Stores and Factories Closed Throughout Two Provinces Central Powers Conclude Peace With Ukraine

Agreement Has Been Signed Between Teutons and Ukrainian Rada, Copenhagen Hears From Berlin; Huns Make Offer to Roumania Also

By Courier Leased Wire. Copenhagen, Feb. 9.—A peace agreement has been signed by representatives of the Central Powers and of the Ukraine Rada, a semi-official Berlin telegram announces. HUN OFFER TO ROUMANIA Amsterdam, Feb. 9.—A telegram from Berlin quotes The Boersen Gozette as saying that, as a result of conferences held at Berlin, an agreement had been reached regarding peace terms to be offered by the Central Powers to Roumania. The report is confirmed by The Essener Allgemeine Zeitung, which says that Roumania can secure compensation in Southwestern Bessarabia for the annexation of the Province of Dobrudja by Bulgaria. The Newspaper suggests that Roumania and the Ukraine make common cause against the Russian Bolsheviki. It is reported, without explanation that a deputation of Russian troops from the Bukovina front is on its way to Brest-Litovsk. A Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company quotes a message from Sofia, Bulgaria, as saying that a newspaper there has announced that Roumanian revolutionists have seized ships in the harbor of Keliia and proclaimed a new republic in the estuary of the Danube. The Ukrainian information bureau at Stockholm has received a report from the Ukrainian delegation at Brest-Litovsk that the Ukrainians have won a great victory over the Bolsheviki, taking 200 machine guns and 200,000 rifles. It adds that a Bolsheviki attempt to capture Kiev failed, the Bolsheviki losing 3,000 men.

EFFORTS OF FOE ON THE MEUSE VAIN

German Crown Prince Suffered Seven Costly Defeats in Week TREMENDOUS LOSSES

With the French Armies in France, Feb. 9.—(By the Associated Press).—The armies of the German Crown Prince before Verdun since February 2, have suffered costly defeats in seven vain raids on French positions on both sides of the Meuse. Although large bodies of troops were employed at times not a single permanent advantage has been gained. On February 2, the Germans made three separate assaults on the Carrières Wood, on the right bank of the Meuse, but were hurled back on each occasion by the French, who dashed to meet them with bayonets and hand grenades, killing large numbers. North of Hill 344 on February 3, five German columns advanced in a thick fog, after a heavy preliminary bombardment and succeeded in entering the French front line momentarily. The enemy was driven out in vigorous hand-to-hand fighting and again suffered severely. A Baden division, preceded by shock units, assaulted the French line at the same place on February 4. They gained a footing in the trenches for a few minutes and then were chased off after uselessly sacrificing many lives and leaving some prisoners. On Feb. 6, in the vicinity of Fosses wood, another attack was made at dawn after a shortage and sharp artillery preparation by Hanoverian troops and a relief division. They succeeded in reaching the French barbed wire and in occupying an element of the French position. They were driven out almost immediately and pursued by the French, leaving many dead and a number of captured. Between Sasognieux and Hill 344, on February 7, another German assault was repulsed with still more losses. This sector is composed mainly of positions formed of groups of shell craters, organized since the French gained their great victory last fall.

TUSCANIA SURVIVORS SHELTERED

Ireland Opens Her Heart To Stranded American Soldiers

By Courier Leased Wire. Belfast, Feb. 9.—Between 100 and 200 soldiers from the Tuscania arrived here Friday. They were met at the railway station by a battalion of the Royal Irish regiment, headed by the regimental band, which escorted them to temporary quarters. Crowds of citizens assembled at the station and in the streets, and greeted the Americans with enthusiasm. The survivors reported to be little the worse for their terrible experience except for the nondescript clothing they wore. Many had British army coats. Lord Mayor Johnston has received from American Ambassador Page a letter thanking for the help given the survivors, "which will be appreciated deeply by the American government and people." Temporary Camp An Irish Port, Feb. 9.—(By the Associated Press).—American soldiers to the number of 550 left this town by rail yesterday for a temporary camp near a metropolitan city in the north of Ireland. They left behind 32 hospital cases, the majority suffering from pneumonia. Only four of those in the hospital were suffering serious injuries. The townspeople gave the Americans a rousing send-off. The Americans marched along a route of one mile to the harbor station, while hundreds of townspeople cheered them. The people of this little Irish port have taken the Americans into their hearts. A brass band of British blue jackets headed the procession, playing Yankee Doodle and Dixie, to the great delight of the Americans, who presented a strange appearance in their midst clothing. Many of the Americans wore the uniforms of British soldiers, the authorities having rushed large quantities of clothing from various army barracks. The headgear of the Americans ranged from jockey caps to sou'westers.

Stores and Factories of City, With Some Exceptions, Are Closed Until Monday Night—Munition Factories Running; Groceries and Drug Stores Also Exempted From Shutting Down

Ice bound, after the sleet and rain which fell last night, Brantford this morning launched forth upon the first heatless day within her history, with virtually all industries and businesses at a standstill. A number of the city's munition factories remained running, under special permission or even instructions from Ottawa, while among the places of business exempted from closing to-day were drug stores, barber shops, grocery stores—open until noon—and news-stands. The closing order enacted by the government this week throws thousands temporarily out of work here, but in the face of the urgency of the situation, little dissatisfaction is expressed. The cutting off of all manufacturing from the gas supply, commencing at noon on Monday, was announced this morning by the local company, the statement causing dismay in many sources. How long the restriction will endure has not yet been decided. OBSERVATION GENERAL Toronto, Feb. 9.—Early reports received this morning from many of the areas of Ontario and Quebec, affected by the "Heatless Days" order of the Canadian Fuel Controller, indicate a very general observance of the restrictions imposed on this part of Canada. In some specified municipalities, such as the far northland of Ontario, in the neighborhood of New Liskeard, exemption was granted by the fuel controller as coal is not used there, and the wood fuel is brought in on Saturday's. In all other districts reporting this morning the lid is on tight on factories, stores and other industries, except those specifically mentioned as being necessary to the sustenance of life and the prosecution of the war.

