You may ask Why ?

THE WILL AND THE DEED.

At times we feel a better life At times we feel a better life
Within this worldly one of ours,
And like a rose-bud, fresh and sweet,
A midst a bunch of withered flowers,
Some good deed cheers our heart, the while

A tear is changed into a smile.

1 wonder if the promised heaven That waits us when life's race is run, Is not the consciousness divine
Of countless tasks and deeds well done
If so then heaven is worth the strife,
The care and toil of daily life.

God knows our hearts, and though we fail
To do great deeds and win renown,
Our motives and our efforts may
From this great mercy gain the crown,
His boundless love is ever sweet
And strong to guide our taltering feet.
