Minister of Justice—M. Bonnevay; Minister of the Interior—Pierre Marraud; Minister of War—Louis Barthou; Minister of Marine—Gabriel Guisba; Minister of Finance—Paul Doumer; Minister of Public Instruction—Victor Bérard; Minister of Agriculture—Edmond Lefebvre du Prey; Minister of Commerce—Lucien Dior; Minister of Labor—Daniel Vincent; Minister of Pensions—Andre Migonot; Minister of Public Works—Yves Letourneur; Minister of Liberated Regions—Louis Loucheur.

Not "Great" Cabinet.

"It is not the great cabinet," but it is a great cabinet that I have formed," said Premier Briand this evening. "Those who have been in France for many years understand that we are not a militarist nation. We have the warmest desire to be on friendly footing with Great Britain and the United States, but there is a part, signed at Versailles, which must be fulfilled. France will meet its obligation of that pact we come not in contest with our friends."

In Chamber Tuesday.

"My ministry will make its bow in the chamber Tuesday. It may be that a representative of France will meet the British and Italian delegates the next day. I have asked for the postponement of the meeting of the foreign delegates, and discuss questions of international interest as if there were no ministerial crisis in France."

The general impression in political circles is that the cabinet as constituted by M. Briand is a very powerful element, although many are deploring the absence of M. Poincaré and M. Viviani from the cabinet.

M. Briand has succeeded in forming his seventh cabinet, and he himself said, "embodie" "national unity."

Open With Prayer.

Lack of harmony among the members of the board of education has moved the lady trustees, Mesdames Tanner and McCully, to have the meetings hereafter opened with prayer. Mrs. Tanner, in her plea for a pre-business invocation, instanced the London trustees as keeping within the narrow path at the meetings of their board, through the efficacy of prayer. "I think we can do better work if we keep in touch with the Higher Power," declared Mrs. Tanner.

Installed Officers.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors installed their officers at their last regular meeting. The ceremony was in charge of the grand marshal, Mrs. O. Thurlow, and the past president, Mesdames Irwin, Harlow, Thurlow and Jolly.

G. I. A. Officers.
The G. I. A. to the B. of L. E. has also installed the following officers: P. Mrs. Coulter; V. P. Mrs. Meredith; Secretary, Mrs. Pollard; Treasurer, Mrs. Ward; I. G. Mrs. Waters; C. Mrs. Valli; G. Mrs. G. Taylor; S. Mrs. Price; musician, Mrs. Logan; C. Mrs. Flowers; S. Mrs. Wooliver; M. J. S. and T. Mesdames Matthews, Joliffe, Swift and Tanner. Mrs. W. Coulter was named delegate to Cleveland in May, with Mrs. Meadows, past president, alternate delegate for the convention. Mrs. E. MacDonald was the installing officer.

HALCROW MAKES NO DECISION YET

Wants To Know Duties First—Labor Aims At Old Age Pensions.

HAMILTON, Jan. 16.—George H. Halcrow, M. P. for East Hamilton, in an interview here tonight, declined to say whether or not he would accept the position of leader of the Labor group in the Legislature, which was offered to him at a recent conference of Labor M.P.P.s and representatives of the executive of the independent Labor party of Ontario.

Mr. Halcrow said he would wait until he learned at the Labor members' caucus in Toronto on Monday what would be expected of him in the proposed House leadership before giving his decision. He was not at the conference in which he was chosen as House leader of the Labor group, he said, and did not know what might be required of him in such a position.

With regard to legislation which the Labor members of the Legislature would press upon the Government and the House at the coming session, Mr. Halcrow said old age pensions and an eight-hour day would have the foremost places. These, he said, would be submitted to the cabinet first, and if the cabinet did not endorse the two proposed measures they would be introduced in the Legislature by private Labor members. Unemployment measures the Labor representatives would like to see placed upon the statute books, Mr. Halcrow said, but he appreciated the fact that it would be unwise to ask for too much at one time.