LITTLE EVIDENCE AS YET AGAINST BOLO

General Trend of Testimony Fails to Convict Accused Man of Unpatriotic Utterances—Spoke as Any Frenchman Might

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Feb. 9.—The trial of Bolo Pasha on a charge of treason is progressing with great rapidity and those in touch with the case look for an earlier termination than had been anticipated. Many of Bolo's witnesses are not in France and it is expected that the lawyers will begin their argument early next week. Joseph Caillaux, former premier, is expected to take the stand today as a witness for the defense. The witnesses who have appeared for the defense so far have first apologized to the court, saying they were not witnesses for either the prosecution or the defense, but merely wanted to tell what they knew. The general trend of the testimony for the defense has been that none of the witnesses ever heard Bolo utter unpatriotic sentiments. Madame Bolo, the second wife of the accused, defended her husband stoutly. Something of the scope of Bolo's influence came to light yesterday when the Prefect of Basses Pyrennes, a former friend of Bolo, testified to having asked the accused to interest himself in behalf of General Quinquand and obtain the latter's nomination as post commandant of the district of France. "I did," Bolo Pasha interposed, "and three months later General Quinquand secured the position." The testimony of Charles F. Bertelli, the head of the Paris Bureau of the International News Service, threw little light on Bolo's activities in the United States. Mr. Bertelli denied that William R. Hearst, to whom he introduced Bolo, was a friend of Germany. Concerning Bolo, Bertelli said: "Bolo spoke as patriotically as any Frenchman, as much so as M. Clemenceau, for instance."

RATIONING IN OLD LAND

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Feb. 9.—After much cogitation over various proposals, Baron Rhondia, British food controller, last night issued a meat rationing order, which gives each citizen approximately one pound of meat weekly. The system adopted is somewhat complex. The meat card is available for twenty weeks, provides four coupons weekly, three of which entitles the holder to purchase uncooked butcher's meat, including pork. Each coupon represents the value of a five pence, the fourth coupon entitles the holder to purchase bacon, ham, poultry, game, rabbits and preserved or prepared meats in an amount equivalent to five ounces of butchers meat. The coupons can be used in restaurants, each half-coupon entitling the holder to one meat meal. The present ration is about one pound of meat for a shilling a pound for inferior grades to one shilling nine pence for the best cuts, so that the persons contented with inferior cuts could obtain rather over a pound of butcher's meat for three coupons of total value of 15 pence. Children under ten are entitled to half a ration. It is understood that the present ration in Germany is about three-quarters of a pound weekly.

THE MERCHANTS CORNER

Customers Always Right. "The merchant and a very wise man. And one of the wisest things he ever said was this: 'The customer is always right.' By this he meant that no matter how very wrong a customer was, she must be considered right. There must never be an argument with a customer."—S. G. ROSENBAUM, in "Jocundous Advertising."

FIVE LIVES LOST IN FIRE

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Feb. 9.—Four men and one woman were burned to death early to-day in a fire which damaged the Sailors' Boarding House on Pearl St., near East River. "Hostile artillery was active during the day between Bellecourt and the Scarpe River. It also has shown some activity north of Lens and northeast of Ypres." London, Feb. 9.—The official statement from British headquarters in France and Belgium to-day reads: "The enemy's patrols were somewhat more active than usual during the night in the sector north of Lens. There is nothing further to report."

ENGINEERS OBDURATE IN GREAT BRITAIN

Dispute Over Their Position Has Not Yet Been Settled—Are Condemned by Labor Leaders, and Likely to Antagonize Other Unions

Individual members of the conference say that Sir Auckland and his government colleagues intervened as little as possible with the proceedings. The delegates were asked to decide among themselves whether the demand of the engineers for a separate consultation with the government had been conceded or refused. Several labor delegates are said to have shown much resentment over the attitude of the engineers and demanded that an end be brought to the situation by which young men are enabled to join the engineers organization for the purpose of escaping military service. An invitation to a fresh conference already has gone to the engineers, whose attitude is unknown. It now seems that the government has been eliminated from the dispute and that if the engineers maintain their position, they will antagonize the other unions.

