Literary Notes.

The article of chief interest in the New Year's number of the Youth's Companion, to be issued January 5th, will be the Hon. John T. Long's account of the development of the torpedo and the torpedo service as important factors in modern warfare.

The January number of the Delimitator is called the holiday number and heralds the magazine's twenty seventh year of existence as the most accurate and complete index of the requirements of fashion and medium of household and social information.

I am Coltoned Mail will arrive Friday or Saturday by rail. Will deliver the same Saturday afternoon on Tuesday from 1st.

The Junior Rhetorical Exhibition.

Monday evening was a night for the Juniors at Acadia, and their friends turned out in force to witness the class' first appearance before the public in the role of entertainers.

A great deal of taste and skill were exercised in decorating Assembly Hall for the occasion and the result was extremely pleasing. On the wall in front Union Jacks were hung and draperies of blue and red bunting encircled the class, motto: "Vincit qui se vincit."

Contrary to the established custom no authorized class banner appeared among the decorations. However, some enterprising members of the other classes, evidently thinking that such an unheard of omission could not be tolerated, attempted to fill the breach by a flag of their own design, consisting of a number of yards of white cotton on which in fantastic scrolls of black appeared the legend "Ecoe Signum" and "a penny saved is a penny earned."

The music with which the orations were interspersed was of a high quality, consisting of vocal selections by Miss Lawson of the Seminary, and by the class quartette, composed of Messrs West, Poole, Miller and Miracresu. President Trotter presided and introduced the speakers in his usual happy manner.

The Rev. P. M. Macdonald led in the opening prayer. Of the twenty-seven members of the class, orations were delivered by six. Considered from a rhetorical standpoint these were certainly of a high order of excellence and the speakers proved conclusively that oratory was by no means a foreign art to the class.

The Forward Movement.

Dr. Trotter returned at the end of last week from an extended trip in behalf of the Forward Movement. He visited while away St. Stephen and St. John, N. B., also Boston. He reports a fair measure of success. The Rev. W. E. Hill has also been busily engaged in various quarters with gratifying results.

A Graceful Acknowledgment.

The St. John's Daily News republicates Dr. DeWitt's letter on his visit to Newfoundland which recently appeared in the ACADIAN and makes the following comment concerning the author:

A few weeks ago Dr. George E. DeWitt, of Wolfville, N. S., visited St. John's in the interests of the "Public Land Improvement Co." of which he is the president. Dr. DeWitt is a man of marked ability, and one of the best known professional men of the adjoining province. He has evidently taken careful notes, and recorded his impressions in a letter to the ACADIAN, in which we make the following extracts.

Billtown.

The friends of Mr Freeman had intimated that they intended to give him an old time donation visit. The affair came off last Tuesday evening in the vestry. The storm prevented a number from coming. A part of the evening was spent socially. Mr S. Sweet, Esq., was called to the chair, and after a brief speech asked the pastor to accept the sum of $34.50, with articles making the whole amount to $38.90, with the intimation that there was more to follow, as an expression of their good will and sympathy.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Eighty or one hundred of the friends and acquaintances of Mr and Mrs G. W. Cox gave them a pleasant surprise at their new Burt Place home Wednesday evening. The idea originated with the teachers of the public schools over whose official acts Mr Cox has a fatherly supervision and was seconded with enthusiasm by Mr Cox's fellow parishioners of the Baptist church.

The visitors were received by Mr and Mrs Cox, Mr and Mrs Dodge, Principal A. B. Crawford and Miss Eunice Foster. During the evening, which proved a delightful occasion, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, a vocal solo given by Miss Maud Harris and instrumental music provided by the Misses Cox and Dodge.

Dr. Trotter returned at the end of last week from an extended trip in behalf of the Forward Movement. He visited while away St. Stephen and St. John, N. B., also Boston.