REVOLVER HIDDEN IN LEG OF SOCK

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 16.—Peter Williams and Spencer Honyust, a couple of Oneida Indians, were arrested Saturday night by Constable J. McCully on a warrant charging them with the theft of a cross-cut saw, alleged to have been stolen from Amos Nichols. On searching Honyust, the police found a revolver in the leg end of his sock. In these troublesome times this offence may be serious for the Indian.

Charles Ball, Yarmouth Heights, an escaped inmate of Mimico Industrial School, was picked up on Talbot street last night by Constable McKewen, on instructions from Superintendent Ferrier of that institution. The lad got away January 3, and has been sleeping in boxcars and railways. He was sent down for burglarizing a store at Yarmouth Heights.

UNITED FARMERS AT OYSTER SUPPER

Yarmouth Heights Club Has Large and Growing Membership.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 16.—The U. F. O. Club of Yarmouth Heights for some time past has been engaged in ridding the neighborhood of rats, mice and sparrows. In their clearing up work, the competing teams also did some missionary work and gathered in 73 new members. The results of the slaughter ran up over 4,750. The members of the club has now reached 140, one of the largest in the country. An oyster supper, followed the reports of the campaigners. The members of the tables were cleared 24 cakes remained intact, which were offered by auction, and realized $30.45, which will go to the Children's Shelter.

Office of W. H. Swift, Hlawatha street, was broken into last night, but nothing of much account is missing. Midnight marauders can find many store doors open these nights, declare the patrolmen, because of an oversight or a hurried leaving of the proprietors or clerks, and allowing an easy entrance for the after dark fraternity.

A NEW CITY HALL OR CITY OFFICES.

An auditorium is not a necessary part of the municipal building in any city. That it was a mistake to sell the old city hall is conceded.
The Royal Bank has converted it into one of the finest bank and office buildings in Canada.Since making the mistake it did, the city officials have been in the Nitschke Block on Dundas street.
They should be saleable at sufficient to repay the city their cost. It is a valuable building, originally erected as a piano factory by the late John Nitschke.Where the city hall or city offices should be located is still an open question. The citizens have favored building on the Federal Square, and some have favored tearing down the Nitschke Block and erecting new offices there.Economy consistent with efficiency has been the claim of many governments. Recklessness has often taken the place of this maxim.
There are several courses open to the mayor and aldermen, and we submit the following:

1. Erect the necessary office building on the court house square. Remove the jail outside the city and make the square a beautiful spot with view looking down the river.
The land can be got for nothing.
This is first choice.
2. Purchase the custom house. S.
Frank Glass, the member for East Middlesex, has stated that the custom house can be bought at a very reasonable price. It is one of the best buildings in Western Ontario.
It is to be abandoned when the postoffice and custom house are erected on the site of the present postoffice and Carling's Block. The plans for a splendid building have been prepared for some time. When completed they will make that corner one of which any city would be proud. The new hotel on the corner north now occupied by the Merchants Bank and Bank of Montreal will be an added attraction. Opposite on St. Paul's Cathedral square is now the custom house, which could at very little expense be converted into a city hall. What a splendid site for a city hall! A very substantial cut-stone building with light all round it, isolated, on a beautiful square at the end of London's best residential street, surrounded by St. Paul's Cathedral, the new hotel, the new postoffice and custom house, the Bank of Montreal, the Huron & Erie, the London Club, the rectory of St. Paul's, and the Richmond street, the chief street running north and south through the city.

This is easily second choice if,
indeed, it does not take first place because of its cost. The Government, any Government, would deal liberally with the city. They have, no doubt, written down its value.
They are abandoning it not because it is not fit for the work, not because it is not a first-class building, but because of changes and growth in the necessities for the customs and postoffice.

It is an opportunity that should not be lost. It could most likely be obtained for less than a new building could be built on the court house square.

Its cost would likely be very much less than the cost of a new building on Dundas street, and to that cost should be added the loss by destruction of the Nitschke Block.

3. Several other sites could easily be suggested, preferable to the present site.
4. The custom house obviates all the inconvenience of again procuring temporary offices for the city. The agreement could be made to transfer to the city as soon as the new premises were ready. Then the Nitschke Block could be sold for a large sum which would go a long way towards paying for the custom house and any necessary alterations.