REGULATIONS

Regulations. Banks must close, except that one official may remain on duty to receive payments falling due on Saturday or Monday. Restaurants may remain open, but may not supply orders outside the building after twelve o'clock, noon. Cigar and tobacco stores must close, unless they also sell newspapers, in which case they will be allowed to remain open, but not to sell tobacco or cigars. Drug stores remain open, but may not sell candy or cigars. Churches and schools are exempt. Groceries and butcher stores may remain open until noon Saturday and Monday. Stationery stores where the sale of newspapers is the main line of business, may remain open for the sale of newspapers and periodicals only. No other goods may be sold. Stores cannot remain open even though they allow their fires to go out. Only enough heat to keep the water pipes from freezing is permitted in the closed stores. Stores may not remain open even if an apartment above is heated. Theatres and pool rooms are not affected by the three days' period. Their closing commences Monday, Feb. 12, and will continue every Monday for the ensuing six weeks. The order is in force from midnight Friday to midnight Monday. Six months' imprisonment or $500 fine or both, are the penalties for infraction. Bakeries remain open, but shops run in connection with the bakeries must close. All laundries close. Hotels remain open, but offices in hotel buildings must close. Wholesale produce houses may not sell, but may receive shipments. Only enough heat is permitted to keep the goods from freezing. Barber shops may remain open all day Saturday, but must close Monday. Fruit stores close at noon. The offices of retail business and shops of public garages must close. Enough heat may be kept on to keep the cars from freezing. There is nothing in the regulation to prevent orders for livery cars and taxis from being filled as usual. Flour and feed stores close at noon both days. Stores which close at noon may make afternoon deliveries of goods purchased before noon. Offices of coal companies remain open. When a pool room and cigar store are run together, the establishment may remain open for pool only. Newspapers may be sold in the cigar stores, but not tobacco. A store which is heated by hot water from an adjoining establishment, which is allowed to remain open, is not exempt.

An interesting social event was the of the Brantford Rotary Club ladies' night on Tuesday evening, when the members of the club entertained their wives and friends at a very charming dinner party in the hall was most artistically decorated with festoons of the Rotary club's colors, old blue and yellow, plentifully interspersed with flags of the United States and Canada.
The small round tables, set with eight, were prettily decorated with pink carnations with a crimson rosebud at each ladies' place. Between the tables were very enjoyable musical programmes were given, the diners all joining in the jolly choruses and parties. At the close of the dinner, the ladies were presented with most acceptable favors in the shape of a box of sweets and a box of stationery by the members of the Rotary Club.

The Brant Avenue Sunday School Assembly room was crowded to the doors on Wednesday evening when the children of the North Ward Kindergarten and Kin Society, gave a very delightful portrayal of "Cinderella" under the direction of Miss Underwood.
Mrs. Underwood, President of the North Ward Kindergarten and Kin Society, managed the business end of it in her usual capable manner. The proceeds which exceeded all expectations, being donated to the Soldiers' Home.

Letters recently received by a Brantfordite from England, state that one of her relatives who is a most indefatigable knitter, has been awarded a medal by the authorities. She has hundreds of socks, mufflers, sweaters, etc., to her credit.
Here is an excellent idea for our government and reward is surely coming to the super-busy knitters of this and other cities, who have done so much for their bit so nobly for the soldier boys at the front.

The Women's Patriotic League entertained the men of the 2nd Depot Battalion on Monday evening, at the Tabernaec. A short programme was given by Mr. J. G. Liddell, Dr. Hart and Miss H. Hurley, which was much enjoyed by the men, after which refreshments were served by the ladies, assisted by the younger members of the Patriotic League, and an enjoyable social hour was spent.

The Dufferin Rifles Chapter, I.O. D.E. held a very successful knitting tea at the armouries on Thursday afternoon, the hostesses for the day being Mrs. Fran Howard, Mrs. E. Newman, Mrs. W. D. Coghlin and Mrs. R. Rowe. During the afternoon Miss Marjorie Jones gave several violin selections, and Miss Beatrice Wilson of Toronto, Mrs. S. E. Passmore's guest sang several songs most delightfully. At the tea hour the Misses Lillian and Eileen Miller and Miss Dorothy Rowe assisted the hostesses.

NEWS FROM NORFOLK COUNTY

Day and night finds her ministering to the wants of sane and demented, crippled and whole, old and young, everywhere that there is illness and attentive to those who are left in loneliness. MRS. DAVID McIVOR.
Of Simcoe, visiting Nurse to the sick.
(From Our Own Correspondent).
Simcoe, Feb. 9.—When the war broke out David McIvor hied him from a lucrative salary away south, said good-bye to his wife and daughter, and left for the front and the fight. He's there yet and though once sent to blighty, his Scotch pluck is unshaken.
Mrs. McIvor did not sit down to weep. In a few weeks her ability as a nurse was brought into play and her name began to grow familiar in association with the sick and the poor. Some said an insurance company had engaged the lady to look after their industrial risks. Be that as it may, Mrs. McIvor's activities have not been confined in any way except that they are directed to the relief of humanity's ills.

Rippling Rhymes
GOD SAVE THEM.
God save the divers kings for whom the anthem rings, from loyal throats; may they with wisdom choose all policies they use, and may they never lose their royal goals.
God save all kings and queens, princes and horse marines, whose hearts are right; let us not choose and pick! God save the iowly hick, digging where bombs are thick, there in the fight.
God save the nameless wight, buried at dead of night, on foreign shores, buried in crimson mud, while like a ceaseless flood wavelets of human blood flow evermore! God save our noble boys, going where war destroys bodies of men; guard them by night and day, send them, from far away, when ended is the fray, safe home again.
God save the widows all, widows in hut and hall, mothers and brides! Waiting for James or John, who is forever gone; and the red stream flows on, in sobbing tides.
God save the little lads robbed of their loving dads, children who weep; kiss at the mothers' knees, saying, "Where's daddy, please?" Lined up with such as these, monarchs are cheap.

A Remarkable Prophecy.

Wounded soldiers exhibited specimens of their handiwork recently at Kilmahony, a suburb of Dublin. There was a large attendance of visitors, among them numerous wounded soldiers who also displayed a keen interest in the articles made by their comrades. The work on view was quite large in quantity, and surprisingly well finished. It marked also by a very high degree of artistic skill and is the product of considerable manual dexterity.
There were numerous examples of carving basket work, toy-making, fancy work, such as tea cozies, artificial flowers, embroidery, photographic frames, and some excellent black and white work and water color sketches. General Sir Byran Mahon, Commander of the Forces in Ireland, presided at the opening proceedings.

Mr. Fluke the big general G. T. R. conductor on the Plyer and International Limited which passes thru Brantford every day between Toronto and Detroit, who is so well known to travelling Brantfordites, recently concluded his 51st year of continuous service on the Grand Trunk railway a railway record undoubtedly for the whole continent and possibly exceeded not even in the railway circles of Great Britain where long service is deservedly rewarded with full pensions.

Madame Gardini the Metropolitan Prima Donna who sang in Brantford last week and who was greeted by a capacity house at Massey Hall, Thursday night, was subjected to a most regrettable incident while in Toronto. Owing to the fact that she was in Germany just before the United States declared war the silly rumour was apparently spread there that she was pro-German. At six o'clock the night of her appearance at Massey Hall a detective waited upon her at the Queen's Hotel and insisted on seeing her credentials and subjected her to most irritating cross examination. Naturally the whole incident was most disconcerting to Madame Gardini who was just about to make her initial bow before a Toronto audience.

THE SITUATION

There is a dearth of news of any importance from all fronts and bad weather is evidently interfering with operations. It is said that peace overtures have been made to Roumania by Germany with the suggestion that the latter and the Ukraine make common cause against the Bolsheviks.

Admiral Sir John Jellicoe has voiced the opinion that the British are likely to suffer from an intensified "U" boat campaign the next few months, but as a palliative, he holds out the hope that this menace will be finally throttled by August at latest.

THE GRAND RIVER AS AN ASSET.

The Grand River has cost Brantford in the past a very great deal in flood damage and thousands of dollars spent in the construction of dykes, but the credit balance has far outweighed all that. In the first place the existence of the then well stocked stream was one of the reasons why there was any settlement here at all and in the early days water power mills were located on its banks.

At the conference held in Galt on Thursday with reference to the matter, W. H. Brethaupt of Kitchener in opening the meeting, said the association was sufficiently convinced of the possibility of conserving the flood waters of the Grand River to keep on working for the end in view and had it not been for the war he felt action would have been taken before this. Conservation of streams depended on what was gained from it and what it cost.

They stored the water in basins. He then proposed an extensive system of irrigation for this part of Ontario, covering all the district in the Grand River and Dundas valleys. His proposition included three objects: flood prevention, irrigation and power development. The water used for irrigation would be conveyed to Hamilton mountain cliff, where it would be dropped 150 feet and produce thousands of horse-power. This was a power which was now idle, and its development would help meet the power scarcity.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

There will be quite a lot of postal revenue lost when Quebec gets into the dry column.

No matter what happens to the rest, members of the fourth estate have always to keep going.

Running a newspaper these days is some job, believe us. The gas which supplies the underneath of the type setting machines, has lately been, well, you all know how—and the latest report is that it will be cut off altogether for an indefinite period. Then the alternate power of electricity has been acting up like a hard mouthed mule, or a sulky camel, and the trolley cars and trains which carry the issue to outside points, have been as uncertain as a girl in her teens.

MURDERED SEAMEN WITHOUT MERCY

One of Most Dastardly Chapters of the Sea Ever Written

London, Feb. 9.—Stories of the barbarism of German submarine commanders were told into Great Britain from many European waters. The mate of the Achilles Adam, a little ship of less than 500 tons, tells a story which shows unmistakably that the commanders and crews of the U-boats have no consideration whatever for human lives and no mercy for fellow marines who need just a hand to rescue them.

The Adam left France with another small vessel, the Exchange, headed for England. A submarine appeared when the little craft was well out at sea and immediately began shelling the Adam. The fourth shot hit the vessel. The flag was then hauled down. A rain of shells continued to fall in the vicinity of the ship, the crew of which was striving to lower lifeboats.

O'CONNOR COMES BACK

With Regard to the Matter of Eggs Says Existing Prices Are Unjustified

Ottawa, Feb. 8.—W. F. O'Connor, Cost of Living Commissioner, issued tonight an interim report dealing with the quantity of eggs in storage on February 1. He reiterates his opinion, expressed in an earlier report, that "even existing prices are unjustifiable."

He maintains that "the payment of an unjustifiable price by purchasers intending to resell is not justification for the demand of an unjustifiable reselling price." The present report deals particularly with Montreal, and states that during the month of January 1, 1917, 9,093 dozens of eggs were lost in that city through spoiling.

Proof of Absence of Scarcity. "The decrease in egg holdings as of February 1 last, is 58 per cent. This decrease is about normal. The allegation has been made that a scarcity of February 1, compared with January 1 last is 66 per cent. This decrease is about normal.

Even Existing Prices Unjustified. He reiterates his opinion that even existing prices are unjustifiable. He maintains that the payment of an unjustifiable price by purchasers intending to resell is not justification for the demand of an unjustifiable reselling price.