The mayor and aldermen should think long before entering on the destruction of the Nitschke Block.
Taxes are high enough already. Buy the custom house, sell the Nitschke Block and apply the proceeds on the purchase price. This will give the city office on a site that is perfect for the purpose and not cost more than half the present site would cost. This would meet the demand of economy consistent with efficiency and would in part repair the loss incurred by the sale of the old city hall.

REDISCOVERING CHARTISM.

The general interest in the social and economic changes of our own time is probably the reason for the marked revival of interest in some of the great social-economic movements that followed on the close of the Napoleonic wars. Where men find a likeness in history they possibly feel safe in looking to the future. At any rate, publishers are not hesitating to bring out volume after volume on the Chartist movement, the Christian Socialist movement, and kindred activities that for several decades were almost forgotten save by scholars.

Mr. Graham Wallis, of the London School of Economics, had something to do with starting this new movement when he produced that remarkable biography—one of the outstanding biographies of the last few years—the life of Francis Place.
Place was a sort of power behind the throne, as far as the people's movements were concerned. He knew the power of sustained constitutional agitation, and he possessed a wealth of patience, a virtue that is sometimes absent in the case of leaders of popular movements.

Then Mark Hovell, a young Manchester scholar, who later fell in the war, produced a history of the Chartist movement that took rank above all else that had been written up to that time on that interesting movement. From the graduate school of Columbia University came also three studies of Chartist prepared by candidates for the doctor's degree. Now we have still another complete history of the Chartist movement from the pen of Julius West, a young Russo-English student of history and politics, declared by critics to be an even better book than that by Hovell. "Christian Socialism," by Raven, is another book that deals, however, with a period somewhat later, and Beer's "History of British Socialism," of which the two volumes have now appeared, covers a much wider range, but includes the Chartist movement.

Beer has placed Chartist in its proper historical setting. He shows that it followed and sprang from the social-economic ferment usually associated with the name of Robert Owen, and he insists that Chartist was essentially Socialistic. While ostensibly a movement for political reform, it had distinctive social aims. Chartist was a constitutional policy, but some of its supporters were for physical force, and some for moral force, and between them they wrecked the larger idea. It may be that there are many readers who will never read the more weighty studies of this great movement. Such may find a picture of the times well worth reading in Charles Kingsley's novel, "Alton Locke."

There has really been a re-discovery among historians and students of history of the importance of the social-economic movements of the first half of last century. The names of Lovett, Place, Owen and others are beginning to rank with those other names which for a century have monopolized the attention of historical writers. A new edition of the life of William Lovett has been issued within the last few months, and a new edition of Owen's life, as well. It is not that there is an exact parallel to be found in the conditions of a century ago and the conditions today. Men are realizing, however, that even the minor likenesses and the contrasts as well, may have lessons that it will be well to learn in this day of our rebuilding.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Germany is threatened with a double revolution, on one side the royalists, on the other communists.
If they will only start exterminating one another it will be the most successful of revolutions.

Red revolution is reported to be at hand in Spain, which is not surprising, as filletaria in Spain runs high, as in Russia, and the Government is inclined to be cruelly repressive. That combination inevitably causes an explosion.

Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork makes wild charges of British "atrocities" before the Committee of One Hundred. Americans will no doubt recall that it was Cork mobs that repeatedly insulted and attacked American sailors during the war.

LETTERS

A GUNMAN TRAP.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:—

Am greatly interested in Mr. Con-nor's letter in The Advertiser Thursday, 13th, "A Crime Stopper," but would suggest, instead of having cement pois with strong chain attachments leading from all main roads from cities and towns, to dig deep pits large enough to hold the largest auto manufactured.

I would cover these pits with cement or steel coverings, would arrange them to be easily removed with a powerful lever, and when an alarm would be given they would be removed quickly and you would catch your highwayman, auto and all, then replace cover and return. Notify police morning at your leisure, thus not breaking the officers' slumber and allowing robber ample time to repeat.
Of course, you would catch many innocent people, so also would Mr.
Connor. But what of that? This crime wave must be stopped.