Comparison With Chicago. "The United States city with which the city of Montreal according to trade conditions, is most unfavorably comparable is Chicago. Storage egg prices in Chicago have been ruling about five cents per dozen less than in Montreal.

Holdings Double Last Year's. "Several Montreal operators have practical no eggs on hand. Several others have about the same amount of holdings as last year. Yet others, however, have greatly increased holdings.

Could Not Be Expected to Know. "The Commissioner states that he can well understand how some Montreal operators who were in fact almost destitute of eggs, were told into the mistake of declaring the figures recently issued by the Commissioner to be wrong, but as he states, these operators could not be expected to know that the existing local supply was held by a very restricted number of houses.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Text of the Lesson, Mark 3:7-9.—Memory Verse, Matt. 18:24.—Golden Text, Mark 8:14.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Starna.

Because of the multitudes who followed Christ pressing upon him for healing, he withdrew himself, with his disciples to the sea and asked for a boat that he might separate a little from the crowd who thronged him. Later he went out into a mountain to pray and continued all night in prayer to God.

After his night of communion with his Father, he called upon him when he would, and they came to him in the night. We must always think of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit as being of one mind and working together in perfect accord.

ANNUAL MEETING Of The Golf and Country Club Officers Elected—Affairs Are in Good Shape

The annual meeting of the Brantford Golf and Country Club held last evening was well attended. Mr. L. Waterous (president) in a brief speech outlined the activities of the year. He has made a most efficient presiding officer. In the absence of Mr. Geo. Heyd, treasurer, Mr. C. L. Laing read the annual financial statement, showing receipts of $4,975. The assets, after depreciation are $20,023. The annual report of the captain, Mr. Hastings Webling, was a most interesting and comprehensive address. Much to the regret of the members he declined a re-nomination on the ground that after three years occupancy somebody else should be chosen. Mr. A. S. Towers, chairman of the Greens Committee, and Mr. Gordon Scarfe, chairman of the House Committee, also submitted reports. Under the new system of electing directors, the 1917 board dropped out and their successors were elected for three years by ballot as follows: Gordon Caudwell, S. A. Jones, K. C., and C. J. Wait. Mr. D. L. Large was chosen captain, and Mr. C. L. Laing, auditor. Mr. Williams of Paris was elected an honorary member. Although over 80 years of age he plays frequently. It was decided to raise all fees the current year. There was some discussion as to the erection of a new clubhouse to cost $25,000, but the general opinion was expressed that nothing should be done until after the war.

I.W.W. ROUND-UP ON WEST COAST Fifty-Five Persons Charged With Conspiring to Hinder U. S. in War 46 OF ACCUSED HELD Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 8.—An indictment charging fifty-five persons with conspiring with William D. Haywood, secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, and others, to hinder the execution of laws of the United States in the prosecution of the war with Germany, was returned to-day by the Federal Grand Jury. Forty-six of the persons indicted are held in custody here. Nineteen others reside in or about San Francisco. Separate indictments charge William Hood and G. F. Voelker, named in the conspiracy indictment, with illegal transportation of dynamite. These men were arrested in connection with the attempted dynamiting of Governor Stephen's home recently. Soon afterwards I. W. W. headquarters were raided and before the police were caught fifty-five men had been arrested. Sabotage Encouraged. General charges in to-day's indictments include alleged obstruction of the Selective Draft Act, causing strikes and encouraging sabotage. Earl was fined at from $2,500 to $5,000. Frank H. Little, lynched at Butte, Mont., last year was named, among others, as a person with whom the men indicted here had entered into conspiracy. Frank Kelly, wanted in Chicago in connection with the E. W. W. cases, was indicted. He had been in custody here. Louis Tori, under indictment in Chicago, also was indicted here. Wholesale Destruction. Washington, Feb. 8.—Industrial Workers of the World on the Pacific coast have planned wholesale destruction of industries and shipping and other interference with prosecution of the war, it was said to-day at the Department of Justice. The indictment of fifty-five at Sacramento by a Federal Grand Jury is the result of investigations by Government agents which discovered that leaders were plotting systematic sabotage. The indictment was a direct result of the recent attempt to blow up the Governor's residence at Sacramento. Agents discovered a nest of plotters whose activities extended throughout the Pacific coast territory. In addition to blowing up factories, plotters in that section of the country had planned to foment strikes among workmen engaged in war industries, destruction of fruit trees and crops, and to a lesser extent the destruction of ships being built in yards along the coast. BLAZE IN CELLAR. The residents of 25 Edwin Street, wrapped the water pipes of the house in carpets and left candles burning to thaw out the frozen pipes Thursday night. When the cellar door was opened yesterday the cellar was found filled with dense clouds of smoke. The alarm for the fire department was rung but on the arrival of the fire truck it was found that no assistance was necessary and practically no damage had been done. ANNUAL MEETING OF BIBLE CLASS

Women's Organization of First Baptist Church Had Good Year

On Thursday evening the Women's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church held its annual business meeting. Forty members were present and at eight o'clock were served with dainty refreshments. The business session was opened with prayer by Mrs. L. Brown. The retiring President, Mrs. Geo. Smith, was in the chair and gave a short address. Those taking part in the entertainment were Mesdames Jones, Grummett, A. Riley, M. Adams, A. Garton, Master C. Riley, Messrs. Ernie Hobbs, Ernie and Howard Hopper, R. P. Pickles, A. Hambleton. An address by Rev. Dr. Martin of Wesleyan church, during which the Royal Templars came in for their share of commendation for the part they played in bringing about the status of prohibition which we now enjoy. Dr. Martin also spoke of the benefits now being derived commercially from the effects of prohibition, also from the effect upon the home life. A glowing tribute was also paid to the leader of the Opposition for the stand taken by him in the interests of prohibition, also the broad-mindedness of a government leader in making the province dry. Although by-product of the war, Dr. Martin predicted that the broad-mindedness would never again obtain, and the time would come when children would ask what the liquor traffic is. Chairman J. K. Funnell then announced that he was ready, and his address served in Japanese style and costume. So well pleased with the address was Sister Colley, that she called her committee together to arrange for the next one.

FIRE FROM OIL STOVE. It happened in this case that Mrs. Haggard, of 17 Park Ave. left her home at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, leaving a coal oil heater burning. When Mrs. Haggard returned at four o'clock in the afternoon she unlocked the door and found the house filled with a dense smoke, but mystery of mysteries, there was no spark of fire. It is supposed that the stove became heated and ignited the carpets. When the firemen arrived, they found no blaze at all, but all the furniture was blistered, the floor was burned through in several places, and there was not a curtain in the house that had not been reduced to ashes. The damage will be considerable, but it is considered miraculous that the building escaped total destruction.

NEW CODE DISCOVERED

On An Important German Spy Captured in New York
He Was Taken Off a Dutch Liner

New York, Feb. 8.—The capture of a German spy, coming to this country to re-establish communications between the German spy system in the United States and the German Government, which had been impaired by the ability of the American intelligence officers to read existing German codes, was reported to-night after an inquiry at Ellis Island, where forty first and second cabin passengers from the Nieuw Amsterdam were taken.

After twelve thin sheets of paper covered with letters and figures forming a code had been found on the man he was said to have broken down and admitted that he came to this country in the pay of the German Government in order to furnish spies now operating in this country with the new code.

The man is said to be a naturalized American citizen of Dutch or German origin. He is said to have confessed that he received a large sum of money for undertaking the mission. It was said that the man had refused to name the person in America to whom he had agreed to deliver the new code.

Elaborate precautions were taken on the arrival of the Nieuw Amsterdam on Thursday to make it impossible for German spies on board to smuggle out papers of any kind from the ship. Only Government officials were allowed to go down the bay on the cutter to meet the ship on its arrival. When the Nieuw Amsterdam docked in Hoboken the pier was guarded by hundreds of soldiers and marines, and two ropes barriers were drawn between the passengers leaving the ship and the persons at the pier to meet them.

Everyone on board was thoroughly searched before he was permitted to pass the barriers and communicate with persons on land, and forty persons, thirty seven men and three women were detained and taken to Ellis Island for a further investigation.

As the plans to take these precautions were not adopted until two days before the boat docked, it was supposed that information regarding German spies on the Nieuw Amsterdam was obtained by cables from the agents of the Allies in Holland. It was stated, however, that the precautions taken in the case of the Nieuw Amsterdam would be repeated hereafter on the arrival of every neutral ship from Europe, instances of which passengers and members of the crews of neutral ships carrying messages from Germany and from Germany to Germany spies in this country have been proven repeatedly in our Federal courts.

back his coat and displayed a star. In his hand he carried a copy of a police publication called "The Detective."

He opened the paper and thrust it before Rose. "I am looking for some jewel robbers," he said. "I want you to see if you can identify this man."

He held his finger on the picture of a man. Mr. Rose glanced at the picture and said he could not recognize it.

"Well, call in your help," said the "detective." Rose called to the two girls who came from the workroom. One of the girls, who was sitting on the head and then clutched him by the throat. In his other hand he held a revolver. This he brandished from Rose to the two girls, menacingly.

Three other men then entered the room. They all produced revolvers. They speedily urged Rose and the two girls into a small washroom and closing the door, made it fast with a small safe and a filing cabinet which they shoved against it.

In the next fifteen or twenty minutes, the time which elapsed before Rose determined to attempt escape, the four men worked rapidly. Two huge glass display cases were smashed, the glass littering the floor in all directions. From these cases some jewels were taken, but lighter and less valuable things, such as watches, were thrown upon the floor, some in small heaps and others promiscuously. Watch crystals were broken and the vases bent indicating the rough treatment they received.

After working a night and a day on the case the police and operatives of two private detective agencies admitted they had made no progress towards establishing the identity of the four men.

According to the information given the police there were several valuable pearl necklaces, ranging in value from $10,000 to $30,000. Diamond, gold mesh bags, and other jewels made up the rest of the robbers' booty.

The police say there is no doubt but that the robbers knew well the layout of the shop, and must have visited the place before the robbery. The fact that Rose and his two young women employees were thrust hurriedly into a room, without being gagged, indicated they say, that the robbers know that the wash-room had no outside communication, and that the cries of the imprisoned persons could not be heard.

TRANSPORT C. O. R. MEN RAPIDLY
First Quota of Draftees Has Already Landed in Old Land

By Courier Leased Wire.
Ottawa, Feb. 8.—That the Department of Militia and Defense is losing no time in transporting men drafted under the military Service Act overseas is indicated by the official statement from the chief press censor that a draft from the first depot, battalion, first Central Ontario regiment, Toronto, has arrived safely in England. At the Militia department this morning it was stated that though this draft was probably not made up solely of men secured under the Military Service Act, it was certain that a number of the men composing it were draftees. These men will have to undergo a course of training in England, while in reserve before they are fit to proceed to the front. It is understood that the men will ultimately be attached to fighting battalions which originally came from the locality in which the men were enlisted.