Another advantage is that a strong boy would do the trick, where Mr.
Connor would require several husky policemen, thus relieving them for duty elsewhere.

From an old trapper who has taken your paper many years and has faith in it. D. I. BROWN.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Westminster Hospital,
London, Ont., Jan. 14, 1921.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:—

Would you be kind enough to permit me to say a few words regarding the above hospital and the patients therein?

I had the pleasure of attending a concert there on Thursday evening last, and what struck me most was the appreciation shown by the patients, and the joy on their faces must have rejoiced that concert party coming to the hospital. It seemed as if they (the patients) were in a new world. I often wonder why we do not get more concerts like that, because the kindness and side world has forgotten that here in Westminster there is somewhere between three and four hundred boys who gave all they had, gave up health, and strength to fight, so that you and I may live in peace and enjoyment.

It seems very hard to realize that such is the case, but alas, it seems only too true.

Now, what I suggest is this: There are plenty of concert parties in the city of London. Why not all such concert parties get in touch with the hospital and make some arrangement to pay the boys a visit on certain dates?

I would like to tell those people that they would be doing their kindness when they see the smiles, awe, and tears of joy from those poor mothers' sons who are doing their best to get on with their lives, and are looking forward to that day when they are well enough in body and soul to go out in the world and tread the path of sunshine and happiness and feel that they were not forgotten by the people of London.

Again thanking you for a little space,
I beg to remain, yours truly,
GEORGE W. GRAHAM.

HOW MANY BRICKS?

To the Editor of The Advertiser:— At a meeting of the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union, held January 12, I was instructed to write concerning the report of an address which appeared in your paper of the 10th, "Few Give Honest Day of Work." Bishop Fallon is quoted as saying: "In former years a bricklayer took pride in laying 1,100 or 1,200 bricks. Where he to do so now he would be shot."

In the first place, the report does not say how many hours comprised the day's labor in 1,100 or 1,200 bricks were laid, and in the second place it would be interesting to know who would shoot the worker.

There are just as many bricks laid per hour as ever there were. The number of bricks laid per hour varies, according to the class of work and width of walls. For instance, a steel constructed building does not require a wall as wide as a non-steel structure, thus limiting the number of bricks laid per hour.

In the 53 years that our international union has existed no restriction of the amount of work that should be done for a day's wage has ever been proposed or permitted.

HARRY RYMI, Secretary.

OTHERS' VIEWS

LENINE'S CHINESE GUARD.

[Detroit Free Press.]
Chinese mercenaries have been in common use by the bolshevik despot for some time. They have been employed regularly for the enslavement of the Russian people and they have been paid not merely in coin, but in concessions and privileges of the most hideous sort.

But the summoning of four thousand of these professional butchers to Moscow to act as a special guard for Lenin is highly significant when taken in connection with the report that one of Lenin's Christmas presents was a gunshot wound.

The situation suggests a gloomy decline of the prestige of the monster of Moscow. He has been obliged to what even the czars did not have to do, he has been forced to maintain himself as an alien conqueror with the aid of foreign muskets and bayonets. He cannot trust his own personal security to his fellow countrymen and fellow bolshevists.

DRURY'S STRENGTH IN HOUSE.

[Brantford Expositor.]
Because two of the Labor members are taking seats on the "cross benches," it is not likely that the Drury Government will be unable to carry on, despite the smallness of its majority. Neither the Liberals under Mr. Dewar, nor the Conservatives under Mr. Ferguson are in a position to assume the responsibility of office, or desire a general election for Ontario at the present time.
The conditions change either or both the old political parties will be willing to furnish sufficient to keep things going on existing lines.

GERMANY A BANKRUPT COUNTRY.

[London Times.]
At the root of the whole matter of the revival of German trade, however, lies the condition of German finance.
The state is practically in a bankrupt position, but nobody wishes to use the word. The funded debt, which was about 5,000 millions of marks in July, 1914, was 51,000 millions on November 1, 1920; and the floating debt, which was 400 millions in July, 1914, was 157,000 millions on November 1, 1920. The total debt is 287,000 millions and by the end of the financial year it is expected to reach some 330,000 millions.

The budget of 58,000 million marks shows a deficit of about 48,000 millions, which is nearly equivalent to the demands under the peace treaty. The note circulation, which was 2,700 millions in July, 1914, was 75,000 millions on November 1, 1920. The service of the debt, the principal item of expenditure under the ordinary budget, is 12,033 million marks.

A bank or business house in such a position would call a meeting of its creditors, if they had not called one themselves long before. The German people, and especially the business community, now realizes what a speculation it was when Herr Helfferich of dangled before them the spectacle of indemnities from a ring of tribute-paying states. As a business proposition the war was lost for Germany in 1918, and the years between have but made the solution of the problem the more difficult.

But from end to end of Germany you will hardly hear the words "state bankruptcy" even breathed. The loan interest is paid, the coal deliveries to the Allies are maintained, and thereby the mark continues to maintain a value.
As long as it is worth anything or something, trade can go on, accounts can be opened in Zurich and Amsterdam (and now in London), and the German merchant can keep a credit in some sort of real money to pay with.

At last he realizes that the Allies must come to a decision about him; whether the debenture holders are to regard the position of Germany as hopeless and wind it up for what they can get in the pound; or whether they prefer to adopt the plan of forbearance towards the debtor, and give him time to make some sort of a job he can make of his own salvation. They would, however, be obliged to exact two conditions—the closing of the note-printing process and the severe limitation of bureaucratic and public extravagance.

Into this problem of how Germany is to trade there comes the question of fixing the indemnity. The best and most responsible financial opinion in Germany would appear to be against this being done now. It might bring the house down about their ears. There would probably be such a wide difference between a German figure and an Allied figure that in the present state of the country's financial agreement would even be approached. Despair and disturbance, both on a large scale, would be inevitable. It had best, say these persons, be let alone for the present.

EVERYTHING

THE IDEALIST.

[Detroit Free Press.]
(By author of "The Last Throw, or Killed by His Own Bomb"; "Devil to Death, or the Crab"; "Chased by a Boat with a Bill"; "Saved by His Whiskers"; "Two Slippers That Beat as One, or the Spanking," and nine hundred and nineteen others on the press.)

It had been raining horribly. The streets were mud, and so did many of the pavements.
"Dear me," sighed Poorfish Dubb, doletfully, as he gazed at a glimpse of a giggling girl gingerly getting over a gutter.
"If Sir Walter Raleigh were here he would be here."

"By skizickie," he continued, "that old knight would die for a young man like me, the ungallant guys of this generation. Gosh! Well, the next woman who tries to cross over on my old overcoat. Darn by crows if she don't."
And with this Poorfish Dubb, with poorfish Dubb looked around for somebody to work it on.

And, as if in answer to his wish, a middle-aged, middle-aged, fat woman came to the curb, and lifted a black skirt above a twenty-nine inch ankle.
"Allow me," cried Poorfish Dubb, rushing forward gallantly. And he dashed down his overcoat, splashing several quarts of mud on her.

"Brute! Beast! Assassin!" cried the fat woman, knocking him down in the mud with her umbrella. He got up quickly and beat it, followed by a mob of not more than three thousand.

"How do I know?" asked Poorfish Dubb suspiciously, and hurried on.

THE THINGS THAT HAPPEN.

[Richard H. Gallen.]
The loveliness of water, its fairy ways With cloud and wind, its myriad sor-ceries
With morning and the moon, and stars araze
In its still glass, and the tranced summer trees
The dove-like rivers, the rough-throated seas,
The tides that brim with silver the grassy plain,
Or strewn lone islands with lost argives
We come and go—these things remain.

Fire and its gnomes, soft-talking as it plays
Dream-like, amid its fretted image-ries,
Or melting the wild hills, and with its blaze
Licking the very stars; and even as these
The winds that blow through all the centuries.
The falling snow, the shining April rain, Birds singing, and the far-off Pleasures
We come and go—these things remain.