The censor's announcement in addition to the statement with regard to the arrival of the first depot battalion draft, says that "infantry drafts from eastern Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia" have also arrived safely.

CATTLE AND TRACTORS
Placed on the Free List for a While

A WAR MEASURE
Ottawa, Feb. 9.—For a specified period of time the duty is to be moved by the government from cattle and from motor tractors up to $1,400 in value. The decision was reached after lengthy consideration by the Cabinet Council, and an official announcement is expected at an early date as to the details of these important tariff changes.

The act is taken under the War Measures Act, but it cannot yet be ascertained whether the duties are to be remitted or suspended for the time specified. The need for increased production is the justification for the decision arrived at. The present duty on cattle is 25 per cent ad valorem, plus 7 1-2 per cent war tariff. The duty on tractors is 17 1-2 per cent, plus 7 1-2 per cent war tariff.

Just when the change becomes effective and for how long is not yet announced.

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—(C. P. Dispatch.)—Following a meeting of the Cabinet Council last night, it was stated that the proposed order in Council placing cattle on the free list would apply for 12 months.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you make up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes acid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion watery eyes all denote liver uncleanliness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function of how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins.

Every man and woman, sick or well should drink each morning before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, acid, bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate is inexpensive; any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

Try this on your dining or library table top—

Take a little Old English Wax on a soft cloth and go over a small surface at a time. Use the wax sparingly—a thin, light coat gives the best results. After a few minutes, rub to a rich, dull lustre with a clean cloth.

This will give your dining table a finish that will be especially attractive when mats are used. It also forms a hard surface that will protect your table tops from scratches and wear. Get a can of Old English Wax today.

The low cost per cup

It is hard to believe that a cup of good, rich tea only costs about a fifth of a cent, but, you see, Red Rose consists chiefly of Assam teas—the richest, strongest teas in the world.

Red Rose easily yields 250 cups to the pound. And it's a tea of rare economy and flavor.

WHERE THE U. S. TROOPS ARE FACING THE GERMANS
The American troops have taken over a part of the battle line north-west of Toul, according to a despatch from army headquarters. They are holding a very important part of the line on the south side or sole of the famous St. Mihiel ford, the toe of which reaches to the West Bank of the Meuse River. Here it is that some commentators expect Von Hindenburg to attempt to break through the French defences, capture Verdun, and March on to the French capital.

"DODGING A MILLION."
 It has long been a habit in the theatre to write plays for the express purpose of exhibiting gowns; and it rarely happens that a play including a fashion revue has not lost its plot in mazes of ermine and chine. But a play that includes a fashion revue, with every garment up to the minute, and the plot of which survives the distraction because it is so full of what is known technically as the "punch," is "Dodging a Million," the new Goldwyn starring vehicle of Mabel Normand, which is to be seen at the Brant Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The plot of "Dodging a Million" is so constructed that much of its early action takes place in the shop of a fashionable modiste; and here are shown a dazzling array of the latest examples of the costumiers' art. It is said that the gowns exhibited are valued at more than a million dollars; and that exhibition is not the one referred to in the title, either.

A well known Fifth Avenue fashion-maker co-operated with Goldwyn in making the part of the play that deals with his profession. A setting was constructed by the technical department that duplicated one of his show rooms, revolving model stands and all; and here the artist and the young women who assisted him displayed the finest gowns procurable. It is safe to describe the resultant film as literally a feast to the feminine eye, the masculine eye being taken care of in the filling of the gowns.

Throughout the period that the large number of gowns were housed in the studio, the regular night watchman had company, for a special watchman had been engaged to guard the collection of sartorial splendor. The gowns were brought to the studio over the river from New York by a band of eighteen special messengers, this mode of transportation being deemed safer than auto truck. It is said that the clothes were insured heavily against loss by fire, theft or other calamity.

and Ralph T. Kettering, and under the management of Rowland and Howard is a love tale of those enchanted isles. The story is a clever one and deals with intrigue and adventure, but throughout the whole play there is a most delightful love story. A large band of native Hawaiian musicians is carried and they render music of their own peculiar kind thru-out the action of the play. The scenic investments of the play is a massive one and the cast is larger than many musical shows.

"A Daughter of the Sun" comes to the Grand Opera House, Tuesday, Feb. 12.

"MAGGIE"
 Every stage director who has had occasion to use an animal in a dramatic production knows the uncertainty which attends the idea. When the animal is merely required to walk across the stage or is only utilized to give atmosphere to a scene, the matter is comparatively easy, but when the animal is called upon to do something vital to the comedy of a situation it is entirely different. He enters the element of uncertainty that taxes the genius and patience of the directors.

Horses and dogs are generally supposed to possess extraordinary animal intelligence and for this reason they are frequently pressed into stage service with more or less success.

In the production of "Maggie" in which the English actress, Phyllis Neilson-Terry, will be seen at the Grand Opera House, Friday evening, February 15th, a goat is used and one of the amusing situations of the play is dependent upon the animal doing his bit effectively. When the rehearsals of the comedy began the question of obtaining a goat for the part came up and one was finally found that pleased the board of inspection, consisting of George C. Tyler, the producer, Cecil King, who staged the piece, and Edward Pepla, the author. The animal looked as tractable as a goat can appear and the work of teaching him his role was undertaken.