God's glory, and the march of nights and days,
The seals upon the ancient mysteries Of rose and star and woman's magic face,
That, seeing, man loves, yet knows not what he sees;
The old sweet sins, the old sweet anxieties,
War and love, peace, then war and peace
again;
The Dark, and in Death's hands the deadly keys,
We come and go—these things remain.

RESTRICTING IMMIGRATION.

[Halifax Echo.]
Canadian immigration laws have been tightened and newcomers must now have at least $250 in hand before being admitted. The ostensible purpose, of course, is to keep out undesirable, and in a sense it may do what is intended.
At least it will bar out the very poor among the hordes who look toward Canada as the Land of Promise, but even the best of the immigrants are an inflexible sign of incapacity for good citizenship. In fact, the past proves that the immigrant law is not only the provisional quarter in his pocket may become a captain of industry and accumulate millions. It is true, a man would positively assert that such a man was a good citizen.

PAT O'BRIEN.
[Quebec Telegraph.]

A sad and pathetic ending to a brilliant and heroic career in the Great War was that of Flight Lieutenant Pat O'Brien, which was reported from London. Among the many thousands of books written by war heroes, no more than "Outwitting the Hun," the little volume in which O'Brien told the story of his escape from Germany between six British and twenty German aviators. Born in San Francisco, but living at Monmouth, Ill., when war broke out, O'Brien did not wait for America to make the great leap, but, crossing to Canada, joined our aviation forces and soon gained recognition as a brave and daring aviator. Forced down in a battle in the summer of 1917, he fell unconscious, behind the German lines, and awoke to find himself in a German prison. After several weeks at Cour-trai, Belgium, he was ordered transferred to a prison camp in Germany, but escaped when sixty miles inside the German border by jumping from a train going 30 miles an hour. Without knowing without a map and without money, O'Brien made his way to 22 miles north of the North Star his guide, the turnip fields his main source of food, traversing the country, until finally reached and housed in the electrically-charged sentinel-guarded wire barrier, and eventually reached England, where King George himself gave him welcome at Buckingham Palace, and listened entranced for an hour to his story of his adventure. Returning home, O'Brien has since been a popular figure on the lecture platform and at flying exhibitions, on one occasion falling 2,000 feet and escaping with a broken nose. Only a few days ago in a Los Angeles hotel this hero of the war shot himself, leaving a note in which he said: "With all my war record, I am just like the rest of the people—a little bit of clay. Only a coward would do what I am doing." The note indicated the failure to bring about a reconciliation with his wife, a moving picture actress, was the cause of his rash act. Many will marvel that a man who faced death as fearlessly as did O'Brien in war and in the many adventures of his trip across Germany, lacked the moral courage to face his domestic difficulties. But there are no troubles, says the St. John Globe, in recounting the story, like unto those of the heart.

Would your husband marry you again?

Fortunate is the woman who can answer "yes." But many a woman, if she is honest with herself, is forced to be in doubt—after that she pays stricter attention to her personal attractions.

A radiant skin, glowing and healthy, is more than a "sign" of youth. It is youth. And any woman can enjoy it.

Beauty's basis

is pure, mild, soothing soap. Never go to sleep without using it. Women should never overlook this all-important fact. The basis of beauty is a thoroughly clean skin. And the only way to it is soap.

There is no harm in cosmetics, or in powder, rouge, if you frequently remove them. Never leave them on overnight.

The skin consists of countless glands and pores. They clog with oil, with dirt, with perspiration—with refuse from within and without.

The first requirement is to cleanse those pores. And soap alone can do that.

A costly mistake

Harsh, irritating soaps have led many women to omit soap. That is a costly mistake. A healthy, rosy, clear, smooth skin must be a clean skin, first of all.

There is no need for irritating soap. Palmolive soothes and softens while it cleans. It is based on palm and olive oils.

Force the lather into the pores by a gentle massage. Every touch is balmy. Then all the foreign matter comes out in the rinsing.

If your skin is very dry, use cold cream before and after washing.

No medicaments

Palmolive is just a soothing, cleansing soap. Its blandness comes through blending palm and olive oils. Nothing since the world began has proved so suitable for delicate complexions.

All its beneficial effects come through gentle, thorough cleansing. There are no medicaments. No drugs can do what Nature does when you aid her with this scientific Palmolive cleansing.

Millions of women get their envied complexions through the use of Palmolive soap.

Should Be One of Best Years For Event From Indications.

SEAFORTH, Jan. 16.—Entries for the Western Ontario Colts' Bantam, which starts Tuesday, according to J. J. Broderick, secretary of the local club, close Monday, and while a good many of the expected entries are in, there are still a few uncertainties who are leaving their entries until the last moment. Amongst the first entries were those of Cy Edy's London Thistles, last year winners of the Free Press trophy and gold medals. The lack of curling this year, should have its effect in making this Colts' 'spiel the best ever held, even in its old form.

TORONTO, Jan. 16.—In defeating St. Patrick's at the Arena last night by a score of 5 to 2, the Ottawa Senators displayed hockey form which seems to insure their supremacy throughout this season's professional race. The first half is already theirs, and at this moment and with the relative performances of all four teams in mind, it is hard to see who is going to interfere with their capture of the second half also. Distasteful it was to the Canadiens to see the champions breaking in on the Canadiens three straight games.

Nationals are the first of the local teams to get a crack at the silverware, and Maple Leafs also have a bid in. The scores:

The Acadians had little difficulty in turning back the St. Kitts trundlers who arrived here Saturday in search of the McCallum trophy. ENGLAND'S DEFEAT OF WALES BIG SURPRISE

London, Jan. 16.—Canadian Associated Press.—The greatest football attraction of the London district on Saturday was the first Rugby international of the season, England vs. Wales, at Twickenham, where nearly 50,000 enthusiasts attended. The extent of England's victory of 18 points to 3 was a surprise. Wales had immense faith in their powerful team, but were over-played even where. England found few changes necessary in the team which finished last season well, and had given a thoroughly satisfactory showing in the "twelve" match.

London, Jan. 16.—At a dinner in Melbourne last night to the United States tennis players, Norman E. Brooks of the Australian team said he hoped to lead an Australian challenging team to the United States this year to regain the trophy, says a London Times dispatch from Melbourne today.

Doan, Last Year's Fast Junior, On St. Thomas Lineup Tonight—Locals To Use New Subs.

Tonight's game between St. Thomas and London should be a real bang-up battle. The Saints, though soundly trounced at Ingersoll, sadly lacked practice, and with a sound work-out Saturday night, are coming over this evening with a big contingent of rosters ready to shuffle up a new deal in the group.

Doan, last year one of the fastest juniors in this region of thaws and still more thaws, will be lined up with the visitors tonight, and he has some good help which makes the St. Thomas six a better team than the game in Ingersoll would indicate.

Following this game the locals do not return for two weeks. They go to Ingersoll next Friday night and Tilsonburg next Monday, returning here to play with Ingersoll on January 25. Friday night a long line of fans were kept waiting for the doors to open out at the rink. The management state that this was necessary because of the degree of frost was needed to conserve what ice there was, hence the doors were kept tightly closed.

ENGLAND'S DEFEAT OF WALES BIG SURPRISE

London, Jan. 16.—Canadian Associated Press.—The greatest football attraction of the London district on Saturday was the first Rugby international of the season, England vs. Wales, at Twickenham, where nearly 50,000 enthusiasts attended. The extent of England's victory of 18 points to 3 was a surprise. Wales had immense faith in their powerful team, but were over-played even where. England found few changes necessary in the team which finished last season well, and had given a thoroughly satisfactory showing in the "twelve" match.

BROOKS SAYS HE WILL GO TO U. S. FOR DAVIS CUP

London, Jan. 16.—At a dinner in Melbourne last night to the United States tennis players, Norman E. Brooks of the Australian team said he hoped to lead an Australian challenging team to the United States this year to regain the trophy, says a London Times dispatch from Melbourne today.