The chief requirement was that the goat should eat a document at the right moment and by doing so create the amusement planned by the author. Inasmuch as goats are said to have an unappeasing appetite that balks at nothing, little difficulty was anticipated. However, the first day Mr. Goat refused to swallow the paper. This reluctance continued for several days despite all coaxing. His discrimination threatened to spoil a well-laid scene and no one seemed to be able to offer a practical suggestion.

One day when the decision to eliminate the scene had almost been made, the stage door-man walked on the stage with a message from a youth who said he had lived in Upper New York where goats were nearly as common as cats and dogs. He evidently also possessed the instinct of an animal trainer. "Have you tried sugar," he asked. "No we never thought of that," chorused the company.

A boy was immediately sent for some sugar, which owing to the shortage was a difficult thing to obtain. The document was covered with a small quantity and all watched for the result of the experiment. Mr. Goat sniffed the paper and swallowed it with avidity,—the problem had been solved.

The animal makes no more objections to doing his part and is now a regular member of the company.

"LOVE LETTERS."
 Dorothy Dalton, the popular Paramount star, will be seen at the Rex Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in her latest Paramount photoplay, "Love Letters," written by Shannon Fife, and produced under the personal direction of Thomas H. Ince.

The story deals with Eileen Rodney, a romantic young girl who succumbs to the charm of Raymond Moreland, a man much older than herself who dabbles in erotic Oriental creeds and writes. She plans to elope with him, but when she finds he has no intention of marrying her, she balks and returns to her home.

Shortly afterward she marries the young District Attorney, who has long been in love with her as has his assistant. After a year or so of remarkably happy married life Raymond returns and tries to revive the old affair. Failing in this, he terrifies Eileen by threatening to tell her husband all unless she will come to his rooms for the love letters she asks.

Driven to bay, Eileen consents, and that evening she seeks admittance at Moreland's rooms. There is a struggle, but Eileen manages to escape by striking him with a huge glass candlestick. She gets away—but without the letters.

The next morning Moreland is found murdered. A woman is accused, and the finger of suspicion comes to point at Eileen. Her husband's young assistant comes to her aid, and when he finds her in Moreland's room, where she has come in desperate terror, the letters still be found, he helps her get away without being seen by her husband, who is also there.

The real murderer is found at last, however, in the person of an old gardener of Moreland's, whose daughter he had seduced years before and who had waited his opportunity for revenge. Eileen then confesses that there had after all been nothing to the affair but a piece of girlish imprudence, he takes her in his arms and "all's well that ends well."

William Conklin as Moreland and Thurston Hall as the husband have created roles that with the always clever acting of Miss Dalton and the excellent direction accorded the production, have made of "Love Letters" an exceptionally noteworthy photoplay.

"THE SEVEN SWANS"
 The Princess Tweedledee was to marry the wicked Queen's son. All was feasting and rejoicing and thru the palace could be heard sounds of laughter and revelry. The little Princess alone was sad and silent. She was not other than dainty Marguerite Clark at work on her very latest Paramount photoplay, "The Seven Swans," which was being made under the expert direction of Director J. Searle Dawley, who made the adaptation from one of Hans Anderson's most famous fairy stories, dear to the hearts of childhood.

Not one detail is left out. "The Seven Swans" are there and are duly transferred again to the form of the brave Princess. After Miss Clark, as the Princess Tweedledee, has worn out her patience and fingers knitting garments of sharpest nettles the Prince Charming as played by handsome Richard Barthelmess, appears and carries her off in triumph to his palace.

Here they lived until the greatest splendor and were entertained by dancing and music one fivings day. All would have been well had not the spell of the Wicked Queen prevented the little Princess Tweedledee from ever speaking to her Prince Charming. Also, she was obliged to continue her long task of weaving sharp nettles into shirts for her brothers until sometimes her white fingers were spotted with blood.

At last the Princess could see that the Prince Charming was getting tired of his silent and industrious guest, and sadly she returned to her room in the far-away Kingdom of the Seven Dials. Here what was her dismay to find the Wicked Queen

BIG MOUNTAIN GAME

ROCKY Mountain goats, who contend with the eagles for the kingship of the peaks and who give way grudgingly only to the grizzly or the mountain sheep, are to be found on most of the heights of the western Canadian mountains. The ranges through which the Canadian Pacific Railway runs on its way to the Pacific Coast are peopled with them. Clear up to the Yukon, wherever the grey crags lift their weather-scathed sides above the timber line the mountain goats range. They are a source of kingly sport for hunters. No eye is more sharp, no ear more keen for danger than the goats. They live in the inaccessible ledges, and their hunting includes not only thrilling shooting but equally thrilling mountaineering. The accompanying photograph is a photograph of winter-killed goats from the country to the north of Ashcroft, B.C. They were shot by a party of hunters and trappers who were hardy enough and strong enough to brave the perils of deep winter hunting in the peaks. The easiest hunting season for these animals is in early fall before the big snows come, but the winter-killed goats undoubtedly, as shown in the photograph, supply the finest robes. The Indians on the Nass River, in upper British Columbia, weave blankets, clothing and ropes from the silky hair of the winter-killed mountain goat.—L. V. K.
